NORTH POLE DISCOVERED BY DR. FREDERICK A. COOK, THE AMERICAN EXPLORER

Telegram Announcing the Success of the Expedition Reaches Copenhagen.

Says That Brooklyn Man Reached the Pole on April 21, 1908.

Claim Is Supported By Esquimaux of Cape York, Greenland.

Copenhagen, Sept. 1.—Dr. F. A. Cook, the American explorer, reached the North pole April 21, 1908, according to a telegram just received at the colonial office here from Leverik, Norway.

Dr. Cook is on board the Danish government steamer Hans Egede, which passed Leverik at noon today en route for Denmark.

The telegram announcing Dr. Cook's achievement was sent by a Greenland official on board the steamer and reads as follows:

"We have on board the American traveler, Dr. Cook, who reached the North pole April 21, 1908. Dr. Cook arrived at Upernivik (the northernmost Danish settlement in Greenland on an island off the west coast) in May of 1909 from Cape York (in the northwest part of Greenland on Baffin bay). The Esquimaux of Cape York confirm Dr. Cook's discovery."

Dr. Frederick A. Cook, accompanied by a Norwegian, left Etah, Greenland, March 3, 1908, taking with him eight Esquimaux, four sledges and twelve dog teams. He was to make his way through Ellesmereland. Dr. Cook lives in Brooklyn.

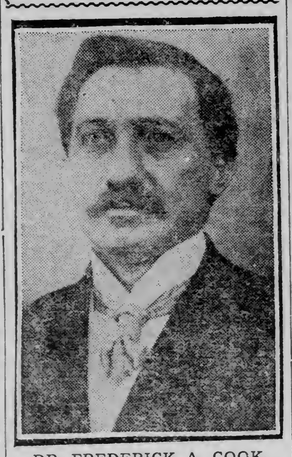

Geographic Society Elated.

Washington, Sept. 1.—Officials of the National Geographic society in this city today were greatly elated at the news of the reported success of Dr Cook in discovering the north pole. Little is known by them of the details of Dr. Cook's expedition, although they follow closely the movements of all Arctic and Antarctic explorers.

Some time ago the National Geographic society say, Dr. Cook, it was feared, had been lost on his daring trip in search of the pole. No news had been received from him and his friends reluctantly gave up hope of ever hearing from him again. In fact, a relief expedition was fitted and sent to the frozen North in the hope of finding the explorer dead or alive. The funds for this expedition were secured by subscription.

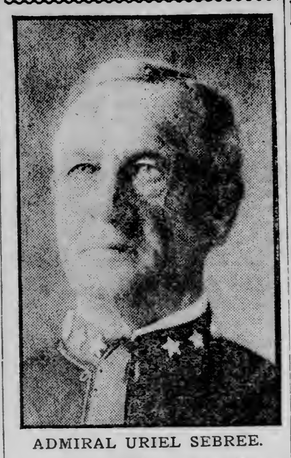

Dr. Cook's expedition to discover the north pole was got up in rather a secretive manner. Very little publicity was given of the lone daring explorer's attempt to attain the much desired glory to be the first man to reach the north pole.

FIRST OF MANKIND TO REACH THE NORTH POLE

DR. FREDERICK A. COOK.

WILL COMMAND FLEET ON ORIENTAL CRUISE

ADMIRAL URIEL SEBREE.

Rear Admiral Uriel Sebree is now commander-in-chief of the Pacific fleet of the United States navy. He succeeded Rear Admiral W. T. Swinburne, who reached the age of retirement. Rear Admiral Sebree was born at Fayette, Mo., in 1848, and graduated from the United States Naval academy in 1867. He was on the Arctic relief expedition on the steamer Tigress in 1873 and also served under Admiral Schley on the Greeley relief expedition in 1884. He resides in Washington and is a member of several New York and Washington clubs.

WILL CRUISE TO ORIENT

Pacific Fleet is Preparing to Start Sunday for Honolulu.

Cruisers Under Admiral Sebree Will Be Gone Five Months.

San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 1.—Immediately upon their arrival from Seattle, the eight armored cruisers of the Pacific fleet, under command of Rear Admiral Sebree, began preparations for the five months' voyage on which they will start next Sunday and which will lead them to Honolulu, Japan and China before their return to the Pacific coast.

Battle practice in Philippine waters will be the most important feature of the voyage, according to Admiral Sebree.

Cruising at high speed is another feature of the trip. The cruisers came down the coast at an 18-knot gait, and will maintain the same speed to Honolulu.

See Many Ports.

On Dec. 1 the eight cruisers will divide into several squadrons, one going to Shanghai, one to Kobe, one to Hongkong and one to Yokohama. Two weeks will be spent in each port and the squadrons will then interchange so that those aboard will have an opportunity to see many Oriental harbors and cities.

The fleet will reassemble at Yokohama in January and set out for Honolulu on the return voyage, expecting to arrive in San Francisco Feb. 15.

SWEDES WILL NOT PAY RENT

Eviction of Men Who Refuse to Go to Work Is Threatened.

Stockholm, Sept. 1.—A number of the men on strike in Stockholm having received notice to leave their homes Oct. 1 unless they return to work in the meantime, the unions have issued a proclamation that no strikers are to pay rentals due in October. The strike leaders maintain that it will be impossible to turn thousands of families into the streets.

HILL BEGINS SPEED WAR

Will Cut Ten Hours Off the Time From Chicago to Seattle.

Northwest Mail Service May Be Advanced Fully Half a Day.

Chicago, Sept. 1.—The railroad running time from Chicago to Seattle will be reduced to sixty-two hours—ten hours below the present schedule—as the first move in a war declared upon all other Western and Northwestern roads by James J. Hill of the Great Northern, according to a story in the Record-Herald.

Passenger, mail and express business will be affected. One result will be the finest through fast mail and express ever run between Chicago, the Middle West and Puget Sound territory.

With this in view the Burlington, Great Northern and Northern Pacific have made a proposition to the postoffice department to put a new fast mail train on the service between Chi-

BOLD BANDIT STILL FREE

Little Hope Is Had of Capture of Eastern Train Robber.

Amount Secured Now Is Said to be Only About $100.

Lewiston, Pa., Sept. 1.—Despite the close watch maintained, the robber who yesterday held up and robbed an express train on the Pennsylvania railroad near here, has evaded capture, and it is probable he never will be caught.

The railroad company has enlisted the aid of several detective agencies. Notwithstanding the robber obtained less than $100, the railroad and express company will spend many times that amount to land him behind prison doors. He left no clue, however, and unless bloodhounds can lead the police on the trail he seems safe from capture.

Loss Not Over $300.

Pittsburg, Pa., Sept. 1.—In a statement issued here today by H. B. Slater, Pittsburg agent of the Adams Express company, it is declared the loss to the company as a result of the train holdup at Lewiston, Pa., yesterday, will not exceed $300 and probably will be much less.

Engineer Tells Story.

Altoona, Pa., Sept. 1.— Samuel Donnelly, whose home is in Harrisburg, says he was running at high speed in the Lewistown Narrows, when he was startled by an explosion. He thought the engine had blown up and stopped his train immediately. When he came

ONCE RICH; NOW INSANE

Alice Webb Duke Makes Sad Picture in Court in Chicago.

Illusion-Haunted Woman Is Arrested for Failure to Pay $40 Bill.

Chicago, Sept. 1.—In the unkempt, illusion-haunted woman whose feverish lips answered to the name of Alice Webb Duke in Judge Gimmell's court here today, there was little to remind the spectators of the former wife of Brodie L. Duke, the millionaire tobacco man.

Mrs. Duke was arrested last night, charged with having failed to pay a $40 automobile bill. In her cell last night she sang for hours sketches from grand operas. Today Judge Gimmell, on the statement of a physician that the defendant is insane, held her for examination as to her mental state.

"Does that mean that I am irretrievably insane?" pleaded the woman.

"No, no; not at all," replied the judge, as one answering a child.

Once Mistress of Millions.

The former mistress of millions was brought into court by a policeman. In her well-worn brown skirt, soiled shirtwaist and the neglected coiffure, which she attempted to smooth occasionally with a grimy hand, she was part and parcel of the sordid police court picture.

Led to the bar, the woman raised her long, thin arms in a gesture of supplication, and in a low, but distinctly audible, voice repeated the Lord's prayer. Then she began singing "Nearer, My God, to Thee," in a remarkably sweet voice.

Suffers From Delusions.

"I lost my voice last month—my beautiful voice—because I was nearly starved, but the shock of my arrest brought it back to me," she explained to the court.

Judge Grimmel asked her a few questions, to which she return replies to the effect that she is worth millions and that there is a plot against her life.

KNIFE THRUST IN THE NECK PROVES FATAL TO GUEST AT A WEDDING CELEBRATION

TWO MEN CHARGED WITH THE MURDER OF ADOLPH MATTIS

ADOLPH MATEL,

ADOLPH MATTIS,
The Murdered Man.

Adolph Mattis Murdered as He Left Scene of Carousal.

Police Arrest Two Brothers on Charge of Committing Crime.

Prisoners Deny Guilt---Other Acts of Violence During Evening.

Adolph Mattis, 22 years of age, who also was known as Adolph Moddis, was murdered this morning at 2 o'clock on Garfield avenue, in front of No. 512, by a knife thrust in the side of the neck, and Adolph and Victor Matel, half brothers, 24 and 19 years of age, respectively, are under arrest, charged with the crime. Two witnesses claim to have seen them strike the fatal blow.

The murder is supposed to have been the result of a quarrel which started earlier in the evening during a wedding celebration at the home of William Bacicnoski, 715 Garfield avenue. All the principals in the affair are Poles. Miss Julia Rapnecka and Adolph Sopczyk were married yesterday morning, and last evening about fifty of their friends gathered at the home of Backinoski, after the Polish fashion, to celebrate.

There was much drinking during the evening, and it is claimed that at midnight every one in the party was more or less under the influence of liquor. Mattis and Adolph Matel started to quarrel along about 10 o'clock, but only one blow was struck. The men were separated and a knife was taken from the pocket of Matel and put out of his reach for safe keeping. The murder occurred two blocks from the scene of the celebration at 2 o'clock while Mattis was on his way home in the company of Walter Hero, who resides at 2803 West Superior street, and Paul Bartusz of 402½ Garfield avenue.

Sudden Attack.

According to these two men, the Matel brothers leaped suddenly from

Has Nearly 3,000 Passengers.

Southampton, Sept. 1.—The steamer Adriatic left here today for New York with a full complement of passengers, numbering nearly 3,000. Among them are Rear Admiral Frederick Rogers, U. S. A., and Maj. Gen. Charles Miller of Franklin, Pa.

AMONG THE WORKINGMEN OF MANCHESTER AND OLDHAM

Written for The Evening Herald By Zach McGhee (Savoyard.)

(Copyright 1909, by Zach McGhee.)

Manchester, Eng., Sept. 1.—At last I have encountered a beggar on the streets of this densely populated section. He is an entirely different sort of party from the one you encounter every block or two in Washington, New York and other American cities. I am not saying that all in this part of England are like this one, or that there are not numerous others in certain regions over here. Only I have not encountered them, and nearly all this week I have done nothing else than roam about the streets. And I have not been alone, either, because at any time of day there are people standing around on every corner, just loafing around or strolling about—not tourists, but natives. They all are courteous, and as they have the time they also have the inclination to enter into conversation.

As I passed by one of these, looking toward him, he stopped, and spoke pleasantly, coming towards me.

"Oh, at last," I thought, "here is the widely advertised beggar of England. I will stop and hold converse with him. He will tell me of a sick mother or of how he is expecting to get a job, but meanwhile has no place to spend the night."

I held out my hand and we shook hands.

The Beggar's "Request."

"How are you?" I asked.

"I am getting along very well, I thank you, but I am sorry to inform you that I have not broken my fast since 6 o'clock yesterday."

It was about 3 o'clock in the afternoon, so the time was at least shorter than the usual three days of the American beggar. He did not ask me to help him, nor was he in any hurry to tell me his hard luck tale. I looked at his clothes. They were as good as mine, and a little better kept.

"Where do you live?" I asked.

"At the corporation dwellings. I have been sick in the hospital for three weeks, and am unable to work."

"What is your work?"

"I was a pattern maker in the machinery factory."

"Can't you get your job back?"

"O yes," he said, "I suppose as soon as I get able to work again I can get my job back, but I am 68 years old, and just two years from the time I get a pension."

Sixty-eight years old! He looked nearer 40. Pension at 70? Yes, the English government takes care of its worn-out industrial soldiers as scrupulously as we take care of those who in their youth fought, or imagine they fought, in the war.

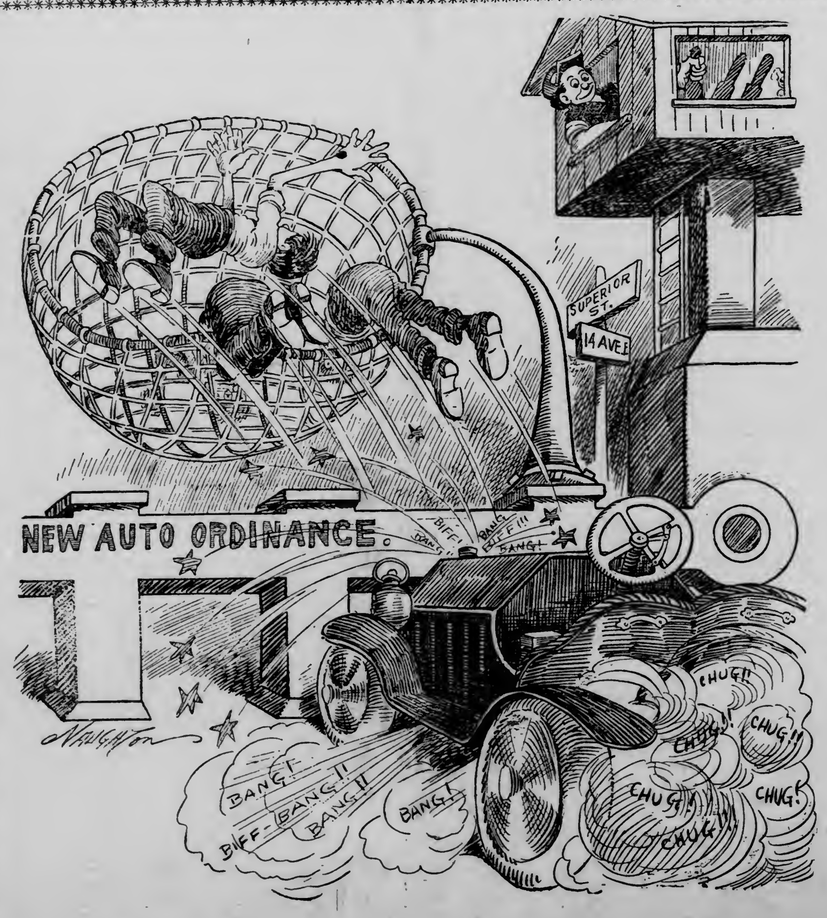

Old Age Pensions.

Every man in England over 70 years old, if he has not received aid from any board of charities, draws 5 shillings a week from the government. This is about $5 a month, and he need not starve on that in England. The "corporation dwellings" are homes provided by the city of Manchester for poor people, who are charged rent at actual cost, which is very low, for the city buys property cheap.

This old fellow never did ask me for money. I asked him to show me the way to a certain place in town, which he cheerfully did. On the way, only a block or two, he told me he had mistaken me for someone else, an acquaintance of his, and that was why he came up to speak to me after I had spoken first. I gave him "tuppence" (about 4 cents) for showing me the way. He said nothing, but bowed and went back. I wish I had given him a shilling (a quarter) or twice that much at least; for, you see, I have got a story out of him, and I think a

SUGGESTIONS FOR CATCHING RECKLESS DRIVERS.

SLEEPY EYE LAWYER SHOT

George W. Summerville May Die of Wounds From Revolver.

Assailant Is Arrested and Taken to New Ulm for Fear of Mob.

Sleepy Eye, Minn., Sept. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—George W. Summerville, ex-state senator and a prominent Minnesota lawyer and politician, was shot and perhaps fatally wounded while sitting in his law office here this morning, by a man who says his name is John Hayner.

Hayner was arrested. He was taken to the New Ulm jail because of an angry demonstration made by a crowd of citizens who assembled as soon as the shooting became known.

Three shots were fired by the assassin, one of which penetrated Mr. Summerville's left lung. Another went through the left shoulder. The third went wild and entered the ceiling of the room.

No motive for the shooting has become known.

"GIBSON GIRL'S" HUSBAND KILLED

Lord De Clifford is the Victim of Collision of Automobiles.

London, Sept. 1.—Jack Southwell Russell, Lord de Clifford, was killed in an automobile accident today at Bamber, near Brighton. His car ran into another vehicle and turned turtle. Lord de Clifford was killed instantly.

Lord de Clifford was born in 1884. In February, 1906, he was married to Eva Carrington, who was at one time on the stage as one of the "Gibson girls" in a musical comedy.

GATES REWARDS AGED PASTOR

Gives $1,000 to the Man Who Married Him Thirty-Four Years Ago.

Seattle, Wash., Sept. 1.—That John W. ("Bet-you-a-Million") Gates is not sorry he was married thirty-four years ago is attested by a $1,000 bill which a Seattle minister guarded all last night until the banks opened this morning.

Mr. Gates, who is here on a business trip, met the pastor who married him in St. Charles, Ill., on Feb. 25, 1874. Though he had not seen the minister for twenty-five years, Mr. Gates remembered his face instantly.

Seizing the pastor by the hand, Mr. Gates said:

"Bless your old heart, I'm going to pay you somewhere near what I owe you. I couldn't give you much of a fee back in St. Charles, thirty-five years ago, but here's a little interest on the debt."

Taking his famous roll of bills from his trousers pocket, Mr. Gates slipped off a $1,000 bill, pressed it into the surprised parson's hand and, with a "thank you again," was on his way.

ANDY JONES IS IN FARGO

Alleged Bank Wrecker Says He Intended to Give Himself Up Soon.

Securing of Bail Will Be Followed By Arrest on Second Charge.

Fargo, N. D., Sept. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—"Andy" H. Jones, alleged bank wrecker and former president of the First National bank at Rugby, N. D., was brought to Fargo this morning from Texas by a deputy marshal from that state. Jones shows the effect of eight months of worry and dodging officers. He was accompanied by his wife at time of his arrest at Canadian, Tex., Aug. 21, and she is now at the home of her father in Oklahoma.

Jones declined to discuss the case against him other than to say that he had tired of being trailed by officers and was glad to be under arrest. He said that he had determined to return the first of the year and surrender. He denies that he has been out of the United States during any part of the eight months.

Second Charge Made.

If bail is secured Jones will immediately be rearrested by the state authorities on a charge of wrecking the State bank at Barton.

Jones declined to make a formal statement until he had discussed matter with his attorneys.

PERE MARQUETTE STATUE UNVEILED

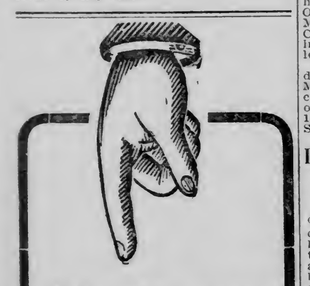

Large Bronze Monument to Man Who Helped Build Up Head of Lakes.

Mackinac Island, Mich., Sept. 1.—Pere Marquette, the Jesuit missionary whose name is inseparably interwoven with the early history of Michigan and the Great Lakes, was honored here today in the unveiling of a $7,000 monument to his memory. The bronze statue, ten feet high, and resting on a sub-base ten feet in height, represents the missionary standing erect and clothed in his priestly robe.

Justice William R. Day of the United States supreme court and Rev. Father Cunningham of Marquette College of Milwaukee delivered addresses at the unveiling ceremonies. The unveiling cord was drawn by Miss Frances Joplin, a granddaughter of the late Peter White of Marquette, Mich., to whose interest and generosity the completion of the monument was largely due.

Hard to Sell Bonds.

Carrington, N. D., Sept. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Foster county is having no little trouble in disposing of its courthouse bonds. When the board of county commissioners advertised for bids they received only two tenders, but neither of them were favorable so the commissioners have decided to make an effort to sell the issue to the state.

ADDITIONAL SPORTS

RINK MAY BE ERECTED

Ground May Be Broken for Hockey Structure This Fall.

Jack Desmond Returns After Investigation Trip in Copper Country.

Duluth may have a real hockey rink this winter.

Jack Desmond, who has the grounds for the athletic field on Park Point and who intends also to have a rink, has just returned from a trip to the Copper country, where he has been looking over the rinks of that place. Mr. Desmond also visited Winnipeg recently and investigated the rink there.

He comes back enthusiastic over the idea and says that if things turn out in any way as expected, Duluth will this winter enjoy hockey such as she never has before.

Plans are being made for the rink and work may be started on the structure before many weeks have passed. Two other Duluthians are interested with Mr. Desmond in the matter.

The suggestion made by a hockey fan in the columns of The Herald in regard to the using of the old Stewart livery barn has been investigated by those interested and the place has been found to be impractical.

A mammoth rink is being erected in Chicago and the enthusiasts down that way are anxious to see an amateur league organized. A letter has been received in the city to this effect.

A definite announcement as to whether or not the rink will be erected for use this winter will be made within a few days.

All the Duluth boys who last winter played sensational hockey in Cleveland are anxious to stay at home, and if the rink is built they will be seen in Duluth uniforms.

A Duluth club will be organized under the name of the Duluth Athletic association, and the fastest teams in the country will be brought here, if the talked of hockey league is not organized.

There seems to be little doubt in the minds of those who are admirers of the great Canadian game that hockey could not be made very popular in this city, and it is altogether likely that the rink will be built for use this winter.

BASEBALL MEN IN CINCINNATI

Prominent Members of National Commission Meeting in Ohio City.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Sept. 1.—Baseball men of the two big leagues are flocking to this city to attend the meeting of the national baseball commission, whic hopened today.

Among them are President Murphy of the Chicago National league team; President Charles Ebbetts of the Brooklyn Nationals; Fred Knowles, secretary of the New York Nationals, representing John T. Brush; Robert Hedges, president of the St. Louis Americans; President Johnson of the American league; President Heydler of the National league, and President Barney Dreyfuss of the Pittsburg club.

Today is the opening of the drafting season in major leagues. For the next fifteen days the majors will have the right to draft players from the minors. Then the minors, according to their classification, can cut in until the best players are grabbed up. In case two clubs make a bid for the same player, the right to the player's service will be decided by drawing lots.

GOLF TOURNAMENT.

Woman Players Meet at Homewood Country Club, Chicago.

Homewood Country Club, Chicago, Sept. 1.—The first round of the ninth annual tournament of the Women's Western Golf association brought together sixteen of the stars of the West here today. Mrs. E. H. Sprague of Omaha, a semi-finalist in 1908, met Miss Myra Helmer of the Midlothian Country club, one of the best medalists in the country, and a good sized gallery followed the contest.

Mrs. W. France Anderson of Hinsdale, the present title holder, played Mrs. George Haskell, the home club champion, while Mrs. C. L. Dering of Midlothian, champion in 1905 and 1906, met Mrs. Harvey L. Pound of the Skokie Country club.

DULUTH BEAR WILL TOUR THE COUNTRY.

"Teddy Chalmers" is now the name of the little bear presented the winner of the Minneapolis Tribune run to Duluth by the Mutual Auto company of this city. The little fellow has made a great hit in Minneapolis, and he has been adopted by the Chalmers' people as their mascot throughout the country. He will go on all the long trips and champion each car in whatever race it happens to be entered.

FIRST BAUDETTE COURT.

Judge Stanton Has Just Concluded Term in Northern Beltrami.

Bemidji, Minn., Sept. 1.—(Special to The Herald.—Judge W. C. Stanton has just concluded the first term of district court ever held at Baudette in Northern Beltrami county. Court began Aug. 24.

A special venire of twenty-four petit jurors was ordered by the court, and after the issuing of the venire by Clerk of Court P. W. Rhoda, Sheriff Hazen immediately set to work summoning citizens of Northern Beltrami county to serve as petit jurors.

While Sheriff Hazen was summoning the jurymen the attention of the court was occupied in the examining of applicants who had petitioned the court for their final citizenship papers.

The first jury case to be tried was that of John C. Comins vs. S. J. Younhill. This case grew from a timber deal. Mr. Comins suing for some $400. In his answer Mr. Younhill set up a counter claim of $100. After hearing the evidence and charge of the court, the jury awarded the plaintiff damages in the sum of $180. A. K. Stauning was attorney for the plaintiff and C. R. Middleton attorney for the defendant.

In the case of Frank J. McPartlin vs. J. U. Williams the jury brought in a verdict for the defendant.

WILL HELP THE FARMER

Steps to make a good market for farmers shipping to Duluth are to be taken at once by the Commercial club.

The agricultural committee, meeting this noon, adopted resolutions proposing that an organization shall be formed at once to overcome the difficulties in the way. Letters were laid before the committee showing that farmers who offered stuff for the Duluth market could not get the facilities they need from the railroads, that the commission men often turned down their business and that when shipments were made the returns were not satisfactory.

It is proposed to form an organization that will take care of any stuff that any farmer wishes to ship to Duluth and see that the proper facilities are provided.

The public affairs committee will be asked to give the organization its backing. The advisability of giving it co-operative features so that the farmers may go into partnership with the city, were also discussed.

WELCOME GIVEN TO THE JAPANESE

Commission From Mikado's Kingdom Lands at Seattle, Wash.

Seattle, Wash., Sept. 1.—On a journey whose mission is to strengthen the bonds of friendship and commerce between Japan and the United States, forty-six Japanese bankers, merchants, members of parliament, educators and editors, representing the chambers of commerce of Tokio, Osaka, Kioto, Kobe, Yokohama and Nagasaki, arrived in Seattle this morning on the steamship Minnesota.

A crowd had gathered at the Great Northern wharf, on which the Sun flag and the Stars and Stripes were intertwined. As the steamer approached, bamboo cannon threw into the air bombs which, when they burst, released balloons and curious paper figures.

At the landing place the visitors were met by Governor Marion E. Hay of the state of Washington, Maj. John F. Miller of Seattle, J. D. Leeman, president of the Associated Chambers of Commerce of the eight large cities of the Pacific coast, and a delegation of business men. The three officials made speeches welcoming the Japanese. Representatives of the Japanese responded briefly.

The visitors were conveyed in automobiles to the Hotel Washington, which will be their headquarters until they start next Monday on their tour across the continent. The hotel fairly blazed with Japanese flags.

FOREST FIRES AGAIN MENACE

Fanned Into Threatening Conditions in Marinette County, Wis.

Menominee, Mich., Sept. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—The chain of forest fires in Menominee and Marinette counties, partly extinguished by the recent rains, were fanned into threatening conflagrations last night by the fierce wind storm which swept across both counties.

Marinette county is circled by flames and half a dozen fresh fires are reported in the vicinity of Menominee. Scores of farmers who returned to their homes several days ago after fighting fires for a week are again battling with the blazes. No fires have been reported along the railroad right-of-ways, and train service has not been interrupted as yet.

From a "cold-blooded business viewpoint," it's not worth while to actually cut prices below the "usual" and then fail to so advertise the fact that everybody is told about it.

the EVENING STORY

EYES THAT SAW NOT

By Ada B. Rogers.

(Copyrighted. All rights reserved.)

"Why do you always speak in a whisper?" asked the patient, as he wearily turned towards his nurse.

"I lost my voice for a time," she answered, "but it's coming back. For a long while I couldn't even whisper. I'm sorry if it annoys you, though."

"It doesn't," he said shortly. "I only wanted to know."

"My time with you is nearly finished," she went on, after a pause, straightening the curtain and pinching a withered flower from the bouquet on a stand near the bed. "Dr. Eckle thinks you're about well enough to do without a special nurse, and I'm to take a surgical case next week."

"I'll see that you don't," he said, irritably.

He was restless, but it was some time before he again spoke.

"Let's see; it's about four weeks since the smashup, isn't it?"

"It's nearly five," she whispered.

"And you've nursed me through it all?"

Something within her responded to the grateful softening of his voice that made anything but her simple yes impossible.

"You're a little trump!" groping for her hand, which she helped him to find. The unconscious force of his grip made her wince, but she gave no audible sign, and he went on: "I say 'little' because that's the way I've pictured you, but I'll soon know, when they take this infernal rag off," touching the bandage over his eyes. "I've ten notions to take it off, myself, now."

"No, no! You must not," she said, in quick alarm, going towards the door.

"Well, come back and I won't I swear!"

"You're getting quite like your old self," she told him, coming back to the bed and wistfully looking down on the wreck before her.

"What do you know about my old self?"

"I—I can imagine."

"Yes, yes. Do you play cards?" he asked quickly.

He had a pouncing way of putting a question that would have been disconcerting if she had not been certain that he could not see her.

"Yes, I play sometimes, but I don't get much time, and I don't care for it as much as for other things."

"I'd like mighty well to have a game," he said regretfully.

"Perhaps we may before I go," she said.

"What do you play?"

"Everything, I believe."

"Good! But what do you like best?"

"Twenty-one," she slowly whispered, as the color left her face and she steadied herself against the window.

His hands closed viciously on the spread, and he shut his lips with a fierce determination; then, after a moment, his strong, pain-lined face working, he said, "A game I haven't played for years."

"Nor I, but I shall always love it."

"Why?"

"It's such a gamble!" she went on. "You think you've won everything that's worth winning—and perhaps you have. Then—well, then you have nothing, but if you can only get the chance—the one chance to begin again—there's the hope, the awful hope that things may come your way once more."

"You like to take chances, then?"

"Yes," starting towards the door. "I'm going to take one now."

"Don't go," he half entreated, half commanded.

"Just for a moment," she whispered over her shoulder and hurried from the room.

"What struck you?" he asked, with a grunt of satisfaction at her quick return.

"I went to get these cards," she said, trembling with suppressed excitement. "Lie back, and be very quiet. I'm going to tell your fortune. I don't believe it can do any harm, and it may do some good."

As she smoothed the pillows every touch was a caress.

"Well, sibyl," he said half playfully half wearily, "begin. Past, present and future, I suppose."

At the word sibyl the last trace of color left her face, and her great gray eyes grew luminous with the subdued tenderness that her will held in torturing check. The short silence was a long agony to her. With a look that kissed the whole man she slipped to her knees besides the bed.

His restless movements and impatient "Well?" helped her. "Where are you? What are you doing?" he asked as he touched her hair. "Exercising a spell?"

She lifted her head and answered: "Yes, the spell of faith. Ready, now. Cut and wish."

He halved the pack.

"Did you wish?"

"No. I have no wish but to get out of this hospital."

"There, that spoils it all! You must neve rtell your wish. Begin again. Cut.

Again he halved the pack.

"Did you wish this time?"

"No, you'll have to do that for me."

"I will. I do," she quickly answered.

She deftly shuffled and laid out the cards, watching him with an anxious yearning.

"I could tell you this fortune better, youn understand, with cards that you handled, but with this pack, which you've never carried, nor kept near you, it'll be difficult, you see."

"Yes, I don't see, but we'll take that for granted. Go ahead."

One by one she touched the cards.

"I see a hot, arid country far away from here. There are Indians about. Ah, I know! It is a reservation, and you are stationed near with soldiers. You are their commander. I see now where you became so fond of playing cards. It grows clearer and clearer. There is a young woman with you. She is or was, very near to you. Something terrible happened — something of which you never knew but half. The five of spades is the card of secrecy. It touches you, and your head is turned from the girl. You doubted her but the cards say she was innocent."

"The cards lie!"

"Another deal," she forced herself to say, gathering up the pack with nervous haste.

He stretched out his hand, as if to sweep them away, but her quick, "Wait till I've shuffled," stayed him.

The cards slipped through her fear-chilled fingers. He must not, should not stop her yet.

"There was a man, a friend until he saw the girl; then he was false—"

"As hell!"

She did not heed the interruption, but touched the cards, and continued, "This girl was young and both men loved her, but only one had the right to tell her so. That was you. She had no suspicion of the feelings of the other man. She was winsome and bonny and —Wait! There are two tens and an ace, touching her. In this connection you may add them. Yes, yet, I see that means two things. She was 21, and because of that you had taught her the game. You three—you, the girl and the friend—played it very often. She had a sweet, almost childlike way of laying her hands on your shoulders and telling you, as she looked in your eyes, that she was 21 and had won the prize."

A smothered exclamation from the patient warned her that she must make the most of her time. In a little while she would be relieved—the other nurse would come.

"Third and last deal. I'll wish again for you. Dark cards. Clubs—the eight and nine—the worst cards in the deck. Evening and treachery. The deuce of spades, too. That is the death card. Yes, the man is dead."

"Curse him!"

"It is nearly night," she hurried on, "You come cautiously to a secluded place behind an old crumbling building. You are watching two figures, the girl and the man. She comes up happily, but as she nears him something in his manner changes her mood and an anxious expression comes over her face. This turns to fear. You, from your hiding place, see her go nearer to him. He whispers something, which you do not catch, and holds out his arms to her. She leans towards him; he draws her close and you see that she makes no resistance. He puts his face close to hers, and she cries out, 'My darling, my own!' and lays her head on his shoulder."

He snatched at the cards, crying: "By Heaven! this passes——"

"Wait! Listen! But it was no whispering voice that spoke now. "You shall hear the end. When you came forward and confronted them you could not, would not, see—for you were blind and mad with jealousy—that the girl had fainted. She did not know of your presence till shots had been exchanged. When she came to she turned to you in her bewilderment, which you called guilt. You spurned her, and, pointing with your pistol to the bleeding man on the ground, said, 'Have no fear. I spare you to nurse your lover.' Then you swore never to look on nor listen to her again."

He sat erect and gripped her arm till his hard fingers sank into the flesh.

"Hush!" she commanded. "Not a word till I have done. She did your bidding. In the face of sneers, contempt, loss of good name, she tended him with the splendid courage sustained by her innocence, and the unflinching determination of holding that life till the truth was wrung from him. She succeeded. The spark of chivalrous manhood left in him was quickened and he wrote a confession of the cunningly devised plot by which he hoped to compromise and later win her. It was all set forth succinctly. He lied once, but he repented and his dying words were true. He knew that you had gone on a scouting party. He asked the girl to wait with him in that rendezvous to surprise you on your return. An anonymous note had been sent to you, inviting you to witness the meeting. You responded, as he counted on your doing, but his whispered words were telling her of your having been mortally wounded. Her cry was to you, as she fainted in the arms of her fancied friend.

He tore the bandage from his eyes, crying, "Sibyl, my——"

"Stop! Hear the end! I have carried that paper for years, trusting, hoping, believing that some day I should confront you with it and compel you——"

She stopped, swayed and would have fallen, but he clutched her in his arms. He kissed her fiercely, tenderly; caressed her hair and called on her to speak to him; but she law white and still.

The frantic peals of his bell brought the nurses running to his room. They saw a time-worn letter and a pack of cards scattered on the floor, and the patient, with unbound eyes, holding the nurse almost savagely in his arms.

"Water!" he shouted. "Confound it, don't be all day! Can't you see my wife has fainted?"

POSTOFFICE SAFE BLOWN AT SOUTH SHORE, S. D.

Watertown, S. D., Sept. 1.—Yeggmen working at South Shore, a small town eighteen miles northeast of this city, broke into the postoffice, blew open the safe and carried off $700 in money and stamps. The robbers left no trace.

The fact that a freight train was switching in the yards and was making a great deal of noise aided the robbers. Many persons heard the noise of the explosion, but supposed it was the train.

New Fall Styles

I have an exceptional line of new patterns for fall, ready for your selection.

The advantage of wearing clothes properly tailored is well known among men who know good tailoring.

In order to have such clothing you need a skillful tailor to make them.

A COLD DAY COMING.

The recent drop in temperature with frost in the low places reminds us that the end of summer is nigh at hand. Is it not well to remember also that another cold day is confronting us —the winter of old age. No longer have we the vigorous strength of manhood, nor the fat salary that went with it. Small incomes and long cold winters do not go well together. A grape fruit grove on the Isle of Pines not only gives us a fine income but an ideal place of residence. You can get in very cheaply as yet, but prices are advancing.

FIRST FROST OF THE YEAR

Temperature Got Down to 39 for First Time Since Spring.

There was a light frost in Duluth last night.

It was also cold, as those who happened to be out can truthfully testify. An overcoat felt good and heavier underwear wasn't uncomfortable. Many people were minus both.

It is just a trifle early in Duluth for frost, although it is generally expected after the first week in September. The temperature got down to 39, but after the warmer evenings just passed, many believed that it was much colder.

The cold is general all over the Northwest. All over Wisconsin and Minnesota there was a light frost last night, and up North it was yet colder.

Today is the last official straw hat day. Sept. 1 in Duluth means the "ditching" of straw hats and back to the fall and winter variety.

Changed Spelling Announced.

Fargo, N. D., Sept. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Notice has been received at the local postoffice from the department at Washington of a change in spelling the name of the postoffice Minnewaukon, N. D. After Oct 1, it will be officially spelled "Minnewaukan," using an "a" in the last syllable. The reason for the change is unassigned.

Autoed Before Breakfast.

Brainerd, Minn., Sept. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—B. B. Gaylord of Deerwood and E. M. Gaylord of Duluth drove over before breakfast Monday morning from Deerwood, in E. M. Gaylord's Buick automobile. Accompanied by Judge Warner and Rev. Charles Fox Davis, they went to Crow Wing and other points south of the city today.

JOHN DREW, PIONEER, AND TWICE MAYOR OF CITY, DIES

JOHN DREW.

John Drew, twice mayor of the city of Duluth, and one of the oldest residents here, died suddenly this morning while eating his breakfast. Death was instantaneous, and Dr. Kraft, who was called, said that it was caused simply by his heart ceasing to work because of his extreme old age. Mr. Drew was 92 years of age last April. He was born in Reding, Conn., about forty miles from New York city, in 1817. He came to Duluth in 1869 when the town was first started. He served two terms as mayor, the first in 1874-5, and the second in 1879-80. He has lived here all of the forty years since he first came to the city, and before his years made him helpless was one of the best known figures on the city streets. For a time Mr. Drew was one of a group of five or six men who handled nearly all of the business of Northern Minnesota, and he was intimately identified with building up this section of the country. He is thought to have been the oldest resident of the city.

Mr. Drew leaves a wife, Mrs. Emma H. Drew, now in Portland with her daughter, Allee, for her health, and two sons, Charles H. Drew, employed in the city engineer's office, and John R. Drew of Cleveland, O. H. Drew was with his father at the time of his death. There were no signs of suffering, the old man seeming to simply fall peacefully to sleep.

The relatives have been notified and the funeral arrangements will be postponed until they can be heard from.

AN AIRSHIP IS SIGHTED

West Duluth Men Say One Followed Train Two Hours.

Fred Dutton and Charles Flora Tell Strange Story.

Fred Dutton of 532 North Fifty-sixth avenue west, and Charles Flora of 713 North Fifty-fourth avenue west, both employed in the railroad mail service, brought back to West Duluth last evening the story that passengers on train No. 33 of the Great Northern road saw an airship Monday afternoon. The aeroplane, it is claimed, followed the train for nearly two hours.

The West Duluthians say they will vouch for the accuracy of the story. The flying machine is claimed to have first been sighted just as the train was pulling out of Bena, Minn., early Monday afternoon. For nearly two hours the airship is said to have kept within sight of the train, and near Crookston it is said to have changed its course and headed toward the Twin Cities.

The aeroplane was not close enough to the train, it is said, so that it could be ascertained how many men were in the machine, although moving figures would indicate that the flying machine carried two men. The story was the subject of much gossip at West Duluth this morning.

The train left Duluth at 8:45 a. m.

SPEND NIGHT UP THE RIVER

Heavy Mist Prevented Launch Parties Returning From Fete.

Because of a heavy fog, which made navigation up and down the St. Louis river almost an impossibility, several West Duluth Boat club members, who attended the lawn fete at the Spirit Lake branch of the Duluth Boat club last evening, were forced to stay up the river all night.

In the early evening, when the trip up the river was made, the boatmen were not hampered by a heavy mist, but before the affair at the branch house had finished last evening, a cloud settled over the river and it did not clear away until late this morning.

Some of the more experienced boat enthusiasts started out to make the trip, but before they had proceeded far they became stuck on sand bars and were forced to turn back. Capt. Curo was the only boatman to effect a passage down the river at all.

REBUILDING THE INCLINE

Bayview Heights Road Will Be Protected From Washouts.

Work on rebuilding the incline railway of the Duluth Belt Line Railway company from Sixtieth avenue west and Grand avenue to Bayview Heights was commenced yesterday, H. C. Brown, having been awarded the contract.

The storm of July 22 completely washed away the roadbed in several places. When it is rebuilt this time, it will be laid with the view of having no recurrence of the washout. A concrete retaining wall from Grand avenue to Sixty-third will be built as well as new culverts of concrete along the roadway.

The new station which will be constructed at the West Duluth terminal will be of a neat design and large enough to accommodate the public. The cost of the repairing will be about $5,000. Some repairs are to be made at the Bayview Heights power house. The work, it is expected will be completed before Oct. 1.

Walk in From Cloquet.

Joseph Uscinski and Arthur McIntosh returned this morning from Cloquet, having walked the entire distance last night. The young men made the trip to the range town on their wheels, but one of the bicycles broke down after they had started on their return trip, and they were obliged to walk to West Duluth.

Larson Is Released.

William Larson, who was arrested Monday evening at the corner of Central avenue and Ramsey street on a charge of disorderly conduct, was released on parole when arraigned in municipal court yesterday. W. J. Fox, who is charged with having been engaged in a street fight with Larson, forfeited $10 when he failed to show up.

Challenge East Enders.

The ball team of the West Duluth saloon keepers, which has issued a challenge to the merchants for a game to be played on Labor day, has heard nothing from the deli and have challenged the East end saloon men for a contest, for whatever date they may choose. They will play for a $25 bet and will allow them to pick up a team from the saloonists and bartenders east of Garfield avenue. For games address Jack Gillis, 216 North Central avenue.

Kelleys vs. Ashland.

Manager Jack Gram of the Kelleys today completed arrangements for a game Sunday at Ashland and will take his team to that city for the contest. The Ore Dock Sluggers also have a game arranged with Proctor, with a $25 side bet as to the result. The game will be pulled off at Proctor.

Case Is Adjourned.

An adjournment until next Tuesday was taken in the case against Victor Olson, the West Duluth bartender, who had a hearing yesterday in municipal court on a charge of "tilting the lid" on Sunday last.

Olson was caught by West Duluth police officers in the saloon on Sunday morning, with five other men. It is understood that the case will be fought by Olson, who claims that the West Duluth police have no evidence against him.

McMahon & Rock, attorneys, appeared yesterday for Olson.

Seven Conductors Let Out.

West Duluth patrons of the street car company noticed a number of new street car conductors on the West Duluth lines this morning, which is said to be the result of discharging of seven conductors yesterday because their arms sometimes got stiff in ringing up fares.

One of the men discharged has been in the service of the company for fifteen years, and it is understood has never before had a mark to his discredit. Some of the other men, it is said, have been in the service from three to five years.

Hilda Bracksgaard Dies.

Hilda, the 8-months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Senart Brocksgaard of 329 South Fifty-seventh avenue west died at the home of her parents early this morning. The funeral was held this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock from the family residence, with burial at Oneota cemetery. Rev. Theodore Fossum of the Zion Norwegian Lutheran church at the West end officiated.

West Duluth Briefs.

The Fairmont Athletic association football team will give a dance at Wade's hall on Tuesday evening, Sept. 14.

E. Ritchie of Carlton, Minn., is a guest today at the Phillips hotel.

Otto Blais of 5701 Raleigh street will leave tomorrow for St. Boniface, Can., where he will attend school.

Miss Ethel Jamieson of 805 North Fifty-eighth avenue west will entertain the members of the Hematite club of the Westminster Presbyterian church at her home Friday evening.

Miss Ludella Lund of 528 North Fifty-ninth avenue west has returned from a visit at La Crosse, Wis.

Miss Lulu Fralleigh of 626 North Fifty-ninth avenue west has gone to Winton, Minn., where she will teach school.

Watch repairing. Hurst, W. Duluth.

HARD CASE FOR COURT

Will Have to Decide Which Matel Killed Adolph Mattis.

The Duluth police and county attorney are up against rather a hard proposition in the case of Adolph and Victor Matel, the half brothers arrested this morning charged with the murder of Adolph Mattis, or Moddis, as he was sometimes known.

The man was killed by a single knife thrust in the neck, and the only two men who witnessed the affair, Walter Hero and Paul Bartusz, say that while they are certain Mattis was killed by one of the Matels, they do not know which one actually struck the fatal blow.

Both men arrested protest that they are innocent, and if both enter pleas of not guilty, as they doubtless will, there apparently will be no way of proving beyond a reasonable doubt which of the two really did the killing, if either did.

Even though it is proved that both men assaulted Mattis, both could not be punished for his murder, when only one was directly responsible for it. If the judge and jury are fully satisfied that one of the two men committed the crime, how is either one to be punished for murder as long as they stand by each other, each claiming to be innocent, and each claiming that the other is innocent? This is an obstacle that will be difficult to get around. It will be a case the like of which probably never before has been seen in a St. Louis county court.

Hero and Bartusz say they are sure the Matels did the killing, but both told the police that they did not see a knife in the hand of either assailant, and did not even know Mattis had been stabbed until they helped him to his feet. Looking over their shoulders as they ran, they claim to have seen one of the Matels strike Mattis, but assert that they do not know which delivered the blow.

BALL GAME ON FRIDAY

Duluth and Superior Aldermen to Meet on the Diamond.

Manager Hector Announces the Lineup for Zenith City.

Alderman Hector this afternoon announced the Duluth city council's lineup for the baseball game to be played with the Superior council. The game will be pulled off next Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, on the league grounds at Superior. There will be a big contingent of rooters on hand from Duluth.

Alderman Hector is playing manager for Duluth. He has a formidable array of pitchers selected. Shartel, Merritt and Getchell will throw the ball for Duluth. Probably about three innings each will suffice to test their muscles. Alderman Moore will occupy the position behind the bat. He denies the report that he will use his automobile to chase foul balls with.

Mr. Hector will hold down first base. His height will make it a simple matter to pick off the high ones. Alderman Foubister will do his smiling out on second base and Alderman Trevillion will adorn third.

Alderman Storey will distinguish himself at shortstop, and Alderman Hoar will chase high balls out in left field. Alderman McKnight will snake hot bones out of the grass in center field and Alderman Hogan will represent the Fifth ward in right field. Aldermen Olson, McDonnell, Jordan and Bloedel will occupy seats on the substitute bench, and will be ready at any moment to take the place of the injured. Health Commissioner Patton has agreed to go along as official physician and Manager Hector says Alderman Moe has agreed to act as mascot. Mayor Haven will be umpire for Duluth.

It will be some game. There will be no ringers on either side. Aldermen, and no one else, will play. Superior has promised faithfully to allow no one but city fathers in the game. Duluth hasn't yet received the Superior lineup, but it is known that Mayor Crumpton will help Mayor Haven umpire the game.

Following the game the Duluth aldermen will be entertained at the Superior Commercial club.

D. C. H. S. ALUMNI.

MEETING, FRIDAY, SEPT. 3. High School Assembly Hall, for organization.

BOY OF 8 KILLS HIS 10-YEAR-OLD BROTHER.

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 1.—William King, 8 years old, shot and killed his brother, Francis, 10 years old, in their bedroom this morning. The boys, sons of a police sergeant, were playing "cowboy."

DISCUSS CASE OF CHINESE "SLAVE"

Washington, Sept. 1.—Cornelius J. Sullivan, representing the Gerry Society of New York, today conferred with Commissioner General Keefe of the immigration bureau regarding the case of the young Chinese girl who, it has been alleged, was sold into bondage after having been brought to this country as a student. Owing to the fact that Former Minister Wu has been mentioned in connection with the case, and because of a number of peculiar circumstances surrounding it, neither Commissioner Keefe nor Mr. Sullivan would discuss the results of the conference.

The girl is in the custody of the Gerry society in New York, and the officers of that organization have announced their intention of sifting the matter through to the bottom.

Eight Killed in German Mine.

Saarbruecken, Germany, Sept. 1.—Eight men were killed in the Kamphausen coal pit last night. The supports of a scaffolding at which they were at work in the main shaft gave way. The men fell several hundred feet to the bottom of the pit.

SUPERIOR NEWS

THINK JOHNSON IS DEMENTED

That P. K. Johnson, arrested Saturday evening at Superior on a charge of attempted murder, is insane is the opinion of the attending physicians who are conducting an examination as to his sanity today at the request of County Judge Larson. The examination is being made by County Physician H. J. O'Brien and Dr. Lewis Moody.

Johnson is the man who attempted to shoot down Dr. J. G. Barnsdale Saturday night, because he claimed that the doctor was responsible for the death of his wife. The question of the alleged operation on Johnson's wife will be entered into, but only so far as has to do with the shooting of Saturday.

A report from the committee of physicians who are conducting the examination as to his sanity, will probably be made some time today. He will probably never come to trial on the charge of attempted murder.

Will Discuss New Road.

Members of the Commercial club will meet tomorrow for the purpose of considering the matter of a new road to the steel plant. The matter is of absorbing interest at the present time and it is thought that there should be no delay in selecting the route.

Attending Conference.

Rev. F. W. Court, pastor of the Cummings avenue M. E. church, left yesterday afternoon with Rev. F. H. Harvey, pastor of the First M. E. church for Monroe, Wis., where they will attend the annual West Wisconsin Methodist conference which opened yesterday.

Gets Fifteen Days.

John Brown was given fifteen days this morning in municipal court at Superior for stealing cream from the Sorenson dairy at Billings park.

LAWN FETE AT BRANCH

As It Might Have Been Seen By Popular Novelist.

The Tragedy of the Girl and the Ice Cream Cones.

(With Abject Apologies to Robert W. Chambers.)

The fete was to begin at 8 o'clock that evening. At 7 o'clock the bustle and hurry began. Automobiles purred expensively up the steep hill from the railroad tracks to the clubhouse, and disgorged their loads of carefully wrapped young men and women. Launches plied busily up the bay and river. Workmen were busy, under the direction of Martin, putting the finishing touches to the grounds, and stringing the thousands of multi-colored lanterns that lent a pale, ghostly light to the scene.

Greensward and forest aisles, bounded by lines of twinkling lights, were thronged with a gay company, and the laughter of young voices rang out from many a hidden corner, while the steady murmur of conversation swelled and ebbed like the far noise of some unseen stream rushing westward under the silent stars.

The train from town puffed protestingly into the little depot, and from the dimly lighted coaches, hundreds of late arrivals descended, followed by the blue uniformed musicians.

Courtney Beauregard swung his long slender limbs from the top of the fence surrounding the tennis court, flicked the ashes from a monogrammed cigarette, and surveyed the brilliant scene before him languidly.

From the darkness he was aware of a pair of scarlet lips and two limpid blue eyes. Courtney swung himself gracefully to the ground. It was Eloise Best.

"You look pale, dear," she said. "Why are you not dancing?"

A strange look flickered in the man's eyes. "Nothing, dearest," he said. "It is Life. Some day you will understand, perhaps." He was looking straight into the blue eyes before him, and smiling quizzically.

"The fete has begun," she murmured. "Do you mean it?" he whispered. Her honesty appalled him, and he drew back, worshipping.

The dusk was heavy with gasoline from where the automobile chugged, and everywhere the pale lanterns glowed against the foliage.

The girl colored under Courtney's quiet gaze.

"Am I detaining you too long?" she asked.

"On peut voir sans regarder," he replied. "Vous etes indispose. Not that—not that again, Eloise."

She crimsoned to her coral shell ears.

"You mean that you had an ice cream cone?" he demanded, fiercely.

"Yes; one sprinkled with Jockey club, and another and another with Jimmie Despard and the Montressor twins. And I'll have another presently. Does it concern you?"

"I think so, Eloise," he said sadly.

"You are wrong," she gasped. "It does not concern you. Neither does it concern me that you motored up with Geraldine De Vere, or went canoeing with Katharine De Lancey, or kissed Helen Graudcourt on the swings."

"Shall we go back?" he asked, quietly and sadly.

"Yes, if you wish," she said. "I am tired."

He turned her over to her mother on the veranda of the clubhouse and walked back through the woods, where the lights were dying and the pale moon shed its silver effulgence over all, to the train.

Going home on the train a little party of men were discussing the fete in the smoker.

"Eloise stowed away about six ice cream cones tonight," said one youth, as he puffed at a scented cigarette.

Courtney strode over to him.

"I don't know your name," he said, "but you lie. Do you understand me perfectly? You lie."

The youth flushed, but because he had some elements of decency left to him by his mother, he said:

"You are right, kiddo. You're dead right. I lied. She had seven."

(Not to be continued, by request.)

But the fete was a success, in spite of the chilly atmosphere.

WOMAN RESCUED FROM DROWNING

Harry Milnes Plunges Into Bay After Mrs. Glemmstead.

The story of a rescue from drowning in the waters of the bay off Park Point Sunday came to light last night. Harry Milnes, who is staying at the "Cherry Grove" cottage, saved the life of Mrs. Emma Glemmstead, who got beyond her depth while in bathing.

She waded far out into the bay, and suddenly stepped into a deep hole. She was unable to swim, and began struggling about in the water and screamed loudly for help. Mr. Milnes heard her cries and, waiting only long enough to throw off his coat, ran into the water until he got beyond his depth, and then swam the rest of the way to the unfortunate woman.

She grabbed him about the neck and pulled him under the water, but he managed to make his way back to land with her, after a hard struggle. Neither Mrs. Glemmstead or her rescuer have suffered any ill effects from the adventure.

PEDESTRIAN IS ARRESTED

Starl Cronley Given a Ride in the Patrol Wagon.

Starl Cronley, the pedestrian who is walking around the borders of the United States on a $2,000 wager, was arrested late yesterday afternoon on Garfield avenue by Patrolman McDermott, who claims to have seen him begging. The man was also said to be drunk.

Cronley, with his dust-covered clothes, looked very much like a vagrant, but at the police station he was able to establish his identity, and was allowed his freedom. He arrived in the city Sunday, and registered at one of the leading hotels. His system is to get free board and lodging in exchange for the advertising his presence brings the hotel at which he stops.

Cronley had some difficulty in getting free accommodations in Duluth, and is said to have tried several hotels before he finally struck one which was willing to take him in on his own terms. He was tired when he got here, and decided to remain in the city a few days before starting on his way back to Toledo, whence he started on his long hike a year ago last June. The police say he left town last night in search of adventure. She has not heard from him since. Now his father is seriously ill, and she is very anxious that word of his father's condition should reach the boy and that he should return to his home. Some time ago one of the neighbor's sons received a postal from him with a picture of Superior street, Duluth, on it, and she therefore thinks that he may be in Duluth.

When he left home the boy had on a blue serge suit, a light shirt with a blue stripe, and low russet shoes. He is light, with blue eyes, and is about five feet tall.

NEW STORY ABOUT PRINCE GEORGE

Servian Newspaper Tells of Mysterious Injuries to His Chauffeur.

Belgrade, Servia, Sept. 1.—The newspaper Zvono, which first published the story that Crown Prince George had assaulted his valet, a statement that resulted in the prince's renouncing his right to the throne, makes another sensational announcement today with regard to a French chauffeur employed by the prince. It declares the chauffeur recently received serious injuries, following which he was conveyed secretly to a Belgrade hospital, perhaps fatally injured.

RUNAWAY BOY--- FATHER DYING

Mrs. Cronin of Pennsylvania Thinks Her Son Is In Duluth.

Is Willie Cronin in Duluth? If so his mother is very anxious indeed to hear from him. In a letter to The Herald today from her home in Manayund, Pa., Mrs. Cronin says that the boy left home five weeks ago, probably is what some physicians have called patent medicines, and it is undeniably true that some are frauds and some are even worse, because they are injurious. On the other hand, there are many patent medicines such as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and others, which are of real worth, and are recommended by physicians of recognized standing.

THE PAVING OF EAST FOURTH

Mass Meeting of Property Owners Has Been Called.

A call for a meeting of property owners along Fourth street, between Sixth and Fourteenth avenues east, to be held at the city hall, has been issued. It will be held Wednesday afternoon, Sept. 15, at 4 o'clock, and its object will be to get the sentiment of people interested in regard to the proposed paving of the street as far as Fourteenth avenue.

A petition calling for the improvement is being circulated, and it is being quite largely signed. It is hoped to have all the preliminaries arranged by next spring, so that work on the improvement may be started as soon as the frost leaves the ground. The paving of Fourth street from Fifth avenue west to Sixth avenue east was completed last Saturday.

CORNERSTONE WILL BE LAID

Bishop McGolrick Will Have Charge of Ceremony at Orphanage.

Bishop McGolrick of the diocese of Duluth will lay the cornerstone of the new St. James Orphanage at Woodland Sunday afternoon at 3:30.

The institution will be an orphanage and industrial school, taking the place of the old building in the West end. The structure will be four stories high and the builders have already reached the third story.

The cornerstone laying by the bishop will be a simple ceremony and there will be no other exercises. It is expected that a large crowd will attend.

President Fitch Moves Office.

Marquette, Mich., Sept. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—W. F. Fitch, president of the Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic railway, has moved his office from the Nester block into two rooms in the southwest corner of the opera house block on the second floor. The rooms in the Nester block, formerly occupied by the railroad president, will be used by the office force, which has recently been increased.

MINING MAN HERE.

N. M. Hanson, an Old-Timer in Western Gold Fields.

N. M. Hanson of Virginia City, Nev., and an old-timer in the Western gold mining camps, is in Duluth on business. He has made and lost many fortunes, but he now has a prosperous look about him.

Mr. Hanson was in Nevada in the boom days, when the Mackey-Fair-Flood crowd made its millions and when Mark Twain was editor of the Virginia Enterprise. He made money on the famous Consolidated Virginia stock.

DROP BANK SUITS.

Proceedings Against Former Ironwood Officials Are Not Pushed.

Ironwood, Mich., Sept. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Attorneys Riley and Rice have discontinued their suits in the circuit court against Former President Nelson and the directors of the defunct First National Bank of Ironwood. The receiver refused to enter into any agreement regarding future actions in the courts, but intends to be guided by the advice of the controller of the currency and the department of justice at Washington.

A few more claims are being proved every day and receiver's certificates will shortly be in the hands of practically all creditors of the old bank. It will take the accountants a month to write up their report, so that it will be well along toward October before even the controller of the currency will know the true situation as to the institution's condition.

A good deal of speculation is being indulged in as to the date of the initial dividend to the depositors and creditors.

MARINE NEWS

NORTH WEST ON LAST TRIP

Big White Steamer Closes Her Summer Tourist Season.

Vessel Owners Preparing for Fall Rush in Lake Shipping.

The steamer North West has visited the port of Duluth for the last time this year.

The big white steamer, which is the property of the Northern Steamship company, steamed out of the harbor last night for the last time this year. As has been her custom in the past, she will go into winter quarters at Buffalo.

Preparatory to the expected big fall rush, there is just now a lull in the shipping trade in all branches. The boats are not coming so fast, and the loading is not being accomplished in such short order.

But few grain charters have been made, coal cargoes are scarce most of the boats coming up the lakes light, and ore is not moving with the rapidity of a week ago.

The big rush, it is expected, will be on in full force within a week or two, and then there will be no letup until the end of the season. Vesselmen generally believe the rush this fall is going to be the greatest ever experienced at the Head of the Lakes, and they are preparing for it.

The rush for the package freighters is already on. The boats are loading, unloading and getting away as quickly as possible, and the amount of freight handled is very great. This present season has been one of the liveliest in the history of the business, claim the local agents.

Owing to the scarcity of coal cargoes, many of the large freighters are being held up at the other end of the lakes. Owners claim that it does not pay them to take one-way cargoes.

DETECTIVE SHOT TWO STRIKERS

Buffalo, N. Y., Sept. 1.—John C. Nicolai, a private detective employed by the Lake Carriers' association, shot two marine strikers dead on the West Shore ore docks last evening, and was only saved from lynching by the quick arrival of the police. The dead men are:

GEORGE HOUGHTON, a fireman.
MATTHEW DWYER, an oiler.

Nicolai claims that they attacked him and two strike-breakers, and that he fired in self-defense.

The strikers along the docks are in an ugly temper.

DECKHANDS LIBEL VESSEL

Wilson Company Steamer Is Attached by Discharged Seamen.

A libel was filed yesterday afternoon in the United States district court against the steamer Henry W. Oliver of the Western Transportation company, Capt. Charles Frenke, by a number of deck hands who were discharged at Two Harbors without being paid off, according to their claims. The men are W. H. Kassley, W. Abar, J. O'Hara, John Benton and Joseph Snyder, and their claim, which includes $84 wages due, besides wages which they would have earned on the return trip, and transportation home, aggregates $229.80. They were shipped at Buffalo Aug. 16, and discharged at Two Harbors without cause, according to the complaint.

Marshal W. H. Grimshaw seized the boat, but released it when the owners, the Wilson Transportation company, signed a bond for twice the amount of the claim presented.

Will Raise Senator.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Sept. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—It was expected at Detour today that a tug of the Reid Wrecking company, with a pontoon in tow, would arrive this afternoon to begin work on raising the sunken steamer Senator, off Pipe Island. Divers are now at work putting patches on, and it is probable that pumping out will start tomorrow or Friday.

Mr. Reid is coming up with the tug and pontoon.

Plymouth, Sept. 1.—Arrived: Steamer Majestic, New York for Southampton.

MAY SUCCEED HIS BROTHER

A successor to the late George Tischer, county commissioner, will be selected next Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the county auditor's office. Politicians who keep in close touch with such things have it figured out that John Tischer, brother of the former commissioner, will be chosen to fill the unexpired term.

There are several candidates for the office. Among them are George Schuienberg, Edward Totman, William Sargent, Anton Hjelm and William McComber. John Tischer resides at Lakewood. The man will be decided upon by the five chairmen of St. Louis county town boards, and Mayor Haven, who will meet next Tuesday at the courthouse.

It is expected that it will take several ballots before any one is elected. One authority who has interested himself in the situation, expects to see either Tischer or Totman get two votes on the first ballot; McComber, 1; Hjelm, 1; Tischer, 1, and an unknown dark horse, 1. It is claimed some of the chairmen of town boards have already decided to change their votes on succeeding ballots.

POLICE LOOKING FOR O. H. RICARD

O. H. Ricard, who is said to have passed a $50 forged check on Joseph Brizette, one of the proprietors of the Montreal hotel, is wanted by the police. The man is reported to have worked a new game in getting the money.

Ricard worked at the St. Louis hotel as substitute checker for a time, and later went to room at the Montreal. While stopping there he told the proprietors he was going to the range to see about the purchase of a hotel property. Two or three days later he returned to the hotel again.

In the presence of Brizette he opened a letter purporting to be from his wife, and took a $50 check from the envelope, which he asked Brizette to cash. Suspecting nothing out of the way, the hotel man handed over the money, later giving the check to one of the brewing companies in payment of a bill. The company turned the check over to a local bank. It was drawn on a Chicago bank, and was declared a forgery by the Windy City institution.

HOW TO MAKE THE CITY PAY

HUSBAND LEAVES; SHE WEDS AGAIN

Woman Who Bore Triplets Is Married to Zim Man.

Eveleth, Minn., Sept. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mrs. Nellie Nelson, famous as the mother of triplets, was married yesterday by Judge Prince to Carl A. Carlson, who owns 160 acres of land and resides at Zim.

Eight years ago yesterday Eveleth was surprised to hear of the birth of triplets at the Nelson home on the Virginia road. When the father, Victor Nelson, a miner, heard of the unusual event he disappeared and has not been heard of since, causing the mother much work to support the family. The three children are all healthy and will reside with their mother and stepfather at Zim.

ROOMS ARE SCARCE.

Eveleth Teachers Have to Hunt Around for Quarters.

Eveleth, Minn., Sept. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—The teachers have begun to arrive for opening school, Sept. 7, and as rooms are very scarce, efforts are being made to get a list of available rooms for them. The Globe hotel, which housed several of them last year, can not do so any more, and this increases the demand. The teaching force will number forty-five, an increase of ten, and of the teachers fifteen have never been here before.

A teachers' meeting will be held Monday afternoon in the high school auditorium. The pupils will be required to report to their old classrooms from which rooms they will be assigned for the term. The high school and eighth graders, however, will go direct to the high school building Tuesday morning, Sept. 7.

As now arranged, there will be two kindergartens on the first floor of the new building, the superintendent's office, the library, the stenographer's office, the commercial department, two grade rooms and the chemistry and physics laboratory. In the basement there will be a room for the wood work and manual training department, a cooking room, sewing room and also a gymnasium.

WOULD RETIRE DEBT.

Two Harbors Council to Have a Sinking Fund.

Two Harbors, Minn., Sept. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—One of the important matters to be considered by the city council when it meets tonight will be the mayor's action on the resolution for the creation of a sinking fund to retire the municipal debts as fast as possible.

Street work will also be considered.

THEY WANT "LITTLE BOB."

Hibbing Italians Anxious to Have La Follette Address Them.

Hibbing, Minn., Sept. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Guglielmo Marconi Fraternity society, composed of Italian-Americans, is preparing for a big celebration on Columbus day, Oct. 12, and an invitation has been sent to United States Senator La Follette to deliver an address here upon that occasion. An acceptance has not yet been received.

DESTROYED MEMORIALS ARE TO BE REPLACED.

Eveleth, Minn., Sept. 1.—(Special to The Herald.) — Harrington Beard of the Beard art galleries and Judge Waite of Minneapolis were here yesterday on a sightseeing trip and left later for Tower and Ely. While here Mr. Beard and Judge Waite went through the new high school building and the Fayal mine. Mr. Beard has supplied the graduating classes with their annual memorials and had a talk with Supt. B. O. Greening and the school board in regard to them. All the high school memorials that were burned in the school fire in June, 1908, will be replaced by the school board through Mr. Beard.

DRAKE-FELDMAN ROW TO BE AIRED FURTHER.

Eveleth, Minn., Sept. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—As the result of the arrest Monday of Tom Drake for hitting young Abe Feldman, the latter and his father were both arrested yesterday on Drake's complaint, but were released on their own recognizance to appear in court today. Drake refused to plead guilty to the charge against him, and his trial will also come up today. Besides being mixed up in these trials, Drake has also secured a warrant against Napoleon Levine, alleging that the latter collected some money for him and did not turn it over.

MUCH TALK OVER MEAT INSPECTOR

Charges Against Present Virginia Official Start Hot Debate.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—An attack on J. P. Chalmers, the meat inspector, in which it was alleged he was not impartial in the administration of the affairs of his office and that he favors Macbeth & Gardner, local dealers, was precipitated before the council last night by Barry Snider, who laid before the body a petition signed by about 100 urging that Chalmers be removed.

A heated discussion, very acrimonious at times, was indulged in and the petition was finally laid on the table without any conclusion being reached.

The council also considered the matter of providing adequate chambers for the district court, and Mayor Hawkinson and other city officials will go before the board of county commissioners at Duluth next week and request that some action be taken to co-operate with Virginia in providing suitable district court quarters. Attorney Arnold addressed the council and urged prompt action.

EXPECT RACY EVIDENCE.

Larson Against Thiel Promises to be Sensational Case.

Hibbing, Minn., Sept. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Some rich and racy testimony is expected when the case of Dan Larson against Carl Thiel for $15,000 for the alleged alienation of the affections of the plaintiff's wife gets under full swing in the district court.

The complaint in the action created something of a sensation when it was filed, as Larson set up some serious allegations against the defendant, claiming he had led his wife astray and induced her to file a suit for divorce, promising to marry her as soon as he procured a divorce from his wife.

John Heitman of Duluth represents Mr. Larson, while Victor Power appears for Mr Thiel.

There are forty civil actions to be tried, of which Judge W. A. Cant will try thirteen, Judge Hughes being disqualified. There will be a number of criminal cases.

NASHWAUK TEACHERS.

Those Who Will Instruct Youth in Mesaba Range Community.

Nashwauk, Minn., Sept. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—The teachers named for positions in the Nashwauk schools of district No. 9 are as follows: Supt. H. A. Gilruth; Miss Matilda Thompson of Fargo, high school teacher; Miss Charlotte Paulson of Two Harbors, fifth and sixth grades; Miss Lulu E. Waller of Litchfield, Minn., third and fourth grades; Miss Zita Doran of Grand Rapids, second grade; Miss E. M. Chase of Bear River, first grade; Miss Alice Maxfield of St. Paul, first grade; Miss J. S. Hill of Lake City, Minn., kindergarten, assisted by Miss Cecile Cobb of Minneapolis. Miss Grace M. Vipond of Grand River will take charge of the upper grades of the Keewatin school, and Miss Clara Hanson of Duluth the primary grades.

GOING TO COLLEGE.

Eveleth Young People Soon Leave for Seats of Learning.

Eveleth, Minn., Sept. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—The young people who are going to attend higher institutions of learning are John Saari, who will take a six years' medical course at the University of Minnesota; Georgiana Powell, who will return to the St. Cloud normal; Abe Feldman, who will return to his third year at Michigan, where Paul Erickson will enter the law department; Cyril Williams will return to Wayland academy, Beaver Dam, Wis.; Ben Wilk will enter the University of Minnesota, and Cora Williams and Gladys Springer will attend the Grand Rapids, Mich., kindergarten training school. Several of the 1909 high school graduates will study higher up, but will wait a year before going away to school.

WANT MORE PAVING.

Grand Rapids Council Petitioned to Improve Kindred Street.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Sept. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—The property owners on Kindred street have petitioned the council to pave that thoroughfare from Second to Fourth street and the council has decided to advertise for bids. There will be room on each side of the street for a ten-foot boulevard.

It was also decided to advertise for bids for the light posts which will be used on all the streets that are being paved. It is figured that upwards of forty posts will be needed at this time. The specifications will be asked for with the bids for the posts.

Another meeting of the council will be held Sept. 13, when it is expected that the contract for the paving and light posts will be let.

Hibbing Theater Leased.

Hibbing, Minn., Sept. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—L. S. Miscathkin and Harry Shanley of Virginia, have leased the Power theater of this city for a term of years. Mr. Miscathkin will act as manager, having had considerable experience in that capacity.

BALL PLAYERS GUESTS.

Members of Two Harbors Team Are Given a Banquet.

Two Harbors, Minn., Sept. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—With F. Evans as toastmaster and about sixty people present, the members of the local baseball teams were entertained at a banquet in the gymnasium of the Y. M. C. A. last night. Yesterday evening the Pirates defeated the White Sox 8 to 4 and lack one game of tying the Tigers for the lead in the league. The Pirates will play the Browns this evening and will probably win, in which case the Tigers and Pirates will be tied for the lead and will play for the pennant honors Monday evening. The season has been a successful one in point of attendance, interest and financial returns. The season will end today in case the Pirates lose.

Two Harbors Express Office.

Two Harbors, Minn., Sept. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—N. R. Miller of Duluth arrived yesterday and opened an office here for the United States Express company, and hereafter the citizens will be served regularly. Mr. Miller expects to remove his family to this city in a few days.

Infant Boy Christened.

Eveleth, Minn., Sept. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—The christening of the 7-day-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Siegel was held yesterday afternoon at the family home. A large number of local and out-of-town guests were present and a dinner was served.

tolerably good one, too.

Much I heard before coming to England of the vast and suffering army of the unemployed, and I have no doubt I shall see them, perhaps in all the horror they have been pictured, when I get down to London. There are many about Manchester, for this is a dull time with the manufacturers, and most of the mills are on short time.

Work Is Permanent.

But generally speaking, the men one sees idle are not permanently out of employment, and do not belong to the army of the unemployed. For when a man or a woman once gets a job in one of these mills, it is practically permanent, unless the employe is hopelessly inefficient or hopelessly vicious, which seems to be rarely the case. Many mill operatives own their own homes; neat, architecturally tasteful and comfortable brick cottages of from four to ten rooms. They build them on the building and loan plan generally, and as their jobs are secure, they generally pay for them. In Oldham alone, one corner of the Manchester settlement, there are 12,000 mill operatives who own their homes.

Riding on my bicycle along the "road" to Oldham, I saw numerous men and women, apparently workmen, just loafing about the streets, with apparently nothing to do. Having heard so much about the hard times, the lack of work and the army of the unemployed, I thought I would get down and talk with some of these people. One rather elderly man with a set of white Presbyterians adorning his facial expression, dressed like the general run of men on the street, was leaning against a lamp post. He looked like he belonged to the "black belt," as the kind policeman termed it to me, and I went up and asked him what city it was I was in.

"This city," he said, "is only a little village on the outskirts of Oldham."

Nobody in a Hurry.

There was every sign of what in America we call a city. Numerous smoking chimneys were in sight, and there were solid blocks of buildings in every direction. I asked him about the various factories, about the life among the workmen, the short time of the mills, and so on, which questions he answered very politely and cordially. A trolley car came by, and I saw he had been waiting for it, but as I asked a question he stopped, and said he would take the next car, in about five minutes. With all the work they turn out round about Manchester, I haven't seen anybody in a hurry.

"Are you connected with one of these mills?" I asked, expecting him to reply that he had been but was temporarily out of employment on account of the short time scheme.

"No," he replied. "I am connected with this one near here, and then with another a little farther on, at Oldham."

Not supposing he could work in two, I looked puzzled.

"As director," he added. Then he had further questions to answer.

This man had worked thirty years as forger in an iron foundry at Oldham. He saved his money, invested it in stocks of mills, and now at 58 he has retired, director in two cotton mills. That does not mean he is wealthy, but that he and his wife can live comfortably the rest of their days.

So, not every man you see in Manchester with apparently nothing to do is a pauper, or a member of the "army of the unemployed."

HILL BEGNIS SPEED WAR

cago and Seattle to make the long run in sixty-two hours.

Burlington Cuts Time.

Notice has been served by the Burlington that, effective Sept. 12, that road no longer would observe the Western passenger train speed agreement, but would reduce the running time of its main Chicago-Denver train by two hours.

The proposition which the Hill lines have made with respect to the mails was due largely to the fact that the St. Paul will be in a position within two or three years to make fast time to that territory, and no doubt will go out after the mail carrying business. If the government accepts the proposition of the Hill roads it will result in facilitating the Northwest mail service by fully half a day.

It is proposed to start the new fast train out of Chicago about 1:50 a. m. and arrive in Seattle at noon on the third day.

Speed War Promised.

The Burlington's move in the direction of faster time between Chicago and Denver may lead to another phase of the promised speed war. Formerly the Chicago-Denver schedule was 27½ hours, but now it is 29½ hours. More than a year ago the Western roads made an agreement lengthening all schedules clear to the Pacific coast. Shortly afterwards this agreement was broken by several of the roads.

Notice has been given by President S. M. Felton that the headquarters of the Great Western would be removed from St. Paul to Chicago. Notice also was given of the appointment of Joseph W. Blabon, formerly vice president of the Alton, to the position of vice president of the Great Western in charge of traffic. Other appointments announced were: General counsel, John Barton Payne; auditor, J. W. Newlean; treasurer, R. O. Barnard; secretary, G. F. Philleo.

to a halt the masked highwayman mounted the cab and covered Donnelly and the fireman with revolvers, one in each hand. He demanded:

"Are there any mail cars on this train?"

Donnelly replied: "No."

"Any express cars?"

Receiving an affirmative answer, the desperado started back toward the first express car, having ordered the two trainmen to accompany him. The express messenger had his head out of the window, endeavoring to learn what the trouble was.

At this juncture Conductor Poffenberger came rushing forward. The highwayman seeing him, shouted:

"You——, get back."

"Poffenberger replied: "I want to find out what's going on here."

Shot at Conductor.

The highwayman parleyed no further, but opened fire on the conductor, one shot going through the latter's left hand. The conductor turned and fled toward the rear of the train. The highwayman fired three shots at the fleeing man, each shot grazing his clothing.

The shooting had the effect of thoroughly frightening the railroaders and the highwayman then entered the express car, shouting as he entered: "Any money?" The frightened messenger answered in the negative.

He replied, "You're a liar!" and demanded to be shown where the money was, at the same time forcing the messenger into the corner of the car. Another messenger came forward, too, but he was easily intimidated by the revolvers of the robber.

Made Them Help Him.

The robber carried a bag and he compelled the engineer to hold the bag open while he forced the fireman and express messengers to put $5,000 in gold bullion and several bags of pennies, about $200 in all, into the bag. Having got all the money in sight, he ordered the engineer back to his engine and forced the fireman and express messenger to carry the money up the mountain side about 150 yards from the track. The robber then coolly dismissed the men, saying:

"Goodby and good luck; I hope to see you again."

Donnelly says the robber, still wearing his mask, then took to the woods and the trainmen went back to the train.

Donnelly says the man spoke with a foreign accent, but used good English.

KNIFE THRUST IN NECK PROVES FATAL

behind a fence at 512 Garfield, and attack Mattis. The three friends then turned and started to run, and after going a few steps Mattis fell to the ground. The assailants had by this time disappeared up the avenue, and Hero and Bartusz returned and picked him up. They found that he had been stabbed in the side of the neck. He was still alive, but was unable to speak. They assisted him to the corner, a few steps distant, where he collapsed, dying shortly afterwards, without having uttered a word.

The police were notified and the patrol wagon was soon on the scene. Mattis was dead when it arrived, and Durkan & Crawford were notified. They took the dead body to their undertaking rooms, where it was learned that the knife thrust had severed the jugular vein. The telephone operator at police headquarters notified Chief Troyer, Capt. Fiskett and Detectives Terry, Toewe and Irvine of what had occurred, and they proceeded immediately to the scene of the crime. The address of the alleged murderers was obtained, and shortly after 5 o'clock the two men were arrested at the home of their brother, Felix Matel, 1202 West Fifth street, with whom they were staying. They were in bed and asleep when the police arrived. Chief Troyer, Capt. Fiskett and the three detectives were in the arresting party. Both men deny all knowledge of the crime, and say that they themselves were assaulted on their way home by ten or twelve men, and assert that they had to run for their lives. Victor Matel has a bruised forehead, and says the injury came from the blow of a fist. There is an abrasion of the skin near the crown of Adolph Matel's head, and he says this was caused either by a knife or a club, he does not know which, although he believes it was a knife. There is a cut in his black felt hat, evidently caused by a knife. The blade appears to have penetrated the crown and to have cut the rim. The cut is at a spot which would be over the wound in his head, when the hat was worn.

Several Fights During Evening.

It is said that several quarrels were started during the wedding celebration, and an hour before the murder, John Grzegorski, also known as John Gregory, who is employed by Harrington, the tailor, claims to have been assaulted and brutally beaten, and says that he was robbed of $2 cash and three rings, valued at about $30. He says he was pursued along Garfield avenue for a distance of seven blocks by two men, one of whom he says was Frank Rybak. They finally overtook him, he says, and pounded him into insensibility, robbing him when he was past resistance. His quarrel with them started, he asserts, when one of them became jealous because he started to take a walk with Miss Marie Szezensny, a guest at the party, whom the jealous man claimed as his "best girl." The girl claims to have seen a knife in Rybak's hand, according to Grzegorski, and the latter says his life was threatened if he persisted in his attentions to the woman in the case. The police place no connection between this assault and robbery and the murder, however.

The two Matels and the murdered man were common laborers, employed on the docks, and none of them were married. Mattis lived with his brother at 512 Garfield avenue. Aside from his brother, he is said to have no relatives in this country. Coroner McCuen will probably hold an inquest tomorrow afternoon. The alleged murderers will be arraigned in police court late this afternoon, and undoubtedly will be bound over to the grand jury.

Profess Innocence.

When seen at the city jail this morning, both men denied all knowledge of the murder. They said they did not know anything about it until the police told them they were charged with killing Mattis. Both men speak English fairly well, and appear to be of ordinary intelligence.

"We did not know that Mattis had been killed until the police told us about it," said Victor Matel. "We had to run for our lives. When on our way home, about two blocks from the house where the celebration was going on, some men jumped out from the darkness and attacked us. They had been hiding beside the walk. There were twelve or fifteen of them. I did not recognize any because it was too dark. There were too many for the two of us to stay and fight, so we started up the street as fast as we could run, calling for the police. But before we could get away from the crowd both of us were hit several times. Somebody struck me with his fist on the forehead and knocked me down. You can see where the skin is all scraped off. I was also struck about the body. A man with either a knife or a club hit Adolph over the head and knocked him down. I think we would have been killed if we had stayed there. As soon as we could break away we ran off as fast as we could and went right home.

All Were Drunk.

"I was wearing a straw hat, not the felt one I have with me now, and it was smashed all to pieces in the fight. I cannot imagine who would want to hurt either one of us. It was too dark for me to see who was in the crowd. I suppose the attack was the result of trouble that started during the celebration. Everybody there was drinking, and late in the evening everybody was drunk. There must have been fifty people in the house. Eight or ten quarrels were started during the evening, but there were no blows struck. The men in charge of the thing said that if there was to be any fighting it would have to be outside the house. I do not know who could have killed Mattis. I knew him, and was sorry to hear he had been killed."

Adolph Matel told much the same story to The Herald.

"I think it must have been a knife that cut my scalp," he said, "for the hole in my hat was plainly made by a knife. You can see where the crown and brim is cut. Nothing but a knife could have made such a clean cut. I was stunned for a moment by the blow, but managed to break away from the gang of men and ran after my brother along the street. We called for the police, but we did not see any. The men chased us only a short ways, so we got home all right."

Both men assert that they are not in the habit of carrying knives, and say they had none on their persons at any time last night. Victor is said by the police to have told them that he lost his knife the other day. They asked him where his knife was, and he said he had lost it. The knife which did the stabbing has not been found, although search was made for it both on the persons of the alleged murderers and at the scene of the crime.

Mattis acted as best man at the wedding yesterday, and Miss Victoria Sopczyk was bridesmaid. She told detectives Terry and Toewe this morning that Mattis and Adolph Matel quarreled in her presence about 10 o'clock in the evening, and that Adolph struck Mattis with his fist. One of the other wedding guests stepped in between the two and separated them. The girl says, to restore peace, she started dancing with Matel, and, while doing so, reached in his pocket and took a knife from him. The knife, now in the possession of the police, has a four and one-half inch blade. Miss Sopczyk turned the knife, which was of the pocket variety, over to the bride, who later gave it to Backlnosky. She knew Matel had the knife, she asserts, because Mattis told her that he had seen it. After the dance Matel asked for his hat and went out the door, and she says that is the last she saw of him. She started home about 1 o'clock with her parents, and asked Mattis to go along with them, but he refused, saying that, in the capacity of best man, it was his duty to remain until the last of the guests had gone home. Most of them had disappeared by 1 o'clock.

In the company of Walter Hero and Paul Bartusz Mattis left the house between 1 and 2 o'clock, as related, and had walked as far as 512 Garfield avenue, when he was attacked. The witnesses say the moon was shining brightly, and that they easily recognized the assailants as the Matel brothers. Fearing that there was a crowd of men, all three turned and ran. Whey they saw their friend struck down and learned that only two men were in the attacking party, Hero and Bartusz went back to the wounded man and assisted him to the corner. The knife had entered the side of his neck, and he bled freely. He ran several steps after first being struck without falling.

Got the Wrong Man.

Gregory, the man who was beaten and robbed, says his trouble started over Miss Szezensy, and expresses the belief that the men who killed Mattis were equally waiting for him, having learned that he had gone back to the house after the attack upon him.

"The trouble first started because I was going to take a walk with Miss Szezensy," Gregory told The Herald reporter this morning. "Rybak was jealous of me, and told me I had not better butt in on him. He said she was his girl. Marie told me to look out for him, that she saw a knife in his hand. I did not see it. I paid no attention to his threats. We had walked only a little ways from the house when Rybak struck me. I hit back in self defense, and we exchanged several blows. Then another man came to the assistance of Rybak. I do not know who he was.

Left Insensible.

"I had to leave the girl, for the two of them were too much for me, and I ran as fast as I could up Garfield avenue, towards Superior street, with both of them close at my heels. I called out for the police, and the two men were cursing me and trying to get me to stop. I ran about seven blocks and then could run no farther, so I turned and tried to fight them off. Before I could do anything in self-defense one of them hit me a vicious blow in the stomach and the other hit me over the head. I fell to the ground and they kicked and pounded me until I lost consciousness.

"When I recovered my senses I was lying there alone, and all the money I had in my pocket, $2, was gone. The men also had taken three rings I was wearing on my fingers. My overcoat was still at the house where the celebration was going on, and I wanted to go back for it, but was afraid the men would jump unto me again, so I walked towards Superior street, looking for a policeman. I did not find one until I got to Twenty-third avenue west. I told him what had happened and asked him to go back to the house with me so I could get my coat. I said I was afraid to go alone, for I thought the two men were still waiting for me. He told me he had no business there in the first place, and to keep away from there. He said he could not go with me and refused to do so. I did not want to lose the coat, so finally I decided to go back alone. I traveled all the way in the alleys and got to the house all right. I stayed there until the report of the murder came in and went out and saw the body of Mattis. He was dead then."

PROHIBITION IS 40 YEARS OLD

Party Has Record for Living Ex-Candidates for High Offices.

Chicago, Sept. 1.—This is the fortieth birthday of the organization of the Prohibition party, and a celebration of the event to be held Sept. 24 in this city was announced here today by National Chairman Jones.

According to Mr. Jones it was just forty years ago that 500 delegates from nineteen states gathered here at Farwell hall and organized the party. The following presidential and vice presidential candidates of the organization are still living and have been invited to attend the celebration:

John Russell, Michigan, vice president, 1872; Henry Adams Thompson, Ohio, vice president, 1880; John B. St. John, Kansas, president, 1884; Dr. J. B. Cranfill, Texas, vice president, 1892; Joshua Levering, Maryland, president, 1896; John G. Wooley, Illinois, president, 1900; Dr. S. C. Swallow, Pennsylvania, president, 1904; George W. Carroll, Texas, vice president, 1904; Eugene W. Chafin, Illinois, president, 1908; Aaron S. Watkins, vice president, 1908.

Mr. Jones says that this list of survivors is greater than can be mustered by the Democratic and Republican parties together and declares it is an indication of the longevity of Prohibitionists.

BIG EXCITEMENT AT IOWA'S FAIR

Stand Falls, Fire Starts Panic and Live Wire Kills Horse.

Des Moines, Iowa, Sept. 1.—During a reception to Gen. Frederick D. Grant at the state fair grounds yesterday a section of seats fell, hurling a hundred persons to the ground. Mr. and Mrs. George Dewey of Montrose Falls, N. Y., were caught under the wreckage and sustained serious injuries. Fred Parker of Hampton, Iowa, sustained lacerations and James L. Gordon of Omaha, Neb., was injured internally.

Shortly before the close of the reception to Gen. Grant a cry of fire started a stampede in which a number of persons were painfully bruised and crushed. Weeds had caught fire and spread to the rear end of the administration building, but the fire was extinguished without doing any damage.

To add to the general confusion, a live wire fell upon a horse, killing the animal instantly. Its driver narrowly escaped death while hundreds of persons were in peril until the power was shut off. Fully 60,000 attended the state fair yesterday.

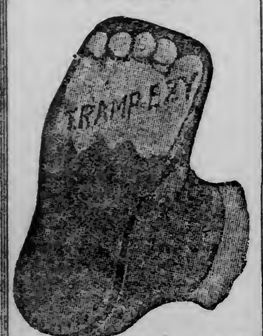

HIT BY STRAY BULLET.

Wounded Calumet Boy Walks Mile After Receiving Injury.

Calumet, Mich., Sept. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Arthur Klinkert, a lad about 10 years of age, residing in the Calumet location, was struck in the body below the stomach by a stray bullet while playing in the woods a short distance from Calumet. He walked to his home, about one mile distant and later was removed to the C. & H. hospital, where the bullet was extracted. Unless complications develop, he will be removed to his home in a few days.

HAVE ANNUAL FROLIC.

Children of Grace M. E. Church Hold Outing at Lakeside.

Favored with good weather, the Sunday school children of Grace M. E. church are today holding the annual church outing at Lester park. This morning at 9 o'clock nearly 300 children met at the church, Twenty-second avenue west and Third street and took special chartered cars for the picnic grounds.

R. R. Forward, superintendent of the Sunday school and Rev. M. O. Stockland, pastor of the church were in charge of the affair. This afternoon, a program of sports is being carried out. It includes the usual games, relay races, and tug-of-war contests. Lunch was taken in baskets.

Will Leave for West.

Adolph Schoberg of 2210 West Seventh street and Henry Magneson of 2617 West Fifth street will leave Saturday for Castleton, N. D., where they will work in the harvest fields for a few weeks. From there they will go to Missoula, Mont., to take a position with a surveying crew. Mr. Schoberg has resigned his position with The Herald.

Little Child Dies.

Floyd Leonard Finn, 10 months old, the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Finn of 1822 West Michigan street died yesterday afternoon at the home of its parents. Death was due to cholera infantum. The funeral will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock from the family residence with interment at Park Hill cemetery.

Adams Weekly Dance.

Members of the Adams Athletic association will entertain tomorrow evening at Lincoln park at the weekly dancing party. The feature of the affair this week will be the decorating scheme. Flags of various countries will be used. Special music will be rendered by Flaaten's orchestra.

Have Interesting Trip.

Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Foote and family of Red Wing, Minn., who have been visiting at the home of Mrs. Foote's sister, Mrs. Oscar I. Olson of 2624 West Third street, returned home yesterday accompanied by Mrs. Olson. Mr. and Mrs. Foote and children came to Duluth from Buffalo on the steamer Tionesta, after they had completed a tour of New York state in their automobile.

TOWN SWEPT BY WALL OF WATER

Squattertown, Nev., Has 130 Buildings Destroyed in Cloudburst.

Rawhide, Nev., Sept. 1.—Squattertown, a settlement just south of Rawhide, was swept by a 10-foot wall of water, following a cloudburst in the hills to the north last night, and 130 buildings were destroyed. It is reported that two women and four children are missing.

The cloud broke on the summit of the low hills to the north of the camp. In a few minutes a three-foot wall of water was pouring down the slope.

Several structures were torn from their foundations and swept down the street, while the crest of the flood was covered with furniture, animals, and all sorts of debris.

Gathering force as it poured down the channel, the flood swept into and over Squattertown, half a mile further down. The water formed a wall ten feet high as it crashed into the structures.

Before the wave had passed 500 persons were homeless and their property was piled in a tangled heap in the basin at the foot of National hill.

EXILE'S FAMILY GOES TO SIBERIA

Former Russian Police Official Gets His Sentence Mitigated.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 1.—The minister of the interior has selected Krasnoyarsk, Siberia, as the place of exile for Alexander Lopukine, the former chief of the Russian police department, who recently was found guilty of being a member of the revolutionary organization and sentenced to five years imprisonment at hard labor.

The conditions of Lopukine's exile, however, have been mitigated. The Lopukine family will be allowed to bring its household furniture and the library from St. Petersburg. Lopukine, accompanied by his wife and brother-in-law, Prince Urussoff, is now on his way to Krasnoyarsk. He will be joined later by his daughter.

BUTCHER'S BODY FOUND; VERDICT IS SUICIDE.

St. Charles, Mo., Sept. 1.—With hands and feet bound with wire, the body of John McNeally, a butcher, was found yesterday afternoon in a trough in a slaughter house on the outskirts of this city. The head and face were partially submerged under six inches of water. There were no bruises on the body. He was last seen alive at 8 o'clock yesterday morning. Last night the coroner's jury returned a verdict that McNenly committed suicide. His widow testified that he had been despondent because of business troubles.

55,000 KEEP BADGER DAY

Ex-Wisconsinites Hold Forth at Alaska-Yukon Pacific Exposition.

L. H. Bancroft Makes Address on Dangers to the Republic.

Seattle, Wash., Sept. 1.—A large portion of the 55,000 former residents of Wisconsin who now have homes in Washington attended today's celebration of Wisconsin day at the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific exposition.

There was a general assembly at the head of the Cascades, and then a basket picnic at the Lakeside park. In the afternoon there were speeches and music in the Auditorium.

President J. E. Chilberg of the exposition welcomed the Wisconsin people, as did Governor Marion E. Hay of Washington, a former resident of Wisconsin. The orator of the day was Levi H. Bancroft, speaker of the Wisconsin assembly and former attorney general of the state.

Tonight there will be a reception in the Washington building and a dance for Wisconsin people and their invited guests.

Speaker Bancroft said, in part:

"This is an age of strange creeds, engendered by selfishness and fostered by credulity, and it is perhaps a natural condition of our social evolution that untutored egotism should proclaim upon society. The fundamental laws of society cannot be safely altered to meet conditions, but conditions may be changed to meet constitutional requirements. Assaults upon courts and tribunals and ministers of justice can never assist, but they may seriously retard the administration of justice.

Danger in Frenzied Zeal.

"Indifference to questions of great public interest and concern is a deplorable condition on the part of a large proportion of American citizenship, but it is not as dangerous to the administration of justice or the perpetuity of Republican institutions as that frenzied zeal which is born of passion and prejudice and which, regardless of precedent or condition, sweeps before it every barrier to the accomplishment of its will.

"It is not the province of courts to listen to the clamor of the excited populace, or to render their decisions in conformity with the sentiments of the passion-blinded degenerates and sensation-mongers who crowd the courtrooms.

"These sorry experiments in governmental affairs which make of patriotism an exile, which destroy faith in man and which tend to create a morbid public sentiment which looks upon the man who holds a public trust as a suspicious character, and upon every successful business man as a criminal, are more dangerous to the public peace and to the perpetuity of Republican institutions than are the armed enemies of the republic.

"That Insidious Hypocrite."

"That insidious hypocrite who, seeking notoriety, creates prejudice by inciting men against their fellow men; who plays upon human credulity and passion for self-seeking purposes, is an enemy of free institutions, infinitely more dangerous than the brazen type which plants its red banners in the open places and preaches its doctrines of shame and ignorance in open defiance of the laws of society, for, in its final analysis, liberty is a condition of the public mind.

"We need in public life men with less hysteria and more thought; men with less selfishness and more of justice; men with less knowledge of war power and more knowledge of the power of peace and righteousness."

AMERICANS SEE ANNUAL REVIEW

Autumnal Maneuvers of German Army Are Held at Berlin.

Berlin, Sept. 1.—Capt. Samuel G. Shields, the newly appointed American military attache, was presented to Emperor William at the autumn review today of the Berlin and Potsdam garrisons on the Templehof parade ground. The review was the usual brilliant spectacle. Thirty thousand troops of all branches took part in the maneuvers. The emperor and empress returned to the palace through the principal streets of Berlin, and were cheered by the crowds.

Among the Americans who witnessed the review were Orville Wright and his sister Katherine; Mrs. D. J. Hill, wife of the American ambassador; Gustave Scholle, third secretary of the embassy, and Mrs. Scholle, Milton J. Foreman of Chicago and Mrs. Satro of New York.

UNCLE SAM TAKES OVER BIG NEW BATTLESHIP.

Philadelphia, Sept. 1. The new battleship Michigan was officially turned over to the United States government by its builders today. The latest acquisition to the United States fighting force is of the Dreadnought class and one of the largest battleships afloat.

The Michigan was damaged on its recent trial trip, and had to be sent back to the builders for repairs. With forty months allowed them, the builders had two months and nineteen days left them when they turned the ship over yesterday.

SOUL IS IN NEW UNION

Ferdinand Pinney Earle Is Touring Europe With New Affinity.

Their Friendship Is Defined as Being Purely Platonic, However.

New York, Sept. 1.—Followers of the school of philosophy advocated by Ferdinand Pinney Earle, the Monroe, N. Y., artist, declared today that friendship between Earle and Miss Gertrude Buell Dunn, with whom he is reported to be traveling in Europe, is absolutely of a platonic nature. It is purely a "union of souls," they say, with no thought of marriage or relations approaching marriage.

Ferdinand Pinney Earle came into notoriety in September, 1907, when he announced that he and his first wife, who was Miss E. M. Elschbacher, had agreed that their souls were not in tune. Mrs. Earle obtained a divorce, and the artist married Miss Julia Kuttner, a settlement worker, who had been living at his house in Monroe before he and his wife separated.

Mrs. Kuttner-Earle is now suing him for divorce on the ground that he never was properly divorced from his first wife.

Find Bond of Sympathy.

Earle and Miss Dunn, it is said, met first at a house party of the members of their cult near Norwalk, Conn., last spring. Since then their companionship has been almost constant, and a week ago, it is said, they sailed for Europe.

Earle and Miss Dunn, their friends say, found their first mutual interest in the artist's proposition to turn his large house at Monroe into an asylum for foundlings. For the discussion of this proposition, it is said, they spent two weeks together at Monroe, Miss Dunn being accompanied by a chaperone.

BEGIN UNPACKING TEDDY'S SPOILS

Smithsonian Officials Are Curious as to the Returns From the Hunt.

Washington, Sept. 1.—Scientists of the Smithsonian institution are now satisfying their curiosity as to what the first consignment of boxes, containing trophies of Col. Roosevelt's African hunt, have within their sides.

Upon opening the casks containing the skins, they were found to be in good shape and Maj. Mearns, in charge of the Smithsonian forces with Col. Roosevelt, has been notified of the fact. The work of stuffing the skins will not be undertaken for some time, and it probably will be two years before the work is completed.

There is a large number of birds in the consignment, as well as valuable species of rats, rabbits, moles, mice and other small mammals. A beautiful collection of birds, said to be more valuable than the larger animals, is also in the collection.

WORK IS BEGUN TO RAISE YANKEE

Naval Craft is to Be Brought to Surface With Compressed Air.

Washington, Sept. 1.—Efforts are to be made this week to raise the torpedo supply ship Yankee, which has been on the ocean bottom for some time off the Massachusetts coast.

The work has been delayed owing to the difficulties encountered in locating and stopping the air leaks which developed in the ward room compartment on the after gun deck. Most of the obstacles now have been overcome.

The Yankee lies near Penikese island. Compressed air is being used to raise the vessel.

SENSATION IN SHERIFF'S DEATH

Officer is Found Dead From Bullet Wounds---Wife Cannot Explain.

Hollis, Okla., Sept. 1.—Mystery surrounds the death of J. W. Sims, sheriff of Harmon county, who was found dead in bed yesterday from revolver wounds. Mrs. Sims, who was sleeping with her husband, could throw no light upon the shooting. The authorities declare a sensational arrest will be made soon.

HARMONY HAS MARKED MEET

Convention of Letter Carriers at St. Paul Progressing Smoothly.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—An executive session from 9 o'clock till noon was held by the National Association of Letter Carriers today. At noon the convention adjourned to spend the rest of the day as guests of the Minneapolis association.

Secretary Cantwell said that during the executive session the financial affairs of the organization were discussed and on the recommendation of National President Kelly that the per capita tax be increased from $1 to $1.50. The delegates expressed their approval of the change by an unanimous rising vote.

The next order of business was the presentation of claims of Rochester, N. Y., Niagara Falls, Dayton, Ohio, Des Moines, Iowa, Dallas, Tex., and Louisville, Ky., for the honor of entertaining the convention in 1911. A vote on the next place of holding the convention will be taken Thursday morning when the annual election of officers will be held.

Secretary Cantwell said:

"This has been one of the most harmonious conventions we have held and it looks now as if the administration of the national officers will be unanimously indorsed and I think that President William A. Kelly will be re-elected."

The convention will reassemble tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock.

IS CONSECRATED BISHOP OF PEORIA

Rev. Edmund M. Dunne Is Central Figure in Big Ceremonial.

Chicago, Sept. 1.—The central figure of one of the most splendid and impressive ceremonies known to the Roman Catholic church, Rev. Edmund M. Dunne, was today consecrated bishop of Peoria.

The ceremony was conducted at the Holy Name cathedral in this city by Most Rev. Diomede Falconio, apostolic delegate to the United States, in the presence of a vast congregation, including three archbishops—Falconio, Quigley and Glennon—eleven bishops and 600 priests.

Mass was celebrated by both the apostolic delegate and the bishop-elect, a special altar having been erected for the use of the latter.

Delegations were present from New York Buffalo, St. Louis, Washington, Milwaukee, St. Paul and from Nebraska, Montana and Washington.

If a few more table guests would make it profitable for you to keep boarders, then you have business for a Herald want ad.

Light the Fire in Your Grate---
Cool Evenings From Now On!

Not cold enough to make it necessary or desirable to light the fire in the furnace, but quite cold enough to be uncomfortable without any fire at all. This is the time that your grate was made for! Why don't you use it? All you need to complete its appearance is a set of andirons, and those we can sell you for very little money. Lots of hostesses look forward to this time of the year because it gives them an excuse for lighting their open fires and adding 100 per cent to the artistic appearance of their houses. An open fire at this time of the year draws all the summer dampness out of the house without making it too hot for comfort. Come and inspect our stock of Andirons, Fire Sets, Fire Screens and Basket Grates. We can find you something at almost any price you care to pay.

Solid Brass Andirons $7.50 per set and up.

THE FIRST NEEDFUL STEP.

What needs to be done to bring about cheaper living in Duluth was shown very clearly by the local article in The Herald Monday evening on the marketing of produce raised on near-by soil.

Within the low-freight radius enough farm and dairy products are now raised to go a long way toward solving the problem; but there is no adequate way to market them. Without abandoning the campaign to get people to go upon the soil and raise the garden truck which its fruitfulness guarantees, present efforts should be centered upon a plan of providing a market for the truck that is now being raised; and the first step is obviously the formation of an association that will be able to carry on such a plan.

Without giving the matter very much thought, people had been relying upon the commission merchants of Michigan street to offer hospitality to near-by products, but it has been shown beyond a doubt that instead of offering hospitality, these gentlemen have been rather annoyed when anybody nearer than the Twin Cities offered to sell them anything, and that they have rebuffed all attempts to find a market at Duluth by people raising farm, garden and dairy stuff within a reasonable distance of the city.

Commission row having proved to be a broken reed, so far as this important public service is concerned, it is absolutely necessary that some other way be provided. It is suggested that an organization of truck-raisers would be able to find a way; but the truck-raisers are scattered far and wide, and it is practically impossible to get them together. Said The Herald's local article of Monday, in discussing the situation: "What is wanted is a very simple thing—some sort of an organization to handle farm produce. An association of market gardeners could do it, but they are scattered from Hermantown to Hinckley, and from Dunham to Deerwood. The organization will get forward more quickly if it starts from the center, not from the circumference." That is the key to the problem. If Duluth, which is the center, waits until the circumference forms an association, it will be waiting still many years hence. Duluth, as the center, must form the organization, and it cannot set about it too quickly.

There isn't a great deal of use in booming the fertility of the near-by soil unless the products of that rich ground are given a free and open market at Duluth. It will not help the consumers of Duluth nor the producers of the adjacent country, no matter how much truck is raised, unless it can be cheaply and conveniently marketed. The first needful step, therefore, is to provide market facilities; and to that end the organization of a market gardeners' association is essential.

Since it was organized for that purpose, Duluth looks to the Commercial club to initiate and conduct movements of that character. The club has done good work in developing the agricultural possibilities of the near-by soil; it can do better work by providing a market for the products that are resulting. The proper committee of the club should call a meeting at as early a date as possible, at which the situation can be looked over and steps taken toward the organization of an association that will take up and carry on this work that is so vitally important to the welfare of the city.

THE HIGH SCHOOL ALUMNI.

The movement on the part of some of the more recent graduates of the Duluth Central high school to form an alumni association is one that should receive the interested support of the earlier graduates to make the effort a success. A scholarship fund to be available for the further education of the graduates of the school is the primary object of the association that is to be formed Friday of this week. At the present time there is no fund by which deserving students may be helped in their efforts for a further education, and the money that is to be raised will be as a memorial to the late principal, Charles Alden Smith. If this purpose is to be achieved every graduate of the school must give his assistance. The number of graduates is so large that an organization for purely social purposes would be unwieldly; but this unselfish effort to help others can and should be undertaken by every former pupil who undoubtedly owes much of his success to the training he receives in his four years at high school.

The demands of time and money on each individual will be small, but in order to bring success to the movement every graduate must do his share.

WHAT OF DENATURED ALCOHOL?

It seems that the expectations of the public in regard to free denatured alcohol haven't been realized. It was expected that with the tax removed it would be made so copiously and so cheaply that it would provide competition disastrous to gasoline, and great things were anticipated for it. The Standard Oil trust must have expected something of the sort, too, because it opposed the law removing the tax; but up to date the oil trust hasn't suffered and the public hasn't gained much.

The department of agriculture recently announced that its experiments show the cost of denatured alcohol to exceed that of gasoline, which doesn't look good at all for the cause of denatured alcohol; while the small part it plays in the retail trade—few people seeming to know of its existence—is further indication that a reform which was so enthusiastically urged and from which so much was expected hasn't turned out well.

Yet there is something wrong, somewhere, or this wouldn't be the case. Free alcohol lies at the basis of the industrial prosperity of Germany. The Germans can buy gasoline as cheaply as we can; yet in their country denatured alcohol has practically driven gasoline out of the market, except where alcohol cannot be substituted for it. With our abundant agricultural resources we ought to produce alcohol even to better advantage than the Germans, yet after a couple of years of free alcohol, this country is about where it was before the free alcohol bill passed.

It is not difficult to find the secret of this difference, and here it is: in Germany 90 per cent of the denatured alcohol is made on the farms; none of it is made on the farms here. The opponents of free alcohol were not able to defeat the bill, but they were able to defeat its object by loading the measure up with regulatory features that made it impossible to manufacture denatured alcohol anywhere except in large establishments, and most of these are supposed to be in the control of the whisky trust.

The complex and rigid rules for the inspection of denatured alcohol are responsible for its failure in this country. A farmer could make alcohol enough to pay him well out of the waste products of his farm; but he couldn't afford to provide a warehouse and a government inspector, so he doesn't attempt the manufacture of alcohol at all. If anything is to come from denatured alcohol, it will be necessary so to reduce the complexity of the inspection system that it will be possible for farmers to utilize their waste products by turning them into alcohol in small plants on the farm.

Yet there is some gain, after all, as a result of the free alcohol law. Denatured alcohol, while failing to supplant gasoline, has entered very largely into several industrial processes. For instance, chloroform, which cost 60 cents a pound before the law was enacted, has been so greatly reduced in price that the tariff duty on it was cut in two in the Aldrich-Payne bill. The same is true of celluloid, spirit varnish and various other articles. The fact that denatured alcohol is coming along slowly does not mean, therefore, that it is not coming along at all.

A CERTAIN KIND OF "HARMONY."

Park Rapids Clipper (Rep.): They say that the proposed reception in honor of the Minnesota delegation who voted against the tariff bill will create discord because it leaves the First district congressman out, and that it should be abandoned in the interests of harmony. President Taft withdrew opposition to the re-election of Speaker Cannon in the interests of party harmony. The question is, is this sort of harmony worth anything to the Republican party?

It isn't much of a question, it would seem; at least it isn't one that the average sort of citizen who thinks rather better of his country than he does of his party would have any difficulty in answering. The fact is that this very kind of harmony is the spell which Special Privilege casts over party government, and thus keeps party organizations subservient to its will long after the people have grown weary of producing and laboring and earning and spending, all for the glory and profit of the specially privileged. It seems to have worked once more in Minnesota; at any rate the proposed reception seems to have fallen to the ground, largely out of partisan delicacy and consideration for Mr. Tawney, who, because of his vote for the tariff bill and his faithfulness to the Cannon machine, deserves no consideration whatever from the people of this or any other state.

President Taft seems to exude this kind of "harmony" in large quantities. In its name he not only "withdrew opposition to the re-election of Speaker Cannon," but he worked actively to quell and subdue the rising revolt against Cannon's tyranny. It is not saying too much to charge that he is responsible for the re-election of Cannon, and everybody knows that honest tariff revision died when Cannon was re-elected. He tempered his efforts to curb tariff greed, too, for the sake of party harmony; and he signed an infamous bill, and sought congressional votes for that same infamous bill, in the name of party harmony. That kind of harmony spells ruin for the republic; and it ought to ruin the party that cultivates it.

THE ST. LOUIS COUNTY FAIR.

Hibbing Mesaba Ore: Prompted by a jealousy that is unreasonable, the Virginia Virginian and The Duluth Evening Herald have taken up the wail of the Hibbing knockers and have done and are doing everything possible to throw cold water upon the efforts of the Hibbing gentlemen who are giving of their time, energy and money toward a proper exhibit of the county's agricultural achievements and possibilities.

So far as this reference concerns The Herald, there is but one thing to be said about it: it is a plain, unadulterated, unqualified falsehood, and a part of a string of similar falsehoods apparently originating in a desire to foster ill feeling between the ranges and Duluth.

The Herald is not jealous of anybody or anything; it has not taken up the wail of anybody anywhere regarding the St. Louis county fair; it has not and is not doing anything to throw cold water upon the efforts of those who are trying to make the Hibbing fair a success. Noting in the Hibbing Tribune that the fair had apparently been abandoned for this year, and judging from the lateness of the hour that nothing was to be done about it, The Herald a week or so ago expressed sincere regret that this was so, and urged the importance of having a permanent and representative county fair. Incidentally, in the hope that it might spur the Hibbing folks on to action, it suggested that if Hibbing was through trying, Duluth might make another attempt at holding a county fair.

Since then The Herald has learned that there is going to be a county fair at Hibbing after all. It is pleased to know this. It wishes to see a county fair held every year, and it cares less about where it is held than it does about its being a success. The Hibbing fair has its best wishes and its assurance of heartiest support. So long as the fair is located at Hibbing, it should have the loyal and earnest support of every citizen of the county, and Hibbing may be certain that it has The Herald's. What is needed to make it a success, however, is not churlish and peevish prevarication and incitation to sectional feeling such as the Mesaba Ore has been guilty of, but active co-operation all along the line. The main thing is to have a county fair and to make it a good one, and then to support it vigorously and heartily.

A flood of golden grain will shortly pour out of the Northwest, and in return will come a flood of golden prosperity.

That lone train robber who forced the train crew to help him make away with his booty showed enterprise that a Rockefeller might envy.

The stock market has a fit when Harriman is sick; what would it do if he died? The answer is that it would quickly get over it and run right along just as though he had never happened.

THE OPEN COURT.

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about live topics of general interest. Letters should not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer, though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective however.)

A WORKINGMAN'S PROTEST.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Having made an application for employment at the Empire Employment company's office, who offered me a post as cookee, Tuesday, Aug. 24, for Alger-Smith & Co., lumber merchants at Palmer, where I consented to go as cookee and pay my own fare, as you will observe on reading the tickets herewith attached to my letter. I proceeded to Palmer and had to walk a distance of about seven miles, but on arrival at Camp No. 1, after a severe wetting, I was allowed to remain there until next day and then go to Camp 5, as they were likely to want a cookee there. Unfortunately on my arrival there I was sorely disappointed and had to proceed to Knife River and report the circumstances of my case to the manager of Messrs. Alger-Smith & Co. On my arrival at Knife River, I had the good fortune to obtain work for a period of four days and left yesterday by foot, walking a distance of nineteen miles.

Now Mr. Editor, may I ask you if such treatment as I have already experienced is to be allowed by employment agents. THOMAS HANEY.

Duluth, Sept. 1.

A CONTRAST.

To the Editor of The Herald:

A striking case of opposites is shown at the Lyceum by the presentation there this week of "The Shepherd King" and the announcement that next week "Three Weeks" will hold forth.

"The Shepherd King" is a clean, interesting play. It is one of those plays which helps dispell the old-fashioned and absurd prejudice against the stage which still exists in the minds of some people. Incidentally, I would like to compliment The Herald upon its courtesy in making it possible for a number of school children to see the piece.

And after "The Shepherd King" comes "Three Weeks!" I read the protest against the production of the dramatized scandal here in last night's Herald, and I heartily agree with the writer. Whether the play is actually bad or not, a story of that style and flavor has no place in the book-world nor on the stage; and whether it is really nasty or not, the authorities should prevent the managers from giving it. The effect upon the community and upon the stage is bad.

THE AUTO OWNER'S CASE.

To the Editor of The Herald:

The enactment of the proposed automobile ordinance would be an injustice to every citizen who owns a car, and as an autoist I would like to register my protest, through your columns, and urge every other automobile owner to join with me.

From the way I have heard other autoists speak, the owners of machines do not object to ordinances providing for the regulation of speed and auto traffic in general, and even licensing drivers at a nominal fee, but what they do kick upon, and kick upon strenuously, is the proposed tax of $5 upon the auto owner for every one who operates his car.

If there were a number of people in a man's family who operated his car at different times, he would have to put up $5 license fee for each one of them, and it would be an imposition. One $5 license for each automobile would be an imposition, as well. The automobile owner is under heavy expense as it is. He is obliged to pay for a state license and he pays a personal tax upon his car to the city, and it strikes me that that is enough.

Regulate the traffic, but don't overtax us, gentlemen of the council!

THE FOLLY OF THE TARIFF.

To the Editor of the Herald:

I want to thank you for the efforts you are making in The Herald to educate the people in regard to the tariff. The letters of Zach McGhee are certainly instructive and interesting. I hope that you will get him to write a chapter on tin. You know the leading protectionist is always speaking of the wonderful development of American tin under the high protective tariff, when, if the facts are known, I think we are paying about three times as much now for tin as we did twelve years ago for the English tin, which would last when used in our lumber camps from two to four years, whereas our cooking utensils today do well if they last one year. I hope that you may act upon my suggestion. Thanking you again, I am, very truly yours, A CITIZEN.

Duluth, Aug. 30.

Overwork.

Oh, he was the busiest person alive.
He had an astounding proclivity
For helping excitement about him to thrive
By great and incessant activity.
Whene'er a procession set forth on the street,
His personal aid he would lend to it.
He hastened with swift and unwearying feet,
He had to go out and attend to it.

The clang of a fire bell, however remote,
Awakened his zeal instantaneous.
When juvenile pugilists angrily smote,
He gave advice extemporaneous.
Each public disturbance he took to his care:
There was nobody else he could send to it.
Though hundreds of persons were sure to be there,
He had to go out and attend to it.

The post that he held was a lucrative one
With a firm that was kindly but sensible,
The record that told of the work he had done
Was, saying the least, reprehensible.
In spite of his recognized knowledge and skill,
They decided there must be an end to it.
He was finely equipped the position to fill,
But he didn't have time to attend to it.

Dr. Eliot's Estimate of Jesus.

Rev. Dr. Charles W. Eliot has written to one of his critics, Douglas Robbins, an Indianapolis lawyer, as follows:

Dear Sir: My address on "The religion of the future" will be published in the Harvard Theological Review for October, published by Harvard university, Cambridge, Mass. I venture to think that the opinion of the lecture which you have formed on the basis of a few inaccurately reported, scattered sentences out of an address which took an hour to read, might be modified if you read the full address. I venture to add that I am not at the "hold of any proud world" whatever; second, that such little part of the world as I am best acquainted with loves the "Lowly Nazarene" and does not hate him; thirdly, that I have met during my life most of the sorrows which are accounted heaviest; fourth, that Jesus will be in the religion of the future, not less, but more, than in the Christianity of the past.

Scientific Chewing.

Atchison Globe: How ideals are changing! A few years ago the ideal wife worried if her husband didn't eat, fearing he was sick, and worried if he ate heartily, fearing he was eating too much. Now, she is so busy counting her own chews that she doesn't even see him, and if he speaks she doesn't answer until she has counted 65 on bread and 135 on meat.

Quite So.

Philadelphia Bulletin: "That man is indeed a failure," remarked the cigar store philosopher, "who can't hand out valuable advice of some kind."

THE WEATHER.

CLOUDY

Duluth chattered its teeth last evening in weather that was more like November than August. It was delightful in spite of the chilliness, however. There was a heavy frost in some districts during the night. The weather man looks for partly cloudy weather tonight, with little change in temperature.

A year ago today it was cloudy. The sun rose this morning at 5:27 and will set at 6:48, making thirteen hours and twenty-one minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"The Northwestern cool wave has reached the lake region and Central valley states, attending the easterly movement of a strong high pressure area from Manitoba to Minnesota. Light frost occurred this morning in Minnesota, Wisconsin and the Michigan Copper country. Light to copious rains fell over Atlantic states, the Middle West and Rocky mountains as a result of low pressures now central over upper New England states and the plateau region. The easterly movement of the disturbance over the latter district will be attended by the development of showery weather in St. Louis and Douglas counties during the ensuing thirty-six hours."

The Universal Grouch.

The sultry summer days are here
And every one you meet,
Has the same old "kick" to register
'Gainst the terrific heat.
And 'tho it gets monotonous
It surely seems to prove,
The thoughts of all, both rich and poor,
Run in the self-same groove.

The gay young miss of sweet sixteen
As she trips down the street,
Gushes, "Isn't it just too dreadfully hot!"
Where'ere you chance to meet.
And merchants, bankers, laboring men
All make the same complaint,
"This fearful heat's enough to try
The patience of a saint.

The sunburned farmer comes to town
To "swap" his "garden truck."
His "truck" looked fine—at 5 a. m.
He thought he was in luck.
But his "garden-sass" looks wilted now—
The "Rube" looks wilted too—
"Gosh! Ain't it tarnal hot?" he says,
When you say "Howdy do."

But, oh! my friends, next Christmastime
When blizzards fiercely howl,
You'll wish in vain for days like this
And now you only growl.
When Jack Frost nips your ears and nose
'Twill bring you back to reason,
The Lord sends blessings to us all
And all in proper season.

As solemn as could be:

Why should it trouble me?"
Walked ten miles a day
To get out of Trouble's way.
An' why it ever struck him
Was more than he could see.

Then Trouble came an' told him:
"Your peace I may destroy,
But if you knew not Trouble
You never would know Joy.
Don't walk so far each day
To miss me on the way;
If you only think about it,
I'm a friend to you, old boy!"

No Peace for Him.

Tit-Bits: The usual after-dinner tiff had taken place and Smithers had cooled down. After all, peace was a good thing and well worth the having, and a little more or less humble pie did not much matter. He determined to try woman's weak point—dress—and remarked in a pleasant voice:

"I see dresses are to be worn longer than usual this season."

But the hard lines at the corners of her mouth were still there.

"Well," she observed bitterly, "if they are to be worn longer than I am compelled to wear mine they will have to be made of sheet iron—that's all."

And then they started all over again.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

Taken From the Columns of The Herald of This Date, 1889.

•••Labor day was observed in Duluth with a more general celebration than ever before in the history of the city. There was a fine parade, with J. B. Ransome as chief marshal and J. H. Baker and C. Applehagen as assistant marshals. Later a picnic was held on Wisconsin Point, where Thomas Lucas of Minneapolis delivered a brilliant address on the labor question.

•••T. H. Canfield of Lake Park, Minn., well known to Duluth people, is in the city.

•••Rev. G. H. Weston, D. D., has returned to his home at Chester, Pa., after a two weeks' visit to Duluth.

•••William and Edward Edson have gone to Olivet, Mich., where they will enter college.

•••Cards are out for the marriage of George H. Prudden of this city and Miss Annie M. Bywater of Buffalo, to take place on Sept. 12. Mr. Prudden is a Herald attache and has a large circle of friends in Duluth.

•••M. H. Hopkins of Ottumwa, Iowa, is in the city visiting his niece, Mrs. Ralston, whom he has not seen for twenty-five years.

•••H. A. Norton, formerly state weighmaster, with his wife and daughter, started for Santa Barbara, Cal., this afternoon.

•••Rev. N. J. Upham, secretary of the Presbyterian Ministers' Fund, Philadelphia, is trying to rid himself of hay fever by breathing the pure air of Duluth.

•••Prof. Henry Cohn has closed his German classes for the season and will leave tomorrow for Chicago, where he will spend the winter. He will resume his classes in Duluth next summer.

MINNESOTA OPINIONS.

Albert Lea Tribune: The various political machines were set to work to defeat the renomination of Francis J. Heney at the first primary election in San Francisco, but the Democrats have made him their candidate, and the decent people of the city at the Golden Gate will be wise if they re-elect this mighty foe of the grafters, even if the third greatest man in the United States, the Hon. James A. Tawney of the First congressional district of Minnesota has cast some reflections upon the brave fighter of graft and chicanery.

Aitkin Age: The Wadena Pioneer playfully tells us that the grand international conclave of tightwads has been deliberating over the towns of Wadsworth, Ohio; Waddington, Mass.; Wadley, Mo., and Wadena, Minn., to decide where their first meeting shall be held. All joking aside, almost any country town could get up a pretty good sized conclave of tightwads without going outside its own borders.

Hutchinson Leader: We have yet to find a single Minnesota paper, Republican or Democratic, that commends the new tariff bill or Taft for signing it.

Litchfield Independent: Governor Johnson, in his speech at Seattle recently, sounded a popular keynote when he advised the West to throw off the domination of the East in legislative, financial, transportation and manufacturing matters. Too long have we been milked by the East, through control by that section of congressional majorities, as well as the incumbents of the presidential chair. It is time for the West to stand up and assert its share of influence in national affairs. All that is needed is united action. The West has the population and the wealth, but so far has been dominated by Eastern shrewdness and cunning.

Paynesville Press: "Don't slap Taft," say Congressman Tawney and his friends. Well didnt Tawney administer the first slap when he charged that the big man had conspired with several Minnesota congressmen to betray their constituents "if their votes were needed."

Barnesville Record-Review: So long as the possibility of Governor Johnson being a fourth time candidate looms up on the political horizon there does not seem to be any unseemly haste on the part of eligible Republicans to announce themselves as willing to accept the nomination. We'd like to make a motion to the effect that Republican newspapers of the state refrain from mentioning the matter at all until about April 1 next. Do we hear a second?

Anoka Free Press: Johnson must be quite a man when even those who yell dismally because he is serving his third term concede him a fourth term in case he would run again.

Sauk Center Herald: "Tongue with brown sauce!" shouts a receipt book. Say, tongue with brown sauce was known long before the flood. Noah had the taste the morning after he checked off the animals, and he had the nerve to tell his folks he didn't know where he got it.

The Saving of the State.

It was the homely Codfish Ball that
In the balance hung,
And scoundrelly low tariffites assailed
With traitor tongue
This helpless infant industry, and sought to lay it low
By cutting down the tariff tax some ten per cent or so.
Till Amos Begg of Amoskeag arose
With streaming eyes
And made a plea so eloquent it reached the farthest skies.
And when his speech was done at last,
the tears of men like rain Fell all about and Codfish Balls were put back up again.

And then some dastard inland wretch,
whose name I cannot tell,
Moved heaven and earth to cut the tax upon salt mackerel,
Defiant both of Plymouth Rock and Charter Oak, and lo!
The foreign fish dashed at the gates for half an hour or so,
Till Peleg Potts of Gloucester rose and with a thunder tone
Dashed back the flood of mackerel and saved us all alone
From low-bred, under-paid salt fish, and under his attack
The congress rose with one accord and put the duty back.

But still the danger was not o'er, for by some traitor means
The tariff walls were riven apart to let in French sardines,
And schools of them surged up and beat with frenzy at our gates
Till with majestic mein and grand rose
Ebenezer Bates
And pleaded long and earnestly for fish of patriot sorts
Born underneath the Stars and Stripes and not from foreign ports,
Until the galleries went wild and hats and flags were waved
And Ebenezer Bates sat down—home-grown sardines were saved!

And German weinerwursts were massed in solid front and charged
Upon the linked, home-grown sort, till
Bunk O. Booth enlarged
Upon the homes made green and fair by sausage mills and how Foul treason was afoot to cut the sausage tariff now!
And patriot blood was stirred to boil that never boiled before Till alien sausage was repulsed and driven from this shore;
And word went 'round from lip to lip,
high, low, and rich and poor:
"Bunk Booth has saved the sausage mills—the nation is secure!"

Ah, those were days of stir and strife, of fervid speech and scenes
To make the blood grow red and hot!
One hero saved Baked Beans
From alien treason's fell attack with fluent speech and bold,
As did Horatius keep the bridge in the brave days of old.
And one saved Pumpkin Pie from wreck and one saved Cottage
Cheese,
Till all the days were crowded full of hero deeds like these;
And foreign Tripe was beaten back, till from the patriot poor
The cry arose: "The Bill is passed! The nation will endure!"

The Billboard Nuisance.

Savannah, Ga., News: The commissioners of the District of Columbia have ordered that there shall be an abatement of the billboard nuisance in the city of Washington. Neither Washington nor any other city can become beautiful as long as maudlin billboards are permitted to shriek and leer at all passersby.

Sick Headache And Indigestion

The Former Is Very Frequently Caused By The Other.

The pneumo-gastric nerve connects the stomach region directly with the brain, and when the stomach is out of order the head is almost certain to be affected through reflex or sympathetic nervous irritation.

The headache of dyspepsia and indigestion is of every variety from the dullest and least defined to the most acute pain. Sometimes the whole mass of the brain seems racked with anguish; at others, the ache is confined to the back or front part of the head. The first form is usually of a confused character, and is often accompanied by dimness of vision, and a mild vertigo, or so-called "rush of blood to the head." The victims of this symptom complain of a "swimming" or "lightness" in the head, and dizziness, or a sensation of motion while the body is still, and specks, or flashes of light before the eyes.

Persons subject to indigestion and other forms of stomach trouble are very frequent sufferers from headache, and in numerous cases a sick headache is the only noticeable symptom of indigestion present; in others, there are stomach manifestations as well.

The majority of people regard this headache as a separate disease, instead of a symptom of stomach-disease, which it usually is; and they attempt to treat it separately, and make the mistake of endeavoring to obtain relief through the use of headache powders, tablets, pills and seltzers, the use of which is extremely dangerous, as many of them contain such powerful depressent drugs as acetanilid, phenacetine, antipyrine, caffeine, etc., which depress the heart, brain and nerve centers and lower arterial pressure; and many a person with a weak heart has become dangerously ill shortly after taking one of these headache remedies. They also interfere with the digestive processes, and actually make the dyspepsia worse than before.

In order to get rid of the headache of indigestion—and most headaches are caused by stomach trouble—one should endeavor to reach and remove the cause, and the headache effect will soon be relieved.

STUART'S DYSPEPSIA TABLETS do not cure the symptoms; they cure the cause of the headache, which permanently removes the symptoms. They digest every atom of food in the stomach, cure all forms of stomach trouble, and the headache, and every other disagreeable symptom and untoward effect is quickly gotten rid of.

Don't make the mistake of trying to cure your dyspeptic or nervous headache through the use of headache powders, tablets, etc. Use common sense, good judgment, and one or two of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, and you will be agreeably surprised at the rapidity with which the headache will be relieved and cured simultaneously with the relief and cure of the stomach disturbance.

London, Sept. 1.—Prince Kinyoshi Kund, grandson of the emperor of Japan, accompanied by the princess and an aide de camp, left Liverpool on the steamer Campania for New York, where the prince will represent the Japanese government at the Hudson-Fulton celebration. Afterward the prince will visit President Taft and make a tour of the United States.

RECORD IN HANDLING AND SPINNING COTTON.

New Orleans, La., Sept. 1.—Statistics showing that more cotton was handled during the commercial year ending at midnight last night than ever before, and that all records had been broken in the amount of cotton consumed by cotton mills, were the features of the annual crop statement of Secretary Hester of the New Orleans cotton exchange.

The count of the commercial crop showed it to be the largest on record, 13,825,457 bales. The previous largest commercial crop was 13,555,885 bales, marketed in 1904-05. Last season's total was only 11,571,966 bales.

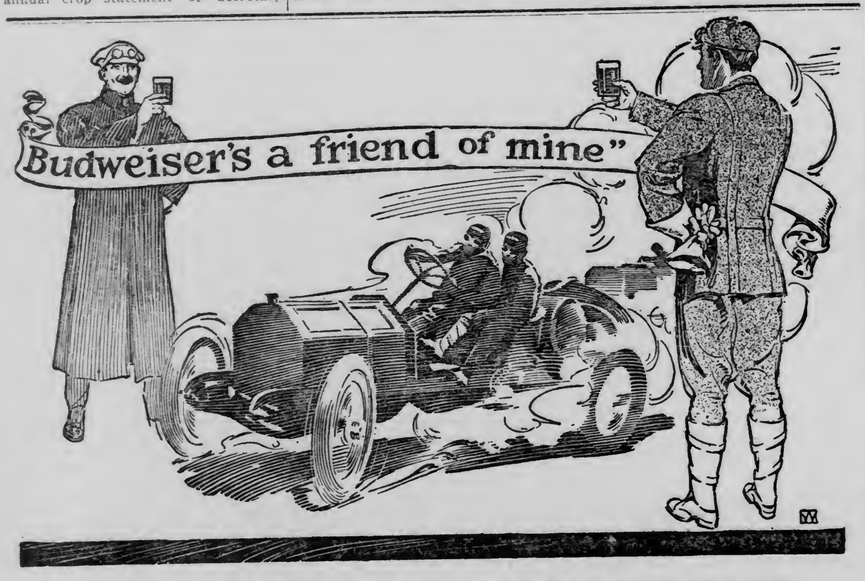

The most important feature in the report, next to the size of the crop itself, was the statement of the amount of cotton consumed by Southern mills during the season, which closed yesterday. Here all the records were again broken, the total being 2,559,873 bales.

NEAR SETTLEMENT OF STREET CAR TROUBLE.

Chicago, Sept. 1.—The street car wage controversy is expected to be ended in a day or two by a compromise scale presented yesterday by Walter L. OPENING OF THE NORMAL

State Institution Will Begin the Fall Term Next Week.

Various Other Schools in City to Resume Activity Then.

Next Tuesday will see not only the opening of the public schools but of about all the other educational institutions in the city as well.

The regular fall term at the State Normal school will open then. Tuesday will be registration day at the Normal and it is expected that a large number of would-be educators will enter. Although no stated examinations will be held, those who have not the proper credits will be given tests.

The various schools under the direction of the Catholic church will open Sept. 7. It will be the first year for Villa Scholastica, the beautiful new convent in the woods at Kenwood The handsome building has been completed and everything is in readiness for the reception of the first classes.

Although the Villa Scholastica grew out of the Sacred Heart school, the last named institution will be continued at Third avenue east and Third street. The fall term will open next Tuesday.

The fall semester in the Cathedral school, both in the boys' and girls' departments, will begin next Tuesday, with the usual courses of study.

Nearly every other parochial school in the city will open its doors to the pupils next Tuesday. There are a number of them, as every Catholic church in the city has a school in connection and the total enrollment of the institutions is large.

Although they are in operation all of the time, the business colleges will take new leases on life and start off fresh classes next week.

FALLS NINETY FEET WITHOUT BEING HURT.

Macon, Ga., Sept. 1.—Falling a distance of ninety feet from a balloon here last night, when the hold of his left hand became disengaged by the premature explosion of a large cannon cracker, W. Churchill of Carson City, Mich., sustained no further injuries than the severe mangling of his hand by the explosion.

WILL MAKE STUDY OF INFANTILE PARALYSIS.

New York, Sept. 1.—The Rockefeller institute has arranged to take up at once the investigation of the epidemic of infantile paralysis now prevalent in Brooklyn. The disease, which is an affection of the spinal cord, afflicts children up to the age of five years, generally crippling them for life. More than 100 children in Brooklyn are now suffering from it and physicians have been unable thus far to discover its cause or a suitable method of treatment. The institute intends to isolate the germ of the disease if possible and then seek an anti-toxin or remedy.

CANADIAN CATTLE KEPT UNDER BAN

England Says United States Is Too Near to Avoid Diseases Spreading.

London, Sept. 1.—A deputation representing various trading interests attended parliament yesterday to ask the government to remove the embargo on the importation of Canadian cattle. Premier Asquith in reply said he regretted that he saw no possibility of acceding to this request, for while it might be true that disease was nonexistent among the cattle in Canada, it was indisputable that the disease appeared from time to time in the United States with disastrous results, and it was impossible for this purpose to put Canada and the United States into water-tight compartments, owing to the long and loosely guarded boundary line.

Earl Carrington, president of the board of agriculture, in expressing agreement with the premier, admitted that Canada was free from disease with respect to its cattle, but pointed out the terrible danger on the occasion of the outbreak at Buffalo and Detroit last November. It was only the extreme vigilance of the Canadian authorities then that saved Canada and Great Britain from a terrible catastrophe.

EAGLE WILL LOSE ITS MEAL TICKET

State Law Prevents Bank From Holding the Bird in Trust.

Washington, Sept. 1.—An American eagle will be deprived of daily food to the value of 50 cents as a result of the action of the acting comptroller of the currency.

Recently the receiver of a Western bank wrote to the comptroller asking for instructions with regard to a most unusual case. He stated that the bank held in trust a splendid eagle, and that included in the daily expense of the institution was an item of 50 cents for meat with which to feed the bird. He desired to know what he was to do about it.

Acting Comptroller Kane, upon investigation, found that the laws of the state in which the bank is located provide for a fine of $10 to $25 for any person found guilty of keeping an eagle in captivity. He therefore advised the receiver to that effect and instructed him to release the bird immediately.

STOLYPIN WINS OVER GRAND DUKES

Council for Imperial Defense of Russia Is Suppressed.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 1.—An imperial ukase just published suppresses the council of imperial defense created June 21, 1905. This amounts to a substantial victory for the Stolypin cabinet, which is working to co-ordinate the branches of the government in the constitutional sense, eliminating grand ducal interference.

ACCUSED OF $24,000 THEFT IN VIENNA.

New York, Sept. 1.—After having been followed by detectives since his arrival here, Aug. 19, on the Mauretania, a well groomed man was arrested at a Harlem hotel last night at the request of the Austrian consul, charged with the theft of $24,000 from a postoffice in Vienna, on July 9 last. The prisoner says that he is an Englishman and that his name is Robert Freeman. He protested at his arrest and said that he was innocent.

AIRSHIP INVENTOR IS KILLED BY TRAIN.

New Orleans, Sept. 1.—Louis Raynaud, the inventor of an airship which was to have been given its initial flight Sunday, returning home in a wagon last night from a day's work on the aeroplane, was struck by a New Orleans & Great Northern passenger train. He died shortly after being taken to the Charity hospital.

CANADA TAKES UP CONSERVATION

Ottawa Government Appoints Commission on Natural Resources.

Ottawa, Ont., Sept. 1.—The Canadian government has followed ex-President Roosevelt's suggestion by appointing a commission for the preservation of natural resources. It is made up of representatives of the federal and provincial governments, the universities and men particularly skilled in minerals, timber and other natural resources. The Hon. Clifford Sifton is chairman.

CHANGES IN DRILL METHODS

After four weeks of preliminary work, during which time the non-commissioned officers have been thoroughly schooled in the duties of their position, Company C, Third infantry, will, beginning with their first drill tonight, enter on the season's work, which should place them on a par with the best companies of regular infantry.

Following the suggestions of Col. William Gerlach, United States officer detailed for duty in this district, and the recommendations made by Col. Johnson of the regiment, a number of changes have been made looking towards better efficiency in this branch of National Guard.

A thorough knowledge of the infantry drill regulations is now required of all non-commissioned officers, and they must also be conversant with the duties of the next higher rank.

Each corporal has now in his detail a certain number of men for the training of which he is held personally responsible, both as regards their drilling on the Armory floor and their work on the field range.

Immediately after the drill tonight there will be held the annual meeting, at which time the different committees are selected and appointed for the social and athletic events that are to be held during the winter months.

TALK OF PAROLING EVELYN ROMADKA.

Joliet, Ill., Sept. 1.—Attorney McKenney of Fond du Lac, Wis., appeared yesterday before the parole board on behalf of Mrs. Evelyn Romadka, divorced wife of a Milwaukee trunk manufacturer. Mrs. Romadka was sent to Joliet following convictions on charges of burglary in Chicago.

She will be taken care of by her father and friends if released on parole or commutation of sentence. The board has taken the matter under consideration.

JERKED UP BY BALLOON AND DROPPED TO DEATH.

Monon, Ind., Sept. 1.—A balloon that was being filled with gas escaped from its moorings today and Henry Moore, the aeronaut's helper, was caught by trailing ropes and carried up among the telegraph and 'phones. Torn from the ropes, he fell to the street and was instantly killed.

WEALTHY MAN OF 75 IS ACCUSED OF UXORCIDE.

Newport, Ky., Sept. 1.—Charles Maugett, a wealthy retired tailor, was arrested yesterday on a warrant charging him with the murder of his wife, Margaret, who was found strangled to death in their home in this city last week. His bonds have been placed at $10,000, in default of which he was locked up in jail. He is 75 years old. Maugett found his wife dead after returning, as he says, from a walk There were finger marks on her throat. The coroner returned a verdict that she died from strangulation.

CHILDREN'S DEATHS MAY BRING ABOUT NEW LAW.

New York, Sept. 1.—Careful search of the ruins of St. Malachy's Home for Children at Rockaway Park, L. I., has revealed that the total death list was seven. All of the dead range between 3 and 5 years. There was an investigation by the coroner's office, and it is believed that some steps will be taken to bring about legislation which, in future, will prevent the housing of so many children in an unsafe building.

MORE DIE OF CHOLERA.

Rotterdam, Sept. 1.—There have been ten deaths from cholera in this city since the disease first appeared. There are seventeen cases in the isolation hospital and seventy-four suspects under observation.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 1.—Maj. Gregorieff, an army officer who recently developed cholera at the palace barracks at Peterhof, died yesterday. Seven deaths from cholera in St. Petersburg and thirty-three new cases of the disease are reported today.

KNOX'S GRAND VIZIER TAKES OATH OF OFFICE.

Washington, Sept. 1.—Henry M. Hoyt, who was solicitor general of the department of justice during President Roosevelt's two terms, and whose appointment as counsellor of the state department was announced from Beverly Monday, has taken the oath of office and has entered upon the duties of his new office. His duties in the main will be advisory to the secretary of state. He will be charged with the duty of the preparation of treaties with foreign governments, and in a general way will advise the secretary of state in all matters of international law.

MINING COMPANY GIVEN RECEIVER

Negligence Is Charged and Judgments Hasten Action in Court.

Chicago, Sept. 1. — Financial difficulties of the Frances Mohawk Mining & Leasing company of Goldfield, Nev., due to involved legal tangles and a number of heavy judgments, have resulted in a receivership for the company. Judge Kohlsaat, in the United States circuit court, yesterday appointed the Western Trust & Savings bank temporary receiver. He also issued a temporary injunction against the officers of the company and D. MacKenzie & Co., Chicago agents for the corporation, restraining them from withdrawing $125,000 on deposit in the Central safety deposit vaults of this city, and from interfering in any way with the affairs of the company pending an investigation under the direction of the court.

Has Several Leaseholds.

The company, it is said, is the holder of a number of mining leaseholds in Nevada, Wyoming, Colorado and South Dakota. It is incorporated under the laws of South Dakota.

James Hamilton Lewis, attorney for the complaining stockholders, charges the management with incompetency and negligence.

Attorney John A. Duffy, representing D. MacKenzie, president and general manager of the company, replies that it is enemies of the company who are trying to wipe it out. Mr. Duffy alleges that attempts on the life of Mr. MacKenzie have been made by the alleged enemies of the company. The complaining stockholders are headed by Timothy Nestor, former mayor of Marquette, Mich., and now a resident of this city. These stockholders claim a $500,000 interest in the company.

Poor Work Charged.

Goldfield, Nev., Sept. 1.—Several suits are now pending in the district and state courts of Nevada between the Frances Mohawk Mining & Leasing company of Goldfield, for which a receiver was named by United States Circuit Judge Kohlsaat of Chicago today, and the Goldfield Consolidated Mines company, the parent corporation.

The lease under which operations were conducted was granted by the Consolidated company and it is now maintained in various legal actions that the work done by the leasing company was improperly performed.

On this claim the Consolidated company seeks heavy damages.

North Dakota Bankers Pleased With Mission to Duluth.

Fargo, N. D., Sept. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—The North Dakota delegation of bankers, who went to Duluth in an effort to get Duluth bankers to abolish the discrimatory exchange fee on grain drafts, were entirely successful.

"We received very courteous treatment from the Duluth bankers," said F. A. Irish, "and when our position was explained to them they unanimously decided to remove the exchange fee to which we objected. They then voluntarily made other concessions which will be of great benefit to North Dakota.

"R. S. Lewis acted as spokesman for the delegation and he deserves a great deal of credit for the clear, concise way in which he stated our case. His wide acquaintance among the Duluth grain men was also of great benefit to the delegation.

"We met with the Duluth Clearing House association on Saturday. The very best feeling was evident at the meeting and in fact North Dakota will gain much more from the relationship established through this incident than the mere concessions granted by the Duluth clearing house.

"In the future when problems come up between North Dakota bankers and the city at Head of the Lakes, there will be a tendency to get together and come to an amicable agreement."

FIND STONE TURTLE.

Scientists Discover Indian Relic That Is Considered Unique.

Bismarck, N. D., Sept. 1.—Curator Fish of the state historical society and Prof. A. B. Stout of the University of Wisconsin, brought to the city yesterday a unique discovery which will be placed on the capitol grounds near the Roosevelt cabin.

The article in question is a "stone turtle," which had been used by Indian tribes in this vicinity as either a Totem (a religious sign for a clan) or a water mark.

The formation was found on the crown of the highest hill in the vicinity of Sangers postoffice in this county and was discovered first in the early '80s by a couple of young men who were hunting geese. The shape of an immense turtle was clearly marked by a lot of stones, the legs, head and body of the animal being clearly discernable. The formation is about fifteen to twenty feet in size.

A plan was drawn of the turtle and the stones were numbered as they were taken up and will be replaced on the capitol grounds in the exact order as found. There is some question as to whether it was used as a totem or water mark. There are some who hold that it was a totem or a religious sign of some of the Indian clans, and others state that it must have been a water mark. Numerous water signs were placed by the tribes, and as the head of the turtle was pointed to what had formerly been a large lake, some take this view of it.

DOWIE'S SUCCESSOR IS IN ILLINOIS JAIL.

Chicago, Sept. 1.—Wilbur Glenn Voliva, successor to the late John Alexander Dowie as head of the Dowie religious cult, is a prisoner in the McHenry county jail at Woodstock, Ill. The leader of the Dowieites was arrested at his home in Zion City and sentenced to jail in default of payment of a $10,000 judgment rendered against him by Judge Wright in favor of Philip Motherill, a Montana farmer.

The judgment was obtained on a slander charge brought by Motherill. Voliva declared he would stay in jail the entire six months provided by law rather than pay the judgment.

REWARD IS OFFERED FOR SCHWAB'S SLAYER.

Anoka, Minn., Sept. 1.—The county commissioners in extra session offered $250 reward for the arrest of the man who shot Jacob Schwab here last Saturday morning. The state will be asked to add $250 more to this reward. The coroner's jury convened Monday and adjourned until Sept. 13.

Only 11 Years of Age, But She Slays Mighty Wolf.

Marinette, Wis., Sept. 1.—Miss Marion Carter, 11 years of age, daughter of an Athelstane farmer, claims the distinction of being the youngest wolf slayer in the Northwest. While armed with a small rifle, the girl sighted a small wolf near her home, and, taking aim, brought the animal to death at the first shot. A second bullet killed it. Although her marksmanship has attracted considerable attention for some time past, this is her first killing.

MUCH IS SUBSCRIBED FOR SYMPHONY SOCIETY.

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—A quarter of a million dollars has been subscribed by public-spirited citizens of Minneapolis for the maintenance of the Minneapolis Symphony orchestra during the next five years. That means $50,000 is available each year, or nearly twice as much as has been available annually during the last three years.

One of the first things done when the money was assured was to make a new five-year contract with Emil Oberhoffer, whose fine work in the development of music in the Northwest is so clearly recognized. The association feels as gratified over the retention of Mr. Oberhoffer as over the whole-hearted manner in which its desired guaranty fund has been raised.

LAPORTE, MINN., WILL HAVE BANK SEPT. 13.

Bemidji, Minn., Sept. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Charles Roman, an energetic young man of Bemidji, until recently in the First National bank, has formed a company to open a bank Sept. 13, in Laporte, a growing village on the Minnesota & International railway south of here.

The new bank will be capitalized at $10,000 and the stockholders are W. J. Markham and Charles Roman of Bemidji; H. R. Elliott of Duluth, Fred Soderberg and P. J. Engberg of the First National bank of Braham, S. P. Crosby of the First State bank of Braham, A. W. Almquist and A. Cohres of Laporte.

Quits After Long Service.

Fargo, N. D., Sept. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—W. E. Holzer, day chief of the local Western Union office, concluded that twenty years of service in one office was sufficient and resigned. He started in as a messenger boy and worked his way up to the leading position in the operative department.

BLOOD POVERTY

AN ANAEMIC CONDITION OF THE SYSTEM

We all know that when the circulation becomes poisoned from any cause, it is manifested in some outward disorder or disease, but do we always understand that many of the ordinary ailments of life are simply the result of blood poverty?

Normal, healthy blood contains millions of tiny red corpuscles; these are constantly forming in the system by the extraction of nutriment from the food we eat. The minute globules are then taken up by the circulation and used in supplying nourishment and healthful growth to every portion of the body. The brain is enabled to perform its work by constantly feeding upon the blood, the nerves supply us with physical energy by drawing their power from blood nutriment, the stomach, bowels and digestive system all carry on their several duties because they are kept in normal condition through the strengthening properties received from the circulation. And so with every member of the body, its sustenance and health depends directly upon the blood.

Any system which does not receive the proper amount of blood nourishment is not prepared to withstand the countless disorders that attack it. How often do we see persons begin to "feel bad," then the appetite becomes fickle, the digestion deranged, the skin yellow, the system billious, and a general malarial condition set up.

This state of health is brought about because germs and impurities have entered the circulation, and it has become impoverished, weak and anaemic. But blood poverty means more than this—poor blood means constantly diminishing strength, and as the malarial germs destroy more and more of the healthful properties of the circulation, chills and fever are frequent, skin diseases, boils, and sores and ulcers break out on the flesh, and after awhile the foundation is laid for other troubles.

A PHYSICAL WRECK FROM EFFECTS OF MALARIA.

During 1900 I was running a farm on the Mississippi River, and became so impregnated with malaria and my blood so poor that for a year afterwards I was a physical wreck. I took a number of medicines recommended as blood purifiers, chill cures and malaria eradicators, but nothing did me any good until I began to use S. S. S., which I did about a year ago. The result was that after taking several bottles of the large size I was as well and strong as I ever was, and have never had a chill since.

S. R. COWLEY.
Amory, Miss.

We cannot have good health as long as the blood is weak and anaemic. Nourish the system through its natural source—the blood—and thus enable it to overcome or throw off the ill effects of blood poverty.

S.S.S.
PURELY VEGETABLE

Nothing equals S. S. S. as a remedy for Blood Poverty. It goes directly into the circulation and removes every trace of impurity or germs, it adds richness and vigor to the blood and thus enables it to supply the system with its needed nourishment and strength. When S. S. S. has purified and reinvigorated the blood, sallow, anaemic complexions take on the ruddy flush of health, the liver and digestion are righted, the appetite increased, the system vitalized and strengthened, all malarial conditions removed, and perfect health restored. S. S. S. is a general systemic remedy of unequalled value, and is specially efficacious in cases of blood poverty.

FEARS TRIAL IN BEMIDJI

Paul Fournier Would Be Tried Elsewhere on Murder Charge.

Convicted Once and Given New Trial, He Alleges Prejudice.

Bemidji, Minn., Sept. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—A motion for a change of venue in the new trial of Paul Fournier, who was convicted of killing N. O. Dahl near Quiring in 1904, and sentenced to life imprisonment, will be argued this week before Judge W. H. McClenahan in chambers at Brainerd, Attorneys Chester McKusick and C. W. Scrutchin of Bemidji appearing respectively for the state and the defendant.

Paul Fournier was tried in Beltrami county in 1907, on the charge of having killed a homesteader named N. O. Dahl near Quiring in 1904. N. O. Dahl and his daughter Aagot had been killed in a brutal manner, and the trials of "Shorty" Wesley and Paul Fournier, charged with this crime, attracted widespread interest throughout the state, the courtrooms being crowded so much that the ceilings in the offices below were cracked and the judge had to order out a large number of spectators.

Henry Funkley of Bemidji, at that time county attorney of Beltrami county, prosecuted the case, Wesley and Fourier being defended by C. W. Scrutchin, Bemidji's colored attorney, and Judge Martin of Virginia, now deceased. Wesley and Fourier were both convicted. Fourier was sentenced by Judge Marshall A. Spooner on April 12, 1907, to hard labor in the state's prison at Stillwater for the rest of his natural life.

Attorney Scrutchin at once began trying to secure a new trial for Paul Fournier, his motion for a retrial of the cese being denied by the district court on Jan. 2, 1908. He carried the case to the supreme court and secured a new trial on July 18 last. In his motion before Judge McClenahan Mr. Scrutchin alleges that the people of Beltrami county are prejudiced against Paul Fournier and that it would be impossible to secure a fair trial for his client in this county, bringing affadavits to this effect, and asking for a change of venue.

BANK PRESIDENT MAY BE ARRESTED

Serious Allegations Against Officer of Glen Ullin, N. D., Bank.

Mandan, N. D., Sept. 1.—W. T. Moore, president of the German State bank of Glen Ullin, N. D., which has been closed by State Bank Examiner Oliver Knudson, is here helping the experts check up the books of the bank. State's Attorney Hanley of Morton county is quoted as saying that if the information laid before him that Moore's accounts with the bank are not right is borne out by the findings of the experts, a warrant will be issued for Moore's arrest. It is said the bank examiner has filed information with the state's attorney charging W. T. Moore, president of the German State bank of Glen Ullin, with being a defaulter and a forger.

According to the information filed by the state bank examiner, Moore is between $65,000 and $70,000 short in his accounts. Also, he is charged with forging a check for $1,900 as well as a note for $800.

Examiner Knudson is quoted as saying:

"The department has taken a hand in the administration of affairs at the bank for the purpose of securing a reorganization and the placing of the institution under new management. Some of the stockholders of the bank, we expect, will take over the remaining stock and the institution will be put under an entirely new management. Should this not be done, a receiver will be appointed.

"So far as the depositors are concerned I believe they will not lose a cent. There was a total of $187,000 on deposit, and while it will take some little time to get matters straightened out, it would seem that none of the depositors will be obliged to suffer in any way, except, of course, temporarily, until the affairs are settled."

JUDGE DEAN HAS BEEN APPOINTED

Named By Gov. Johnson to Succeed Judge Morse, Resigned.

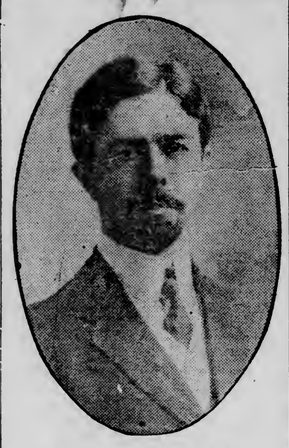

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Governor Johnson has accepted the resignation of Judge W. A. Morse of Sauk Center and appointed as his successor Judge W. S. Dean.

The irregularities in the accounts of the judge as rendered to the city of Sauk Center while not amounting to a large amount are curious in character.

An affidavit held by Public Examiner Anton Schaeffer from Samuel King, Sauk Center, shows that Samuel King was arrested on Saturday, July 17, on a serious charge. Unable to get the bail of $500 which was required he was sent to prison with the probability of having to pay a $200 fine before he could get out. The following Monday he was brought before Judge Morse and told that he would be allowed to plead guilty to a charge of assault and fined $50. This fine according to the affidavit was paid by King, but is not accounted for in the city's accounts.

Affidavits have also been made by Vincent Dornberg and Isaac Dornberg that they were fined at different times by Judge Morse $1 and costs, and that they actually paid to him $4 and were told to say nothing to anybody about the transaction. In the same lot of affidavits, Albert Buechner states that he paid to the judge last March $29.35, none of which is directly accounted for, though there is a sum of $21 paid into the city by the judge about that time.

NEW MEMBER OF COLLEGE FACULTY

PROF. C. C. McCOWN.

To succeed Prof. Stearns on the faculty of the Wesley college of North Dakota, an educational institution supported by the Methodist church, Prof. C. C. McCown of Reynolds, Ill., has been elected.

Prof. Stearns resigned from the faculty of Wesley to join the faculty of the University of North Dakota.

NA-MA-PUK FOUNDERS.

Steamer Plying on the Lake of the Woods Goes Down.

Warroad, Minn., Sept. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—During a heavy sea the steamer Na-Ma-Puk, owned by the Armstrong Trading company and used in the fish trading business on the Lake of the Woods, sprung a leak and foundered while crossing from Bigsby's island to the south shore, across that portion of the lake known as the Big Traverse. She had on board a crew of five, a United States customs officer and Mr. and Mrs. Carr of Manchester, Iowa.

All were safely transferred to a barge that was in tow for use in carrying fish. The tow line was cut and the barge drifted to shore near the mouth of the Rainy river. After spending a chilly night on shore, the passengers and crew were taken to Beaudette on a Canadian boat, and then came to Warroad by rail.

A heavy sea was running, but the transfer with a small boat from the steamer to the barge was made without accident.

PLANNING BIG DAY.

Portage Lake Trades and Labor Council to Celebrate Labor Day.

Hancock, Mich., Sept. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Portage Lake Trades and Labor council has its plans perfected for the celebration here next Monday of Labor day. A parade will be the feature of the day. In this parade will be seen all the labor organizations of Hancock and Houghton. W. H Stewart will be grand marshal and J. Makki and T. Mitchell will be his aides. Music will be furnished by the Isle Royale band. The parade will disperse at the Hancock grove, at West Hancock, where the exercises of the day will be held. There will be several addresses and musical numbers. The principal speaker will be Judge George C. Bentley. Others who will speak will be Mayor W. Frank James of Hancock and President William F. Miller of Houghton. Judge E. Wareham will be president of the day. There will be a baseball game between the bricklayers and stone masons and other sports are scheduled for the afternoon. The committee of arrangements consists of Joseph C. Wareham, John H. Champion, Thomas McGuire and J. Runvard. With favorable weather, this will be one of the greatest Labor day demonstrations ever seen in either Portage lake city.

ATTACKING SOCIAL EVIL.

Erring Ones Being Driven Out of Stearns County.

St. Cloud, Minn., Sept. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—County Attorney J. B. Himsl, Sheriff Morritz and Officer Brick raided the only remaining evil resort in this section and arrested the proprietor and several of the soiled doves domiciled within. Upon payment of heavy fines they were released, with a promise to quit Stearns county at once. The house has been conducted about four miles from St. Cloud and has gone under the guise of a dairy and chicken farm.

LINE TO MASS MINE.

Cleveland-Cliffs Company Will Soon Install the Machinery.

Negaunee, Mich., Sept. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Cleveland-Cliffs company will begin installing the machinery for its new electric transmission line at the Mass mine within a few days.

All of the machinery, with the exception of the switchboard, is now on the ground. Men are preparing foundations for the steel towers to be extended from the Mass mine to the Cleveland Lake property at Ishpeming. Most of the material has arrived, and some of it has been deliverd at the points where it will be used.

The line will extend over the hill at Teal lake and the route west of there will be between the street railway and the Northwestern railroad tracks to a point west of Union park, where it will cross through the Cleveland location. Two of the towers are to be placed on the old Jackson rock dump, near the street railway power house. The ones in the low ground will be of considerable height.

GAS EXPLOSION FATAL TO ONE MINNEAPOLITAN.

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 1.—By the explosion of a gas tank in the plant of the Minneapolis Acetylene Gas company, Nicollet avenue and Mary Place, yesterday, Arthur Anderson, aged 15 years, was killed and Conrad Mortensen, a mechanic, was probably fatally injured. Over pressure in the gas tank is said to have caused the explosion.

Twelve explosions followed the blowing up of the main tank and the firemen who were fighting the fire which followed were forced to fight it from a distance.

VICTOR IS CONVICTED OF WHOLESALE MURDER.

Aberdeen, S. D., Sept 1.—Emil Victor was found guilty yesterday of the murder of J. W. Christie, his wife, daughter, Mildred, and Michael Ronayne on July 3, and the penalty fixed at death. He will be sentenced by Judge McNulty Sept. 30. The trial has been on for a week, the defense setting up a plea of insanity. Victor was a farmhand near the Christie home and killed Christie in a holdup.

MINNESOTA BRIEFS

Minneapolis—H. D. Harter, aged 71 years, employed at the Milwaukee shops, Minnehaha avenue and Twenty-eighth street, was run down by a freight train in the shop yards Monday afternoon and died a few minutes later in St. Barnabas hospital. His right leg was cut off close to the body.

Zumbrota—During a severe electrical storm here Saturday night, the barn belonging to Knut Ronning, a farmer, a few miles south of here, was struck by lightning and totally destroyed. Four valuable horses, harness, hay and grain were burned.

Montrose—Max Kocebe, a farm hand was run over by an automobile here Saturday night. Two wheels passed over his stomach, inflicting serious internal injuries. It is said the auto was running without lights and did not stop to ascertain to what extent the man was injured.

Chatfield—William O'Neal, 17 years old, was drowned while bathing in a pond on the McConnell farm, six miles north of here, where he was employed during the summer. The young man swam across the pond and had returned about half way when he was taken with cramps and went down.

St. Paul—Gen. F. B. Wood, adjutant general of the state militia, returned Monday noon from Camp Parry, Ohio, where he had charge of the team of marksmen from Minnesota entered in the national shoot. Minnesota was given twentieth place in the final scoring. A year ago the team from this state won twenty-third place.

International Falls—Contractor Inquist of Minneapolis has arrived to commence the construction of the tenement houses which R. L. Horr, treasurer of the Koochiching company, will build as a personal investment. The first three houses will be built on the 100-foot southwest corner of block 57.

WISCONSIN BRIEFS

Ashland—Miss Ruth E. Hoppin returned Monday morning from a two months' trip through the West, including a visit with her mother in San Francisco, and with friends in Los Angeles, Seattle and other Western cities. She was the guest of Mrs. Fred Sanborn for about ten days.

Marinette—The grand jury has adjourned until Nov. 8, after returning three more indictments. The men indicted are Former Sheriff Brown, Former Sheriff Seibel and Supt. Christ of the workhouse.

West Bend—Sylvester Schairer, 50 years old, for many years employed in the West Bend brewery, was found dead on Monday seated in a chair at the brewery, where he was a watchman. Death is believed to have been caused by apoplexy.

Manitowoc—Fire Chief J. Kratz, after an investigation by the fire and police commission, was censured for failing to respond to a fire he thought was outside the city and for failing to keep the alarm system in repair. Two of the commissioners favored suspending the chief for thirty days.

Menasha—The Rev. Henry E. Stauffer, successor to the Rev. A. E. Leonard as pastor of the First Congregational church, has arrived here. Mr. and Mrs. Stauffer have been visiting in the West and came here direct from Colorado Springs.

Sheboygan—Sheboygan may have a national bank added to the four institutions now doing business here. It may locate in the building owned by Groh Bros. and at present occupied by the Citizens' State bank, which will move to its handsome new banking building.

Oshkosh—A rate of taxation of from $2.25 to $2.40 will probably be adopted by the council in the preparation of its budget in November. Through changes made by the board of review the total amount of taxable property in the city for the present year has been fixed at $19,800,308. Last year the rate was $2.10.

Sparta—Sam Hersch, proprietor of the Fair store, and his delivery boy, were hurt in a runaway, the lad being kicked by the horse and run over. Mr. Hersch fell from the wagon, striking on his shoulder with boxes falling on top of him. He suffered a badly wrenched shoulder.

DAKOTA BRIEFS

Fargo, N. D.—Carl Rydgen, a comparative stranger in the city of Fargo, died at a local hospital after an illness of only three days. He was 36 years old and came to Fargo June 20 from Monmouth, Ill., as an expert repair man in the employ of the Avery Thresher company.

Grand Forks, N. D.—Abner Brown, who was some time ago convicted of rape, and was formerly engaged in this city as a piano tuner, will make an application for pardon when the state board of pardons meets again.

Belle Fourche, S. D.—The Northwestern railroad has secured its right-of-way and will build into the rich district lying north of this city. The contract for the construction work has been let to Winston Bros. of St. Paul, who will begin operations at once.

Huron, S. D.—While being taken to the hospital at Rochester, Jay Sherman, injured in a wreck on the Chicago & Northwestern line near this city, died at Tracy, Minn. The remains were brought back to this city.

Fargo, N. D.—Fargo was made state headquarters of the Fraternal Order of Eagles at a meeting held here Sunday. The next annual session is to be held in this city. The officers of the new grand aerie are: President, B. Mullen, Grand Forks; vice president, T. E. Keogh, Valley City; secretary, A. M. Knight, Fargo, and treasurer, A. E. Hagen, Larimore.

Grand Forks, N. D.—E. M. Roberts of Inkster, who has been superintendent of schools there, was in the city Monday, preparatory to leaving this evening for Fayette, Ark., where he has accepted a similar position. He will move his household furniture to his new home at once.

Mandan, N. D.—W. W. Shaffer, the well-known liveryman of this city, narrowly escaped being killed by a kick from a vicious horse. Mr. Shaffer was looking over the animal, when, without warning, the beast struck him in the chest, breaking three ribs on the right side.

Bowman, N. D.—Though Bowman is one of the newest cities in North Dakota, it will soon have a complete system of water works, as the people of the municipality have voted bonds for that purpose. The plans are already being prepared and the system will be so arranged as to cover the entire residence and business district.

New Rockford, N. D.—Peter Rice was almost killed when the barn on the Mrs. Louis Schaeffer farm, east of the city, was struck by lightning.

PENINSULA BRIEFS

Ishpeming—The Ishpeming band will conduct its Labor day dancing party at Braastad's hall next Monday evening. Dancing will begin at 9 o'clock, continuing until 12.

Negaunee — The Marquette Elks would like to meet the Negaunee Elks' baseball team, which defeated the nine representing the Ishpeming lodge, Saturday, at the Union park grounds. It is understood that the Negaunee team will accept the challenge.

Marquette — Marie Marsan, aged 2 years, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elzar Marsan, passed away Monday, after an illness of but a few hours. Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock from St. John's church, with interment in the old Catholic cemetery.

Houghton—The Houghton county juvenile court has come into existence, with Hon. George C. Bentley, probate judge, in charge. It is located in the old courthouse, and this structure will hereafter be known as the building for the detention of juvenile offenders.

Hancock—Capt. Jesse Meads, a regular on the state rifle team, together with alternates, Musician Cowley and Lieut. McDuff of Calumet engineers, have returned from Camp Perry, Ohio, where they participated in the National rifle contests.

Houghton—Theressa Clark, a young woman who spent the past seventy-six days in the county jail, has been returned to her home in Canada. Miss Clark has been a very interesting prisoner while at the county jail and had always expected to be let out in a short time.

Calumet—The marriage of Miss Honore Gill, a teacher in the Calumet schools, to William Tonkin of the Calumet & Hecla machine shops, has just been solemnized at the home of the bride at Beacon, Marquette county. They will be at home in Calumet upon returning from a wedding tour in the South and East.

THE MANY SCANDALS OF THE GOULD FAMILY HAVE NEVER TOUCHED HER LIFE

MRS. EDWIN GOULD.

In the matrimonial troubles which have come to the Gould family, nothing has ever touched the Edwin Goulds. So far as anyone knows, they are a very happy couple. Mrs. Gould was a Miss Shrady. They have several children to whom she is devoted. Mrs. Gould cares less for society than for home life apparently.

ADVANCE SALE

Tickets for

"Up and Down Broadway"

Comic Opera, can now be secured at Public Library, Chamberlain & Taylor's, and Boice's Drug Store. To be exchanged for reserved seats at Lyceum after 10 a. m. Sept. 6. Sale open to general public Sept. 8.

CLEVER SPECIALTIES

Will Be Seen in "Up and Down Broadway."

Among the especially delightful specialties of the second act of "Up and Down Broadway," which will be given at the Lyceum Sept. 10 and 11 under the auspices of the Twentieth Century club for the benefit of the Neighborhood House fund, will be an act called "After the Matinee," which was one of the features of the Lambs' club all-star gambol last winter in New York. Donald McDonald, who is directing the production, will be the matinee man, and assisting him will be Misses Frances Woodbridge, Nell Brown, Sybilla Hartman, Berta Schmied, Rachael St. Clair, Genevieve Washburn, Roella Lovett and Marion Williamson.

Another feature will be "Jack's the Boy," with Miss Frances Woodbridge as the soloist, and the assisting maidens will be Misses Marie Clark, Roella Lovett, Katherine Persson, Frances Burris, Berta Schmeld, Marion Williamson, Lucille Bradley, Grace Farmer, Alva Pateneaur and Miss Watson of Burlington, Iowa, a whistler of note.

In both numbers the men who will take part will be John Bushnell, Carl Mann, Walter McCarthy, Fred Farmer, John McFaydean, Joe Lonegren, Myron Bunnell, Cecil Day, John Craig and John Foote.

A rehearsal of the Indian act will be held this evening at 7 o'clock at the ballroom of the Spalding, and a rehearsal of the whole production will be held tomorrow evening at the same hour.

RESUME MEETINGS.

W. C. T. U. Members Begin Regular Season's Work.

The first regular meeting of the year of the Women's Christian Temperance union will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the home of Mrs. H. W. Greeley of 629 North Fifty-sixth avenue west. It is desired that all of the members be present and plans for the coming annual convention to be held in this city will be discussed at tomorrow's meeting. The subject of the afternoon will be "Vacations" with the president, Mrs. W. F. Bailey, as leader.

Any one in the city who will entertain visiting delegates at the time of the convention are requested to send their names to Mrs. Bailey.

BOAT CLUB DANCES.

Weekly Affairs Popular During Cool Weather.

The weekly dance at the Oatka branch of the Duluth Boat club will be held tomorrow evening as usual, and the usual Saturday evening dances will be held this week at both houses. With the first tinge of autumn in the air the boat club dances become even more popular and the coolness of the evening makes dancing an ideal pastime.

HOME WEDDING.

Miss Ellrose Taylor to Become Bride of A. Hanford.

The wedding of Miss Ellrose Taylor, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. A. C. Taylor, to Arthur Hanford, will take place this evening at the home of the bride's parents, at 1115 East Third street. Only the immediate friends will be present for the ceremony and the service will be read by the Rev. M. S. Rice of the First Methodist church. A large reception will follow the ceremony. Mr. Hanford is a son of Mr. and Mrs H. H. Hanford of this city. He will leave with his bride for a wedding trip and later they will be at home in Duluth.

ORPHANS' PICNIC.

Their Annual Outing Is Enjoyed at Lester Park.

The children of the St. James' Orphanage were entertained at a picnic at Lester Park today. Many people have interested themselves in providing a delightful time for the little ones and the contributions to their annual day of happiness have been large. A picnic luncheon was served at noon and there were several special treat during the day. Bishop McGolrick was in attendance at the picnic and a number of the women of the church assisted in the affair.

Surprise Party.

Miss Edith Carlson of 2118 West Second street was surprised at her home last evening by a number of friends, who presented her with a gold locket and chain.

Music and games were the amusements, and luncheon was served.

Those present were:

Misses—
Signey Johnson, Mabel Swanson, Florence De Roche, Edith Carlson, Martha Anderson, Selma Hansen, Hanna Brecell, Agnes Midthune, Olga Carlson, Goldie Hansen, Carrie Heglund, Ethel Carlson, Mamie Hurbert, Genevieve Carpenter, Edna Lundforce, Irene Dormedy, Messrs.—

Alumni Association.

R. E. Denfeld, superintendent of the city schools, and the new principal, George Buck, are much interested in the proposed alumni association which will be organized Friday evening at a meeting which will be held at the assembly hall of the high school. Both of these educators feel that an association will be an organization that can do much for the good of the school, and it is hoped that a large society will result, with a membership representative of every class that has gone forth from the school.

Although the schoiarship fund will be the chief interest of the association during this first year of its organization, it is planned to have the fees low enough to make it possible for every graduate, no matter how recent, to become a member. There will also be one or two social affairs held during the year.

Those who have thought about the subject feel that there is great possibilities ahead for the alumni association, and every graduate in the city is urged to attend Friday evening's meeting.

Pavilion Dance.

The members of the Sans Souci club will entertain at a Japanese dancing party this evening at the Lester Park pavilion.

TELLS CHINA SHE MUST BE GOOD

England Insists on an Investigation of Death of British Subject.

Pekin, Sept. 1.—Sir John Jordan, the British minister to China, without waiting for the co-operation of the American legation, today called on the foreign board and demanded reparation and punishment for the killing last June in Kan Su province of Hazrah Ali, a British subject, attached to the meteorological expedition, taken into China by Lieut. R. S. Clark, a former officer of the American army.

Sir John informed the government that an investigation of the occurrence must be made. The government demurred, but the minister was firm. In return China asked for reparation for the Chinese killed in the encounter with the members of the expedition.

Henry P. Fletcher, the American charge, will take independent action. The apparent lack of co-operation between the British and American legation is due to divergent views in the matter of China's responsibility. Mr. Fletcher, however, has given assurances that he will support the British action.

COVER YOUR BREAD.

Otherwise Bugs Will Invade It, Says State Health Authority.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—"People don't take sufficient care of the source of their food," said Dr. H. M. Bracken, secretary of the state board of health. "They spend a lot of time and money and endure sickness in getting germs out of the home, but they give little attention to preventing their entering.

"Look at the way much of the bakers' bread is handled. There is plenty of opportunity for germs of all kinds to blow into the particles of the crust as bread is hauled about in wagons. No matter how careful a retail merchant may be, the bread has been handled a number of times before it reaches the consumer. Bread ought to be sold in paper coverings. This would prevent germs getting in, would keep the bread clean and also keep it fresh longer.

"I think wrapped bread is as important as the abolition of the public drinking cup."

HAUL GRAIN BY WATER.

De Lacs Lake Transportation Company to Accomodate Shippers.

Kenmare, N. D., Sept. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—The hauling of grain on Des Lacs lake, which lies northwest of this city and through which the international boundary line passes, will be done this year by the newly organized Des Lacs Lake Transportation company, operating a steamer and a string of barges on the lake with a single load capacity of 18,000 bushels.

Grain is hauled from Newport and Paisley in North Dakota, and Boscurvis, Can. The operation of the steamer does away with many long hauls for the farmers along the lake shore.

THREE MORE POWER COMPANIES FORMED.

Lansing, Mich., Sept. 1.—Three more power companies, with a total capitalization of $700,000, filed articles of incorporation here yesterday. They are the Little Muskegon Water company, capital $125,000; Mont Caim Electrical company, capital $75,000, and the Western Hydro-Electrical company, capital $500,000, all of Grand Rapids, Mich. It is the general belief that there is some connection between the three companies and the eighteen power companies that filed articles last Friday. Bruce Goodfellow of Detroit, as trustee, is the largest stockholder in the three companies.

NORTH DAKOTA CAPITAL STARTS MONTANA BANK.

Crosby, N. D., Sept. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—North Dakota capital has been used in the establishment of a new bank at Redstone, Mont. The institution is capitalized at $10,000 and R. H. Points of this city is the president. Redstone is located in Northeastern Montana in a rapidly growing section.

"Correct Dress for Women"

Newspaper type costs no more to the store that promises much and fullfills little than it does to the store that lives up to each and every one of its promises and keeps faith with its patrons.

It must be quite evident to you that about nine-tenths of the advertising used in telling of women's wear is "buncombe" pure and simple.

Surely, they are not all Best, Finest, "Lowest in Price," etc., etc.! And yet, stores that haven't the least claim on any of these adjectives continue to use them in blackest type—

Advertising would really be much more valuable to all concerned if each store advertised facts about its wares, as in England, where exaggerations or misstatements are punishable by law—however, we are not in the reforming business, but we do want to bring these facts forcibly before you.—What could we hope to say about our merchandise, store or business methods that have not already been told you by stores whom you know have no possible right to such claims, so we shan't use them, but merely invite your comparison—!

Visit this Newest of Modern Stores---four entire floors—twenty-five thousand square feet of floor space — devoted entirely to made-up things for women, misses, children and infants —

Styles that have been worked out after careful study by our own expert buyers, with the best designing brains in this country and Europe.

We are able to command the attention of the most important makers in this land because of the splendid outlet we have for higher-class goods in this city and in Cincinnati, and for the same reason are we able to offer you the higher and better qualities at the price of the usual sorts. It isn't necessary that you take our word for this—but, it is necessary that you make your own comparisons!

Visit your favorite best store and then come here---it won't take you long to find out how we have accomplished in less than six years what other stores would have felt proud to accomplish in nearly two score and ten——

——these are facts; prove them to yourself---incidentally visit this new "Store Beautiful" that you have at your very threshhold---see the hundreds of Handsomely Tailored Suits and Coats and Separate Skirts—the Beautiful Dresses for various functions or street wear---the Smart Tailored Suits and Coats for the Miss and the Junior Girl. See the swagger little Suits, Coats and Dresses for the youngster just budding into girlhood. See the clever little ideas worked up into Coats and Dresses for the infant and the tot to six—then see the Wonderfully Beautiful Furs in Coats, Neckpieces, Muffs, etc.

And, to make the visit complete, see the various new things in Neckwear, Paris Jewelry, New Paris Veilings, Handkerchief Ideas, Bags and Leather Accessories, and the hundreds of new and pretty ideas in Waists. They will ALL prove a revelation to you and will demonstrate how well we have brought the metropolitan establishment to your very doors. You are welcome!

RICH MEN PLEAD FOR PRISONER

Atlanta, Ga., Sept. 1.—Yielding to the pleading of rich and influential citizens, the prison commission yesterday recommended that the sentence of W. H. Mitchell be commuted to a year on the state prison farm from that of twelve months on the chain gang at hard labor.

The Mitchell case is one of the most celebrated in Georgia. One day last fall a Miss Linton, a celebrated and wealthy beauty of Thomasville, received a note telling her that her brother was in a serious condition, and asking her to come to him with the bearer. The bearer apparently was an old negress. The young woman obeyed the summons.

When upon a lonely road in a buggy the supposed negress dragged the young woman from the vehicle and attempted an assault. He was driven off by a passerby, and Miss Linton swore that in the supposed negress she recognized Mitchell. The horse and buggy used by the assailant was one that Mitchell had hired from a local livery.

Girl's Friends Oppose It.

Mitchell was tried, convicted and sentenced to the chain gang for twelve months. The friends of Miss Linton contended that the penalty was inadequate, and when Mitchell's friends applied for a pardon the young girl's friends rallied to oppose it. The prison commision heard the case for two days and reached the above decision.

Governor Brown has yet to approve it.

Dentists Meet at Eau Claire.

Eau Claire, Wis., Sept. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—The first quarterly meeting of the Eau Claire, Chippewa and Dunn County Dental society will be held at the Eau Claire club next Wednesday evening, Sept. 8, at 8 o'clock. This will be the society's first meeting since its organization last spring.

RIG IS STRUCK BY AN ENGINE

While driving across the grade crossing of the Duluth & Iron Range tracks at Twenty-fifth avenue east yesterday afternoon, the delivery rig of the Duluth Public market was smashed to bits by a rapidly moving freight engine and Aaron Levine, the driver, and two small boy companions, had a narrow escape from death. Neither driver, boys nor horses were injured, however.

The driver checked his horse to allow a passenger train to pass, and with the noise of the passenger still ringing in his ears, he failed to hear a freight which was following close behind. He had gotten nearly across, so that the engine merely struck the hind end of the wagon, demolishing it. Levine showed extreme presence of mind, throwing both of the boys out of the rig to a place of safety before the crash came. He himself jumped clear of the wreck and checked the frightened horse.

FRENCH SHELLS HIT FRENCH WAR VESSEL.

Lorient, France, Sept. 1.—An extraordinary accident occurred yesterday during gunnery practice off Quiberon. Owing, it is believed, to an error in aiming one of the guns aboard the French cruiser Gloire, six shells were fired into the cruiser Marseillaies, one of which penetrated the hull and burst inside. No one was injured, as the crew were in other parts of the ship.

ORE SHIPPING RECORDS ALL BROKEN DURING AUGUST

Dock—	Season 1907. Tons.	Season 1909. Tons.
D., M. & N., Duluth	7,202,365	7,713,313
D. & I. R., Two Harbors	3,603,844	5,148,733
Great Northern, Allouez	4,416,454	3,686,323
Totals. Head of the Lakes	15,222,663	16,548,369

The season of 1907 was the biggest in the history of the ranges until this year. All records are broken.

During the month of August the Duluth, Missabe & Northern ore docks at Duluth shipped 227,000 tons more ore than during any previous month in their history.

To date the docks on this side of the bay have shipped 500,000 tons of ore more than in any season since the Mesaba range was opened. The total shipments for Duluth for this season to date, according to the figures given out by Mr. Kreitter this morning, including all the ore shipped up to 5 o'clock last evening, are 7,713,313 tons, the largest amount that was ever shipped before from the local docks being 7,202,365 tons in 1907. The figures for August of this year show a total of 2,278,997 tons shipped, the largest up to this time being in August, 1907, when 2,051,280 tons were loaded onto the big boats.

There is a decrease at the Superior Great Northern dock, however, which makes the season's total something below the total for 1907, when both docks are included. Up to last night the Allouez docks has received 3,686,323 tons of ore, giving, with the Duluth Missabe & Northern shipments, a total of 11,399,636 tons. This is about 200,000 tons less than the total shipments up to this date for 1907. During the month the Allouez docks loaded 1,110,213 tons of ore, as compared with 1,334,790 tons in August of 1907.

The comparisons given are with 1907, as the year before last was the biggest year up to this time in ore shipments from the Head of the Lakes. Last year was a very dull year, and the gain over the figures then is enormous.

The Duluth, Missabe & Northern people have broken even the records of 1907. Incidentally, the docks broke their record for one day's work, between 5 p. m. Monday and 5 p. m. Tuesday, loading 136,778 tons, over 100 tons better than any mark the docks had set up to that time.

NORTHERN WAVE AFIRE OFF WHITEFISH POINT

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 1.—A News special from Grand Marais, Mich., says:

The explosion of a quantity of acid on board the steamer Northern Wave of the Mutual Transit line set fire to the boat when she was off Whitefish Point, Lake Superior, late yesterday afternoon. The Northern Wave has a cargo of package freight aboard. Reports received here say that the cargo is burning at the present time. The steamer is said to be in a helpless condition. The Northern King of the same line has been sent to the assistance of the Northern Wave.

Nothing was known of the burning of the Northern Wave at the local office of the company this afternoon. It was stated there that the boat had not yet reached Sault Ste. Marie. So far as is known she had no acid aboard, but may have loaded it at Houghton.

New Store Opens.
"The Three Winners," at 115 East Superior street is one of six establishments selling men's ready-to-wear clothing in various parts of the country. C. D. Jacobs, formerly with the Fitwell Clothing company, is in charge of the new store. Mr. Jacobs is well known throughout the city and vicinity and has had long experience in the clothing business. The other "Three Winners" stores are located in New York, Boston, Philadelphia, St. Louis and Chicago.

September Term Opens.
The September term of district court opened this morning, Judge Ensign presiding. Several cases were continued, but the cases for trial will furnish plenty of business for the court for the September term. The grand jury was called together at 11 o'clock and was charged by Judge Ensign and they immediately retired for their deliberations, which will probably last until Saturday. The divorce cases will probably be taken up by the court tomorrow morning.

Mies Continues Sale.
William Mies, in response to the requests of many who desired to take advantage of his clearance sale of suitings, has decided to continue the sale until Saturday.

Another New President.
Col. A. N. Schall, formerly manager of the Minneapolis Brewing company at that place, has arrived in the city and will make his home here. He has accepted a position as general manager of the Fitger Brewing company.

Goes to South America.
C. M. Mauseau, formerly of Duluth but more recently of Minneapolis, has gone to Rio Janeiro. He will be manager of a telephone company at that place.

Policeman Turns Farmer.
Patrolman Roy Bartlett has gone to the Rosebud district, where he was lucky enough to draw a number which entitles him to some of Uncle Sam's land. Mr. Bartlett has been a police officer in Duluth for about ten years.

JUSTICE MOODY IS VERY SICK MAN

Latest Appointee to Highest Court in Land Is Taken to His Home.

Haverhill, Mass., Sept. 1.—With many precautions for secrecy, Associate Justice William H. Moody of the United States supreme court was removed in a police ambulance from the Bradford railroad station to his home here last night. It is understood that his condition is serious. Justice Moody's ailment was announced officially as a case of rheumatism.

Justice Moody was appointed to the supreme bench Dec. 17, 1906, by President Roosevelt. Immediately preceding the appointment he was attorney general of the United States for two years. He was also secretary of the navy for two years under President Roosevelt in 1902-04. Mr. Moody is now in his 56th year.

HEARS FROM DR. COOK

Friend in Brooklyn Receives Cablegram From the Explorer.

Admiral Melville Says He Doubts Discovery of the Pole.

New York, Sept. 1.—Dr. R. T. Davidson of Brooklyn, a personal friend of Dr. F. A. Cook, the Arctic explorer, received a telegram from Dr. Cook today saying that the sender was well and that the expedition has been a success. The message, which was dated Copenhagen, did not say more definitely whether the explorer had reached the pole. The information it contained was forwarded to Mrs. Cook, the explorer's wife.

Doubts the Report.

Philadelphia, Sept. 1.—Rear Admiral George W. Melville, U. S. N. (retired), who has conducted several expeditions into the Arctic regions, was inclined to discredit the report from Copenhagen that the North Pole had been discovered by Dr. Cook.

"I did not know Dr. Cook had an outfit available for that purpose," he said, "and I do not think that report can be true. Dr. Cook has been wandering in those parts for some time. It is just possible the story emanated from some Danish skipper who has returned from the North."

Value of the Discovery.

When asked what would be the value of the discovery, if authenticity of the report was confirmed, Admiral Melville said:

"For one thing, it would put an end to the Arctic fad. The only use to which the discovery could be put would be of a scientific nature. If the exact place of the pole has been located it would be possible to send a party of scientists there, and by erecting a pendulum and measuring its movement, and later removing the same pendulum to the equator for similar measurement there, the exact weight of the earth could be computed. The attraction of the earth to the heavenly bodies and vice versa also would be thereby determined."

Dr. Cook's Work.

For years Dr. F. A. Cook, who is reported to have reached the North pole, has given his attention to Arctic explorations, and in 1891-92 he was surgeon of the Peary Arctic expedition, and in 1897-99 surgeon of the Belgian Antarctic expedition. He has received numerous decorations from the geographical societies of Europe for his research and writings in the Polar field.

Dr. Cook started on his present expedition in the summer of 1907, sailing from North Sydney, C. B., on board the schooner John R. Bradley, with Capt. Moses Bradley as sailing master. The party was reinforced with sledges, dogs and Arctic equipment at Etah, Greenland, whence they sailed March 31, 1908.

Dr. Cook's plan was to set aside all tradition by making the dash to the North pole during the winter months, when the elements are considered least advantageous for an advance northward.

Silent Eighteen Months.

Nothing has been heard from Dr. Cook for the last eighteen months. A special committee of the Arctic club has, however, made careful calculations upon his probable whereabouts, and had reached the conclusion that Dr. Cook had discovered the pole.

It was Dr. Cook's plan to make his base of supplies or permanent camp at Annatook in Greenland, about twenty miles north of Etah. This would place him about 1,000 miles from the North pole. He first made his way westward out of the cache and across to Ellsmoreland. The Arctic club calculates that he reached this position in the spring of 1908. The last news received from him was dated March 17, 1905, when he was near Capt Thomas Hubbard.

Esquimaux With Him.

He then reported that his health was excellent, that he had picked up a large party of Esquimaux of superior intelligence, and that his prospects for success were bright. He intended to push on to the northern point of Grant Land and from there start his dash to the pole in the winter of 1908. He expected to return to his headquarters at Annatook not later than next month.

Dr. Cook was born at Callicoon Depot, Sullivan county, N. Y., in 1865. He was married in Brooklyn in 1902 to Miss Mary Hunt. His wife has kept close calculations on his progress, and has shared the belief of the Arctic club that her husband has achieved the goal of the North pole.

FINE IMPOSED ON EMPIRE CITY

Pittsburg Boat Exceeds Speed Limit in St. Mary's River.

Collector of Customs L. M. Willcuts this morning imposed a fine of $200 on the steamer Empire City for the disregarding of rule 1, St. Mary's river rules.

The revenue cutter Mackinac reported the violation.

On Aug. 27 the steamer Empire City, which is the property of the Pittsburg company, traveled the river at a speed of more than ten miles an hour between St. Mary's Falls canal and Big Point.

According to the river rules, boats are allowed to travel no more than ten miles an hour between these two points. Many masters have not yet learned that there is such a rule.

GIVEN OATH BY CHIEF JUSTICE

T. D. O'Brien Full Fledged Member of State Supreme Court.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—In the consultation room behind the judge's room at the capitol, the impressive ceremony of swearing in an associate justice of the supreme court was conducted this morning by Chief Justice Charles M. Start.

T. D. O'Brien, appointed by Governor Johnson to the supreme bench, held up his hand and in three minutes became an associate justice.

Judge O'Brien will, of course, be obliged to sever his connection with the state rate cases. His former partner, R. A. Stone enters into partnership with Edward T. Young, former attorney general of the state.

BANK IS HELD UP AT MINEOLA, IA.

Mineola, Iowa, Sept. 1.—Two masked men held up the cashier of the Mills County German bank here late yesterday afternoon and escaped with $1,500 in cash. The bandits fled afoot and went east along the Wabash railroad toward Silver City, near which place they disappeared into a cornfield. A posse is in pursuit, but has not yet secured any trace of the robbers.

EVEN THE FISH CAN'T DODGE THE CAMERA FIEND

PARROT FISH CAUGHT BY THE LENS IN THEIR NATIVE SURROUNDINGS.

Jacob Reighard, professor of zoology at the University of Michigan, has been making some interesting and important experiments in sub-aquatic photography. This has been made possible in recent years by the increased speed of photographic plates and lenses and the development of nonhalation and orthochromatic plates. Prof. Reighard has originated a system of photographing submerged objects while the camera is above the water. He does this by enclosing a reflex camera in a water-tight box. To do this the operator sets up a screen to cut off the light reflected from the surface of the water into his camera. Such a screen might be made of black calico, with pieces of tape attaching it to poles. These poles are thrust into the bottom and the screen hung between them.

Care must be taken that the object to be photographed falls within the limits of the screen as mirrored in the surface of the water. That is, the screen must be arranged, if possible, at such an angle that the object to be photographed is actually bathed in sunlight, while the water surface above it is shaded. When the screen has been properly set the operator focuses on the object and makes the exposure in the customary way. If the subjects to be photographed are fish, the preparations frighten them away; but if they are engaged in nest building or something else which attracts them to the particular spot where he found them, they will return within five minutes to an hour.

The camera is stuck on a tripod stuck in the bottom and the operator may withdraw after focusing on the spot where the fish are to be, and then operate the camera from a distance by means of a string or a bulb when the fish return. If the surface of the water is not smooth it may be made so by a water glass.

USING THE SUBMARINE CAMERA.

Photographing by submarine camera dates from 1893, when Dr. Boutan of Paris made some experiments. Boutan used a camera which was sunk to the bottom of the sea and there operated by a diver or by means of a string from a boat.

In the above picture, taken by Prof. Reighard, a group of parrot fish and others are seen against a background of branching gorgonians on a rock. Nests of fish have been photographed and one of his pictures shows some brook lampreys hatching their eggs.

The first of September—

Good-bye now to the faded Straw Hat and welcome to the jaunty soft bonnet or the serious derby!

Good-bye to the low light-soled Oxford and back to the stouter foot-encasers for the chillier days!

Good-bye to the free and easy vacation days, and to their free and easy togs, and back (or better, forward) to solemn work and to school, tucked in new Fall clothes of a firmer texture and with more formality in their make-up!

Labor Day on Monday next

The last day of summer, on which all of us cease to labor.

Organized Labor's special holiday, for which we have a special advertising feature this year that's bound to make the celebration more interesting to all participants.

Most of the Wealthy in this city are Columbia customers. They need no urging to buy where the best is sold at fairly honest prices. They make it their business to find out. Ten-per-cent soft soap and patting-on-the-back-you-are-it talk doesn't go with them. But their number is limited. A modern big business is based on small profits and many of 'em. That's why we are after the laboring masses.

That's why we are taking this opportunity for doing a little extra advertising on Labor Day by offering a beautiful Souvenir Badge to members of Labor organizations.

CABIN BOYS MUTINY ON A RIVER STEAMER.

Alton, Ill., Sept. 1.—Seventy-five passengers on the steamer St. Paul from St. Louis to St. Paul on the Mississippi river, witnessed a desperate mutiny between twenty negro cabin boys and members of the crew while the boat was nearing here last night.

Jesse Irwin, head mate of the boat, received cuts on the face and hands, and Washington Rhodes, a negro, was shot in the hip. Rhodes was placed in a hospital here. He is perhaps fatally injured.

Knives and revolvers were the weapons and the passengers were panic-stricken. The negroes made a wage demand which was not agreed to by Capt. Kelly and the fight followed. The negroes who mutinied left the boat after forcing their way to the wharf boat with butcher knives.

SOWING VS. SEWING.

Springfield, Pa., Correspondence Philadelphia North American: There is an awful mix-up in this community over the spring sowing. The farmers and their wives are at odds over a most perplexing problem and cannot agree, wherefore all work has been suspended.

The women insisted upon being permitted to do their spring sewing before the regular farm work was begun. They said unless they did this the men would have no clothes in which to do the spring sowing. So that is the problem whether the sowing or the sewing shall be done first.

It is very evident that the spring sewing will materially aid the sowing, but at the same time the spring sowing must be done or there will be no money to buy material for the sewing. Both sides say this is so.

So it is most likely that the farmers will go ahead with their spring sowing and the women will suspend their spring sewing until the spring sowing is done.

In this way the women will be able to help do the sowing.

A COLLEGE MAN'S CUTENESS.

Harry Furniss in the Strand: Bribery, blackmail, corruption of all kinds frequently illustrate the light side of finance. There is a story of a young man who, late one cold and wintry night, found the door of his college locked against him. The young man outside argued with the doorkeeper inside, cajoled and entreated, but to no avail. Eventually he slipped half a sovereign under the door and was admitted. It was a financial deal wisely thought out on strict business lines. Once inside, he informed the janitor (falsely) that unfortunately, after taking the half sovereign out of his purse, he had droped the purse itself on the doorstep. The attendant went out to secure it, but once on the chilly, wet doorstep, the door was slammed. Then the deal was repeated, for the shivering mercenary was not allowed into his warm abode until he had slipped the half sovereign back again.

AN IMPOSSIBLE STORY.

Clyde Fitch, entertaining a supper party in his beautifully decorated New York house, criticised with telling scorn a drama that he had recently seen.

"The leading incident was so impossible," said he, "that I was reminded of one of those nonsense dialogues. You know how they run?

"A young man, for instance, says to a friend:

"'For all her coldness and austerity, I have kissed Ethel Prymm.'

"'Really?' doubts the other.

"'Yes, really.'

"'But how on earth did you inflame that icy heart?'

"'I didn't inflame her icy heart. That would have been impossible. I simply disguised myself as the Blarney stone.'"

La Crosse, Wis. Sept. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Rube Marion's wildness was responsible for Duluth's beating here yesterday, 8 to 4. He passed batsman after batsman and hit two or three. In the seventh he passed four men and allowed two hits. McCrone helped things along with an untimely error at this juncture and five runs came in. La Crosse got two more runs in the second on a hit batsman, a base on balls and a hit to right. Just before the third man went out in the seventh the umps sent Marion to the bench for kicking and Taylor came in from right field to finish the hurling. The Sox got to Grimes in the eighth, Kohl, McCrone and Breen getting singles and Darby O'Brien lining out a timely double, scoring the first three. Duluth's first run came in the fourth when McCrone was hit, was sacrificed by Breen and trotted home on O'Brien's single to right.

With the exception of Marion the Sox played good consistent ball and all the local's hits were clean ones. The wild hurler was too much for any team. The score: R. H. E.

SUPERIOR DOES THE TRICK AGAIN

Drillers Put Crimp in Winona's Chances With 5 to 4 Victory.

Winona, Minn., Sept. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Drillers did the stunt again yesterday and put another crimp in Winona's hopes of nosing out a pennant place in the race by beating the Killianites by a 5 to 4 score. The balloon went up in the sixth, when Wilhelm made three errors. Cates allowed two hits and Burns, Winona's new catcher, dropped an easy one at the plate. Three runs tallied.

When the Winona team got back yesterday the fans met them at the depot with a tallyho and drew them through the streets by a long rope, attached to the vehicle. A band accompanied them.

The score:

Superior	0 1 0 0 0 3 0 1 0—5	5	3

Fight Near St. Louis.

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 1.—A renewal of prize fighting in St. Louis is presaged by an announcement last night that George Memsic of Milwaukee and Kid Trendall of St. Louis will meet in a ten-round contest Sept. 16. The fight is to take place at Wellston, St. Louis county, a new municipality, whose limits adjoin this city on the west.

MANY TEAMS IN THE FIELD

Football Elevens Without Number Are Now Being Organized.

There Is Some Talk of Organizing a City League.

All the "kid" teams will again be in the football mix this season.

Already a number of them have organized, the date set for the first practice and the managers have begun work on the season's schedule.

The Fairmounts are among the first to declare themselves. They announce that they will be back in the game with the same lineup as last year. This eleven was very successful last year, and they hope to be even more so this year.

The Irving Tigers, while suffering the loss of last year's professional coach, will be in the game. This team was one of the best in the city last year, and they succeeded in cleaning up a number of the fast ones from the nearby towns.

The Lakesides will be organized at a meeting to be held soon. This team is always one of the contenders for the championship of the city, and this year the boys say they will be stronger than ever, as a number of crack players have lately joined the ranks.

The Franklin grade school is to have a team this year. The call will be issued for practice on the opening of school and the boys who last year got a late start are this year planning on doing things right.

A number of the baseball teams of the city league will turn their baseball mitts into football eleven's, and with the other teams that get into the game later, there will be things doing in the world of football.

The Spalding team so far as is known will not this year be in the game. A number of last year's crack players have left the city, including the manager, and unless someone takes the boys in charge they will not be seen on the gridiron this fall. This is to be regretted, as this team played great ball and furnished amusement for those who were unable to attend the Saturday games. The Spalding team was nearly as strong as the high school eleven, and some interesting contests were pulled off at Athletic park.

There is some talk of a city football league, but just how much further than talk the idea will get is not known. There will be teams in plenty to carry out the idea, but whether or not it will be possible to get them lined up in a league is a question. Most of the managers say that their men prefer to play out-of-town games, and that the league idea does not appeal to them. The shortness of the season also makes it difficult to get the teams lined up.

Owing to the fact that the game this year will be more open than ever, the new uniforms are even lighter than those of last year. The hardware dealers that have received early consignments of football goods are showing suits in one piece that are padded only at the very tender spots.

There is a rush for the new rules, which are late this year, only a few of the stores having received them as yet. The air has begun to feel like football weather each morning, and some of the teams will begin their early practice next Sunday.

WOMAN PLAYS REMARKABLE GOLF

Miss Isabella Smith Breaks Women's Record for Homewood Course.

Chicago, Sept. 1.—Miss Isabella Smith of the Evantson Golf club, Chicago, playing remarkable golf, led the field of eighty in the qualifying competition of the ninth annual championship of the Women's Western Golf association here yesterday with a card of 90. This score broke the women's record for the Homewood course, formerly held by Miss Myra Helmer of the Midlothian Country club. The winner of the gold medal for qualifying honors played the last nine holes in 43 and negotiated the thirteenth hole in four strokes.

Miss Smith's card: Out, 4, 6, 6, 7, 5, 6, 3, 7, 3—47; in, 4, 5, 4, 4, 5, 5, 7, 5, 4—43. Total, 90.

Two golfers affiliated with clubs outside the Chicago district played among the first eight. They were Miss Ine Clark of Waukegan, Ill., 47, 52—99, and Mrs. G. D. Smith of Springfield, Ill., 45, 53—98.

Miss Myra Helmer of Midlothian, picked by many critics to win the championship, stood second among the the qualifiers with a total of 96.

STRAIGHT HEATS AT KALAMAZOO

Ross Wins in Straight Heats and Lowers His Record.

Kalamazoo, Mich., Sept. 1.—At the opening of the Great Western circuit trots yesterday the events were won in straight heats. A number of minor accidents in the 2:20 trot caused a postponement of the 2:10 pace until today. In the 2:14 pace, the feature event, Ross K., in a high wind made the third mile in 2:06, lowering his record from 2:08½. Results:

2:07 pace, purse $500—Governor Searles won three straight heats; Robert Kernan, second; Minnie M., third. Time, 2:08.

2:20 trot, purse $500—Fay Rex won in straight heats; Grace Birchwood, second; Empire Queen, third. Time, 2:15¼.

2:14 pace, purse $200—Ross won in straight heats; Lady Elgin, second; Ora Jackson, third. Time, 2:06.

PITCHER MADDOX.

A. B. WEGENER HAS ARRIVED

New Athletic Director of Y. M. C. A. Takes Up His Work.

Fine Program of Sunday Meetings for Men Arranged.

A. B. Wegener, the new physical director of the Y. M. C. A., arrived in the city yesterday and is in charge of the work today, Mr. Frey leaving to take up his new work with the E. D. Field Realty company. Mr. Wegener stated yesterday that he did not expect to make many changes in the work carried on by Mr. Frey, at least not at once. He intends, he says, to introduce more competitive features into the work, and indoor field meets, basket ball games, etc., will be more frequent under the Wegener regime than they were under Mr. Frey. The gymnasium classes will commence about Oct. 1, and the schedule of classes at the start will be about the same as at the close of last year. If the necessity for more classes develop they will be added later.

Mr. Wegener has been in Y. M. C. A. work for twenty years, coming here from St. Louis. Previous to this he has been connected with the athletic department of Y. M. C. A. branches at Rochester, Chicago and at Tennessee university. Mrs. Wegener accompanies him.

The new educational secretary, R. C. Coffin, has been here for a month past. He has his work fairly well outlined. Classes will commence Sept. 27, with practically the same corps of teachers as last year. Only five or six new names appear in the faculty list. There will be twenty teachers and about forty subjects. The detailed program for the evening work will be announced later.

Secretary McGaughey has outlined a splendid season for the religious part of the work. The Sunday afternoon meetings for men are to be features. They will be held in the big gymnasium room for the most part, though for one or two of the speakers the Armory probably will be utilized. Among the speakers are Fred B. Smith, international secretary of religious work, "The man who has been the means, under God, of saving more men than any other man living;" Charles Stelzle, the great church and labor worker; Prof. Steiner of Grinnell college, the great Russian economist and socialist; Hon. Eugene Chafin, who will be remembered by those who attended the courses last year; Judge Kenyon of Chicago, attorney general for the Illinois Central, and Henry Monroe of the Pacific Garden Mission, Chicago, whose lecture was the best attended of last year's series.

Ed Ranck, who replaces J. G. Mitchell as membership secretary, will take up his duties today. He arrived in Duluth yesterday. Secretary Frank Downing does not leave for Chicago until Oct. 1.

SEASON IS NEARLY OVER

Last Boat Club Races Will be Sailed Labor Day.

Labor day will be a big day among the sailors at the Duluth Boat club, as several unfinished events will be sailed off. The concluding series in the event for 28-foot boats will be begun Saturday, when one race will be sailed. The other two will be sailed Labor day, one in the morning and one in the afternoon.

In addition to the big event, the defeated boats in the same class will sail a consolation event in a series of three races. A special race for 32-footers may also be arranged.

The sailing races are rapidly drawing to a close, and Monday will practically wind up the season, although two more races in the 18-foot class will be sailed after that. The little boats have three more races to sail before the winner of the trophy is determined.

Two series in the Duluth Boat club event for 28-footers have been sailed, and next Monday's races will determine the winner of the trophy. The Cotton cup for the 32-foot class has been won by the Minotaur, and the Allegro has won the Duluth Boat club trophy in the same class. A series will probably be arranged between the two boats before the close of the season.

COULDN'T KEEP OUT OF THE GAME

Kansas City, Mo., Sept. 1.—John Kling, the baseball catcher, former member of the Chicago National baseball club, will manage an Eastern team in either the National or American league next year.

This statement was made by Kling today after he had wired Clark Griffith, manager of the Cincinnati Nationals, declining to join the Cincinnati club next season.

"I have two propositions now before me," said Kling, "and I surely will accept one of them. Anyway, you can say I'll be back in baseball next year as the leader of an Eastern club."

REGULARS ARE VICTORS.

National Guardsmen Are Defeated in Competition at Camp Perry.

Camp Perry, Ohio, Sept. 1.—The National Guard marksmen got the worst of it again yesterday at the National Rifle association's tournament. Both of the matches concluded yesterday went to the regulars.

The handsome $1,500 cup which officers of the United States marine corps gave to the National Rifle association for annual competition to be held one year by the rifleman making the highest score in twenty shots, at 600 and 1,000 yards, was won by one of the most experienced shots in the marine corps team, Capt. D. C. McDougall, a native of California, who has shot on the team for four years. Capt. McDougall scored 187. Of the ten leaders only one was not a regular.

GREAT DRIVE BY EARNEST

Baron Alcyon Wins American Trotting Derby in the Stretch.

Axtator Is Beaten by Scant Three Lengths at Readville.

Readville, Mass., Sept. 1.—With 15,000 enthusiasts yelling themselves hoarse, the Syracuse, N. Y., stallion, Baron Alycon yesterday won the second renewal of the American Trotting Derby at the Readville track by three lengths from Axtator. It was one of the most spectacular races ever seen on the turf. From the time the word was given until the horses were within fifteen yards of the wire, the winner was in doubt.

There was a long delay at the post, which might have been expected from the large field of horses, thirty-nine electing to take a chance in capturing the rich prize. Starting Judge Frank Walker of New York permitted the horses to jog once around the track to remove their nervousness at the post. Then after 35 minutes of dallying, the ball fell to the start. Immediately Hylie Bird, entered from the limit mark allowance, 495 feet in advance of the scratch horses, Sonoma Girl and San Francisco, set out to make a whirlwind race of it.

Passing the stand the first time, the half mile mark, Hylie Bird was leading by a length over Axtator, with Jim Perry third, Kaldar fourth, Remorseful, fifth, and then the favorite, Baron Alcyon. In the back stretch, Gillies, with Axtator, went after the leader, the race being hot until reaching the lower turn. At this point Hylie Bird weakened enough to permit Axtator to rush into the van a good length in front of Kaldar, who was closely followed by Baron Alcyon. The positions remained the same entering the stretch for the grand battle to the wire.

Earnest, once he had Baron Alcyon straightened out, began his drive. Gillies was working hard on Axtator, with hopes of lasting long enough to be the victor. Earnest soon had passed Kaldar and at the long distance past was lapped on Axtator, which gap he decreased fifty yards from the wire to even terms. For a few strides the two leaders raced head and head and then the superior speed and endurance of Baron Alcyon carried him to the front and he passed the winning post three lengths to the good. Axtator was half a length ahead of Kaldar, who was a nose in front of the horses that stretched across the track from pole to fence and required the judges to place them, none of the spectators being able to determine the relative positions of the horses from fourth to tenth place. With the passing of the final horse the crowd swarmed into the track and took Earnest from the sulkey to their shoulders, carrying him to the wire.

Baron Alcyon, in the meantime, was unhitched by his willing admirers and then further undressed by being stripped from his whole harness, excepting the bridle.

The three class races on the card served to keep the crowd entertained until the Derby. Alice Roosevelt lost her second heat in the 2:13 trot through making a break in the first turn, and in the final heat barely defeated Fair Margaret. The Friend surprised all by handily taking the initial heat of the 2:06 pace and then blew up and was distanced. Ed Geers had to make the drive of his life in beating Texas Rooker in the last heat. Earl, Jr., outclassed his field in the 2:11 pace.

Racing May Be Postponed.

Showers and threatening weather in the early part of the day caused considerable doubt in the minds of the officials as to whether the pacing division of the blue ribbon event of the turf in this country, the American derby, would be seen at the Readville mile track this afternoon at the second day's grand circuit meeting.

The $15,000 prize, although not as great as that which was divided among the contestants in yesterday's great race, brought out a list of entries fully as large. The race is at the same distance, one mile and a half, and the handicaps range from the 2.07 to the 2.16 mark.

The Eel, owned by F. W. Entrickson of Tavistock, Ont., on the 2.05 mark, is the scratch horse, and, owing to her good showing on the circuit this season, is picked by many to finish well up among the leaders. The horses on the 2.18 mark, however, who have almost 500 feet less to go, are accorded the best chances of winning.

HONORS GO TO THE ELLEN

German Yachts are Outclassed in Second Day of Racing.

Marblehead, Mass., Sept. 1.—The honors in the second day's racing of the international contests between the German and American Sonder boats for the President Taft and Governor Draper cups, fell to the American yacht Ellen, owned by Charles P. Curtis of Boston, and sailed by his son, Charles P. Curtis, Jr. The German challengers were hopelessly beaten. The Seehund II dropped out of the race when it was one-quarter over because she fouled a flag mark. The Wolf finished a close second, while the Joyette, winner of Monday's contest, was third, forty-five seconds behind the Wolf. The Hevella crossed in fourth place, nearly two minutes astern of the Joyette, and the Margarethe brought up in the rear.

It was a slashing race, fought to the bitter end. The Ellen got away at the start and led over the course and until the outer turn on the second leg was reached, when in the freshening breeze the Wolf spurted and seized first place. Then came the final run back to the finish line, and the battle was decided a quarter of a mile from the committee boat Orlen.

They finished the first round at the following times: Ellen, 1::57:07; Wolf, 12:26:11; Joyette, 12:27:03; Hevella, 12:27:46 and Margarethe, 12:28:31.

The Wolf had closed up on the Ellen on the outward run so much that the latter was forced to tack and retack on the weather bow of the former to keep her astern. Finally the Wolf slipped by the Ellen and assumed the lead. The home leg was run in fast time, the Joyette gaining on the Wolf slightly when the Ellen got away from her a trifle.

MAY PLAY RETURN GAME IN DULUTH

Houghton Golfers Are Planning to Visit the Zenith City.

It is expected that the members of the Portage Lake Golf club of Houghton, Mich., who defeated the team of the Northland Country club in a match at Houghton a few weeks ago, will come to Duluth about the middle of September for a return match. Then the Northland players hope to take revenge on the Michigan men for the crushing defeat that was so unexpected.

W. D. Calverly of Houghton has put up a cup for the two clubs and the coming contest will be in that competition. Mr. Calverly is not a golfer himself, but he is interested in the game and offered the trophy to keep up interest in matches between the Duluth and Houghton clubs.

BURKE IS DEFEATED.

Jim Flynn Has Better of Twelve-Round Bout in Boston.

Boston, Mass., Sept. 1.—Jim Flynn of Boston won the decision over Sailor Burke of New York in the final round of twelve rounds of hard, even fighting at the Armory Athletic association last night.

Burke started the bout with a furious rush and was warned by the referee for his tactics in hitting in the breaks. Flynn slowed the sailor up in the second, though the New Yorker took the round. The last rounds were all Flynn's, Burke being obliged to hold during the final round to save himself from severe punishment.

WHEAT HAS A DECLINE

Market Becomes Weak During Last Hour of the Session.

Flax Is Irregular at the Close in Duluth Market.

Duluth Board of Trade, Sept. 1.—During the first part of the session in the American markets today, wheat had a very firm tone, but prices declined at the close, showing fractional losses from yesterday in all the American markets.

Snow came out with a bearish report on wheat and receipts in the Northwest were liberal.

Liverpool closed ¼d higher to ¼d lower, Antwerp unchanged, Berlin ¾c higher and Budapest ⅛c higher.

The September option closed ¾c lower in Duluth, ⅝c lower in Chicago, ⅝@¾c lower in Minneapolis, ⅜c lower in New York, ¼c higher in St. Louis, a shade up in Kansas City. October wheat closed ⅝c lower in Winnipeg. The December option closed ⅝c lower in Duluth, ⅝c lower in Chicago and Kansas City, ⅝c lower in Minneapolis, ½c lower in New York, 3/8@½c lower in St. Louis and ⅞c lower in Winnipeg.

September corn closed ⅝c higher and oats ⅜@⅝c higher in Chicago.

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool:

"There was a firm undertone to wheat this morning, with values unchanged to ⅜d higher for December. This month was believed to have been oversold and with the better American cables yesterday shorts covered. Following the opening unchanged during the afternoon of the morning the undertone was heavy and prices declined ¼@½d, with the principal weakness in December. Realizing was induced by the continued Russian offerings, increase in local stocks and a bearish statement given out by the Hungarian minister of agriculture. Cargoes were in poor demand and freely offered, and spot markets were easy, with Manitoba offerings at a decline. At mid-day the market was weak and from ¼@⅝d lower than yesterday.

"Corn was quiet at the start and unchanged. Later the market lost ½d, the American strength and the unfavorable crop reports being offset by the poorer inquiry and the weakness in wheat."

Car receipts of wheat at Duluth were 48 against 60 last year, and Minneapolis 289 against 268 last year, making a total for the Northwest of 337 against 328 last year.

Primary receipts of wheat were 878,000 bu, last year 945,000 bu. Shipments 473,000 bu, last year 731,000 bu.

Primary receipts of corn were 644,000 bu, last year 528,000 bu. Shipments 472,000 bu, last year 302,000 bu.

Wheat was quite active in the Duluth market. September wheat opened unchanged at 95½c, declined to 95¼c, rallied to 96c and closed at 94¾c, a loss of ⅝c from yesterday. December wheat opened ⅛c lower at 93⅝c, advanced to 94⅛c and closed at 93c, a loss of ⅜c from yesterday.

Durum wheat closed ¾c lower.

Flax was inactive. September flax opened unchanged at $1.37½, declined to $1.37¼, rallied to $1.37⅝ and closed at $1.37⅜, unchanged from yesterday. October flax opened unchanged at $1.34, declined to $1.33½, rallied to $1.34¼ and closed at $1.33¾, a loss of ¼c from yesterday. November flax opened unchanged at $1.34 went to $1.34¼ and closed at $1.33¾, a loss of ¼c from yesterday. December flax closed ½c higher at $1.31.

Oats closed ⅛c lower.

THE CHICAGO MARKET.

Wheat Rallies Owing to the Sharp Bulge in Corn Prices.

Chicago, Sept. 1.—The wheat market was rather weak at the opening today, but rallied materially in the first few minutes of trading. The rally was due chiefly to a sharp bulge in the corn prices. The easy tone at the start was owing to a report given out by the Hungarian minister of agriculture that exporting countries would have nearly 80,000,000 bu of wheat in excess of the requirements of importing countries.

Opening quotations of wheat were ⅛c to ¼@⅜c lower, with December at 94@94⅛c. Partly on buying by Southwestern interests, the price rallied to 94⅝c.

The market slumped sharply during the last half of the day owing to profit taking brought out by bearish advices from the Northwest where weather conditions continued to be perfect for harvesting and thrashing. From 95¼c, December declined to 93¾c. The market closed weak at almost the bottom with December off ⅜c at 93⅞c.

Additional deterioration in the condition of the corn crop of Oklahoma during August, as indicated by the state report, caused decided strength in the corn market early. The market was also bullishly affected by estimates on the Bulgarian and Roumanian crops indicating a considerable reduction in the total yield. Shorts were active bidders at the start. December opened ⅛@¼c to ¼@⅜c higher, at 56⅛@56⅝c, and advanced to 57⅛@57¼c.

Decided strength prevailed the greater part of the day although prices declined materially owing to the break in wheat. December sold off from 57⅛c to 56⅜c. The close was strong with December up ⅝@¾c at 57c.

The board of trade will be closed Monday, Sept. 6.

Despite large deliveries on September contracts, the oats market was strong early because of the strength of corn. Shorts and commission houses were free bidders. December opened a shade to ⅛@¼c higher at 37c to 37⅛c and advanced to 37½c.

Provisions were strong owing to the bulge in coarse grain and because of a 5c advance in live hogs. Prices at the start were a shade lower to 20c higher.

Gossip of the Trading Room and the Pit.

Following is a summary of Snow's report on wheat:

"Winter wheat thrashing shows a yield decidedly above all expectations during the period of growth. Thrashing results to date indicate an average above 15 bu, and it confirmed by later operations, the crop will reach 425,000,000 bu.

"Spring wheat when harvested made a condition of 87.8. Thrashing results are not yet available, but local estimates indicate a yield averaging nearly 17 bu, or almost 4 bu per acre greater than last year. This would mean a spring wheat crop exceeding 300,000,000 bu."

THE MINNEAPOLIS MARKET.

Selling By Leading Interests Takes Away Early Strength.

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 1.—Early today the market was strong, but later weakness developed on the selling by leading interests. September opened ¼c down from yesterday's close, and at the end of the second hour was 1¾c higher. Weakness then set in and there was a break of 1⅜c from the high point. September closed 7/8@¾c lower than yesterday and December ⅝@¾c lower. Stocks of wheat decreased 10,000 bu for four days. Advices from the three states indicate that thrashing is nearly completed. Minneapolis today received 289 cars of wheat as compared with 286 cars a year ago; Duluth, 152 against 197; Winnipeg, 70 against 53. September opened 94½c; high, 95⅝c; low, 93⅜c; close, 94@94¼c; December opened 93½c; high, 94⅝c; low, 92⅝c; close, 92¾c; May opened 97⅝c; high, 98⅜c; low, 96⅜c; close, 96⅞c.

Cash wheat was strong and active. Millers were eager buyers and the market was cleaned up early. Elevator men were not interested in the market as premiums were too high. No. 1 northern sold for 4½c above the September option and No. 2 northern for 2½c above. No. 1 northern spot, 98¼c to arrive, 96¼c. No. 2 northern spot, 96@96¼c; to arrive, 94¾c; No. 3 wheat, 92¾@94c; No. 3 white oats, 35⅛@35⅝c; No. 3 yellow corn, 65¾@66¼c; No. 2 rye, 66¼@67¾c.

Flax receipts, 13 cars; year ago, 11 cars; shipments, 2 cars. One car of No. 1 seed sold early today at $1.41. Most of the receipts arrived on sale. Prices were quoted 2c above the Duluth September. Closing, $1.39¾.

Barley—Receipts, 98 cars; year ago, 1,556; shipments 73 cars. In spite of the heavy receipts the market today was firmer. Demand was strong for all grades and prices were 2c above those of yesterday. Closing range, 42@58c.

Millstuffs — Shipments, 1,308 tons. The market was steady again today. Demand was fair. Shipments were normal and prices firm. Bran, in 100-pound sacks, $19.50@20.00.

Flour was unchanged today. A good foreign and domestic demand prevailed. Shipments were heavy and prices held firm. Shipments for today, 52,217 barrels. Shipments for August, 1909, 974,490 barrels; August, 1908, 918,221 barrels. First patents, $5.25@5.75; second patents, $5.15@5.65; first clears, $4.45@4.65; second clears, $3.30@3.50.

St. Paul Livestock.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 1.—Cattle—Receipts, 900; market steady, unchanged. Hogs—Receipts, 1,000; market strong; range, $7.40@7.70; bulk of sales, $7.60@7.70. Sheep—Receipts, 1,000; market unchanged, strong; lambs steady, $3.00@7.35.

New York Money.

New York, Sept. 1.—Money on call, firm at 2@2½ per cent; ruling rate, 2½ per cent; closing bid, 2 per cent; offered at 2¼ per cent. Time loans firm and quite active; sixty days, 3 per cent; ninety days, 3¼ per cent; six months, 4 per cent. Close: Prime mercantile paper, 4¼@4¾ per cent; sterling exchange steady, with actual business in bankers' bills at $4.85@4.85.50 for sixty-day bills, and at $4.86.55 for demand. Commercial bills, $4.84½@4.84⅝. Bar silver, 54. Mexican dollars, 44c. Government bonds steady; railroad bonds, irregular.

Midway Horse Market.

Minnesota Transfer, St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 1.—Barrett & Zimmerman report: Light movement in all useful classes today, with receipts light in proportion. Trade was on the quiet order, with those planning on having an unusual fine exhibit of big draft horses at the state fair this year and will be found in Horse Barn A.

LATE RALLY IN STOCKS

Is Preceded By Sharp Declines in Prices Along the List.

Covering By Shorts Brings About Rebounds After the Falling Off.

New York, Sept. 1.—There was a sprinkling of gains amongst the more numerous losses shown by the opening prices of stocks today. Dealings were small and fluctuations generally narrow. Union Pacific, St. Paul and Chicago Great Western declined large fractions. Kansas & Texas showed a gain of a point.

The tone continued confused, but the movement of prices were not wide and there were frequent rallies from the low figures. Reading and Union Pacific met stock at the high levels. Some of the industrial stocks were bid up aggressively. American Cotton Oil and United Railways & Investment advanced 1⅛, the preferred 3 and International Pump and Denver & Rio Grande preferred 1. Union Pacific preferred, General Electric and American Hide & Leather lost 1.

Prices hardened again, but the morning market proved dull and uninteresting throughout. Advances in some minor specialties made the feature. United Railways and Investment got up 3¼. International Pump 2, Bethlehem Steel 1½ and Pittsburg Coal, American Linseed preferred, United States Rubber and National Enameling 1 or more. Atlantic Coast Line receded 1 and Delaware & Hudson 1⅝. Bonds were irregular.

The market grew more sluggish with the passing of the day and the tone became heavier. Union Pacific and leading were down a point. Atlantic Coast line gave way 2 points. There was some activity in the local gas stocks. Consolidated Gas declined 1, but rallied when Brooklyn Union Gas marked up 4¼; Hocking Coal advanced 1 and United States Pipe 1½.

The market closed at a rally. The late sharp decline in prices was heralded by telegraphic threats from a spectacular Boston operator. Quite a number of one point declines were established. Union Pacific dropped 2, the preferred and Reading 1⅝, Atlantic Coast Line 3, Pittsburg Coal 2¾ and the preferred 2. There were some rebounds when the bears sought to cover shorts at the decline.

ORDER OF HEARING ON PETITION FOR LICENSE TO SELL, MORTGAGE OR LEASE LAND.—

State of Minnesota, County of St. Louis. —ss.

In Probate Court.

In the Matter of the Estate of Carl Gustafson, Decedent:

THE PETITION of Andrew Horngren as representative of the above named decedent, having been filed in this Court, representing, among other things, that for reasons stated in said petition, it is necessary and for the best interests of the estate of said decedent and of all persons interested therein, to sell certain lands of said decedent in said petition described, and praying that license be to him granted to sell the said land;

IT IS ORDERED, That said petition be heard before this Court, at the Probate Court Rooms in the Court House, in Duluth, in said County, on Monday, the 27th day of September, 1909, at ten o'clock, A. M., and all persons interested in said hearing and in said matter are hereby cited and required at said time and place to show cause, if any there be, why said petition should not be granted.

ORDERED FURTHER, That this order be served by publication in The Duluth Evening Herald, according to law.

Dated at Duluth, Minn., Sept. 1st, 1909.

By the Court,
J. B. MIDDLECOFF,
Judge of Probate.

(Seal, Probate Court, St. Louis County, Minn.)

NOTICE OF PROPOSED VACATION—Notice is hereby given that there has been filed of record in my office, as City Clerk of the City of Duluth, the petition of the East Duluth Company and Hartman Building Company for the vacation of that part of Second Street lying between Thirty-fourth Avenue East and the west boundary line of the rearrangement of part of East Duluth and the First Addition to East Duluth.

The object of the proposed vacation is to enable the owners of property on each side of the street proposed to be vacated to use the same to better advantage as a building site or sites, while the street is of no value for street purposes on account of the lay of the land and the presence of a public park adjacent thereto.

Such petition will be heard and considered by the Committee of the Common Council on Streets, Alleys and Sidewalks, at the City Clerk's office in the City Hall, in the City of Duluth, on Monday, September 20th, 1909, at 3:30 P. M., at which time and place said Committee will hear testimony and evidence of parties interested.

H. W. CHEADLE,
City Clerk.

NOTICE OF SALE OF BONDS.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, That School District No. 18 in St. Louis County, Minnesota, by its school board and by election duly had, has duly authorized the issuance and sale of bonds of said district to the amount of Twenty Thousand Dollars ($20,000.00), the money from said bonds to be used for the purpose of erecting three two-room school buildings in said district, and for furnishing and equipping the same with apparatus and other school furniture, and for the purpose of remodeling and repairing the school building being moved upon certain other premises, and furnishing and equipping the same with apparatus and other school furniture, said bonds to be twenty (20) in number and in denominations of One Thousand Dollars ($1,000.00) each, numbered and payable as follows, to-wit:

Bonds numbered 1 to 3 inclusive, due and payable January 1st, 1910;

Bonds numbered 4 to 6 inclusive, due and payable January 1st, 1911;

Bonds numbered 7 to 9 inclusive, due and payable January 1st, 1912;

Bonds numbered 10 to 12 inclusive, due and payable January 1st, 1913;

Bonds numbered 13 to 15 inclusive, due and payable January 1st, 1914;

Bonds numbered 16 to 20 inclusive, due and payable January 1st, 1915, the same to draw interest at the rate of five per cent per annum, payable semi-annually, on the first days of January and July of each year, which said bonds shall be evidenced by notes attached to said bonds. Said bonds shall be sold for cash at not less than par, with accrued interest.

The school board of said school district will meet at McKinley School house, situated on the road to the Elba Mine Location, in the Village of McKinley, St. Louis County, Minnesota, on the 11th day of September, 1909, at two o'clock p. m., for the purpose of opening and considering bids for said bonds.

Said school board reserves the right to reject any and all offers. Sealed offers for said bonds may be mailed to W. P. Chinn, McKinley, Minn., Clerk of said school district, prior to said date, or may be delivered to said meeting at the time of holding thereof.

Dated August 21st, 1909.

HELP WANTED—MALE

A FEW YEARS SPENT IN THE NAVY are years of valuable experience. Habits of regularity are formed. Healthy exercise, regular drills and growing responsibility develop quickness and self reliance. Many large employers prefer men who have had naval training because more capable and efficient. Young men with mechanical knowledge have greater opportunities. They master their trade instead of being mere helpers. Go to a recruiting office and learn about the fine chances in the different branches of the service to save money, the hours of duty, cruises, sports, promotion, etc. You are not urged to enlist. Individuality will be developed, not suppressed, in the navy. Ask any one in the service about it. The navy hanger in postoffice and navy posters will give you an idea of the appearance of a bluejacket. Apply at Navy Recruiting office, Postoffice building, Minneapolis, Minn.

UNCLE SAM NOW IS THE OWNER OF NORTH POLE BY RIGHT OF DISCOVERY

Scientist Says Statements of the Explorer Will Be Accepted.

Shackleton and d'Abruzzi and Raold Amundsen Believe Report.

The News of Cook's Success Causes a Sensation in European Capitals.

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 2.—All new territory discovered by Dr. Frederick A. Cook when he reached the North pole, will belong to the United States by right of discovery, according to Rev. C. M. Charropin, S. J., professor of astronomy at St. Louis university.

Father Charropin today said Dr. Cook's statement will be accepted by scientists who will attempt to confirm them.

According to Prof. Charropin the North pole is now the property of Uncle Sam.

Shackleton Believes It.

London, Sept. 2.—After reading a brief summary of Dr. Frederick A. Cook's account of his dash to the North pole, Lieut. Ernest H. Shackleton, who recently led an expedition to the South pole regions, said that nobody had any right to be skeptical.

There was nothing in the explorer's statement but what was perfectly possible after he got within 200 miles of the pole and after reaching the pole, and after getting back to solid land there was nothing to prevent Dr. Cook living with the Eskimos until this year.

"Consequently," the lieutenant continued, "I do not think the time it took him to return is against his statement. The question is, what distance was he actually from the pole when he started with his Eskimos. He must have done twelve miles a day to

FEED TAFT WITH BIG RED APPLES

Spokane is Preparing to Rival the Possum Dinner of the South.

Spokane, Wash., Sept. 2.—Spokane is preparing to give President Taft a dinner that may become even more famous than the possum dinner of the South. In the Hall of the Doges at Davenport's, claimed to be the finest banqueting room in the world, the president will be impressed with the fact that Spokane is the home of the big red apple.

The finest specimens of apples grown in the Inland Empire will be used in the decorations, nearly 20,000 apples being used for this purpose alone.

SINGED FROM LONG DROUTH

The Crops and Pastures in Pennsylvania Are Suffering Severely.

Heavy Rains Bring Relief to Farms in Kansas and Missouri.

Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 2.—Very little rain has fallen in Eastern Pennsylvania for several months past and the drouth which has been thereby created is today in the acute stage. Crops and pasture fields have burned up for lack of moisture and the loss to the farmers has been heavy.

A dispatch from York, Pa., says the big paper mill of P. H. Gratfelter company at Spring Grove, Pa., has been compelled to suspend operations because the water power cannot be resumed until the water supply is replenished by a rainfall.

The Schuylkill river is at the lowest in its history and more than a thousand persons employed in the mills at Manayunk, a suburb of this city, are idle because of the scarcity of water.

Missouri Gets Rain.

St. Joseph, Mo., Sept. 2.—The protracted drouth in Northwest Missouri and Northeast Kansas has been broken by heavy rains which greatly benefit pastures. Late corn, however, had been greatly damaged by the long dry and hot spell.

A heavy, soaking rain that began at Kansas City, Mo., last night, continued today. It was the first precipitation recorded by the weather bureau since Aug. 6. Northeastern Kansas and a number of Missouri points also reported rains today.

Rains for Twelve Hours.

Topeka, Kan., Sept. 2.—Eastern Kansas was given a thorough soaking last night and this morning. The rainfall continued for nearly twelve hours and an inch and a half of water fell. Many roads were almost impassable from the accumulation of dust, lawns were parched and cisterns dry. The last previous rain here was on Aug. 9.

LABOR DAY PROCLAMATION

Whereas, the first Monday in September in each year has been by the legislature of this state set aside for observance as Labor day,

Now therefore, I, John A. Johnson, governor of the state of Minnesota, do hereby, in accordance with law and precedent, proclaim

Monday, the sixth day of September, 1909, as Labor day, and I earnestly call upon the people of the state, without regard to vocation, to co-operate in its proper observance.

The marvelous industrial development of the last few years has brought about new relations affecting the interests of both capital and labor. The introduction of new machinery and other improved methods of production have necessitated the organization and co-operation of capital in order that American industry might keep pace with the industrial progress of the nations of the world. These new conditions have largely affected the industrial rights of the individual workman, and have compelled him to co-operate with his fellows for their mutual advancement and welfare. Growing out of this organization of capital and labor new and grave problems present themselves. At times eruptions occur which result in the cessation of work and the closing of industries, causing great loss to capital and labor, and much suffering to the general public.

Every present day student recognizes the seriousness of the problem, and the best thought is being employed to bring about its solution. It is therefore of the greatest importance, not only to our material welfare, but to the permanency of our institutions, that every citizen should apply himself to the thoughtful and conscientious consideration of questions affecting the relations of capital and labor, and it is expressly urged that the coming Labor day be devoted to the expression and interchange of views on that subject, as well as to the pleasure from the rest of toil and care which a legal holiday implies.

In testimony whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the great seal of the state to be hereunto affixed at the capitol, in the city of St. Paul, in said state, on this thirty-first (31st) day of August, A. D. 1909.

JOHN A. JOHNSON, Governor.

Attest:

JULIUS SCHMAHL, Secretary of State.

DEAD MENACE SURVIVORS

Serious Conditions Exist at Scene of Big Flood in Mexico.

Total Number of Lives Lost Now Is Expected to Exceed 3,000.

Monterey, Mex., Sept. 2.—That the total number of dead and the exact amount of damage as a result of the flood that swept this region last week never will be known, becomes more apparent with every hour's reports. Today it is known that hundreds of small villages have been swept away entirely and even those who are accounted conservative place the number of dead at not less than 3,000.

In San Lusito a terrible condition affronts the searchers, as a stench from the bodies half buried in the sand is almost unbearable. Soldiers are burying these bodies as rapidly as possible.

Reports received from all along the Tampico branch as far as the telegraph line has been opened, indicate that the section has been terribly damaged and that the La Purificacion river left its banks, causing millions of dollars of

BALLOON DRAGS BOY UP 3,000 FEET

A Horror-Stricken Crowd of 5,000 People Sees Lad's Awful Peril.

Syracuse, Ind., Sept. 2.—When William Simons of Adrian, Mich., made a balloon ascension here late yesterday at the harvest jubilee, a boy named Quinter Neef became entangled in the ropes and was carried up 3,000 feet, descending with the balloon as the gas gradually escaped. He was unhurt.

Simons cut loose when up only a few hundred feet, to save the boy, and came down with the parachute safely.

The boy's father and mother were in the crowd and were prostrated, while 5,000 persons stood horror-stricken watching the boy descend slowly, dangling from the balloon.

ENGLAND WAITS FOR ACTION AT PEKIN.

Pekin, Sept. 2.—It was explained at the British legation today that Sir John Jordan, the minister, would not proceed further with his demand for reparation for the death of Hazrah Ali, a British subject, unless China refused to take part in an investigation of the occurrence, and also until further instructions were received from London.

TWO CONVICTED OF FRAUD PLOT

Pittsburg, Pa., Sept. 2.—Clifford H. Drum of Washington, Pa., former cashier of the Bank of Coal Center, and Frederick W. Ward, a business man of this city, were today found guilty of conspiracy to defraud the Bank of Coal Center, Pa., of $50,000. Both were recommended to the mercy of the court. Sentence was postponed until Sept. 13.

In the interval, the court recess, the defendants might endeavor to reimburse the bank of the money it has lost.

WILL BE NO COAL STRIKE

Dispute in Pittsburg District Is Settled at Conference.

Order Regarding Use of Explosive Is Rescinded for the Present.

Pittsburg, Pa., Sept. 2.—The dispute between the miners and operators of the Pittsburg district, affecting 18,000 men, 7,000 of whom have been on strike for over a week, was settled last night at a conference between the operators and the national executive board members of the United Mine Workers of America, with National President Thomas L. Lewis of the organization.

A notice was posted in all the mines in this district telling the miners that the recent order of the coal companies that black powder must be used in mining coal is rescinded for the present.

To secure this concession on the part of the operators, President Lewis appointed a committee from the miners' organization which will go to Wilkesbarre, Pa., to confer with Chief Mine Inspector James E. Roderick of Pennsylvania, asking that a thorough investigation of the use of black powder or "safety" powder be made by the state.

State Order Opposed.

The state authorities ordered the use of the powder, but the miners contend that it shatters too much coal, to such an extent that their earnings are greatly decreased.

The district officials of the miners' union took no part in the conference, owing to the differences existing between them and the national board. It is expected that a majority of the miners will return to work at once.

PLAN BIG TIME FOR PRESIDENTS

El Paso and Juarez Are Arranging Elaborate Programs for the Day.

El Paso, Tex., Sept. 2.—Presidents Taft and Diaz will be received in this city and in Juarez on their arrival Oct. 16, not only by a magnificent military display, but by 10,000 school children singing the national anthems of the two countries and by the two most famous bands of Mexico and by at least two splendid military bands of the United States army, according to an announcement made today.

President Taft will be met at Rincon, N. M., by two regiments of United States regulars. At 10:30 President Diaz will cross the river from Juarez and will meet President Taft in a pavilion in front of the chamber of commerce. After a breakfast at the chamber, the two presidents will proceed to Juarez, where President Taft will be the guest of Mexico until 1:15 p. m.

Returning to El Paso, Mr. Taft and cabinet officers with him will deliver school children and the troops. At 6 o'clock Mr. Taft with his party will attend a banquet given in their honor in Juarez by President Diaz.

HANGS SELF IN JAIL CELL

Man Who Shot George W. Somerville Is Suicide at New Ulm.

Sleepy Eye, Minn., Sept. 2—George Summerville, who was shot twice by John Haynes yesterday, probably will recover. His attending physicians say he passed a restful night and they think his life may be saved. The two bullets have not been probed for.

New Ulm, Minn., Sept. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—John F. Hayner, who was brought to the county jail here yesterday from Sleepy Eye, after he had been arrested for firing two bullets from a revolver into ex-State Senator George W. Somerville, a prominent Sleepy Eye lawyer and politician, committed suicide in his cell by hanging himself during the night.

Hayner, after being brought here, asserted that he had shot Somerville in self-defense. He said that he went to Somerville's office to obtain a readjustment of a land deal he had with Somerville, in which, he alleged Somerville traded him worthless land in Missouri for valuable business property in Sleepy Eye. Hayner said he had been in Somerville's office but ten minutes when the latter attacked him.

Victim May Die.

Sleepy Eye, Minn., Sept. 2.—Ex-State Senator George Somerville, who was twice wounded in his office here yesterday by John F. Hayner, following some trouble over the settlement of a business deal, may not survive the injury. The best of medical skill procurable in this section is being employed to try and save the ex-senator's life. One of the bullets is still in Mr. Somerville's body. The shots were fired from a 38-caliber revolver.

Mr. Somerville seems to have thrown up his left arm when the assassin drew his gun, in an attempt to ward off the bullet. This bullet pierced his arm and entered his side. The second ball went through his body just below his heart.

Trouble in the settlement of a deal over property was the motive for the shooting. Hayner believed he had been deceived by the former senator. The only statement he made after the shooting was secured soon after he had been taken to New Ulm. He said:

Hayner Makes Statement.

"I worked for several years for the Cuddy-Cavanaugh company, which has been digging ditches in Brown county under contracts. I have had head-

Alleged Thieves in London Ask to Be Sent Back to New York.

London, Sept. 2.—Eleanor L. Beattie, who was arrested in London last June on a charge of grand larceny committed in New York, appeared in the Bow street police court today, waived defense and asked to be sent back to New York immediately for trial. The magistrate, however, decided that she must remain here for fifteen days, as provided under the extradition law.

Adelbert T. Hoyt of New York, who also is wanted in New York on charges of grand larceny and forgery, likewise asked to be sent back forthwith.

ASHLAND CLAIMS DULUTH IS GIVEN BENEFIT OF RATES

Complaint Is Filed With the Interstate Commerce Commission.

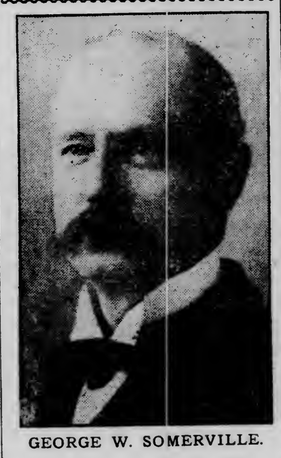

Five Transportation Companies Are Named in the Document.

Discrimination in Favor of Head of the Lakes Is Alleged.

Washington, Sept. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—The city of Ashland, Wis., today filed a complaint with the interstate commerce commission against the New York Central, the Western Transit company, Northern Pacific, Erie & Western Transportation company and Pittsburg & Lake Erie Railroad company, alleging discrimination in their rate charges against Ashland and in favor of Duluth and Superior.

The city of Ashland in its complaint urges that the defendant transportation companies "be compelled to make the same charges for freight from New York, Buffalo and Pittsburg as they now make to the cities of Duluth and Superior."

GEORGE W. SOMERVILLE.

NEW DEAN IS CHOSEN

Francis Shehon Will Head University Engineering Department.

Has Been in Charge of Great Lakes Survey for Government.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Francis C. Shehon, in charge of the Great Lakes survey for the government, with headquarters at Detroit, Mich., will be the new dean of the engineering department of the University of Minnesota. He has accepted the appointment tendered him by the board of regents, according to word recived by his brother-in-law, Theodore M. Knappen, of this city.

The new head of the engineering department is a graduate of the institution. He entered the state university with the class of 1886, but did not graduate with it. After several years out of school, he returned and received his degree in 1891. In 1895 he received his master's degree. He is a native of New York and his early schooling was in the East.

FREE CHRISTIANS FROM OLD BAN

Turkish Government Issues Circular Regarding Loyalty to the Porte.

Washington, Sept. 2.—The Turkish government has issued a circular to all the provincial authorities regarding the loyalty of Armenians in Turkey to the new government. This circular, it is said, seems to point out a laudable intention on the part of the Turkish government to treat Moslem and non-Moslem alike.

Further support seems to be given this view by the passage through parliament of the military service bill, which was greatly desired by the Christian population of the empire.

STEEPLEJACK KILLED BY FALL FROM CHAIR.

New York, Sept. 2.—Bleden Woodring, the steeplejack who rigged the flagpole on the Singer building, and who had spent most of his life working at dizzy heights, fractured his skull when he fell two feet from a chair to the floor and died soon afterward. Woodring was leaning back in the chair when it toppled over with him.

EARLY FROST DOES DAMAGE

Two Counties in Michigan Were Pretty Hard Hit Tuesday Night.

Muskegon, Mich., Sept. 2.—It is estimated that the loss accompanying the heavy frost of last night in Muskegon and Oceana counties will run up to at least $100,000.

Corn and potatoes are damaged the most, the former crop being almost a total loss. The frost is the heaviest in this locality since 1869.

Menominee, Mich., Sept. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—A disastrous frost, the earliest in a quarter of a century, settled over Menominee and Marinette counties last night, causing loss of crops to farmers amounting to at least $50,000 dollars. Practically every farm in the two counties is affected. Dozens of crops, especially potatoes and corn, were ruined outright.

BOUNDARY ROW NEARLY ENDED

Bolivia and Peru Expected to Soon Adjust Their Differences.

Washington, Sept. 2.—The boundary controversy between Peru and Bolivia seems near an amicable settlement.

The state department has received a telegram from Minister Stutzman of Laplez, Bolivia, reporting that the Bolivian congress, after considering in secret session for several days the Argentine award in the boundary arbitration with Peru referred the whole matter to the executive department of Bolivia for appropriate treatment.

JULY TRADE IS IMPROVED

Government Statistics Show Increased Value in Exports and Imports.

Former Have Greater Growth Over Last Year Than the Latter.

Washington, Sept. 2.—There was an increase in the value of both the imports and exports of the United States during the month of July over that month last year, according to the monthly statement of the country's foreign commerce issued by the bureau of statistics of the department of commerce and labor.

The value of the imports for July was $112,477,354, an increase of $26,052,861 over July a year ago, making the total value of imports for the seven months ending with July, $830,485,646, an increase of $221,598,998 over the same period for 1908.

The increase in the value of exports for July was a little more than one-fourth of the increase in imports. The exports for the month were $109,327,952, an increase over the previous July of $6,138,376; for the seven months ending with July the value of exports for the country amounted to $897,311,122, a decrease during the same period in 1908 of $3,685,967.

THE LAST OF THE SEASON

Third Regiment Band Concert at Chester Park Sunday.

Program Will Be Selected From State Fair Numbers.

Duluth's famous Third Regiment band, under direction of Jens Flaaten, will give its last outdoor concert of the season next Sunday afternoon in Chester park. The organization will leave Sunday night for the Twin Cities, to be there during state fair week. The Duluth band will have precedence over all other musical organizations at the big fair, in recognition of the fact that it is the leading band of Minnesota, if not of the entire Northwest.

Director Flaaten has spent a good deal of time in preparing the finest possible program for his appearance at the fair, and it is one that will delight the immense crowds which daily throng the fair grounds. The Sunday program at Chester park will consist of the best of these fair numbers, making it probably the most popular program of the season, and that is saying a good deal, for all the local concerts during the present season have been of exceptional merit, and have been so characterized by competent musical critics.

Chester park is regarded by many as the most beautiful of the local parks. It is easily reached, and it is expected that Sunday's crowd, provided the weather is favorable, will break all records for the outdoor season in Duluth. The music will last from 2 to 5 o'clock. All the concerts have been vastly popular, and have been a remarkable success from every standpoint. For the first time since the Third Regiment band took its position at the front of all such musical organizations in the state, Duluthians have all had a chance to enjoy its playing without cost to themselves, and under the most favorable circumstances. That this opportunity was fully appreciated was conclusively shown in the very large attendance at all the concerts.

JAIL INSPECTED BY GRAND JURY

First Report Will Probably Consist of Several Indictments.

The grand jury, which is in session for the September term of district court, is making good progress with its work, and the first report is expected to be submitted to the court this afternoon. Yesterday afternoon four or five cases were disposed of and about an equal number were taken up this morning. Indictments have been found in several cases, it is said, and they will be submitted to the court late this afternoon.

The grand jury this morning visited the jail and looked over the prisoners and the quarters provided for them. It is understood the inspection was entirely satisfactory.

The number of cases for investigations by the grand jury is large this term, and the work will probably not be completed until tomorrow evening.

NOT THE ALVINA.

Charles Mork, Convicted of Larceny, Employed on the Alva.

Charles Mork, who was arrested and convicted yesterday afternoon on the charge of petit larceny, was not employed on the yacht Alvina, as stated in The Herald last evening, but on the steamer Alva, and the woman's sweater that was taken by him, was stolen from that vessel. Mork was employed but temporarily in helping to unload the boat.

ELECTING DIRECTORS.

Omaha Employes Choosing Those Who Will Handle Pension Fund.

Balloting is going on today among the Head of the Lakes employes of the Omaha system for the election of a board of nine directors of the pension fund that is maintained by the employes of the Omaha railroad system.

The board will have charge of the funds of the association for the ensuing year.

The plan of the association is to give each man who has been in the employ of the company a certain length of time, 1 per cent of his salary for each of the years he has been in the employ of the company. If he has been with the company for thirty-five years, for instance, he will receive from the employes' fund 35 per cent of his salary when he retires. In addition to this, the company also gives a similar amount, so that an employe retiring after thirty-five years of service would receive a pension amounting to 70 per cent of his salary.

The result of the balloting that is going on at the present time, will be known Sept. 15.

BANKERS WILL WORK TO DEVELOP THE FARMS

Minnesota Association Has Committee at Work Gathering Statistics.

Members Will Advertise the Resources of the State.

Charles R. Foster, secretary of the Minnesota State Bankers' association, who is in the city today, has some interesting information in regard to the plans of the state association in regard to the development along agricultural lines of the resources of the state.

The association is planning to go into the development of the agricultural interests of the state, the securing of additional advertising of the resources, the opening up of more farming lands in this part of Minnesota and also the improving of farming methods.

Through the various members of the association Mr. Foster is receiving reports of the different communities and when the work is ready to be taken up in a systematic manner, which will be in the near future, the committee in charge of this branch of the association's work will be abundantly supplied with statistics in relation to this very important subject.

Mr. Foster stated that at the present time the detective department of the association was keeping a very sharp eye on the movements of yeggmen. This department of the state association is now very thoroughly organized, with its own detective force, its own rogue's gallery and every facility for preventing the robbing of banks as well as catching the thieves. Last fall and this spring but $2,200 was secured from banks in the state association, as against $16,000 that was secured through robberies the preceding year.

In giving his impressions of the business growth of Duluth, Mr. Foster made the following remarks in regard to the progress achieved by this city:

"This is the first opportunity I have had to visit Duluth with sufficient time at my disposal to look around somewhat and get acquainted. It is needless to say that every day has added to my amazement. One often hears the statement nowadays that 'Duluth is rapidly taking her place among the cities of first importance in the United States,' but it is my opinion now that she is already firmly established in that position, with limitless possibilities for future growth still ahead of her.

"One can form absolutely no idea of the immense amount of freight and ore handled at the docks without going there and seeing with your own eyes the continual and never ending loading and unloading of the boats; and the facilities for handling this are, at least to one inexperienced in such things, truly wonderful. I was told the other day by a loyal Duluth citizen that there is a greater tonnage handled annually at the Duluth harbor than at any other harbor in the world. A week ago I should have been inclined to treat this statement as a mere flight of fancy, but now it is not at all difficult to believe.

"Another thing which has impressed me greatly is the large number of your active and effective organizations, having for their purpose publicity and improvement, not only as concerns the city, but also this entire section of the state. This is broad minded policy and cannot help but win. It is my belief, however, that the most potent reason for Duluth's remarkable progress as a city is to be found in the character or personnel of her men of affairs. There seems to be a remarkable unanimity of purpose in their efforts for betterment and a citizen fraternalism abong them, which in my limited experience is very rare. A keen competition in business and in civic affairs, a solidly united citizenship, make a pretty substantial foundation for a city to stand upon.

"I visited the new home of your Commercial club yesterday and it is certainly one that your city has every reason to be proud of, but with a club membership of 1,200 and so important a program ahead of it, anything less substantial would be altogether inadequate.

"The banks in Duluth are in a highly gratifying condition. Probably few people realize that in no other city of the world of the size of Duluth are there as many strong banks with clearings so large.

"The Minnesota Bankers' association at its last meeting made quite a radical departure from the work ordinarily outlined by such associations in authorizing the appointment of a committee on state development or agricultural development and education. This committee has already been appointed and held one meeting. At that meeting a series of questions was formulated with the purpose in mind of sending them out to all members of the executive council, accompanied by a request that all diligence be used in obtaining at the earliest possible moment the information desired. These questions cover agricultural conditions throughout the state, and also conditions relating to agricultural education. As soon as the information desired is collected, a meeting of the executive council will be called, probably not later than Oct. 15, at which time ways and means for improving conditions in the respects named will be formulated. Bankers are commencing to realize throughout the state that the resources of Minnesota have as yet hardly been touched and it is their purpose to inaugurate a campaign of development all along the line. In this section of the state there are thousands and thousands of acres of land which I am given to understand is capable of high agricultural development. One of our purposes will be to let people know this, not only within the state, but in the more congested districts of the East, from which at the present time there is so great an immigration to agricultural sections."

BILLSON TO ADDRESS BAR

Interesting Event Is Planned By St. Louis County Attorneys.

It is said among the attorneys that a meeting of the St. Louis County Bar association will be called within the next few weeks at which the attorneys will listen to an address by W. W. Billson, one of the veterans of the St. Louis county bar, who has now retired from active practice. Mr. Billson is an entertaining talker, and it is said that he has prepared an address that will be a sort of a history of the St. Louis county courts and bar, containing a wealth of information for the younger practitioners.

The meeting will also be in the nature of a farewell to the old courthouse and will probably be held in the building which will soon be deserted for the larger and more modern quarters of the new building. The details of the affair have not yet been worked out, but it is said the meeting will be called and will be a notable one.

SUPERIOR NEWS

PIONEER IS SUMMONED

Robert L. Hunter, Superior City Treasurer, Passes Away.

Robert L. Hunter, city treasurer at Superior and one of the oldest residents at the Head of the Lakes, died at 10:30 o'clock last evening at St. Mary's hospital, at Superior, of heart trouble. He was 68 years old and had held the office of city treasurer continuously for the past twelve years.

He was one of the most prominent Masons at the Head of the Lakes and was a charter member of Superior lodge, No. 236, which was established twenty-five years ago. He leaves three sons, Hugh and James of Superior and Clarence of Chicago. Funeral arrangements are pending.

Wants $2,000 for Tooth.

That Dr. Adams pulled the wrong tooth when he went to him with an aching molar is claimed in a bill of complaint filed yesterday with the clerk of the circuit court by Sam Lacau, who is suing the doctor for $2,000. He says that as a result he has been unable to properly masticate his food.

Fined for Speeding.

D. E. Evans of Duluth was fined $10 for speeding, today, in municipal court at Superior. He was arrested by the Superior police about a week ago for exceeding the speed limit with his automobile. The case was adjourned, and when it came up today he changed his plea and paid a fine.

Sanity Still a Question.

The examination as to the sanity of P. K. Johnson, charged with attempted murder on the person of Dr. J. G. Barnsdale, has not yet been concluded. The case against Johnson in the municipal court was adjourned again this morning awaiting the result of the examination.

PROTECTION OF PUBLIC DESIRED

The automobile ordinance, which is in Mayor Haven's hands for action, is causing a great deal of discussion all over the city. A prominent citizen, who is not an automobile owner, but is interested in all questions of public welfare, drew a comparison this morning in talking of the ordinance and offered it as an argument in favor of Mayor Haven's signature. He said he preferred to remain anonymous as he is not directly interested.

"I was reading a short time ago of the president of a great Eastern railway system, who purchased a new automobile," he said. "He put it in a garage and then called in the most experienced and most trustworthy engineer on his system. He put that man in charge of the automobile as chauffeur and paid him the same salary that he was receiving for driving a locomotive.

"The railway president said that he thought as much care should be used in putting a man in charge of an automobile as of a locomotive. After running the machine for a time, the engineer agreed. He said three hours driving an automobile was as wearing as a whole day's work in the cab of an engine.

"The contrast between that and the conditions in Duluth came to me one day when I was standing on the porch of my home. Two big touring cars came along evidently racing. At the wheel of one was a boy in knee pants and, although I couldn't see the other very well, I should judge he wasn't any older.

"I don't know anything about the license provisions of the ordinance, but I do know that every restriction should be placed on automobile drivers in order that the public may be protected. The leaning of every thinking man nowadays is toward caution for the public safety and I don't think that anybody but responsible men should be allowed to have charge of a machine."

REPORT NOT FAVORABLE

Lieut. Col. Fitch Does Not Endorse Canal Scheme.

As was anticipated, Lieut. Col. Graham D. Fitch of the corps of U. S. engineers, has made an adverse report on the proposed canal to connect Lake Superior with the Mississippi river by way of the St. Croix and Brule rivers. His report has been forwarded to the board of United States engineers at Washington, D. C.

Col. Fitch has sent notices to Stillwater promoters of the canal scheme, under date of Aug. 31. It was generally understood some time ago that such would be the tenor of his report. But this action does not discourage those who favor the canal. The matter can be taken up before the board. The time allotted to present facts to Col. Fitch was so short that it was impossible to gather and present data such as might be produced if more time were allowed.

Those interested in the canal scheme will not allow the matter to rest on the report of Col. Fitch, but will take up the matter with the board of engineers in Washington. In his notice as to his action in the matter Col Fitch calls attention to the privilege of adding additional information on the subject and presenting them to the board. In this notice Col. Fitch states that instructions to him were to the following effect:

If a locality be reported as not worthy of improvement by the general government he is to give notice to all parties in interest in such improvement, that they may submit for the information of the United States board of engineers for river and harbor improvements any statements, facts or arguments that they may desire in regard to the necessities for such improvement and that such statements should be in the hands of the board within three weeks after the notice given by Col. Fitch. This provision is made in order that full and complete consideration may be given by the board of engineers to the merits of the case.

Such information should be addressed to the board of engineers for rivers and harbors, rooms 507-510, Colorado building, Washington, D. C. Persons receiving a copy of the notice from Col. Fitch, as well as others, are invited to submit information and facts.

Plans were made some time ago by the men behind the plan to prepare and submit additional facts to the board of engineers, in anticipation of the tenor of the report of Col. Fitch. Those interested in the canal are not discouraged by the preliminary report and have entire faith in the ability to secure a survey for the proposed canal.

AUTO RACES AT CARLTON FAIR

Duluth autoists are taking much interest in the races to be pulled off under the auspices of the Carlton County Fair association on Sept. 17.

The fair lasts three days, beginning on the 15th of the month. Sept. 17 is automobile day.

The association has offered $150 in prizes, and a number of Zenith City automobile owners have already declared their intention of entering.

The roads to Barnum, Minn., where the fair is held annually, are among the best in the northern part of the state and many have said they are going down for the trip.

Nearly all the automobile dealers will attend and a car of nearly every make will be entered in the events.

Warning.

Do not be persuaded into taking anything but Foley's Honey and Tar for chronic coughs, bronchitis, hay fever, asthma and lung trouble, as it stops the cough and heals the lungs. For sale by all druggists.

COLLECTOR GETS ORDERS ABOUT CORPORATION TAX.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Maj. Fred von Baumbach, United States collector of internal revenue for the distric tcomprising the state of Minnesota, with headquarters here, has received a treasury department at Washington instructing him to obtain information necessary for the enforcement of the new tax on corporations within his district.

Maj. von Baumbach has assigned the [illegible] of getting the lists to S. L. Truessell of Minneapolis, one of the local deputies. The eight division deputies in different parts of the state, the two office deputies in Minneapolis and the one office deputy at Duluth will all be called upon to assist in making up the lists.

The listed corporations of Minnesota will make their reports to the St. Paul internal revenue office between Jan. 1 and March 1. The assessment lists will be prepared between March 1 and June 1, forwarded to Washington, entered and returned.

BIG GAIN IN BUILDING

Permits Issued During Month Just Past Aggregated Nearly $300,000.

Total for Year to Date Much Greater Than Last Year.

One hundred and twenty-five building permits, representing an expenditure of $293,793, were issued during August by Building Inspector Kielley.

Up to the 1st of September the amount of money represented by building permits issued from Jan. 1 was $1,973,272, as compared with $1,746,540 during the same period last year, a clear gain of $226,732.

During August, 1908, 117 permits were issued. The monthly report of the building inspector shows that last month 196 electric meters were inspected, five electric sign permits were issued and seven elevator permits were issued. The total fees for the month were $420.50.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound, or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

MORAN, MACKINAC COUNTY, WILL HAVE NEW INDUSTRY

Trout Lake, Mich., Sept. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—A new industrial plant in Upper Michigan is being established at Moran, in Mackinac county. It is a sawmill which D. Quay & Sons, lumbermen, of Cheboygan, are erecting, and which it is planned to put into commission early in the fall. Allied with the sawmill will be a lath mill, shingle mill and float factory. Products both of hard and soft woods will be manufactured. Quay & Sons have large timber holdings in the vicinity of Moran, and their operations in that locality will be active for some years to come.

ENGINEER IS KILLED IN MISSOURI WRECK.

St. Joseph, Mo., Sept. 2.—Engineer Thomas Howard of Des Moines was killed and a number of passengers severely shaken up in a headon collision today between a Chicago Great Western passenger and a St. Joseph & Grand Island freight train. The collision occurred in the St. Joseph yards.

SCHOOL IS FIRST CLASS

The New Principal of Central High Is Very Favorably Impressed.

Will Make No Changes in Work at the Institution.

Duluth may well be proud of her public schools, declares George Buck, who will begin his first year as principal of Central high school, when that institution opens for the fall term Tuesday.

"The Duluth high school is second to none of the high schools of the Middle West and the East," said Mr. Buck today. He is familiar with the Eastern schools and came here from the Stivers manual training high school of Dayton, Ohio, of which he was the principal, to take charge of the work at Central school.

Mr. Buck has been here several weeks, familiarizing himself with the local methods and courses of study. He announces that there will be no changes in the methods of conducting the classes and in the courses at Central high, feeling that the work as done by the students last year is perfectly satisfactory and meet for the needs of a large institution like this one.

Mr. Buck is also very favorably impressed with Duluth as a place to reside.

Examinations for pupils wishing to enter Central high and not holding the necessary credits, will be held at the school under Mr. Buck's direction, tomorrow, beginning at 9 a. m., and continuing until the afternoon.

These examinations are for pupils coming from out of town and for those who have been making up studies in which they failed last term.

The program of examinations is as follows:

9 to 10—Mathematics, all branches.
10 to 11—Latin, German and commercial branches.
11 to 12—History, all branches.
1:30 to 2:30—English.
2:30 to 3:30—Sciences.

Why Druggists Recommend Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

Frank C. Hanrahan, a prominent druggist of Portsmouth, Va., says, "For the past six years I have sold and recommended Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. It is a great remedy and one of the best patent medicines on the market. Our Remodeling Sale!

Altho we're working under a severe handicap thru our extensive alterations now in progress, we are daily receiving shipments of Exclusive Fashions.

Every new garment arriving has the seal of "style excellence" as interpreted by the "master designers."

These "Master designers," or strictly speaking, leading makers of America, confine the choice of their output to the S. & B. Co. for this region, as being the representative caterers to Duluth's Fashionable Women.

Newspaper assertions never have, and we believe, never will supply the second or third-class factory output with that needful essential, "True Fashion."

For an establishment must merit the distinction of being style leaders to secure the really choice things!

As for instance, not so very long ago a representative of a well known store in Duluth strolled into the show rooms of a great New York tailor, whose fame is world wide, and requested to be shown some of his latest creations.

Certainly! Certainly! But by the way, where are you from Mr. ———? Duluth!

Very sorry, sir, but "The Silberstein & Bondy Co." in your city receive our output.

Just another indication of how a little conversation straw shows how the style winds blow as regards Duluth.

Soon we will be prepared to entertain you in a magnificent new Home of Fashion. Should you wish to look at the new things, we'll do our best under the present conditions, and ask you to bear with our surroundings just a little while longer.

Meanwhile our Remodeling Sale offers buying advantages galore for the economical woman.

BOWLERS GET TOGETHER

The Fitwells and Centrals Already Organized for the Season.

There Will Be Three Strong Leagues the Coming Winter.

The bowlers will soon be busy.

The Commercial league will, at a meeting to be held within two weeks, reorganize for the season with practically the same teams as last year.

Only two of the teams have as yet organized for the season, but the others have promised to line their men up and report at the meeting mentioned. The league was a great success last year, and it promises to be even more so this season.

It is planned to start the season about the firs of October. This will give the teams a chance for preliminary practice.

At a social session held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Schultz, recently, the Fitwells elected Sam Olsen captain. The other members of this team are: C. R. Bereni, Paul Schultz, C. R. Boerner, G. Olson and Robert Burke. This is the original Fitwell team of two years ago, and they have won the pennant each year.

The Centrals this year will be made up of the players who represented the Columbias last year. George Massey has been elected captain of this aggregation. The others are: A. Otterson, Joe Miller, Robert Listy, G. H. Compton and L. McLaughlin.

In addition to the commercial there will this year be organized a city league. This league will probably be the same as the city baseball league with the same teams entered.

Mose Canfield, proprietor of the Majestic bowling alleys, will enter a team also in the old Commercial league.

T. R. Shaub, left fielder of the Superior baseball team, and one of the bowling cracks of the country, has been engaged by Mr. Canfield to manage the Majestic alleys. Mr. Shaub had an average of 197 for last year and was third in the big tournament pulled off last winter in Milwaukee.

Bowling surely is going to thrive in the Zenith City the coming season. The Y. M. C. A. league will get busy about the same time as the other leagues and with three strong organizations such as they promise to be, it should be the greatest season ever experienced at the Head of the Lakes.

Superior will have a league, and the winners of each pennant will play off for the championship of the two towns at the end of the season.

Tri-State Tennis.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Sept. 2.—Star players from all sections of the country contested in the men's singles in the eleventh annual tri-state tennis tournament. The winners will enter the semi-finals tomorrow.

Reuben A. Holden, Jr., of Yale university, was pitted against Richard Palmer of New Jersey; Nat Thornton of Atlanta, Ga., against Carlton R. Gardner of California; Harry Weidner of Chicago against Dr. P. B. Hawk of Philadelphia, and C. N. Beard of Cleveland, Ohio, against Nat Emerson of the state of Washington.

NEARING FINALS IN GOLF TOURNEY

Only Two Outsiders Left to Meet Chicago Women.

Chicago, Sept. 2.—Only two of the visiting contingent of women golfers, Miss Glen D. Smith of Springfield, Ill., and Miss Inez Clarke of Waukegan, Ill., remained today to contend with Chicago survivors in the annual women's Western golf championship at Homewood. By a singular coincidence Miss Smith and Miss Elizabeth Young of the South Shore Country club, who were pitted against each other last year at St. Louis in the second round of play, met in the second round again today.

Miss Clarke, the Waukegan golfer, was expected to have trouble with her opponent, Miss Vida Llewellyn of La Grange, another strong match player. Miss Llewellyn has loomed up as a championship possibility since her defeat of Miss Elizabeth Smith of Evanston, yesterday. Miss Clarke is a new player, who has forged to the front in the last year or so and was considered a strong contender for premier honors.

Of those remaining in the tourney, Miss Myra Helmer of the Midlothian Country club was conceded an excellent chance to annex the honors which only five women have been able to win in nine years. Miss Helmer holds more course records tha any girl golfer in the United States. Miss Helmer met her teammate, Miss Caroline Painter, in the second match round today. Miss Painter won fame at St. Louis in the eighth annual championship, by playing Miss Semple, a finalist, to an 18-hole draw in the second round. She was expected to give her clubmate trouble in today's contest.

Mrs. C. L. Dering of the Midlothian Country club, former Western champion, played Mrs. George Haskell of Homewood, and a good match was expected today. Mrs. Haskell won renown in the golfing world yesterday when she defeated the present Western champion, Mrs. W. France Anderson, 1 up in nineteen holes.

Big Entry List.

New York, Sept. 2.—The pairings for the fifteenth annual national amateur golf championship, to be held at Wheaton, Ill., beginning next Monday over the links of the Chicago Golf club, were announced today. One hundred and twenty golfers were paired, and the play will be started at 9 o'clock, the pairs being sent away at four-minute intervals.

Jerome D. Travers, national champion, is paired with young Paul Hunter of the Midlothian Country club, and they are the nineteenth pair to start. The twenty-third pair off will be Chandler Egan of the Exmoor Country club and Fred Herreshoff of the Ekwanok Country club.

MEN HEAVILY FINED FOR STARTING FIRES.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Sept. 2.—For the first time in the history of Drummond island residents have been found guilty of negligence which caused disastrous forest fires. The trials of Napoleon B. Corey, Niles Stringham and Jacob Breault, who started the most disastrous fires of years on the island, causing thousands of dollars' loss, have just been completed, and Stringham practically admitted negligence, and Breault was found guilty of starting fires which led to the destruction of a lumber mill and timber lands valued at $10,000. They were let off with stiff fines.

AWAIT THE GRAND JURY

Matel Brothers Will Not Be Arraigned in Police Court.

Still Assert Their Innocence ---In Cheerful Frame of Mind.

Adolph and Victor Matel, charged with the murder of Adolph Mattis on Garfield avenue Tuesday night, probably will not be arraigned in municipal court at all. The grand jury is now in session, and it is expected that it will return an indictment for murder against the two men, making it unnecessary to arraign them in police court. If such an indictment is not returned by Saturday, they will be taken into municipal court.

There have been no new developments in the case. The half brothers still assert that they know nothing of the killing of Mattis. They say they knew nothing about it until their arrest at their home on West Fifth street. They stick to the story that they themselves were assaulted on their way home, and say they had to run for their lives to escape a crowd of twelve or fifteen men. They do not appear to be worried over the outlook, and seem to be in a cheerful frame of mind. Several of their friends have visited them in their cell.

WHAT OTHERS SAY OF DULUTH SPECIALISTS

Not a day passes but the specialists of the Progressive Medical association receive two or three letters from those they have cured, thanking them in the most profuse terms, and admitting that they owe their lives to the skill of the specialists.

Nearly all of them state that they have tried several other physicians and medical institutes without receiving the slightest relief, but at great expense. After hearing of the Progressive Medical association and placing their cases in the hands of the able specialists in charge of it, cure was rapid, progress immediate—every day made a difference in health and spirits, now the writers of these letters are all occupying responsible positions in the business world, positions which they formerly had not the "nerve" even to apply for. The business world accepts a man pretty nearly at his own valuation, and the value put on himself by a nervous wreck is not great. If you are suffering from any form of nervous depression, do not neglect it and allow it to "cure itself"—it won't! It will continue to rob you of your health, vitality and "power to do things," until at last it will land you in an insane asylum. You cannot play fast and loose with the human nervous system without paying for it. Our electrical treatments will remove the cause of the weak nerves. Come and let us show you "what others say." Let us add your name to our list of cured patients!

We cure all chronic and contracted diseases peculiar to men and we issue a legal guarantee of a cure in every case!

ON THE IRON RANGES

BLIND PIGS GIVEN BLOW

Killing of Ropre in Boarding House Brought Drastic Rule.

Breweries Will Not Furnish Beer to Places on List.

Ely, Minn., Sept. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Since the death of Laurenz Ropre at the Shipman hospital last week from the effects of an ax battle at a boarding house in the Pioneer location on Aug. 15, things have happened in "blind pig" circles which bid fair to forever disrupt these unsavory institutions in so far as Ely is concerned.

The management of the Pioneer and other mines at once took the matter up with the breweries doing business in Ely, and according to an agreement between the Oliver Iron Mining company and the breweries, several places have been denied their customary allotment of beer and local agents have been advised by their breweries not to furnish beer to various places.

So far five places have been placed under the ban and it is expected that several more will be put on the prohibited list within a very short time.

Those that have been listed so far are the places conducted as boarding houses by Frank Barle, John Pusovec and Frank Bergant, in the Pioneer location, and John Koshalk and Andrew Koprivnik, in the Zenith location.

The Barle place is where the last fracas occurred, and the others have borne none the best of reputations, while the boarding housekeepers claim they conduct the beer business on the community plan, charging the same to the accounts of the boarders at the end of the month as board, the authorities who have investigated say the stuff is for sale to all who may apply.

The action taken is deemed the proper one, and should have been done years ago as the mining concerns in the range towns have it in their power to put a stop to the blind pig nuisance. All the places are located on mining ground, and an order prohibiting the peddling of beer on the property will remedy the evil. No objections are being made as to beer for family use.

WOLF FARMERS BUY MACHINES

Tillers of Soil Around Range Town Are Making Progress.

Wolf, Minn., Sept. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—William Haenke, one of the pioneer up-to-date farmers of this locality, enjoys the distinction of ordering the first thrashing machine received into this section of St. Louis county. It is a small machine having a capacity of only 1,000 bushels daily, but it will meet present needs. All of the standard cereals grow here and it is expected the machine will only be equal to the demand for a few years.

Another farmer, John Helmer, who owns a farm adjoining Mr. Haenke, has bought a Dowden potato digger from Prairie City, Iowa, and it has arrived and been tested, giving satisfaction.

The Wolf district is making steady advances as a farming and gardening district. The soil is level and productive, but the main advantage is its nearness to the Eveleth market.

All farm crops are looking excellent. Mr. Haenke declares his second crop of clover is the best he has ever seen. The pasturage is tip top and cattle are thriving.

DID NOT HAVE LICENSE.

Man of Cloth Stopped From Selling Bibles in Eveleth.

Eveleth, Minn., Sept. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Because he did not possess the necessary peddler's license, Rev. O. Ojala, representing the American Bible society, who was selling Bibles among the miners was arrested. In some instances he was said to be giving away the sacred book, but the mine police interfered.

He appealed to Supt. Mitchell, who gave his special permission to ply his business among the miners. The agent stated that he had been selling and giving away Bibles for years, but this was the first time he had been interfered with in that manner.

Coming Ely Ball Games.

Ely, Minn., Sept. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Next Sunday the Ely fire department team will play the Elm team for a purse of $50 a side. The game promises to be hotly contested and well played. The Winton team will cross bats with the Gilbert crack nine, and it is confidently expected that Winton will take the honors.

Western Mesaba Championship.

To The Editor of The Herald:

Please correct special to The Herald, "The Champain team of the Western Mesaba range defeated the Bovey nine 5 to 3 on Sunday last." The Coleraine team is the champion one of the Western Mesaba range, having won the last twelve games played. Since the league started, composed of Coleraine, Bovey, Taconite and Marble, Coleraine played Taconite two games and won both, played two games with Bovey and won both games, played three games with Marble and won three, played the Strollers of Superior twice and won both games, played one game with Grand Rapids and won, and played one game with Deer River and won.

I think that would give Coleraine the championship of the Western Mesaba.

NEW SCHOOL TO BE FIREPROOF

Structure to Be Built at Virginia Will Be Modern Affair.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—The new technical high school building to be built here by Bailey & Marsh of Minneapolis, the contract for which was awarded Saturday for $105,091, as told in The Herald, is to be of fireproof construction throughout. The material specified is Minnesota granite, Bedford limestone, vitrified brick, and reinforced concrete. The floors will be terrazzo, the walls tile, the doors metal covered, and the roof of iron. The building will be 175 by 91 feet.

In the basement will be a large gymnasium with toilet and bathrooms, and the various shops for the manual training department, stock room, and janitor's room. On the ground floor will be the offices of the board and superintendent, including vault, toilets, etc., the library with history and literature adjoining, a suit of rooms for domestic science, stock room, two waiting rooms for men and women teachers and several class rooms. On the second floor will be three assembly and study rooms, one for the ninth grade, one for the tenth grade, and a room for the junior and senior classes together; physics laboratory, chemical laboratory with a lecture room between; agricultural laboratory, biological laboratory with a large conservatory for plants between, and several recitation rooms. On the third floor will be a complete commercial school which will be run separate from the high school. This school will be accommodated by a general assembly room, a room for typewriting, one for stenography, a bank, and a room fitted up as a modern office, where office practice can be taught in a practical manner. On this floor will also be a large lecture room for stereopticon work, the shutters of which will be opened and closed by electricity, and a practical modern museum. The building will be very complete and when finished will be among the best built and finest high school structures in the country. It will be erected south of the Roosevelt and the contractors have bound themselves to have it ready for occupancy on Aug. 1, 1910.

The two small grade buildings were let to Redfield & Colburn of Cloquet for $8,466.

ELY MAN IS MARRIED.

B. O. Strachan Is Wedded to Miss Miller of Fargo.

Fargo, N. D., Sept. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—B. O. Strachan of Ely, Minn., was married here last evening to Miss Ruth Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Miller, pioneer and prominent residents of this city.

COMING TO SUPERIOR.

Grand Rapids Butcher Sells Out and Will Come This Way.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Sept. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—J. S. Metzger, who for the past eighteen years has been manager of the Grand Rapids Meat & Provision market, of which himself and his father have been owners, this week turned the management of the shop over to his brother, Matthew, who will hereafter conduct the business.

J. S. Metzger, who has been with the firm, will retain his interest in the concern.

J. F. Metzger, who retires, will enjoy a vacation for some time, after which he will probably go to Superior, where he is interested in a wholesale project with his brother, Anton Metzger. Mr. Metzger and family will doubtless remain here, however, for some time before removing to Superior.

GRAND RAPIDS STORE IS NOW IN NEW HANDS.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Sept. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—An important business change took place this week, when Arseneault & Cashen, recently of Coleraine, bought the stock and business of T. A. McHugh of this city.

Mr. McHugh's Cash store has been one of the substantial mercantile establishments of the city, and has enjoyed a prosperous business. Mr. McHugh has been in business here for the past five years since which time he has done business at the location now occupied by the store. Mr. McHugh wanted a change from the retail mercantile business, hence his sale of the store.

Mr. Arseneault has for the past couple of years been manager of Herriston Bros.' store at Coleraine, and he has had considerable other experience in the mercantile business. Mr. Cashen hails originally from Ishpeming, Mich., but has been a resident of Coleraine and Duluth for some time past, having recently completed a course in a Duluth business school.

Mr. McHugh has been offered a good position traveling for a Duluth wholesale house, which he will doubtless accept, in which event he and his family will remove to the scene of Mr. McHugh's work. In the meantime they will remain here.

COMES TO DULUTH TO PRACTICE LAW

JOHN SAARI.

Eveleth, Minn., Sept. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Hon. John Saari and family, formerly of Sparta, but more recently of Eveleth, left yesterday afternoon for Duluth, where they will take up their future residence.

Mr. Saari was representative of this district, and is also a graduate of the law department of the Minnesota university, and will take up the practise of law in the Zenith City. Mr. Saari was one of Sparta's most progressive citizens and a member of the law firm of Saari, Campbell & Kraker.

IS BADLY HURT IN PETIT MINE

Crushed Under Dump Car Frank Vagatora Will Probably Die.

Eveleth, Minn., Sept. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Frank Vagatora, an Italian, 23 years old, was probably fatally injured at the Pettit mine stripping, yesterday afternoon, shortly before 6 o'clock, by a dumping car, under which he fell while at work, and was very badly crushed. The man's neck was broken and his spine injured. He was immediately taken to the Fabiola hospital, where it is expected that he will not live. Up to a late hour the injured man was in a very precarious condition.

The injured man was in the employ of Carl Hall & Co., contractors, of McKinley, and has been here only three months, coming from New York. He is single, and was living with a cousin in the Pettit location.

ODD FELLOWS TO DRILL.

Members of Iron Range Association Planning a Contest.

Eveleth, Minn., Sept. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—At a recent meeting of the Iron Range Association of Odd Fellows, held here, it was decided to hold a competitive drill between the different lodges of the association.

Ely, Tower, Virginia, Hibbing, Biwabik and Eveleth lodges, the different members of the association, will all enter the contest. Each degree team will give its drill in its hall at which the lodges elected by the lodges will be present and score on a regular system. The contest will start this winter and continue until spring. Many out-of-town lodge members attended the local meeting. S. E. Helps of Eveleth is president, and F. A. Howerton of Biwabik secretary of the association.

FACES SERIOUS CHARGE.

Gilbert Ball Player Alleged to Have Enticed Two Girls.

Gilbert, Minn., Sept. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Charged with enticing two little girls into the Bijou theater for immoral purposes, Clarence Koch, formerly a shortstop for the local nine, who also did some vaudeville work at the Bijou, was given a partial hearing before Justice of the Peace Welch yesterday.

The case was continued until tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock.

It is alleged that Koch induced the 7-year-old daughter of Mrs. Cohen and the 5-year-old daughter of Max Skolnik to enter into the Bijou theater. The Cohen girl is stated to have made such an outcry that Koch decided to let her go and took her outside, closing the door and locking it, keeping the other inside.

The Cohen girl told of her experience to other little girls and it finally came to the ears of Mr. and Mrs. Skolnik that their child was in the Bijou theater. They went to the building, but found it locked. They then went to the authorities and succeeded in getting into the building, where it is said they found Koch playing the piano and the 5-year-old child also in the building. Koch was at once arrested.

FOR CHAMPIONSHIP.

Keen Rivalry Between Eveleth and Hibbing for Honor Continues.

Eveleth, Minn., Sept. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Much rivalry still exists between the Eveleth and Hibbing teams for the championship of the range, and the two teams are further battling for the honor on the Hibbing grounds this afternoon. This game marks the sixth of a series of ten games that are being played for the championship of the range and also of the state, the two teams will also play at Hibbing tomorrow. Saturday and Sunday the clubs will meet on the local grounds. On the latter day the teams will play a double-header.

As the series now stands Hibbing has won three games and Eveleth two, but the local club claims they were robbed of two victories at Hibbing by the unfair decisions of Umpire Donahue, and will try to show that that was the case, in the coming games of the series. If the series should end in a tie, the deciding game will be played at Hibbing on Labor day.

After the Hibbing series the fast Superior city team of the Minny league will be taken on for a series of six games, three to be played here, and three in Superior. Following these games the Duluth White Sox will come here for a series of games. An extensive trip is being planned for by the local baseball management through Michigan, after the White Sox series, if the locals are successful in winning the state championship from Hibbing in the final games of the series.

GETTING MACHINERY TO START SAWMILL.

Two Harbors, Minn., Sept. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Somer Bros. & Boyden of this place are receiving the machinery for their new sawmill on the west fork of the Knife river, where they expect to saw about 65,000 feet of lumber as soon as their mill is ready for business. The building formerly occupied by the Nordby Mercantile company is being remodeled into a vaudeville theater and will be occupied by Glen S. Locker and Warner L. Murphy about Sept. 15. Mr. Locker is owner of the enterprise and Mr. Murphy is business manager. The new theater will be known as the Glen.

GRAND RAPIDS PLAYS TACONITE NEXT SUNDAY.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Sept. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Sunday at the Grand Rapids ball park the attraction will be a game between the Grand Rapids Juniors and the Taconits Juniors. It is expected that a record crowd will be in attendance at this game, as much interest has been shown in the progress of the local juniors, who have not lost a game this season, having played all of the junior teams in this section, and some larger teams. The Taconite team also has a good record, having been beaten only once this season.

AURORA WILL REPAIR WALKS

About 1,000 Feet Between Miller and Mohawk Recently Burned.

Aurora, Minn., Sept. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—At a meeting of the council last night the street commissioner was authorized to open the alley running through block No. 2 in the Second addition and also to rebuild the 1,000 feet of sidewalk recently burned between the village proper and the Miller and Mohawk locations. This was walk burned by the forest fires in June.

As the village has no map of its streets, alleys, water and sewer systems that can be relied upon, Village Engineer Walgren will be asked to give an estimate as to what a composite map of the village will cost and will probably be put at work on it.

The president, Charles Olson, appointed Trustee Nicholas and Recorder Graham on the cemetery committee.

Treasurer Lang's report shows that the village has a balance of $14,343.38 on hand. The report of Judge Tillmans shows that fines to the amount of $79 were collected during August.

Contractor Bowe, who is building the village hall, spoke to the trustees on the brick being furnished him for the walls outside and stated that the brick cost him about $4 more to lay than bing specified in the specifications. On motion the recorder was instructed to write Architect Puck of Duluth and have him meet here in session with the contractor and trustees to talk the matter over.

Under New Management.

Eveleth, Minn., Sept. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—The first copy of the Eveleth News, under the direction of the new publisher, D. Larin, made its appearance yesterday. In the future the paper will be published every Thursday instead of Wednesday.

cover the distance given in thirty-five days. No other expedition has been able to do anything near this. In the north one or two miles a day is considered good progress, but Cook must have traveled over absolutely smooth ice, which is a condition that is unique."

D'Abruzzi Expected It.

Rome, Sept. 2.—The duke of the Abruzzi, since his own Arctic expedition in 1900, has been keenly interested in Polar exploration, and before he left for the Himalaya mountains he expressed the opinion that Dr. Frederick A. Cook was "perhaps the man destined to accomplish this great feat which may be the greatest achievement of the twentieth century." He based his opinion on what he had heard of Dr. Cook's former journeys and his preparations for this one.

In a letter received recently at Turin from the duke, the royal explorer, asked if anything had been heard from Dr. Cook. He said he did not believe the American was dead, and expressed the belief that he would surpass all his predecessors on the road to the pole.

Amundsen Believes It.

Christiana, Sept. 2.—Capt. Roald Amundsen, the Norwegian Arctic explorer, was interviewed today on Dr. Cook's triumph.

"Dr. Cook was my partner on the Belgiac expedition as physician," he said, "and all on board appreciated highly his experience and his ability. His was an uncommonly staunch, persevering and energetic personality, and I admire him. The route chosen by Dr. Cook presented unusually difficult problems; this was proven by Commander Peary's experiences.

"The possible results from Dr. Cook's achievement will have no influence on my projected expedition; I am now planning to reach the point of the pole. My trip will be for oceanographic investigations. It would be highly interesting and I would like to know if Dr. Cook found a continent around the pole, but he was of necessity limited to mere visual impressions."

News Causes Sensation.

Paris, Sept. 2.—The news of the success of Dr. Cook, when it became fully known in Paris, created a veritable sensation, as it did in other European capitals. The evening papers here published long accounts of his expedition, and while there is a tendency to await the arrival of Dr. Cook at Copenhagen to secure from him proof and confirmation details, the press unites in praising the hardy explorer and in congratulations to America.

The best known French scientists are at present away from the city, either on vacations or leading expeditions. Dr. Charcot is trying to reach the South pole, while the duke of Orleans is at Spitzbergen, having returned to this island after interesting researches in Greenland.

Says It Is Valuable.

Philadelphia, Sept. 2.—That the explorations of Dr. Cook in the Arctic regions may lead to the cultivation of ivory from the Walrus and Eiderdown from Arctic birds and possibly to whale and seal industry, is the expressed belief of Dr. Edwin S. Huston of this city.

"I have always been of the opinion that the Northern regions of the world are by no means useless from a commercial standpoint," said Dr. Huston today. "Many of us will doubtless yet see the Hyperborian or under North Soreas regions carefully cultivated, as it were, for the ivory of Walrus, the Eiderdown of various Arctic birds and possibly if deep waters are found, for the cultivation of the whale and fur seal.

"This discovery would seem to disprove the idea of an open Polar sea and the possibility of reaching the pole by sea as was endeavored in the case of the Fram, the Peary ship."

damage to crops and stock throughout its valleys.

Suffer for Food.

Railroad traffic to the north over the National lines was opened yesterday morning when the first train since Aug. 27 arrived from Laredo. Traffic between the City of Mexico and Monterey is still interrupted. This city is taking steps for the systematic relief of the sufferers, especially the women and children.

The flood situation is a little improved, but there is a shortage of corn, beans and bread. Fresh meat is almost unprocurable at any price and fresh vegetables are out of the question.

Nearly every American business firm represented in this city has wired contributions to the relief of the sufferers, and the majority of other foreign firms have done the same. The railroad companies have wired that they will haul all relief supplies destined to Monterey free of charge.

Consul Aiding 300 Families.

Philip C. Hanna, American consul, is doing much to relieve the distress and is caring for 300 families.

Although 3,000 is now the official estimate of those in Monterey who lost their lives in the rise of the Santa Catalina river, to this total will probably be added 500 when complete reports are received from along the valley of the stream and its tributaries. The reports from along the rivers are meagre.

Cadareyta reports that 125 bodies have been taken from the river and buried, and at San Juan 457 were found by searchers. In Montcrey 853 bodies, many unidentified, have been buried and the work of the searchers is still far from completed.

Many bodies are undoubtedly buried forever in the sands in the river bed.

HANGS SELF IN JAIL CELL

quarters at Sleepy Eye and New Ulm and have known Somerville a long time. A business building at Sleepy Eye came into my possession some time ago, and I was induced by Somerville to trade it for some land which he said he owned in Missouri.

"I found this land, upon investigation, to be valueless, and appealed to Somerville to square the matter. We had some correspondence, but finally he refused to reply to my letters.

"I then determined to have a personal interview with him and to get some satisfaction if possible. I was armed when I entered his office, but was hardly expecting an encounter.

Claimed He Was Attacked.

"I had no sooner spoken about the land than Somerville ordered me to leave. When I showed no intention of doing so he picked up a heavy ruler which was on his desk, as if he proposed to drive me out.

"I was crazy mad by this time and began to shoot, not caring what became of either of us. I felt that I had been swindled and badly treated all around."

Hayner has been working for the Cuddy-Cavanaugh company in the vicinity of New Ulm and he left that place at 8:30 to come to Sleepy Eye. He is about 35 years of age. He said his name was John F. Hayner and that his home is in St. Paul.

George W. Somerville is one of the best known lawyers in the state of Minnesota. He has been active in politics and was a candidate for the Republican nomination for governor in 1906, when he retired from the state senate after serving eight years.

Mr. Somerville is a native of Indiana, but came to Minnesota when he was a boy. He was graduated from the Rochester high school and from the law school of the University of Michigan.

Three years after his graduation from the law school he was elected county auditor of Redwood county, and served in this office until 1888. In 1898 he was elected to the state senate and became one of the leaders in that body.

In 1906 he declined to become a candidate for re-election for the senate, but was a candidate for the Republican nomination for governor at the Duluth convention which nominated A. L. Cole. Mr. Somerville is a member of the Masonic fraternity and of the Odd Fellows. He is married.

During the time of his service in the senate Mr. Somerville was in poor health, and it is said his strength has not improved since his retirement from public life. He is 54 years old.

SOME TRIALS FOR THE POLE.

Some of the most recent or noteworthy attempts to reach the North Pole are enumerated below:

Walter Wellman, an American, left the island of Spitzbergen for the pole in a balloon Aug. 15, 1909. His airship became disabled after he had traveled thirty miles and he was forced to return.

In 1906 Commander Robert E. Peary, U. S. N., reached 87 degs. 6 min., equivalent to about 203 miles from the pole. Commander Peary is now in the polar region on another expedition. A relief ship was sent out a month ago to endeavor to pick him up. He started from Sydney, N. S., July 17, 1908.

On Sept. 3, 1905, Capt. Raold Amundsen, a Norwegian, completed the first voyage through the Northwest passage. He left Christiana on the Gjoa June 17, 1903, and arrived at Herschele island in the Arctic ocean in September, 1905.

In 1901 Baron Toll, a Russian, led a polar expedition party by way of Siberia, but all the members perished from the cold.

In 1903 Erickson, a Dane, headed an expedition and got as far as Saunders island, where they were rescued in a destitute condition.

In the same year Anthony Fiala, a young Brooklyn explorer, sailed on the ship America and proceeded further north than the duke of the Abruzzi. His party endured great hardships before they were rescued.

The duke of the Abruzzi made his expedition in 1900.

In 1895 Dr. Nansen reached 86 degs., 14 min., on the vessel Fram, which left Ingor strait Aug. 4, 1893.

Prof. Andree made his fatal balloon trip in 1897. He left Tromsoe, Norway, in his balloon, the Eagle, bound for the pole. Since his departure nothing authentic has been heard of Prof. Andree.

In 1883 Capt. De Long's expedition in the Jennette was lost near Henrietta island.

In 1882 the Greely expedition reached 83 degs., 24 min.

SHOULD HAVE THIRTY DAYS

Longer Vacation Favored By Chief Clerk of Senate Committee.

Letter Carriers Debate on Proposed Sanitorium Plan.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—In order to hold the delegates to the National Association of Letter Carriers in the convention to hear the full debate on the proposal to establish a national sanitorium for sick and disabled members, the rules were suspended and the election of officers and selection of the next place of meeting was put over until this afternoon.

W. B. Stewart, chief clerk of the senate committee of the postoffice department at Washington, addressed the convention at the opening today and outlined the work done by the committee to assist the letter carriers in getting favorable legislation through congress.

Speaking on the proposition that the carriers should have thirty days vacation each year he said that it might be slow in coming, "but I think you ought to have it and I believe you are going to get it."

Mr. Stewart's remarks were heartily cheered.

Over 1,500 Present.

The committee on credentials reported the total voting strength of the convention to be 1,576.

Following this the sanitorium committee made its report, in which was two propositions, one to raise a fund, either a sinking fund, or one by assessment, to build a sanitorium on the association's 160 acres of ground at Colorado Springs, or to have each state association arrange with a sanitorium for the care of sick carriers.

The committee favored the Colorado Springs plan.

The report of the committee met with warm opposition and the time for debate with the president fixed at thirty minutes for the opposition, the committee having taken up the same amount of time, was extended from 10:30 until past the noon hour adjournment.

CAPTAIN OF STEAMER ACCUSED OF SMUGGLING.

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 2.—Capt. Zeigenmeyer, master of the German steamer Erna, which arrived from Victoria, B. C., bound for Panama and Central American ports, has been arrested on a charge of smuggling. The complaint was sworn to by officials of the customs office in Los Angeles, and alleges that Capt. Zeigenmeyer and J. F. Solozann smuggled 800 Panama hats and other merchandise into this port upon the last northbound trip of the Erna.

Gives Morningside $74,000.

Sioux City, Iowa, Sept. 2.—Announcement of the largest individual contribution to the endowment fund of Morningside college in the history of the institution was made yesterday with the official statement by the board of trustees that C. W. Payne of West Side, Iowa, had given $74,000. Mr. Payne is one of the largest land owners in Iowa. His interest in Morningside college has dated from its inception, and for many years he has served as a member of the board of trustees.

SAYS WIFE WAS CRUEL TO HIM

Michael Marshall Also Charges Infidelity in His Complaint.

In his answer to the complaint filed by his wife in a divorce action against him, Michael Marshall charges cruel and inhuman treatment, threats to kill and a fondness for other men's company against the woman. They were married in Duluth, Feb. 24, 1906. Mrs. Marshall is now 20 years old and her husband is 27. They have two children, 3½ and 2½ years of age.

One week after their marriage, Mr. Marshall says, his troubles began, for his wife attacked him with a knife, with which she threatened to kill him. When she didn't succeed in striking him with it, she threw it at him, he says.

He names numerous specific instances of cruelty on his wife's part. She has assaulted him on numerous occasions, he says, and has unnecessarily humiliated him. June 6, 1907, he says, she called in the police without cause and threatened to have him arrested. June 30, 1909, she did have him arrested, charged with cruelty.

He says she has taught the children to have no affection for him and to be disrespectful. He says she walks the streets at night and puts the children in charge of incapable people. He says she is not a fit person to have the custody of the children and he asks for a decree of divorce and custody of the children.

WEATHER FOR AUGUST NORMAL

Temperature a Little Above Mean of Month for Many Years.

The month just closed was an average August, according to the meteorological summary issued by Forecaster H. W. Richardson of the United States weather bureau. The mean temperature for the month was 65 degs., which is higher than the mean for August since 1905, when it was the same. The mean of the month for thirty-nine years is 64.6.

The thermometer reached its highest point Aug. 15, when the temperature was 84 degs., and the lowest point was reached Aug. 31 with 41 degs. The greatest daily range was 24 degs on Aug. 12, and the least daily range was 4 degs., Aug. 13. The absolute maximum for August for thirty-nine years is 95 degs., and the absolute minimum 40 degs.

The precipitation for the month was 4.91 inches, which is the greatest since 1900, and which is considerable in excess of the average for the month for thirty-nine years, which is 3.47 inches. The greatest precipitation in any twenty-four hours was Aug. 10 and 11, when 2.82 inches of rain fell.

The prevailing direction of the wind was northeast and the total movement was 7,944 miles or an average velocity of 10.7 miles. The greatest velocity was attained Aug. 27, when the wind traveled at the rate of forty-three miles an hour. There were ten clear days, nine partly cloudy and thirteen cloudy. On ten days, .01 inch or more rain fell. There were auroras on nine nights, fog on seven days, and thunderstorms on five.

WILL NOT CARRY STRIKE BREAKERS

Railroad Employes Come to Aid of Car Company Strikers

Pittsburg, Pa., Sept. 2.—Another victory was recorded by the Schoenville strikers yesterday when it was reported that the members of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen employed on the Pittsburg, Fort Wayne & Chicago railroad had refused to take any more strike-breakers to the Pressed Steel Car company's plant.

A committee representing the trainmen called at the strikers' headquarters at McKee's Rocks, and after the conference, Chairman Wise of the strikers' executive committee stated positively that no more imported men will be transported over the Fort Wayne route.

Government Agents Hovland and Pignioli, with Sheriff Gubert, spent the day continuing their secret probe into the alleged peonage conditions inside the car company's stockade. It was learned that the box car jail, concerning which such serious charges were made against the car company officials, has been renovated and made habitable.

According to an authoritative statement, but three hundred men were at work in the car plant today.

NO PRECEDENT FOR SITUATION

Only Former Appointment to County Board Made By Council.

The choice of a commissioner to fill a vacancy in the county board by the unique method made necessary by George Tischer's death has never before been made in this county. On only one occasion, as far as is known, has a vacancy in the county board been filled. Some years ago, while William Butchart was serving as commissioner from the Third district, he was elected sheriff. As the Third district is entirely within the city of Duluth, the choice of a successor fell to the council of the city and Joseph Helm was selected after a hot fight, in which Ole Berg lost out by one vote.

The announcement that there are six candidates already announced promises a warm fight over Mr. Tischer's place. It is expecte dthat several more candidates will make themselves known before the meeting. John Tischer, a brother of the dead commissioner, seems to be the favorite at present, but there may be a change in sentiment before the meeting.

POSTOFFICE IS $20,000,000 SHY

Postmaster Hitchcock Makes Report on Department to Taft.

Beverly, Mass., Sept. 2.—Postmaster-General Hitchcock had an important conference with President Taft yesterday regarding the plans he had formulated for cutting down expenses in the postal departments. He told the president that according to the latest estimate the postoffice deparment will show a deficit for the fiscal year ended June 30 last, of more than $20,000,000.

This is the largest deficit the postal service has ever known, and Mr. Hitchcock informed the president that it was his purpose and ambition to show a material decrease in the amount every year and that he has control of the department. The deficit for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1908, was about $16,000,000.

Methods Are Expensive.

The increase, as nearly as can be ascertained, was due in part to extensions of the service, to the business depression during the first part of the fiscal year and to cumbersome and expensive methods of handling the mail and in other departments of postal work.

Mr. Hitchcock is facing the problem of how to cut down expenses so as to reduce materially the deficit and at the same time to keep the postal service up to its present high state of perfection. To this end he is to have complete examination of the methods in vogue in every branch of the service.

The postmaster general now has at work in Washington a commission of some forty experts examining the registry department, which has been showing a growing deficit year after year.

BANQUET FOR FAIRBAIRN.

Mining Man's Friends Give Farewell Spread in His Honor.

C. T. Fairbairn, manager of mines for the Republic Iron & Steel company, was the guest of honor at a banquet given at the Spalding last evening by a number of his friends. The spread was in the nature of a farewell to Mr. Fairbairn, who leaves soon for Pittsburg to assume his duties as general manager of all the Republic company's mines, to which position he has just been promoted. Mr. Fairbairn has been in Duluth several years as manager of the Republic mines in the Lake Superior district.

Those present last evening were C. T. Fairbairn, Dr. W. H. Salter, Mart Adson, W. B. Castle, Spencer Rumsey, Edwin H. Lee, A. J. Perrin, Charles A. Marshall and Joseph Maitland of this city, and Myron Sherwood of Marquette, Mich.

Victoria, B. C., Sept. 2.—Viscount Lascelle, aide de camp to Earl Grey, governor general of Canada, who shot a mountain goat and deer out of season during the governor general's trip to Northern British Columbia, was fined $275 by the British Columbia game wardens yesterday. It was proposed to proceed also against the governor general, but investigation failed to show that he had killed any game.

END MEETING FOR THE ADVANCEMENT OF SCIENCE.

Winnipeg, Man., Sept. 2.—At the closing session of the British Association for the Advancement of Science, a paper by Prof. F. Alway, University of Nebraska, on "Soil Nitrogen," brought out an animated discussion. Prof. McSweeney of Dublin showed the practical results in the destruction of vermin and poisonous germs in wood. Prof. Somerville of Oxford, Eng., read a paper on the outlook for the world's timber supply. He declared every country should take energetic steps to prevent wasteful destruction of timber. The officers of the association for next year are: President, T. G. Bonney, London; general secretaries, Prof. Herdman and Col. P. A. MacMahon, re-elected.

WOULD DIVORCE CONVICT.

Wife of Man Sent From Travers County Seeks Separation.

Stillwater, Minn., Sept. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—An action for divorce on the ground of conviction of a felony has been commenced by Alwine Gauer against Hugo Gauer, and the papers were served in the state prison by the local sheriff.

He was sent to the prison in 1905 from Travers county under a sentence of fifteen years for criminal assault upon his daughters. Mrs. Gauer is 40 years old and he is 45. They have seven sons and three daughters, rang ing in ages from 3 to 19 years.

They were married in Germany and came to this country from Trepyo on Nov. 20, 1888, and located in Traverse county. The wife now lives in Big Stone county, where the suit was commenced.

TO CAMP AT BIG FAIR.

Lyman Ayer Who Claims to Be First Minnesotan Born White.

Little Falls, Minn., Sept. 2.—Lyman Ayer, who lives five miles north of this city, is to be an attraction at the state fair, although he has not been advertised as such. He will go to the state show merely as a visitor and will occupy a tent on the grounds and remain there during the week.

Mr. Ayer claims the distinction of being the first white child born within the bounds of the present state of Minnesota. He is 75 years of age, but his abounding health and activeness make him appear at least a score of years younger.

In 1834 a son was born to a missionary couple who had come from the Eastern coast to teach the gospel to the savages. The boy was named Lyman, and he now says he was the first white babe born in the state. His first home was in what is now Pine county.

SUIT BEGUN.

W. A. Avery Lays Claim to Land Held By Northern Pacific.

Suit has begun in the United States court against the Northern Pacific railway by Waldo A. Avery, who claims title to the southeast quarter of section 3, township 54 north, range 15 west. The case, while a new one in itself, is but a continuation of the old fight for the rights of those homesteaders and others whose lands are believed to be wrongfully held by the Northern Pacific Railway company. H. H. Hoyt is acting as attorney for Mr. Avery.

Mr. Hoyt says that the supreme court of the United States has rendered a decision in which it is decreed that all script land must be approved by the secretary of the interior before a patent can be granted, and asserts that this was not done before Mr. Avery made entry on the land. The land in question is part of a tract upon which script was placed by the Santa Fe-Pacific Railway company in lieu of forest reserve land in the Southwest, and which was later taken over by the Northern Pacific.

ON THE RIGHT ROAD.

Duluth is on the right road now, and having found it, the work of solving the problem of cheaper living by developing near-by agricultural resources is merely a matter of public support and of unremitting energy. The Herald congratulates the Commercial club on the fact that it has taken up the work of providing a market for the products of near-by soil, for this is a movement the importance of which this newspaper has been urging with all the emphasis at its command. Yesterday afternoon the sub-committee on agriculture of the public affairs committee took the matter up and initiated the work. An organization, with the Commercial club as its center, will be formed. Producers will be asked to join, and they by furnishing their produce and the organization by providing a market can co-operate to the common benefit of producer and consumer. The work should have the earnest support of every citizen.

THE NEW AUTOMOBILE ORDINANCE.

In spite of a great deal of complaint about the severity of the new automobile ordinance adopted by the city council last Monday evening, there seems to be but a single item in which there is just cause for irritation on the part of automobilists. That is the provision that no person may operate an automobile without taking out a license, for which a fee of $5 is demanded.

The requirement of a license is perfectly proper, and the provisions in this respect might be made even more strict than they are. Also, automobiles should be made to pay special taxes for the benefit of roads and streets, because they do more damage to the thoroughfares than any other type of vehicle. Yet a serious question has been raised as to whether the proposed license is not too high, and whether or not this is the proper way to make the automobiles contribute toward the repair of the damages they do. On the whole it seems to The Herald that it would be better to make the license fee smaller, and to provide a wheelage tax such as Mayor Haven suggested to the League of American Municipalities as a means of making automobiles pay their just proportion of the expense of road maintenance.

In the interests of public safety, licenses should be required, and they should be issued only to those capable of operating an automobile. But the license requirement would be just as effective if the license were $1 as it would with the fee at $5. Often there are three or four persons in a family, or even more, who operate the family automobile, and to require each to pay $5 for the privilege does seem a bit stiff. The professional chauffeurs, of whom there are many, do not get large wages, and the $5 fee would be a hardship upon many of them. Owners would seldom pay the fee, because chauffeurs change places nearly as often as servant girls, and each new chauffeur would mean a new license and another $5 bill.

In general, the ordinance, as The Herald has said, is excellent. The traffic regulation features are commendable indeed; the limitation of charges for automobiles that are for hire has long been needed. The provision that no person under the age of 17 shall be allowed to operate an automobile could be bettered only by raising the age limit.

But it may easily be that the license fee is too high, and that a wheelage tax, applied to the automobile itself, would be a far better way of making the automobile owner pay for his use of the streets, thus allowing a reduction of the license fee to a moderate charge of, say, a dollar.

Automobilists will gain nothing by making fun of the new ordinance, or by resisting regulations that are obviously reasonable. The automobile has come to stay, but so has the pedestrian; and The Herald's position has always been and will continue to be that the pedestrian was here first, is more numerous, that the streets belong to him first, and that it is up to the automobilist to look out for the safety of the pedestrian. Injudicious opposition to reasonable regulation can only cause injury to the interests of automobilists. If public patience is taxed unduly, regulations will come that will work actual hardship; and this is not true of the present ordinance, with the possible exception of the $5 license fee.

THE PRIMARY ELECTION SYSTEM.

The committee from the New York legislature which has been touring the states in an investigation of the primary election system has returned to New York, and at least one of its members has given out his impressions of the system. He started in upon his investigations as an opponent to the system, and he comes back home in the same state of mind. He says the system is bad, that it leads to evils greater than those under the convention sysem, and that it would be a calamity for New York to take it up.

Presently a report will be forthcoming from that committee, and The Herald ventures the prediction that it will be against the primary election system. The committee, as a matter of fact, was deliberately framed with that kind of a report in view. One man who has advocated the primary election system was given a place upon it, but he was so disgusted with the character of the committee that he refused to serve upon it.

Governor Hughes is strongly advocating the primary election system, and is making a campaign before the people in its behalf. The boss-ridden, corporation-tainted New York legislature is opposed to it, and only by a campaign before the people can the measure be pushed to victory. The committee of investigation may be depended upon to do what it can to defeat Governor Hughes' plans.

The committee, in its travels, has bent a willing ear to critics of the primary election system, and of course there have been plenty of them in every state. Bosses driven out of their jobs by taking the nominating power away from controlled conventions and turning it over to the people; blind partisans who profess to believe that party harmony and party success are more important than the common good; corporation political agents who found the convention system an easy thing to work, but who are baffled by the direct nomination system: these and others of their kind have poured a long list of complaints and criticisms into the willing ears of the New York legislators.

As a matter of fact, there is not a valid criticism in all the long list that the New York committee has been collecting that goes to the merits of the primary election system. There are, in that list, valid criticisms; but they go to defects in various primary election laws, defects susceptible of cure by amendment, and not to the merits of the direct nomination system. The chief complaint appears to be that the primary election system "destroys party organizations," and the situation of the Republican party in Minnesota is pointed out as an example. The Republican "organization" in Minnesota is destroyed; it is scattered to the four winds of heaven: but the fault lies not with the primary election system, but with the convenion sysem which still prevails in state elections. It is the corrupt control of state conventions by bosses and corporation agents, and the raw, crude character of their platforms and candidates, that has defeated and destroyed the Republican organization in this state.

The Minnesota primary election law is not perfect; perhaps no perfect law has yet been devised: but it is silly and illogical to condemn the system of direct nominations because of defects in a particular primary election law, and because of the raw sores created by the abuses of the convention system in state elections.

A LESSON FROM GREAT BRITAIN.

One American railroad company is making the most out of the fact that during the last calendar year there was not a single accident upon its lines involving the death of a passenger.

But—

The official record of the railroads of Great Britain for the calendar year 1908 has just been issued, and it shows that during that year not a single passenger was killed upon any railroad in the United Kingdom.

Compared with the appalling list of deaths from railroad accident in the United States, that is a showing of great significance, and it cannot fail to make people think.

In 1901 British railroads had another year without a single death from accident, and in the last ten years the number of passengers killed has averaged only twenty-one a year. In a decade the official reports show that one passenger has been killed on British railroads to every 12,500,000 journeys taken, and one passenger injured in proportion to 570,049 journeys taken.

In the same time American railroads have killed their scores, their hundreds, their thousands and their tens of thousands. In 1897 the railroads of the United States killed 6,437 people and injured 36,731 more. In 1907, they killed 11,839 people and injured 111,016. In the eleven years between the figures grew steadily each year, and the totals form the appalling sums of 96,703 killed and 745,992 injured! The pace has kept up since 1907, though the figures are not now available.

In a dozen years nearly a million people have been killed and injured upon American railroads!

It isn't altogether a matter of high speed, though the demand for immediate wealth keeps traffic upon a tremendous scale of speed constantly. But English trains make high speed, too, in many cases. It isn't a matter of affording proper facilities, either; because English train service rival the excellence of American trains, and in some particulars surpass them.

But it is a matter of recklessness; of putting profits above consideration for human life; of negligence of ordinary precautions; of using tinderbox coaches and dangerous equipment; of opposing proper regulations because they make expenses; of keeping up dividends at the expense of safety.

Some railroad accidents are unavoidable; but the vast majority are clearly avoidable and preventable; as preventable, say, as typhoid fever and consumption. The prevalence of railroad accidents, the disastrous sweep of preventable disease—these are the results of social negligence, of putting property higher than humanity, of seeking profits rather than public service, of a delicate consideration of property rights that overlooks the rights of humanity.

THE NORTH POLE.

The world will not be certain about it until Dr. Frederick A. Cook can be heard from more in detail, but it rather looks now as though he had found the north pole. At any rate, he was upon that errand, and he has telegraphed back to his wife that he has been successful; besides, folks at Copenhagen say they believe he has found the pole at last.

We are glad he has found it—if he has found it. Not that it is going to do anybody very much good, for nobody has ever shown where humanity was going to be any better off with the pole discovered than it was with the pole undiscovered. But the obsession of polar research has bothered certain men so long, and has absorbed so much intelligence, ingenuity, industry and capital, that it will be a good thing if it is out of the way, because then these valuable commodities can be directed toward something of more immediate benefit to mankind.

For centuries Arctic exploration, either in search of the Northwest Passage or the pole, has engaged the attention of venturesome men, and the history of Arctic exploration would fill a library with tales of adventure, hardship, peril, disaster, bravery and death. The Northwest Passage has been found, and now, apparently, the pole is added to the map of known land—or water, whichever it is; but the Northwest Passage isn't practicable, and the north pole is of no advantage except to the man who can say that he was first there. Certainly it isn't worth the money and human life and suffering it has cost, and the chief thing of value about its discovery is the fact that nobody now need bother about it any more.

Straw hats out, oysters in.

Now that the tariff is revised and the north pole is discovered, everything ought to be strictly all right.

THE OPEN COURT.

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about live topics of general interest. Letters should not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer, though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective however.)

J. J. HILL AND THE GLOBE.

To the Editor of The Herald:

I have read with interest the letter of John Talman to The Herald, which has only just come to my notice. Its implications rather than its assertions call for a corrective. Without detracting in any way from the admirable work done by C. H. Grasty, justice may be rendered to others. I shall speak only of what I personally know. I have had no connection with any newspaper for four years, and do not expect to re-enter journalism.

From 1881 to 1895 I was associate editor of the Pioneer Press. I knew every detail of its policy and the reasons therefor. Never, in all those years, was there a suspicion of any outside influence. Never was I asked, nor should I have been permitted to write, a line that violated my conscientious convictions. J. A. Wheelock, founder of independent journalism, as the term was then understood and as far as the institution had then developed in the Northwest, needs no apology before its people from any pen. I know nothing of the internal history of the Pioneer Press in the years subsequent to 1895; but I do know that no reverses could ever have bent that intrepid spirit to any meanness of act or soul, to anything that his fine sense of honor would have construed as treason to the public good.

In Mr. Talman's article the St. Paul Globe and its owner, James J. Hill, are also mentioned. This gives an opportunity to state some facts that the people ought to know. I was editor of the Globe when Mr. Hill bought it, and remained such until ill health obliged me to give up work. I was its editor, still under the ownership of Mr. Hill, from the middle of 1903 until its suspension in 1905. I was also its general manager during both periods, so it could have no secrets from me.

When Mr. Hill first became owner of the Globe, I asked and received from him my instructions as to the policy of the paper. They were couched in these words, and were never abrogated, added to or altered by a letter. "Make the Globe a good newspaper and a credit to the town. If the paper can make any money, put it back into making a better paper."

During all these years I never received, directly or indirectly, from Mr. Hill a word, suggestion or hint as to any policy or utterance of the paper. If ever there was a newspaper without a "string" to it, it was the St. Paul Globe. That the people, after all, understood this is proved by the fact that, when the Globe suspended, it had the largest bona fide paid circulation of its history, considerably larger than that of the Pioneer Press at the same time. It was discontinued because, in spite of circulation steadily increasing, advertising patronage continued to decline. There was no other reason.

One incident tells the whole story. Once and once only I went voluntarily to Mr. Hill for advice about deciding the policy of the paper on a question about to arise. It was one on which men might honestly differ, one in which he might have a very large interest, and it seemed to me that he had a right to be consulted. This was his answer: "Mr. Pyle, I told you at the outset to make the Globe a good newspaper and stand for the best interests of St. Paul. You are to use your own judgment." I did so, and I do not know today on which side Mr. Hill's interests lay. That is exactly the extent to which the Globe was "chloroformed".

Men and manners, times and newspaper methods, change. The admirable things of today gain no luster from smirching the good work of yesterday. Least of all can any community profit by low suspicions of acts or motives, based not upon knowledge, but upon estimates of human nature as dishonoring to those who entertain them as they are unfair to those they injure. While giving full credit to the policies and the men of today, shall we not also do justice to the dead—and to the living?

J. G. PYLE.

WHY DIVIDE?

To the Editor of The Herald:

It seems to me that the means of raising funds for the tuberculosis hospital fund which were employed here early this week are open to some criticism. A woman was secured to come here and give a reading for the benefit of the tuberculosis fund. The entertainment which she offered was not an unusual one, and was not one which would have attracted any considerable audience were it not for the worthy nature of the cause for which it was given. However, the entertainer went around among Duluthians and sold tickets and got a number of subscriptions for large blocks of tickets for the entertainment, because Duluthians are backing the movement and wanted to boost it all they could.

After these subscriptions for tickets, amounting to many hundred dollars I understand, were secured, the entertainment was given, and the entertainer took exactly half the receipts for an evening's work which would ordinarily not have netted her a tenth of that amount. In other words, she was making money from Duluthians' generosity in support of the tuberculosis fund.

It seems to me that it would be fairer to all concerned, and a more effective method by far, for the tuberculosis society to employ a competent solicitor and secure these funds direct. The whole of the money contributed would thus be devoted to the use of the society, and would go more directly to the end that the donors desire. There was very little of that money which could not have been raised if there had been no entertainment offered, and I understand most of the most liberal donors did not attend. The concert idea, with its attendant share for the performers, should be discouraged, in my opinion.

A WELL WISHER.
Duluth, Sept. 1.

Two Lives.

Two babes were born in the selfsame town,
On the very same bright day;
They laughed and cried in their mother's arms
In the very selfsame way;
And both seemed pure and innocent
As falling flakes of snow;
But one of them lived in the terraced house
And one in the street below.

Two children played in the selfsame town,
And the children both were fair;
But one had curls brushed smooth and round,
The other had tangled hair.
The children both grew up apace,
As other children grow,
But one of them in the terraced house
And one in the street below.

Two maidens wrought in the selfsame town,
And one was wedded and loved;
The other saw through the curtains apart
The world where her sister moved.
And one was smiling, a happy bride—
The other knew care and woe,
For one of them lived in a terraced house,
And one in the street below.

Two women lay dead in the selfsame town,
And one had tender care;
The other was left to die alone,
On her pallet so thin and bare.
One had many to mourn her loss—
For the other few tears would flow,
For one had lived in the terraced house
And one in the street below.

If Jesus, who died for rich and poor,
In wondrous, holy love,
Took both the sisters in his arms
And carried them above,
Then all the difference vanished quite,
For in heaven none would know
Which of them lived in the terraced house
And which in the street below.

THE WEATHER.

Straw hats and overcoats; furs and oxfords. What is a person to wear in this kind of weather, anyway? It's great for the hay fever patients. Even the sturdiest case of hay fever would hunt cover in weather like this. The weather man looks for partly cloudy and slightly warmer weather tonight, with possibly showers.

A year ago today it was fair and warm.

The sun rose this morning at 5:28 and will set at 6:46, making thirteen hours and eighteen minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"Cool weather prevails in central and northern districts. Light to heavy frosts occurred this morning over Michigan, Eastern Wisconsin and Northern Illinois. The western lake region high pressure has advanced its center to the Ohio valley. Rainy weather is the rule in Kansas, Nebraska, the Dakotas, Western Missouri, Western Iowa, Montana and Wyoming as a result of low pressure conditions in the extreme Southwest and far Northwest. Somewhat warmer weather attends an increase in pressure over the Dakotas. Minnesota and the Lake Superior region. Showery conditions are indicated for St. Louis and Douglas counties during the ensuing thirty-six hours."

Department of Agriculture, Weather Bureau, Duluth, Sept. 2.—Forecasts for twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m. Friday: Duluth, Superior and vicinity, including the Mesaba and Vermilion iron ranges—Showers tonight and Friday; not much change in temperature; moderate easterly winds.

H. W. RICHARDSON,
Local Forecaster.

Chicago, Sept. 2.—Forecast for twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m. Friday:

Upper Michigan—Increasing cloudiness, with showers late tonight or Friday; rising temperature.

Wisconsin and Minnesota—Unsettled, with showers tonight and Friday; slightly warmer.

North Dakota—Local rains tonight and Friday.

Bad Start, but Good Ending.

Cleveland Plain Dealer: In spite of its inauspicious start and the handicap of an unfortunate labor dispute, the season of 1909 upon the Great Lakes promises to be prosperous for shippers and carriers. All records in the trade go back to 1907, the year when American industry was at its flood tide. The sudden check in industry that came in October of that year was too late to affect seriously the freight movement upon the lakes. The season was by that time too nearly closed to feel the blight of depression.

Ore, of course, constitutes the bulk of the lake business. It is, therefore, accurate to say that when ore shipments are large, the industry is prosperous; figures showing the amounts of ore handled are a sufficient index of the state of trade.

The season of 1907 saw 41,288,755 tons of ore handled by the combined lake fleets. The record month in the history of the trade until now was made in August of that banner year, when 6,806,810 tons were handled. For the season of 1908 the total shipments fell to 25,427,094 tons.

Now for comparisons with the present year. August is near an end and enough figures are at hand to indicate that beyond question the August record of two years ago will be surpassed. A new high record for the trade will be established. It is confidently predicted that more than 7,000,000 tons of ore will be handled during the present month. During July the shipments amounted to 6,883,025 tons, close to the previous mark.

Not only are the past and present eloquent of the improved conditions in the trade; the future, too, is full of promise. Practically all the high grade ore that can be handled during the rest of the season has been disposed of in advance. This means that the fleets will be kept operating at their maximum capacity from now till the close of navigation.

As for the season of 1910, toward which shipments and carriers are now looking, there is every indication that all standing records will be shattered. The lake shipping trade is on the eve of its greatest triumphs. Fifty million tons of ore is not too much to expect the fleets of the Great Lakes to carry next year.

Syzygetic Symptoms.

Northfield News: They were having a debate not long ago in the Australian executive council when the vice president stifled criticism and put his enemies to flight by the use of an expression which in cold print looks like a riot in consonants by the linotype operator. The president while making an address was troubled by interjections regarding negotiations which were taking place for a fusion of parties against the labor party. Although evidently annoyetd, he was quite calm when he turned on those who were badgering him and quietly remarked: "All I have to say is that what is taking place is the most peculiar -olitical syzygium I have ever met with." Some members who did not perfectly catch the word thought the senator had said "residuum." Others felt there was some hidden meaning and left for the refreshment room, where they assuaged their sorrows. One of the parliamentary officers who felt that his education had been neglected in the presences of "syzygium" turned to Webster for enlightenment, and found this meaning, which as the word was used by the president, was quite apropos: "In zoology—syzygy—especially a conjunction of gregardinideans without fusion of their substances." Incidentally it may be worth while to inquire whether the Republican party in this state is not developing syzygetic symptoms.

The Lesser of Two Evils.

Youth's Companion: On the first Sunday of their visit in Chicago the successful merchant escorted his parents to a fashionable church. Some of the hymns were familiar, and in their rendition the visiting pair contributed heavily, with the credit for volume in favor of the father.

Although not always in correct time, and sometimes in discord, yet the joy of the good couple leaped forth in joyous praise, and they did not see the glowering looks of nearby worshipers or the flushed face of their devoted son.

"Father," observed the merchant that afternoon, while his mother was taking her accustomed nap, "in our churches the congregation does very little singing; it is left entirely to the choir."

"I know, my boy," said the old gentleman, as he lovingly placed a hand on his son's shoulder, "that it was very embarrassing to you this morning, but if I hadn't sung as loudly as I did the people would have heard your mother."

TWENTY YEARS AGO

Taken From the Columns of The Herald of This Date, 1889.

Fred Le Margie, an old resident of Duluth, died today after a long illness. Mr. Le Margie was from Bohemia, but came to Duluth twenty-five or thirty years ago, homesteading a quarter section of land just east of Oneota. This land increased in value, Le Margie holding nearly all and farming it, until a couple of years ago it was worth $300,000. His property is now probably worth $500,000. He made a visit to his old home a few years ago, but soon returned. He leaves a wife and three daughters, one of them married.

Gen. R. A. Alger of Michigan has received the honor of being elected by acclamation to be commander-in-chief of the Grand Army of the Republic.

The Superior Journal has introduced a novelty in journalism. It has discontinued its editorial column and introduced a "family medical department" in its stead.

Mr. Hoff of Zumbrota will put a drug store in the Pastoret-Stenson building at First avenue east and Superior street.

Miss May McDonough of Minneapolis is visiting Mrs. Speed, 17 East Third street.

Thomas K. Hicks and family of West Fifth street start in a few days on a visit to England, Mr. Hick's old home. They will be absent until next summer.

An inventory of the personal effects of the late Charlemagne Tower, filed at Philadelphia, places the value at $6,461,004. It is estimated that his real estate will reach nearly $15,000,000.

MINNESOTA OPINIONS.

Litchfield Independent: We are watching our Republican state exchanges to see some favorable comment on the Aldrich tariff bill, passed by a Republican congress and approved by President Taft. We have yet to see the first word of commendation for the measure fathered by Aldrich and Cannon.

St. Peter Herald: Ballinger has established his right to be known as the Aldrich of the cabinet.

Pine River Sentinel: There's one article at least that the trusts can't buck off the map. The twine plant at the Minnesota state prison cannot supply the demand, and all twine manufactured up to the middle of the month was spoken for sometime before it was manufactured. If we could only include a few other things which the poor people have to have under the same conditions we'd soon be better off in more than one way.

Brainerd Arena: Whatever may be thought of Governor Johnson's attitude toward our national protection policy, he is right in his criticism of a particular stupidity committed in the name of that policy. In a speech at Vancouver he said: "In my belief, the greatest political and commercial mistake the United States made in years was her failure to effect a reciprocal basis of trade union with Canada." It seems that the governor has blazed the way in his swinging round the circle at Spokane, Seattle, Vancouver and Winnipeg. He left his marks, so that all who run may read. His remarks at each place were as well appreciated on one side of the line as the other, and it goes without saying his name and fame is spreading from ocean to ocean and from the Gulf to the Great Lakes. He seems to be the man for the opportunity.

Walker Pilot: The favorable mention column of gubernatorial possibilities is now being set solid by the country press in order to give all a fair show. When leaded it runs over considerably and crowds out the real news matter.

Glenwood Gopher Press: The importance of the office of lieutenant governor of Minnesota is receiving some deserved attention by Minnesota newspapers and in this connection the Gopher Press desires to second the nomination of Samuel Y. Gordon of Browns Valley, for the place. He is not well known outside the newspaper fraternity but we all know him to be a man of principle and backbone, who would rejoice to have such an opportunity as that office affords to give the people a square deal.

Marshall News-Messenger: Just as the entire population of the state had been aroused to the discovery of the two most notable men in the history of Minnesota to be placed in effigy in niches in the hall of fame, with a cinch that Judge Collins and Bob Dunn would be winners, along comes some antediluvian with an old legislative record of ex-Governor Ramsey and ex-Congressman Eitge being selected for the place. Why not a revision of legislative enactments downward?

Roseau Region: The state board of equalization died hard, as any political board will. Like mushrooms they spring up in a night, but to get rid of them is another thing. It was legislated out of business in 1907, but gave spasmodic signs of life last winter. It is to be hoped that it is disposed of for good. It struggled with tax problems for forty years and accomplished nothing. Conditions were against them and they were not clothed with authority to surmount them. The tax commission is more competent to handle the subject.

A Hopeless Outlook.

Life: The fundamental antagonism between Socialism and Christianity is obvious to any candid mind.—Rev. Percy Stickney Grant in North American Review.

Socialism in its essence, is a hatred of inequality and a love of righteousness, a spirit of discontent with things as they are and a spirit of aspiration after things as they ought to be, a spirit of brotherhood, and as such I believe it to be, in word and truth, the religion of Jesus.—Rev. John Haynes Holmes, minister of the Church of the Messiah, New York.

When authorities differ, what are we to do? It is obvious that Socialism is not at present like the Republican party, capable of riding two rails at once. Socialism is not an assured fact, does not control enough votes to make it a real present power, and hence has the advantage of making itself known without prejudice. If it ever gets to the point where it controls everything in sight, then we may expect differences of opinion as to its motives. But at present it is rather hard to be told both things at once. We can discuss the motives of Hamlet without heat, for whatever he was and whatever he did we can still eat three meals a day. But when the Rev. Grant and the Rev. Holmes are so diametrically opposed, and especially about the only program that offers any hope for the future, it makes us uneasy.

We don't mind being robbed day and night, or working in the interests of favored industries, or being told by Mr. Taft that he never in all of his born days saw so much sincerity in political leaders, and that everything is for the best; but not to know what Socialism is leaves us with a sickening sense of something going wrong fundamentally.

As Ever.

ON THE WAY.

We are moving to the country and our brand new bungalow;
We've finished with the packing and are ready now to go.
We've taken the canary and the parrot and the cat,
And we're all of us delighted to be done with that old flat!

We have left the city racket and the turmoil and the heat,
And we're glad to say adieu to both the building and the street,
The van man's gone before us and we're speeding on our way;
We'll eat our humble supper at the bungalow today!

LATER.

We have been here most a fortnight in this Godforsaken spot!
The roads are something awful, and,
my eye, but ain't it hot!
There's hardly any water and there isn't any gas;
The dooryard's full of mortar, but there's not a blade of grass.

We haven't any neighbors and we're broiling in the glare,
And the silence is so awful that it's more than we can bear,
The parrot's most unhappy, and so
likewise is the cat,
And we're all of us just pining for the old, delightful flat!

Must Stay in the Game.

Brooklyn Eagle: This bromidic remark was made by an acquaintance of a woman who, on Tuesday, drank a cup of deadly poison: "She was disgusted with the illusions of society. Although she had everything money could buy she was the most unhappy woman in the world." And so she made an end of it all. The woman was surrounded with the power to uplift and bless others, and yet she saw no way of escaping from her nightmare of selfishness. She left a note with only these words: "The game is not worth the candle." And yet she held a good hand and, as the pack showed, had she discarded her knaves she would have filled with hearts. But you cannot win unless you stay in the game.

"Easy. Whenever you make a statement, he says, 'By jove, that's so! Why didn't I ever think of that before!'"

Puck: Mr. Phan (roaring from the top of the stairs)—Mildred! What is that young man doing down there so late?

Mildred (sweetly)—He's just doping out how the teams will finish for the pennant.

Mr. Phan (mollified)—All right. Tell him to take his time, not overlooking past performances and the possibility of a slump, and when he gets done he can compare with my list behind the clock on the bookcase.

His Party.

Argonaut: A matron of the most determined character was encountered by a young woman reporter on a country paper, who was sent out to interview leading citizens as to their political views. "May I see Mr. ——?" she asked of a stern-looking woman who opened the door at one house. "No, you can't," answered the matron decisively. "But I want to know what party he belongs to," pleaded the girl. The woman drew up her tall figure. "Well, take a good look at me," she said. "I'm the party he belongs to!"

University School

We offer to the people of Duluth a school with the following advantages: Small classes; college-trained teachers; pupils, except in the primary grades, taught by men; no need of following a formal course of study; pupils advance as rapidly as ability for preparation warrant; nature study, experimental science, water color; free hand and mechanical drawing; manual training. The Principal will call on interested parties, or they may call 707-L, old 'phone. Term begins September 7.

ANTI-FAT DOPE PROVES FATAL

Perham, Minn., Man's Death Attributed to Flesh Reducer.

Perham, Minn., Sept. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Thomas Estlick, aged 54, died yesterday at his farm southwest of here, after a month's illness, which his family claims was brought on by the use of an anti-fat preparation.

He was a very fleshy man, and some time ago he saw a remedy advertised which was claimed to reduce flesh. He sent $5 and got it, but, after using it for a time, he became very sick. A doctor was called and found that his heart had been affected by the medicine, and that there was no hope for him. He leaves a widow and six children in poor circumstances.

LADD SCORES WILSON.

North Dakota Pure Food Man Criticizes Secretary's Methods.

Fargo, N. D., Sept. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—The methods of Secretary of Agriculture Wilson and his assistants from the department at Washington during the national pure food convention at Denver didn't make much of a hit with Pure Food Commissioner Ladd of this state. Mr. Ladd has returned from the West and reports the secretary is a clever politician and used ward caucus methods to round up the convention and get his benzoate of soda ruling sustained. Commissioner Ladd says the vote carried by sixteen majority but nine didn't cast a vote. He is very much dissatisfied with the results and claims the matter was nothing in the nature of a victory for the benzoate people.

TRAIN KILLS FARMER.

Jamestown, N. D., Sept. 2.—Gilbert Turter, a farmer, while crossing the track at Spiritwood, was struck by a train and instantly killed. He did not hear the train approaching and was thrown several feet and had several limbs broken. The horses escaped uninjured. Mr. Turter leaves a wife and five children, residing at Wimbledon.

BLUE EARTH PIONEER, HURT IN RUNAWAY, DEAD.

Mankato, Minn., Sept. 2.—A. D. Crane, one of the old settlers of Blue Earth county, died at the residence of his son, a short distance from this city, as the result of injuries received in a runaway accident Saturday. Mr. Crane, who was 80 years of age, was riding with his grandson at the time of the accident, and was thrown from the wagon, striking on his head on the hard road. He never regained consciousness.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

LOCATING NEW LINE

Soo Engineers Working West in Northern Clearwater County.

Hustling Work on Thief River Falls-Duluth Line.

Thief River Falls, Minn., Sept. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—The locating engineers for the Soo road from Thief River Falls to Duluth are slowly working west through northern Clearwater county, towards this city. Several teams are accompanying the surveyors to move the supplies from camp to camp.

The line as located through Clearwater county is some twenty miles north of Bagley, the county seat, and it also is heading straight for Thief River Falls. East of Clearwater county the line extends north of Bemidji lake some distance, touching neither the lake nor any town north of the lake, and continues along the north end of Cass lake. It is probable that a town will be established on the north end of the last named lake, as the location is one of the choicest about that body of water.

It is expected that the engineers will arrive in Thief River Falls in three weeks. Camps are being established for the construction crews by Foley, Walsh & Stewart, the contractors. These will be in operation before frost arrives and the grading will be pushed through as rapidly as possible. That the line will be ready for the steel in the early part of next summer is now an assured fact.

The new time tables of the Canadian Pacific railway show the Thief River Falls-Duluth line as the last connecting link between Chicago and Winnipeg, and it is given no little prominence in this connection. Officials of the road do not deny that through trains will be running on this line one year hence.

ROUGH SLEDDING IN LEGISLATURE

Wisconsin Politician Predicts La Follette Will Not Have Walkover.

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—"Senator La Follette will receive a primary indorsement by a great big majority, but it is my impression he may experience as much difficulty in the legislature when he comes up for another term as Senator Stephenson was obliged to worry with before he was sent to Washington for a second term," said T. R. Emerson of Burlington, digressing to politics here yesterday. "Senator La Follette is strong with the people, and if he were a candidate for governor this autumn he would win by a majority such as never was given a man for the first office in Wisconsin.

"In the legislature, however, will be several holdover senators who are not fond of 'Bob.' Their regard for the senior senator was not increased by La Follette's attitude toward Senator Stephenson last winter. It is well known by newspaper readers that La Follette's nearest friends voted against the election of Stephenson to the very last. La Follette did not want Stephenson for the long term and he made no effort denying that fact. He thought two years in Washington should have satisfied Uncle Ike and been ample compensation for the thousands of dollars he expended in Senator La Follette's cause when he was a candidate for governor three times.

"Uncle Ike knows the situation, and he is not a man to forget over night. Stephenson may lay low during the next campaign to give the voters a chance to forget how much it cost him to be elected last year, but just the same, he is going to work quietly for the defeat of La Follette. He has staunch friends throughout the state, and his position at Washington will be a powerful factor in his behalf. It is going to be an interesting situation. La Follette will be without a daily paper, and that is going to be a severe handicap for him. In previous campaigns he always had a daily organ that printed anything about him he cared to see in print, but next time he must blow his horn alone."

SELLING IRON LANDS.

Much Activity Is Reported on the Cuyuna Iron Range.

Aitkin, Minn., Sept. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Activity in the sale of iron property on the Cuyuna range continues.

Of late the most important deal during the past week was probably the transfer of the lands belonging to Frank Lindstrom and brother, just across the narrows from the Rogers-Brown shafts, at Rabbit lake, to the Cuyuna Land & Iron company, in which Archie Chisholm is one of the principal stockholders. The property has been under option to H. B. Blackwood for some time and he is the one who made the sale. It is reported that the Lindstroms received $25,000 for the land, and Mr. Blackwood turned it over to the mining company for $65,000.

People who are in a position to know, say that the body of ore on this property is 1,000 feet wide and that the grade is high enough to be marketable right now.

FIRST HUNTING VICTIM.

Iron Belt Man Dies in Ashland Hospital From Injury.

Ashland, Wis., Sept. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Arcargel De Diana, who was accidentally shot at Iron Belt, two weeks ago, and brought to Rinehart's hospital, died yesterday from lockjaw. He was out hunting in the woods and setting his gun up against a tree, and in some unknown way, the gun went off, the bullet entering his body. It was the first hunting accident of the season, and it was thought he would recover.

TRANSFER SET ASIDE.

Wade Parsons Not in Right Mind When He Transferred Property.

Minot, N. D., Sept. 2.—Claiming that Wade Parsons was mentally unbalanced when he executed a deed to his quarter section of land near Granville in favor of Hilda Lee an action was brought up in district court asking that the title be set back in the name of the plaintiff.

According to the evidence, Hilda Lee secured the deed from Parsons to secure a small loan. The plaintiff claimed that she knew of his condition and that he was not capable of making any such deed. Hilda Lee then transferred the deed to her husband, Oscar Lee, who in turn transferred it to Orna Lee, his brother. All three were made parties in the action.

Following the signing of the deed the Lees persuaded Parsons to go to Canada to his brother, getting him away before he had a chance to tell his father of the deal. Over a year elapsed before any of the family knew of the deal and the action started at once.

The court rendered a decision in favor of the plaintiff and set aside the deed.

BIG GIFT TO WINONA.

Two Old Citizens Donate Large Sum for Park Purposes.

Winona, Minn., Sept. 2.—A most generous offer has been submitted to the city council by William H. Laird and M. G. Norton, whereby to further the Lake park project, these pioneer residents of Winona agree to give the sum of $40,000 for the parking of the north shore of Lake Winona for about a mile between Sioux street on the west, a block west of the street railway bridge and half way between Lafayette and Walnut streets on the east.

This offer is made conditional to other work being done by the city and property holders, entailing probably an additional expense considerably in excess of the sum donated. Because of this and the various interests involved, the proposition is made jointly to the city council, the board of trade and the park commissioners.

GOODBYE FREE LUNCH.

New Michigan Law Does Away With That Feature in Saloons.

Houghton, Mich., Sept. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—The new Warner-Crampton liquor law became operative over the entire state of Michigan at midnight Tuesday, and with it many important changes in the liquor traffic regulation. If the new law is correctly interpreted, all saloons must close at 9 o'clock every night, excepting cities of 40,000 and over where city councils may extend the closing hours to 11 oclock or even midnight. But there is one thing that city councils will not have the power to change and that is the provision pertaining to the free lunches in the saloons.

It will be a violation of the liquor law to serve any free lunch in any salon or hotel bar in the state, and Houghton saloon keepers have reconciled themselves to the situation.

STOCKHOLDERS JUBILANT.

Great Northern Copper Mine at Hinckley Looks Promising.

Hinckley, Minn., Sept. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—The stockholders of the Great Northern Copper company held their annual meeting here this week. They have been dropping in for two days and visiting the mine, about four miles east of Hinckley. All expressed the opinion that a paying vein had been struck.

The others of the company reported that all debts had been paid and that a small balance was in the treasury. Negotiations which are pending promise capital sufficient to put the company in condition to begin shipping within a year.

Officials reported that in shaft No. 4, a four-foot vein was exposed that assayed forty-two pounds of copper to the ton. This vein is getting richer as the shaft descends. All of the old officers of the company were re-elected.

BOY KILLED BY TREE.

It Fell Catching Him in Such Manner as to Cause Death.

Aitkin, Minn., Sept. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—The 8-year-old son of Mrs. S. R. Chord was killed in an unusual manner a few days ago at Waukenabo.

The little fellow and an older brother were in the woods together and while the older one was chopping down a tree the other sat on a stump close by. When the tree fell it caught the boy's heel between the falling tree and the stump upon which he sat and crushed it so badly that he died from loss of blood.

Wells County Fair Dates.

Harvey, N. D., Sept. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—The dates for the Wells county fair are Oct. 8 and 9. It will be held under the direction of the Wells County Agricultural association, and arrangements are being made to make it one of the best fairs ever held in this section of the state.

HORSE SALE POPULAR.

Many Animals Offered at Minot, N. D., Snapped Up.

Minot, N. D., Sept. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—With hundreds of buyers eager to take advantage of the excellent bargains offered in horseflesh the mammoth sale conducted by Carroll & Hubbard at the Great Northern stockyards Tuesday proved to be one of the most successful and eminently satisfactory sales of a like nature ever held in the Northwest.

The bunch, consisting of 1,000 horses in all, amongst which were 300 Percheron mares with colts by side, weighing from 1,200 to 1,700, 200 yearlings and 2-year-olds, same class; 300 geldings and mares, same class; 200 yearlings up to 1,200-pound mares, together with several full-blooded 2-year-old registered Percheron stallions, was unquestionably one of the finest bunches ever seen anywhere, and the horsemen who came to Minot from all over the Northwest were quick to grasp the opportunity to buy.

BIG COLLEGE ATTENDANCE.

North Dakota Agricultural Institution to Have Large Class.

Fargo, N. D., Sept. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—The indications are that the North Dakota Agricultural college will have the largest attendance this fall in its history. President Worst has just returned from a month's trip in the West, during which he visited Canadian points, the Seattle exposition and attended a couple of national conventions at Portland. He is greatly encouraged over the outlook for the college this fall. The completion of new buildings this summer will enable the institution to handle the crowds better this fall.

FOR SELLING "DIGESTO."

Horace, N. D., Man Alleged to Have Sold Stuff Containing Alcohol.

Fargo, N. D., Sept. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Napoleon Chagnon was arrested on the charge of running a blind pig at Horace.

A lot of liquid called "digesto" was secured. It is said to analyze over 5 per cent alcohol and was a popular beverage with the transients.

Admitting his guilt on a charge of embezzling his employer's money while acting as driver for a local laundry, James Johnson was held to the district court. He was arrested in St. Paul and returned without requisition papers.

PENINSULA BRIEFS

Calumet—William F. Milford has been awarded the contract to remodel the Ryan estate building on Sixth street, now occupied by the Wieder Harness company, for C. S. Sullivan, who will open a moving picture house there.

Ontonagon—Announcement has been received here of the marriage Monday at Nampa, Idaho, of Miss May Gordon of Ontonagon to John Arnold of Escanaba.

Houghton—Sunday, Sept. 5, will be observed as Old People's Sunday in Grace M. E. church of this city. There will be a special service in the morning, intended for those who through old age and ill health ordinarily are unable to attend services.

Hancock—A meeting of the board of directors of the Hancock Finnish college is expected to be held next week, probably on Tuesday, the day preceding the opening of the school for the fall term.

Laurium—Johnson Vivian, Jr., of Laurium entertained a big house party at Bete Grls, where he has a summer home, over Sunday, all of the guests returning home Monday. It required five automobiles to carry the party to and from Bete Grls.

Calumet—Bert Rosevear, the former North Tamarack twirler, has returned from Moosejaw, where he has been playing in the Western Canadian league this season. The league season has been finished and Rosevear has made an exceptionally good record.

MINNESOTA BRIEFS

St. Cloud—Frank Stesket, a trusty, escaped from the reformatory Monday. The man was employed with several others in cutting corn in a field south of the reformatory. He slipped out of sight behind the high corn and before the officer in charge realized his absence he had gone a considerable distance.

Crookston—Crookston had a distinguished visitor here Tuesday in the person of Dr. A. C. True, director of the federal experiment station at Washington, D. C., who arrived in the morning and was the guest of Supt. William Robertson at the state experiment farm during the day.

Owatonna—A shocking death, either suicide or the result of an accident, took place at the James Lageson farm near Ellendale Sunday, the victim being Mads Madson, a young man from Denmark, who was employed on the farm.

Aitkin—Mrs. Kisa Aho, a widow, who was keeping house on a farm in Salo, seven miles out of Tamarack, for Axel Jusslia, died suddenly Saturday night without medical attendance. Dr. George, coroner, went to the place and found death the result of heart disease. She leaves five children, the eldest a 13-year-old girl.

Long Prairie—One of the finest monuments in the cemetery is being erected this week over the grave of the late W. F. Hitzemann. The stone is erected by the members of the Lutheran congregation of which Mr. Hitzemann was the beloved pastor for so many years.

Aitkin—Prof. Wilbur C. Cobb, the newly elected superintendent of the Brainerd city schools, arrived in the city Tuesday afternoon. Mr. Cobb, who was principal of the high school several years prior to 1897, has many friends in this city who are glad to have him again a resident here.

Moorhead—The young son of James Dyer, a lad of 12 or 14 years of age, was badly bitten by a dog belonging on the Dyer farm on Monday evening. The boy was seized at the wrist on the forearm and on the leg by the vicious brute.

Little Falls—The Trebble Ice company is to have a new icehouse this fall, which will be as complete and as conveniently arranged as any icehouse in this part of the state. S. Trebby has engaged a crew of carpenters to commence work on the new icehouse the last of this week or the first of next.

St. Cloud—Mrs. Magdalena Ahmann, mother of Senator J. J. Ahmann, died at the home of her son at Richmond Monday evening. Death was caused by the infirmities of old age. The funeral will be held Thursday morning at 9 o'clock from St. Peter and Paul's Catholic church. Interment will be made at Richmond.

Stillwater — Sophia Markuson has been transferred from the reformatory at St. Cloud to the state prison. She was given a reformatory sentence for forgery in the second degree in Minneapolis. Lately she has not been wanted at the reformatory, as there are no suitable quarters there for confining women and hence the transfer.

Stillwater—The Booster club has started upon new activities. The executive committee has chosen Gust Eckland in place of J. G. Armson, who resigned as director when made a member of the state tax commission, and will select a man in his place as president at the next meeting. W. C. Masterman was chosen as director instead of John F. Burke, who is out of the city a great deal.

DAKOTA BRIEFS

Grand Forks, N. D.—Contractor G. W. Buckingham of this city has been awarded the contract for the construction of a new bank building at Garrison, this state, for the Garrison State bank. The job involves about $10,000 worth of work.

St. Thomas, N. D.—Albert Sihring, for some time past cashier of the St. Thomas State bank, has resigned to take a position with the Dime Savings & Trust company of Peoria, Ill. H. L. Arnes succeeds him.

Bowman, N. D.—Though Bowman is one of the newest cities in North Dakota, it will soon have a complete system of waterworks, as the people of the municipality have voted bonds for that purpose.

Grand Forks, N. D.—The jewelry store operated in Williston by George Kent, and which was owned by George K. Munro of this city, has just been sold. Local parties in Williston took up the business and will conduct it hereafter.

Mandan, N. D.—J. H. McKay of Parkin, Morton county, says his wheat thrashed out seventeen and a half bushels to the acre on the lowest piece, and twenty-two bushels on the highest piece. It graded No. 1 hard.

Bismarck, N. D.—John Woods, eldest son of A. L. Woods, formerly of this city has been appointed register of the state university at Grand Forks.

Minot, N. D.—Confused by the passage of a cattle train eastbound just as the westbound No. 5 was approaching, John Rude hesitated a moment on the track beneath the viaduct and as a result is now confined in the Northwestern hospital with three broken ribs and internal injuries.

Fargo, N. D.—After listening to the testimony in the case of the state against Cash Hawley, proprietor of the West hotel at Casselton, Judge A. A. Walker bound the defendant over to the county court, fixing the bond at $500, which was furnished. The charge against Hawley is keeping a common nuisance.

WISCONSIN BRIEFS

Oshkosh—Word received from the Northern hospital is to the effect that the condition of Dr. W. A. Gordon is less favorable than it had been. The patient is restless and his condition is regarded as serious.

Stevens Point—About seventy-five feet of the metal roof on the Wisconsin River Paper & Pulp company's mill fell, badly damaging the paper machines. No one was hurt.

New Richmond—Theresa, the 6-year-old daughter of Mrs. Theodore Oachs, a former resident of this city, now living in Litchfield, Minn., was literally frightened to death. The child was playing with some other children near a schoolhouse when the curfew rang.

Monroe—To divide the Eau Claire district between the La Crosse and Ashland districts and merge the Madison and Platteville districts is a question which is to come before the West Wisconsin Methodist conference at Monroe this week.

Washburn—W. F. Shea of Ashland will be the Labor day orator here. The list of sports will be large and will include a balloon ascension, fire cable slide on bicycle and flying trapeze performances, water battle, horse races and others.

Oshkosh—George Kokos and A. Emondon, Greeks, were badly burned in an explosion of a gasoline stove upon which they were preparing their breakfast. Kokos is in a serious condition.

Ashland—Herman Schultz, a well-known resident of Butternut, died Monday evening at the Sisters' hospital from tuberculosis. Relatives have been sent for, and when they arrive the funeral arrangements will be made.

Madison—Magnus Swenson of the capitol building commission, who was injured in an automobile accident near McFarland about a week ago, was more seriously hurt than was at first supposed. He is not yet able to sit up.

All Who Would Enjoy

good health, with its blessings, must understand, quite clearly, that it involves the question of right living with all the term implies. With proper knowledge of what is best, each hour of recreation, of enjoyment, of contemplation and of effort may be made to contribute to living aright. Then the use of medicines may be dispensed with to advantage, but under ordinary conditions in many instances a simple, wholesome remedy may be invaluable if taken at the proper time and the California Fig Syrup Co. holds that it is alike important to present the subject truthfully and to supply the one perfect laxative to those desiring it.

Consequently, the Company's Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna gives general satisfaction. To get its beneficial effects buy the genuine, manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, and for sale by all leading druggists.

RECEPTION TO JAPANESE

Commercial Experts of the Flowery Kingdom Will Visit Duluth.

Commercial Club Will Entertain Them While in the City.

A public reception will be tendered to the honorary commercial commissioners and trade experts from Japan by the Duluth Commercial club, representing the citizens of this city, upon the visit of the large party of Japanese commissioners to Duluth Sept. 18.

In the party that will spend the day in Duluth are some of the most prominent and best known commercial experts of the Flowery Kingdom. The party, including the trade experts from various parts of the United States, who will accompany the Japanese commercial men here, will number about seventy-five members. It will include men identified with the commercial growth of both Japan and the United States.

The object of the trip throughout the United States of the Japanese experts has been to get in thorough touch with the commercial progress of this country and to study at first hand the conditions that have made the United States such a power in the commercial progress of the world.

With this object in view, various cities have been visited. Duluth, with its immense shipping interests and its great mineral wealth, has been chosen as one of the cities well calculated to give the visitors an insight into one of the great industries of the Northwest, if not of the world.

The trip of the visiting party to Duluth will also include a trip to the iron range territory. It is believed that two days will be spent in this part of the state.

The present visit of the Japanese experts is thought to be the most important visit that men from the Orient have ever paid to this country.

The details of the reception by the citizens of this city, through the medium of the Commercial club, have not been decided upon as yet. A meeting will be called in the near future to take the matter up. However, it is planned to give the visitors a public reception.

The following members of the Japanese delegation will come to Duluth, in addition to the commercial experts from various cities and territories of this country, whose names have not been received as yet:

Tokio.

BREAKING THE SHACKLES CUPID FORGED BY MISTAKE

Seven Victims of Unhappy Marriages Granted Their Freedom.

Divorce Day in the District Court Keeps Two Judges Busy.

The shackles of unhappy marriage were stricken from seven couples this morning in district court, Judge Ensign freeing four and Judge Dibell three. In one case Judge Ensign did not think the evidence was sufficient and, on motion of the plaintiff, the case was continued until the next term. One case was stricken, another was dismissed on motion of the plaintiff's attorney and another was taken under advisement by Judge Dibell.

Men figured in five of the cases that were before the court today, and women were the complainants in the other six. Desertion was the principal ground on which separation was asked, but drunkenness, cruelty and statutory charges also figured.

Theodore Bethke didn't like a woman who was visiting his wife, and he turned her out of the house. Thereupon, he testified, his wife packed up her clothes and moved upstairs to her former home. All of his entreaties to her to return were in vain, he said, and he obtained his freedom. He is 31 years old, and his wife 29. They were married in Duluth in 1906 and lived together until August, 1907, when the desertion took place.

Jennie McDonald told the court that Allen McDonald, her husband, was very cruel to her. He came home on numerous occasions intoxicated and beat and bruised her. One night in winter, he took a chair to hit her and she ran out into the snow clad only in a nightdress, with bare feet. Her husband then locked the door on her, she said, and it was some time before her husband let her in the back door. She is 41 years old and her husband is 52. They were married in Duluth, Sept. 1, 1906, and have no children. The decree was granted.

Joseph E. Fox said that the discovery of his wife in a Superior hotel with another man in July of this year was the last straw. He sued her for divorce on statutory grounds and Judge Dibell granted his plea. Fox is 26 years old and his wife is 27. They were married in Duluth, Dec. 12, 1904, and have no children.

Beatrice Brandamon, who is now 18 years old, and Adolph Brandamon, who is 22, were married at Hancock, Mich., Jan. 29, 1906. June 26 of the same year, Brandamon was sentenced to the Michigan State reformatory at Ionia for an indeterminate sentence of from one to five years. Mrs. Brandamon considers that sufficient ground for divorce and Judge Dibell took the case under advisement.

C. N. Rogers, aged 33, and Lizzie Rogers, aged 31, were married at Hurley, Wis., July 10, 1896. For about ten years they lived together and then about June 1, 1906, Mrs. Rogers deserted, he said. Witnesses testified that she is of immoral character and has been sent to the county jail from the range recently. The divorce was granted.

Karl Hegg must get more evidence before he can secure a divorce from Aagot Hegg. The case was continued to allow further evidence to be secured, Judge Ensign refusing to grant the decree on the showing. In passing on the case he said the courts have not always been cautious enough in granting divorces to men who left their wives on the other side of the ocean. He said the showing must be conclusive that the woman refused to come to this country and join her husband.

Hegg is 33 years old and his wife is 39. They were married in Norway Jan. 6, 1900, and he came to this country in 1903 with her consent and with the understanding that she was to join him here later. He said on the stand that she has refused several times to join him, although he has offered to give her the money to come. In a letter to the court, she denied that she had ever refused to come. She said that her husband had always given her to understand that he would return and she has been ready to come to this country whenever he saw fit.

The letter, Judge Ensign said, was so directly contradictory that he did not feel like granting the divorce unless an unequivocal refusal on her part to come to this country was shown.

Mellie Goodell left Duluth for Ithaca, N. Y., June 12, 1908, W. H. Goodell told Judge Ensign this morning, ostensibly on a visit. She never returned and has refused to come back. His request for a decree of divorce was granted. Goodell is 69 years old and his wife is 63. They were married in 1906 at Ithaca, N. Y., and came to Duluth to live. Goodell said he has always treated his wife well and he didn't know of any reason for her desertion.

Tilly Stewart was granted a decree of divorce on the showing that her husband had deserted her April 1, 1908. She is 39 years old and her husband is 30. They were married at Ironwood, Mich., May 1, 1901, and lived together until his desertion.

Rachel Ella Venning and Frederick A. Venning were married in 1896. She is 31 years old and he is 45. Three weeks after their marriage, she said, her husband began to abuse her, and all during their married life he has treated her with cruelty. They lived at Hibbing and he worked very seldom, she supporting him during nearly all of the time. Last March, she said, he kicked her in the back on one occasion, and on several different occasions he had beaten her, had thrown flatirons at her and had otherwise abused her. There are three children, and she was given their custody with the divorce.

Elsie Knutson was on the stand telling of abuses heaped upon her by John Knutson, when her attorney discovered that their relations have not been as strained as he was led to suppose. He therefore moved for a dismissal of the case and his motion was granted. The couple were married Sept. 19, 1891, and they have two children.

The case of Mattie Myra Poling vs. Elmer E. Poling was stricken from the calendar.

Three divorce cases were disposed of by Judge Ensign yesterday afternoon. Decrees were granted to Agnes Rose from Herman H. Rose and to Carrie E. Porterfield from John R. Porterfield. The case of Anna M. Violette vs. Leonard Violette was dismissed.

It is expected the divorce actions will all be disposed of this afternoon and tomorrow morning.

DESTROYER SETS NEW NAVAL SPEED RECORD.

Rockland, Me., Sept. 2.—A record three knots faster than any ship in the United States navy was scored by the Bath built torpedo boat destroyer Flusser in a standardization trial, the first of her official trials on the Rockland course. Her first mile was made at the rate of 36.7 knots an hour, while another was at the rate of 33.4 knots. The average of her five to six speed runs was 32.7 knots.

WILL WAGE WAR ON DEAD BEATS

The Local Merchants Are Forming a New Credit Association.

Nearly every merchant in the city, representing all lines, will be a member of the new credit association, the preliminary organization of which was effected last evening at a meeting in the Builders' exchange rooms in the Lyceum building. The object of the association will be to prevent the members from being worsted in business deals by dead-beats, and to collect bad accounts.

B. Silberstein was chairman of the meeting, and T. W. Walker of the Grocers' association was secretary. The incorporators of the association will be: Charles Kauppi of Olson & Kauppi, grocers; T. W. Walker, R. D. Annis of the Northern Hardware company, B. F. Neff, grocer, and Felix Seligman of the Columbia Clothing company.

Short talks were made during the meeting by George H. Schulenburg, J. M. Gidding, H. H. Borgen, Charles Kauppi, B. F. Neff, J. E. Roos, A. C. Pearson, C. S. Nixon, Felix Seligman, M. Freimuth, John Larson and John Hollihan.

G. W. C. Ross of the firm of Ross & McKnight presented the draft of the incorporation papers for the association, which will probably be filed soon.

Bad Bozeman, Mont., Fire.

Bozeman, Mont., Sept. 2.—Fire Sunday destroyed the Northern Pacific freight depot and warehouse and a dozen loaded boxcars. The loss is estimated at $50,000. The origin of the fire is not known. When discovered, the building was full of smoke. It is expected the buildings will be replaced at once.

Milwaukee Brakeman Killed.

Miles City, Mont., Sept. 2.—C. M. Sanqust, 25 years of age, a brakeman, was killed yesterday by falling off a freight train. His left arm was cut off at the shoulder and there was a deep cut on the top of his head. Sanquist was placed on the operating table, but died before anything could be done.

Montana Boy Drowned.

Kalispell, Mont., Sept. 2.—George Spotts, the 16-year-old son of Charles Spotts, was drowned in the Whitefish river, ten miles north of here, late yesterday afternoon, while swimming. The body was recovered.

MARINE

BRAVERY OF OFFICERS

Prevented Fire on Northern King From Gaining Headway.

Engineers Stuck By Pumps ---Boat Headed Into Gale.

Sault, Ste. Marie, Mich., Sept. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Authentic news of the burning of the Mutual Transit company's steamer off Whitefish point late Tuesday afternoon, reached here this morning. The steamer was not the Northern Wave as was at first reported, but the Northern King. The Northern King went up Tuesday morning and was about a mile out from Whitefish about 4 o'clock in the afternoon when the fire broke out. A fierce gale was blowing and it is said that it caused the cook stove to upset. With the gale the flames soon spread to all parts of the cabin. The captain headed his vessel about for the shore behind Whitefish point. Twenty boats answered. They all saw the plight of the vessel. Two local tugs and a Standard Oil tug started out to assist the distressed vessel, but did not get near enough owing to the high sea running. Her heading about into the trough of the sea caused the waves to wash over her, which helped greatly to put out the flames. When calmer water was reached behind the point the Northern Wind ran alongside and added several streams to those already playing on it. During the excitement it is said the crew was badly frightened, and it was only due to the plucky stand made by the captain and engineer in staying below in the engine room keeping the pumps going, that prevented further disaster. Flames were extinguished about 7 o'clock, but not until the entire after cabin woodwork had burned away. Temporary repairs were made to the house immediately. The boat was off the point yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock. It was then figured she would get away soon. The Northern King has been having hard luck this trip. When off Detour she broke a shaft pin, and had to lay there five days for repairs.

DOCK LABORERS GROWING SCARCE

Harvest Fields Claim Nearly All Sixth Avenue West Austrian Colony.

The colony of Austrians, the members of which have lived a greater part of the summer on the old Northern Pacific dock at the foot of Sixth avenue west, is rapidly growing smaller.

A month ago the colony numbered nearly 250. With the rush to the harvest fields this number has decreased until now there are only about thirty.

These men loaded and unloaded the package freighters as they came, and the question of help promises to be a serious one for the rest of the season.

While a few weeks ago there were men in plenty, the dock foremen are now finding it difficult to find a crew large enough to handle the work. As this is the time of year when the freighters are anxious to load and unload in the smallest amount of time, the scarcity of men works a severe hardship.

A vessel agent said this morning that there seems to be men in plenty out of employment, but that they care but little about going to work.

ACTOR GIVEN A CLEAN BILL

New York, Sept. 2.—Raymond Hitchcock, the comedian, was given a clean bill on the criminal court records today. The court of general sessions dismissed the remaining four indictments against him, charging misconduct.

On the fifth of these indictments the actor was tried and acquited by a jury Jan. 10, 1908. When his attorney applied for the dismissal of the remaining indictments today, Assistant District Attorney Garvan, who tried the case against Hitchcock, offered no opposition. Mr. Garvan told the court that he was sure he would be unable to obtain sufficient evidence to warrant a conviction.

SOUTH SHORE SECTION MEN ARE DISSATISFIED.

Baraga, Mich., Sept. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—A strike of the section men in the employ of the Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic railroad appears to be brewing. Now paid $1.50 per day, the men have asked for an increase to $1.75, and they have been refused it.

The matter has been taken up with the company by A. B. Love of St. Louis, Mo., president of the International Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way Employes, and it is said that upon the outcome of his negotiations with the management will depend the matter of a walkout probably involving the entire system.

ANOTHER CRIMEAN WAR VETERAN PASSES AWAY.

Toledo, Ohio, Sept. 2.—Joseph Bier, 80 years old, killed last night by being struck by a train, was a veteran of the Crimean war and fought in the battle of Balaklava, being a witness of the "Charge of the Light Brigade." For years Bier has earned a precarious living by making wooden shoes.

This Week's Sunday School Lesson

WRITTEN FOR THE HERALD BY REV. J. S. KIRTLEY, D. D.

LESSON FOR SEPT. 5.
Acts 20:2-38: Paul's Farewells.

By Rev. J. S. Kirtley, D. D.

THE CONNECTION.

After the riot at Ephesus Paul went across into Greece, first into Macedonia, in the north, where at Philippi he probably wrote the second letter to the Corinthians; then into the southern section called Achaia, in which Corinth is situated, where he probably wrote his letter to the Romans, and also the letter to the Galatians. There he stayed only three months, for a plot was being formed to kill him.

Instead of going on through Syria and Jerusalem, he changed his plans and went north through Macedonia, seven companions, whose names are given, going forward and awaiting him at Troas. Luke comes on with him from Philippi. At Troas, a young man named Eutychus fell from a window and was killed, but was restored through Paul. He took shipping to reach Jerusalem by Pentecost, and when the vessel stopped for a few days at Miletus, he sent a messenger to the elders of Ephesus, about thirty miles away, and they came down to the seaport for a parting visit.

THE LESSON.

Review of His Work. 17-21.

"And from Miletus he sent to Ephesus, and called the elders of the church.

And when they were come to him, he said unto them, Ye know, from the first day that I came into Asia, after what manner I have been with you at all seasons,

Serving the Lord with all humility of mind, and with many tears, and temptations, which befell me by the lying in wait of the Jews:

And how I have kept back nothing that was profitable unto you, but have showed you, and taught you publicly, and from house to house,

Testifying both to the Jews, and also to the Greeks, repentance toward God, and faith toward our Lord Jesus Christ."

It was natural and not egotistical to recount his own efforts and the spirit he had shown.

I. His humility. That was his habitual attitude toward God, while he never bowed the knee nor cringed before men. That humility was intensified by the temptations he met; in the attempts of the Jews to kill him. His intense love for his people made his life an agony as well as an ecstasy. His tears came easy when the interests of others were imperilled, but he had a face of flint when duty was calling him to endure hardships.

2. The consciousness of fidelity fills his mind and he can unselfishly speak of it.

3. The thoroughness with which he had done his work. It was first of all a blameless life. The impression which he made on the "Asiarchs" is proof of the impressiveness of such a life even on the heathen. The forms of activity were varied and complete—private appeal and public speech on the streets, from house to house, with the humble and the eminent. The whole range of truth was presented, nothing held back through fear, or self-seeking or ignorance or stupidity.

II.

Facing Peril Without Fear. 22-27.

"And now, behold, I go bound in the spirit unto Jerusalem, not knowing the things that shall befall me there:

Save that the Holy Ghost witnesseth in every city, saying that bonds and afflictions abide me.

But none of these things move me, neither count I my life dear unto myself, so that I might finish my course with joy, and the ministry, which I have received of the Lord Jesus, to testify the gospel of the grace of God.

And now, behold, I know that ye all, among whom I have gone preaching the kingdom of God, shall see my face no more.

Wherefore I take you to record this day, that I am pure from the blood of all men.

For I have not shunned to declare unto you all the counsel of God."

1. Facing the Peril.

To their sorrow they hear from his lips that he is going to Jerusalem. Not that he is governed by an obstinate purpose only, or by sentiment or by fanaticism, or by a blind notion of duty, but there was a conviction in his spirit that bound him to his purpose, and that conviction was intelligent. He wanted in person to bring the offerings of Gentile to Jewish Christians and see if that would not help to close up the chasm that had opened between the two parties. And, as there was prejudice against him, he might, by this practical proof of love, have the joy of closer friendship with the brethren there. As if in bonds, like a slave, he is borne on by this inner determination, in view of what he hoped to accomplish by it.

2. The Pathos of it.

That determination is rocklike. Its strength is shown in what it faces: Bonds and afflictions, and no way of knowing when they will come, nor how severe, or what they will lead to, whether to prison or block. An uncertain future is doubly ominous. That such a future awaited him, the Holy Spirit had been making known to him, by some means, since starting to Jerusalem. This trip to Jerusalem was necessary to fulfil the ministry of God's grace to which he was called. He was sure of that, though he was not informed how he was to do it, beyond the healing of the distressing breach between two parties in the church. That itself would be a triumph of God's grace and of the truth of salvation by grace instead of by ceremony. The heroism of the man was in the estimate he placed on achieving his mission, rather than prolonging his life. Once be sure of having a mission and no amount of danger and suffering can divert a servant of God from his course. The prospect of suffering gave him no pleasure, for he was human, but he must have had joy in anticipating the triumphs of the gospel of grace. He felt the gloom of these elders as they separated from him for life, and he sorrowed at never more seeing them in the flesh. And this sorrow gave pathos to his suffering future. But go on he must. These brethren drawing him back, and the future forbidding him back, are not as strong as the power of his mission that binds his spirit to the vessel on its way to the place of chains and prison.

III.

Parting Instruction. 28-35.

"Take heed therefore unto yourselves, and to all the flock, over the which the Holy Ghost hath made you overseers, to feed the church of God, which he hath purchased with his own blood.

For I know this, that after my departing shall grievous wolves enter in among you, not sparing the flock.

Also of your own selves shall men arise, speaking perverse things, to draw away disciples after them.

Therefore watch, and remember, that by the space of three years I ceased not to warn every one night and day with tears.

And now, brethren, I commend you to God, and to the word of his grace, which is able to build you up, and to give you an inheritance among all them which are sanctified.

I have coveted no man's silver, or gold, or apparel.

Yea, ye yourselves know, that these hands have ministered unto my necessities, and to them that were with me.

I have shewed you all things, how that so labouring ye ought to support the weak, and to remember the words of the Lord Jesus, how he said, It is more blessed to give than to receive."

Those to whom he spoke these solemn and impressive words were the chief officers of the church—the elders or bishops, the two terms designating different phases and duties of the same office. Their responsibility was very great, such as any one might shrink from. They had the care and culture of souls on their shoulders. Notice what he commanded in detail.

1. They must look after their own religious lives. No church can well live on a higher level than its officers, nor can a Sunday school. Whatever they must do for the flock they must first do for themselves, for they were of the flock, and the flock must draw its supplies from them. If they must feed and teach the flock they must first feed and teach themselves.

A strong temptation besets the religious teacher to regard the truth as simply so much capital to do business on. Several powerful motives appeal to them—they are in this position by personal selection of the Holy Spirit, who appointed them to it; they themselves, are part of the flock. A sense of fidelity to themselves and to God must possess them. They have also been acquired by purchase even as a shepherd buys a flock of sheep. But in this case the price paid is the blood of Jesus Christ. This is a triple motive to which Paul can cheerfully appeal. They will care for others, as they come to be conscious that they and the flock are one; that they are all Christ's possession, bought by His blood; that the Holy Spirit appointed them to have the oversight.

2. They must give every care to their flock, and for reasons already rehearsed.

3. There were perils awaiting that flock. Perils from without. Pretended disciples would come in for the purpose of getting gain from them. These "rapacious wolves" were already standing around within the circle of the surrounding darkness, waiting for the departure of Paul, for they felt that he could see their glaring eyes. He saw some of these wolves; he knew that there were others as yet unseen. His heart is full of anxiety about them. Perils from within, too. The wolves breaking in from without may wear sheep's clothing, approving piety and applauding truth, as a matter of expediency; but there would be people rising up within and perverting the truth; twisting it to the purpose of their unholy ambitions. They would love pre-eminence and would win it. As Paul was speaking, there were several pernicious errors arising in Asia, as we learn from his letters written afterward from Rome, and from the second chapter of Revelation. His words came true.

4. An inspiration to them would be the remembrance of the great work he did for three years at Ephesus, which must not be lost, and of the noble example of devotion that he set them while doing it.

5. His commendation of them to God is comforting. He is leaving, but God remains with them. The instrument with which God will protect is His word, "the word of His grace," without which no teacher can train or protect his flock. What the word will do is expressed in the phrase "build you up." That is what it will do for the elders and the other disciples. It will lead them to a complete possession of the promised inheritance among those who are set apart to God's service, because they also will be likewise sanctified.

The parting prayer was very tender. Their grief was natural and noisy. Their courteous care of him persisted to the end, as they went down to the ship, keeping their eyes on him as long as they could see him, speaking as long as words could reach him, ministering to him as long as he could receive it.

WHAT THE MASTERS SAY.

The excitement and joy must have been great among the Christians of Ephesus when they heard that their honored friend and teacher, to whom they had listened so often in the school of Tyrannus, was in the harbor of Miletus within the distance of a few miles. The presbyters must have gathered together in all haste to obey the summons, and gone with eager steps out of the southern gate, which leads to Miletus. By those who travel on such an errand a journey of twenty or thirty miles is not regarded long and tedious, nor is much regard paid to the difference between day and night.
—Howson.

It is more blessed to give than to receive. Not more pleasant, mark you, but more blessed. There is often as much difference between pleasure and blessedness as there is between eating hoe-cake and hoeing corn. God's promises are not luxury, but beatitude.

Covetousness is to aspiration what a serpent coiled at the edge of a path is to an eagle on the wing. It is loathsome and abominable to want the thing your friend has; it is noble to aspire to possess its equal. The covetous man is a parasite.—Goss.

PERTINENT QUESTIONS.

1. Which should be dearer to a man, his life or his mission in life?
2. Is it ever possible for any one to say truthfully, I have done my whole duty?
3. Why is it more blessed to give than to receive?
4. Why is the purest flock in peril of wolves?
5. Which are the greater dangers to the church, those within or those without?

GOMPERS TALKS TO LABOR MEN

Trades Union Congress at Paris Adjourns to Meet Again in 1911.

Paris, Sept. 2.—Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, addressed the international trades unions congress again yesterday. He denounced international strike-breaking and declared the systematic immigration of workmen in times of depression and strikes in other countries to be one of the greatest menaces of organized labor.

Mr. Gompers' proposal for the organization of an international federation of workmen could not be discussed because the Amercian Federation of Labor is not affiliated with the European unions. but a British resolution of the same import was adopted. The conference then passed a resolution against workmen offering their services at times when dockmen and stevedores go out on strike.

The conference adjourned to meet at Budapest in 1911. Mr. Gompers thanked the delegates for the courtesies extended to him.

FIRST WOMAN HUNTER.

The first hunting license to be issued to a woman in St. Louis county this year was taken out yesterday by Mrs. R. B. Odell, 2533 Minnesota avenue, Park Point. Mr. Odell also took out a license, and between them they hope to have a successful hunt. They have hunted together in former years and Mr. Odell says that his wife is perfectly at home with a gun in the woods.

FOURTH IN TWO MONTHS

Duluth Has Been the Scene of Remarkable Series of Murders.

The Guilty Men Have Been Captured in Every Instance.

There have been four murders in Duluth since June 24, and the police are convinced the murderers in each case are in custody. This is considered a remarkable record. There can be no question that three of the guilty men are in prison, and in the last case, that of Adolph Mattis, who was killed yesterday morning, two witnesses say they saw the victim fall under a blow administered by either Adolph or Victor Matel, who were arrested inside of three hours after the murder at their home on West Fifth street.

It is a fact worthy of note that three of the four crimes were perpetrated by foreigners who had been in this country only two or three years, while the fourth, the case of Bjorn Ostby, who murdered his father, was under very exceptional circumstances. Ostby was born in the United States.

The first of the four crimes was the killing of Caspar Zumbarillo by Pasquale Barilla, the night of June 24, at Eleventh avenue west and Michigan street, at an Italian boarding house. Both men were Italians. The two had a quarrel, and Zumbarillo was stabbed through the heart. Barilla was convicted of manslaughter in the second degree, and sentenced to twelve years in the state's prison.

The second murder came early in August, and Italians were also the principals in this. Mike Rossi, with a long-standing grudge against Antonio De Meo, met the latter in the Omaha railroad yards, near Fifth avenue west, as the man was returning home from work, and shot him to death. He was bound over to the grand jury, and is now in the county jail.

The third in the list was the murder of J. G. Ostby by his son, Bjorn, at their home on East Sixth street, last month. The youth, who is only 18 years old, was enraged at his parent because he thought the man had treated his wife cruelly, and shot him twice through the head.

The last crime, yesterday morning, followed a quarrel at a wedding celebration. Two men, supposedly Adolph and Victor Matel, lay in wait for Adolph Mattis, and stabbed him while he was on his way home, at 2 o'clock in the morning. The principals in this last affair were Poles.

In the first murder the police caught Barilla the morning following the crime, as he was crossing the Interstate bridge into Superior. In the second, Rossi was brought to bay by a crowd of men and boys who pursued him for five blocks through the railroad yards, and was in the city jail within half an hour after the crime had been committed. In the Ostby murder Bjorn himself called up the police station, and waited for the officers to come and arrest him. In the last murder, Chief of Police Troyer, Capt. Fiskett and Detectives Irvine, Terry and Toewe were all on the scene of the crime within a very short time after the stabbing, and had the two alleged murderers in custody before daylight. They were found at their brother's home on West Fifth street, where they were hoarding. In view of the fact that two witnesses swear positively that they saw the Matels assault Mattis, the police think there can be no doubt that they have the right men.

NO STOCKINGS IN HER DANCE

Miss Ferrier of "Shepherd King" Emulates Isadora Duncan.

"No shoes and stockings in mine!" That is not what Miss Ivah Ferrier of "The Shepherd King" company said, but that is probably what she meant when she spoke of hosiery in connection with artistic dancing.

Miss Ferrier is not "sot agin" shoes and stockings—in fact, she wears them all the time on the street—but she certainly does object to them in the dance, opining that they contribute nothing to art, and therefore should have no place in a demonstration thereof.

Along with Isadora Duncan, Gertrude Hoffman and a few more prominent exponents of the barefoot dance, please array Miss Ferrier, for she is in that class, heart and soul.

This young woman fairly bubbles over when she discusses dancing, so enraptured is she with the art that she has grasped and clung to. She is the girl who does the almost-Salome dance in the third act of "The Shepherd King."

"I never studied dancing in my life; I just picked it up," she declared, "but I say that dancing is something more than a mere waving of the arms and legs. It takes the evolutions of a whole body to accomplish the real dance. The kicking of a leg or the swinging of an arm is merely twentieth century nonsense, funmaking. But the real dance! The Isadora Duncan style of dance! Ah! there you have real poetry, real Art—with a big A, please!

"I have only been a dancer for two seasons. In fact, I have only been on the road two seasons. This is my second year with 'The Shepherd King.' When I first went on the stage I wanted to be an actress. Oh! how I wanted to be a Maude Adams. But they put me in the dance number and I seemed to pick it up as quickly as if I had been doing stage dancing all my life.

"But really," protested the fair danseuse, "I have never taken a dancing lesson in my life. But I think dancing is the real thing. I mean to study it all the time and—say, I have forgotten all about being an actress. I don't want to be Ethel Barrymore. I want to be Isadora Duncan."

Milk from High-Bred Holsteins
Six Cents Per Quart

That is what Van Camp's Milk actually means. A rich, sterile milk—the best milk and cream for every purpose—always on hand when wanted.

The first can you get of Van Camp's milk will open a new era in your household economy.

No more buying from hand to mouth, no more shortage, no more waste.

No more germ-laden milk for your table. No more half-milk—skimmed or settled—to be used in cooking.

No more milk from mongrel cows—nothing but genuine Holstein.

That is why you won't go back to the milkman when we once win you away.

No Tubercular Cows

The chief danger in raw milk lies in tubercular germs. Millions of infected cows, milked every day, are spreading consumption at a terrible rate.

That is why every authority advises sterilized milk.

Van Camp's milk is sterilized, but that isn't all. Our cows are inspected, so we know none is infected.

Our dairies are sanitary in the extreme. Our evaporating plants are built without wood. We employ every modern precaution.

The result is a milk which is utterly sterile. A milk that is safe, without a germ of any kind in it.

Rich Holstein Milk

We buy none but Holstein cows—the world's finest breed, famed for their splendid vitality.

The milk from such cows is immeasurably better for children than the milk of mongrel cows.

This milk, fresh from the cows, is placed in a vacuum. And a moderate heat, because of the vacuum, throws off the water in steam.

Thus we take out two-thirds of the water, and the milk that results is as thick as thick cream. It contains 28 per cent total solids, and 8 per cent butter fat.

We use no sugar, no starch, no preservative. Van Camp's is simply rich Holstein milk, reduced for convenience in shipping.

Six Cents Per Quart

The cost of Van Camp's, when you replace the water which we evaporate, is about six cents per quart.

The 10-cent can contains a full pint of milk reduced to the minimum. And grocers give discounts on cases.

So Van Camp's is cheaper than raw milk, because your milkman's daily delivery costs more than the milk itself.

And you have no waste when you use Van Camp's. You never have milk left over. You open a can when you want it, and it keeps till you use it up.

A Cow in the Kitchen

Van Camp's means a cow in the kitchen. Rich milk or cream for every purpose—all you want and all the time.

Add one part water for coffee or cereals. It is then like the richest cream. For cooking or drinking, reduce as you like.

Van Camp's gives to milk dishes twice the richness and flavor that you get from raw milk. For this is whole milk, with all the butter fat, all the solids in it.

In milkman's milk, the butter fat rises and the solids fall. You don't get the whole milk from any part of the can. Then you let it stand and it separates more. So the milk used for cooking is rarely more than a half-milk.

You'll be amazed at the flavor which Van Camp's gives to milk dishes. Not the slight almond flavor, due to sterilization, apparent when Van Camp's is drunk cold. You get that same flavor from milkman's milk when you heat it. The delicious flavor that Van Camp's gives to milk dishes is due to the richness, the wholeness of the milk.

Don't be Misled

If you want Holstein milk, reduced to the minimum, you will always insist on Van Camp's.

Others may claim that common milk, only partly reduced, is just as good as Van Camp's. But it isn't.

And don't think that condensed milk, which is nearly half sugar, is anything like Van Camp's. Van Camp's contains no sugar—no addition whatever.

Sugar was used to preserve milk before the days of sterilization. It is entirely unnecessary now. If you want sugar, you can buy it for half what it costs in a can of milk.

And condensed milk, because of the sugar, is unfit for cooking. You can't use it as you can Van Camp's. So, please let no one mislead you.

The 16-oz. can of Van Camp's sells for 10 cents; the 6-oz. can for 5 cents. So you get one-third more for your money in buying the larger cans. Grocers give discounts on cases. The milk is produced at our dairies, located in six states.

La Crosse, Wis., Sept. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Al Cummings held the Outcasts to five scattered hits and they were easily defeated by the Sox by the score of 4 to 2. Pfeffer was no puzzle to the visitors, who hit the German hard and opportunely. The batting of Breen and McCrone and the all-around play of the Sox featured the game.

The only scores of the locals came through a triple and an error on the next hit, slow handling of the ball from the outfield permitting the second runner to make the complete circuit of the bases. Kohl scored three of the Sox runs, Breen and McCrone each batting in two runs. McCrone's stab of Leicher's liner over first was the fielding feature of the game. The Sox were in the game all the time and outplayed the locals at all stages. Score:

Batteries—Cummings and Mueller, Pfeffer and Klein.

SUPERIOR WINS AGAIN.

Drillers Dash Remaining Hopes of the Ardent Winona Fans.

Winona, Minn., Sept. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Superior took the second game of the series from Winona by the score of 3 to 2. It required twelve innings to score the deciding run. Winona made seven errors, which decided the game. Stremmel was found frequently, but succeeded in tightening with men on bases. Only four hits were gathered off of Baillies, but the ragged play behind him gave the game to the visitors. The result of yesterday puts a crimp in the pennant hopes of the locals. Score:

	R.	H.	E.
Superior	3	4	2
Winona	2	9	2

Batteries—Stremmel and Drill; Baillies and Burns.

Eau Claire Wins.

Eau Claire, Wis., Sept. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Eau Claire defeated Wausau by the score of 4 to 1 yesterday. Errors on the part of the visitors gave the home team the first two runs, the other scores coming as the result of clean hitting. Wausau played a ragged fielding game. Score:

	R.	H.	E.
Wausau	1	3	5
Eau Claire	4	10	0

Batteries—Schleffer and Johnson; Nicholson and Benrud.

Detroit, 5; Boston, 4.

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 2.—Detroit was forced to use three pitchers to win from Boston, the game going eleven innings. Speer was knocked off the slab in the eighth, and Willetts succeeded. He retired in the tenth to let O'Leary bat. The home team filled the bases in that inning with none out, but could not score, a throw to the plate by Speaker doubling Tom Jones, who was trying to score the winning run. In the eleventh Cobb walked, went to third on two infield outs and scored on Moriarity's short single to right. Cicotte was hit hard at the start, D. Jones triple and Cobb's home run in the first, and two singles and Crawford's double in the third costing him four runs. After that the home club could not touch him. Wagner split his thumb fielding a hard hit grounder, while Niles collided with Bush stealing second base, his head hitting Bush's knee. He was forced to retire. Score:

Chicago, 6; Philadelphia, 2.

Chicago, Sept. 2.—Chicago yesterday defeated Philadelphia 6 to 2 in a loosely played game, in which six pitchers were used. The game was called after the first half of the eighth to allow Philadelphia to catch a train. Walsh strained his side before he had pitched to one batter and retired in favor of Scott. A two-bagger by Cole and singles by Altizer and Owens were instrumental in scoring five runs in the fifth and winning the game for Chicago. Score:

SONDER RACES ARE RESUMED

American Yachtsmen Have Two Victories to Their Credit.

Marblehead, Mass., Sept. 2.—Sonder yachting for the President Taft and Governor Draper cups was resumed today with the Americans confident and the Germans hopeful.

The day's rest had taken away some of the bitterness of the two straight German defeats and had subdued the exhilaration of the decisive American victories of Monday and Tuesday.

The contest this year has been interesting because all six boats are nearer alike than ever before, and also because the Germans had apparently profited by the defeats of 1906 and had sent to this country yachts better fitted for the smoother seas and lighter winds of American waters.

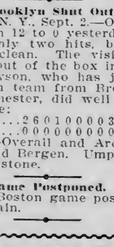

It was rumored here today that an effort would be made to have Mr. Oertz design a challenger for the American cup in behalf of one of the royal family of Germany.

TOURNAMENT AT THE BRANCH

There will be a week-end tennis tournament at the Spirit Lake branch of the boat club Saturday, Sunday and Monday.

Labor day gives the boat club members an opportunity to spend three days at the branch, and each year a large number takes advantage of it. An informal tennis tournament was arranged last year, and it was so popular that it will be repeated this year. The tournament will be so arranged that those who do not arrive until Sunday afternoon or even Monday morning may take part. All the games possible will be played off Saturday, however, as the finals must be played by Monday afternoon. There will be both singles and doubles.

GLEAMS IN THE SPORTING FOG BY BRUCE

How can we lose?

It looks as if we had copper-riveted that flag. There seems no chance that we can lose the bunting which for some years the fans of this old town have looked forward to winning. And in the general jubilation that will follow the clinching of the rag, the deeds of Superior should not be overlooked.

If you will go back a few games and recall the yeoman service that the Drillers have rendered us, you will realize thoroughly that it is partly owing to the efforts of the cross-bay team that we are going to float the flag on the Athletic park masthead.

Winona came to the Head of the Lakes full of fight. The dropping of three out of four games to Superior put the Killianites out of the running. If they had taken five out of four from the Drillers, or, worse still, taken four straight games from Lew's pets while we were breaking even at Wausau, they would have opened the Duluth series with two full games gain on the Sox.

Winona's even break in Duluth and then Wausau's even break here afforded the Winonas an excellent chance to win the flag at the wire. But the two straight games that the Drillers have taken from the Killianites so far in the present series between the two teams cinches the rag for the Sox, who, it must be said, have during the last few games failed to maintain the gait that has made possible the winning of the first pennant in the new league.

Credit must be given to the colts for the article of baseball they have played. It was a wise fan, indeed, who, at the beginning of the season, predicted anything but an mean second division for the youngsters. The most outspoken—and there were many of these—fans at the beginning of the season gave last place as the downy nestling place of the Sox.

Even as late as the last few weeks the Winona papers have stated with the confidence that bombastic utterance evinces that "the Sox here have really no fear of Duluth, "as the colts have blown and would crawl in." The erroneous impression of the young man who writes such information for the down state readers has been sufficiently borne out by the finish of the pennant race.

It was the Winonas—the team of old and tried veterans—that blew at the seer and yellow leaf end of the pennant race. The last great stand of the Winona team was made here, when it played three of the best games the team has played this season. In giving credit where credit is due, it must be said that the baseball shown in this city during the last series between Duluth and Winona was the best baseball of the year, and that the playing of the Killianites, including surly Joe, was about the best brand of ball shown in this league.

However, the vets have been unable to follow the advantage they gained on the last trip of the Sox away from home, and it is this falling down to the weaker teams that has put Winona out of the pennant hunt. The team is off the scent at the present time, and the glad flag is within clear view of the hard running Sox.

It is doubtful if the strongest team that ever represented Duluth was any better than the team that has played for Duluth the present season. Artie O'Dea had a great team here the year he galloped off with the old Northern league wreath. But, man for man, it is doubtful if the Duke's team had anything on the present aggregation.

The present team looked for all the world like a bunch of broken bloomers when the season started. Darby O'Brien was about the only individual who had any confidence in the team. But despite the awkward squad appearance of the Sox on their first trip home, the elimination of players who did not have their heart in the game for hustlers like Kohl, Neelon and those players who joined the team after the shakeup, has worked wonders and had made a pennant-winner out of an aggregation that looked for all the world like a team slated for the murky and dreary dismalness of the cellar position.

If there is one thing that has worked more for the bringing of the pennant to Duluth than all of the other qualifications of the team, it is the fact that every member of the team has been out for the team and not for himself. On the field the boys have always been fighting, calling each other roundly at times, but there has always been an undercurrent of good fellowship that has welded the members of the team into a baseball machine.

The same spirit that brought, or is bringing, the pennant to this city, was sadly lacking in the team that has represented Winona. These old vets have played at times an individual game. The Sox pitchers are the classiest that have ever represented a minor league team in these parts. It would be very hard to go out and get four heavers of the class of Marlon, Dauss, Cummings and Schmirler. But when everything is told about the team, it must be said that it has been the fighting spirit and the enthusiasm of the members for the success of the team that has resulted in copping the calleo for Duluth.

Now that Curley Ulrich and Jimmy Potts are about to renew that famous meeting that was so unceremoniously ended by the oil of mustard incident, we may look for great and exciting doings in the land of the welterweights. No matter which wins the coming conflict, you may be sure that the world will be challenged.

Jimmy Clabby and Jimmy Gardner had best gird up their loins and prepare for battle. Mike Twin, too, he of the bald and shiny conk, might prick his ancient ears to the rhythm of the coming battle. Curley does not believe in hiding his light under a bushel, nor does James Ebenezer Potts, and the world will be speedily informed of the winner of the serial oil of mustard story.

Curley has waited all these years to show a doubting world that he was there, with chine accompaniment. Of course, that unfortunate little affair at Philadelphia last winter must not be counted, for Curley really was not prepared for such a rousing battle. But he is prepared for James Ebenezer Potts, he is training to the minute, is ready to battle for a king's ransom, whatever that is, and if he wins he is going right after the best welters in this whole big world. Gee, it's great to be—what shall we say—visionary?

There was wrath and fallen hopes when the Cubs departed from Manhattan. When the Giants recently invaded the West and took four straight from the Cubs, right on the fantastic fan-filled inclosure of the Cubs, the fans of Gotham stood up on their toes and yelled. They believed that the team had arrived and would be right in the hunt for second place.

A whole bushel of "ifs" was immediately resurrected. If the team had not slumped at the start of the season, and if so, and if that, the team would be right up in the hunt for the rag.

Then right on top of the back-patting, this laudation of the poor, misguided Giants, the hungry Cubs hit Broadway and take four out of five games from McGraw's bunch. Truly, pride cometh before a bump on the concrete. The Giants are out of it, have been for some time, but the fans of Gotham hate to admit it.

With both Li'l Arthah Johnson and lumbering Al Kaufman training for their second encounter on the Pacific slope, it really looks as if the man brought into the pugilistic limelight by dear, loving, old Billy Delaney is due for the trouncing of his gay young life. The big California boy has come along finely, meeting such men as old Mike Schreck, who has of late only beaten—oh, we almost forgot—and Tony Ross, the overrated. Philadelphia Jack O'Brien trimmed the Kaufman person to a fare-you-well. It really looks as if big, black Johnson would show him up for what he is, even if the battle is only for ten rounds.

New Jersey Man Scores 636 in National Individual Shooting Match.

Camp Perry, Ohio, Sept. 2.—The Camp Perry tournament ended at noon with the President's match which Midshipman Andrew D. Denny, of the navy, won by the score of 316 and last night the camp was vacant.

The last teams to leave were the United States infantry, United States Marine corps and the District of Columbus teams, who at 5 o'clock started for Sea Girt, N. J., where on Friday begins the ten-day tournament of the New Jersey, New York and Pennsylvania rifle associations.

The military championship of the United States was won in brilliant form by Maj. William B. Martin of Elizabeth, N. J., who scored 636 in the national individual and the president's match.

In the contest for the military championship, Midshipman T. A. Thomas of the navy, was second at 634, and with the same score Midshipman Denny was third.

To President Taft, Lieut. Col. R. K. Evans, the executive officer telegraphed the announcement that Martin and Denny had won these honors. President Taft will write his congratulations.

Eastern Golf Tourney.

Manchester, Vt., Sept. 2.—A large number of prominent golfers of the East began play in the tenth annual open scratch tournament for the Equinox cup and other trophies on the Ekwanok Country club links this morning in an eighteen-hole medal play round. A special prize was offered for the lowest score.

The present holder of the Equinox cup, Frederick A. Martin of Dartmouth, Vt., state champion, was one of the competitors in the event which began today.

PRODUCE CO. HEAD HELD.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Charles H. Van Dervort, president of the bankrupt Peifer Produce company, was bound over to the grand jury in police court yesterday on the charge of embezzling $980 of the company's money.

The state's case is based mainly on the contention that a false entry was made by Mr. Van Dervort in the company's cash book and a corresponding entry in the ledger.

A SCENE IN THE GAME BETWEEN THE NEW YORK GIANTS AND CHICAGO CUBS

McCORMICK, ARCHER AND JOHNSTONE.

This photograph was made at one of the games between the Chicago Cubs and the New York Giants.. It shows Harry or "Bull" McCormick at the bat, Archer of Chicago catching and Johnstone umpiring. McCormick is a good batter but a poor fielder. If McGraw could use O'Hara in the field and McCormick at the bat he would have at least one good outfielder.

BREEN AND KOHL SOLD

Mike Kelly Will Get Two Fast Duluth Infielders.

Deal on for Dauss; Comiskey Was Caught Napping.

Mike Kelly, manager of the St. Paul baseball team, has purchased outright the services of "Toughey" Breen and King Kohl, the two popular youngsters on the local team, and at the end of the season in this league, if Kelly asks for their services, they will report to the St. Paul manager for a trial on the trip of the Apostles into the foreign territory of the American association.

When Kelly was here it was supposed that he had his eye on Marion, Mueller and Breen. He looked the three players in question over, and also gave a close inspection to the work of George Dauss. But the two players that have apparently taken the eye of the St. Paul manager are Breen and King Kohl, for these were the players that Kelly finally purchased.

When here Kelly stated that Kohl was a promising player and that he would like to give the youngster a tryout in the remaining games of the A. A. schedule. He was very favorably impressed with the work of Breen. If Kelly can correct several faults that Kohl possesses he should make a great player out of the youngster. Kohl has a habit of getting a ball off at the side, frequently permitting the ball to roll to the outfield. It is, perhaps, his greatest fault in fielding.

The King is only a youngster, and if he improves in his playing, as he should, he is sure to make a fast man.

With the going of Breen and Kohl, two of the most popular players on the local team, it is also announced that George Dauss will go to Sioux City. The sale of the player has not been completed as yet, but it is expected that the deal will be closed within a few days.

It is not often that anyone steals a march on Old Roman Comiskey, but the St. Louis National management has put one over on the old Comanche. Comiskey was angling for "Rube" Marion, and all the details giving the player to the owner of the White Sox were about completed when the St. Louis bunch beat Comiskey to it by drafting the big boy.

What will come of the other members of the Sox that have not been secured by draft and sale is not decided. Most of them will be here next year. Some of the players that go up may come back here for more seasoning. As far as possible, strings will be kept on the players that go from Duluth. It is hoped that a nucleus for a strong team will be had in the players that will return to the local lot next year.

If Kelly demands the services of Breen and Kohl immediately upon the termination of the season in the Minnesota-Wisconsin league, it is probable that some players from other teams in the league will be secured to take the places of the purchased players in the post season games.

NEITHER MAN HAD ADVANTAGE

Ad. Wolgast and Tommy Murphy Fight to a Draw in New York.

Pittsburg, Pa., Sept. 2.—Neither Ad Wolgast nor Harlem Tommy Murphy could show a shade at the end of their six-round bout before the National Sporting club last night. Throughout the bout each struggled to assume the lead, but fight fans declared that it was the cleanest draw witnessed here for some years.

Both fighters clamored loudly for a return match. Each round was divided between the two lightweight lads, and neither outclassed the other decisively at any stage of the game.

In spite of his defeat of Battling Nelson, Wolgast failed to show the form which is expected of a champion. After three rounds of cautious fighting Murphy tried aggressive tactics, which proved a dismal failure.

The preliminaries were rather tame affairs. Little betting was done on the main bout.

DULUTH MEN ARE DRAFTED

Marion, Schmirler and Mueller Will Have Big League Try Out.

Drafting Was Heaviest in History of Organized Baseball.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Sept. 2.—After having made the heaviest draftings upon the minor leagues that have been made within the history of organized baseball, the National Baseball commission last night promulgated a list of the draftings made by the major leagues and adjourned with harmony prevailing among the leaders of the national game.

There were several spirited contests in the meeting during the day and early evening, but none of them developed any real bitterness.

The principal fight of the day was in the case of Pitcher Vaughn, formerly of Macon, but now with Louisville American Association team and recently awarded to the Cincinnati Nationals, over the protest of the New York Americans.

The national body by unanimous vote agreed to reopen the case to hear the claims of the New York Americans for the services of Vaughn, and after the evidence had been heard, Vaugh was awarded to the New York club with the understanding that he is to remain with Louisville during the remainder of the present season.

The Macon club is to return to Louisville $600 paid for Vaughn and Louisville is to return to Cincinnati a like sum paid by the local National league team in the deal which is declared invalid.

In the case of Player Findlayson of Brockton, Mass., for whose purchase an agreement was presented by Brooklyn, the player was held subject to draft.

The commission took action upon motion of President Heydler and refused to make rule 51 retroactive. This referred particularly to the case of Player Olmstead of Minneapolis and Olmstead is notified to report to the Chicago Americans within forty-eight hours.

In case of failure to do so, the Chicago club is to have the sole right to draft him.

In the case of the disputed claims of the Cleveland Americans and Chicago Nationals' claim upon the services of Player Ludernis of Freeport, Ill., the player is awarded to the Chicago club.

The statement of President Dreyfus of the Pittsburg Nationals was heard in the claim of the Pittsburg club for the services of Blackburn of the Providence, R. I., club of the Eastern league. The matter was referred to Chairman Herrmann for decision later.

The following drafts for players were allowed:

TWO BIG FEATURES ON RACE CARD

American Derby and Massachusetts Stake to Be Run.

Readville, Mass., Sept. 2.—A cool northwest wind, which put more life than usual into the workouts of the horses entered for the pacing division of the American derby, carrying a prize of $15,000, blew across the Readville track today. This event had been carried over from yesterday on account of rain. The feature of the cards for yesterday and today were merged, the $10,000 Massachusetts stake for trotters being also up for decision today. A 2:16 trot and a 2:09 pace, each for $10,000, opened the day's program.

It is seldom that the scratch horse is picked to win, nevertheless the followers of The Eel, the grey Canadian pacer, believed she would lead the field home despite her start from the 2:05 mark, scratch, some 500 feet behind some of the two score horses up to 2:16. As favorites also was Asa Wilkes, with 180 feet, and Baron Whips with 135 feet over The Eel, were regarded as strong possibilities.

In the $10,000 Massachusetts stake event, sixteen starters faced the line, with Margin, from Lon McDonald's stable, a strong favorite.

FROLIC ADDS TO ITS LEAD

Cinches First Place in Series of Races for 18-Footers.

In the race for the trophy offered by the Duluth Boat club the Frolic further added to its lead over the other three boats by winning the race of last evening.. The race of last night gives the Frolic a total of 28 points for the club trophy, its nearest competitor having 18 points. The winning of the race of last evening makes it certain that the trophy will go to the boat sailed by Pierce and Levins.

The Spray took second place last evening, the Thistle was third and the Edola fourth. The race of last evening gives the Frolic 28 points for the series thus far sailed, the Thistle and Spray 18 and the Edola 15. Two races yet remain to be sailed for the club trophy, and the fight for second position will be a very closely contested one.

The elapsed time and the finish of the boats is given below:

Frolic, Pierce and Levins	7:45:35
Spray, Waterworth and Holgate	7:48:30
Thistle, Harris and Allen Trux	7:48:45
Edola, Lonegren and Stinchfield	7:49:30

A Narrow Escape.

Edgar N. Bayliss, a merchant of Robinsonville, Del., wrote: "About two years ago I was thin and sick, and coughed all the time and if I did not have consumption, it was near to it. I commenced using Foley's Honey and Tar, and it stopped my cough, and I am now entirely well, and have gained twenty-eight pounds, all due to the good results from taking Foley's Honey and Tar. CONCERNING WOMAN.

The committees in charge of the program for the annual meeting of the Minnesota State Federation of Women's clubs are working industriously to arrange an interesting series of meetings for the sessions which will be held at Lake City, Sept. 21 to 24.

Equal suffrage will be discussed at the meeting for the first time in the history of the federation and the question will be presented from all points. The following speakers have been invited to give their views before the meeting: Mrs. J. L. Washburn of this city, A. H. Bright, a Minneapolis lawyer; Mrs. A. H. Mudeking of Owatonna, Miss Emily Dobbin of St. Paul, Mrs. C. M. Patek of Brainerd, Mrs. A. C. Hinckley of Claremont, Mrs. G. F. Silvester of Plainview, Mrs. J. W. Straight of St. Paul and Mrs. G. O. Welch of Fergus Falls. Duluth club women will be much interested in Mrs. Washburn's paper for her interest in suffrage in the past has been that of one who approves of it theoretically, but prefers to give other matters her interested attention.

One entire session of the federation meeting will be devoted to industrial interests of women.

Miss Nesta E. Edwards of St. Paul, will present the subject from the workers' point of view. Mrs. Perry Starkweather, so fully equipped to speak, will also appear, and Miss Margaret Evans of Northfield, former state president, will contribute to the discussion by recounting her impressions of women laborers in England, obtained during a recent visit.

The committee in charge has invited Dr. Graham Taylor of Chicago to appear Thursday evening and talk about settlement work, he being an expert engaged in that line of work.

Heretofore music has not been introduced as a study in these annual meetings, but this year there will be a group of papers on the subject. Miss Caroline V. Smith of Winona, chairman of the music committee, has prepared this program:

Address, "The Organized Lecture Course in Music and Community Music," Mrs. W. O. Fryberger, Minneapolis.

"The Music Club and Community Music," Mrs. A. H. Snow, Winona.

"The Music of the Church as Related to Community Music," Mrs. Carl Ruggles, Winona.

"The Music of the Home in Its Relation to Community Music," Mrs. Russell R. Dorr, St. Paul.

Duluth will have several representatives at the meeting although as yet the delegates have not been named by the various clubs.

HOME CEREMONY.

Miss EllRose Taylor Is a September Bride.

The wedding of Miss EllRose Taylor, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. A. C. Taylor, to Arthur Hanford, took place last evening at the home of the bride's parents at 1115 East Third street. The rooms were prettily decorated in the late summer flowers. In the living room, where the service was read, white sweet peas and cedar were the decorations. The wedding music was played at 8 o'clock by La Brosse's orchestra and the service was read by the Rev. M. S. Rice of the First Methodist church. There were no attendants. The bride wore a gown of white duchess satin with a long tulle veil, and carried a bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley.

Following the ceremony a large reception was held. In the hall asters and roses were the decorations, in the dining room and library pink sweet peas were the decorations. The assisting hostesses were Mrs. J. A. Watterworth, Mrs. A. W. Bradley, Mrs. C. A. Duncan and Mrs. Clarence Taylor.

Mr. and Mrs. Edstrom will be at home at 121 Exeter street.

A NEW STAR IN THE OPERATIC HEAVENS

FEDERICO CARASA.

Federico Carasa, Hammerstein's new young tenor, sang in "Aida" last night. He is a modest young man, virtually a debutant, as he has only sung in opera at Ghent, Belgium, and a few performances at Covent Garden when Mr. Hammerstein took him on a five years' contract. He is a Spaniard, hailing from San Sebastian, where from the time he was 17 years old he sang in the Orpheon, a noted choral society. He is only 21 years old, but sings all the repertoire of Tamagno and Caruso. He has a powerful voice, melodious and reaching up to high D.

STUDY YOUR CHILDREN

To Get Their Point of View, If Possible.

The two most important characteristics to be cultivated by mothers when dealing with their children are honesty and understanding, says the New York Telegram. Affection they have naturally, but to see the child's point of view and grasp it, even though not agreeing, is another matter. Yet, were parents to make an effort to see and feel as the children do there would more often be a strong bond as the little ones grow older. As for honesty, once let a child doubt a statement made by either parent, later proving it to be untrue, and it will be a long time before faith between them is reestablished. Rarely is a grown person so suspicious as a little child, once the latter's distrust is aroused.

This is a point that many parents, and mothers, more particularly than fathers, are not apt to observe. Faith is a fundamental necessity for lasting affection from a child, and without it added years only serve to widen the breach that at first seemed small. On the other hand, a child who knows that its parents always deal honestly with it will tolerate severity with great patience and sometimes make allowances for it. The reason is evident for with truthful persons the child knows where he stands and can adjust his mind accordingly.

As for understanding, some persons are born with it, and they are ideal parents. They may be severe, and even rigid, but once their youngsters know that their own point of view is admitted, if not agreed with, a basis for lasting friendship between the two generations has been laid. It is the position refused to admit that the child has what is to him reason, which cuts the juvenile, and the older he grows, the more resentful he is of such ignoring of his own identity. When finally old enough to establish himself he is out of touch with the parent, who has always if tacitly, denied his right to any opinions, and the separation is rarely bridged over.

No person would advocate arguing endlessly with a child, but neither need it be treated with extreme autocracy. A parent can try to make the little one see the other side, just as she would make an effort to understand why her mental attitude is what she finds it. This important matter of being in sympathy becomes easier all the time once the two minds meet, and when there is friendship, as well as affection, from child to parent, that older person has achieved a goal that a lifetime will not tear down.

CHINESE WOMEN

Hold Their First Political Meeting.

Some months ago in Canton there was actually an enormous mass meeting, which consisted entirely of women—10,000 of them—who wished to demonstrate their approval of the Japanese boycott. The platform and hall were decorated with banners and flags, and bands played at intervals during the proceedings. Everything at the meeting was done by women. Miss Pun Kut Fang, who presided, made a stirring patriotic speech, calling upon the Chinese women to support the policy of their country's ministers. She concluded with the following words: "It rests with us to contribute our portion of patriotism and loyalty to our country and emperor. I say women never lack such patriotism, and I call upon you, one and all, to show that China can rely on us whenever there is a call."

This was the first political meeting ever held in China by women, and there is no doubt that it inaugurated a new era, the progress of which their Western sisters will watch with interest.

Woman Postmaster.

The distinction of first appointing a woman postmaster does not belong to America, nor is the employment of women in the postal service a new idea. As early as 1548 a woman postmaster was appointed to look after the mails of Braine le Comte, an important town of France. In the trying times of the Thirty Years' war the principal office in the postal service of Europe was held by a woman, Alexandrine de Rue. From 1628 to 1646 she was in charge of the mails of the German empire, the Netherlands, Burgundy and Lorraine. She was known as a master general of the mails. In America, Elizabeth Harvey was the first to hold a place in the postal department. She had charge of the letters in Portsmouth, N. H., in the beginning of the seventeenth century. A half century afterward Lydia Hill was placed in charge of the postoffice in Salem, Mass.

WEST END

RAT ATTACKS SLEEPING BABE

Infant Is Bitten Through the Finger While in Crib.

To be awakened from her sleep by the bite of a rat was the experience last night of the 2-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Finn of 1822 West Michigan street, whose apartments are in a district that is overrun by the rodents. The child was bitten through the second finger of the left hand.

An infant child of Mr. and Mrs. Finn died Tuesday, the funeral being held today. Interment was at Park Hill cemetery.

CALL UPON WARREN.

Street Railway Man Asked to Build on Twenty-First Avenue.

A delegation of twenty-one business men of the West end called upon Herbert Warren, general manager of the Duluth Street Railway company with the request that the company construct a line from Superior street to West Third street on Twenty-first avenue west.

Mr. Warren stated that this had been the intention of the company as soon as the Piedmont avenue extension had been built, which he thought would be some time next year. He also stated that until the bridge at Forty-ninth avenue west has been repaired by the city, no double truck cars may be run over that line.

Those who were in the delegation yesterday which called at the offices of the street car company are the following:

Alderman J. J. Moe, George M. Jensen, Alderman Charles Hoar, A. F. Lundholm, Martin Rude, Dr. O. A. Oredson, Joseph Olson, John Moir, E. N. Nelson, A. Lofgren, A. F. Swanstrom, B. J. Enger, Charles Mork, F. P. Stevenson, John Sundeen, O. F. Wennerlun, S. Morterud, S. Van Wagner, P. George Hanson.

WILL CLOSE SHOPS.

West End Barbers Will Not Keep Open Labor Day.

Barbers in the West end and West Duluth will not wield razors Monday, when the rest of the places of business have been closed on account of the Labor day celebration.

The idea of keeping open all day for business on Labor day is not being encouraged among the barbers in the western section of the city. The shops will be closed from midnight Saturday until Tuesday morning.

Pastor Given Reception.

There was a large attendance at the reception given last evening at the St. Luke's Episcopal church for the rector, Rev. W. E. Harmon, and Mrs. Harmon, by the young ladies of the church. Rev. C. C. Rollit of Minneapolis was present and gave a short address.

Adams Team Practicing.

The Adams football candidates are practicing every evening. The turnout at the practice affairs have been very large, and it is expected that there will be a strong team in the Adams association this year.

Sluggers Are Winners.

The Slugger Juniors yesterday afternoon defeated the Hilltops by the score of 13 to 4, on the boulevard grounds. The Sluggers have challenged any 10-year-old team in the city.

West End Shortrails.

William Coyne has returned to Cloquet after a business visit at the West end.

The Misses Gladys and Grace Copeland of St. Paul are visiting friends in the West end for a few days.

Miss Mary Swanstrom of 2510 West Third street will entertain the members of the Tabitha Society of the Bethany Swedish Lutheran church at her home this evening.

John Garms of Casper, Wyo., left today for his home after a visit with West end friends.

The Unique Social club of the West end will give a dance this evening at Lester Park.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard and family of Twenty-fifth avenue west are back from an outing at Lake Nebagamon, Wis.

WILL NOT TAKE PART IN PARADE

Ladies' Independent League Will Not March Next Monday.

At the meeting of the Ladies' Independent Label league last evening at Kalamazoo hall it was announced that, contrary to reports, the league would take no part in the Labor Day celebration and that the members would not appear in the parade.

At the business session one new member was initiated, applications for membership were received, and the reports of the new banner were heard. A paper on the Union Label was read by Mrs. R. F. Barrows.

A social session followed the business meeting.

CLOQUET SCHOOLS ALL READY TO OPEN SEPT. 7.

Cloquet, Minn., Sept. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Cloquet city schools will open for the term of 1909-10 on Tuesday, Sept. 7, under the superintendency of Peter Oleson, formerly connected with the schools at Pine City. W. C. Cobb, who has been superintendent here for the past eight years, has resigned his position and will be engaged in a similar capacity at Brainerd.

The four school buildings have been overhauled and repaired during the summer months and a number of needed improvements made. Preparations are being made to accommodate in the neighborhood of 1,600 pupils; the high school is expected to enroll about 160.

The teachers engaged for the high school are: Miss Julia H. Merrill, principal; Miss Bessie E. Day, English; Sophia A. Hubman, mathematics; Hazel McGibbon, history; William Todd, manual training, and Clara G. Draper, music and drawing.

THREE SISTERS ARE ARRESTED

Police Believe They Carried on Campaign of Shoplifting.

Capt. Fiskett and Patrolman Grandmaison yesterday afternoon arrested three Superior women, charged with shoplifting in Duluth stores. The women, who are sisters, gave their names as Misses Agnes and Lillie Winters and Mrs. Lena Smith. The latter is only 20 years old, while Lillie is 16 years old and Agnes 18. They say they have been employed as domestics. The three have been under suspicion for some time past and are said to have carried on a systematic shoplifting campaign on this side of the bay. The police have been on the lookout for them. Yesterday afternoon, it is claimed, they were detected in the act of stealing two ladies' coats from the store of Kris & Pass, and they were arrested within a block of the place. The coats were found on the persons of the younger sisters. Mrs. Smith had a number of neckties and other small articles in her stocking when arrested.

Last January a warrant was issued for the arrest of Agnes Winters. It is claimed that at that time she took a pair of men's trousers from the store of Askin & Marine. The clothes were recovered in Superior, but the girl could not be brought back from Wisconsin. The police have been on the lookout for her, hoping to get her on this side of the bay. Yesterday this opportunity came.

Kris & Pass say the value of articles taken from their store by the trio was about $50. The girls walked up First avenue east after leaving the store and turned into the alley. Capt. Fiskett followed them up the hill, and when they saw they were pursued they threw the stolen coats into a wagon and ran, but were overtaken after a chase of a few blocks.

In municipal court this morning all three girls pleaded not guilty. Agnes Winters and Mrs. Smith were held on a charge of grand larceny in the second degree, and will have a hearing in municipal court Sept. 4. Lillie Winters was dismissed. There was not enough evidence to hold her. Bail for the other two was fixed at $150, which they had not furnished up to this noon.

SAYS SHE NEEDS MONEY MORE THAN A DIVORCE.

New York, Sept. 2.—"I have never been in Reno in my life," said Evelyn Nesbit Thaw when asked regarding persistent rumors that she had joined the divorce colony in the Nevada town.

"Furthermore," she continued, "I don't intend to go there. I have been right here for the past three years and I am sick and tired of hearing these reports that I have been seen in different parts of the country. I need money more than I need a divorce just at present. That is necessary to live on, and I shall make no plans until I arrange a settlement with the Thaw family."

SAYS JUSTICE MOODY HAS ONLY RHEUMATISM.

Haverhill, Mass., Sept. 2.—That rheumatism and nothing else is the malady from which Associate Justice William H. Moody of the United States supreme court is suffering was the statement made yesterday afternoon by the justice's secretary, John A. Kratz, Jr. Mr. Kratz explained the secrecy which marked the coming of Justice Moody Monday by saying that it was desired for the patient's sake that his return to his home here be accomplished quietly and without attracting notice.

CALL YONKERS' RECTOR.

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Rev. James E. Freeman of Yonkers, N. Y., has been called to the rectorship of the magnificent new St. Mark's Episcopal church, the white stone walls of which are now rising on the high ground beyond Loring park. Mr. Freeman, it is understood, has been offered $6,000 a year. As yet the local vestry has not announced his decision.

J. M. Gidding & Co.

We Believe in Doing Things Right.

When we first started this business it was with the idea in mind that whatever we did would be done only on the very Highest standard—and it has spelled success. The things that looked hard to us in those days look easy enough today—yet, we have kept on improving.

There isn't any question in the mind of any fair minded person or shouldn't be as to our superiority in Garment and Fur Selling at the Head of the Lakes—but this season and Now do we want to impress upon you the importance of our New and Fashionable Millinery. We are placing before you this season what we believe has been a long felt want in Duluth—Metropolitan Millinery—that is to say, Millinery Styles and ideas that can fully rank with the establishments of the east. We have engaged the best designing and selling talent that the east could produce—Women who understand what fashionably dressed women want.

We submit for your inspection our First efforts, and, while the lines are by no means complete, the showing now is one that will attract your attention.

For Early Autumn Wear we have prepared a selection of Smart Tailor-Made Hats in Black and the New Autumn Shades that should appeal to Duluth's most discriminating dressers, designed by Miss Gardner in New York work rooms, together with such well known styles as: "Phipps," "Burgesser," "Gage," "Fisk" and others.

The Millinery Store, third floor is (informally) ready. Visit it. See the very same styles that you would expect to buy at the best known establishments of the east and at the same prices that you would expect to pay there.

There's absolutely nothing to lose in doing this, and there may be much in the satisfaction you'll get of knowing that you can depend upon getting absolutely correct millinery styles here.

Your Boy

No stimulation. No alcohol habit. Ask your doctor about Ayer's Sarsaparilla as a tonic for the young. J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

Ask your doctor how often he prescribes an alcoholic stimulant for children. He will probably say, "Very, very rarely." Ask him how often he prescribes a tonic for them. He will probably answer, "Very, very frequently." Ayer's Sarsaparilla is a strong tonic, entirely free from alcohol.

A Skin of Beauty is a Joy Forever.

DR. T. FELIX GOURAUD'S Oriental Cream or Magical Beautifier.

Removes Tan, Pimples, Freckles, Moth Patches, Rash and Skin Diseases, and every blemish on beauty, and defies detection. It has stood the test of 60 years, and is so harmless we taste it to be sure it is properly made. Accept no counterfeit of similar name. Dr. L. A. Sayre said to a lady of the haut ton (a patient): "As you ladies will use them, I recommend 'GOURAUD'S CREAM' as the least harmful of all the skin preparations." For sale by all druggists and Fancy Goods Dealers in the United States, Canada and Europe.

WESSINGER CO. CHANGES NAME

West Duluth Firm Will Do General Manufacturing Business.

Beginning Sept. 1, the Wessinger company will be known as the Imperial Iron works. The new company will do a general manufacturing business and repair work. An extension will be built to the erecting shop, which will give ample facilities for building heavy machinery.

FAREWELL SERMON.

Rev. Frederick Blom Will Establish Sailors' Mission on Coast.

Rev. Frederick Blom, for the past two years pastor of the West Duluth Swedish Mission church, Fifty-ninth avenue west and Green street, will preach his farewell sermon Sunday. He will leave next Tuesday for San Pedro, Cal., where he will establish a sailors' mission.

On Saturday evening the congregation of the Swedish Mission church will tender their pastor a farewell reception in the church parlors. All of the pastors of the different mission churches in the city have been invited to attend. Mrs. Blom will remain in West Duluth with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Lindstrom, until Oct. 14, when she will join her husband.

Rev. Mr. Blom is well prepared to take up the work before him, having once been a sailor himself. He will leave many friends among the Swedish people of West Duluth.

TO AMPUTATE FINGERS.

Vincent Rogers Will Lose Two Fingers to Save Hand.

In order to save his hand from amputation, Vincent Rogers of 123 South Fifty-fifth avenue west will have to have two fingers cut off, says the attending physician.

Rogers lost a finger about three weeks ago while at work at the carbolite works at West Duluth. It was the forefinger of the left hand. It is feared that unless two more fingers are cut off the whole hand will become infected.

NO BANQUET THIS YEAR.

Annual Feast of Republicans Has Been Called Off.

It is probable that the West Duluth Republican club will not hold any banquet this year on account of the lateness of the season and the failure of the arrangement committee to secure speakers.

The matter will come up for consideration Saturday evening at a meeting of the club. Several other matters of importance are also to come up at the next meeting, such as the proposed amendments to the by-laws of the organization.

FIRE HAS ORIGIN IN OLD PAIR OF OVERALLS.

To a pair of greasy overalls, thrown carelessly in a corner by a workman, is attributed a fire which broke out late yesterday at 519 Wadena street. West Duluth firemen made the run shortly before 6 o'clock and put out the blaze.

The damage was but slight. The house is one of the five owned by Stack Bros., plumbers at the East end, which are being remodeled by E. J. Zauft, contractor at West Duluth.

Wanted an Elevator.

Because Andrew Nelson, when under the influence of liquor, complained that there was no elevator service at the Phillips hotel when he ordered a room about midnight last night, he was ejected and placed in the care of an officer outside. Officer Ek took Nelson to the station, where he was given free lodging for the night. He was arraigned with the usual grist of drunks this morning in municipal court.

Reception for Choir.

The members of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Asbury M. E. church of Sixtieth avenue west and Raleigh street will tender a reception to the members of the Asbury choir tomorrow evening at the home of Mrs. Joseph Cochrane of 610 North Fifty-sixth avenue west.

Forty Are Taken in.

A class of forty members was initiated last evening into the Good Templar lodge at its meeting in the I. O. O. F. hall. This number exceeds all previous records. After the initiatory ceremonies speeches were made by prominent members of the order. A telegram of congratulations was received from the grand lodge at Minneapolis.

Petit Larceny Charged.

Charles E. Holt of 609 West Third street was arrested yesterday afternoon by the West Duluth police upon a warrant sworn out by J. J. Frey, a real estate man at West Duluth. It was charged in the warrant that Holt was responsible for the stealing of twenty cubic feet of sand from a certain lot in West Duluth.

When arraigned before Judge Flack of the West Duluth justice court late yesterday, Holt was released on account of insufficient evidence. The case has been dropped.

Death Takes Infant.

Thomas Wolner, the 6-months-old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Smith of 305 North Fifty-sixth avenue west died this morning after a short illness. The funeral will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock from the family residence with interment at Oneota cemetery.

Give a Linen Shower.

Mrs. Arthur Baker entertained last evening at a linen shower in honor of Miss Eva Baker, who is to be married in September. The house was very tastily decorated with green and red decorations. Many pretty presents were given the bride-to-be. Cards were played during the evening and prizes went to Mrs. D. Masse, Mrs. J. D. O'Brien and Mrs. Frank Tokorney.

The guests were Miss Ella Baker, Mesdames E. Masse, J. D. O'Brien, Roy Baker, Fred Blais, J. Baker, Frank Tokorney, Bernard Holt and Mrs. Grazes.

Orders New Equipment.
News was received at the Duluth office of the Northwestern railway today that the company has placed an order for 125 steel passenger coaches of the latest pattern, fireproof, steel shell, and non-collapsible. In addition to the order for the passenger cars, an order has also been placed for seventy new locomotives of the Pacific type, to be delivered in the near future.

Funeral of Murdered Man.
Funeral services over the remains of Adolph Mattis, who was murdered on Garfield avenue Tuesday night, will be held tomorrow morning from the Polish church, at 9:30 o'clock. Interment will be in the Polish cemetery. An inquest has not yet been held over the body, and probably there will be none until tomorrow morning, shortly before the funeral.

Miss S. Allen Gardner,
Formerly of "Burby's" fashionable Fifth avenue millinery shop, arrived in the city yesterday to accept a position in the millinery department of J. M. Gidding & Co. ***

Condemnation Proceedings.
Some evidence was submitted to Judge Dibell this morning in the case of the Great Northern Railway company against the Scotch Iron company, Midland company and the Oliver iron Mining company. The case is one in which the railway company is petitioning for the right to condemn a right-of-way for a spur track in the vicinity of the Kinney mine, near Hibbing. The land over which the right-of-way is sought is said to be mineral land and the mining companies object. The questions at issue will probably be submitted to a board of commissioners. No definite action was taken by the court this morning.

A Surprise Party.
Franz Heinrick of 705½ East Second street was pleasantly surprised last evening at his home by a number of friends. The occasion was the fifty-fifth anniversary of his birth.

THIRTY-TWO ARE BEFORE BOARD

Inmates of State Prison Have Various Plaints to Make.

Stillwater, Minn., Sept. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—The state board of control held its September meeting at the prison today. A visit was made to the new institution and an inspection of the additional trackage for shipping purposes was made. The new twine factory was also looked over and the conditions of inmates examined.

At the old prison thirty-two prisoners were before the board on various pleas, nine of them being new applicants for parole. The financial statement for the current month shows receipts on account of binder twine sales to the amount of $79,140.49, and $8,786.84 additional for miscellaneous receipts. The latter sum included $4,731.57 charged to the warden for convict labor in the twine factories, $3,080.58 for shoe factory labor and $572 collected by the usher from visitors.

Dr. Abernethy, the great English physician, said, "Watch your kidneys. When they are affected, life is in danger." Foley's Kidney Remedy makes healthy kidneys, corrects urinary irregularities and tones up the whole system. For sale by all druggists.

HARRIMAN IS GETTING BETTER

DEAN OLSEN WILL BE TEMPORARILY IN CHARGE.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Dean J. W. Olsen has decided to remain in temporary charge of the state agricultural school until his successor is picked by the board of regents. Dean Olsen was at the state capitol yesterday, and while he made no public statement of his intentions, he told friends that he had decided to remain. His resignation was accepted by the board, to take effect when his successor is chosen. This cannot be done for several weeks at least, and the sessions of the college of agriculture begin in two weeks.

COPPER STOCKS CLOSE FIRM

Have Good Tone at the End of a Quiet Session.

Copper stocks exhibited neither activity nor a great deal of strength during most of the session in the Boston market, although at the close prices took on a better tone. Most of the issues closed firm. Calumet & Hecla announced a quarterly dividend of $8, which is $2 more than last time.

BOLIVIA SECURES WRIT LOOKING FOR FREEDOM.

Chicago, Sept. 2.—Wilbur Glenn Volivia, the Dowieite leader in jail for failure to pay a libel judgment of $10,000, obtained by a former follower, obtained a writ of habeas corpus today from Judge Scanlan.

The writ is made returnable tomorrow.

Money for County Fairs.
St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—State Auditor S. G. Iverson has apportioned the appropriation of $34,000 for aid of agricultural societies to seventy-seven county fair associations and other organizations engaged in promoting agriculture. No organization can draw more than it gives out in premiums, and otherwise they share pro rata, forty societies drawing $494.20 each, and the others smaller amounts.

STARTED A RIOT THAT LED TO HIS OWN DEATH

HARRY EXLEY.

Deputy Sheriff Harry Exley, who was killed by the strikers at McKee's Rocks, Pa., Sunday night, is blamed for starting the trouble by flourishing his revolver and looking for trouble.

TWO FACTIONS IN WEST END

Plan to Change Route of Car Line Arouses Opposition.

That there are evidently two factions at the West end in the matter of doing away with the street car tracks on West Third street between Nineteenth and Twenty-first avenues when the Piedmont avenue extension is built, is evidenced by the opposition that has been aroused against such action on the part of the street car officials.

Several people residing in the immediate vicinity of the section affected should the cars branch off from West Third street on Twenty-first avenue west, called upon General Manager Warren this morning about 10 o'clock with the request that the tracks between the two avenues be widened and a double truck car service be put on and maintained.

The following delegation of citizens from the hillside expressed themselves opposed to the idea of taking the service off from the street: Capt. J. R. Randall, Alderman Charles F. Hoar, J. W. Lent, F. R. La Brosse, G. A. Hjerpe, A. Thoren, J. A. Davidson, August Johnson, E. M. Larson, Alfred Johnson, A. J. Anderson, Ab Browman, Gust Nelson, A. Johnson, Oscar Strum, Henry Nelson, Nels Nelson, Pat Healy, David Olson, William Chamber, E. J. Sandberg, David Nelson, Frank Cummings and J. D. Higgins.

SWEDISH STRIKERS ASK AMERICAN HELP.

New York, Sept. 2.—A cable message asking American support for the Swedish strikers has been received here by C. E. Tholin and John Sandgren, two of their delegates who arrived on Aug. 24. The message says in part:

"After four weeks of general strike we are still determined to stick it out, despite threatening hunger and the opposition of the government and society outside the workers. We are cheered and supported by the workingmen of all European countries, but we dare to count on the powerful economic assistance of America, which is now necessary to us."

COMMISSION OPENS BIDS.

Tenders for Building Portions of Wisconsin State House.

Madison, Wis., Sept. 2.—More than $250,000 dollars was the lower of the bids received and opened by the capitol commission upon proposals to build the south wing and central portion of the new state house.

Two bids were received, one by Paul Riese & Son of Chicago of $270,000 and one by T. C. McCarthy of Madison of $272,923. Both included the work of excavation. Separate bids for the excavation were submitted, however, one by Paul Riese & Son at $52,000 and one by J. W. Mitchell of Madison at $41,000.

The bids were taken under consideration, but will not be finally passed upon for some time.

The contract for the settlings to the big boilers at the capitol heating plant was awarded to H. A. Bishop of Chicago at $5,190.

NOTICE OF PROPOSED CONDEMNATION.

Notice is hereby given that there is now pending before the Common Council of the City of Duluth a resolution declaring the necessity of taking and directing the condemnation of an easement in the following described property for a sanitary main trunk sewer. The property in which such easement is to be taken is as follows:
(1) A strip of land 20 feet wide in the northwest quarter of the northeast quarter of Section 11, Township 50, north of Range 14, west of the Fourth Principal Meridian, being 10 feet on each side of the following described line, viz: Beginning at the point of intersection of the center lines of Fairmount street and Stormoway street at the southerly boundary line of Woodland Park, Sixth Division; thence in a direct line in a southeasterly direction 377 feet to a point on the center line of Abbotsford avenue extended; thence along the center line of Abbotsford avenue extended to the northerly line of Glen Avon, Third Division.
(2.) A strip of land 20 feet wide in the south half of the southeast quarter of Section 11, Township 50, north of Range 14, west of the Fourth Principal Meridian, being 10 feet on each side of the following described line, viz: Beginning at the point of intersection of the center lines of Woodland Park, Sixth Division; thence in a direct line in a southeasterly direction 377 feet to a point on the center line of Abbotsford avenue extended; thence along the center line of Abbotsford avenue extended to the northerly line of Glen Avon, Third Division.
(2.) A strip of land 20 feet wide in the south half of the southeast quarter of Section 11, Township 50, north of Range 14, west of the Fourth Principal Meridian, being 10 feet on each side of the following described line, viz: Beginning at the point of intersection of the center lines of Victoria street and Columbus avenue; thence in a southerly direction along the center line of Columbus avenue extended to the center line of Waverly avenue extended; thence southwesterly along the center line of Waverly avenue 625 feet to a point; thence due south to St. Marie street.
(3) A strip of land 20 feet wide, being the easterly 20 feet of Lot 1 in Block 53 in Rearrangement of part of East Duluth, extending from London Road to Lake Superior.
Said resolution will be considered by the Common Council at a regular meeting thereof to be held on Monday, September 13th, 1909, at 7:30 o'clock P. M., in the Council Chamber in the City Hall in the City of Duluth, at which time and place any person will be heard by the said Council concerning the taking of such property.

J. E. FOUBISTER,
PETER OLSON,
LUCIEN MERRITT,
Committee.
Be it resolved by the Common Council of the city of Duluth, That the members of this council, individually and collectively, deny and renounce all pretensions as ball players; that we do maintain that in any other form of sport or amusement we have unquestioned superiority over the council representatives of the bog across the river; that we are skilled marksmen, and could double discount them in a turkey shoot; that we are experts in the game of tennis; that we are all good curlers, and, in fact, there is no game except baseball at which our challengers would have a ghost of a show, but, notwithstanding this selection of our only vulnerable spot on which to challenge us, we do hereby express the belief that even in this matter our challengers are bluffing; and we do hereby accept the proposition, notwithstanding our inability to distinguish a "curved ball" from a "high ball," with the one provision that no one except aldermen shall be allowed to play, it having been reported to us that the challengers have selected an aggregation of professional and semi-professional players to represent them in this contest.
Resolved further, That Alderman Charles J. Hector is hereby appointed to represent this council in its negotiations with the Superior council to fix upon the time and details of said game.
Alderman Foubister moved the adoption of the resolution, and it was declared adopted by a unanimous yea vote of all present, on roll call.
Passed Aug. 30, 1909.
Approved Sept. 1, 1909.

WHEAT HAS GOOD BULGE

Active Session Is Marked By Steady and Heavy Buying.

Flax Is Higher at Close in the Duluth Market.

Duluth Board of Trade, Sept. 2.—Wheat was in very good demand from the start, and closing prices on this side of the Atlantic were stronger than yesterday's, the Northwestern markets showing particular firmness.

Unfavorable weather and forecasts of more rain, retarding the handling of the spring wheat crop, was one of the reasons for the bulge.

Liverpool closed 1½d to 1⅝d lower, Antwerp ½c lower, Berlin ¾c lower and Budapest ½c lower.

The September option closed 1c higher in Duluth, ½@⅝c higher in Chicago, ⅝@1c higher in Minneapolis, ¾c higher in New York, ⅞c higher in St. Louis and ⅝@¾c higher in Kansas City. October wheat closed ⅛c higher in Winnipeg. The December option closed ¾c higher in Duluth and Minneapolis, ⅝c higher in Chicago and Kansas City, ⅞c higher in New York, ⅝@½c higher in St. Louis and ⅛c lower in Winnipeg.

September corn closed ½c higher and oats ⅛c higher in Chicago.

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool:

"At the start the market was easy and ½@¾d lower on wheat, being influenced by the weakness of American cables and the bearish report by Mr. Snow. Following the opening, the market developed pronounced selling pressure and with support withdrawn values declined an additional ⅝@⅞d with the principal weakness in December. Russia and the Danube continue to offer freely. Crop conditions in India are favorable, and it is understood here that importers are cancelling recent purchases. At mid-day, the market was weak and from 1d to 1¼d lower than yesterday.

"Corn was steady at the start and unchanged. Later, prices advanced ½d with the undertone firm on the improved demand for both American and La Plata parcels, and the less favorable American news.

Car receipts of wheat at Duluth were 88, against 285 last year, and Minneapolis 326, against 281 last year, making a total for the Northwest of 414, against 566 last year. Chicago received 59, against 50 last year.

Clearances of wheat and flour were 380,000 bu.

Clearances of corn were 17,600 bu.

Wheat was active during the session in the Duluth market. September wheat opened unchanged at 94⅞c and declined to 95¾c and closed at 95⅝c, a gain of 1c over yesterday. December wheat opened unchanged at 93c and advanced to 94¾c and closed at 93¾c, a gain of ¾c over yesterday. May wheat opened unchanged at 97c, advanced to 98c and closed at 97⅞c, a gain of ⅞c over yesterday.

Durum wheat closed ½c higher.

Flax was quiet but closed firm. September flax opened unchanged at $1.37½, declined to $1.37¼, rallied to $1.38¼ and closed there, a gain of ⅝c over yesterday. October flax opened unchanged at $1.33⅜, advanced to $1.34½ and closed at $1.34½, a gain of ⅜c over yesterday. December flax closed at $1.32, a gain of 1c over yesterday.

Coarse grains were unchanged.

THE CHICAGO MARKET.

Wheat Opens Weak, But Active Bidding Sends Prices Up.

Chicago, Sept. 2.—Unsettled weather in the Northwest offset weak cables, and prompted liberal purchases of wheat at the opening of the market today. The result was an advance of about 1c in all deliveries. Several bull leaders were active bidders, but the demand for a time met with only scattered offerings.

The wheat market opened weak, owing to a decline of 1@1⅜d at Liverpool, prices here showing losses of a shade to ½@⅝c compared with yesterday's close. December opened at 93½@93⅝c. Within the first few minutes, however, December advanced to 94½c.

The market continued strong the remainder of the session. The top for December was reached at 94⅞@95c. The close was strong, with December up ⅝c at 93½c.

Reports of a light frost at several points in the northern part of the corn belt caused moderate firmness in the corn market early, despite rains in Iowa and Nebraska. There was considerable covering by several of the leading shorts. Prices at the opening were unchanged to ⅛c higher, December being at 57¼c. After selling at 57c December advanced to 57¼c.

For December the high point of the day was reached at 57½c. The close was firm, with December a shade higher at 57@57⅛c.

Renewed covering by shorts had a bullish effect on the oats market. The covering was due to the strength of corn. Prices advanced about ½c early. December opened unchanged at 37½c and sold up to 37⅞c.

The monthly statement of contract stocks of provisions in store here inspired moderate buying of provisions at the start, and caused fair advances throughout the list. Prices at the opening were 2½@5c to 10c higher.

THE MINNEAPOLIS MARKET.

Firmer Tone Due to Heavy Buying By Leading Interests.

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 2.—There was a much firmer tone to the market today. September opened at about yesterday's closing price and advanced 1⅝c above. The cause of the strength was due to the light offerings in the pit and heavy buying by leading interests. Rains fell in the Dakotas and the forecast was unsettled and as a result there was some apprehension over the delaying of thrashing. Local elevator stocks of wheat decreased 5,000 bushels for five days. September closed 1c above yesterday and December ¾c above. Minneapolis today received 326 cars of wheat as compared with 281 cars a year ago; Duluth 88 against 285 and Winnipeg 138 against 88. September opened, 94c; high, 95⅝@95¾c; low, 94c; close, 95c; December opened 92¾c; high, 94@94⅛c; low, 92¾c; close, 93½c; May opened, 97¾c; high, 98@98⅛c; low, 97⅝@97½c; close, 97⅝c.

Cash wheat was very strong and active today. A large portion of the receipts arrived on sale. Millers were eager buyers and the market was cleaned up at premiums steady with yesterday. No. 1 northern sold for 4½c above the September contract, and No. 2 northern for 2½c above. A car of No. 1 hard sold for 6 cents above the near contract. No. 1 northern spot, 99¼@99¾c; to arrive, 97¾c; No. 2 northern spot, 97¼@97¾c; to arrive, 95¾c; No. 3 wheat, 94¼@95¼c; No. 3 yellow corn, 65¼@65¾c; No. 3 white oats, 34⅜@34⅞c. No. 2 rye, 64¼@65¼c.

Millstuff — Shipments, 1,077 tons. Prices were lower today. Demand was only fair and shipments were light. Bran in 100-pound sacks, $19.50. Flour was unchanged today. Prices for two weeks' shipment were 25c lower than the spot. There was a good export and domestic demand. Shipments were fairly heavy and prices were unchanged. Shipments, 48,624 barrels. First patents, $5.25@5.75; second patents, $5.15@5.65; first clears, $4.45@4.65; second clears, $3.30@3.50.

Flax—Receipts, 15 cars; year ago, 15 cars; shipments, none. There was a very firm tone to the market today. Prices were quoted 3c above the Duluth September option. Closing price, $1.41.

Barley—Receipts, 98 cars; year ago, 134; shipments, 56 cars. The market was firmer tone. Demand was good for all grades, especially choice malting barley. Prices were 1@2c higher than yesterday. Closing range, 44@59c.

New York Grain.

New York, Sept. 2.—Close: Wheat—September, $1.06¼; October, $1.02½; December, $1.04¾. Corn—September, 75⅝c; December, 67c.

HEARD ON THE FLOOR.

Gossip of the Trading Room and the Pit.

Broomhall's Argentine agent estimates the shipments of wheat from that republic this week at 400,000 bu. The shipments last week were 144,000 bu, and a year ago, 1,616,000 bu.

Reports from Jackson, Martin and Brown counties are to the effect that wheat is yielding from eighteen to twenty-five bushels and in some places thirty bushels to the acre.

Following is the weather forecast for the grain belt:

Illinois, Missouri, Wisconsin, Minnesota and Iowa—Unsettled, with showers tonight and Friday; slightly warmer.

Indiana—Increasing cloudiness, with showers late tonight and Friday; rising temperatures.

Upper Michigan—Increasing cloudiness, with showers late tonight or Friday; rising temperatures.

Lower Michigan—Increasing cloudiness and warmer tonight; Friday showers and warmer.

North and South Dakota—Local rains tonight and Friday.

Nebraska—Local showers tonight and Friday.

Kansas—Probably showers tonight or Friday.

Montana—Rain tonight and probably Friday; cooler Friday in west portion.

The Cotton Market.

New York, Sept. 2.—The cotton market opened steady at an advance of 8 to 9 points on better cables and reports of better Manchuria business and covering. Wall street houses seemed to be selling long cotton, however, and the offerings from this source were heavy enough to send prices off 5@6 within 3 or 4 points of last night's finals during the early trading with the market nervous and unsettled pending the publication of the government figures expected at mid-day.

Spot closed quiet, 10 points higher; middling uplands, 12.80; middling gulf, 13.05. Sales, 30 bales. Futures closed steady. October, 12.38; December, 12.38; October, 12.41; December, 12.47; January, 12.45; February, 12.47; March, 12.51; April, 12.25; May, 12.56.

Issues Cotton Estimate.

Washington, Sept. 2.—The crop reporting board of the department of agriculture in a bulletin issued today estimated that the average condition of the cotton crop on Aug. 25 was 63.7 per cent of normal, as compared with 76.1 per cent on Aug. 25, 1908; 72.7 on Aug. 25, 1907, and 73.5 the average of the last ten years on Aug. 25.

St. Paul Livestock.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 2.—Cattle—Receipts, 500; market steady and unchanged. Hogs—Receipts, 800; market 5c higher; range, $7.50@7.80; bulk, $7.60@7.65. Sheep—Receipts, 200; market 10@15c lower at $2.60@5.00; lambs, $3.00@7.00.

Treasury Statement.

Washington, Sept. 2.—The condition of the treasury at the beginning of business today was as follows: Trust funds—Gold coin, $859,368,869; silver dollars, $487,269,000; silver dollars of 1890, $1,119,000; silver certificates outstanding, $487,269,000. General fund—Standard silver dollars in general fund, $4,256,338; current liabilities, $102,204,768; working balance in treasury offices, $31,556,701; in banks to credit of treasurer of the United States, $57,772,814; subsidiary silver coin, $25,215,285; minor coin, $1,900,982. Total balance in general fund, $97,968,668.

Midway Horse Market.

Minnesota Transfer, St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 2.—Barrett & Zimmerman report: Less demand for big horses than earlier in the week, no doubt prospective buyers are waiting until the big state fair opens next week to fill their orders, as they can visit the fair and buy their horses at the same time. Dealers are busy unloading their heavy shipments and getting their horses in shape for fair week, when hundreds of out of the city buyers visit the market. Movement was limited to retail orders from the city trade.

Bar silver, 51¾c; Mexican dollars, 44c. Government bonds steady; railroad bonds firm.

Runaway Kills Infant.

Winona, Minn., Sept. 2.—While Mrs. Matt Marnach of Beaver, her son and an infant were returning in a buggy from a visit at Honey Ridge, the vehicle skidded against a stone and frightened the horse so that he ran away and hurled the carriage into a ditch. The babe was instantly killed and Mrs. Marnach had her arm broken.

REACTION IN LATE DEALING

Stock Market Closes Irregular After Slight Rises.

Prices Run Off at Close With Union Pacific Down a Point.

New York, Sept. 2.—Opening prices today were but little altered from yesterday's closing and the tendency was upwards. St. Paul, Union Pacific and International Pump gained a point each. On the other hand, Southern Pacific, Atchison, and American Smelting were a trifle easier.

Apart from purchases of large blocks of United States Steel, which lifted a point to ⅞c, there was little of interest to the early market. Trading was intensely dull at intervals. The general tone was firm, but there was scarcely any alteration from the opening prices. Some of the industrial stocks which were strong yesterday continued their upward course. United Railways & Investment preferred moved up 1½, and Pittsburg Coal and Hocking Coal 1¼. Bethlehem Steel fell 1½.

Light buying orders carried prices upward, Union Pacific, Reading, Atchison, Delaware & Hudson, Kansas City Southern, Brooklyn Transit, and American Smelting rising 1; Pressed Steel Car, preferred, American Hide & Leather 1½; the preefrred, 3, National Enameling preferred 3½, and Federal Mining preferred 3¾. Bonds were firm.

The market closed irregular. Reading was lifted 2¼ in the late dealings and United States Steel touched 75⅝c. There were gains in Hocking Coal of 2¾c, Central Railroad of New Jersey 1½ and Illinois Central and Pressed Steel Car 1. After that prices ran off, the reaction reaching a point in Union Pacific. Allis Chalmers preferred fell ⅞.

It might be a good policy to sell out the two Scott stocks and get yourself in shape to go into many of the others.

It might be wise to do this (?) for the mine is not opening up any better ore than many of the Amalgamated Copper company's big producers, and also for the reason that they are now selling a great amount of their ores and getting in a lot of money. Then you also have an assessment on the part paid that may never be called, to take into consideration and look at the big capitalization of the Scott company with its two big mines and 100,000 shares to contend with and some of the others have only 500,000 or 1,000,000 shares. We all know that the number of shares issued cuts no figure and it would be reasonable to expect as big dividends on a mine with 1,000,000 shares, and you should certainly get as big returns on each share as if you only had 100,000 shares to pay on. (?) The trouble with a company with only 100,000 shares is that it makes it very bad for it does not give you enough shares to look at. At the Scott mine the showing is not big, only a few feet of solid ore here and there on the different levels of course, in some veins it is twenty feet wide and others more or less, and for these reasons we think it would only be fair that you should sell our customers your stock. There is apparently no big market for the shares and as it probably will act like the Shattuck did from the 22 level, it might be all right to get in your cash while you can.

Does Advertising Pay?

IT DOES

Here Is the Proof:

Divide all the Duluth stores into two classes. In one row put the names of those who advertise consistently, and in the other row the names of those who don't—

You have the answer—

Advertising, to be profitable, must be sensibly written, consistent, and persistent. Spasmodic splurges, as a rule, don't pay in any business.

FOUR INDICTED ON FIRST DEGREE MURDER CHARGE

Ostby, Rossi and Matels Must Stand Trial for Lives.

Temporary Insanity May Be Defense in Ostby Case.

A Batch of Indictments for Lesser Crimes Also Returned.

Adolph Matel and Victor Matel, brothers, who are charged with slaying Adolph Mattis on Garfield avenue early Wednesday morning, following a wedding celebration, were this morning indicted by the grand jury on a charge of murder in the first degree, bringing the number of those indicted at this term for the capital offense to four.

Yesterday afternoon indictments were returned against Bjorn Ostby, charged with the murder of his father, and Michelo Rossi, charged with killing Antonio De Meo.

There was some speculation as to what disposition the grand jury would make of the case of the Matel brothers. Two witnesses are said to have seen the scuffle, in which the two brothers and Mattis were involved, but there was said to have been nobody who saw the fatal blow struck. The evidence presented to the grand jury was undoubtedly strong enough, however, to warrant the suspicion that both were guilty of murder in the first degree, and the true status of their case was put up to the court which will try them. Mattis was almost instantly killed by a knife thrust in the neck.

If the brothers ask separate trials, which they may, although they were indicted by the same instrument, there will be four trials in which the prisoners' lives will be at stake at the present term of court.

Grand Jury Report.

The grand jury made its second report this morning, returning six indictments to the court, one of which was not made public, on account of

BALLINGER SAYS HE WILL SEE TAFT

Admits Alaskan Affairs Took Him Back to the Capital.

Washington, Sept. 3.—Secretary Ballinger of the interior department arrived today. He came direct from Seattle, making the trip in four days and five nights. He went direct from the station to his office and immediately engaged in consultation with Assistant Secretary Pierce and Assistant Attorney General Lawler.

Mr. Ballinger said that he had come to Washington for the purpose of giving attention to the Cunningham Alaskan coal claims, but that there was also other business demanding his attention. The secretary expressed confidence in finding the conditions of his department in the best of shape, and he confirmed the report that after a brief time he would proceed to Beverly for the purpose of taking up with the president the matter of Cunningham coal entries.

BIG EFFORT TO BEAT LAW

Foreign Exporters Are Found to Have Rushed Goods In.

Prospective Raise in Duties Cause of Increase in Shipments.

Washington, Sept. 3.—During the few months prior to Aug. 15, when President Taft signed the new tariff law, foreign exporters to this country almost doubled their shipments on many articles on which a raise in duty was anticipated under the Payne bill.

The imports of principal articles for the seven months ending July, 1909, are shown in detail in a statement issued by the bureau of statistics, embracing also comparisons with figures of the corresponding months of last year.

Value of Imports.

The value of the principal articles imported during the seven months' period on which figures were compiled were:

Sugar, $68,000,000; hides and skins, $53,800,000; coffee, $44,900,000; raw silk, $42,300,000; crude india rubber, $39,-800,000; unmanufactured wool, $36,100,-000; cotton laces, $21,000,000; diamonds, $19,500,000; copper, pigs, bars, etc., $17,-900,000; furs, $6,400,000; silk laces, $3,-500,000.

Chief among the increases over the same period last year were:

Hides and skins, $25,000,000; unmanufactured wool, $23,000,000; diamonds, $16,000,000; india rubber, $17,000,000; raw silk, $14,000,000; cotton laces, $7,-000,000.

KELLY HEAD OF POSTMEN

Letter Carriers Vote on Place to Hold Next Meeting of Association.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—When the ballots were counted this morning it was found that the National Association of Letter Carriers had almost voted to meet in Rochester, N. Y., in 1911.

There were five other cities after the convention, and they received the following vote:

Dallas, Tex., 189; Dayton, Ohio, 242; Des Moines, Iowa, 43; Louisville, Ky., 335; Niagara Falls, N. Y., none; Rochester, N. Y., received 725 votes, just three short of enough to give it the choice.

The count of the votes for officers disclosed that further balloting would have to be done for the fifth member of the executive board and the third member of the committee on laws and constitution.

The officers elected are: President, William E. Kelly, Brooklyn, N. Y.; vice president, Edward J. Gainor, Muncie, Ind.; secretary, Edward J. Cantweil, Brooklyn, N. Y.; treasurer, Charles D. Duffy, Chicago; executive board, Michael T. Finman, Bloomington, Ill.; Richard F. Quinn, Philadelphia, Pa.; Al Tharp, New York city; Fay S. Trafton, Cleveland.

Detroit Man Trustee.

Committee on laws and constitution: Thomas S. McKeever, San Francisco; Josiah Roark, Portland, Or.

Chief collector, M. B. A., William Dunn, Nashville, Tenn.

Board of trustees, S. E. Graham, Kansas City, Mo., and Christ Longhead, Detroit, Mich.

Chief clerk, retirement association, John T. Mugavin; board of directors of retirement association, John J. Goodwin, Providence, R. I., and Edward J. Scully, Pittsburg, Pa.

After the completion of the election the committee continued the debate on the sanitarium proposition and the age retirement question.

Italian Races Postponed.

Brescia, Italy, Sept. 3.—The opening of the aeroplane race meeting, in which Glenn H. Curtiss, the winner of the international cup at Rheims, France, will take part, has been postponed from Sept. 5 to Sept. 8.

ADMIRAL SPERRY ON RETIRED LIST

Commander on Long Cruise of Fleet Reaches Age Limit.

Washington, Sept. 3.—Having reached the age of 62 years, Rear Admiral C. S. Sperry was placed on the retired list of the navy today. The admiral is now engaged with the Newport conference at the war college, and will continue there until he has completed a certain line of work which he has mapped out. When this is finished, it is expected he will retire from active service.

The admiral's last important sea command was that of the Atlantic fleet, which he brought from San Francisco by way of the Pacific ocean and the Suez canal to Hampton Roads.

WORKINGMEN, VACATIONS AND A PROTECTIVE TARIFF

Written for The Evening Herald by Zach McGhee (Savoyard).

(Copyright, 1909, by Zach McGhee.)

Manchester, Eng., Aug. 15.—This is not such an attractive place to tarry in, and tourists, if they come here at all, scoot out by the first train. They get their faces soiled in this "black belt," and their laundry bills remind them too much of Pittsburg. There is nothing fascinating to the romance hunter, none of that quiet restfulness or recreating sport appealing to the holiday traveler, nothing beautiful or interesting in nature, save in that most wonderful, and when rightly viewed, most interesting of all nature, human nature.

Here in Lancashire, notwithstanding that the epigrammatists are fond of saying "God made the country, and man made the town," one contemplating the immensity of it all exclaims in the words of the first telegraphic message, "What hath God wrought?" Within a radius of fourteen miles from where I sit and write there are more than 2,000,000 workmen, men and women who work, not with their brains or wits, but with their hands, earning their bread by the sweat of their faces. And nearly every mother's son of them was born and has lived all his life in this part of England.

Vacations for Workers.

But don't you think they never go anywhere. Many thousands of them are away right now on their vacation, for, strange as it may seem, the workingmen in these parts have their vacations just like other people. They have little organizations with "holiday funds," to which each contributes a small sum each week. Then at this season of the year when a mill shuts down for a week or two, sometimes three and even four, the mill operative takes his family to the seashore or to the "lake district," to the Cheviot hills, to the south of England or somewhere else, for a holiday. When he comes back he resumes his job in the mill.

Many of them, just like people in trades or professions, take their vacations at home, some not having the money, others preferring to save it. They have comfortable homes, and many of them subscribe to the ancient and honorable doctrine that "home, after all, is the best place."

A Dull Season.

This, I learn, is the reason I find so many people in the working districts loafing on the streets during working hours. And it is not due to the Wilson-Gorman bill after all. It is a dull season in the cotton goods trade, and in all others it is always dull in August, they say, duller than usual the last two years, owing to financial inability of foreigners, particularly Americans, to buy their goods. And so the mills make a good business move in giving longer vacations.

The plan is during the summer months to "play"—that's what they call closing down—three weeks out of every five during the dull summer season. Some of the mills "play" the whole three weeks together, others "play" one week at once, during which the machinery is repaired, and their workmen can go off on a trip, if they wish, and then for the remaining eight weeks work four days each week. It is a hardship on some of the workmen, especially those who are improvident, and those whose circumstances are, from no fault of their own, not good; but there seems to be little complaint. They have homes, living is cheap, and, generally speaking, they consider their jobs secure.

No "Protection" for Them.

There is one thing which seems absolutely certain, for on that subject I have talked with men of both political parties; that is, that these people will not hear to the remedy proposed for any temporary or apparently permanent shortness of work, which is a protective tariff.

About the most astounding thing an American encounters over here is that this biggest manufacturing district of England is the very center of free trade. Almost to a man these 2,000,-000 workmen hoot—or rather they shrug their shoulders, for they do not hoot in England—at the idea of a protective tariff's benefiting them.

"Why," they say, "nothing could be

WHAT SHALL BE DONE WITH THE NORTH POLE?

Duluthians Offer Some Solutions to a Very Perplexing Problem.

The serious question is, "What are we going to do with the North Pole?"

Men have long striven to gain possession of this long, cool, towering object, and now that they have discovered it, what are they going to do with it?

Its use in Duluth, that through many years of climatic misrepresentation has acquired the name of being a "fierce place" in the winter, might work a very severe hardship, in that it would add further to the name that we have acquired as being a region but little removed from the Arctic circle.

But the question looms large and important. What possible use can be made of the North Pole?

Edwin Lee, manager of the Spalding hotel, was asked this question this morning in all seriousness. Mr. Lee has a very grand solution to the query as to what use should be made of the pole.

If the pole should be brought to Duluth, Mr. Lee suggests that it be imbedded in the well that Nels Flodin has dug, with countless effort, under the basement of the Spalding hotel, and that it be used through the years to come as a cooling plant for the hotel. Its use might be even extended to other buildings on Superior street, and by this means even in the hottest

DRAINAGE COMMISSION IN FAVOR OF TWO PROJECTS

Roseau and Kittson County Land Reclamation to Be Asked for.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—The state drainage commission has signed a petition for the establishment of two new state ditches, one in Roseau county and the other in the northeastern part of Kittson county, to cost $60,000 and $30,000, respectively. Maps have been prepared which will be presented to the district court when the order for the work is requested.

The Rosseau county ditch, costing $60,000, will reclaim 40,000 rich acres, the equivalent of two townships. The main ditch will be twenty miles long. One-third of the expense will be borne by the state and the remainder divided between railroad and private lands.

The ditch in Kittson county is to be twenty-eight miles long, including the laterals.

The land will be reclaimed at an average cost of $1.20 per acre.

CUBA GETS STRICT ABOUT FIREARMS

Importation Is Limited and All Sales Must Be Recorded.

Washington, Sept. 3.—Cuba is becoming very strict about the importation and sale of firearms and ammunition in that republic, according to a circular forwarded to the state department by F. M. Dearing, the American charge at Havana.

Among other things, the circular points out that in addition to having a license for the sale of firearms and accessories, one must procure authority from the secretary. Shotguns used for hunting and the small .22-caliber gallery rifles are excepted from this restriction. Firearms and ammunition may only be imported through the ports of Havana, Matanzas, Nuevitas, Trinidad and Santiago de Cuba.

Monthly reports must be made of the sale of arms and ammunition by the dealers, showing the name of the purchaser, number of the license, date issued and the authority and by whom issued.

DENMARK PLANS ROYAL WELCOME ON COOK'S RETURN

SEEK SOUTH POLE NEXT

Dr. Cook's Brother Says Explorer Will Make the Attempt.

Official Confirmation of Far Northern Exploit Is Received.

New York, Sept. 3.—Dr. Frederick A. Cook will now try to find the South Pole, according to his brother, William L. Cook of 794 Bedford avenue, Brooklyn.

"My brother's success is due to his gigantic and never-failing efforts, to his love for adventure and the Cook ambition," said his brother yesterday.

Exploit Is Confirmed.

Washington, Sept. 3.—Maurice F. Egan, the United States minister at Copenhagen, has telegraphed the state department that Dr. Cook's reported discovery of the North Pole has been corroborated by Dr. Dergaard Jensen, the Danish inspector of North Greenland.

Did It on Purpose.

Prescott, Ariz., Sept. 3.—In contradiction of the opinion frequently expressed abroad that Dr. Frederick A. Cook's dash to the pole was off-hand and haphazard, M. G. Cunniff, former editor of World's Work, who is on a visit here, declares that the explorer deliberately planned to make it a one-man attempt.

He said:

"I recall several conversations I had with him and Anthony Fiala just before he left on the expedition. Fiala declared that no party of any size could hope to reach it. Cook agreed with him, and said that his plan was to start from a base of supplies with a small crew of seasoned Eskimos, progress to a point within 200 miles of the pole, cache provisions, and then, with but one companion and the pick of the dog pack, make the final dash."

Send Cook Congratulations.

Pittsburg, Pa., Sept. 3.—Taking the initiative of organized men throughout the country not connected with Polar exploration, the Pittsburg Association of Credit Men sent Frederick A. Cook the following message:

"We are proud of you. Congratulations."

The cablegram will be handed to Dr. Cook upon his arrival in Copenhagen, Denmark, which will likely be tomorrow.

Time of His Arrival in America Is Not Yet Determined.

Vaudeville Men Are Busy Offering Him Terms for Lectures.

London Papers Refuse to Be Convinced of His Success.

Copenhagen, Sept. 3.—The steamer Hanegede, with Dr. Frederick A. Cook, the American explorer, on board, passed Cape Skagen, the northern extremity of Denmark, at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

Reach Copenhagen Saturday.

New York, Sept. 3.—The expected arrival of Dr. Frederick A. Cook at Copenhagen from the epoch-making trip to the North pole, which probably will be chronicled tomorrow, is the most important news item on the horizon. It is confidently expected by his friends and supporters that he will then produce uncontrovertible proofs that he reached the North pole, thus allaying the wave of skepticism which has been manifested in the opinions of many of his fellow scientists, both here and abroad.

The Danish government, which is showing remarkable activity in its preparations to receive the explorer, has dispatched a torpedo boat to meet the steamer on which he is a passenger, on the high seas, and act as a convoy of honor into Copenhagen. The Danish minister of commerce has chartered a vessel on which to take the newspaper correspondents of the world out to meet the Brooklyn explorer, and the Danish Geographical society will meet Dr. Cook on another vessel.

Return Home Not Fixed.

Just when Dr. Cook will reach America will not be known until next week. John R. Bradley, the wealthy New York big game hunter, who financed the expedition, expects a cablegram from Dr. Cook soon after he reaches Copenhagen, and then definite arrangements will be made for his departure for America.

Just as Denmark has not for centuries paid such homage to another

FOUR KILLED BY FREIGHT TRAIN

Extra Plows Into Gang of Laborers Near Pittsburg.

Pittsburg, Pa., Sept. 3.—Plowing into a gang of track laborers west of the Radebaugh tunnel, near here, an extra freight train on the Pennsylvania railroad today killed four of them. A dozen others narrowly escaped. The noise of a westbound passenger train drowned the warnings sounded by the engineer of the extra freight train.

NEW MIXUP OVER LOAN

Russia Decides to Push Claim to Share in Chinese Affair.

Germany Is Again in Difficulty---Obstacle in American Path.

Pekin, Sept. 3.—Under instructions from St. Petersburg, M. Korotovitz, the Russian minister to China, will tomorrow, for the second time, urge the foreign board to recognize Russia's claim for representation in the allotment of the loan of $30,000,000 for the construction of the Hankow Sze Chuen railroad. France is said to be supporting Russia in this course.

St. Petersburg does not accept the Chinese contention that the loan has been concluded. Because of the new situation arising from Russia's proposed action and the prospect that the loan will not at present be signed, the manager of the French bank in Pekin will leave here tomorrow for Paris.

The Russian claims will have the effect, in principle, of opening competition for the German share of the loan, as the Germans are the only participants whose proposition is not protected.

Obstacle to America.

It is understood here that the Germans constitute the strongest obstacle to the signing of a loan agreement by China and the United States, an essential to American equality in participation, and the completion of such an agreement is the present bone of contention. The influence of Grand Councillor Chang-Chi-Tung with the German bank shows no signs of abatement, and the British and French bankers declare it is impossible for them to alter the German attitude.

It is believed that French interests are now seeking a degree of equality in Chinese financial affairs equal to that for which American interests are striving.

WEST END

WEST END FOLK ARE DIVIDED

Piedmont Avenue Residents Oppose Twenty-First Avenue Car Route.

West End is divided on the question of the Twenty-first avenue west street car cut-off. A meeting was held last night in the office of George M. Jensen, secretary of the West End Commercial club, and it was decided, in view of the strenuous opposition, which was being manifested, to let the matter drop for a day or two until a big mass meeting of both sides could be called and something definite decided upon. Mayor Haven will be asked to be present at that meeting.

J. W. Preston, president of the board of public works, was present at the meeting last evening. He stated that the people on the hill about Piedmont avenue, who would be deprived of the car service, were strenuously bucking the construction of the cut-off, and were threatening legal action should such a cut-off be established.

The date for the next meeting has not been set yet, but it will probably be held during the early part of next week. The meeting of last evening was called as a sort of indignation meeting, the West enders being somewhat dissatisfied with Manager Warren's attitude toward the requests they presented to him, but after Mr. Preston's remarks they decided that some greater unanimity of action was necessary before anything could be accomplished.

"OLD HOME WEEK."

Rev. Stockland Leaves to Take Part in Celebration at Little Falls.

Rev. M. O. Stockland of Grace M. E. church left today for Little Falls, Minn., where the citizens are celebrating old home week. Mr. Stockland will preach in his old pulpit there Sunday, and from there will go to the state fair, returning here about Wednesday. Mr. Stockland was in Little Falls for four years, leaving there three years ago.

Monthly Meeting.

The monthly meeting of the Swedish Christian Sick Benefit society will be held tonight at 8 o'clock in Sloan's hall. Business of importance is to come up and a full attendance of the membership is being urged by the officers.

West End Shortrails.

At the meeting of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Bethany Lutheran church hld yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Henry Truelsen, 2229 West Seventh street, it was decided to assess each one of the ninety members $1 each to help raise the fund required for the repairs to the church. The society agreed to bear all the expense of the repairs, amounting to $225, and $100 of this has already been paid. The church will probably reopen a week from Sunday.

Rev. W. E. Harmon of St. Peter's Swedish Episcopal church is entertaining his brother-in-law, Henry Hokanson of Aitkin, Minn.

The supper given by the ladies of the Bethany Swedish M. E. church last evening was well attended and the receipts were large. Supper was served from 5:30 to 9 o'clock.

Stansilaus Bakalarzcyk, the 4-months old son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bakalarzcyk, died yesterday afternoon at his home, Thirtieth avenue west and Ninth street. The funeral will be held this afternoon from the Polish Catholic church, and interment will be made at the Polish cemetery.

The Bible study meeting of the Young Ladies' Society of the First Swedish Baptist church meets tonight at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Francen at 305 Restormel street at 8o'clock. Rev. Swaney Nelson, the pastor, will conduct the meeting.

At St. Paul's Lutheran church there will be neither Sunday school nor services next Sunday. The congregation is invited to attend the confirmation services at Immanuel's church in West Duluth.

SUDDEN PRECIPITATION BREAKS WEATHER MAN'S ARM

Washington, Sept. 3.—While alighting from a car today, Professor Willis L. Moore, chief of the weather bureau, fell and broke his left arm. He was conveyed to the office of a physician where the injured member was set, and then, much to the surprise of his friends, he performed customary duties.

LYCEUM—Wright Lorimer in "The Shepherd King."

THE SPIRIT OF THE PLAY

Is the Great Essential to Its Success, Says Lorimer.

Wright Lorimer, the star of "The Shepherd King," which is the bill at the Lyceum this week, does not believe that, to insure success on the modern stage, it is necessary to follow the current fashions in playbuilding, and he points to his remarkably successful career in "The Shepherd King" to prove his assertion.

The actor does not speak boastfully of his popularity and that of his play, but mentions the long run of the piece merely as a portion of his argument that it is absurd to think that one must follow, like a foolish lambkin, in the path of the play writers and producers who discover that the business play is the thing, the problem play is the hottest dramatic stuff or that the only way to win is to produce a Western drama.

"If you have a good play, it does not matter in what period the action takes place, what the theme is or what the general attitude of the theatrical faddist is," said Mr. Lorimer during a chat in his dressing room last evening.

"This will always be true," continued "The Shepherd King," "for producing a play amounts to something more than hiring a bunch of actors, throwing a manuscript at them and saying: 'Now, go ahead and act.' Very good lines delivered by very good actors cannot make a successful play unless you have the spirit of the piece, and make it carry conviction. It takes expert stage direction to do this sometimes, but the spirit of the play is absolutely essential. You must have the spirit and the atmosphere.

"It is the plays which have these which endure. We have many frothy plays, but where are they tomorrow? In the dust heap. A play like 'The Shepherd King' attracts people to the theater who do not attend the average theatrical performance because they do not feel like wasting their time and money upon frothy plays. But the appeal of a good play, one which shows study in preparation and which has the spirit, is general. The college professor enjoys such a play no more than a gambler. Really, the gambler is a very potent dramatic critic, for he demands the best there is, and he has, as a rule, a broad, generous, appreciative mind."

There is no doubt about Mr. Lorimer's success in "The Shepherd King." The play was produced several years ago, and so great was the success with which it met that only six cities were visited during the first year. This is Mr. Lorimer's first Western tour in the piece.

Ten Decrees Were Granted During the Thursday Court Session.

With the exception of two cases, those of Isabelle A. Lynch vs. Oliver A. Lynch and Eda Eckstein vs. A. H. W. Eckstein, all of the divorce cases on the calendar for the September term of district court have been disposed of. The Lynch case will be tried by deposition, the principals being in New York. The Eckstein case is expected to be heard this afternoon.

This morning, Dora Server was given a divorce from her husband, James B. F. Server by Judge Ensign. Mrs. Server is 39 years old and her husband is 51. They were married at Black River Falls, Wis., July 17, 1899, and lived together until August, 1907, when the husband deserted. He is now in Idaho where service was made on him. There are three children who are given into the custody of their mother by the order of the court.

Three divorces were granted yesterday afternoon, making a total of ten for the day. Laura Latham was granted a separation from Fred Latham; Theresa Underferth was given a decree of divorce from August F. Underferth; and Andrew McConnell was granted a divorce from Amelia McConnell. In the case of Emma Johnson vs. John Johnson, which was contested, Judge Dibell did not consider the evidence on either side sufficient to warrant a decree of divorce and it was refused.

SCHOOL BOARD MEETING.

Directors Will Hold Regular September Session at Central Building.

The regular September meeting of the board of education will be held this evening in the board room at the Central high school.

The reports of the committee on the maintenance of buildings and grounds and the committee on teachers and schools, will be the most important matters to be heard.

The building and grounds committee's report is expected to principally concern the two new buildings, the C. C. Salter school in the East end and the J. D. Ensign school in the West end. Both are expected to be ready to receive pupils Tuesday morning.

worse for the working man than a protective tariff. We have had enough time getting along as it is. How could we live if prices were to go up as in America?"

Just imagine, if you can, an American city composed of Pittsburg, Lowell, Fall River, and all the manufacturing towns of, say, New Hampshire—which would then be about the size in manufactures and workmen's population as Manchester and environs—with a magnificent statue of John C. Calhoun on the most prominent square, and "Free Trade Hall" the dominant social and political institution in the town. The statue here is that of Sir Robert Peel, the minister who gave free trade to England, after a ten years' fight.

In the Last Election.

Imagine, if you can, that big manufacturing American city's voting out six Republican members of congress because they advocated protection, and sending six rank free traders in their places.

So they did in Manchester at the last election. Among those turned out were the prime minister himself, Mr. Balfour, who represented a Manchester district in parliament. Before the last election Manchester had seven Conservative (Republican) members in parliament. Mr. Chamberlain, the Conservative leader, started that protection "heresy," as they term it here, and now Manchester sends six Liberal, or Democratic, and one Conservative.

I mention this only incidentally in writing about Manchester. Later I shall tell about English politics; though, I doubt not, those who read these letters will get a clearer idea from these incidental references.

STOCK EXCHANGE FIRM SUSPENSION ANNOUNCED.

New York, Sept. 3.—The suspension of the firm of Freeman, Rollins & Co., members of the New York stock exchange, was announced today. The firm has branches in Boston and Providence.

The firm was composed of Perley L. Freeman, the stock exchange member; Joseph E. Freeman and Charles H. Rollins. The firm began business on the New York stock exchange Jan. 1 this year.

The suspended firm was successor to Curtis, Freeman & Co., of Boston, which dissolved last January, Harry F. Curtis retiring. It is said Freeman, Rollins & Co., did little business here lately and had very few outstanding contracts on the stock exchange.

Otto M. Goldsmith, counsel for the suspended firm, said that the suspension was due to heavy withdrawals and to inability to collect from several debtors.

"We have every reason to believe that the firm will resume business in a short time, and that nobody will lose anything by the suspension," said Mr. Goldsmith.

The furnished rooms that are advertised today will find "takers." Do you imagine that yours will—unless it's advertised?

NO BABIES; NO BALLOTS

St. Louis Priest Has Bill on Suffrage Plan for Women.

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 3.—"Family suffrage; or, no babies, no ballots."

This is the new idea of Father Phelan, editor-priest of St. Louis. He advocates one of the most novel and original bills ever submitted to a legislature relative to women and their rights.

This measure, which the priest says he will submit to the next session at Jefferson City, asks for family suffrage in Missouri for the purpose of encouraging large families. Father Phelan also will submit suggestions relative to women co-respondents, prohibiting a divorced husband from marrying the co-respondent in the case. Should his measure gain the approval of the lawmakers of Missouri, the standards of woman's importance will be materially changed.

"In some states," Father Phelan asserts, "woman's suffrage is based on the question of whether they are property owners. A man or woman of property is supposed to have more interest in the welfare of the state than one who has no such stake.

"But the giving of a new citizen to the nation offers a greater pledge than the richest landowner.

"I would give every family an additional vote for every child born into it. If a couple have ten children we would give the family twelve votes. In case the couple agreed politically we would permit the father to cast the whole twelve votes. If the couple were divided on their views of politics we would give the wife her own vote and the votes of all her daughters, and the husband his own vote and those of all his sons. This would give the woman suffragists all they now demand and more, but it would disfranchise the childless. It would encourage large families."

man as it plans to accord Dr. Cook on his arrival there, it is likely that the explorer's return to America will not be less noteworthy.

Besides the fame which will endure for centuries which comes to Dr. Cook for his achievement, he is destined also to reap a fortune. His friends believe that wealth awaits him through the writings which he is most likely to publish and through lectures.

Vaudeville Men Busy.

A well-known vaudeville manager in this city has already cabled to Copenhagen offering Dr. Cook $4,000 a week for ten weeks to appear in his various vaudeville houses and lecture on his Arctic experiences. The European agents of three other vaudeville managers have been cabled instructions to Copenhagen to meet Dr. Cook and to offer him princely salaries for his lecture services.

Italians Are Satisfied.

Rome, Sept. 3.—The question whether Dr. Frederick A. Cook, the American explorer, did or did not reach the North Pole, brought out statements today from Italian scientists and Arctic explorers, including the Piedmontese guides who accompanied the duke of the Abruzzi on his Polar expedition of 1900. These expressions all are to the effect that Dr. Cook could not possibly have been misled into believing he had reached the pole had he not actually done so. He must have carried instruments, it is argued, and made observations which will demonstrate scientifically the correctness of his assertion.

Amundsen No Doubter.

London, Sept. 3.—Dr. Cook's narrative of his thrilling journey to the North Pole, while it has not removed the doubts raised as to his having really accomplished the feat he claims, has at least set at rest the improbable suggestions advanced in some quarters yesterday that he had attained not the North Pole but the magnetic pole. Capt. Roald Amundsen, in an interview at Christiannsand, on this point says:

"Such a supposition is nonsense. The magnetic pole is situated on the American side, and it is quite impossible that Dr. Cook could have driven so far from his planned route. I feel certain that Dr. Cook has expressed nothing definitely about the result. I know him to be absolutely discreet and taciturn. Other people have misunderstood him, and it will be necessary to await his arrival at Copenhagen for the real facts."

London Papers Skeptical.

The London newspapers are not wholly convinced by the narrative, and persist that it will be necessary to await more details and reports. They are unable to conceive how a task which has beaten the ablest polar explorers provided with everything that money could buy, would have been achieved in such a seemingly off-hand and unpremeditated manner, and with such ease and quickness.

days of August, the weary traveler from warmer climes could have his room and his beverages tempered to suit even the most exacting taste.

There have been many suggestions as to what to do with the North Pole. It has been suggested as a pennant staff for the flag that Duluth is about to float.

There is a unanimity of opinion among the county officials at the courthouse as to what disposition should be made of the pole. All are agreed that the pole is a physical, tangible object of form and character, as poles generally are. They agree that it may not be of wood, but it certainly must be of ice and, such being the case Duluth is the proper place for it.

"We can use the pole very nicely as a flag staff on the new courthouse," said Deputy Auditor Luke A. Marvin and Deputy Auditor J. O. Walker agreed with him perfectly. They claim it would make a fine flag staff and would not melt in Duluth's climate.

J. G. Wollan didn't agree with them. Mr. Wollan is an optimist on Duluth weather. He contended that even in the dead of winter, as winters go in Duluth, there would be no chance of the pole standing up under the fierce rays of the sun.

R. S. Lerch, who maintains quiet and dignity in the court rooms, thought that the pole ought to be purchased by the Commercial club so that Duluth then might be located at the north pole to attract intrepid explorers, who might want to make a dash for the pole. They would have just as much fun crossing Lake Superior in winter as they would in dashing across the Arctic ocean, he says, and they would find a much more favorable territory on their arrival at the end of their journey.

Deputy Register of Deeds Thomas Clark, who is of serious mien, refused to josh. He expressed profound delight that an American had attained the honor of reaching the pole and succeeding where so many others had failed.

Clerk of Court J. P. Johnson opined that the circus using the pole as a main support for the big-top would make money, and Deputy Clerk Vic Dash charitably suggested that it might be used with good effects in the Panama canal regions, if sufficient local color could be taken from the vicinity of the pole to rig up a cool scenario for the operations there.

But the general opinion seems to be that it will be left for the Eskimo wash ladies to hang the family clothes on Monday mornings.

ANOTHER BOOST IN MINE VALUATIONS IS EXPECTED

The Total Assessment May Pass the $200,000,000 Mark.

Owners Will Be Cited to Appear Before Tax Commission.

An increase in the valuation of St. Louis county and Itasca county iron mines from $183,000,000, the present valuation, to well over $200,000,000 is said to be contemplated this year by the state tax commission. It is said that owners and operators of several important properties in the two counties will soon be cited to appear before the commission to show cause why the valuation of their properties should not be increased. This is not the year for assessing real estate, but the tax commission always has it within its power to alter assessments.

Members of the commission give out nothing, and are reticent on the subject. They admit, however, that a change is contemplated.

"No decision has been reached yet," Chairman Samuel Lord is quoted as saying in a Minneapolis paper, "but we have decided to notify certain companies to appear and show cause why their assessments should not be increased. Notices have not been sent yet. There is good reason for making some changes. A good many properties have been discovered and must be added to the assessment rolls."

"You do intend, however, to raise the mines, do you not?"

"On some classes, yes. That is contemplated. The iron market is in better shape than last year, and we think conditions justify a higher assessment."

The commission has a complete record of every mining property and its ore contents as shown by test pits and surveys. From this record it has made two previous assessments, and each new discovery is added. F. A. Wildes, Jr., is the mining expert of the commission. He makes his headquarters at Hibbing. He was at the capitol all last week, and with Secretary Rukard Hurd went over the records and made up the tonnage statements. They are being gone over on the basis of new and higher tonnage values.

The first reassessment of the mining properties was made two years ago, and was the first important work done by Commissioners McVey, Lord and Hall after the tax-commission law was passed and they were appointed to office. They got detailed reports from every company, verified them by personal inspection, extended hearings to the fee owners and leaseholders, and finally made an assessment of $189,459,972—an enormous increase over the $40,000,000 assessment of the previous year. Of this amount, $176,413,846 was in St. Louis county, $12,927,144 in Itasca county, $87,500 in Lake and $31,312 in Crow Wing county. The ninety-three shipping mines were given a total tonnage of 470,966,410 and a valuation of $105,331,811, and 169 prospects were estimated to have 721,543,347 tons of ore located, which was assessed at $80,872,091. In addition, there were acreage prospects assessed at $993,000, unclassed prospects at $118,712, and miscellaneous iron lands, covering 71,654 acres, at $2,257,700. This made up the total of $189,459,702. Values of properties on which reports were delayed were added later, amounting to $631,736, and the personal property assessment, largely consisting of ore in stockpiles, was $4,334,190, making a total assessment of $194,425,928 on all iron properties.

Last year was the regular time for assessing real estate, and the tax commission made another thorough examination, checking up every property. On account of business stagnation there had been little new development, and not much was added to the assessment, while deductions had to be made for ore shipped out. Changes in classification and reduced tonnage estimates also cut down the total, and the final tonnage assessment for 1908 was $176,340,749—a reduction of $11,495,989 from the previous year. This did not include acreage prospects or the personal property assessment, and the total assessment of iron properties last year was about $183,000,000.

There was a reduction of $13,318,087 last year in the St. Louis county assessment and $56,095 in Lake county, while Itasca county was increased $1,878,193 by new development.

the subject not being in custody. The report brought the number of indictments returned to fourteen, in which seventeen people are involved.

An indictment charging grand larceny in the second degree was returned this morning against Agnes Winter, Lillian Winter and Mrs. Lena Smith, the three young women arrested Wednesday for shoplifting. Although their operations are claimed by the police to have extended over a considerable period, the indictment charges but one offense, the theft, Wednesday, from Kris & Pass of two ladies' coats, valued at $33.50.

Ernest Peterson was indicted on a charge of grand larceny in the second degree. It is alleged that Aug. 25, in Duluth, he stole $75 from Peter Wicklund. The offense is claimed to have been committed in West Duluth.

Donald McGinley was indicted on a charge of indecent assault, alleged to have been committed in Duluth, Aug. 27. He is said to have taken indecent liberties with the person of Hilda Bergendahl, a girl 12 years old.

MIKE ROSSI.

Robert C. Hull was indicted on a charge of forgery in the second degree, Aug. 30 he is alleged to have attempted to pass a forged check for $25 on the Columbia Clothing company. The check was drawn on the First National bank of Duluth and was purported to have been signed by H. W. Gilbert. It was drawn in favor of Hull.

Four men against whom indictments were returned yesterday afternoon were arraigned before Judge Ensign this morning. The proceedings were a mere formality, the indictments being read and the men being notified that they will be required to plead tomorrow afternoon. Those against whom indictments were returned this morning will be arraigned this afternoon and will also plead tomorrow.

Ostby and Rossi, the two men charged with murder in the first degree, did not seem depressed by the indictments any more than they have been since they have been in the county jail. Ostby was neatly dressed in a blue suit and acted calmly through the proceedings, listening intently to the reading of the indictment. Rossi heard the indictment through an interpreter and also seemed deeply interested. Albert Baldwin appeared before the court with Ostby and Rossi told the court that he expected to secure an attorney before the time to plead tomorrow.

The grand jury is expected to make a final report this afternoon. A committee visited the poor farm at noon and the business of the session has been almost completed.

Six other indictments were returned yesterday afternoon, one for forgery, one for grand larceny and the other four against men who are not in custody. They were consequently not made public.

The Ostby Case.

Bjorn Ostby is charged with the murder of his father, John G. Ostby, at their home, 526 East Sixth street on the evening of Aug. 31. The crime is alleged to have been committed with a 22-calibre rifle, two shots effecting death. The boy, who is but 18 years of age, is said to have become enraged over ill-treatment given his mother by his father and the failure of the latter to pay an undertaker's bill that had been standing for two months. There was nobody in the house at the time of the killing except the two principals and the statement of young Ostby to their officers on their arrival is the principal evidence against him. Emotional insanity will probably be the theory of the defense.

Antonio De Meo was killed in the Omaha yards, Aug. 4, a knife and a revolver both being used. A few minutes later, Rossi was apprehended by a crowd of men and boys, who had chased him after the other man was stricken down. The tragedy is said to have grown out of an old feud which began in a Michigan street saloon last winter. On that occasion, De Meo is said to have struck Rossi with a knife, Rossi is alleged to have nursed his revenge until the evening of the tragedy when he lay in wait for De Meo in the railroad yards as the latter returned from work.

An indictment was returned against Joseph Doyle charging him with grand larceny in the first degree in the theft of a purse from Mrs. Theresa Haley on the evening of Aug. 7. Doyle is alleged to have snatched the purse from the woman's hand.

Joseph Ropel was indicted on a charge of forgery in the second degree. He is alleged to have attempted to pass a check for $32.10 March 29 of this year. The check was drawn on the First National Bank of Duluth by G. D. Arnold for the Minnesota Cedar & Logging company and was in favor of John Campa, whose name Ropel is alleged to have forged.

COUPLE COMING HERE ON THEIR HONEYMOON.

Ashland, Wis., Sept. 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—A notable wedding will be celebrated here next Sunday at the parsonage of Rev. Mr. Kantesse when Julius Casperson and Miss Emily Bryan, both of this city will join hands and hearts.

The bridesmaid will be Miss Freda Casperson, sister of the groom, and Eddie Bryan, brother of the bride, will attend Mr. Casperson. After the ceremony the couple will leave for Duluth to visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Casperson, 321 West Fourth street. After a short stay in Duluth they will return to Washburn, Wis., where Mr. Casperson is employed.

New Fall Models in Women's Tailored Suits

WE are showing a choice collection of women's NEW FALL SUITS. A choice collection as regards style, materials, workmanship and exclusiveness. A view of the new models will not alone interest you but will give you advance knowledge of what will be worn and what is the truly correct in styles for fall wear. No previous season has promised so much of tailored suit elegance. Long coats are supreme, the "34" and "36" lengths vieing with each other for supremacy, both being attractive and becoming. The new sleeves are severely tailored, more like the sleevs of a man's coat, but really graceful. The skirts with their various pleatings, knee pleats, hip pleats, knife and kilt effects, are new and distinctive.

As a whole, we pronounce the new suits plain, but very attractive, with more tone and character embodied in them than ever before.

MAY BUILD SPUR TRACK

Application of Great Northern Is Granted With Reservations.

Must Move Off If Sixty Days' Written Notice Is Given.

Subject to certain reservations and conditions, the Great Northern Railway company may condemn a right-of-way for a spur track from the Kinney mine spur near Hibbing, according to an order issued by Judge Dibell in district court this morning. The application of the railway company for the right to condemn the right-of-way was submitted to the court yesterday morning.

The Scotch Iron company, the Midland company and the Oliver Iron Mining company, which appeared in opposition to the application, will receive compensation for the land taken from them. R. S. Munger, J. E. Cooley and W. B. Getchell were appointed commissioners by the court to determine the amount of compensation which shall be paid for the easement. They will hold their first meeting in the office of Cooley & Underhill, Sept. 8.

The right-of-way is granted with a reservation of the mineral rights to the present owners. The minerals shall not be mined, however, so as to interfere with the rights of the railway company unless sixty days' notice in writing is given and the company is given an opportunity to secure a new right-of-way, which shall be 100 feet wide and shall be subject to the same reservations and conditions as the original right-of-way.

The spur for which the right-of-way is desired is a short one from the Kinney mine spur, and is to be used in the ore transporting traffic of the road.

PARCELS ARE POORLY WRAPPED

New Policy Concerning Packages at the Local Postoffice.

Postmaster General Hitchcock has directed postmasters throughout the country not to accept for mailing, parcels not properly wrapped.

The matter of wrapping parcels is one of the greatest troubles of the local postoffice force.

Postmaster Guy Eaton said this morning that a great percentage of the parcels turned in are poorly wrapped, and the time of the clerks is taken up mostly with rewrapping.

Mr. Eaton says that more than nine-tenths of the parcels have to be made over so that they may be sent on their way. There is rarely a return clause on the package so that the parcel may be returned to the sender and often times the address is missing.

Complaint has been made to the postmaster general that packages received in foreign countries from the United States are in poor condition for delivery. This complaint is what prompted the head of the department in warning postmasters against improperly wrapped parcels.

LAST EXCURSION OF SEASON

Herald's Popular Outings Will End Next Tuesday.

The Herald's popular excursions on Lake Superior will end for the season next Tuesday with two splendid outing trips. If you have not enjoyed a trip on the lake this summer or if you would like another delightful outing don't fail to take advantage of the last excursions next Tuesday.

The Mascotte will leave Fifth avenue dock at 8 a. m. Tuesday, for a 55-mile run down the beautiful south shore of the lake, touching at Port Wing and Conucopia. This is an all day ride for only $1. Take your lunches as meals are not served on the boat.

The America will leave Booth's dock at 4 p. m. Tuesday for one of those delightful trips along the north shore to Two Harbors, returning by moonlight. Fare for the round trip, 30 cents. Take your lunches to eat on the boat or get supper at Two Harbors.

Remember this is the last opportunity this season to enjoy one of those invigorating outings that drive dull care away.

Secure your tickets early at The Herald office.

SUFFRAGETTES GIVEN CHANCE TO GO TO JAIL.

London, Sept. 3.—The eight suffragettes who were arrested Aug. 19 in Downing street in connection with the picketing of Premier Asquith's residence, were today sentenced to pay fines of $10 each or spend seven days in the Bow street jail. They gave notice of appeal on the ground that all subjects of the king have the right to approach the sovereign through his ministers, and that in endeavoring to interview the premier they were merely exercising these rights.

NOT TOO SICK FOR MURDER TRAIL

St. Paul, Minn., Sept 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mrs. Mina Arbogast is in a proper physical condition to stand trial on a charge of murdering her husband last May, according to City Physician A. B. Ancker. The doctor yesterday discharged her from the city hospital, where she had been undergoing treatment for burns received at the time her husband was killed.

"Mrs. Arbogast has fully recovered from any physical ailment she may have had," said Dr. Ancker. "The wounds are all healed and there was no reason for keeping her longer at the hospital.

"She is of a very nervous temperament, greatly aggravated by the excitement of the murder, her incarceration in jail and the pain of her wounds. I noticed the nervousness during her stay in the hospital, but made no particular examination and do not care to speak as to her sanity. She was sent to the hospital to be treated for her wounds and those are healed."

In reply to a direct question Dr. Ancker said: "I do not see any physical reason for further delay in bringing Mrs. Arbogast to trial that she may be either cleared of the charge or suffer such punishment as the law may inflict."

Mrs. Arbogast passed a restless night and begged to go home, saying that she would come back all right in the morning. This, of course, was not allowed.

WILL FORM BIG COMMERCIAL BODY

Cincinnati, Ohio, Sept. 3.—Secretaries of the industrial and commercial leagues of the Middle West states will meet in Cincinnati tomorrow for the purpose of combining the separate organizations in a national organizations.

William A. Gibson of the Chicago Association of Commerce; Munson A. Evans, secretary of Cleveland chamber of commerce; R. C. McClure of the Indianapolis Commercial club; C. T. McDonald of the Louisville Industrial bureau and W. L. Finch, secretary of the Cincinnati Industrial bureau, compose a special committee to draft a plan of organization.

G. H. CURTISS AND BLERIOT TO RACE

Aviators Will Appear at Carnival Planned in Indianapolis.

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 3.—Entry blanks were sent out today by the management of the Indianapolis motor speedway for three days of aviation contests to be held at the speedway on Oct. 15, 16 and 17. Events for aeroplanes, dirigibles and balloons are scheduled, but conditions are not announced. Cash prizes amounting in all to $10,000 are to be offered.

In a cablegram dated Paris, received today Glenn Curtiss finally agrees to the terms offered to him and he will enter the aeroplane events here with the biplane he used in his record-breaking achievement at Rheims. Louis Bleriot, with a Bleriot monoplane, will accompany him to the United States and will appear in the Indianapolis aeronautic carnival, Curtiss declares.

Will Return Sept. 21.

New York, Sept. 3.—Glenn H. Curtiss, winner of the international contest cup at the Rheims aviation meet, will return from Europe on the steamer Kaiser Wilhelm II, due here on Sept. 21, according to a cablegram which has been received by the Aero Club of America from President Cortlandt Field Bishop.

CLYDE FITCH IS OPERATED UPON

Chalons Sur Marne, France, Sept. 3.—Clyde Fitch, the American playwright, was suddenly stricken with an acute case of appendicitis while traveling from Germany in an automobile. Upon arriving here he was removed hastily to a private hospital and underwent an operation by Dr. Alquier, assisted by two other physicians.

Dr. Alquier would not express an opinion today regarding Mr. Fitch. It is understood that the patient's condition is serious.

Mr. Fitch has suffered in the past from appendicitis.

TWINS WEIGH 28 POUNDS.

Chicago, Sept. 3.—Twins born to an Italian mother, who is but 17 years old, weighed twenty-eight pounds, one balancing the scales at sixteen and the other at twelve pounds. Both are boys and fully developed. The mother is the wife of Peter Montdione, a laborer, 28 years old. The mother was dressed and caring for the infants within an hour.

From a "cold-blooded business viewpoint," it's not worth while to actually cut prices below the "usual" and then fail to so advertise the fact that everybody is told about it.

RICH FROM LAME MULE

Successful Wheat Grower Tells How He Got His First Start.

Lincoln, Neb., Sept. 3.—Twenty-five years ago, during the "dark days" of the West, when every crop failed and thousands of settlers were returning "back East," a discouraged farmer in South Dakota, looking over his ruined field for the last time before going back to Vermont, noticed that in the tracks made by his old lame mule, where the soil was packed by the weight of the animal, the wheat had grown strong and tall.

As a result of this observation South Dakota is just now harvesting one of the largest wheat crops of any state in the Union and is filled with prosperous farmers, while the erstwhile discouraged farmer himself, H. W. Campbell of this city, is the owner of five big wheat farms aggregating 3,000 acres, which produce an average of sixty bushels per acre. He is known as the "bonanza farmer" of the West. And all because a lame mule tramped across his wheat field one day.

The good stalks of grain growing in the mule tracks and surrounded by puny stems set Campbell to thinking. From them he evolved a new system of farming. His neighbors laughed at him and remained poor, while Campbell grew rich. When he wanted new tools with which to farm according to his ideas the farm implement manufacturers made light of his ideas. Campbell made his own tools, and today they are being manufactured in Odessa, Arad, Hungary, Hyderabad and half a dozen cities in the United States.

Told World of Discovery.

Campbell wanted to tell the Western farmer what he had discovered, so he turned editor, and has had the satisfaction of seeing his articles reproduced in a dozen different languages. One of these, an article on soil value, was translated into Russian by Tschaikowsky, the Russian political writer, while he was a prisoner in the fortress of St. Peter at St. Petersburg.

E. H. Harriman, as he once passed through the great wheat country of the West, held out his hand to Campbell, who was in the railroad magnate's private car and said:

"If the Union Pacific gave you $1,000,000 every year it could not pay you for the increased freight from your work."

Campbell now lives in Lincoln, where he maintains a force of clerks to keep the accounts of his big farms and his other interests.

When he took up a homestead in Dakota Territory, in 1883, all he possessed besides his family was a few farming implements, a plough, a wagon, etc.; a lame mule and a long-horned ox. The ox and mule, yoked together, broke the sod and put in the crop of wheat. The rains came, the water fell on the loose sandy soil, sank into the ground and ran off just as fast as it fell.

Lesson From the Mule.

Campbell had been a machine shop foreman in Vermont, and had no one to whom he could write for assistance. He was desperate and was preparing to leave the country, going anywhere. But he walked out to look once more at his burned field, and noticed small bunches of good wheat. He examined carefully, and found that these bunches were growing in the tracks of the old mule. For days he asked himself the question, "What did it?" And finally the answer came to him—"It was the packing of the earth by the weight of the mule."

The next year when he sowed his wheat he rolled it for days and days with a home-made roller. When the wheat sprouted every kernel came up. Then came the long hot days, and the neighbors' wheat dried up and burned. But Campbell's didn't. That was the start. Today Campbell owns and operates 1,000 acres in North Dakota, 640 acres in Midland county, Tex.; 320 acres near Plainview, Tex.; 320 acres at Holdrege, Neb.; 640 acres at Medicine Hat, Alta., and a section in South Dakota.

One of His Secrets.

"When those farmers back in the old days were praying for rain," said Campbell, "I told them that the thing to do was to put a cistern under their ground and put a lid on it. The cistern was the natural moisture, the lid the pressed ground at the top. 'Save the water you've got,' I told them, 'and quit praying for rain.'

"Here's one of my secrets. I sow only about twenty pounds of wheat to the acre, while the experts are sowing a bushel and a half. When my wheat comes up it is the finest you can see anywhere—not a ripple on it. This year I estimated that I would raise sixty bushels per acre on my Nebraska farms. It thrashed out sixty-seven bushels per acre. The state experimental farm, right across the road from my place, yielded about fifteen bushels per acre. For every pound of grain I planted I reaped 4,040 pounds, a manifold of 202. The other fellow got a manifold of only eleven. I've got as high as 200 heads of wheat from one grain.

"And it all came about because my old mule walked across my wheat field twenty-five years ago."

RAID HOUSE AND SEIZE GOODS

Customs Officers Follow Up Woman Who Did Not Declare Them.

New York, Sept. 3.—By orders of Collector Loeb of this port, an inspector and two women employed in the customs service visited the house where Miss Catherine M. McKee of Harrisburg, Pa., is staying in Brooklyn, and seized a fur coat and other articles belonging to Miss McKee.

Miss McKee, who is a daughter of a Harrisburg merchant, was arrested when she arrived here on the steamer Oceanic from Europe, after a quantity of jewelry which she had not declared to the customs officers was seized. She was released in $1,500 bail and was awaiting a hearing on that charge. Since her arrival she had been under the care of physicians.

Reports from special treasury agents abroad received by Collector Loeb cused the visit to her rooms and the seizure of the other goods, which were sent to the appraisers' stores.

WRECK ON THE M. & I.

They are beautifully lithographed in natural colors—mostly copies of famous paintings—Neapolitan Scenes, Shakesperian Scenes, Landscapes, Rural subjects, Venetian Scenes, etc., etc. Suitable for the parlor, dining room, bed room, or den. They come in four sizes, as follows: 12x15, 13x16½, 11½x18, and a smaller size of combined pipe rack and picture, with rings for four pipes—sizes 10x11. The frames are in various wood finish to match the furniture or room interiors—while the pictures themselves are the best subjects and colorings ever offered in Duluth for even twice the money!

We could only secure 2,000 of them, and judging by former sales of pictures not equal to these—they will hardly last the day out—so be on hand early—pick out a dozen or so of the best subjects.

CONCERNING WOMAN.

At the bi-monthly meeting of the Women's council, which was held this morning at the library, the early closing movement for Duluth was discussed in detail. For several years the council has been much interested in securing a half holiday on Saturday during the summer months for the clerks in the retail establishments, and the matter was discussed in its many phases at this morning's meeting. The benefits that the employes of the establishment would realize were dwelt upon, and the general trend of opinion was that Duluth would benefit by securing the early closing. The other side of the question was spoken of, however, that such a movement might work a temporary hardship on the working classes who do most of their shopping Saturday evenings. No action was taken. The corresponding secretary was directed to secure what information she could from the cities about the size of Duluth where the Saturday closing has been inaugurated and where it has not been tried, and the opinions of the merchants and people of those cities.

A report was heard from Mrs. M. R. Baldwin, one of the assistant health commissioners and a member of the council, upon the garbage collection which has been undertaken by the city. The district which the city wagon visits is from Third avenue east to Sixth avenue west, to Fifth street. The cost of the collection depends upon the number of customers. After the cost of maintaining the wagon is deducted the surplus is put into making a more inexpensive collection so that the success of the plan depends upon the customers. There are some obstacles met with in the fact that the city will not collect the ashes, and many of the housewives object to having two separate collections, but the movement is in the line of a cleaner, more sanitary city, and it is hoped that this one wagon will prove such a success that the work may be undertaken by the city department in other districts. The first district in which the scheme is being tried will be extended to Fourth avenue east and any one in this district wishing to help in this work and to have their garbage removed at a cost that will grow less with each added customer, is invited to communicate with Mrs. Baldwin of the health department of the city.

The benefits of having a supervisor to plan and inspect the work of the various sewing schools and domestic science classes that are being maintained in the city by the Twentieth Century club, the Bethel. The Temple Aid society and other organizations was presented by Mrs. E. A. Silberstein. A committee was appointed consisting of Mrs. Silberstein, Mrs. F. R. Kennedy and one other member, to be named, to inquire into the conditions and report to the council.

The resignation of Mrs. Julia H. Barnes as corresponding secretary was received with regret. Mrs. Barnes will spend the winter in the East. Mrs. W. H. Burris was elected in her place.

The various clubs represented in the council will arrange for flower shows at the various schools, at which seeds were distributed in the spring.

PUPILS' RECITAL.

Pleasing Program Is Presented in Flaaten's Hall.

Another successful recital was given by the pupils of the Flaaten conservatory last night. The very small students did exceptionally well—Grace McDonald and Verne Hurtekalnen played their solos beautifully. The young ladies' vocal class shows a great improvement in each public appearance. Agnes Nunan, Marie Anglin and Reiner Lingelback did good work in their reading.

Special mention is made of the piano numbers by Anna Karon, Laura Ellerson, Alma Christofer, Miss Stalbrodt and Miss Katherine Pearson. Miss Claire Foltz and Miss Florence Webb did well in their vocal numbers. It being their first appearance as soloists in the recitals. Miss Bertha Hopkins sang a "Slumber Song" by Needham. James Velner's violin solo was played with force and temperament typical of the Bohemian dance.

The juveniles gave a string ensemble with good tone. Three of the elocution class, Myrtle Johnson, Evelyn Morterud and Doris Mallett, appeared in dialogue, which was exceedingly well rendered, under the direction of Miss Mary Sliesgren.

NEIGHBORHOOD HOUSE

Will Be Benefited By Amateur Musical Comedy.

Neighborhood House at the West end, which has been maintained for more than a year by the Twentieth Century club, will be the beneficiary of the production of "Up and Down Broadway," which will be presented at the Lyceum Friday and Saturday evenings of next week, by the young society people of the city. A fine work has been carried on at the West end under the auspices of this woman's club. Sewing classes for the girls from the smallest tots to the girls of 16 and 17 have been held each week, there are several boys' clubs with Miss Jean Poirier at the head, and there is a circulating library and reading rooms. The Twentieth Century club has rented rooms on West Superior street that have come to be known as Neighborhood House. Two librarians have been employed during the year to look after the books, which are loaned by the public library, and to keep the reading rooms open on the nights set aside for that purpose. It is to further this work and make possible finer opportunities for the children and young people of the West end who have come to look to Neighborhood House for instruction and clean amusement, that the musical comedy project has been undertaken. The work has been going forward so quietly but effectively that many Duluthians do not know that there is such an undertaking in the city. Those most interested hope that several hundred dollars will be realized from the performances next week.

Y. W. C. A. RECEPTION

To Be Held in Honor of New Teachers.

A reception will be held at the Young Women's Christian association Friday evening of next week in honor of the instructors of the educational department. The guests of honor will be Miss Frances Pullar, physical culture director; Miss Helen Case of Windsor, Conn., assistant, and Miss Ruth Patrick, instructor of domestic arts and science. The invitations for the affair will be issued the first of the week. Classes will be arranged and the outlines made during September for the regular term of work.

SEVERAL FORGED CHECKS CASHED

Checks made out in different names, and supposedly issued by W. C. Sherwood & Co., have been cashed by some of the Superior street clothing stores, which later learned that the checks were forgeries. It is said ten or twelve of these bits of paper were passed, their total amounts aggregating about $125.

The police say the case has not been reported to them, and that they know nothing about it. Mr. Sherwood himself says he does not know how many of the checks were passed, and that he has seen only one of them, although he has heard of others. No attempt was made to imitate the firm's signature. "W. C. Sherwood & Co." was put on with a rubber stamp, and "By W. C. S." was written under it. Mr. Sherwood says none of their checks are ever issued in that form, and that the initial feature is never used.

The man circulating the worthless bits of paper is said to be young and well dressed. His method is to present a check for $10 or $15 in payment for a purchase not amounting to more than $2 or $3. He takes the change and articles bought and leaves the store, and the proprietor does not know he has been defrauded until he gets word to that effect from the bank.

QUIET MONTH FOR POLICE

August was not a heavy one for the police in Duluth, according to the monthly report of the department secretary. Two men were arrested for murder during the month, however. The total number of arrests was 310. Of these 201, were common drunks.

The value of property reported stolen was $1,325.70, and $658, or 49 6-10 per cent was recovered. The patrol wagon responded to 306 alarms, and traveled 452 miles in doing so. The fines paid into municipal court amounted to $647.42, and $145 bail was forfeited.

Some of the offenses for which arrests were made, and the number of these arrests, were as follows: disorderly conduct, 17; assault, 9; begging on the street, 4; careless driving, 1; carrying concealed weapons, 3; fighting on the street, 3; forgery, 2; fugitives from justice, 6; cruelty to animals, 1; indecent assault, 2; insanity, 3; keeping house of ill fame, 1; saloon open after or before hours, 2; grand larceny, 2; petty larceny, 7; non-support, 1; trespass, 5; violating the speed limit, 1; violating food ordinance, 2.

SLAYER OF TOTS DIES AT CLOQUET

Cloquet, Minn., Sept. 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mrs. Fred Young, the woman who killed her three children near Barnum Monday and later attempted to take her own life by cutting her throat with a knife, died here last evening at 8:15 o'clock.

She was supposed to have been recovering, but her condition became critical yesterday, and death followed. She had been unconscious the greater part of the time, and at times asked for her children.

The body was taken to Barnum this afternoon for burial.

HIGH SCHOOL ALUMNI.

Big Attendance Desired at Meeting to Organize Society.

Tonight at the Central high school an alumni association will be formed.

Every old grad is urged to be present that the charter membership may be as large as possible.

Both Mr. Denfeld and George Buck, the new principal of the Central school, approve and they will be present at the meeting. A committee has been working on the idea for some time and letrs have been sent out asking those not in the city to send in their names for membership.

A great many of the students are in the city at this time, especially those who attend college. Those who have worked on the range are here getting ready to go back to school and with those who make Duluth their home, the attendance should be large.

The Duluth institution of learning has been slow in the matter of forming an association, but now that the idea is being carried out, much enthusiasm is being displayed.

It is planned to hold a big reunion during the Christmas vacation.

The Jungle Exhibition Here.

Opens tomorrow, Sept. 4, at 14 West Superior street. A rare collection of 300 live wild animals, birds and reptiles. Continuous exhibition. Daily 10 a. m. to 11 p. m. Admission, 10 cents.

FROST KILLS BERRIES.

Ishpeming, Mich., Sept. 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—A frost on Monday followed by a heavier frost on Wednesday killed all the berries in this region. It was hoped that the frosts would not effect the berries, but berry pickers, who had been camping out since the season opened are returning and report the crops ruined.

Sick Headache And Indigestion

The Former Is Very Frequently Caused By The Other.

The pneumo-gastric nerve connects the stomach region directly with the brain, and when the stomach is out of order the head is almost certain to be affected through reflex or sympathetic nervous irritation.

The headache o; dyspepsia and indigestion is of every variety from the dullest and least defined to the most acute pain. Sometimes the whole mass of the brain seems racked with anguish; at others, the ache is confined to the back or front part of the head. The first form is usually of a confused character, and is often accompanied by dimness of vision, and a mild vertigo, or so-called "rush of blood to the head." The victims of this symptom complain of a "swimming" or "lightness" in the head, and dizziness, or a sensation of motion while the body is still, and specks, or flashes of light before the eyes.

Persons subject to indigestion and other forms of stomach trouble are very frequent sufferers from headache, and in numerous cases a sick headache is the only noticeable symptom of indigestion present; in others, there are stomach manifestations as well.

The majority of people regard this headache as a separate disease, instead of a symptom of stomach-disease, which it usually is; and they attempt to treat it separately, and make the mistake of endeavoring to obtain relief through the use of headache powders, tablets, pills and seltzers, the use of which is extremely dangerous, as many of them contain such powerful depressent drugs as acetanilid, phenacetine, antipyrine, caffeine, etc., which depress the heart, brain and nerve centers and lower arterial pressure; and many a person with a weak heart has become dangerously ill shortly after taking one of these headache remedies. They also interfere with the digestive processes, and actually make the dyspepsia worse than before.

In order to get rid of the headache of indigestion—and most headaches are caused by stomach trouble—one should endeavor to reach and remove the cause, and the headache effect will soon be relieved.

STUART'S DYSPEPSIA TABLETS do not cure the symptoms; they cure the cause of the headache, which permanenttly removes the symptoms. They digest every atom of food in the stomach, cure all forms of stomach trouble, and the headache, and every other disagreeable symptom and untoward effect is quickly gotten rid of.

Don't make the mistake of trying to cure your dyspeptic or nervous headache through the use of headache powders, tablets, etc. Use common sense, good judgment, and one or two of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, and you will be agreeably surprised at the rapidity with which the headache will be relieved and cured simultaneously with the relief and cure of the stomach disturbance.

BUTTER IS VERY FIRM

Prices Here Show No Disposition to Undergo a Decline.

Fresh Fruits and Vegetables Are Still Prominent Offerings.

Firmness in butter was one of the leading features of the week in the local produce market, prices for all grades undergoing a change upward.

At no time during the summer has butter been anywhere near a price level which could be called low, and with the waning of summer, the chances of any declines are still more remote. On the other hand, the chances for more advances are excellent.

Creamery butter is now on a 29½-cent basis, which is a higher price than last week's. Other grades are similarly firm, all of them now selling two points or so above the quotations of a couple of weeks ago.

While eggs have not actually advanced any during the last few days, the market is very firm at 24 cents. The demand has been heavy, the storage people being active inquirers.

Receipts of eggs have been fairly liberal, but they have not any day equalled the demand. There is no indication that the market will experience any change except an advance.

Cheese is unchanged from last week and the market has been without any sensations. Full cream cheese is quoted at 16½ cents a pound.

In the market for fresh fruits and vegetables, California fruit of all kinds is available and at prices considered very reasonable. The demand has been very firm, but the receipts have been large enough to prevent any marked upturn in price.

Peaches are now selling at $1.20 a box and Bartlett pears are quoted at $3.25 per box. The lowly and often despised prune is a prominent offering in the line of fresh fruits. Prunes are selling at $1.50.

Among the leaders are California grapes, which are now arriving daily in large quantities. The Malagas are particularly prime and are being sold in the wholesale houses for $1.75. Receipts of Tokay grapes have also been of excellent quality.

Cocord grapes are coming in now from Michigan. Considering that the season for them is still early, the quality is very good.

Colorado peaches are beginning to arrive in this market. It is understood that very few peaches were raised in Washington this year and the Colorado chop will be in good demand.

The season for California plums is nearly over, but they are still to be had in almost any quantities desired. They are quoted at $1.60 per crate.

More new apples have been arriving this week and receipts will steadily increase from now on. Until the closing of the season of navigation stops shipments from the East by boat, apples will pour into this market. It is a handy and economical matter for Eastern apple growers to ship their crops westward by boat and for that reason, Duluth is a great distributing point for them. Hundreds of barrels come here every fall on the package freighters, some of them to be consumed here and others sent throughout the West.

All varieties of apples now in the market are selling in Michigan street for $3.75 a barrel.

The market for oranges and grapefruit is quiet, with prices unchanged from last week. Cantaloupes have supplanted the grapefruit, for the present, as a prime breakfast delicacy. The market is well supplied with cantaloupes and the quality is excellent. The same may be said of watermelons.

The banana market is without feature. 4 cents a pound still being the price quoted for them. Receipts are about the same as last week.

The fresh vegetable market is still lively, with but few changes in prices.

In the staple vegetable market, potatoes are selling at 50 cents a bushel. Sweet potatoes of excellent quality are now arriving from the South and are quoted at $2.25 a bushel. New roots of all kinds are arriving every day. Beets are selling at 75 cents and rutabeggas at 60 cents a bushel. Carrots are 65 cents.

The strength in pork is the feature of the meat market. Lard is also very firm. Fish and poultry are unchanged.

CUPID WINS; SO DOES COLLEGE

Father Forgives Girl's Love for Prof. and Offers New Building.

Appleton, Wis., Sept. 3.—A music professor, the daughter of a wealthy merchant, a hospital operation and the final peace offering of a new building for a school of music for the college all figure in the romance of Miss Emma Peabody and Prof. William Harper of Lawrence college.

It is announced today that George F. Peabody, one of the wealthiest merchants of this part of the state, who is the head of a company operating a chain of department stores in the Fox river valley, had decided to give to Lawrence college a building for a school of music, the structure to cost about $25,000.

The giving of the school is accepted in Appleton as evidence that he has forgiven his daughter for her love affair with Prof. Harper, and that a marriage may soon be on the cards.

Parent Nearing Death.

Meanwhile, Mr. Peabody is nearing his grave, an operation in a Chicago hospital having disclosed that he had cancer of the stomach in so advanced a stage that he could not be operated upon and can now only wait for the end.

The people about the college had for the previous year noticed that Prof. Harper seemed to be exceedingly likely to be seen near Miss Peabody. Miss Peabody, it appears, was by no means unwilling to have him as a satellite. Then came the climax.

Last spring, while Mr. Peabody was cruising in Florida on his steam yacht Iris, the engagement of his only child, Emma, to Harper was announced and shortly afterward there were rumors of an estrangement between the father and daughter.

SAY BOYS SHOULD COURT DANGER

British Speakers Advocate Rough Games as Good for Character.

London, Sept. 3.—The discussion of the paper on "Athleticism" at the meeting of the British Medical association has elicited a very strong and largely unanimous testimony in favor of exercises that come under that head from those best able to judge of their effect. As a tutor for more than thirty years, Dr. Traill declared that his experience with more than 900 young men who had passed through his hands led to the belief that the physical and mental effects were of the kind to conduce to a healthy moral temperament. Sir John Barr went even further than this, declaring it to be the duty of medical men to instill into young men, precept and example, a love of athletics.

"The more hazardous the game the better," said Sir John, "for the development of the character and the individual. Training should commence at the home and in the elementary schools."

The last point opens a matter that has for long and often been in dispute. In the home life one is accustomed to hear the too careful and slightly nervous mother or sisters check the wild, boisterous hilarity of the younger sons with the caution, "you will hurt yourselves." Is that always wise? Sir John Barr would appear to believe not, and to advocate indulgence of even "dangerous" play in the home and at the schools. Need it be said that neither of the speakers had anything except condemnation for the practice of some who take their exercise vicariously and content themselves with looking on at others.

It wouldn't have required much more persuasion in your ad. to have brought a hundred more buyers to your store today.

WARN BRITISH OF TROUBLE IN INDIA

Calcutta Papers Comment on Permitting Boycott Demonstrations.

Calcutta, Sept. 3.—The "Englishman" and the "Statesman" warn the government of Bengal of the danger of allowing boycott demonstrations to be held in Calcutta, and the "Mofussil Englishman" traces all the unrest in Bengal to the institution and maintenance of this boycott, which has enlisted the active sympathy of the student element.

The boycott, the journal continues, started as a deliberately spiteful movement to injure European interests. "We are reflecting all well informed European opinion in Bengal when we say that the boycott must be made illegal and such demonstrations as those contemplated be prohibited by the police."

To the "Statesman" it seems inexplicable that any public meeting to strengthen the boycott should be tolerated under any conditions. The movement is intended avowedly to act in restraint of trade, being specifically directed against British goods. It is calculated, and by many of its advocates is designed, to foment anti-British feeling.

Has Produced Hostility.

"It cannot be denied that in many places the agitation has actually produced hostility to British rule, nor can it be disputed that it has led to lawless picketing, social oppression, intimidation and crime. Yet the Bengal government proposes to look on while the anniversary of this mischievous propaganda is openly celebrated in the streets of Calcutta. This attitude is scarcely likely to strengthen the position of the loyal section of the educated classes."

The Statesman's comment is significant, inasmuch as in the past it has always fought the battle of the natives and held the authorities alone to blame for the prevailing unrest, disaffection and crime.

At a Swadeshi meeting held the other day to further the boycott movement and celebrations, a speaker laid stress on the fact that the boycott benefited India. Why, he said, should the natives loyally support the government which is imprisoning or deporting innocent persons? The only way to make the government feel the power of the people was rigorously to enforce the boycott. The partition of Bengal would never be modified until a widespread use of this weapon against British manufactures and goods compelled the authorities to give way.

S.S.S. CURES ECZEMA, ACNE, TETTER ETC.

While Eczema, Acne, Tetter, Salt Rheum, etc., are troubles which affect the skin, their source is far deeper than the outside cuticle. These affections are caused by irritating humors, or uratic acid in the blood. Such impurities inflame and irritate the delicate net-work of fibrous tissue which lies just beneath the surface of the outer skin, and the inflammatory discharge thus produced is forced out through the pores and glands, and is continually kept up while the blood remains infected. This exudation causes the formation of scales and crusts so often seen in Eczema, and when they are scratched off the flesh is left raw and more susceptible to other infection. It can very readily be seen then that to produce a cure the circulation must be purified and cleansed. This S. S. S. will do. It goes down to the very bottom, removes all humors and impurities, neutralizes the excessive acids of the system and in this way removes the cause of disease. Local applications can only soothe the irritation and assist in keeping the skin clean; they never produce a cure because such treatment does not reach the blood. S. S. S. restores to the thin, acrid blood all its lost properties, makes it pure and rich and enables it to nourish the skin and keep it soft, smooth and healthy. Book on Skin Diseases and any medical advice free to all who write.

WITH A POSITIVE GUARANTEE

of perfect satisfaction or no pay. Yours truly,

HARRY MITCHELL,

New No. 123 W. Superior St.

TO THE OUT-OF-TOWN MAN:

My ambition is to make clothes for the swell dressers of the whole Northwest, and I won't be satisfied until I make suits and overcoats, including dress suits, tuxedos and the best of everything, made to measure, sure to fit and guaranteed to be satisfactory. For the men living in the small towns and villages, wherever the name of Harry Mitchell has become known as the popular tailor, read how I am doing it. For the coming Fall and Winter season I have made arangements with the leading merchants throughout the Northwest to take orders and measures for me. I furnish these merchants with a full and complete line of the very latest Fall and Winter samples, the choicest fabrics you have ever seen and, mind you, over 300 styles—samples of large size, containing all the latest and best styles for this Fall and Winter's wear, together with handsome illustrations of all the very newest cuts and styles. There isn't any doubt but what you will need a suit for this Fall and Winter, and if you will write me, I will advise you by return mail who is taking orders for me in your town. The chances are that the very merchant with whom you are doing business evey day is handling my line of samples. I always guarantee perfect fit, latest style and the lowest possible price, and if you will write me today you will have a better suit made to your measure and save a $10 bill. Don't buy any ready made clothes from your local dealer. Don't pay a high price to your tailor. Write me a letter and I will put you next. Yours truly,

HARRY MITCHELL,

THE $3 HAT

WILL NOT SIGN THE ORDINANCE

Mayor Haven Opposed to $5 Automobile License Provision.

As was expected, Mayor Haven has announced that he will refuse to sign the new automobile ordinance passed by the council last Monday night until the license fee demanded of operators of machines be reduced from $5 to 25 or 50 cents. He believes the $5 fee unreasonable, especially so in view of the fect that the money thus derived goes into the general fund, and not into a fund intended exclusively for the improvement of streets and roads.

The mayor believes that all automobile operators, whether working for hire or not, should be licensed, but does not think the idea of the license should be to bring a revenue to the city. He says the other provisions of the ordinance meet with his approval.

ANSWERS FIRE CALL; FINDS HIS BOYS DEAD.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Sept. 3.—Responding to an alarm of fire yesterday, William Willis, captain of a fire department in the suburb of Norwood, found his own house in flames and the dead bodies of his son, Elbert, 5 years old, and Virlis English, 4 years old, being carried from the place. Both had been suffocated.

PROPHETESS PROFITS WHEN PROPHECY FAILS.

Tampa, Fla. Sept. 3.—Disappointed because their prolipesy that Tampa was to be wiped off the map by a great disaster Sept. 1, failed to come true, thirty footsore and weary disciples of the "Unknown Tongue," returned to this city yesterday from Durant, twenty-five miles from here. Several days ago the party sold their all here and moved to Durant, and there they were told they would be outside the danger zone. Their chief priestess is said to have raised the price of provisions to the "faithful," the profits going to herself.

The prophecy now has been revised to read Sept. 16.

SURVIVED BY WIDOW AND 38 CHILDREN.

Indiana, Pa., Sept. 3.—Thirty-eight children mourn the death of their father, John W. Miller, aged 76 years, who died yesterday at the county home here, where he had been an inmate for several years. Mr. Miller was married four times. His widow survives him.

WILL TEACH PEOPLE HOW TO USE TOBACCO.

Chicago, Sept. 3.—The National Allied Tobacco Trades' association, composed of men of the industry from all parts of the country, was formed here yesterday for the purpose of a cross-campaign against anti-tobacco activity. In educating the consumer in the use of tobacco the association will work through the retailer and endeavor to enlist physicians and scientists in the cause. The headquarters of the association will be in Chicago.

LABOR DAY EXERCISES

Monday Will Be Generally Observed As Holiday in Duluth.

Trade Unionists Plan the Biggest Parade in Their History.

Labor day, Sept. 6, will be generally observed in Duluth.

Not only will the trades unionists lay aside their tasks, but other workers will enjoy a holiday. All the stores will be closed all day and in many offices either a whole or part holiday will be observed.

The banks and county and city offices will be closed all day and there will be no session on the Duluth board of trade or the local stock exchange. The other grain and stock markets of the country will also be idle.

The day will be given over to labor and the trades unionists have arranged a most elaborate program of observances. It is planned to make the parade the biggest one ever held here on Labor day.

The arrangements for the day have been made under the direction of a joint committee comprising M. J. Harney, chairman: P. G. Phillips, secretary: F. Hiedeman, I. Gilliland, P. Anderson, J. Burke, L. Ewald, F. Mooney, J. Ultican and Sam Kielly.

The parade will form on First street and is due to start through the principal streets of the city at 9 o'clock. Every labor organization in the city will have a place in the line and there is keen rivalry among them to make the best showing.

Two bands and a fife and drum corps will furnish the music. M. J. Harney will be general marshal of the day and will lead the first division. He will have as his aide P. G. Phillips, who will head the second division.

In the afternoon a program of sports will be given in Fairmont park, West Duluth, where the Union Labor pavilion is located. There will also be an address by A. R. McDonald, orator of the day. In the evening there will be dancing.

If the weather is pleasant many people will spend the holiday in the parks and on the water, and there will be special attractions at most of the outing places. The theaters will give special matinees, as well as the regular evening performances.

To Detroit and Return $12.00.

Via the South Shore in connection with steamers of the D. & C. Line. Excursions leave Duluth on Night Express Sept. 15th, 17th, 19th, 22nd. Rate to Toledo $12.50, Cleveland $13.50, Buffalo $14.00. Apply early for reservation to

SAYS TAWNEY WAS WITH TAFT

Statement Issued at Beverly Refers to His Tariff Attitude.

Beverly, Mass., Sept. 3.—The following was among the statements issued at the executive offices yesterday:

Representative Tawney of Minnesota, chairman of the house committee on appropriations, supported the president in his fight for tariff revision throughout, and even went so far as to vote against the remainder of the delegation from his state in favor of free lumber. During his trip West, the president will stop all of one evening at Mr. Tawney's home town of Winona, and it has been reported that he would take occasion to commend Mr. Tawney, although there has been no confirmation of this intention.

THEY APPROACH THE WRONG MAN

Fur Peddlers Try to Dispose of Goods to Detective.

Fred and Harry Reich, who say they are from New York, were arrested yesterday afternoon by Detective Donald Irvine, who charges them with peddling without a license.

The detective was standing on Superior street when a man approached and offered to sell him some furs cheap. Irvine went along and found the Reich brothers, who offered to sell him two very fine fur rugs and some fur garments.

Detective Irvine's eyes were attracted by a beautiful polar bear's skin, and he asked the price. He was told that he could have the whole lot for $180, which is said to be only a small part of their real value. The boys, who are only 20 years of age, were informed that the police had been looking for them for three days, for peddling without a license, and Irvine took them to the police station.

They were released under bail of $55 each, which was furnished by J. A. O'Leary.

TAFT DENIES STORY IN THE PIONEER PRESS.

Beverly, Mass., Sept. 3.—President Taft has been informed that a telegram has been published in the St. Paul Pioneer Press and Dispatch of the following tenor:

"I assure you of my complete sympathy with the plan to honor the Minnesota congressional delegation by a public ratification meeting.

"WILLIAM HOWARD TAFT."

The president has requested the press associations to announce that no such telegram was sent by him to the Pioneer Press or to anybody else.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 3.—The editor of the Pioneer Press last night made the following statement in regard to the fake telegram, purporting to have come from President Taft, which was published in that paper:

"The telegram purporting to have been signed by President Taft was received by the Pioneer Press through the regular local news channels and was printed in good faith.

"Following the discovery of the fake the Pioneer Press printed an expose of it the following morning, in black tpye on the first page, and used every effort to counteract the wrong impression that had been created by the original publication. This was followed with a detailed explanation of how the alleged telegram came to be printed. The Pioneer Press has exhausted every means at its command to correct its error and has made the correction much more prominent than the original publication."

CRUISED ALONG ATLANTIC COAST

Hon. Ray T. Lewis Says Governor Johnson Is Popular in Maine.

Even up in the farthest corners of the state of Maine the people are familiar with the record and career of Governor Johnson, and Minnesota's chief executive has hosts of friends and admirers, according to Hon. Ray T. Lewis, who has just returned from one of the most interesting and delightful summer vacation trips that could be planned.

Mr. Lewis spent several weeks cruising up and down the Atlantic coast, which is familiar territory to him. He visited Samkaty Head light, on the east coast of Nantucket island, New Bedford, Fairhaven and many other towns and cities along the coast. At New London he met Maj. Potter, formerly of Duluth, who is now in charge of the Third United States lighthouse district. For two weeks Mr. Lewis was the guest of Maj. Potter on the government yacht used by him in making his trips.

"We cruised up and down Long Island sound," said Mr. Lewis, "caught a number of bluefish and had a most delightful journey. Maj. Potter asked after many of his friends here in Duluth, and wanted me to remember him to all his old acquaintances.

"Returning to New York, I took the steamer for Providence and the trolley to Boston, and then the steamer to Searsport, Me., where I visited a number of old friends. I then cruised along the coast of Maine, stopping at all the important ports.

"Although I am a Republican, I am a great admirer of Governor Johnson, and I was amazed at his popularity there. Nearly every man I met would say, 'You're from Governor Johnson's state, aren't you?' They all know him down there, and they all seem to admire him as much as we do in our own state.

"And incidentally I learned to appreciate The Herald down there, more than ever before. I took pains to compare it with the New York and Boston papers of the same day, and I do not exaggerate when I say that it had all the important news they had, and, so far as I could see, was fully equal to them.

"Fairhaven, the former home of H. H. Rogers, is one of the most beautiful towns along the coast, and the amount of money Mr. Rogers spent there is amazing. He gave millions to the town, one school alone costing $1,000,000."

Fat Folks Stifle in Hot Weather

Is it any wonder that the fat people stifle in the hot weather? They are jammed full of fat on the inside. The lungs demand great quantities of air each breath or beat of the heart so that the oxygen in the air can purify the blood and send it back to the body to maintain strength and vitality. Most people do not use one-half the capacity of the lungs, which are nothing more or less than some 500,000,000 little cells like toy balloons, which, when they are not inflated with air, lie flat. If the fat that crowds the lungs reduces the capacity of the lungs to take in air you will see what an awful time the blood and body has of getting its oxygen or vitality. The reason of this fat is that the digestive machinery of man is not working right. Marmola Tablets, that have created such favorable comment among physicians and fat people by their wonderful reductions in so short a time, stop the body from making fat. They are harmless and reduce fat at the rate of from twelve to fifteen ounces per day. You do not need diet or exercise, and you may eat when and what you will. The beauty of Marmola Tablets is not alone their ability to reduce fat, but they leave no wrinkles or flabby rolls of skin after the fat goes away. They are sold by all druggists; price, 75 cents, or you may write the Marmola company, Detroit, Mich.

JOHN PIER DIES.

Leading Citizen of Dubuque, Ia., Was Known in Duluth.

John Pier, a leading citizen of Dubuque, Iowa, who recently was a guest of his sister-in-law, Mrs. William Eichman, of Duluth, and who has many friends in this city, died at his home in the Iowa city, Aug. 24, of cerebral hemorrhage. The deceased was a pioneer of Dubuque and was 75 years old at the time of his death. He was born in Germany, and came to this country at the age of 19 years.

EX-MONTANA BANKER CAN'T PAY FOR MEALS.

Helena, Mont., Sept. 3. — Alleging that Aaron Hershfield, former cashier of the defunct Merchants' National bank of this city, had obtained three meals a day from her for a period of five weeks, by false pretenses, Dorothy Bungard filed a complaint in the justice's court, charging him with obtaining property under false pretenses. She values the meals at $30. A warrant has been issued for Hershfield's arrest.

ANXIETY FELT FOR CANADIAN

Dominion Government Fears Capt. Bernier May Be Lost in Far North.

Montreal, Que., Sept. 3.—Some anxiety is felt in government marine circles over the disappearance of Capt. Bernier, Canada's Arctic explorer, who left Quebec on a voyage to the Northern seas in 1908. The last word received of him was last October, when returning whalers reported that Bernier had planted the Union Jack on many of the islands in the Arctic seas.

Since then nothing has been heard of the expedition, and no mention of it has been made by Scottish whalers who returned this summer.

Mails were sent to Scotland to be forwarded to the Bernier expedition by whalers, but it is not known whether they reached their destination.

May Have Sought Pole.

Bernier went north with a well-equipped expedition to make surveys and collect customs dues from American whalers. He always was anxious to go in search of the North Pole, and it is thought that after concluding his regular work he may have found a favorable opportunity and started on a voyage of discovery. On his other expedition Capt. Bernier always managed to send fairly regular word of his movements to the dominion government, and R. A. Wialtert of the Montreal agency says that considerable anxiety is felt as to his whereabouts and safety.

MRS. WRIGHT DECIDES TO SERVE HER SENTENCE.

Devils Lake, N. D., Sept. 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mrs. Mary Wright, convicted of killing her stepdaughter, "Babe" Wright, in the district court here last winter, will serve her time. Her attorney announced that she had decided not to appeal the case as she had first intended. She was found guilty of manslaughter and sentenced to serve five years in the state penitentiary. Mrs. Wright commenced to serve her time at Bismarck in April.

IS NOT AN EXPERIMENT

Plan to Handle Farmers' Produce Here Successful Elsewhere

Co-operative Society of Farmers and Citizens Suggested By C. P. Craig.

"The open market here will be in no wise an experiment. In inaugurating such a movement we will not be blazing any new trails. I know of no public market that has proved a failure, and in starting an institution of that kind in this city we will be merely organizing an institution that has proved a success in every city where it has been tried."

That is the opinion of Charles P. Craig, who is deeply interested in the organization of a public market in the city of Duluth. Mr. Craig believes that the organization of the proposed market on a thorough business basis is what both the people of Duluth and the farmers of the outlying district want—and what the people want they generally get, Mr. Craig observes.

For years the citizens of this city have paid no attention to the patent need for a city market here, according to Mr. Craig. Now the time has come when the people know that they need an open market here, and they are beginning to pay a great deal of attention to the means of securing something that they believe will materially cheapen the price of produce.

Mr. Craig points out that the way to secure the open market is through co-operation on the part of the citizens and the farmers. He suggests that the matter be taken up by those citizens who are interesting themselves in the movement for the market and the farmers of the outlying districts, say for a radius of from fifty to seventy-five miles, either through the medium of the farmers' clubs of the districts, or with the farmers individually.

He further suggests that the farmers coming to the market, those men who must be vitally interested in its success, should be assured of some share in the profits of the venture. Though the market may not be profitable from the very first, Mr. Craig is positive that the movement can be made a huge success, and for this reason the farmers supplying the market should be allowed to hold shares in the corporation, or the association, or by whatever name the organization is called.

Mr. Craig suggests that each truck farmer be given a small share in the organization, as much as he can afford, and that he be informed that he will share in the profits of the venture, or, should there be a deficit for a period, he will also be called upon to contribute his share toward sustaining the organization.

"The time is ready for such an organization," said Mr. Craig. "The main thing is that the citizens of this city feel that they need a market. For all these years they have not realized that they needed a market, and therefore have made no effort to secure one. Now the need for a market has grown, the people realize their need keenly, and as a result we are going to have one.

"I should say that the time was most opportune. It is the people of Duluth who will make the market a success, and I am of the opinion that there will be no hostile attitude from the commission men. It is simply that they have not been organized for the receiving of small consignments of produce, and therefore for all these years these small consignments of produce have been going to other markets.

"These raisers of produce have been forced to seek other market points. Give them an open and fair market in this city—a market that is based upon the co-operation of the producer and the men behind the organization—and Duluth will receive all of the produce of the territory within a radius of from fifty to seventy-five miles.

"I will venture to state that the amount of produce received in this city, direct from the farmer, will be more than quadrupled within a very short time. The transfer from the producer direct to the consumer will be brought about, and at the same time the price of the product to the consumer will be reduced. As the money for the produce is received by the producer in this city, much of that money will be expended in this city, a condition that does not exist at the present time.

"Some of the produce that is sold today through the Duluth commission houses is shipped from a distance of fifty miles from Duluth to St. Paul, and from that market to this city. That condition is simply the result of the fact that there has been no arrangement here for receiving the produce of the small producer. The open market would obviate this condition; a condition that costs the citizens of this city a tax of a greater cost of living.

"The time has come for the establishment of the market. The object is to get into close touch with all those conditions that will go to make the organization a success from the start. The details can be successfully worked out. The need and the demand is here. The right kind of a man at the head of the movement can make a great success of the organization. Eventually we will need four public markets in this city. But we must organize the central market first. We must get the confidence of the producer, we must get the support of the farmer, and then with proper business management the market is an assured success."

CLEARING GROUND FOR NEW ASHLAND PLANT.

Ashland, Wis., Sept. 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Active preparations are being made for the new paper mill. Gus Ellison has a couple of teams at work clearing away debris for the mill, which means work will be commenced in a short time. Thomas Edwards has sold them 500,000 brick, which will be used in constructing the different buildings. Work will probably be commenced on the buildings soon, so as to have the plant in operation by the first of the year.

DEFIES THE SMART SET

Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont Says She Will Stick to Suffragism.

Hostess of Marble Palace Cares Nothing for Criticisms.

Newport, R. I., Sept. 3.—Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont, leader in the fight for equal suffrage, hurls defiance at the smart set of this country which scoffs at the woman's suffrage movement because it has to deal with the "common people."

To bring about success she says she will stand shoulder to shoulder with men and women, no matter how rich or poor they may be, who are honestly in favor of giving the voting franchise to women.

"I am willing to stand a brigade of muckrakers in society in order to see the suffrage a success," is the defiant statement of Mrs. Belmont made just prior to the calling of a big suffrage mass meeting at the Marble Palace.

"Many in society are not in favor of the suffrage cause," she continued, "because it has to deal too much with what is called the 'common people.' In my opinion nothing will bring about success any more quickly than the fact that all classes of people stand shoulder to shoulder in the fight for the cause."

Doesn't Mind Criticism.

"But don't you mind the criticism that has been heaped on you by women active in the '400?'" Mrs. Belmont was asked.

"Of course I do not," she replied, her eyes flashing. "What care I for the attacks of those whose main objection is that the plain people will take part in the movement?

"Opposition never discourages me. Instead it encourages me. There is nothing that I like better than a good fight.

"The greatest good to the greatest number' is my motto. It is a good motto. It is a motto that a good many disgruntled society women should adhere to."

"How far are you prepared to go, Mrs. Belmont, in advocating the equal suffrage cause?"

Will Bear Everything.

Mrs. Belmont laughed merrily. Then she said:

"I am prepared, fully prepared, to ward off all the criticisms, all the slurs, all the inuendoes, all the malignity, that a few disgruntled society women can heap on me.

"Every forward movement in this world has not been the exclusive work of the millionaires, or of the smart set. Every successful movement is brought about by all classes of good men and women working together for a common good."

A BIG AND PRACTICAL PHILANTHROPY.

The announcement in The Herald tonight that Bishop McGolrick of the Roman Catholic diocese of Duluth is planning to induce workers in congested cities to settle upon the soil, and that arrangements have been made to help them to locations on good land in Minnesota, goes directly to the heart of a very pressing problem in this country, and attacks it in the only way it can be attacked.

In every city, particularly in every large city, the tendency is toward a congestion of labor. Even in the most prosperous times there are always more men than jobs, and the effect of this is to keep wages down, to maintain a distressing permanent conditon of non-employment, and to crowd more and more people into the pauper and criminal classes. The bigness of which the great cities boast is made up at a terrible cost, and the condition is a peril every day of the year. To relieve it and at the same time to combat the growing tendency of the farms to fail in supplying the country's needs, the obvious thing to do is to take the surplus labor out of the cities, where it is doomed to semi-starvation much of the time, and plant it upon the soil, where it will have an opportunity to make a comfortable living, and out of the surplus above its own immediate needs to help supply the needs of the country at large, thereby gaining a profit which may, with proper industry and skill, grow into competence and even wealth.

Therefore Bishop McGolrick has made arrangements to divide a large area in Northern Minnesota among city workers who can be induced to make the change, giving them easy and comfortable terms and helping them in every legitimate way to make a start. They are offered, in this way, the opportunity to change from a condition which is a desperate struggle at all times, with failure waiting at every turn of the road, to a condition of independence and comfort in which they can help themselves and help the country as well. These men must pay for their land, but the rates will be moderate and the terms easy. It would not do to give the land away, for men value only those things that cost them something.

This is exactly the plan which The Herald has urged for years. Frequently it has pointed to the anomaly of permitting such parallel conditions as congested cities, with labor half-employed and half-starved, and vacant, fruitful acres waiting for man's industry to make them yield wealth for the workers and for the nation. It is hard to imagine a more practical and more helpful philanthopy than this, and its like may well engage the attention and generosity of men of means and public spirit.

BARRICADING THE PATH OF PROGRESS.

Having reformed the house committees in accordance with his own peculiar ideas, Speaker Cannon is engaged in hurling cuss words back at those who criticise him for doing it.

Neither his packed committees nor his cuss words are conclusive, however, and the most hopeful sign about it all is that in crowding his system of tryannizing congress so far, he is undermining his own position and hastening the day when he and the things he stands for shall tumble into the rubbish heap, where they belong.

Says the Chicago News: "Speaker Cannon at least must be given credit for deep cunning. He knows how to use the power of the presiding officer of the national house of representatives to serve his own purposes better than most men would if afforded the opportunity." Cunning? Yes; but cunning often overreaches itself, and it seems about to overreach itself in this case.

It is cunning, but not wisdom. Cunning is short-sighted, and seeks to profit by immediate opportunity, without regard to ultimate consequences. Wisdom would go slowly, and without sacrificing anything, would by a seeming of obedience to popular demands, hold what it has and await the quiet time when more could be grasped.

Cannon, on the other hand, is blindly and arrogantly grabbing for everything in sight, seeking to increase his tyrannous power and to misuse it more relentlessly at the very moment when popular indignation against him is at white heat. This is shortsighted, but then Cannon always was shortsighted. Here's hoping that he will keep on in his pigheaded brutality until even the suppliant herd under his thumb has a backbone built into it by the force of popular anger.

The case of Congressman Weeks, to which The Herald has already referred, is an interesting example. Cannon is against postal savings banks, so he has revamped the postoffice committee to cut out the advocates of postal savings banks, and put at its head Mr. Weeks, who is a banker and an opponent of the plan. But in doing so he killed two birds with one stone.

For years congress has been beseeched to create the Appalachian forest reserve, which would preserve some of the remaining timber, and at the same time would steady the conduct of the streams having their rise in the Appalachians, which are getting into very bad habits of running nearly dry part of the year and overflowing their banks and causing great damage another part of the year, as the timber is removed. Cannon, however, is opposed to this plan, too. But Mr. Weeks is in favor of it, even though he opposes postal savings banks. He was, in fact, the author of the bill, and he had a place on the house committee on agriculture, which handles the subject. By removing him to the postoffice committee Cannon not only settled, as he thought, the postal savings bank, but he was able to replace Weeks on the agricultural committee by a man who is against the Appalachian forest reserve.

This shows again how Cannon acts and works; how cunningly he contrives to defeat legislation in the public interests; how he manipulates the popular branch of congress to suit his own will. Above all, it shows that the first step toward progress must be to attack his position and cast him out of it; for no progress can be made so long as a supine people and a backboneless congress permit him to guard the pathway.

CEASING TO "FEED THE WORLD."

Says the New York World: "In recent government reports of statistics on national production, exports and imports, which not one citizen in ten thousand reads, there is being traced month by month the wonderful economic change that is rapidly altering the character of the country's trade and commerce. Briefly these figures show two fundamental facts: First, the United States is ceasing to feed the Old World and is consuming at home nearly all of its farm products. Second, a steady increase in production and in the exports of manufactured articles that indicates the transfer of trade supremacy from the farm to the factory."

This change, to a very large extent, is due to this country's policy of fostering manufactures by the protective tariff.

Is it a good change, and does it make for improved conditions among the people?

The average wage in manufacturing industries, according to the government census, is less than $40 a month.

What the farmer's average earnings are the figures do not show, but at any rate the farmer gets a living, and usually a good one, even if he does not pile up great wealth. Certainly the laborers in the factories do not pile up great wealth, and at $40 a month very few of them even get a decent living.

If our farms cease to feed us, and we have to import a share of our food over a tariff wall, isn't the situation going to be a great deal worse than it is?

It is interesting to speculate upon what would have happened if this country had not adopted the protective system to foster its manufactures. It may be admitted that our manufactures would not have grown so luxuriantly, nor would the private fortunes made out of them been so numerous or so mighty. But would the condition of the masses of the people have been any worse than they are? The chances are that the population would have been much less than it is, because manufacturers, seeking cheap and contented workers, have imported vast numbers of immigrants, contract labor laws to the contrary notwithstanding. There would have been less manufacturing, but with this country's wealth of raw materials and coal, it is a libel upon the country to say that manufacturing wouldn't have been comfortably prosperous even under free trade.

But a much larger proportion of the population would have remained upon the soil. The cities would have been smaller, and the congestion of poverty, misery and crime in the city slums would have been much less. With a larger proportion of the people living in comfort upon the soil, and a smaller proportion of the people living in misery in city slums, the country's aggregate wealth would have been far lower, but the comfort of the average man would have been greater. Besides, the rape of natural resources to feed hungry factories would have been much slower and less disastrous, and the remaining natural wealth would have been vastly greater than it is.

Comparing the situation of those workers engaged in manufacturing with that of those engaged in farming, it would seem that the development of manufacturing at the expense of agriculture has not been good for the country, and that the approach of the time when the soil will no longer feed the country threatens conditions that may well cause the thoughtful to feel alarm.

WHOSE TRIUMPH WAS IT?

The passage of a tariff bill by the congress of the United States is a matter of vast importance, yielding fruits of good or evil that ramify, of necessity, to all sections of the land. Therefore it is proper that credit for the achievement should go where it belongs, in the interests of historical accuracy.

To that end the Tribune of Providence, R. I., offers timely assistance. The Tribune is one of Mr. Aldrich's organs, and it is also one of the principal newspapers in Mr. Aldrich's principality, Rhode Island. Says the Tribune: "The placing on the federal statute books of the new tariff law is a great victory for Senator Aldrich. It is the greatest victory in his long and diligent public career; it is, perhaps, measured by its difficulties, the greatest victory that was ever achieved by any one member in the whole history of the American congress."

From the viewpoint of Privilege and Monopoly—no representative of which has yet been heard to utter a word in criticism of the new tariff bill—we are quite willing to admit every word of this. It is a great victory—for Privilege. As to the people—well, the cause of the people seems to escape consideration utterly in Rhode Island.

Continuing, the Tribune says: "It is useless to belittle the notability of his victory. The president's haste to dub the new tariff the 'Payne bill' merely confirms the suspicion that, ill-informed and inexpert as he is in the tariff matters, yet down in the bottom of his heart he knows the truth of the final outcome of his efforts, and is anxious to divert popular attention from the fact that in whatever struggle there was between him and Rhode Island's senior senator, HE GAINED LESS THAN HALF A DOZEN MINOR POINTS WHERE HIS OPPONENT SAVED A HUNDRED MAJOR POINTS."

Again the Aldrich organ speaks truth, and important truth at that. It is not fair to call this bill the Payne law; whatever name history gives it will lack historic accuracy if the name of Aldrich is omitted. Perhaps, on the whole, so that no just credit be withheld, the best name would be the Aldrich-Payne-Taft bill.

Continues the Providence Tribune: "To have had his own way in all essentials, in behalf of those whose special champion he has always been, is an unquestionable victory for Senator Aldrich at a time when there is arrayed against him a majority of the people, a large minority in congress, and the titular head of his party in the person of the president. There are those who may deny that such a victory is great in moral or even political worth, but there can be no successful denial that is is great in magnitude."

The Herald has no disposition to question a single word or claim. If it is worth boasting about, the Aldrich victory is clearly a big one. To win out against the vast majority of the people, regardless of party; to make naught of the efforts of the president of the United States; to turn party pledges into waste paper and public honor into public shame: these were indeed great accomplishments "in behalf of those whose special champion he has always been."

THE OPEN COURT.

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about live topics of general interest. Letters should not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer, though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective however.)

A FEW QUESTIONS.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Apropos of Dr. Cook's exploit:

Will President Taft have to change his itinerary so as to take in the new addition to the country?

What a place it will make for the establishment of an affinity colony!

What are the divorce laws up there?

Is there a color line?

Is it a good place for hay fever sufferers?

What is the cost of living?

Are rents high?

Is it going to have any effect on the personal taxes?

Will the Payne bill allow pieces of it to come into the country free of charge, as radium does?

No doubt Charley Fairbanks will be appointed governor of the new territory—or will the people clamor for immediate statehood?

How soon is its waterpower to be turned over to the trusts?

When will the first lottery be held for opening the land to settlement?

ANXIOUS INQUIRER.

THE AUTO ORDINANCE.

To the Editor of The Herald:

I have been wondering while the council was passing an ordinance of doubtful validity to regulate the running of automobiles, why it does not pass one of some benefit to the community, and one that can be enforced.

I have been in many cities, but never in one where automobiles were driven so fast and recklessly through the streets as they are in this city, dangerous alike to those who run them, and to pedestrians. This evening at about 7:15 o'clock I was crossing Superior street just one block east of the police station, when I had to run to get away from two large machines, that were racing east at the rate of at least forty miles an hour. This was carelessness to the extent of criminality.

I was standing on a corner on Superior street a few days ago when an automobile went by so fast that people made for the sidewalk for safety. I timed this machine for four blocks or one-third of a mile. They were just forty seconds in going this distance. That was thirty miles an hour. There may now be an ordinance limiting the speed of automobiles, and if so, it should be enforced. If there is no such ordinance, one should be passed, without any freak features in it, and should be enforced.

WHY THEY DIVIDED—ANSWER.

To the Editor of The Herald:

In a reply to the letter published in your paper last evening under the heading "Why Divide" would say that it was not the intention of the Duluth Anti-Tuberculosis committee to obtain money under false pretense and we do not think the committee is entitled to the criticism implied in the correspondence.

In the first place it takes time and money to maintain a trained visiting nurse, who is looking after 127 patients, and the members of the committee have spent both liberally. A few months ago the need of more funds was apparent, and wishing to appeal directly to the people we issued 1,000 tickets which were placed in the hands of fifty prominent people for distribution at $1 each. We sold about 200 memberships.

It was necessary for our fund to be increased or dispense with our visiting nurse. It was then arrangements were made with Mrs. Labadie to give a recital. Mrs. Labadie is an artist of unquestioned ability; and similar entertainments on a less advantageous basis than enjoyed in Duluth, have received the indorsement of the best professional and business men of the East.

It was not the intention of the committee to place big blocks of tickets with any one party and Mrs. Labadie's representative was instructed to sell the tickets on the merit of the recital and not press anyone to take more than they felt like taking.

We figured that the entertainment was well worth 50 cents and the balance would help materially in increasing our fund. If any one purchased more tickets than redeemed at the recital it surely cannot be blamed upon the committee.

Granting the recital was worth 50 cents, the committee will gladly refund 50 per cent of any purchase price of tickets to any one who feels they did not receive a "square deal."

As a matter of fact, 50 per cent of the proceeds did not go out of the city. There were four people connected with the recital, and they were in Duluth for nearly two weeks, so that their share of the proceeds, when figured on a basis of time and expense, would not amount to any large sum for any of them.

We are very sorry that there has been any apparent cause for criticism. We would much prefer to receive donations direct, but the members of the committee have not the time to make personal applications. We have cheerfully given a lot of time to this work, and if we have been indiscreet, our only consolation is that we personally have already contributed in time and money more than was carried away by Mrs. Labadie.

The committee has at all times used its best judgment. If we are not handling the work properly, we will be only too willing at any time to turn the enterprise over to "our wellwishers," providing we are assured they will give the matter the same loyal support which we have tried to contribute.

Very truly,
THE DULUTH ANTI-TUBERCULOSIS COMMITTEE.

GAME HOGS AND THE LAW.

To the Editor of The Herald:

There are hundreds of Duluth men who are sportsmen in the true sense of the word; who observe the game laws and who are not hogs when they do get in the woods and fields in the open season with their guns and dogs. These men are naturally indignant at the hunters who are not sportsmen, but who shoot wild birds and animals at all seasons, and who think no more of breaking the laws relative to fishing than they do of eating.

It seems to me that in view of this general resentment against breakers of the law, that it would be a good idea for the local men who are entitled to be classified as sportsmen to band themselves together into a society for the protection of game, and hire game wardens of their own. The society might affiliate itself with the League of American Sportsmen, which is an influential national organization, and which stands behind its members in their fight to save American game from extermination.

Until some such step as this is taken the unlawful slaughter of wild birds and animals will continue. The present state system of game protection is a farce. One man in the employ of a sportsmen's league, who could be thoroughly depended upon, could bring about more convictions in a month in the Duluth district alone, than all the game wardens in the state do in an entire year, and I would be willing to bet my $250 hammerless to a toy water pistol on it. Think of the scores of law violations, and then of the few arrests or convictions. I dare say the game wardens in this district do not average three arrests a year, not to speak of convictions. They could beat this record in a single day, without getting off Superior street. All they would have to do would be to visit the cafes and make a sincere effort to find whether game was being sold to customers in violation of the law.

Of course it would be financially impossible for the society, if it were organized, to employ a large corps of wardens. One man two or three months a year would be sufficient as a starter. If he were really sincere in his efforts to protect the game, and was backed up by the men employing him, his work during a short period would be productive of such results that all the law breakers in the district would be thoroughly frightened, and would be afraid to further violate the laws, after seeing the punishment meted out to their brothers in crime. The courts are all right, and never fail to impose fine or imprisonment when evidence is strong enough to convict. All we need is a sincere game warden, who thinks more of the protection of game than he does of politics and his personal comfort. The present unlawful slaughter of game is heart breaking to the true sportsmen. They should get together and stop it.

A SPORTSMAN.

THE WEATHER.

Duluth experienced another delightfully cool and agreeable evening. The autumnal quality dominated the atmospjhere and night was built for sleep. Today, the skies are cloudy and there is a likelihood of showers.

The sun came up at 5:30 and the setting time this evening is 6:45.

The weather a year ago today was fair and warm.

Mr. Richardson says of weather conditions:

"During the past twenty-four hours, showery weather prevailed in Southern Minnesota, Southern Wisconsin, Western Michigan, Illinois, Iowa and the Dakotas due to the influence of a disturbance now central over Manitoba. This low pressure has also caused somewhat warmer temperature in the lake region and Central Valley states. The barometer continues high over Eastern states and low in the extreme Southwest. Pressures are rising rapidly in extreme Western Canada attending the development of a strong high pressure condition over Alberta. Indications favor showers in St. Louis and Douglas counties during the ensuring thirty-six hours."

Following are the minimum and maximum temperatures for the past twenty-four hours:

Reflections of a Bachelor.

New York Press: A man gets to be conceited by thinking he isn't.

The reason a girl likes to hesitate over a marriage proposal is she is sure she is going to accept.

Some men will find fault with their wives if they don't save more out of their allowance than it amounts to.

An unlucky thing about being lucky at making money is all the people you have to do something for with it.

No wonder a girl never worries about not having brains when she sees all she can do with men who think they are full of them.

A Suggestion.

Say, all you men of business, when a stranger comes to town,
Don't you think it pays to have him smile instead of grouch and frown?
Well, one easy way to help him to a pleasant frame of mind
Is to make your streets and avenues less difficult to find.
For "east is east, and west is west, and ne'er the twain shall meet;"
But to find that out here in Duluth is hard on weary feet.
"All numbered streets run up the hill,
the avenues parallel—
Or is it just the opposite? Dear me,
it does beat"—well,
It's just that way a lot of times. You residents don't know—
To you it's so familiar—how far one strange can go,
Without a gleam of light upon his devious, winding path;
With every disappointment adding fervor to his wrath.
At all street intersections put the street names, big and plain;
It will spare the weary wand'rer much perplexity and pain.
He will reach your business places with the least amount of trial,
And you'll find a good investment in that patron's pleasant smile!

—A Traveler.

An English View of Our Slang.

Chicago Evening Post: An unconscious witness of the complete insularity of the English is a recent volume by an Englishman which is devoted, among other things, to an attempted exposition of American "slang." This book, "Passing English of the Victorian Era," by J. Redding Ware, undertakes to translate some of the ephemera of American speech into the good, substantial English of Burke and Chatham. Behold the results:

A "chump," says this author solemnly, "is a youth (usually) who has been in any way cheated of his money, especially by the so-called gentler sex." Where, pray, did he get that highly specialized version of our most generic expression? A "dead beat" is "one who is a pauper," and the term "dead-broke," it is interesting to learn, is "another reading for 'dead beat,'" while a "dead give-away," our Englishman discovers, is "a swindle or deception."

In spite of the noble army of younger sons who have ranched in the West, the author translates the term "cowboy" as a "Texas farmer." The "tenderfoot" is a "doubtful, roving industrial." Can that be beaten? We think not. The "arctic," which most Americans know as a heavy cloth-and-rubber overshoe, is described simply as "winter clothing." When an American says that a person is "stuck up," says the author, he means that the person is "without money." This is a highly figurative expression, we are told, derived "from being 'stuck up' by highwaymen, after which you have no money in your pocket." He says that the "great bounce"—does he mean the "grand bounce"?—is a term meaning "death."

There are other indications that the author was not well equipped for his task. Perhaps a better scholar could have caught more successfully the racy flavor of our Americanisms, though the list of failures in this field of Anglo-American interpretation has been long. They don't "get us;" perhaps they never will.

TWENTY YEARS AGO
Taken From the Columns of The Herald of This Date, 1889.

Mrs. Addie le Baron Stone, wife of J. B. Stone of Grand Rapids, Mich., died Aug. 28 at her home in that city. She was a sister of Mrs. S. R. Wentworth of Duluth and had many friends here.

Rev. Mr. Barnett of Washington county, Pa., who is visiting his friend, Charles P. Craig of this city, has seen Duluth under less favorable auspices than the present. He was here in 1856 and preached to the then inhabitants of Minnesota Point, at which time his listeners probably sat together on a log. He was here just twenty-five years later and preached in the Presbyterian church, in 1881. He will remain here several days.

The steamer Dixon took out a party of Duluth young men who are to make a trip such as has seldom been made by white men. They go from here to Grand Portage, on the international boundary, where they will provide themselves with guides and canoes and travel up Pigeon river and the lakes and rivers along the boundary, branching southward and bringing up at Ely, after a canoe trip of considerably over 100 miles through a wild and uninhabited country, rich in natural scenery, big game and fish. Those who have gone are R. M. and James C. Hunter, Harry A. Smith and George Mackenzie, late teller of the Merchants' National bank. They will be absent nearly a month.

The Griffith-Marshall Grain company of Duluth and Minneapolis has lately bought 600,000 bushels of corn of last year's crop and will ship it to Duluth. It is but a small part of the corn to be handled in Duluth this year.

W. E. Cover, general agent of the Equitable Life, has returned from a visit of several weeks in the East. Mrs. Covey will remain in Hartford, Conn., two months longer.

MINNESOTA OPINIONS.

Red Lake Falls Gazette: On the theory that "no man can worship God and Mammon" no congressman can vote for Cannon and against the Aldrich bill and get away with it.

Carlton Vidette: It's the Payne bill by name and the Aldrich tariff by nature.

Hendrum Review: Henry Sontag of Ada, who has a considerable portion of his farm equipped with tile drainage, reports an average yield of thirty bushels per acre of wheat, which is more than twice as much as most of the adjoining farms will yield.

Park Rapids Clipper: Had President Taft taken a firm stand against Cannon for speaker the battle for proper tariff revision would have been easier.

St. Cloud Times: One Jacob F. Jacobson whose "voice was so hoarse" in the campaign last fall that he could not speak in St. Cloud, has regained it to the extent of saying he does not believe in a non-partisan ratification of congressmen—it might hurt the Republican party. Jacobson puts party above country. However, "Jake" was turned down last fall by the party by over 28,000 majority.

Madison Independent Press: Never mind about Governor Johnson absenting himself from his office at the capitol. This state would have been better off if some of the Republican governors we have had had got out and stayed out of the state entirely.

Appleton Press: Ridiculous is the attempt of Republicans to exclude President Taft from the condemnation which they are heaping upon Tawney and Aldrich. A party to the act must be a sharer in the blame which attaches thereto.

Ortonville Herald Star: A handsome young suffragette is coming over from London to convert this country in the matter of woman's rights. We have fixed views on this subject but we are willing to discuss the matter with the right kind of an evangel.

Rush City Post: There seems to be some chance that the capital of the United States will be moved back to Washington from Danville, Ill., in the near future.

Red Lake Falls Gazette: Bob Dunn intimates that he may or may not be a candidate for governor. Bob has a lot of loyal friends in Minnesota and whether or not he gets into the race he will have something to say about the platform, and probably will be a determining factor in the nominees of the convention.

Madison Independent Press: A mock session of the legislature is to be held upon the state fair grounds fair week. Just as though the real thing was not enough of a mockery.

"Running the United States."

Louisville Courier-Journal: Some time ago a member of the Press Gallery, who had had opportunities for observation at close range, wrote an interesting book upon the party leaders of the times. He wielded a pen that flattered where it might have flayed. He painted in print the brighter side of affairs at Washington. There was not, in the entire volume, a really unkind sentence. Yet he spoke of Nelson W. Aldrich as "the man who runs the United States." The characterization was not criticism. It was merely a plain truth, plainly stated.

Several years have passed since the biographical work was put to press. We have had wars political, and rumors of wars. We have had the after-end of a Roosevelt administration that blazed like the tail of a comet across the sky. We have now the beginning of a new administration, at the head of which stands Mr. Roosevelt's legatee for the nomination and the nation's choice for president. But, just as heretofore, Nelson W. Aldrich is "running the United States." Presidents may come and presidents may go, but he runs the United States continuously.

Says a truthful chronicler at Beverly, in a dispatch for the press: "Senator Aldrich, having come out of his long tariff fight, is now about to take up the important task of adjusting the monetary system of the country."

This is not the utterance of a partisan correspondent seeking to belittle the proportions of others as factors in our national problems, but a non-partisan representative of the Associated Press, who writes plain tales from the golf links.

The average citizen does not understand much about banking and currency. He will not, as a rule, bestow sufficient time and study upon the subject to master its mysteries. But he does know a little about the policies for which Mr. Aldrich—with his fine abilities and his coolness, composure and confidence in the outcome—stands.

Knowing a little about Mr. Aldrich, the average citizen knows that when he finishes the important task of adjusting the monetary system it will be adjusted along the same lines that describe the Payne bill, the label of which is not so misleading as to rob the distinguished gentleman from Rhode Island of his rightful share of the glory of its authorship.

Sincerity.

Life: "More than a century has elapsed and yet our tariff has constantly increased until now half our revenue is collected from our imports alone. * * * That half is taken for the most part directly from the producing class, which it impoverishes to enrich the protected, who may properly be called our slave owners. * * * All appeals for a revision and a reduction of the tariff are like appeals to inebriates not to drink to excess."—John Bigelow to the New York Reform club.

"I have signed the Payne tariff bill because I believe it to be the result of a sincere effort on the part of the Republican party to make a downward revision."—William H. Taft.

Some time ago an American humorist invented the term "sincere drunkard." Perhaps he had in mind the situation that has just risen.

Pointed Paragraphs.

Chicago News: A practical joke is what a woman plays on a man when she marries him.

Even in a prohibition state there is always more or less trouble brewing.

When a woman acquires a job lot of trinkets she begins to speak of her jewels.

We may not know what is best for us to do, but the trouble is to persuade ourselves to do it.

The photographer never takes people for what they are worth, but for what he can get out of them.

The average workingman would like to be rich enough to enable him to tell his boss just what he really thinks of him.

MEANT TO BE FUNNY.

Houston Post: "I guess all the people in the neighborhood are getting picture postcards from your son?"

"His teacher always predicted that he would be heard from some of these days."

Success: An evangelist was exhorting his hearers to flee from the wrath to come. "I warn you," he thundered, "that there will be weeping, and wailing, and gnashing of teeth."

At this moment an old woman in the gallery stood up. "Sir," she shouted, "I have no teeth."

"Madam," returned the evangelist, severely, "teeth will be provided."

New York Mail: Sopho—Rusher gained a yard in the game.

Fresho—Yes, but the doctor said he lost a foot.

Chicago Record-Herald: "The trouble with you is that you have no object in life."

"Yes, I have."

"What is it?"

"To be able to attend my wealthy father-in-law's funeral."

Philadelphia Record: Wigg—Don't you think Miss Antique keeps her age remarkably well?

Wagg—Sure; she never gives it away.

New York Sun: Mrs. Givem—Why don't you go West and work on the harvest?

Weary Willie—Mum, the office should seek the man.

Life: Post—Who are the most successful settlement workers?

Parker—The foreign nobles who come over and marry rich American girls.

Puck: Farmer Hayrick—Why are you going to charge the summer boarders more this year?

Farmer Cornstassel—I've called the place a bungalow.

Kansas City Journal: Magistrate—Was his motor car going very fast?

Cop—Your honor, it was going so fast that the bulldog on the seat beside him like a dachshund.

Washington Star: "Why, Johnny, what are you crying about?"

"Got a lickin'."

"Well, don't you mind."

"Gwan! That's wot I wuz licked for!"

Chicago Record-Herald: "Pa, what is sublime faith?"

"When a man who weighs 250 pounds sits down beside a lady whose weight is 235 pounds and the hammock in which they are seated is held up by a rope a quarter of an inch thick, it seems to me that they give an exhibition of sublime faith that would hardly need an explanation."

Life: "What delayed you?" asked the parents of the young lady who has been out airshipping with her swain. "Did you have an accident?"

"Nothing of any importance," she explained. "The propeller broke and we dropped in on some friends of Harold's."

Philadelphia Ledger: "Chicago people think their city almost as corrupt as San Francisco."

"Don't you believe it," said the Californian, warmly. "That's Chicago nerve. Always trying to get into our class."

The Protective Tariff Moral Standard.

From a speech by Senator Dolliver of Iowa in the debate on the Payne bill: As the result of my observations upon the different tariffs of the world I find that wherever there is a protective tariff it has built up a system of morality of its own. I never found that its rules of morals were in accord with any other rules of morals, religious or secular, ever framed in this world. It has built up a system of morality in this country that not only is wicked, but it allows to be done by authority of law what the man who does it would never do in his private capacity as a citizen. It permits a man not only to covet his neighbor's goods, but to take them away from him by force of law. When we consider that we collected a little over $200,000,000 last year, and the people of this country pay in taxation to these protected interests $2,100,000,000, I think it is about time we are considering whether we are not taxing the American people a little too far.

University School

We offer to the people of Duluth a school with the following advantages: Small classes; college-trained teachers; pupils, except in the primary grades, taught by men; no need of following a formal course of study; pupils advance as rapidly as ability for preparation warrant; nature study, experimental science, water color; free hand and mechanical drawing; manual training. The Principal will call on interested parties, or they may call 707-L, old 'phone. Term begins September 7.

A CLOSE SHAVE

Many of Them Happening Every Day But Soon Forgotten.

Close shaves would be of more frequent occurrence but for the tender faces of many men, which will not permit of shaving often. Heretofore, nothing has been said in these columns about posiam, a new skin discovery, in connection with its use after shaving. Its publicity and sales have been confined almost exclusively to its remarkable properties as an eczema cure; it stops the itching at once and cures the worst cases in a few days. While the application of posiam after shaving is one of its minor uses, such as for pimples, the complexion, etc., shavers will find it a revelation, as it does for abrasions, roughness, and severe scrapings what it does for all manner of skin difficulties—heals and cures in a few hours. It is the only article possessing real antiseptic and curative value that has ever been exploited for this purpose, and will soothe and tone up the skin as no toilet preparation could possibly do.

Posiam can be had for fifty cents at any reliable druggist's particularly the Lyceum Pharmacy and Abbett's in Duluth and Holmberg's in Superior, who make a specialty of it. Or the Emergency Laboratories, No. 32 West Twenty-fifth street, New York city, will send a trial supply free by mail to any one who will write for it. This is sufficient to show results in twenty-four hours.

BIG COLONY IS PLANNED

Bishop James McGolrick Offers Farm Lands to City Dwellers.

Large Tract Will Be Thrown Open for Relief of Masses.

A plan which has for its object the colonization of about 170,000 acres of rich Northern Minnesota farming land by poor people, who are now struggling under the congested conditions of the cities, has been announced by Bishop James McGolrick of the Catholic diocese of Duluth. The land, which lies in Beeker and Hubbard counties, will be thrown open to desirable citizens, who satisfy the bishop that they desire to make a home for themselves in the country away from the conditions under which they now live.

By allotting twenty-five acres or more to each family, Bishop McGolrick believes that he can furnish the nucleus for a fine farm and a happy home to nearly 7,000 families, so that nearly 25,000 people, who are now living in the cities, may be given opportunity to enjoy health and happiness in Northern Minnesota.

Bishop McGolrick is sending out circulars printed in English, German and Polish to New York, Boston, Chicago, Philadelphia and other great cities telling of his plan and the method by which any man of good character may secure a home for himself and his family under the greatest advantages and at a minimum expense. Bishop McGolrick is anxious that many Catholics take advantage of his offer, but he draws no sectarian lines. He proposes to see that Catholic churches and schools are provided in the district, and is consequently anxious to have many of the settlers of his faith, but anybody who proves worthiness will be given consideration at his hands regardless of religious beliefs.

The land is owned by the D. S. B. Johnson Land company of St. Paul and has been given into Bishop McGolrick's hands for colonization. No sales will be made by the company and the bishop has absolute control of allotments.

The tract covers fifty miles extending from Akeley on the east to Detroit City on the west, and Bishop McGolrick, who has made a personal examination of the district, says it is as fine farming land as he has ever seen. Clover and timothy grow in abundance, he says, and the land is fine for grazing.

The terms are as easy as they can be made. The first payment will be at the rate of $3 an acre, and the remainder, from $10 to $15 an acre, may be paid at the option of the settler. The bishop offers to lend $500 worth of lumber for initial buildings to all who take land, and a rebate of $1 an acre will be given to those who, at the end of two years, have six or more cows. The company will clear ten acres for each settler, so that those who enter upon the tract will be given a good start toward developing a fine farm.

Bishop McGolrick is anxious to help the laboring class of the large cities of the United States, and the first opportunity will be given them to enter on the land. The bishop is also considering the sending of a personal representative to Holland and induce colonists to come to this country, as he recognizes the Dutch as the best farmers as a nation, and is anxious to have a few Dutch farmers scattered through the district, to show the other settlers how to farm.

65,000,000 ACRES OF LAND OPENED

Statement Is Issued From the Offices of the Interior Department.

Washington, Sept. 3.—According to a statement issued yesterday by the secretary of the interior, almost 65,000,000 acres of land have been designated as subject to entry under the enlarged homestead act of the last congress, providing under specific conditions for the appropriation of 320 acres under the homestead law, instead of 160 acres, as heretofore. The lands thus designated are distributed as follows: Colorado, 20,250,000 acres; Montana, 26,000,000; New Mexico, 1,550,000; Oregon, 1,200,000; Washington, 3,500,000, and Wyoming, 11,900,000.

Large areas in Utah also have been designated under the special provisions of section 6 of the act exempting from residence.

The lands subject to entry under the act of non-mineral, non-timbered lands, not susceptible of irrigation, and which, because of insufficient rainfall, will not produce remunerative crops unless cultivated by some unusual method, such as the "dry farming" system.

Residence must be established on the land by the entrymen within six months from date of filing, and be continued, together with cultivation and improvement of the land, for five years.

BACK FROM CHAUTAUQUAS.

J. Adam Bede Says the Farmers Are Very Prosperous.

J. Adam Bede, former congressman from the Eighth Minnesota district, is in Duluth after a lecture tour that has included many of the most important Chautauquas in the country.

Mr. Bede, from his observations while traveling, says that the country was in a most prosperous condition. Conditions on the farms seem to have improved the most, declares the humorist, and it is getting so now that cows refuse to give milk unless they live in electric lighted barns and listen to phonograph selections while they are being milked.

After greeting a number of friends here Mr. Bede left for his farm near Pine City, to superintend the disposal of his crops.

THREE AUTOISTS ARE KILLED BY TRAIN.

Reading, Pa., Sept. 3.—An automobile in which were riding William L. Gaul and wife of Temple, Pa., and Dr. and Mrs. Samuel E. Schlegel of this city, was struck by a Pennsylvania railroad train at Douglassville, near here, yesterday, and all but Dr. Schlegel were killed. The train was running at high speed when the collision occurred, and the machine was thrown some distance down an embankment. Mr. and Mrs. Gaul and Mrs. Schlegel were dead when picked up. Dr. Schlegel had both legs broken. The party had been on a week's motor trip to Delaware, Water Gap and Philadelphia.

TEACHERS, WITH TANNED FACES AND NEW CLOTHES, BACK ON THE JOB

Every train in is bringing large, fluffy-ruffle bunches of school teachers, who are coming back with summer tan on their faces to resume their tasks of teaching the young idea how to read and write.

Some of the teachers are coming to take part in Duluth's educational activities, beginning Tuesday morning, while others are merely sojourning "in our midst" for a brief interval before beginning their work in the range towns or at other nearby points.

Most of them have given the summer over to enjoying themselves out of doors and engaging the village dressmakers and milliners in preparing new wardrobes for them.

There are still two kinds of school teachers, however. There are the svelte young misses who look as if they were only teaching school temporarily, their ultimate goal being matrimony, and there are others who do not care about the latest coiffures, but are all wrapped up in their work, and pike up the street with the North American Review and the Arena under their arms, without looking from left to right.

All the Duluth teachers are expected to be in the city by tomorrow, as a meeting of them will be held then at the Central high school, at which Supt. Denfeld will preside and outline the year's work.

Many of the teachers reside in Duluth, their relatives being here, but, of course, there are a large number who spend their vacations out of town and who board during the school months.

Arriving today or tomorrow, they will have time to secure rooms, unpack their trunks, hang up their kodak pictures and get out their Gibson head pillows before the first school session of the term Tuesday morning.

BOYS AND GIRLS FOR ADOPTION

Who wants to adopt a bright, good-looking boy or girl?

An appeal for homes for fatherless and motherless boys and girls has been received in the city from the Sisters of Charity, an orphan asylum of New York.

The institution desires to find good Catholic homes for the little ones who are not as fortunate in having a home of their own as other children.

The boys and girls for adoption average about 2 years old. They are all bright, happy children, and the sisters say they will bring joy to any home.

A party of children is starting West soon, and those who would like to receive into their home one or more of the children are invited to write to the Sisters of Charity, 175 East Sixty-eighth street, New York city.

The children are sent neatly dressed to their destination, and their expenses are paid until the time they are received into their new home.

Aldermen Are Playing Ball.

The Duluth and Superior aldermen are playing baseball in the Superior league park this afternoon, the proceeds of the game to go to the Superior Children's home. Quite a delegation of Duluthians are in attendance.

The Duluth aldermen met at the city hall at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon, and boarded a car there for the town across the bay. The game began schortly before 3 o'clock. No one but aldermen are in the line up on either side. Mayors Haven and Crumpton are acting as umpires.

FRANK DAY MADE INDIAN CHIEF

OGEMAH (BIG CHIEF) DAY.

Bemidji, Minn., Sept. 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—On the occasion of the recent visit to the Red Lake agency and through the Red Lake section, the party of state officials who were looking over the country with relation to drainage and game and fish protection, they stopped at the agency, where they had "heap talk" with members of the Red Lake tribe.

By special arrangements made through John G. Morrison, Jr., a popular friend of the Red Lakers, Frank A. Day, private secretary to Governor Johnson, who represented the governor on the trip, was unofficially made a member of the Red Lake band. Mr. Morrison says they gave Mr. Day a fine Indian war head-dress, a valuable emblem that the secretary thought so much of that he stood for being photographed while arrayed "in all his glory."

RAILROADS

EXTRA CARS ARE NEEDED

Railroads Prepare to Handle the State Fair Traffic.

Extra service on the Northern Pacific, the Great Northern and the Omaha railroads will be inaugurated tomorrow, to handle the crowds of people who will go from the Head of the Lakes to the state fair.

Beginning tomorrow afternoon all the three railroads will place extra coaches on their regular trains. The evening trains will carry extra sleepers. All of next week the trains from Duluth will carry extra coaches, and the night trains will carry extra sleepers.

The local agents of the three lines believe that the greatest crowd that has ever gone from the Head of the Lakes to the state fair will be carried by the Duluth railroads this year. The indications point to a very heavy travel for the fair week.

Both the Great Northern and the Northern Pacific may run specials tomorrow, if the travel is heavy enough. There are a great many people going down tomorrow, and if the travel warrants, specials may also be run several days next week.

Agents here state that ample accommodations will be provided for all the people contemplating the trip.

TERMINALS CHANGE HANDS.

Great Western Purchases Those of Soo-Wisconsin Central.

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—The deal involving $1,750,000 by which the Great Western road bought from the Soo the terminal property in Minneapolis, formerly owned by the Wisconsin Central, went through in Chicago yesterday. The transaction embraced the Wisconsin Central freighthouse on Hennepin avenue across from the union station, trackage adjoining, the machine shop, repair shop and roundhouse, with trackage on Boom island, and some minor trackage in Minneapolis, also the freighthouse of the Wisconsin Central at John and Third streets in St. Paul.

OFFICERS SAW DOUBLE

Judge Thought He "Had 'Em" When Twins Were Arraigned.

Fred Reich and Harry Reich, twins, and as similar in appearance as two cigars in a box, were fined $50 each in municipal court this morning, by Judge Windom, for peddling without a license. They were arrested yesterday afternoon by Detective Irvine, who had proof that they were selling furs direct to the wearer in peddler fashion.

The court officers sat up and rubbed their eyes when the young men, who are only 20 years of age, entered the room. They are exactly of the same height, dress exactly alike, and their features are the same. Each wears a nobby blue suit, a white shirt, stiff white collar and black necktie.

Each apparently had a hair cut the same day, and the same barber must have done both jobs. The part is in exactly the same place on each head, and there is the same wavy effect, almost a curl, to each head of hair. The hair is very light in color.

The two youths said they had intended leaving town last night, and that they would rather plead guilty and be fined than to remain here four or five days waiting for a trial. Judge Windom said they could have a hearing next Tuesday if they wanted one, but they decided they did not want to stick around Duluth that long, and entered a plea of guilty. Each countenance had the same sad look when the amount of the fine became known.

"I feel that I am letting you off very easily," said the court. "In the last case of this character coming before me I imposed a fine of $100 and costs, and the whole amount had to be borne by one person. I am letting the both of you off for $100 and costs, which amount to $5. The ordinance providing that peddlers shall have a license must be observed. The same measure is in effect in other cities, and it is a necessary measure, giving the police, as it does, a chance to prevent fraud on the part of irresponsible peddlers."

The fines were paid.

Victory for Good Roads.

Al Smith, county attorney of Hennepin county, is a guest of the St. Louis hotel today. Mr. Smith has been at Isle Royale and is returning to his home in Minneapolis. He is accompanied by his family.

One of the details of county administration that Mr. Smith is most interested in, is the $1,000,000 bond issue, for the purpose of repairing and constructing roads in Hennepin county.

There was an injunction secured against the issue, for the purpose of making a test case. Before coming to this part of the state Mr. Smith argued against the granting of the injunction. He has just learned that the lower court has dissolved the injunction.

The county attorney of Hennepin believes that the case may be carried to the higher courts, but also believes that the county will eventually win its case. In that event, Mr. Smith states that the money will be expended in a very good cause and that not a dollar of the amount will be expended foolishly.

WILL ALLOW IT TO SHOW HERE

The municipal authorities will not interfere with the appearance in Duluth of "Three Weeks," the stage production of Elinor Glyn's notorious book. They say they do not believe it is too bad for the public here to see, if the public elsewhere has stood for it.

"I never read the book, and know nothing about it," said Mayor Haven this morning. "Judging by reports from other cities there is nothing obscene or indecent about the stage production, and I cannot see where we could stop its showing here, even if we were so inclined.

"Not a single person has asked me to use my influence to keep the show out of town. What evil there is about it probably exists in the minds of the audience."

HER BABY BOY A MASS OF ERUPTION

Pimply Rash Spread Until Head, Face and Body were Covered with Eczema — Hands Bandaged to Keep from Scratching — Was a Fearful Sight and Defied Cure.

CUTICURA MADE SKIN CLEAR AND HEALTHY

"My baby's eczema came on when he was three months old, like a rash on his face and then spread over his head. Then there began to form a lot of small pimples over his head from which a watery substance came out and formed a regular mass of crust all over his head, face and body. I had to tie woolen cloths on his hands to keep him from scratching himself. He was a fearful sight to look at. I went to a drug store and tried some of their remedies for eczema but they did not do him any good. I then called in one of our leading physicians and he tried several kinds of medicine and gave me prescriptions, but they only made him worse.

"At this stage a lady friend of mine came in and advised me to try the Cuticura Remedies. That afternoon I sent for a cake of Cuticura Soap, a box of Cuticura Ointment and one vial of Cuticura Pills, and in less than a week I could see a vast improvement in him. I washed him all over every morning with the Cuticura Soap and gave him an application of the Cuticura Ointment after his bath. I kept on using the Cuticura Remedies until he was completely cured. They left his skin clear and healthy and I always have kept the Cuticura Remedies in the house ever since. I highly recommend Cuticura to all persons suffering from eczema. Mrs. Kate Brougham, 200 Dewey St., Bennington, Vt., Dec. 5, 1908 and Jan. 17, 1909."

PIMPLES CURED

"I congratulate Cuticura upon my speedy recovery from pimples which covered my face. I used Cuticura Soap, Ointment and Resolvent for ten days and my face cleared and I am perfectly well. I had tried doctors for several months but got no results. Wm. J. Sadlier, 1614 Susquehanna Ave., Philadelphia, Pa., May 1, 1909."

Cuticura Soap (25c.), Cuticura Ointment (50c.) and Cuticura Resolvent (50c.), (or in the form of Chocolate Coated Pills, 25c. per vial of 60) are sold throughout the world. Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Sole Props., 135 Columbus Ave., Boston, Mass.

GETTING CAMPS READY.

Northern Lumber Company to Work Lot of Men Next Winter.

Brookton, Minn., Sept. 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Northern Lumber company has commenced to get the Fond du Lac reservation camps in readiness for the winter's work.

The company expects to operate six camps on the reservation this winter, and of this number three will be tributary to this village. It is expected that all the timber on the west side of Stony Brook will be cut and banked this winter so that the land can be opened for settlement next year. Z. B. Hoyt will oversee the work in the capacity of walking boss. William Thompson will be foreman and T. P. Davis, clerk of No. 4 camp, which is one of the camps near here, while Percy Wilbert and William Glassow are foremen at camps Nos. 6 and 7, near Brevator station.

DELAY SCHOOL OPENING.

Brainerd, Minn., Sept. 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Complications having arisen in the plans for opening the public schools due to the death of Supt. Hartley, recently, and the election of W. C. Cobb of Cloquet as his successor, the school will open Sept. 14, instead of Sept. 7, as originally planned.

THE QUESTION

Is now to what furrier you will go to and have your work done for the coming season.

I advise you to go to a furrier who can take 8 or 10 skins and put them together in a garment and make it look like the skin of one animal. When you get a garment made in this style, after the plate of Paris fashion of 1899 and made to perfectly fit your figure—as you are built. That's the man to go to.

I am gaining in reputation very slowly, but in time the class of workmanship, the quality of furs used and the advice as to what kind of garment best suits your figure will establish a reputation that will be an enviable one. Consider this thoroughly.

Jones About to Clean Up Fortune When Nabbed in Texas.

Such Is Current Gossip When Ex-Banker Returns to Rugby, N. D.

Rugby, N. D., Sept. 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—The return of Andy Jones to his old home here yesterday caused no end of excitement. Eager friends of the former bank cashier crowded about him, many out of mere curiosity and others to greet him and wish him well in his present trouble.

A new story has gained circulation since Jones' arrival here. It is to the effect that while in Texas he became interested in a mining proposition and that he made a statement to the effect that if the officers had held off one more day he would have cleaned up over $100,000.

Jones is staying at the home of O. C. Reiton, with whom he was formerly interested in horses. Deputy Marshal Wood is here in company with Jones, the evident intention being to guard him from any further arrests on state warrants. There is a warrant for his arrest in the hands of the Pierce county sheriff, but this will probably be held up for some little time.

IN MEMORY OF FIRE VICTIMS

Hinckley Holds Memorial for Those Who Perished in 1894.

Hinckley, Minn., Sept. 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—For the fifteenth time Hinckley Wednesday held its annual memorial services in memory of those who lost their lives in the great fire on Sept. 1, 1894.

The exercises were similar to those of preceding years and consisted of music and addresses by Rev. G. L. Morrell of Minneapolis, Rev. Mr. Andreen of North Branch and J. Adam Bede of Pine City. The Hinckley male trio furnished the music. Memorial services have been held each year since the fire and are attended by many persons who lost friends or relatives.

The exercises are always held near the beautiful granite shaft erected by the state near the four trenches in which lie 248 unidentified dead.

LABOR-SAVER IN BRAINERD SHOPS

An Entirely New Method of Welding Car Frames Is Adopted.

Brainerd, Minn., Sept. 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—An entirely new method of welding heavy car frames is being introduced in the Northern Pacific shops in this city. It is a method originating in Germany, and the weld is made without the necessity of heating the steel to be welded or of hammering. The joint is made by running a substance known as "thermit" into and around the fracture.

A reporter visited the shops and saw two huge steel passenger truck frames which had been in a collision. They were straightened out in the blacksmith shop (the force of the impact having twisted and bent them like so much wire) and the fractures were being repaired by the new method. A core of beeswax is first placed around the spot to be welded, and then a frame put around it and packed with molding sand. The sand is dried by the application of heat by a gasoline blow torch, and when the sand is fully dry the heated flux is turned into the mold. The heat melts the wax, which runs down and is again used for the same purpose, and the "thermit," taking the place of the beeswax, forms a perfect joint, said to be even stronger than the original steel.

The first use of the new method was made Tuesday, and it is said to have proven a very great saver in time and labor.

SELLS MUCH TIMBER.

Several Million Feet to Be Cut in Dead River District.

Negaunee, Mich., Sept. 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Thomas Connors, who a few years ago purchased the stumpage on some twenty-four forties in the Dead river district, north of here, has sold the timber to E. N. Jenny, manager of Berry Bros.' industries in this county. Camps are now being erected, and logging operations will be started as soon as the men and equipment can be assembled. The management expects to employ a force of about 140 men. The camps will be located some sixteen miles from Ishpeming and the toting will be done from that city.

Mr. Connors estimates that there are in the neighborhood of 3,000,000 feet of pine and 1,000,000 feet of cedar on the land. The deal included practically all of the stumpage on section 24, and most of the timber on section 14. There are a few scattered forties in other sections. Most of the timber is of good quality and is well located. The operators plan to haul it to Dead river, near the Dead river dam, and drive it to the hoist, where it will be loaded on cars.

MONEY WILL BE WELCOME.

National Guard Has Many Uses for $83,000 From the Government.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Minnesota National guard will find many uses for the $83,000 which is its share of the $4,000,000 allotment set aside by the last congress for the use of the state militias, according to Adjt. Gen. Fred B. Wood, who has just returned from the national rifle shoot at Camp Perry, Ohio.

"I have uniforms and ammunition and various other things to buy for the state soldier boys," said Gen. Wood. "Then there are overcoats to be purchased. And speaking of overcoats, I don't suppose many people know that scarcely a militiaman in the state has an army overcoat. Then there are the regulation army shoes to be provided for the men. The camp expenses must also be met.

"The allotment to Minnesota this year is $11,000 less than it was last. This is because of the new division law, which was passed by congress on May 27, 1908. This law provides that the allotment shall be made upon the basis of the greatest need. Minnesota, in the eyes of the national department, does not need so much as some other states, and she gets a smaller allotment."

FINE HERD DESTROYED.

Animals Had Tuberculosis and Were Put Out of Way.

Albert Lea, Minn., Sept. 1.—An entire herd of thoroughbred cattle was wiped out the other day when Dr. A. B. Nevin tested the herd of J. P. Nelson of Bancroft for tuberculosis, and condemned thirty-three of thirty-four cattle in the herd. The animals were taken to the Brundin packing plant where they were later slaughtered under the inspection of Dr. Nevin. The loss is a severe one to Mr. Nelson as many of the animals afflicted were high priced Shorthorns and the most that the state can pay per head for condemned cattle is $75. Mr. Nelson had the herd tested to be sure that none of the cattle was afflicted. Upon examination after slaughter some of the cattle were found to be in a very bad condition.

BUY MINNESOTA LANDS.

Illinois Parties Purchase Big Tract in Clay County.

Moorhead, Minn. Sept. 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Wheeler Land company has just closed a deal whereby 720 acres of land belonging to John Oiness of Kragnes is transferred to Nickolas Helfrich and wife, Illinois parties, the consideration being $46,800. The price figures $65 per acre.

The land transferred includes all of section 35 in the town of Kragnes and fractional parts of the northwest quarter of section 36 and of the southwest quarter of section 25.

THIS FARMER PROSPERS.

Has 20,000 Bushels of Grain and Well Equipped Farm.

Crookston, Minn., Sept. 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—R. Y. Breed, one of the newcomers to the Red River valley, has one of the finest farms in the Red River valley, located several miles west of Crookston on the south side of the river, and consisting of 880 acres, of which 550 acres are this year cropped to wheat, barley and oats.

Mr. Breed has finished the cutting and will soon be threshing, and expects 20,000 bushels of grain, half of which he will sell and half of which he will store until late in the winter, or until next spring.

He also has one of the finest crops of potatoes ever seen in this section, fine smooth ones which yield heavily. Mr. Breed is one of the new arrivals from Illinois and is very enthusiastic over the Red River valley. This winter he will move his family to Crookston and after the farm work is concluded this fall, and enjoy the privileges of city life. Mr. Breed has an auto and consequently gets to Crookston on short notice at any time desired.

CALUMET WEDDING.

Notable Social Event Celebrated in Coppertown on Wednesday.

Calumet, Mich., Sept. 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Rev. Father Casimir of Sacred Heart church performed the ceremony at the church at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning which united Miss Marie A. Gaul, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James V. Gaul of Calumet, and Neal Dempsey of Tacoma, Wash., in matrimony. Rev. Father Casimir also celebrated the nuptial mass. The ceremony was a pretty one, and was witnessed by a large number of the friends of the Gaul and Dempsey families, many of whom were from out of town.

The bridegroom and his best man, J. Ryan Gaul, a brother of the bride, waited at the altar for the bride, who entered the church on the arm of her father. Mrs. John D. Ryan of Butte, Mont., the matron of honor, and Miss Margaret Gaul, the flower girl, preceded the bride and her father as they marched down the aisle of the church. The ushers were John D. Cuddihy, Edward F. Cuddihy, Dr. M. A. Thometz and John C. Gaul, a brother of the bride. The ceremony was a very impressive one. Among the out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. John D. Ryan of Butte, Mont., and Mr. and Mrs. J. F. McCarthy of Duluth.

WANT CHEAPER BOOKS.

Complaint in Upper Peninsula That School Books Cost Too Much.

Channing, Mich., Sept. 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—The matter of securing text books for the children of the school at lessened cost is a subject that received considerable attention at the last session of the state law-making body, but without consequence in the way of any legislation bearing on the proposition.

The project is now being taken up in the upper peninsula, and at least so far as cutting off the retailer's profits is concerned, beneficial results are promised the general public. There is on foot a movement which proposes that the various boards of education shall embark in the business of selling school books. Under this arrangement text books are sold to the children at the actual wholesale cost. The plan has been tried at Gladstone the past few years, and it has proven highly popular. The city of Escanaba has now adopted the system, and similar action is contemplated in other communities. There are complaints, however, that the wholesale prices are unreasonably high in some cases, particularly when contrasted with those existing in states which have regulated the school book business, and there is hope that the forthcoming legislature will intervene in the situation.

CONFIDENCE

We Back Our Statements With Our Personal Reputation and Money.

We are so positive that we can cure constipation, no matter how chronic it may be, that we offer to furnish the medicine free of all cost if we fail.

It is worse than useless to attempt to cure constipation with cathartic drugs. Laxatives or cathartics do much harm. They cause a reaction, irritate and weaken the bowels and make constipation more chronic. Besides, their use becomes a habit that is dangerous and often fatal.

Constipation is caused by weakness of the nerves and muscles of the large intestine or descending colon. To expect a cure you must therefore tone up and strengthen those organs and restore them to healthier activity.

The discovery of the active principle of our remedy evolved the labor of the world's greatest research chemists. It possesses all the best qualities of the remedial active principle of the best known intestinal tonics, and it is particularly prompt in its results.

We want you to try Rexall Orderlies on our guarantee. They are exceedingly pleasant to take and are ideal for children. They act directly on the nerves and muscles of the bowels. They have a neutral action on other organs or glands. They do not purge or cause any inconvenience whatever. They will positively cure chronic or habitual constipation and the myriads of associate or dependent chronic ailments. Try Rexall Orderlies at our risk. E. M. Tredway, 108 West Superior street.

OLD MAN TAKES LIFE.

Eccentric Resident of Vernon Center Fires Fatal Bullet.

Vernon Center, Minn., Sept. 3.—Sam Nelson, an old resident living about three-quarters of a mile west of town, shot and killed himself yesterday morning with a new revolver.

About 8 o'clock he arose and came out of his room with his hands on his stomach, as if in pain. Mrs. Nelson spoke to him and he said he was going for a walk and left the house. Looking back, he noticed Mrs. Nelson peering through the curtain of the window and he came back. With a quick step he entered his room and at once she heard a report, and looking in saw him lying on the floor. She ran away from the door and his son William, and daughter, Wanda, who were sleeping upstairs rushed down and found him lying, apparently dead. The shot entered his head, just above his right ear and came out on top of his head. Doubtless death was instantaneous.

Mr. Nelson was 76 years old and of a very eccentric and rather morose disposition.

SMALLPOX AT LARIMORE.

Larimore, N. D., Sept. 3.—There are three cases of smallpox in this city, Charles Eastgate, North Cornforth and a man in the employ of Mayor J. H. Pifer, the bonanza potato farmers, being down with the disease. Before these cases developed there were three other cases of skin disease which a physician refused to quarantine. State Health Officer Grassick was summoned and pronounced the disease smallpox. The other three cases were so nearly cured that he was unable to say whether it had been smallpox.

Hay's Hair Health

NOT A DYE, BUT A CURE FOR GRAY OR FADED HAIR, PERMANENTLY RESTORING ITS NATURAL COLOR AND BEAUTY.

Gray hair makes young people look old, and old people look older. It robs a woman of her chief charm, and causes people to look upon her and treat her as if she were an old woman. She is young, feels young, and wishes to act young—but she does not dare. She is held down and kept back by gray, faded hair.

It is the same way, to some extent, with men—what is more, it keeps them in inferior positions and often causes their discharge from good positions when they are at the height of their physical and mental powers.

Gray hair is unnecessary. Get rid of it. Don't have anything to do with dyes, which only cover up the grayness temporarily and may do serious damage. Use Hay's Hair Health, the reliable, infallible remedy. There are no harmful chemicals in it—it is purely vegetable. No matter how gray your hair is, or how long it has been gray, it will restore it to the color and healthful lustre of youth—keep it soft, glossy and luxuriant.

If your hair is inclined to fall out, it will stop that. It cures dandruff and keeps the scalp in fine, clean condition. It is Nature's own remedy for hair and scalp troubles, and is quick and positive in its results. No one will know you are using it, as in the case of dyes, but everybody will quickly note your improved appearance as the grayness disappears, and say, "My, how young and well you look!"

Ab Initio, ad Finum

We pride ourselves upon the quality of the pianos that we sell. Do you not think it better to buy of a house that does? Even if you want an instrument of a cheaper or newer make, it will pay you to see our pianos first. You may find that you can buy a good old standard make so cheaply that you will prefer it to an unknown make.

Do not forget that we have a big advantage in buying. It is not uncommon for us to buy a hundred pianos at one time, which brings results to you if you are wise and buy of a big buying house. You should see some of our bargains, then you will know for yourself, and can buy more intelligently. We sell the best pianos obtainable, but it does not follow that our prices are not as low as you will be asked for inferior goods. A great many people are buying pianos of us each day. There must be some reason for it. Why not look at our beautiful Grand, Upright and 88-Note Player Pianos. Hear them, and get prices. They are the finest the world can produce.

ASSAILANT IS ASSAILED

Matt Jacovich Comes Out of Encounter in Badly Battered Condition.

Matt Jacovich, who was brought to the county jail this morning by Deputy Sheriff Owen Gately, was a sight to behold. One arm was in a cast, his head was swathed in bandages, one eye was closed and he was cut and bruised in the other parts of his body which were exposed. His face had a tinge of discolor, indicating that blood poisoning might be setting in, and as soon as he arrived at the jail a physician was summoned to give him further attention. He has been in a hospital in Virginia since last Friday night.

Jacovich and a gun were not formidable enough to subdue three men at the Franklin location, at Virginia, last Friday night, and though each of the three received a revolver bullet in some part of his anatomy, Jacovich came out second best in the encounter.

The details of the affair are not known, but it appears that Jacovich started the trouble, pulling the gun and firing. One man received a bullet through the hand, another has one through the arm and the third has a hole in his shoulder. All three are laid up in bed, but Jacovich is by far the worst looking one of the crowd.

Before Jacovich could do any serious damage with the revolver, it is said, it was knocked from his hand and he was set upon by the three. They broke his arm, kicked him in the head and mussed him up so that he had to be taken to the hospital in their company. He was moved as soon as possible, given a hearing in the municipal court at Virginia and committed to the county jail to await the action of the next grand jury that meets at Virginia. He is charged with assault with a deadly weapon.

NINETEEN HURT ON JOLLY RIDE

Williamsburg, Pa., Sept. 3.—Nineteen persons were severely injured, two probably fatally, last night when the hay wagon in which they were being taken to a corn roast was struck by a freight engine at the St. Clair crossing of the Williamsburg branch of the Pennsylvania railroad.

Dorothy Henderson and Edna Snively of this place were caught in the upset wagon and dragged a great distance. Both were injured internally and their condition is critical.

The seventeen others, all young women and men, were painfully cut and bruised.

GOVERNOR HAS REPORT.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Testimony taken by M. E. Ryan of Brainerd as commissioner, in the cases against four Beltrami county officials, has been filed with Governor John A. Johnson, and the arguments of attorneys for the accused men will be heard at the capital Sept. 9 at 10 a. m. The testimony fills 495 pages, and covers the records of the county for the past two years. The charges involve many points, but are chiefly allowing of illegal accounts and minor derelictions of duty. The men under fire are John Wilmann, county auditor, and County Commissioners Wes Wright, F. O. Sibley and A. W. Danaher.

One More Victory Will Cinch Pennant for Duluth.

Rain, that article that the farmers of North Dakota have prayed fervently for in many instances, yesterday spoiled three baseball games.

Our Sox were prevented from winning from La Crosse; Superior was not permitted to further humiliate Winona; and Eau Claire and Wausau were also obliged to postpone their battle for the championship of Wisconsin. Old Jupiter Pluvius had everything yesterday, change of pace, control and speed.

Today the teams are due to resume hostilities at the same stands. Duluth will have to win only one more game to cinch the flag. That looks very easy. Tomorrow the team returns to battle with Superior at Athletic park. Tomorrow's game is the game we should win to cinch the flag. The two games Labor Day will be divided between the two cities—rather between the city and the village.

The morning games will be played in Superior, as in Superior the inhabitants retire early and arise with the sun. The schedule makers wisely decided to play the final game of the season in this city on the afternoon of the day dedicated to labor.

The two games Sunday at Superior come about through a postponement of one of the earlier games with the Drillers. The games Monday will wind up the season in the Minnesota-Wisconsin league.

Manager Kuehnow received a wire from Lamb of the Winnipeg club last evening. The message says that the Winnipeg team will play the Sox, the games to be divided between Duluth and Winnipeg. The games at Winnipeg will probably be played on Sept. 8, 9, 10 and 11, and home games to be played the first of the week after next.

It does not look as if the Medicine Hat team, St Bennett's bunch, who have the flag cinched in the Western Canada league, are going to break into the post season games.

Hibbling comes after the Winnipeg games, and plans are being considered for a series of games with Superior for the Head of the Lakes championship. Not that any really intelligent fan has really doubt as to which is the better team at this end of the big fresh water sea. It would be in the nature of a friendly, get-to-gether meeting.

Divide Double-Header.

Boston, Mass., Sept. 3.—Boston won the first game of a double-header from Pittsburg, 1 to 0, and the visitors captured the second, 5 to 3. It was the first time this season the locals have won from Pittsburg. In the first contest Curtiss held the visitors to five hits and his good support saved several runs. Mattern was hit hard in the third inning of the second game, practically deciding it. Scores:

First game—			R.	H.	E.
Pittsburg	000000000		0	5	1
Boston	000100000	x	1	5	0

Pittsburg	104000000		5	8	2
Boston	100110000		3	6	4

Batteries—Phillips, Camnitz and Gibson; Mattern, Richie and Shaw. Umpire—Klem.

A Game For Each.

Philadelphia, Sept. 3.—Philadelphia and Cincinnati split even in a double-header here yesterday afternoon, the visitors winning the first game and the home team the second. Scores:

First game—			R.	H.	E.
Philadelphia	120000000		3	11	4
Cincinnati	100104030		9	12	1

Batteries—Corridon, Sparks, Foxen and Dooin; Spade and Hobered. Umpires—O'Day and Kane.

Second game—			R.	H.	E.
Philadelphia	103000001	x	5	9	0
Cincinnati	020001000		3	8	3

Batteries—Moore and Dooin; Rowan; Cantwell and Hoberer. Umpires—Kane and O'Day.

Brooklyn, 3; Chicago, 1.

Brooklyn, N. Y., Sept. 3.—Brooklyn turned the tables on Chicago, winning a hotly contested game, 3 to 1. Rucker had the visitors guessing and allowed only four hits while the locals found the two Chicago pitchers for ten. Meyers, the new Brooklyn outfielder, was the hero of the day, his hits driving in all three runs for his team. Rucker struck out Needham and Schulte with men on second and third in the eighth. Score:

			R.	H.	E.
Chicago	000010000		1	4	1
Brooklyn	200000001	x	3	10	1

Batteries—Reulbach, Higginbotham and Archer; Rucker and Bergen. Umpires—Rigler and Johnson.

St. Louis, 5; New York, 2.

New York, Sept. 3.—Marquard struck out eleven men in seven innings yesterday, but his support was so poor that in this time St. Louis made five runs, which was enough. St. Louis' victory was its first after nine straight defeats. Beebe relieved Raleigh in the sixth after New York had scored twice and stopped the locals' run getting. Score: R. H. E.

St. Louis	200003000		5	5	2
New York	200003000		5	5	2

Batteries—Raleigh, Beebe and Phelps, Marquard, Crandall and Myers. Umpire—Emslie.

SEYMOUR IS AGAIN PLAYING GOOD BALL

CY SEYMOUR.

Cy Seymour has been with the New York Giants for several years. He was obtained from Cincinnati and was the leading batsman of the National League for several years. He was suspended by McGraw this year for fighting with Artie Latham while the team was in training down South. After his reinstatement he was injured and has been out of the game until recently. He is playing good ball, but has not entirely recovered from his injury.

Tigers Playing Great Ball.

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 3.—By beating Boston yesterday, 8 to 5, Detroit accomplished the unusual feat of taking every game played with the four Eastern clubs in the series closed by this contest. The victory was achieved as have been a majority of the others, by scoring enough runs in the first inning to give the team an advantage all the way. Boston hit harder than Detroit, but the latter ran bases in daring style and took advantage of errors. Only two hits, by D. Jones and Cobb, figured in the first two runs, while Moriarity's home run counted two in the fourth. Pape finished the game, two bunts in the eighth, beaten by Rush and Cobb, costing him two runs after his team had made the score close. Score:

Chicago, 6; St. Louis, 3.

Chicago, Sept. 3.—Chicago defeated St. Louis 6 to 3 in a hard hitting game yesterday. St. Louis made five hits in the first, together with three runs, but the Chicago tied the score in the same inning when Dougherty's home run scored Parent and Cole in front of him. St. Louis had the bases full with one out in the ninth, but Parent made a remarkable one-handed catch of Stone's hot liner, and turned it into a double play. Score:

			R.	H.	E.
Chicago	300110103	x	6	9	0
St. Louis	300000000		3	11	1

Double-Header Divided.

Cleveland, Ohio, Sept. 3.—Cleveland and New York broke even yesterday, Hughes held Cleveland safe in the first game. In the second, Upp, a left-hander from Columbus, allowed New York only five hits. He won his own game by a single in the ninth. Scores:

First game—			R.	H.	E.
Cleveland	000010000		1	9	0
New York	020100300		6	10	2

Long Hit by Randall.

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 3.—The leaders beat the Kansas City team in an exciting game yesterday by a score of 3 to 2. Wacker pitched wonderful ball, until one was out in the ninth, when three singles caused his retirement. With the bases full Hetling popped an easy one to Randall. McGlynn then walked Brasher, forcing in a run. Flaherty went to bat for Shay, but struck out. The feature of the game was a home run by Randall, it being the longest hit ever made in the park. Catches by Barrett and Clark also features. Score:

TOURNEY DOWN TO SEMI-FINALS

Four Chicago Women Are Competing for Premier Honors.

Chicago, Sept. 3.—Four new candidates for premier honors, all affiliated with the Chicago clubs, contested in the semi-finals for the women's Western golf championship at Homewood today. Only one of the surviving quartette, Miss Llewelln of La Grange, had been considered a championship possibility. The remaining semi-finalists, Mrs. George Haskell of Homewood, Miss Caroline Painter of Midlothian and Miss Elizabeth Young of the South Shore Country club, helped to make the ninth annual classic of the association a memorable one by eliminating favorites from the competition. Mrs. Haskell played Miss Painter and Miss Llewellyn met Miss Young in the semi-finals today. Miss Llewellyn is the only semi-finalist who ever reached that round in a previous championship tournament, the La Grange girl having competed with Miss Sallie Ainslee, Miss Myra Heimer and Miss Lillian French in the semi-finals of the 1907 tourney.

Mrs. W. F. Anderson of Hinsdale, Ill., former Western champion, meets Mrs. E. H. Sprague of Omaha in the championship consolation event today, and almost as much interest was manifested in this match as in the first flight events.

COME!

MUST WIN OR DROP OUT OF RACE

Three Sonder Class Boats May Have to Be Withdrawn.

Marblehead, Mass., Sept. 3.—Interest in the fourth Sonder yacht race today was considerably intensified, not only because of the decisive German victory yesterday, but because of the fact that it was the last appearance for at least two and perhaps three of the yachts.

Under the conditions after the fourth race of the series only those yachts which had won a first place can continue, so that with the Margarethe and Seehund II of Germany and the Wolf of America, it is a case of win or drop out.

Before going out to the start today the committee announced that an effort would be made to send the yachts on a three-mile beat to windward and return with a repeat, a distance of twelve miles for the race.

MEDIUM LINE WINS FEATURE

Comes From Behind and Takes 2:13 Trot at Kalamazoo.

Kalamazoo, Mich., Sept. 3.—Medium Line won the 2:13 trot at yesterday's meeting in the Great Western circuit. This was the feature event, the purse being $2,000. Mantell took the first two heats, but Medium Line captured the third heat in fast time and took the two following heats with less effort.

Capitol, driven by Dick McMahon, won the 3-year-old pace. Oro won the free-for-all trot in straight heats. In the 2:16 pace, Wild Hunter scored three firsts after Bird H. had come in ahead twice. Results:

2:16 pace, purse $500—Wild Hunter won third, fourth and fifth heats and the race; Bird H. won first and second heats and second money; Pet Morgan, third. Time, 2:10½.

2:13 trot, purse $2,000—Medium Line won third, fourth and fifth heats and the race; Mantell won first two heats and second money; Harry Banning, third. Time, 2:10.

Free-for-all trot, purse $500—Oro won three straight heats; Nancy Royce, second; Farly Alice, third. Time, 2:08¼.

3-year-old pace, purse $500—Capitola won first, third heats and the race; Don V. won second heat and second money; Dean Patchen, third. Time, 2:12¾.

GETAWAY DAY.

Big Feature Is Race Between Hamburg Belle and Uhlan.

Readville, Mass., Sept. 3.—Standing prominently on the program for getaway day for the grand circuit meeting at the Readville track, the second of the two out of three matches for the trotting championship of the world between the Kentucky mare, Hamburg Belle, holder of the world's title, and Uhlan, the Massachusetts bred horse, owned by Charles Sanders of Salem, was the feature of the attractive card. Up to the time Hamburg Belle defeated Uhlan in the first match at Cleveland, breaking the world's record in a trotting race, she was owned by John E. Madden, who then sold the mare for $50,000 to one of the well-known Hanna family of Cleveland.

The other events scheduled for the day were the trotting and pacing division of the horse breeder futurity; the 2:08 pace; 2:11 trot; the Blue Hill handicap for trotters, and the Neponset handicap for pacers.

MAGNATES WILL CONFER

League Meeting Will Be Held at Close of the Season.

Changes in Circuit May Be Made Before Next Year.

At the close of the playing season of the Minnesota-Wisconsin league a meeting of the league directors and managers of the six teams will be called for the purpose of seriously considering whether the same teams will constitute the league next year.

There is a question at the present time as to whether the same teams will be in the league next year. Of the six cities that now compose the league, but three have shown any kind of attendance. These three cities are Superior, Winona and Duluth. Wausau, Eau Claire and La Crosse have failed to support their teams in a manner that would warrant placing teams in those cities another season.

There is the question of downtown parks in two of the three cities that have failed to patronize the games this season. Mankato, Red Wing and Stillwater, it is understood, are seeking to break into the league. Their applications may be considered at a later meeting of the officials of the league. It is not known at this date what action will be taken, but it would not be a very great surprise if there were some new members of the league next year.

The baseball map may be changed materially before the approach of another playing season. The old talk of invading the Twin Cities may be revived. There are a number of things that will come before the consideration of the league officials, but the bugaboo of poor attendance will be the greatest problem that the directors of the league will have to solve.

From a playing standpoint the new league has been a distinct success. The teams have played much faster baseball than the teams of the old Northern league. But the question of finance will have to be settled in some manner, and this is the problem that will come before the officials at the post season meeting.

GERMANS SCORE FIRST VICTORY

Capt. Otto Protzen Sails the Hevella With Excellent Judgment.

Marblehead, Mass., Sept. 3.—In the third of the International Sonder Klasse races the German challengers scored a victory, Capt. Otto Protzen steering the Hevella around a triangular course 7½ miles twice sailed, with the same excellent judgment that he displayed three years ago when he won a race here for the Roosevelt cup challengers, with the Wannssee. The Margarethe was second while the Seehund II, the other German competitor finished fourth. The first of the American yachts to finish was the Wolf, in third place, but she was badly beaten by both the Hevella and Margarethe. Next came the Ellen and trailing in the rear was the Joyette.

The result was a popular one, because the German yachtsmen have taken two severe beatings this week and every one sympathized with them somewhat because they swallowed their chagrin without a whimper.

There is no telling what the outcome of the races will be. The Americans have won two races with Joyette and Ellen, while yesterday's victory gives the Germans a leg in the Taft cup contest. Today the six boats will meet over a windward or leeward course and return. Should either of the three winners to date take the fourth race, only those three will fight it out for the Taft cup Monday, the victory in that day's encounter taking the trophy, irrespective of whether she has won two races or one previously. Should either the Wolf, Margarethe or Seehund II, prove a victor today then that craft will meet the Ellen, Joyette and Hevella in the fifth race. Only the winner of today's event and of the three races held this week can compete, so it means elimination for some one. For the Governor Draper cup, the points stand as follows: Wold, 13; Ellen, 12; Joyette, 11; Hevella, 11; Margarethe, 10; Seehund II., 4.

The winner of the Taft cup is not eligible for the Draper cup.

NEW FOOL KILLER.

Six-Day Motorcycle Race Planned in New York.

New York, Sept. 3.—The first six-day motorcycle race to be held in this country will take place on the Brighton Beach motordrome track beginning at midnight Sept. 26, and ending at midnight Oct. 3. The recently organized association, which includes a number of makers of motorcycles, has announced the contest and are seeking entrants. For thrills and continued excitement at a high pitch on the part of the persons witnessing the event, it is believed that this contest will surpass anything previously devised.

Hugh McLean Dies.

Boston, Mass., Sept. 3.—Hugh McLean, champion middle distance bicycle rider of the world, died early yesterday morning from a compound fracture of the skull, sustained on Wednesday afternoon at the cycle track in Revere, where he was practicising for a twenty-mile race with Elmer Collins on Saturday night. McLean was following a pacing machnie when his front wheel caught in the roller of the motor and was hurled high in the air. McLean was born 28 years ago in Nova Scotia.

Ring Up 1604, Old 'Phone.

GLEAMS IN THE SPORTING FOG

Out on the sun kissed ocean beach of San Francisco bay, big black Jack Johnson is tearing up and down the sand dunes preparing for his coming encounter with Al Kaufman. There may be a lot of history made in this 10-round battle.

Out Frisco way the cits are not particularly fond of the Johnson person. They have good reason to remember some of the fights (?) that he has tossed to an unsuspecting public on the coast. On May 28, 1905, the black and Marvin Hart, king of the Quince tribe, hooked up over the 20-round route. If you ask anybody who witnessed the fight what they thought of it, he will look at you keenly to see whether you are kidding him.

That was the rawest exhibition ever handed a crowded house, or a slim house, for that matter. Marvin was ready to fight as best he could, but the black kept away from the milling and tin-canned around the ring. Then he hollered when Alec Greggins gave the decision to Hart.

In April, 1904, Johnson paired with Sam McVey, the negro, who is the idol of the Paris boulevards. The pair stood in the center of the ring and whispered for the nineteen rounds of the mill. Then when Sam wasn't looking 'Lil Arthah slipped a haymaker over. Rather mean trick, many thought.

You can't make people on the coast believe that Johnson is a great fighter—has anything like the class of Corbett, Fitzsimmons or Jeffries. They think he is the lemon champion. But just the same they will flock to see the Kaufman contest. Johnson has to show the goods in this fight. He has been four flushing since he returned from the Antipodes; now the fight fans want to see what the Texas Black can do.

He ought to beat Kaufman easily. If he can't beat the Frisco blacksmith in ten rounds, the opinion that is held of him on the coast will simply be confirmed. Johnson has got to show in this fight if he is really a champion, or is what a great many fans think he is.

Go back into the musty records of pugilism and world's champions and you can not find a record of a champion that is as poor and miserable as the record of the present title holder. He has been stalling all through his career winning many decisions against smaller men by gaining the decision at the expiration of twenty rounds of tame and uninteresting fighting.

Those in this city who witnessed the Burns-Johnson fight pictures, have already formed the opinion that the black is the poorest champion who has ever represented the American prize ring, hardly excepting little Tommy Burns, who at least had a stout heart, and would fight and fight hard, even if the battle were a losing one. That is more than can be said of the tall smoke.

So the coast fans are going to the Kaufman-Johnson fight simply to be shown. It is up to Johnson to show them. He will have to do a lot of showing, too, for they are hostile against the black out there in the Pacific slope country.

If 'Lil Arthah does not win and win decisively and in jig time, there will be a lot of coast fans with hammers knocking down the plaster paris bust of the champion, that sits insecurely in the hall of fame.

Duluth to have a bench manager next year, eh? Where do you get all that dope? Right here is where you can get a bet that Darby O'Brien is back on the job next year, and that he doesn't play the bench. These dog days are quiet, are they not?

The Ketchel-Langford meeting has been postponed long enough to permit the district attorney's office to look up the details in the meeting, to determine whether the meeting is to be a fight. In the first place, in the eyes of the law the men must not meet; if it is to be called something else, all well and good. The district attorney's office will send posshaste for Curley Ulrich. As a connoisseur of fights and mere meetings, Curley could render valuable assistance to the grave law interpreters of Gotham, who are doping out the meaning of the Ketchel-Langford affair.

Dennis Deighton has been the recipient of many congratulations since the winning of the race at the boat club last Saturday. It is the first race "Denny" has won since 1882, when he stunk out the original Duluth Boat club crew to victory against a crew composed of visiting Marquette lumberjacks. He is the original hard luck oarsman. When the members of The Herald crew heard that Denny was to captain a crew they refrained from entering the race. It would be a hard-hearted egoist who would care to snatch victory from Denny's clasp. Here is the very best to you, Denny.

Guess where old Tom McCune is? He is in Pittsburg. He is looking for trouble. As a traveler, old Tom has it on any of the Duluth colony of fighters. And at that, despite the fact that Tom is rather old, you know, it takes a very tough young battler to hand him his. Art Allard, whom the Copper country people think is a coming champion, could not beat the veteran, and there are a lot of others scattered throughout the country who can't trim the old boy. If Tom was some years younger—this is not saying how many years—he would beat all the Allards they could throw into a ring. Ask Jack Parres if the vet can punch.

More sorrow for Li'l Arthah Johnson. The big black expressed his intention of entering his racing car in the $2,500 Hotel St. Francis stakes, to be contested at Los Angeles. The fighter intended driving his car. He will not be allowed to enter. As yet he has not entered suit against the association.

The Cubs have but one hitter in the .300 class, Zimmerman, who is a utility man. Pittsburg has three hitters in the charmed circle. The Cubs are still the greatest fielding team in the league and still play with that machine-like smoothness; but for a hitting team, those Pirates are the real blugeonwielding kids.

Date Set for Big Fight.

New York, Sept. 3.—Despite recent rumors that District Attorney Jerome had upset plans for holding the Ketchel-Langford fight in this city, it was announced last night that Sept. 17 has been agreed upon as the date of the bout to take place before the Fairmont Athletic club. No statement was forthcoming as to what precautions, if any, the managers of the club intend to take to prevent the police from interfering. It is believed that every possible effort will be made to keep within the letter of the New York state law.

CROSSES OCEAN IN FOUR DAYS

Lusitania Breaks Three Records in Trip to This Side.

New York, Sept. 3.—Three new ocean records fell to the Cunard liner Lusitania on her latest trip from Queenstown, which ended last night. The Lusitania made the passage in 4 days, 11 hours and 42 minutes, thereby clipping 2 hours and 18 minutes from her fastest previous time; she maintained an average speed of 25.85 knots for the entire voyage, beating the Mauritania's record of 25.84; and finally, by landing her passengers at the Cunard pier shortly before 8 o'clock last night, she became the first liner to dock on the fourth day out from Queenstown.

The Lusitania left Daunt's Rock last Sunday morning at 10 o'clock. Her day's runs measured from noon to noon, were as follows: Sunday, 81; Monday, 650; Tuesday, 652; Wednesday, 651; Thursday, 647, and from noon today, 123. Total, 2,764.

The Lusitania and Mauritania heretofore have left Queenstown on Sunday and reached the Ambrose Channel lightship too late on Thursday evening to allow them to dock before Friday morning. Yesterday for the first time, one of them proved herself a "Thursday ship" in the vernacular of the sailormen on board, and thereby became a real four-day boat.

The liner was favored by fair weather for almost the entire voyage. The tail of a squally northeaster made part of her last night unpleasant for passengers and crew, but did not interfere with her speed.

ARREST BANKER MOORE.

Head of Glen Ulin, N. D., Bank Is Charged With Embezzlement.

Mandan, N. D., Sept. 3.—W. T. Moore, president of the German State bank of Glen Ulin, has been placed under arrest here on a warrant charging embezzlement. The warrant was issued by State's Attorney J. M. Haney, following an investigation of the bank's affairs.

Moore has turned over all his private assets and property to the bank and is assisting in unraveling the tangle.

According to a statement made by State's Attorney Hanley, it looks as though the depositors will loose nothing.

The exact amount of the shortage has not as yet been determined.

CENSUS JOBS OPEN FOR 3,000

Examinations for Clerkship Will Be Held Generally on Oct. 23.

Washington, Sept. 3.—The bureau of the census has announced that approximately 3,000 temporary clerks will be appointed in connection with the work of taking the thirteenth decennial census. The first examination will be held throughout the United States on Oct. 23 next. Very few appointments from this examination will be made before Jan. 1 next, and not many will be made until April, 1910.

The maximum force will be drawn about August next year. These appointees will receive salaries of $600 per annum at the beginning, but promotions, it is asserted, to at least $900 per year will be reasonably rapid for those who give service.

Blank application forms and a circular of instructions, the bureau announces, may be obtained after Sept. 10 by addressing the civil service commission, Washington, D. C., the bureau of census, Washington, D. C., or the secretary of the board of examiners and in Minnesota at the postoffice in St. Paul.

UNCLE SAM NOT EAGER FOR LAND

State Department Sees Little Use in Pressing Northern Claim.

Washington, Sept. 3.—State department officials are of the opinion that it is of little consequence to the United States what lands Dr. Cook has discovered on his way to the North pole, so far as actual territorial possession is concerned.

It is recalled by the department officials that ever since 1828 American explorers in both the Arctic and Antarctic have discovered vast areas of land to which no claims were ever made. Admiral Wilkes found the Antarctic a territory of more than 100,000 square miles in area, and Dr. Kane made large discoveries in the Arctic, but no effort has ever been made by the United States to assert its right to them. Gen. Greely some years ago located lands which never before were known to exist.

Spitzbergen Still Unclaimed.

Many of the world's great navigators have, from time to time, made their discoveries to which no claim was ever made. The principal reason for this, however, is said to be that these lands in every instance were almost inaccessible and absolutely of no value.

The islands of Spitzbergen, which were discovered many years ago, are still without a recognized owner. On the maps these islands are designated as belonging to Russia, but her claim, if ever asserted, never has been recognized. These islands are not only accessible, but have developed some thriving industries, and only within the last very few years has any effort been made to exercise over them any jurisdiction of authority. Recently, however, a conference has been suggested of representatives of countries having interests in them to provide some sort of administration for their government. The United States, probably, will be represented by reason of the fact that the only important coal mines in the territory are operated by Americans.

May Belong to Denmark.

As to the particular territory which Dr. Cook is said to have discovered, the statement was made yesterday that it was quite probable that these lands would be found to be an extension of the mainland of Greenland, and if so, they belong to Denmark. At any rate, it is extremely improbable, it is said, that the United States would attempt to assert sovereignty over them.

EMMA EAMES IS THROUGH SINGING

Diva Says She May Make One More Tour, But That is All.

Paris, Sept. 3.—On the fourth floor of an old-fashioned but attractive house in this city was found Mme. Emma Eames.

"This is to be my home in future," she said. "I have done with the stage. My valedictory was published in an American magazine. From now on I shall enjoy life in my own way, doing what I wish to do and devoting my thoughts to my own affairs.

"It is well, I think, that we should have some place to attach ourselves to. Till I took this apartment I hardly knew home life. The nearest approach to it was at the house which I once occupied in the Italian mountains. And there I was only a housekeeper. For, as you can understand, I was none too happy in it, and to forget my boredom I had streams of visitors, who kept me busy.

One Last Tour.

"I shall sing no more, unless—in a year or two, or later, if I have any voice left—I make one last concert tour in America. In that case, I shall most certainly intrust my affairs to the two ladies who looked after them for me about three years ago.

"I have cancelled all my American engagements. There is not the slightest likelihood of my going over this year, or, I think, next. Possibly I shall go to China for a time. I was born there and I would like to revisit the country."

HUNTS BIRDS WITH RIFLE

Col. Roosevelt Adds Some Feathered Specimens to His Collection.

Takes Ride on Cowcatcher of Engine of Regular Passenger Train.

Government Farm, Naivasha, B. E. A., Sunday, Aug. 1.—Col. Roosevelt, accompanied by Maj. Mearns, came into Naivasha on Thursday, July 22, riding around the east side of the lake, while J. Alden Loring, the naturalist, came across in Capt. Attenborough's launch. Prof. Edmond Heller remained at the Attenborough farm to look after the hippo trophies.

Kermit Roosevelt had come into the township the day before and he and the correspondent went out to meet Col. Roosevelt at lunch at the governmental experimental farm on the Morendat river, where he was entertained by J. K. Hill. After the meal the party rode over the farm inspecting the flocks of sheep and the pedigreed stock.

Interested in Breeding.

The results of crossing the Merino pure-bred rams with the native ewes are marvelous. The amount of wool on the cross-breds was most surprising, for the native ewes have none. Col. Roosevelt was very much interested in the work.

Col. Roosevelt, Kermit and the correspondent returned later to Naivasha and found that R. J. Cunninghame, general manager of the expedition, with all the porters and the baggage, had only just arrived. The men were busy pitching the tents near the water's edge.

Early next morning the correspondent went down to the camp and had breakfast with Col. Roosevelt and Kermit and then started off in a small rowboat for pelicans.

Shot Pelican With Rifle.

We had not gone far when the colonel brought down a couple of Egyptian geese with a very pretty shot. We then turned the boat for the usual hunting grounds for the pelicans and brought it within 100 feet of two fine specimens. Col. Roosevelt took careful aim and killed a splendid bird with a single shot from his rifle. The specimen delighted the colonel beyond measure. Col. Roosevelt and Kermit afterward indulged in shooting gulls, which have long red beaks and legs and feathers of beautiful slate blue. In all they bagged five fine specimens and also secured a nest with three eggs.

Meanwhile, Maj. Hearns and J. Alden Loring had been busy and had secured some fine specimens of the bird inhabitants of the lake.

Rode on Cow Catcher.

Early next morning Col. Roosevelt and Kermit proceeded by the ordinary passenger train to Nairobi, traveling in the traffic manager's carriage, or on the cowcatcher. Mr. Cunninghame followed with the specimens bagged on the Sotik trip in a special train.

Maj. Mearns and Mr. Loring remained at Naivasha collecting birds.

On arrival at Nairobi the colonel was met by William N. MacMillan and F. C. Selous, who was on his way home. The colonel remained in conversation with Mr. Selous until his departure and then drove to Mr. MacMillan's house, where he is to remain as guest during his stay in Nairobi.

IS DROWNED AS HE SHOWS HOW TO SWIM.

Milton, N. D., Sept. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—While swimming in a coulee near his home, yesterday afternoon, Henry Meling, 16 years of age, was drowned.

Young Meling had just learned to swim and was engaged in teaching his younger brother and sister the art. He was in deep water at the time, when he suddenly sank out of sight. Realizing that something out of the ordinary had happened, the other children ran to the home and notified their mother, but she was unable to do anything to save the life of her loved son.

Nearly an hour elapsed before the search for the body could be started, and though quickly found, all efforts at bringing back life were without avail.

MADE WELL AND STRONG

By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Bardstown, Ky.—"I suffered from ulceration and other female troubles for a long time. Doctors had failed to help me. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was recommended, and I decided to try it. It cured my trouble and made me well and strong, so that I can do all my own work." Mrs. JOSEPH HALL, Bardstown, Ky.

Another Woman Cured.

Christiana, Tenn.—"I suffered from the worst form of female trouble so that at times I thought I could not live, and my nerves were in a dreadful condition. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound cured me, and made me feel like a different woman. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is worth its weight in gold to suffering women."—MRS. MARY WOOD, R.F.D. 3.

If you belong to that countless army of women who suffer from some form of female ills, don't hesitate to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs.

For thirty years this famous remedy has been the standard for all forms of female ills, and has cured thousands of women who have been troubled with such ailments as displacements, fibroid tumors, ulceration, inflammation, irregularities, backache, and nervous prostration.

If you want special advice write for it to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass. It is free and always helpful.

INDIANS ARE PUT TO WORK

Superintendent Dagenett Says They Make Good Hands When Trained.

Some Are Found Efficient in Handling Machinery, He Says.

FROM THE HERALD WASHINGTON BUREAU.

Washington, Sept. 3.—Charles E. Dagenett, supervisor of Indian employment, with headquarters at Albuquerque, N. M., has been in Washington during the last week, making a report to the Indian bureau regarding the employment of Indians during the last year upon railroad construction and in other fields of industrial labor.

Mr. Dagenett's duties consist of finding employment for Indians in various occupations throughout the country. He is a quarter-blood Peoria, and his wife is a full-blood Miami. He received his education at Carlisle and at Hampton institute, and as soon as he completed his course of study was employed under the Carlisle school in connection with the outing system, which has been in force there for twenty-five years. This is a system of placing young Indian boys among farmers, where they will be received in the homes and treated as members of the families and learn the life of the ordinary American farmer. As the system has been conducted at the Carlisle school, the boys have been placed in Southeastern Pennsylvania and in New Jersey, where the authorities of the school may keep in touch with them and see that they are well treated.

Learn White Men's Ways.

The idea under which this system grew is that it is the only practical way of weaning the Indian away from his aboriginal ideas and customs and to show him how a conventional, self-supporting, self-respecting white man lives.

Mr. Dagenett has been employed in connection with this system under the Carlisle school for a number of years, but it proved to be so great a success that Former Commissioner Leupp concluded that the idea should be expanded, and Mr. Dagenett was given a larger field and his duties increased to cover the obtaining of employment for Indians of all ages and conditions, and in all classes of industry.

Mr. Leupp's idea has been thoroughly justified by the results. Employment has been found for Indians on the railroads in the Southwest, on government reclamation projects, on independent irrigation construction, and in the sugar beet fields of Colorado and Wyoming. Mr. Dagenett now has five assistants who are located in Arizona, New Mexico, Utah, Montana and Colorado.

Have Mechanical Ability.

The Indians have demonstrated that they have considerable mechanical ingenuity. They were first employed by the railroads through New Mexico and Arizona, solely on track work, but in an experimental way a few were employed in the division shops in minor capacities. They soon developed skill sufficient to justify their being given higher grades of employment as blacksmiths' helpers, and finally as blacksmiths, the result being that at the present time there are eighty full-blood Indians employed in the shops of the Santa Fe system in New Mexico and Arizona, receiving $3.90 per day as skilled laborers, and a large number in addition who are employed in the lower grades.

As a result of the gratifying experience with this class of labor, the Santa Fe system is discriminating in favor of the Indians in preference to Mexicans. One Navajo Indian who was employed on an irrigation project by the Indian office became very skillful in the work and acted as foreman with gratifying success.

A large number of Indian boys are employed in the beet sugar fields at Rocky Ford, Colo. They are taken into the families of the white farmers and treated with greatest consideration. Last year boys who were first employed at $4 per month and board and washing, at the end of their contract price were re-employed at from $12 to $16 per month. Here also the white farmers prefer Indian to Mexican labor and will pay them more money. A large number of the Indians are being employed on irrigation projects in Montana and in Utah.

Utes Put to Work.

One of the interesting developments in connection with the Utes who deserted their reservation in Utah and went to South Dakota, where their presence became quite a problem for the government, is that they finally were induced to accept employment on the railroads in the Black Hills. Mr. Dagenett, who had charge of their employment, reports that they proved to be docile, industrious and in the highest degree satisfactory laborers. He is an enthusiast on the subject of his particular line, and believes that with persistence a large percentage of Indians who now live from week to week in dependence on rations may be induced to take up either agriculture or some other line of occupation which will make them independent and self-supporting.

The large saw and planing mill that has been built on the Menominee reservation at Neopit, Wis., is to a great extent operated by Indian labor. Forty-seven per cent of all the labor used in the logging camps on this reservation, much of the skilled work in the mills and yards, as well as all unskilled labor, is Indian.

Are Skilled Men.

Indians are filling positions as assistant engineers, firemen, carriagemen, resaw men and many other skilled positions with the utmost satisfaction. During the ten months from July, 1908, to April, 1909, inclusive, the Indians earned in connection with the logging operations and the conduct of the mill $46,636.

Mr. Dagenett feels that his line of work is not surpassed in importance by any other of the activities of the Indian office.

THIRTEEN INJURED IN WRECK OF CAR

Passenger Train Smashes Street Car Packed With Iowa Fair Visitors.

Des Moines, Iowa, Sept. 3.—Two persons were fatally hurt last night and eleven seriously injured, when a loaded Rock Island passenger train carrying state fair visitors returning from the show grounds, struck a packed Fort Des Moines street car fully amidship and crushed it to kindling wood. The car was carried fifty feet on the cowcatcher of the engine and wrecked against the steel girders of the bridge across the Des Moines river, in momentary danger of falling into the river twenty feet below. Seriously injured:

Mrs. R. M. Rollins, Des Moines, back twisted and internal injuries; Mrs. Ed Lawless, Des Moines, throat cut and internal injuries; Ora Edwards, Parks Station, six ribs broken and crushed about the head; Mrs. Ora Edwards, Parks Station; Emma Russell, Parks Station; Mrs. J. L. Jones, Des Moines; Emma Wells, Parks Station; Minnie Henderson, Lacoma; Tillie Figgenheim, Parks Station; H. A. Horstman, Lacoma; F. Williams, Des Moines; Helen Jackson, Des Moines; Mrs. H. J. Hammantree, Des Moines.

The injured were taken to the various city hospitals.

FOOLED BY SMOOTH ONE.

Helena, Mont., Bankers Fall for Alleged Inheritance Story.

Helena, Mont., Sept. 3.—Helena bankers, merchants, business men, realty agents and others apparently have been bamboozled, and by a livery stable hostler, who, with his wife and family came here a few months ago and accepted menial employment.

His windfall became noised about ostensibly by the man in question, and he at once became an object of attention. He gave the name of Peter Bienfelt, and an uncle was said to have left him a fortune in railroad bonds.

Bienfelt was dined at the exclusive clubs by bankers, realty men, merchants and others, who sought to ingratiate themselves.

The end came yesterday with the arrest of Bienfelt on the charge of obtaining money under false pretenses. He is now in jail, but his family is still quartered at the leading hotel of the city.

Frost Damaged Tobacco.

La Crosse, Wis., Sept. 3.—Extensive damage was done to the tobacco crop of Western Wisconsin by frosts on Wednesday. On some farms in La Crosse, Vernon and Monroe counties, the center of tobacco industry in this section, the loss is total, while on others a part of the crop will be saved.

ON THE IRON RANGES

MANY TIES BURN AT EMBARRASS

Twenty-five Hundred Belonging to Iron Range Road Destroyed.

Embarrass, Minn., Sept. 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Fire of unknown origin started at Norway siding, Mile 86, on the Duluth & Iron Range railway, at noon Wednesday, in a large tie pile. A strong wind was blowing, and the fire spread rapidly.

Many farmers responded promptly to the calls for assistance, and the Duluth & Iron Range railway promptly furnished two track gangs and an engine. Although the men worked like beavers, the fire and wind were too much for them and they could do but little more than prevent the fire from spreading to adjoining property. They managed to carry about 500 ties to a place of safety, but about 2,500 ties, valued at $1,500, owned principally by the Duluth & Iron Range, were destroyed. Several hundred cords of mine logging and about 3,000 pieces of mine timber, valued at $2,500, which was stored about fifty feet from the burning tie pile, caught fire several times, but the men were able to extinguish the flames before much damage was done. After a fight lasting eight hours, the fire was finally under control, and finally entirely extinguished.

PHOTOGRAPHER IS BEING SUED

Hibbing Man Alleged to Have Alienated a Wife's Affections.

Hibbing, Minn., Sept. 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Such endearing terms as "Dearest Mildred," "My Dear Mildred" and plain "Mildred" are alleged to have been employed by Carl Thiel, a local photographer, in some of the torrid letters he is alleged to have written to Mrs. Dan Larson of Duluth, whose husband is suing Thiel in the district court here for alienating his wife's affections and incidentally to recover a balm in the shape of $15,000.

Some of the warm correspondence has been offered in evidence, and Thiel on the stand has been asked to identify the writing.

Thiel denied writing the letters or using the alleged endearing terms. In one of the letters Thiel is alleged to have upbraided the woman for not keeping an appointment, although he waited an hour and a half on a street corner for her. Larson gave some very sensational testimony on the stand yesterday afternoon, claiming that to his knowledge Thiel and Mrs. Larson had been on intimate terms for about four years and had corresponded for most of that period. Larson stated that one evening some time ago his wife left home early in the evening, neglecting the children, and he followed her for some distance, when she was joined by Thiel, and the couple proceeded to the photographer's tent. Larson testified that he saw the two enter the tent, which was lighted, and shortly afterward the light went out. He rapped on the door, he said, and receiving no answer, returned home to look after the children.

It is expected that the case will require several days.

ELECT SAUK RAPIDS MAN.

Harry Flynn to Succeed Supt. Marquis of Two Harbors.

Two Harbors, Minn., Sept. 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—The local school board has chosen Supt. Harry Flynn of the Sauk Rapids, Minn., schools as superintendent, to succeed Supt. Marquis, who resigned to accept the position of one of the assistant high school inspectors of the state.

The position pays a salary of $2,100. Supt. Flynn is vice president of the Northern Minnesota Teachers' association and well known in state educational circles. He has had charge of the Sauk Rapids school for the past two years.

DEPUTY SHERIFF QUITS TO GO WITH BREWERY.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Sept. 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Deputy Sheriff Logan of Itasca county has resigned, and Sheriff T. T. Riley appointed Albert G. Hachey as his successor. Mr. Logan will accept a position with the Fitger Brewing company at Marble.

The town board of Grand Rapids purchased a steam roller for road building at a cost of $1,000. It is expected that the roller will prove a big factor in improving the roads of this vicinity.

EXPECT MUCH AT THE COUNTY FAIR

Annual Itasca County Exhibit at Grand Rapids Sept. 23-25.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Sept. 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—The eighteenth annual fair of the Itasca County Agricultural association will be held Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Sept. 23, 24 and 25. From the reports sent in from all parts of the county it is indicated that the list of exhibitors will be larger than ever before.

The officers of the association are sparing no pains to make the fair a success. Secretary Graffam states that he looks for a larger attendance than ever before, and that more and more people are beginning to realize the benefits that accrue to both the business men and the farmers from the holding of county fairs. Secretary Graffam is being swamped with inquiries concerning the fair, which denotes that a great many are taking an active interest in the Itasca county fair. He is sending premium books to the different villages, where they will be distributed to those interested. Citizens of Grand Rapids and vicinity can secure books by calling at Mr. Graffam's office.

IRON RANGE HAS OFFERED PRIZES

Railroad Gives $100 to Encourage Farmers of Lake County.

Two Harbors, Minn., Sept. 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—The land department of the Duluth & Iron Range railroad has offered $100 in prizes for the coming Lake county fair, to be known as the Duluth & Iron Range Railroad company's land department premiums, and to be awarded as follows:

First—Best individual farm exhibit, consisting of farm products taken from one farm. First prize, $25; second prize, $15; next four prizes, $5 each.

Second—Best kept record of a dairy herd for year ending Sept. 1, 1909. First prize, $10; second, $5.

Third—Best bushel of potatoes, variety to be named, $5.

Fourth—Best collection of stock roots, $5.

Sixth—Best exhibit of garden truck and farm products, agricultural and floral, placed on exhibition by any girls' club of the county, $5.

Sixth—The best essay or article on agricultural advantages of the county, written by boy or girl, $5.

Each exhibit must score at least 65 points to draw a premium.

OFFER TO NEWLYWEDS.

Couple Agreeing to Marry in Opera House to Get Furniture.

Two Harbors, Minn., Sept. 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—A local firm has agreed to present to the first couple that will offer to be publicly married on the stage of the opera house, Sept. 24, during the county fair, a complete set of bedroom furniture.

Judge Phillips has offered to perform the ceremony without charge. It was at his suggestion that the gift was offered.

The land department of the Duluth & Iron Range railroad has offered the sum of $100 to be given in prizes during the fair to producers of agricultural products of Lake county.

EVELETH FORFEITS GAME.

Capt. Boyle Objected to Umpire and Hibbing Gets Decision.

Hibbing, Minn., Sept. 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Eveleth forfeited the championship series game here yesterday afternoon to Hibbing because Capt. Boyle of the Eveleth nine objected to Red Donahue as umpire, although the latter had been agreed upon by Managers Brady and Tredennick of the respective nines.

Many fear the bad blood thereby engendered will mean the finish of the championship series.

TWO HARBORS GUN CLUB TO HAVE PICNIC.

Two Harbors, Minn., Sept. 3.—(Specialto The Herald.)—The gun club will hold its annual picnic and shoot at the Charles Carlson farm north of the city Sunday, and every arrangement has been made to insure its success.

Following are the committees in charge: Grounds and equipment, T. J. Brown, G. W. Small, Ivey Amundson, E. J. Steurwald, F. Hagberg and John Swanstrom; finance, John Norlen, I. Hegge, J. The body was taken to the residence of her brother, John Allen, 1002 South Sixth avenue. The funeral was held yesterday morning, with requiem mass at St. Michael's church at 9:30 o'clock.

EVELETH TRAGEDY MADE WIDOW OF GIRL BRIDE.

Neenah, Wis., Sept. 3.—Mrs. Frank Parker, a 16-year-old bride of six weeks, was left a sorrowing widow when her husband was run over and killed recently at Eveleth, Minn. Parker was on his way home from the West, working his way as a brakeman, when at Eveleth he fell beneath an ore train and was cut to pieces. Parker was 20 years of age.

ROAD TO ADRIATIC MINE IS BEING CONSTRUCTED.

Aurora, Minn., Sept. 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—The new road into the Adriatic mine being built by Mesaba township is nearly finished, and is drawing the praises of those who have to travel that way. Mesaba township bonded itself this spring for $15,000 to build new roads and repair old ones.

HIGHER AWNINGS ARE ORDERED IN HIBBING.

Hibbing, Minn., Sept. 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—The low awnings in the business portion of town that collide with the headgear of both sexes must be removed at once. The village council last night received a number of protests, and Mayor Ansley ordered the village marshal to serve notice upon the owners of the awnings to have them raised.

SEEK SOUTH POLE NEXT

clined to talk at length yesterday concerning her husband's achievement, declaring she did not desire notoriety. "I am very glad that my husband has reached the pole and gained the chief desire of his life. I have always had great faith in the success of his undertaking and have never for a moment felt he could not win."

This is all she would say.

Nothing Else to Say.

South Harpswell, Me., Sept. 3.—Modest to a marked degree and shunning the publicity so suddenly thrown upon her by the remarkable achievement of her husband, Mrs. Frederick A. Cook, wife of the Arctic explorer, who arrived here last evening, persisted in her refusal to make any statement for publication. She begged to be excused, saying she was tired and nervous, and had absolutely nothing to say.

Mrs. Cook and three young daughters left Brunswick in a two-seated surrey on an eight-mile drive over Sendy Ponds to this seashore resort, where they have been staying the last two weeks. Since the receipt of the news from Dr. Cook she has been trolley riding in this section of the state with friends.

She passed Wednesday night in a Lewiston hotel, without her identity being discovered, and nothing was known of her whereabouts until noon yesterday.

According to the hotel proprietor, Mrs. Cook knew nothing of Dr. Cook's success until shortly before leaving Lewiston at 8 o'clock yesterday for Brunswick. Then she expressed herself as much delighted.

Congratulations From Mrs. Peary.

Eagle Island, Me., Sept. 3.—"If Dr. Cook has found the pole, I must certainly extend my heartiest congratulations," said Mrs. Robert E. Peary when asked if she thought Dr. Cook had reached the pole.

Mrs. Peary is expecting a message from Commander Peary himself in the middle of next month or sooner, and hopes that he, too, has been successful in his endeavors to reach farthest north.

Expert Is Convinced.

New York, Sept. 3.—Cyrus C. Adams, chief geographical expert of the American Geographical society and author of several well known works on geographical subjects, says that his examination of Dr. Cook's narrative, published under copyright in local papers, has convinced him that the explorer's claims to the discovery of the pole are genuine and will stand.

"It is inevitable," said Mr. Adams, "that the date which Dr. Cook presently will submit to the scientific world will be subjected to the closest scrutiny. But Dr. Cook is well aware that he could not stand such an examination if he were not telling the exact truth to the last particular. No sane man with experience in such matters could hope for an instant to produce a false log with false astronomical and magnetic observations for such a period as was covered in this remarkable sledge trip to the pole.

Not End of Research.

"Dr. Cook's achievement does not mean the end of polar research but rather the beginning of a new epoch in exploring efforts. We now want to know everything about the region. It is most unfortunate that Dr. Cook was forced to make his trip without the means of gathering the great mass of scientific data which would have been of the greatest interest and value. Traveling with only a few simple instruments it was impossible for him to take soundings or even to make the most general observations of the land, which he reports having discovered to the westward. Other better equipped explorers will follow him into the unknown north and their findings will mean the remaking of our geographies and will add information of the utmost value in several sciences."

That the flag planted by Dr. Cook on the new arctic continent will be defended by the United States was the opinion expressed by Attorney General Wickersham in an interview at Lawrence Beach, L. I., his summer home.

Wickersham Speaks Up.

"The constitution will follow the flag, if the new land discovered by Cook proves to be of any value," said Mr. Wickersham. "The new territory may perhaps not prove a very valuable acquisition, but if human beings can live there or if there are native races living there, a serious question of citizenship will have to be considered. However, before taking any position in the matter, I prefer to wait for information of a little more definite character in regard to the exact meaning and scope of Dr. Cook's discovery."

BEAR KIDNAPS SETTLER'S BABY

Almost Kills Parent When He Goes to Rescue of Child.

Nyack, Mont., Sept. 3.—James Doolittle, a homesteader near here, was probably fatally wounded in rescuing his 4-year-old daughter from a grizzly bear which had picked her up and taken her some 200 yards away.

Doolittle, hearing the child's screams, gave chase on horseback. The horse threw Doolittle, breaking his leg, and the grizzly turned and clawed him in a frightful manner, almost disemboweling him and chewing both legs and arms almost to a pulp.

Aside from a few scratches the baby was uninjured.

ACTION IS SETTLED.

Suit Against North Dakota Senator Has Been Dismissed.

Bismarck, N. D., Sept. 3.—An agreement has been reached whereby the suit started by the state of North Dakota against Senator Ferdinand Leutz of Morton county, for the recovery of state moneys alleged to have been misappropriated, will be settled and the proceedings dropped.

Senator Leutz was sued for the sum of $875.55 and it is understood that this amount has been paid to the state. He was formerly the insurance commissioner of the state and the money alleged to have been misappropriated was the money used in payment of drafts by the state, and which it is claimed should not be charged to the state funds.

Dairymen to Meet at Crookston.

Thief River Falls, Minn., Sept. 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—The executive committee of the Red River Valley Dairymen association, has decided to hold the next annual convention on Nov. 3 and 4 in Crookston. This body of workers includes all the butter and cheese makers in the valley, as well as those other persons interested in or engaged in dairying.

Range Criminal Cases.
Assistant County Attorney James P. Boyle of Eveleth was in Duluth today on business. Mr. Boyle, who has had charge of the trial of criminal cases at the present term of the range district court, says that good progress was made in disposing of the cases at Virginia and they will be concluded next week at Hibbing when several blind pig cases will be tried.

Orders Horse to Burn.
Humane Officer George V. Fifer last night discovered Harold Levine, a driver for the Duluth public market, driving a team which was involved in a railroad accident at Lakeside early this week. One of the horses was in no condition to be driven, and the driver was ordered to place him in the barn. He complied promptly. The horse's legs were skinned and there was a gaping cut in his side. The humane officer will not allow him on the street until his wounds heal. The team was struck by a train at Lakeside this week, and two children, who were riding with the driver, jumped and saved themselves from injury. The driver was not injured, and the horses escaped with a few cuts.

Hearing on Naturalization.
Tonight a hearing will be held in district court on the applications for full naturalization papers. There are thirty-six applicants to be heard, and it is expected the greater number will place their claims before the court tonight. Those who do not do so will be heard tomorrow morning.

Herald Excursions to End.
The last of The Herald's lake excursions will take place next Tuesday. The Mascotte will go down the south shore at 8 a. m. and the America at 4 p. m. Get tickets at Herald office.

Band Concert Sunday.
The Third Regiment band will give the last of the Sunday afternoon concerts at Chester Park Sunday. Bandmaster Flaaten has prepared an excellent program.

A Fine Exhibit.
Judge W. L. Windom, who has one of the finest appearing farms in St. Louis county, at his place in Fond du Lac, expects to surprise the residents of Southern Minnesota with his corn and rye exhibit at the state fair. The rye he sent to the fair measures 7½ feet in height, and the corn is 13 feet 4 inches tall. The Judge has whole fields of both the corn and rye.

Mexican Mining Man Here.
P. J. Tehaney of Cananea, Mex., who is in Duluth today, states that the mining operations of Mexico are increasing with rapid strides, and that Eastern capital is rapidly investing in the mining lands of the country. Mr. Tehaney says Greene-Cananea is one of the great mines of that section of the country.

Cash Prize Suits Him.
Complaint was made to the police this morning that a man giving his name as C. J. Palmer has secured $1 from Mrs. H. Nelson of 705 Jefferson street for a newspaper subscription and had failed to turn over the cash or deliver the goods in the shape of the paper.

Lake Excursions Monday.
The Booth steamers will make three trips to Two Harbors Monday (Labor day). This will prove an enjoyable way to spend the holiday.

Fire Commissioners Meet.
The board of fire commissioners will hold a regular monthly meeting this evening. Bids for furnishing the city with a new fire engine will be discussed, but probably the contract will not be awarded at this meeting. Laundry bids also will be opened, and the question of improving fire halls No. 2 and 3 will be considered.

Coleman's Ten-Acre Tracts.

Single Taxers Meet.
The Duluth members of the American Single Tax league celebrated the seventieth anniversary of the birth of Henry George with a meeting held at the public library last evening. The speakers were Alfred Jacques, G. W. C. Ross and S. H. Nixon. The life of Henry George and his theories were discussed at length by the speakers.

High School "Exams."
Examinations were held at the Central high school today, under the direction of Principal Buck, for pupils desiring to enter the high school but who have no eighth grade diplomas. Some of the boys and girls who took the examinations were those who failed last term but who have been making up work this summer, and others come from out of town. The examinations were in the various subjects of the high school work.

Theosophical Society.
The Theosophical society will hereafter hold its meetings on Tuesday afternoons at 3 o'clock and on Thursday evenings at 8 o'clock, in its rooms at 304 New Jersey building.

Haven Will Talk.
Mayor Haven will address the Central Hillside Improvement association this evening. Property owners east of Sixth avenue east on Fourth street are invited to be present to discuss the paving of the street. The aldermen and the board of public works are especially invited to be present, and take part in the discussion.

COPPER STOCK MARKET FIRM

The copper stock market was rather quiet, but the tone was firm in Boston today. North Butte opened at $61.25, advanced to $61.75, declined to $61.25 and closed at $61.25 bid and $61.50 asked. Amalgamated opened at $84.37½, advanced to $84.62½, declined to $84.25 and closed at $84.25 bid and $84.37½ asked.

DULUTH PLAYERS ATTACK UMPIRE

La Crosse, Wis., Sept. 3.—Umpire Mack of the Minnesota-Wisconsin league was mobbed by Duluth players this afternoon in the deciding game of the championship race.

Pitcher Dauss of Duluth was ordered out of the game for objecting to a decision in the first inning, and almost the entire team of visitors immediately assaulted the umpire, who was knocked down, beaten and jumped upon. The police and the La Crosse players rescued the umpire.

CHICAGO MAN TO REFEREE FIGHT

Houghton, Mich., Sept. 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Malachi Hogan of Chicago has accepted terms to referee a ten-round fight here Labor day between Eddie McGoorty of Oshkosh and Art Allard of Lake Linden, for the Northwestern middleweight honors. The match will be at 158 pounds.

McGoorty and Allard fought ten rounds to a draw in Calumet two months ago, though McGoorty had the better end of the battle.

JOYETTE WINS FOURTH RACE

Bulletin—Joyette Wins.

Beverly, Mass., Sept. 3.—For the second time during the stay of the little yacht Sylph in Beverly harbor, the president's eagled-crested flag was hoisted to the main truck this morning and with the chief executive and Mrs. Taft on board the craft put off to the Marblehead race course. Mr. Taft early in the week decided that he would witness the national Sonder yacht races today. He could hardly have chosen a more perfect day. There was not a cloud visible and the water was furrowed with a good stiff breeze.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas K. Laughlin of Pittsburg, Secretary of State Knox and Capt. A. W. Butt, were the other members of the party taken out on the Sylph.

The Sylph steamed along slowly with the Dolphin right ahead, the apparent rounding time of the yachts at the windward mark was as follows:

Ellen, 12:03:33; Joyette, 12:06:02; Wolf, 12:07:50; Hevella, 12:09:02; Sehund II, 12:10:08; Margarethe, 12:20:30.

The yachts were around the mark slowly, but all were quick to break out Spinnakers to port for the run down to the home mark. It was a long, slow drift for the wind had decreased to less than three miles an hour.

HUNTERS WILL GO AFTER CHICKENS

A large number of hunters will leave Duluth Sunday evening at 8:55 for points in Minnesota and North Dakota in search of prairie chickens. Many of the hunters are bound for McIntosh, Thief River Falls, Crookston and other Minnesota points, while others will go to North Dakota points.

There are no large parties, but more than thirty hunters will leave the city Sunday in parties of two, three or four. The same crowd of enthusiastic hunters who have left Duluth every fall in the years past will be among those who will leave Sunday evening.

W. T. Bailey, Judge Page Morris, Frank Heimick, Frank Berry and many other enthusiastic hunters are on the list.

New Equipment.

The Northern Pacific has just received sixteen new standard sleeping cars from the Pullman company. The new cars are the very latest design, having upper berth, electric lights, something new in sleeping cars. The new cars will be placed in service at once.

Beginning with tomorrow, the Great Northern Railway company will place a new observation car on the Gopher Express. The new car will be the latest design, having a recess observation vestibule and will be one of the finest cars in service in the West. The new car will be run every day between the Twin Cities and Duluth.

PATRICK COMPANY RUSHED.

The F. A. Patrick company evidently believes that prosperity has returned. The company's business during the month of August broke all records and the firm has had to add fifty new girls to the factory force to keep up with the rush of business.

Direct Attention to Suits, Correct of Style, But Moderately Priced!

We have three times the space for women's suits and cloaks this season that we've ever had before! Our popular priced lines will be doubly strong this fall and comparison is the test that will prove our selections and values to surpass other showings in this section of the country.

Smartly Tailored Suits
At $25. $29.50, $32.50 and $35

Models that conform to the latest style points. The coats are exactly the proper length that Fall Fashion demands. The skirts are mostly in variations of the plaited variety. The tailoring is of exceptionally good standard, and linings are of finer quality than you'll find in other store suits of the same price. The materials are broadcloths, serges, wale-cheviots and plain or fancy worsteds. See them before you buy elsewhere.

Autumn Waists
Silk Waists
Tailored or fancy many styles in the new shades as navy, stone, brown, electric, raisin, wine, olive, gray, amethyst and black. Prices $5.75 and $6.75.
Tailored Linen Waists
New models in "shirt" or plaited styles—five distinct designs, at $2.75.
Clean-Up Line of Tailored and Fancy Waists
Regularly $5 to $6.75, at $2.50. Linens and sheer white fabrics, hand-embroidered.

We Also Show

Very Good Looking Suits at $19.50

They are above the $19.50 standard in value, though not so well tailored as our higher priced models.

A Fetching and "Tailored-Looking" Dress at $19.50

Snug-fitting to low-hip depth, with kilted skirt, similar to cut. Of mushroom-brown, blue or black broadcloth.

Its excellence of "fit" and perfection of "line" are its chief charms, and designate the model as very snappy.

Fall Styles in Separate Skirts at $7.50

Deep yoke styles with kilted flounces. Also gored styles with fan-plaited inserts. Of Panama in serge, in blue and black only.

Special Skirt Sizes for Stout Figures.

We have the above-mentioned skirts in all sizes to 37-inch waist bands.

SCHOOL IS IMPROVED

Extensive Changes Made in Industrial High School Building.

When the West Duluth industrial high school opens Tuesday morning there will be a number of improvements in the building and equipment which should add materially to the efficiency of the school. Room will be provided for a high school library of reference works, one end of the main hall on the second floor being partitioned off for this purpose, and the students in the manual training department will make the furniture for this room. The opposite end of the hall has already been partitioned off for a commercial room.

This year the assembly hall, two laboratories, three recitation rooms, the commercial room, the library, and the manual training machinery room will be devoted to the high school department. The floor in the north wing, which was damaged by fire last year, and only temporarily repaired then, has been entirely rebuilt, and a big wooden truss has been put up for the main power shaft in the machinery room to avoid the vibration in the floors above when the shaft is fastened on to the supporting beams.

The kindergarten, which formerly occupied one room in the basement of the Irving building, has been transferred to the Ely, and the room which it formerly occupied will be occupied by the mechanical drawing department. It is a well-lighted room, with a southern exposure, and much better suited to this purpose than the room formerly used. The old drawing room will be occupied by the iron workers.

Principal Scott A. Foster stated this morning that he expected about 125 students in the high school department, twenty seniors, twenty-five juniors, thirty-five sophomores and forty-five freshmen. There will be about 800 students in the grade department of the building. This will mean that there will be inevitably some congestion, but it will not be so serious as last year. Examinations for students who failed in work last year are in progress at the Irving today.

As far as is known, there will be but one change in the faculty of the school, Miss Winnifred Smith replacing Miss Bechtel in the department of English and history. Miss Smith graduated with honors from the state university last year, and is competent in every way to replace Miss Bechtel.

RAILROAD QUESTION.

Mass Meeting at Commercial Club to Discuss Canadian Northern.

The regular weekly meeting of the Duluth Commercial club this evening is to be turned into an open mass meeting to discuss the railroad question. The proposed plan of the Canadian Northern to condemn a right-of-way through the thickest settled portion of West Duluth is still the chief topic of conversation in the western end of the city, and some action in regard to this will be taken tonight.

BUNDLE SHOWER.

Miss Rachel Wiseman Guest of Honor at Charming Affair.

Mrs. Robert Dunn gave a bundle shower last evening at her home on Seventy-first avenue west, in honor of Miss Mabel Wiseman, whose wedding to Mervin Carscadden is to be celebrated next Tuesday. About thirty of Miss Wiseman's friends were invited, and she was the recipient of many handsome gifts. Those present were: Misses Eva Seymour, Flossie Ohlke, Lillie Dunn, Jean Meldrum, Mary Dunn, Ella Wiseman, Allie Onsgard, May Ide, Rachel Wiseman, Lazara Boutin, Euphemia Rowe, Martha Wiseman, June McMillan, Margaret Hughes, Theresa Hughes, Rose Hancock and Ruth Brown.

Mesdames Seyler, Newton, Larose, Essen, Reid and Lockhart.

CHURCH JANITOR FINED.

Man Who Chastised Child for Interrupting Service is Fined.

Because he attempted to chastise another man's child for disturbing a church service in progress last Monday night, Andrew Jacobson paid $5 into the coffers of the state this morning, by order of Justice Flack. Jacobson is janitor of a West Duluth church and the services in progress in the basement were interrupted by children at the windows. Jacobson tried to get some of the offenders and seized upon young William Laubach, who was, it is claimed, an innocent bystander. Jacobson shook him up rather vigorously and the child ran home crying to his parents. His father, John Laubach swore out a complaint and Jacobson pleaded guilty to the charge this morning.

H. B. McArthur Here.

H. B. McArthur, accompanied by his daughter, Florence, is visiting friends in West Duluth today. Mr. McArthur was a prominent West Duluth business man fourteen years ago, being in partnership with Alderman Getchell just before leaving.

West Duluth Briefs.

Carl Weaver, now employed as a railway mail clerk between Minneapolis and St. Louis, who has been visiting friends in West Duluth for a few days, left last night for the Twin Cities.

Freeman Randall has been promoted to the position of chief clerk at the City National bank.

Ray St. Germain will leave next week for college.

Charles Petruschke and a party of friends were out in Mr. Petruschke's launch yesterday afternoon when a setline became entangled in their propeller, and on pulling it in they found two fine sturgeon on the line.

We are agents for the celebrated Mayr shoes. P. J. Blais.

Frank Ashley will spend Labor day at Cook Lake with friends.

Miss Alice Wenberg will leave early next week for St. Peter to study music.

Bargains in trimmed hats. P. J. Blais.

A different bargain every day. P. J. Blais.

Lost—Child's gold beads. Finder please return to 512 North Fifty-seventh avenue. Mrs. M. J. Murray, for reward.

Miss Molly McDonnell will entertain a party of twenty of her friends at the farm of her uncle, P. McDonnell, four miles above Lester, Labor day.

Mrs. J. J. Lauermann has sold the store property at 503 Fifty-eighth avenue west to Johnson & Jermstadt, the grocers.

If you want a dray call up 3122-X. Johnson & Jermstadt have bought our store property and it necessitates closing our our entire stock of groceries before Sept. 15. We realize that price alone will do it, so commencing tomorrow everything will be cut to cost and below cost. This will prove a good time to supply your groceries for winter. Mrs. J. J. Lauermann, 503 Fifty-eighth avenue west.

Murray Bros. Non-Excelled ice cream is best for all occasions.

There will be confirmation services Sunday morning at Immanuel Lutheran church.

Vincent Rogers, who was injured at the Carbolite works a week or two ago will have to have two fingers amputated, according to the latest report.

Mrs. J. H. Larkin will entertain the ladies of the Woodmen circle at her home, 524 North Fifty-ninth avenue west, at a lawn social.

The funeral of the infant child of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Smith was held from the residence at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon, and interment was at the Oneota cemetery.

Watch repairing, Hurst. W. Duluth.

SEASON TO CLOSE WITH MATCH GAME

Some time during the present month six Houghton golf players will come to Duluth to try to repeat the trick turned on their own links when they defeated the Duluth golfers this summer very decisively.

Among those who expect to be present from the Michigan city are: John C. Pryor, Samuel E. Burns, C. H. Moss, W. D. Thompson, F. W. Nichols and C. H. Cairns.

The play will, in a way, end up the most successful season ever experienced by the Northland Country club. The state tournament held here recently was a big success in every way. Never has there been such interest displayed in the Scotch game, and the links of the Duluth club have been more used this year than ever before.

S. A. McPhail, E. P. Alexander and R. T. Goodell left this noon in an automobile for St. Paul, where they will play some match games on the links of the Town and Country club with Sainty City golfers.

Traveling Man Weds.

Brainerd, Minn., Sept. 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Walter F. Kunitz, a well known traveling man, and Miss Eleanor Saunders of this city, were married Wednesday evening at the home of Rev. J. J. O'Mahoney, pastor of St. Francis Catholic church. The young couple received the congratulations of relatives at their future home, 891 South Sixth street, after the ceremony and left the next morning for a brief trip to Chicago and other points.

ORDER OF HEARING ON PETITION FOR PROBATE OF FOREIGN WILL—

State of Minnesota, County of St. Louis. —ss

In Probate Court.

In the Matter of the Estate of Elizabeth B. White, Decedent.

Certain instruments purporting to be authenticated copies of the last Will and Testament of Elizabeth B. White and of the probate thereof in the Surrogate Court in and for the County of Columbia, State of New York, having been presented to this court, and the petition of Alice M. White being filed herein, representing, among other things, that said decedent, then being a resident of the County of Columbia, State of New York, died testate in the County of Columbia, State of New York, on the 26th day of November, 1906, leaving estate in the County of St. Louis, State of Minnesota, and that said instrument has been allowed and admitted to probate as his Will in the court above named, and praying that said Will be allowed and admitted to probate in this state, and that letters of Administration with the Will Annexed be issued thereon to Alice M. White

IT IS ORDERED, That said petition be heard before this court, at the Probate Court Rooms in the Court House, in Duluth, in said County on Monday, on the 27th day of September, 1909, at ten o'clock a. m., and all persons interested in said hearing and in said matter are hereby cited and required at said time and place to show cause, if any there be, why said petition should not be granted.

ORDERED FURTHER, That this order be served by publication in the Duluth Evening Herald, according to law, and that a copy of this order be served on the County Treasurer of St. Louis County not later than ten days prior to said day of hearing.

Dated at Duluth, Minn., Sept. 3rd, 1909.

By the Court,
J. B. MIDDLECOFF,
Judge of Probate.

STEADY AT THE CLOSE

Wheat Is Unchanged at the End of Session Here.

Flax Has a Slight Advance Over the Previous Day.

Duluth Board of Trade, Sept. 3.—The general tone of the wheat market in America was bullish today and most of the markets showed slight fractional gains over yesterday, although both active options in the local markets closed at exactly yesterday's level. Until the last few minutes of trading, they maintained a stronger tone, but eased off at the close.

Argentine shipments were larger than last week's, although considerably under those of a year ago. Shipments this week were 288,000 bu against 144,000 bu last year and 1,616,000 bu a year ago.

The Modern Miller says:

"The general tendency of winter wheat farmers is to hold wheat where it is in condition to stack or bin. Movement is light where thrashing is completed. Where rains have fallen in the West and Southwest extending eastward they will enable farmers to break ground for fall seeding."

Liverpool closed ⅜d lower to ½d higher, Berlin ⅝c lower, Budapest 1¼c higher.

The September option closed unchanged in Duluth, ⅜@½c higher in Chicago, ½@⅝c higher in Minneapolis, 1c higher in New York, ⅝c higher in St. Louis and ⅛@⅛c higher in Kansas City. October wheat closed ½c higher in Winnipeg. The December option closed unchanged in Duluth and New York, a shade higher in Chicago and Minneapolis, ⅛c higher in St. Louis, ⅛@¼c higher in Kansas City and ⅜c higher in Winnipeg.

September corn closed ⅛c higher and oats ⅛c higher in Chicago.

Wheat was fairly active during the session in the Duluth market. September wheat opened unchanged at 95¾c, advanced to 96⅛c and closed unchanged from yesterday at 95¾c. December wheat opened ¼c higher at 94c, advanced to 94¼c, declined to 93⅜c and closed there, unchanged from yesterday. May wheat opened unchanged at 97¾c, advanced to 98c and closed at 97¾c, unchanged from yesterday.

Durum wheat closed unchanged.

Flax made slight advances over yesterday. September flax opened unchanged at $1.38¼@¾, advanced to $1.39 and closed at $1.38¾, a gain of ½c over yesterday. October flax opened ¼c higher at $1.34⅜, advanced to $1.34⅞ and closed at $1.34⅜, a gain of ½c over yesterday. November flax opened unchanged at $1.34½, advanced to $1.35 and closed at $1.34¾, a gain of ½c over yesterday. December flax opened late at $1.32 and closed at $1.32½, a gain of ½c over yesterday.

Rye closed 1@2c higher and other grains unchanged.

Following are the closing prices:

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool:

"The wheat market is easy as a result of the bearish foreign news and demand very poor.

"The corn market is firm with a good demand. Arrivals from the interior are liberal and the quality satisfactory. There was a steady opening in wheat with values ⅜@½d higher than yesterday, being influenced by the steadier American offerings yesterday and the rainy weather in the United Kingdom. Later, the market developed selling pressure and values lost half to ⅝d on the pressure of American spot winter wheat and the poor millers' demand."

Car receipts of wheat at Duluth were 196 against 296 last year, and Minneapolis 358, against 247 last year, making a total for the Northwest of 454, against 543 last year. Chicago received 63 against 53 last year. Winnipeg received none against none last year.

Primary receipts of wheat were 1,607,000 bu, last year 874,000 bu. Shipments, 546,000 bu., last year 565,000 bu.

Primary receipts of corn were 653,000 bu., last year, 407,000 bu. Shipments, 547,000 bu., last year, 325,000 bu.

THE CHICAGO MARKET.

Unsettled Weather in Northwest Is Chief Factor in Wheat.

Chicago, Sept. 3.—Unsettled weather in the Northwest was the principal factor today affecting the wheat market here. Sentiment during early trading was moderately bullish. Demand, however, was extremely dull, and the selling pressure was correspondingly light. Price fluctuations early were confined within ½c range. Opening quotations were ⅛c lower to ⅝c higher compared with yesterday's close, December being at 94⅜@94⅝c. Later December advanced to 94⅞c.

The market eased off considerably during the last half of the day, December declining to 94¼c. The close, however, was firm, with December a shade higher at 94½@94⅝c.

Despite additional rains in the corn belt, sentiment in the corn pit was bullish, particularly in the deferred months. Several prominent shorts were moderate bidders. Offerings were light. The December delivery opened a shade lower to ⅛@¼c higher at 57@57⅛c and advanced to 57⅝c.

The deferred months lost much of their strength later in the day, but the September option held strong. December sold off from 57⅜c to 57c. The close was strong for September, but barely steady for other deliveries. December closing unchanged at 57@57⅛c.

Oats were firm, owing to the strength of wheat and corn. The volume of trade early was light. December opened unchanged at 37⅜c and sold up to 38⅛@38¼c.

Provisions were quiet and firm. An advance of 5c in live hogs inspired some buying. The strength of corn prompted additional purchases. Prices at the start were 2½@5c higher.

HEARD ON THE FLOOR.

Argentine shipments of corn were 2,487,000 bu against 2,991,000 bu last week and 2,705,000 bu a year ago.

Argentine shipments of flax were 32,000 bu against 464,000 bu last week and 360,000 bu a year ago.

Broomhall estimates the world's shipments of wheat and flour this week at 5,600,000 bu, exclusive of North America. Total shipments last week were 8,992,000 bu.

Charles E. Lewis wired from Minneapolis:

"A year ago next Monday, Minneapolis received 759 cars and Duluth 1097 cars. This year the movement is later and I do not expect the receipts next Monday to be that large, but it is not because the wheat is not in the country."

• • •

Following is the weather forecast for the grain belt:

Illinois, Iowa, South Dakota and Nebraska—Unsettled, with showers tonight or Saturday.

Indiana—Showers and warmer tonight; Saturday partly cloudy.

Upper and Lower Michigan—Showers tonight and probably Saturday; warmer tonight.

Missouri and Wisconsin—Showers tonight or Saturday.

Minnesota — Partly cloudy, with showers in southern portion tonight or Saturday; slightly warmer tonight.

North Dakota, Wyoming and Montana—Showers tonight or Saturday.

Kansas—Generally fair tonight and Saturday.

THE MINNEAPOLIS MARKET.

Fears for Wheat Movement Give Strength at Opening.

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 3.—Early today the wheat market was strong, on account of the unsettled weather in the Northwest. Receipts today were quite liberal, but there was some apprehension about a delay in the movement following this weather. For the first time in several months there was an increase for the week in local elevator stocks, it being 15,000 bu. The market fluctuated in a range of 1⅜c from high to low. September closed ¼@⅜c above yesterday's figures, and December was unchanged to ⅛c higher. Minneapolis today received 1,100 cars of wheat as compared with 247 cars a year ago; Duluth, 196 against 296, and Winnipeg, 104 against 42. September opened 95c; high, 95⅝c; low, 95c; close, 95⅛@95⅜c. December opened 93¾c; high, 94⅛c; low, 93¼c; close, 93⅛@93⅜c. May opened 98c; high, 98⅛c; low, 97¼c; close, 97⅜c.

Cash wheat was firmer today, and premiums were ½c higher. Milling interests were heavy buyers, and all the offerings were up. Elevator men are not interested in the present market, premiums being too high. No. 1 northern sold for 4½@5c above the September option, and No. 2 northern for 2½@3c above. No. 1 northern spot, 95¾c@1.00; to arrive, 98c. No. 2 northern spot, 97½@98c; to arrive, 96c; No. 3 wheat, 95@95¾c; No. 3 yellow corn, 65¼@65¾c; No. 3 white oats, 35⅞@36⅜c. No. 1 rye, 63¾@65¼c.

Flax receipts 21 cars, year ago 21 cars; shipments none. Rains have delayed the movement into the local market, and as a result there was a much firmer tone. Demand was active and spot seed sold for 2c above the Duluth September contracts. Closing price, $1.41⅛.

Barley receipts 136 cars, year ago 128 cars; shipments 75. Traders today disagreed about the cash barley. Some said it was stronger, others weaker, and still others said it was steady. Closing prices of malting grades were steady with yesterday, with the lower grade off 2c. Closing range, 42@59c.

Millstuffs, shipments 924 tons. The market was steady. Demand was fair at prevailing prices and shipments were light. Bran in 100 pound sacks $19.00.

Flour prices were lowered and in a narrower range on account of the more stable wheat market. Foreign and domestic demand was strong. Shipments continued to show an increase. Shipments, 49,988 barrels. First patents, $5.25@5.35; second patents, $5.00@5.25; first clears, $4.35@4.55; second clears, $3.10@3.30.

New York Grain.

New York, Sept. 3.—Close: Wheat—September, $1.07¾; December, $1.02½; May, $1.04¼. Corn—September, 75⅞c; December, 67¼c.

New York Money.

New York, Sept. 3.—Money on call firm; 2@2½ per cent; ruling rate, 2½ per cent; closing bid, 2¼ per cent; offered at 2½ per cent; time loans quite active; sixty days 2@3 per cent; 90 days, 3¼@3½ per cent; six months, 4 per cent. Close: Prime mercantile paper 4¼@4¾ per cent; sterling exchange steady with actual business in bankers at $4.85.10@4.85.15 for 60 day bills and at $4.86.60 for demand. Commercial bills, $4.84½@4.84¾. Bar silver, 51½c. Mexican dollars, 44c. Government bonds weak; railroad bonds, steady.

Treasury Statement.

Washington, Sept. 3.—The condition of the treasury at the beginning of business was as follows:

Trust funds—Gold coin, $859,779,869; silver dollars, $486,913,000; silver dollars of 1890, $4,118,000; silver certificates outstanding, $486,913,000.

STEEL GOES UP TO 80 1-4

Huge Selling Orders Are Met and General Realizing Follows.

Stock Market Has Firm Close With Dropping of High Marks.

New York, Sept. 3.—Quiet trading and moderate price changes characterized the opening of the stock market today. The favorite speculative stocks were higher than yesterday, but the list showed a few small declines. Nine thousand shares of United States Steel sold at 79, a new record price and up ⅜ from yesterday. Later the stock sold a fraction higher. General Electric rose 1⅜, Union Pacific and International Pump 1 and Consolidated Gas ⅝.

A feature of the early dealings was the absorption of large blocks of United States Steel, which rose to 79½. The preferred stock also gained a point. Other metal stocks were strengthened by the demand for this stock.

The rise in the specialties furnished a cover for sales of the railroad list. Union Pacific, New York Central and St. Paul sold a shade below yesterday's closing. A later rise of over a point in Pennsylvania to 142 had but little influence on sentiment.

The market grew very dull around 11 o'clock and was about steady. Sloss Sheffield Steel gained 1¾, St. Louis & San Francisco second preferred 1¼ and International Paper preferred, Bethlehem Steel and United States Pipe 1. Realizing in Central Leather cost it a point.

United States Steel was carried up to 79½ and was the mainstay of the market. The preferred rose 2, St. Louis & San Francisco second preferred 2½, Rock Island preferred 1⅝, St. Paul, Reading, Delaware & Hudson, Erie first preferred, United States Rubber and Virginia Iron, Coal & Coke, American Tobacco preferred and Federal Mining preferred declined 1. Bonds were steady.

The market closed firm. United States Steel met huge selling orders at 80, which were executed in 1,000 to 8,000 share blocks. The stock then rose to 80¼, but yielded to below 80 on the general realizing movement. Bethlehem Steel preferred and New Central Coal rose an extreme 3½, New York, Ontario & St. Louis and National Biscuit preferred 2, Mackay companies 1⅝ and Northern Pacific, Rock Island, Pacific Mail, American Beet Sugar preferred, Corn Products and Mercantile Marine 1 or more. American Locomotive lost a point. Prices rallied somewhat from the high marks.

New York stock quotations furnished The Herald by Piper, Johnson & Case.

The Cotton Market.

New York, Sept. 3.—The cotton market opened steady, at an advance of 2@7 points on better cables than due, and on very bullish private reports from Liverpool, Havre and Bremen regarding the construction placed on yesterday's condition figures and on the general trade outlook. The local market met with a renewal of the bear pressure noted on the advance of yesterday and ruled very nervous, but active months held 5 to 6 points higher during the middle of the morning on a fairly active demand through commission houses and local bulls.

Spot closed quiet, 5 points higher; middling uplands, 12.85; middling gulf, 13.10; sales, 1,205 bales. Futures closed firm; closing bids: September, 12.46; October, 12.50; November, 12.51; December, 12.59; January, 12.55; February, 12.57; March, 12.62; April, 12.63; May, 12.28.

SHERIFF'S EXECUTION SALE—

Under and by virtue of an Execution issued out of and under the seal of the District Court of the State of Minnesota, in and for the Eleventh Judicial District, and County of St. Louis, on the 26th day of July, 1909, upon a Judgment rendered and docketed in said Court and County in an action therein, wherein Alexander Marshall was Plaintiff, and Fred A. Sills was Defendant, in favor of said Plaintiff and against said Defendant Fred A. Sills, and each of them for the sum of One Hundred Fifty-eight and 45-100 ($158.45) Dollars and One and 80-100 Dollars increased costs which said execution has to me, as sheriff of said St. Louis County, been duly directed and delivered, I have levied upon and will sell at public auction to the highest cash bidder, at the front door of the District Court House, in the City of Duluth, in said County of St. Louis, on Saturday, the 2nd day of October, 1909, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day, all the right, title and interest that the above named judgment debtor had in and to the real estate hereinafter described on the 19th day of July, 1909, that being the date of rendition of said judgment, or any interest therein which said judgment debtor has since that day acquired. The description of the property being as follows, to-wit:

Lots Three and Four (3 and 4) of Block Fifteen (15), Walbank's Addition to Duluth, according to the respective plats thereof on file and of record in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for St. Louis County, Minnesota.

Dated Duluth, Minn., Aug. 10, 1909.

NOTICE OF MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE—

Notice is hereby given, That default has been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage executed and delivered by Gust Maky and Mare Maky, his wife, Mortgagors, to the Sattler Liquor Co., a corporation, as mortgagee, bearing the date of the 21st day of February, 1903, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for St. Louis County, Minnesota, on the 27th day of February, 1903, at nine o'clock A. M., in book 162 of mortgages, on page 475.

Said default consists in the failure of the said mortgagors to pay the sum of $132.13, which amount is claimed to be due, and is due, at the date hereof, upon a note which said mortgage was given to secure, and which said amount consists of the prinefpal sum due on said note of $100.00 and $32.13 interest.

The property described in said mortgage and hereby mortgaged is situated in the County of St. Louis, State of Minnesota, and is described as follows, to-wit: Lot numbered six (6) in Block numbered one (1), in Buhl, Minnesota, according to the recorded plat thereof on file in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for said St. Louis County, together with all the hereditaments and appurtenances thereunto belonging or in anywise appertaining.

By reason of such default, the power of sale contained in said mortgage has become operative, and no action or proceeding at law or otherwise having been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof;

NOW THEREFORE, By virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, said mortgage will be foreclosed by the sale of the premises at public auction, to the highest bidder for cash, by the sheriff of said St. Louis County, at the front door of the County Court House at Duluth, in said County, upon Saturday, the 9th day of October, 1909, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day, to satisfy the amount then due on said mortgage, and taxes, if any, due on the said premises, together with twenty-five dollars ($25.00) attorneys' fees, as stipulated in said mortgage, and the costs and disbursements allowed by law.

Dated this 28th day of August, 1909.

ORDER TO EXAMINE FINAL ACCOUNT, ETC.—

State of Minnesota, County of St. Louis.—ss.

In Probate Court.

In the matter of the estate of John D. Davies, Decedent.

THE PETITION OF Mary E. Davies as representative of the above named decedent, together with her final account of the administration of said estate, having been filed in this court, representing, among other things, that she has fully administered said estate, and praying that said final account of said administration be examined, adjusted and allowed by the Court, and that the Court make and enter its final decree of distribution of the residue of the estate of said decedent to the persons entitled thereto, and for the discharge of the representative and the sureties on her bond.

IT IS ORDERED, That said petition be heard, and said final account examined, adjusted and allowed by the Court, at the Probate Court Rooms in the Court House, in the City of Duluth in said County, on Monday, the 20th day of September, 1909, at ten o'clock A. M., and all persons interested in said hearing and in said matter are hereby cited and required at said time and place to show cause, if any there be, why said petition should not be granted.

ORDERED FURTHER, That this order be served by publication in The Duluth Evening Herald, according to law.

Dated at Duluth, Minn., August 26th, 1909.

By the Court,
J. B. MIDDLECOFF,

Does Advertising Pay?

Here Is the Proof:

IT DOES

Divide all the Duluth stores into two classes. In one row put the names of those who advertise consistently, and in the other row the names of those who don't—

You have the answer—

Advertising, to be profitable, must be sensibly written, consistent, and persistent. Spasmodic splurges, as a rule, don't pay in any business.

One Cent a Word Each Insertion. No Advertisement Less Than 15 Cents.

ONE MAN'S ACT SAVES LIVES OF 100 PEOPLE

FAST TRAIN DITCHED BY FIENDS' ACT

Three Lives Are Lost and Scores Are Injured on the B. & O.

Spikes Pulled From Rails Cause Disaster---Motive Is Unknown.

Fireman Sets Brakes and Leaps---Day Coach Wreck Catches Fire.

New Castle, Pa., Sept. 4.—That a hundred lives were not lost instead of three in the wreck of train No. 5, known as the Royal Blue limited, on the Baltimore & Ohio, which was ditched last night near the lonely Chewton siding, eight miles east of here is due, it is known, to the bravery and quick action of Fireman Purcell, who escaped death by a leap from the engine cab as the heavy engine and two cars somersaulted over a steep embankment. Scores were injured in the smashup that occurred.

The dead:

CHARLES A. DILL, engineer, Chicago Junction, Ohio.

GEORGE WHEATCRAFT, train baggage master, Chicago Junction, Ohio.

E. P. KAVANAUGH, chief boiler inspector of the Baltimore & Ohio, Baltimore, Md.

Purcell modestly related his part today, and told how, when he felt the heavy engine lurch and leave the rails, he jumped to the right side of the cab and threw over the emergency brakes, thus saving the ditching of two Pullman sleepers attached to the flyer.

The fireman's story is borne out by the fact on the Pullman car brakes were found to be tight set and the cars immovable early today by the wrecking crews.

Engineer Was Crushed.

Purcell saved his life by jumping from the right side of the engine cab. His leap threw him from the rolling engine, while the engineer in his effort to escape death was thrown directly in the path of the lurching mass of steel and iron.

According to Supt. R. Finney it was a deliberate case of train wrecking. The rail on the right side was found to have been cut and the spikes pulled on both sides nearly the entire length of the rail. The approach rail was moved in far enough to clear the wheels.

The spikes were pulled by a bar. The bolts and nuts of the joint showed they had been removed with a wrench. One splice bar was placed between the rails to keep them from going together.

AMERICAN PLAYWRIGHT NOT EXPECTED TO LIVE

CLYDE FITCH.

Chalons Sur Marne, France, Sept. 4.—The condition of Clyde Fitch, the American playwright, who recently underwent an operation for appendicitis, was today declared by his physicians to be alarming.

Mr. Fitch was taken with an acute attack of appendicitis while traveling in a motor car from Germany. He was operated on here by Dr. Alquier.

MAY BE MAN WHO ROBBED EAGLES

Prisoner at Seattle Is Believed to Be Absconder From St. Paul.

Seattle, Wash., Sept. 4.—A man giving his name as Harry Hieland, but whom the police believe to be John F. Dietham, an alleged absconder from St. Paul, Minn., is under arrest here. Hieland answers the description sent out by the St. Paul police, who say that Dietham, who was secretary of a St. Paul lodge of Eagles, absconded with the organization's funds.

WINDOW GLASS CUTTERS ARE ORDERED ON STRIKE.

Pittsburg, Pa., Sept. 4.—A strike of window glass cutters and flatteners of the entire country has been ordered by President Spinn of the National union, effective today, unless the new scale advancing wages 20 per cent is accepted by the American Window Glass company. Six plants in different parts of the country, employing 5,000 men, will be affected by the order.

Hibbing Doctor Under Knife.

Hibbing, Minn., Sept. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Dr. Blacklock of the Rood hospital board was operated upon at the hospital for appendicitis. It was feared that the case was already too far advanced, but the patient is recovering.

SAVES BOYS FROM DEATH

Mother Makes Heroic Rescue When Royal Blue Limited Is Wrecked.

Breaks Window and Hoists Children Out of Blazing Coach.

New Castle, Pa., Sept. 4.—From the Shenango hospital comes the story of the heroic rescue of two little boys by their mother in the wreck of the Royal Blue limited this morning.

The mother, Mrs. Mary Damnice of Chicago, was seated in the passenger coach with her two little ones tucked upon a seat in front of her. As the train shot over the steep embankment the mother's first thought was for her boys.

No sooner had the heavy coach settled on its side in the gutter of the fill in than Mrs. Damnice began her battle for safety and the rescue of her sons. Breaking her way through a glass window of the blazing car, the mother first clambered out. Then, leaping from the overturned car, she hoisted the little fellows to the ground and safety.

Cut by Splintered Glass.

The cut and bruised mother, despite her injuries, carried her two boys up to the track, where she swooned. The little fellows were badly lacerated by splintered glass.

When the relief train brought physicians, the mother insisted that her boys be given first aid before she would submit to being bandaged. In a hysterical condition the woman and her boys were brought to the hospital, and when internes attempted to separate the little family the mother again fainted. All three were placed in a large ward bed.

COAST MEN AND JAPS MAKE TREATY OF PEACE.

Seattle, Wash., Sept. 4.—A treaty of peace and reciprocity entered into by the business men of Japan and those ot the Pacific coast of the United States was ratified last night at a banquet given by the associated chambers of commerce of the eight largest cities of the Pacific coast, to the representatives of the six great commercial cities of Japan.

It is agreed by the contracting parties without signing any papers that they will be friends always; that they will buy merchandise from one another; that they will make, pack and ship the goods in the manner that pleases the purchaser, conforming to the usage of his country.

All of the Japanese were present at the banquet. They had passed the day looking through Seattle factories that make goods which Japan needs but does not produce.

PEACE MADE IN ORIENT

Japan and China Have Signed Agreement on Manchuria.

Pekin's Sovereignty in Part of That Territory is Recognized.

Tokio, Sept. 4.—The foreign office announced today that the agreement between Japan and China was signed in Pekin at 4 p. m. The text of the agreement will be published in a few days.

The agreement between the two Oriental governments concerns Manchurian railway concessions and the question has been at issue since early last spring. It is generally understood that by the terms of the agreement Japan secures control of Central railway franchises in Manchuria and the right to construct others as well as the privilege of loaning China half of the required capital for the construction of the Kirin railway to the Korean border.

Japan agrees to recognize Chinese sovereignty in the Chientuao district; second, that the terminus of the Hsinmitum railroad be moved to the city of Mukden; and, third, the amount of indemnities is to be determined later.

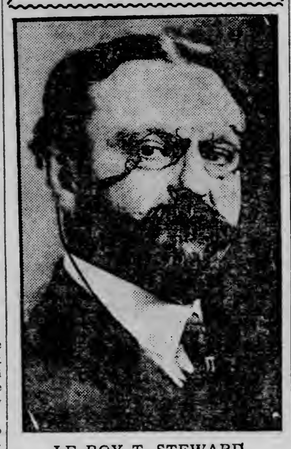

STATE ERECTS SHAFT TO INDIANS

Indiana Recognizes Officially the Pottawattomie Chief and His Tribe.

Plymouth, Ind., Sept. 4.—Today at Twin Lakes, five miles southwest of Plymouth, the Menominee monument erected by the state of Indiana to commemorate the revolt of the Pottawattomie Indians seventy-one years ago was unveiled near where stood the old Indian chapel, erected under the direction of Father Daden, the Indian's first Catholic priest. Congressman Barnhart of the Thirteenth district was the principal speaker.

This is the first monument erected in the United States, by legislative enactment. The shaft was paid for by an appropriation of the Indiana legislature and is in honor of the Pottawatomie Indians and their chief. The monument will be unveiled by Miss Julia Quakona Pokagon-Pokogan, the descendant of the once-powerful chief and friend of the white man. The ceremonies were attended by state officers and other notables.

NEW HEAD OF CHICAGO POLICE DEPARTMENT

LE ROY T. STEWARD.

Le Roy T. Steward is the new general superintendent of police in Chicago. In the public understanding he is chief of police, but, in fact, he will be business manager. Chicago abandoned the idea of having a military police or a body of old style sleuths when she picked on Chief Steward to head the department, and started the first business regime in a police force. Chief Steward is a poet, scholar, athlete, a student of system and a master of men. He does not even wear the uniform of his office, and does not believe in military rule, although a stern disciplinarian. In the last thirty years he has done nothing but handle men. His last job was superintendent of delivery in the Chicago postoffice. He was born in Dayton, Ohio.

BRYAN HAS CLOSE CALL IN MOTOR CAR

Brake Breaks While Automobile Is Going Down a Steep Hill.

Springfield, Mo., Sept. 4.—William J. Bryan narrowly escaped injury here last night, a motor car in which he was being taken to Doling park, to make an address, while going down a steep hill in the park, the car brake breaking. Just on the edge of an embankment the car was stopped by the driver.

Menominee, Mich., Sept. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—The last living Indian princess on the Keshena reservation, Katie Aakistee, daughter of the famous chief Weshena, was married in Menominee this week to Louis Cushman, another Keshena. The bridegroom is 50 and the bride one year his junior.

PRINCES JOIN IN BIG WELCOME TO DR. COOK

Frenzied Greeting Is Given American at Copenhagen.

Explorer Tells Briefly of the Perils of His Polar Trip.

Danish Official Declares There Is No Reason to Doubt Claim.

Copenhagen, Denmark, Sept. 4.—Minister Nansen talked freely with the representatives of the Associated Press regarding the authenticity of Dr. Cook's exploit. He said:

"Our two foremost Danish Arctic explorers, Amundsen and Rasmussen, know Dr. Cook personally, and they have assured us that they believe implicitly every word he says about his achievement. Their word is as good as gold with us on such questions."

Copenhagen, Sept. 4.—King Frederick received Frederick A. Cook, the American explorer, who reached Copenhagen today from Greenland, in private audience at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon. The audience lasted for half an hour. The queen and her three daughters, Princesses Ingeborg, Thrya and Dagmar, were present. Dr. Cook was presented to his majesty by Maurice F. Egan, the American minister.

Copenhagen, Sept. 4.—Dr. Frederick A. Cook, the American explorer returning to civilization from his discovery of the North Pole, came into Copenhagen harbor at 10 a. m. on the steamer Hansegede from Greenland.

Dr. Cook was standing on the bridge of the vessel, which flew the American flag at her mizzen mast.

Crown Prince Christian of Denmark; Maurice Egan, the American minister; the Danish minister of commerce, and committees representing various public bodies, boarded the Hansegede and welcomed Dr. Cook in the name of the nation and the city.

Escorted By Prince.

Dr. Cook was escorted ashore by Prince Christian.

The explorer was cheered by great crowds. An immense throng followed through the streets to the meteorological institute, where he made a brief speech. Speaking to the representative of the Associated Press, Dr. Cook said he left at the North Pole an American flag and a box containing documents, including a brief account of his trip and certain observations and data to bear out his claim.

Capt. I. Larsen of the Hansegede said he had examined Dr. Cook's records and that he believed them to be perfectly correct.

Many other scientists returning from expeditions were also on board the Hansegede. All of them expressed their firm belief in Dr. Cook, whose modest manner had won their friendship.

Can Prove Statement.

In the course of the interview with the Associated Press representative on board the Hansegede, Dr. Cook declared with great emphasis:

"I have been to the North Pole and I have brought back the most exact observations, absolutely proving my statement. I have kept a diary throughout my entire expedition, in which I recorded the most minute details."

Continuing the conversation, Dr. Cook said:

"It was not my intention at the start to proceed to the pole; I was merely on an Arctic excursion. But as I found conditions favorable, I continued on my way to the pole.

"I discovered two hitherto known islands."

"We missed the depots which previously had been established, but came accidentally upon one of Melville's depots, where we found provisions and instruments in an excellent state of preservation.

"Owing to the smallness of my expedition our requirements were not large. For the same reason we were able to proceed quickly. On some days we covered as high as twelve miles, which is an extraordinary speed.

"As I approached the pole the Eskimos with me were utterly scared at the meteorological conditions.

Last Cartridges Brought Food.

"On the return trip our provisions became entirely exhausted. No animal life was visible, and for three days we had nothing to eat. Then, in a crevice of the ice, we caught sight of several walruses. I had only a few cartridges left. I crept along the ice on my stomach, approaching the animals slowly so as not to scare them. I expended all my cartridges, and as a result secured two of the walruses. Our lives were saved.

"We then broke up our only sledge and made bows and arrows of the wood

DULUTH JOBBERS ARE BREAKING ALL RECORDS

Nearly Every Wholesale House Reports Biggest Business in History.

Practically every large jobbing house in the city of Duluth has added to its force of employes during the last month, simply because the business necessitates an increase in the facilities for handling the trade.

The Stone-Ordean-Wells company, the F. A. Patrick company and the Northern Shoe company are firms here that have added greatly to their forces during the past month. The managers of all these firms state that the business has increased wonderfully this fall, and that up to the present time their houses are ahead of the record for business achieved in 1907, the banner business year of this country.

B. P. Neff of the F. A. Patrick company stated that today the firm is ahead of the record set by the Patrick company in 1907. The reasons for the immense business of the company, Mr. Neff says, are the immense crop, the returning confidence of all classes of business men, and the fact that the people have money to purchase increased amounts of goods of every description.

In the manufacturing department of the F. A. Patrick company, the number of girls has been increased. Over fifty employes have been added to the force in this department. The firm is turning out increased quantities of manufactured goods of all description this fall.

C. R. Rust, manager of the Stone-Ordean-Wells company, made the same statement regarding the increase of the business of his firm. At the present time Mr. Rust stated that the receipts of the Stone-Ordean-Wells company would total ahead of the sales made in a corresponding period of 1907.

The company has added to its number of employes this fall, and Mr. Rust states that not only is business increasing wonderfully, but the quality of the goods demanded has increased. The people are buying better goods at the present time, according to Mr. Rust, because they have more money.

Mr. Rust estimates that all the jobbing and wholesale houses in Duluth will show an increase of 30 per cent

BALLINGER TALKS IN PARABLE FORM

Answers Questions By Saying He "Intends to Kill a Few Snakes."

Washington, Sept. 4.—"Incidentally," said Secretary Ballinger at the close of the first day after his hurried trip from the Pacific coast, "incidentally, I intend to kill some snakes."

The remark was made in response to questions relative to the Ballinger-Pinchot controversy regarding water power plants, the Cunningham-Alaskan coal entries and other conservation matters, and the illustration used by the secretary was drawn from an incident in his own life, when some twenty odd years ago as a cowboy at Medicine Lodge he found the camp infested with rattlers. He then said: "Boys, before I sleep, I propose to kill some snakes," and the fact is recorded that he did kill about a dozen of the venomous reptiles before stretching his blanket over the buffalo grass for a night's rest.

Reclamation Important.

Mr. Ballinger refused to explain the purport of his remark and declined to further discuss the matters in controversy between his department and the forestry bureau. In a formal statement he said:

"The work of reclaiming the arid and semi-arid lands, as carried on in the reclamation service, is of vast importance to the West. I have also been studying with great interest the conservation of the natural resources as far as they are affected by the interior department, and it is my purpose to extend and perfect such methods as are possible under the law through the interior department for the conservation of the resources of the public domain."

ITALIANS JOIN IN COOK'S WELCOME

Chief of Doubters in That Country Declares He is Convinced.

Rome, Sept. 4.—The entire Italian press is extending an enthusiastic welcome to Frederick A. Cook, the American explorer, who reached Copenhagen today. Even Capt. Umberto Cagni, who accompanied the duke of the Abruzzi to the Polar regions in 1900, now that fuller reports have been received of the time it took Dr. Cook to travel from the eighty-second parallel to the pole, admits that Dr. Cook is the first human being to reach the North Pole.

STEEL MAGNATE DIES OF INJURIES

William H. Singer of Pittsburg Succumbs After Week of Unconsciousness.

Watch Hill, R. I., Sept. 4.—William H. Singer, the Pittsburg steel manufacturer, who was injured in an automobile accident, Aug. 25, died today. He had been unconscious practically all the time since the accident.

Mosquito Bite Poisonous.

Grafton, N. D., Sept. 4.—Rev. W. Ingram has been suffering with blood poisoning in his left hand for the past week. He is not sure how the member became infected, but believes through a mosquito bite. The reverend gentleman has been obliged to undergo the pain incident to having the hand lanced three different times.

PEARY'S FRIENDS LEAD IN DOUBTING COOK'S STORY

John R. Bradley Says the Explorer's Effort Cost Nearly $50,000.

New York, Sept. 4.—With the arrival of Dr. Frederick A. Cook of Brooklyn at Copenhagen today, interest centered in this country as well as in Europe, on the proofs he would submit that he had discovered the North Pole. Opinion is strongly divided. His friends and supporters declare that his detractors are prejudiced, and it is a notable fact that a number of persons who have been interested in the explorations of his rival, Commander Peary, are the most persistent in doubting Dr. Cook's claims.

One of Peary's friends, who is quite prominent in polar exploration affairs and who is considered perfectly reliable, even asserts that the instruments Dr. Cook had with him were borrowed from Commander Peary for another purpose.

Skepticism Is Outweighed.

But the friends of Dr. Cook are legion, and their confidence in him, supported by his additional statements before reaching Copenhagen, that he has positive data to prove his claims, outweighs the skepticism which has appeared.

Leading scientists agree that the actual discovery of the North pole of the earth's axis is of itself scientifically unimportant, but they believe that the journey to the pole and the return has opened a vast field for further and more serious exploration and research.

Cost Nearly $50,000.

John R. Bradley, who financed Dr. Cook's expedition, has submitted vouchers and cancelled checks, which indicate that the planting of the American flag on the North pole cost nearly $50,000.

No definite arrangements have been made for the reception of Dr. Cook in America, but it is quite certain to be a notable one. Efforts are now under way to have him here in time for the Hudson-Fulton celebration.

DISCOVER SERUM TO COMBAT THE CHOLERA.

Paris, Sept. 4.—Serum and vaccine for the treatment of cholera has been discovered by the Italian doctor Salambini, working under the direction of Prof. Metchnikoff and Dr. Pierre Roux of the Pasteur institute. The serum has been tried in Russia in desperate cases and reduced the death rate, which was 50 per cent, lower than 23 per cent.

The vaccine is prepared by taking baccilli from the body of a cholera patient and making a culture thereof, which is injected subcutaneously into healthy persons. Local infection follows and the person is afterward immune from cholera. Dr. Hapkine is now studying the vaccine results in India.

WILL VETO AMENDMENT

Mayor Haven Turns Down Change in Hack and Dray Ordinance.

Maximum Fare Allowed Automobile Drivers Not Definitely Fixed.

It is understood that Mayor Haven will return to the council without his signature, the amendment to the hack and dray ordinance, passed last week, which provides that automobiles for hire shall pay an annual license fee to the city, and which also fixes the maximum fare which may be charged.

The mayor thinks the amendment is a good one, so far as the license fee goes, and also deems it advisable that a maximum fare be established, but he is said to be of the opinion that the proper maximum is not specified in the amendment in question. The automobile man is allowed to charge just double the rates obtained by the hack and cab drivers.

Figuring the rates by the hour, this is all right, but upon a mileage basis, the mayor thinks it is not right. An automobile can carry a passenger a mile in a fraction of the time it would take a hack to carry the same passenger, and the expense in the case of the auto wouldn't be enough, it is said, to warrant the double charge. Probably Mayor Haven will recommend that automobile men be allowed to charge a little more than hacks on the mileage basis, but will refuse to sign the amendment until the maximum is made lower than double the cash figure.

It is an entirely different proposition figuring by the hour, for in that length of time an auto will travel perhaps three or four times as far as a horse-drawn vehicle, and therefore the passenger is getting his money's worth. But on the mileage system, the only advantage to the passenger is a slight gain in time.

Unless passengers specify before entering the machine that they wish to hire it by the hour, the driver can get around the hourly limit by charging on a mileage basis at the end of the trip. Thus, while the new ordinance provides that no more than $3 an hour shall be charged by automobiles, the driver thereof can cover enough territory in half that time to bring his fee to $5 on a mileage basis.

This hack and dray amendment has nothing to do with the traffic ordinance, also adopted by the council last Monday, which provides a license fee for drivers of automobiles that are not for hire. This latter ordinance will also be returned to the council without the mayor's signature, on the ground that the $5 license fee for every person driving an auto is too high.

BAD FALL FROM STREET CAR

James Martinson of the West end, 25 years of age, fell while alighting from a moving street car at Sixth avenue west and Superior street, about 9:30 o'clock last night, and his head struck the pavement with such force as to render him unconscious.

The man did not regain his senses for several hours, but today he is resting easily, and attending physicians say he will be able to leave St. Luke's hospital, where he was taken immediately following the accident, in a day or two.

The skull was not fractured, and no bones were broken. The only visible injury is a small cut on the back of the head. Martinson attempted to alight from the car before it came to a stop, but stumbled and fell.

COAL TRADE IS BOOMING

Operators Are Having Difficulty in Filling Their Orders.

The Black Diamond, the official organ of the coal trade, in its issue today says:

"The coal trade as a whole is getting in that enviable position where it is not a question of orders so much as it is an available and quick supply of coal to satisfy all demands. Of course, the possible reduction of the mines could far exceed any normal consumption, but it is a serious question whether the operating companies are going to be able to obtain enough men to work the mines, and whether the railroads are going to be able to get enough cars to move the product to the market. Those two things are the uncertain factors of the future, and seem to predict favorable prices to the operators, but unfavorable conditions for the retailers and the consumers."

CANADA MAY STOP THE EXPORTING OF PULP WOOD.

Quebec, Sept. 4.—A deputation representing all of the pulp and paper manufacturers and all of the Canadian owners of rights to cut timber on crown lands in the province of Quebec have called upon Sir Lorimer Gouin, the premier, and asked the government to prohibit the export of pulpwood to the United States. The Americans having the right to cut timber on crown lands did not join. The matter is to be submitted to the cabinet and the indications are that the exportation of pulpwood will be prohibited throughout the dominion. The inevitable consequence will be a sharp advance in print paper throughout the United States.

DULUTH MAN HELD FOR MURDER

Michael Bahan is under arrest at Westfield, Mass., charged with murder. He claims to have been a resident of Duluth for three years, but the police have been unable to find anyone here who knows anything about him. He is a cigar maker by trade.

Bahan is a native of Binghampton, N. Y. He went from there to Detroit, Mich., where he lived for ten years, and then says he came to Duluth, where he worked as a cigar maker for three years. He is unmarried. The man pleaded not guilty to the charge, and will have a hearing next week.

At the time of the alleged murder the prisoner was camping with a party of cigar makers at Lake Congamond, Mass. Details of the crime are lacking.

FUR AUCTION AT THE COURTHOUSE

Steve Pierce Disposes of Skins at Public Sale.

At the courthouse this morning a sheriff's sale of fine furs was held. Steve Pierce played the role of the auctioneer and he never appeared to better advantage. His voice was all that could be desired, and his ears were sharp enough to hear every bid made under the breath, and some that were only thought.

In all there was about $4,000 worth of furs sold. They brought about $800.

All the employes at the county workshop were on hand and nearly all of them carried some furs home. Mr. Pierce could not be resisted. The little speech he made on how cold it is going to be this winter was a masterpiece.

OBITUARY

John Schurch, aged 82, a resident of Minneapolis since the early sixties, is dead. He is survived by a wife, Ellen Schurch, and a son, John F. Schurch.

Capt. Samuel C. Lemly, formerly judge advocate general of the navy, who became prominent in connection with the famous Schley court inquiry, died at St. Elizabeth's hospital in Washington Friday night.

For Disorderly Conduct.

Three men and a woman were arrested for disorderly conduct about 10 o'clock last night. They gave their names as Mary Kemplnsky, Adam Urinsky, John Matosky and Steve Gorsky. All pleaded not guilty in municipal court this morning, and their hearing was set for Sept. 7 at 2 p. m.

Mary's husband is now serving a term in the county jail. One of the three men arrested, it is claimed, raised a disturbance last night when Mary tried to eject him from her home, and the other two came to her rescue, so the story goes. The fight that followed made considerable noise, and the police came in and arrested all four.

MOTORING TO STATE FAIR

Many Duluthians Taking the Trip to the Twin Cities.

Several Parties Are Planning to Drive Both Ways.

Many Duluthians left for the state fair in their automobiles today or are planning to motor to the Twin Cities some time while the big show is open.

The weather has been pleasant lately and the roads between here and the Twin Cities are reported to be in good condition. The trip can be easily made in a day, and all of those going are planning upon an enjoyable outing.

Some are already on their way, others will leave today, some tomorrow and various parties will make the trip next week. Many of the enthusiasts will motor down and motor back. Others are shipping their cars and will ride back in them, and some plan to just reverse this plan.

John Panton and family, in their big car, left this morning for St. Paul. J. F. Dacey and party and Dr. McClaren and party will also leave today, in their cars.

D. R. McLennan and Morton Miller, with their families, will ship their cars to the Twin Cities and come back in them, although they may decide to motor both ways.

R. T. Goodell left for St. Paul yesterday in his big car, and W. D. Jones is on the way in his machine. W. W. Walker and family also left today.

William White and family expect to go in their car.

Among those who expect to start off in their machines tomorrow are W. F. King and family, F. T. Tims and family, and Elmer Whyte.

George C. Stone and family and Mrs. F. A. Patrick left in their cars today for a trip to North Dakota.

A number of other local auto owners are expecting to journey to the fair in their cars during fair week.

STANDING TIMBER BILL.

Rather Unusual Expenditure Confronts the County of Cass.

Walker, Minn., Sept. 4.—(Special to The Herald)—A bill of $684.40 for standing timber on the national forest reserve appears to be one item of expense in a small stretch of road in Commissioner Burns' district, known as the Bena and Six-Mile Lake road.

An itemized list of the timber, kind, quality and value was presented to the commissioners this week by Superintendent of Logging O'Neil of the Cass Lake timber office. Of course, the logs are there yet, not having been cut, but in case the county does go into the logging business to reimburse itself on this piece of road, it will probably go behind these figures, and at the present outlook the road stands chances of being a rather expensive one.

Other business considered by the board this week was the granting of a road petition on 138-31; the matter of $35,000 insurance on county buildings; commissioner appointed custodian of courthouse grounds, and a vote to rebond the county in the sum of $90,000.

"THE POOR FARMER."

Hermantown Gardener Received $150 for Radishes Alone.

Herman Stebner, a farmer of Hermantown, brought to the city today a radish weighing three and one-quarter pounds. This is one of the largest radishes ever raised in this section of the state, and goes to show what can be done in the line of vegetable raising there. Mr. Stebner has raised 150 bushels of radishes this year, getting $1 a bushel for them.

Wheat King Much Better.

Larimore, N. D., Sept. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Clay Larimore has returned home from Denver, Colo., where he was called recently by the serious illness of his father, N. G. Larimore. The latter became ill at Denver several weeks ago, but the doctors have now pronounced him out of danger and within ten days it is expected that he will be able to travel.

French Method of Developing the Bust

Mdme. DuBarrie Explains How the Bust May Be Developing 2 to 8 Inches in 30 Days.

"I am explaining for the first time to the ladies of America," says Madame Du Barrie, "the French method of developing the bust. It is much more effective, the results appear much more quickly, the breasts become more firm, plump and symmetrical, the method is more simple, the effects more lasting, and altogether beyond comparison with the results produced here.

"You know the French people have the development of the bust and form down to a fine point.

"By this French method, the breasts may be developed from 2 to 8 inches in thirty days. This applies to women of almost any age, from young girls to elderly matrons, whether the bust is absolutely not developed at all, or has grown weak and flabby, and hangs, no matter from what cause.

"It is beauty of form that attracts much more than the features. You will always find it so with both sexes.

"I will only be too glad to tell any woman who is interested what this simple French method is, if she will enclose a 2-cent stamp to pay for the postage. I will send an illustrated booklet in a plain sealed wrapper that will explain it all."

We suggest to our lady readers that they write to Madame Du Barrie for particulars of this remarkable French method, enclose 2 cents in stamps for the illustrated booklet and address it to Madame Du Barrie, Suite 522 Lenox building, Chicago, Ill.

REPORTS WERE EXAGGERATED

Duluth Players "Just Pushed Umpire Around a Little."

Reports of the trouble between the Duluth players and Umpire Mack were greatly exaggerated, according to the statement of Darby O'Brien, upon his return from La Crosse today.

According to the statement of O'Brien, the La Crosse players are very eager to finish in second place. He states that they tried to influence Umpire Mack and that the indicator handler was giving the Duluth players all the worst of the decisions. He says, further, that no Duluth player struck the umpire, but that he was simply pushed around a little.

The players state that they received the worst of the decisions in the La Crosse series, and that the trouble of yesterday was simply a culmination of trouble that has brewing, through the very partial decisions of Umpire Mack.

NELSON WILLING TO FIGHT OFTEN

Lightweight Champion Has No Intention of Quitting the Ring.

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 4.—"I am going to fight 'Mickey' Gannon in Philadelphia this fall. Then some time during December I will fight Leach Cross and Tommy Murphy in New York. Those will be all short bouts. Then I will fight Bert Keyes at Savannah in December. When I get through with those men I will take on Wolgast, Welsh or McFarland, whichever one is ready and can make the weight."

Such was the declaration of Battling Nelson, the lightweight champion of the world, last night. "Bat" is a "book agent" now, touring the country in the interests of his biography.

Nelson left for his home in Hogewisch, Ill. Then he will visit O-Bar, N. M., where he has a ranch of 160 acres. Then he will hit the high spots until he reaches Livermoore, Cal., where he has another ranch. The harvesting of the crops will take his attention for some time, after which he will go to Yellowstone park to rough it for a time and get in shape for his fights in the winter. He pronounces as a joke the statement that he intends to fight only once more.

Speaking of Frank Picato, who is matched to fight Phil Brock at Los Angeles, Sept. 7, Nelson says that the Italian is a very tough man to beat and Brock will have his hands full.

The famous pugilist was more willing to talk auto racing than fight, as he had just come from Erie, Pa., where he rode in two races with Barney Oldfield.

"I thought if Barney was willingg to risk his life, I could take a chance," said Bat. "I am just as tough a nut as he is and if it came to a tire coming off or something like that I was willing to take the consequences. But between you and me a mile a minute and twelve seconds is fast enough for me. I would rather fight Jeffries than tackle an auto going faster than a mile a minute."

"I am not going to think of quitting just now," he said last night. "I would be foolish to quit when I can make so much money whipping all those fellows that think they have a chance with me."

Only four men—Britt, Gans, Herrera and Hyland—have ever been able to last over twenty rounds with Nelson and he figures that he can whip Welsh, McFarland or any of the others who are camping on his trail in less time than that.

Nelson is rather of the opinion that Johnson and Jeffries will never fight. He says:

"When such a go was first proposed I did not think Jeffries meant business. Now that he has put up his forfeit I believe that Johnson will back out before he will ever meet Jeff in the ring. Jeff will whip him if they ever get together."

Golf Semi-Finals.

Manchester, Vt., Sept. 4.—The semi-final matches for the Equinox cup were begun on the Ekwanok links here today. Albert M. Reed of Albany met J. M. Williams of Dyker Meadow in the upper half. In the lower half Frederick A. Martin of Dartmouth, present Vermont state champion, was opposed by F. M. Hoyt of the Alston Golf club.

C. O. F. Activities.

Great activity is being shown in the Head of the Lakes Catholic Order of Foresters.

The state organizer, Peter Loskiel, is here, and with a special joint committee, selected from the five courts of the city, is making a thorough canvas of the Catholic population of the city. So far the efforts of the committee have been highly successful. From the manner in which the applications for membership are coming in, it looks as if there will be a class from 130 to 150 initiated into the order.

The initiation will be a very imposing affair and will be held in one of the large halls of the city.

Polo Tournament.

Dedham, Mass., Sept. 4.—Interest in the polo world was centered on Dedham today, when the annual tournament with twenty-two matches scheduled was started. Thirty-five well-known players and 125 ponies are taking part.

The Marvin J. Perry cup, which has to be won three years before becoming the permanent property of any organization, and on which Myopia and Dedham each have captured two legs, is a prize that will be hotly contested. Six teams were entered for the trophy, one from Great Neck, one from New Haven and two each from Dedham and Myopia. Other trophies to be played for are the Dedham cup, the Myopia cup, the Karlstein and Norfolk competitions.

The Tennis Tournament.

The committee in charge of the tennis tournament to be held on the courts of the boat club branch at Spirit Lake Monday asks that those who wish to enter take the 8:40 train Monday morning. Those who come later will not be admitted to the tournament.

HEARST WOULD UNITE ANTI-TAMMANY MEN.

New York, Sept. 4.—W. R. Hearst, at a meeting of the Independence Party's county committee here last night, declared that he was prepared to use all his power in an effort to defeat Tammany at the approaching municipal election. He was willing, he said for fusion with the various anti-Tammany organizations if he was certain that the organizations were loyal in general to the principles of the Independence party. Mr. Hearst made it plain that he would not himself be a candidate for office this fall.

WISCONSIN MAN READY TO REGISTER FOR LAND.

Aberdeen, S. D., Sept. 4.—Lars Rodge of Sparta, Wis., believes in the adage that the early bird gets the worm. He arrived in Aberdeen Tuesday and registered at a local hotel with the announcement that he intended staying until the registration for the Cheyenne River and Standing Rock reservation lands begin, in order to avoid the crowds that are sure to be here after the registration begins.

TAFT HEDGES ON ELECTION PLAN

Writes to Bryan That He Does Not Think It a Party Question.

Lincoln, Neb., Sept. 4.—President Taft has declined to recommend that congress pave the way for the direct election of senators by providing for a constitutional amendment. Action to that effect was urged by W. J. Bryan in a personal letter to the president, but the chief executive in reply says he does not consider it a party question. Mr. Bryan in the current issue of his Commoner made public the letters that passed between himself and the president.

Mr. Bryan, in his letter, urges the senatorial election plan, and reminds President Taft that "in your speech of acceptance you said that you were personally inclined to favor such a change in the Constitution."

"Not a Party Question."

The response of the president was:

"The White House, Washington, D. C., July 22—My Dear Sir: I have your kind letter of July 13. I am not prepared to urge as an administration matter the submission of an amendment changing the Constitution with reference to the election of United States senators by popular vote. As I said in my speech of acceptance, I hardly deem this a party question, and as there is a very wide difference of opinion in my own party in respect to it I think it ought to be presented to congress not as a party or as an administration question, but as a matter of individual opinion. With great respect, I am, very sincerely yours.

"WILLIAM H. TAFT."

Johnson Gives Bonds.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Sept. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—George W. Johnson, the Minneapolis detective, who was arrested last week for accepting a bribe from a saloon keeper for withholding evidence in pending cases in district court, and who has been in jail since his arrest unable to get bail, secured a bond this week signed by seven Coleraine business men and Rev. F. W. Hill of Coleraine. It is understood that the bond is to be only temporary and that Johnson will secure another bond which will release the present bondsmen. The amount of the bond is $1,500.

AUTO GOES OVER BANK

J. F. McCarthy's Chauffeur Has Narrow Escape at Lincoln Park.

Gasoline Catching Fire From Hot Brake Cause of Accident.

What came near being Duluth's first serious auto accident of the season took place last night in Lincoln park, when J. F. McCarthy's big red Royal Tourist car went over the bank into the creek, and was only checked from a 30-foot straight drop by a big rock in the bank. Mr. McCarthy's chauffeur was driving the car, and but for his forethought he and the passengers would have been hurled on the rocks.

According to his story, the chauffeur used his foot brake coming down the long hill from the boulevard, until it grew hot. There was a small leak in the gasoline pipe from the tank to the carburetor, and this, coming in contact with the hot brake, caught fire. This occurred some distance farther up the hill, and the chauffeur, realizing that an explosion was possible, advised the passengers to get out and walk while he drove the car the rest of the way down the hill. He extinguished the flames and started down.

Brake Heated Again.

The brake soon heated again, and noticing the flames, the driver attempted to steer the car onto the bank to stop it. The overheated brake refused to hold and the big machine went on over the bank and pitched headlong down towards the creek. There is a thirty-five foot drop at this place and the driver, seeing he could not save the car, jumped. Had he not had the prence of mind to get clear of the machine he would have been pitched headfirst onto the jagged rocks below. The car, instead of falling the entire distance, struck a projecting rock and rested there, on its nose.

C. S. Wilson's big 75-horse power Welch and D. T. Helm's 90-horse power Thomas Flyer came along, and both cars joined in an effort to extricate the big car from the hole. They moved the car about three feet, when the hind wheels swung clear of the ground and left the car stranded on the running gear. Not even the combined 165-horse power of the big cars could move it.

It is thought that the big machine will have to be jacked up on to the roadway again. Owing to the peculiar position of the car it has been impossible to determine how much it was damaged.

CLOTHES LINE THIEVES.

West End Housewives on Lookout for Wash Day Robbers.

Clothes line thieves are broad in the West end again, and the careful housewives are becoming extremely careful to get their clothes dried out before darkness comes on to make the work of the pilferers easy. Mrs. Farr, who lives over R. R. Forward's undertaking rooms on West Superior street had a narrow escape from losing all of the clothing which she had hung out to dry. She left it out during the evening and when she went to get the clothes yesterday morning, they were all gone. A hurried search of the neighborhood revealed the garments concealed nearby, as though the thief had been surprised and forced to conceal his plunder. The police were notified, but have not located the thieves.

Hotels Crowded.

The rush of the fall wheat traffic has resulted in a big increase in the number of railroad men who make their homes in the West end hotels while at this end of the run. All of the hotels are crowded and men are being turned away every night. The Northern Pacific has made enormous additions to its force of brakemen and switchmen for the rush season, and the result is very evident in the West end. The Northern Pacific yards are busy places these days.

West End Churches.

At the Central Baptist church Twentieth avenue west and First street, Rev. J. W. Loughridge will preach at 10:30 on the subject "Among the Stuff," and at 8 p. m. on "Faith's Comparison of Values." B. Y. P. U. at 7. Sunday school at 12 and Junior union at 3 o'clock.

At the Swedish M. E. church, Rev. Ed Stromberg will preach at both services at 11 a. m. and 8 p. m. Sunday school will meet at 9:45.

At the Grace M. E. church, Rev. J. A. Roberts of the Garfield avenue mission will take the place of Rev. M. O. Stockland for both services. Morning service will be at 10:30; evening service, 7:30; Sunday school at noon.

West End Shortrails.

Alfred Bema, who has been spending a short vacation at Lake Nebagamon, returned home today.

W. A. Anderson of Park avenue left today for Two Harbors, where he will be employed.

Among the West end people who will visit the state fair this week are Henry Anderson of 2113 West First street; Mr. and Mrs. Albert Broman, and Miss Lottie Swanstrom of 2523 West Third street.

Mrs. P. Liden left this morning for an outing at Lake Nebagamon.

Dr. A. Osterberg is visiting his old home at Cokato, Minn.

Miss Felice Brindos of 1917 West Superior street left today for Detroit, Mich., where she will visit friends.

Rev. and Mrs. H. K. Madsen returned yesterday from an outing at Isle Royale. They have as their guest Rev. J. O. Hall of Madison, Wis.

Mr. and Mrs. John Simon are visiting Mrs. Simon's parents in St. Paul this week.

Mrs. Anderson and Miss Bergeson of Chicago, who have been the guests of their sister, Mrs. Charles Olson, will leave tomorrow for their home.

Slipping off a coal wagon onto the pavement, Carl Lindstrom of 1918 West Third street broke his arm just above the wrist Thursday afternoon.

Rev. Stromberg of the Swedish M. E. church went to Fond du Lac to preach last evening.

Rev. Arthur Bowman of the Ravenswood Mission church of Chicago is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Mauritz Bowman of West Fourth street.

Miss Pauline Grandstand, formerly an Indian missionary, is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Alfred Engstrom of 407 North Twenty-seventh avenue west.

Mrs. John Heberlee of Hibbing is visiting her brothers, Fred Lewis and Mark Lewis in the West end.

Four new members were enrolled at the meeting of the Swedish Sick Benefit society at Sloan's hall last evening. Routine business was transacted.

Rev. Swaney Nelson will leave Monday for the general conference of the Swedish Baptist churches of America, which is to be held in Manistee, Mich., next week. Mr. Nelson s the official delegate from the West end church.

The theme of the lecture in Columbia hall, Twentieth avenue west and Superior street tomorrow evening will be "The Nature of Man and the Nature of God: Eternal Life and the Immortality of Man." This lecture will be in the Swedish language and admission is free.

Miss Esther Johnson entertained last evening in honor of her sister, Miss Anna Johnson of St. Paul, who will leave shortly for her home. Games and music made up the evening's entertainment. Refreshments were served?

PUT 40 PER CENT TARIFF ON IMPORTED AEROPLANES

Washington, Sept. 4.—That the Payne tariff law will subject aeroplanes imported into this country to a duty of 40 per cent ad valorem is indicated by a reply sent by the customs division of the treasury department to an inquiry from Ernest Laru Jones, of New York, editor of an aeronautical publication. There is no specific provision in the tariff law for the assessment of a duty on flying machines, but the customs officials, assuming that the motor is the most valuable part of an aeroplane, express the belief that the basket clause of the metal schedule will govern the duty to be levied upon aeroplanes.

Under the new tariff law the customs officials believe that they will be enabled to permit the entry free of duty of foreign flying machines brought to this country for exhibition purposes and to participate in contests. A bond, however, will have to be given by the importer as guarantee that the duty will be paid if the aeroplane remains in the United States.

REPORT OF GRAND JURY

Committee Which Inspected County Institutions Praise Their Management.

They Also Make Important Suggestions to Prevent Crime.

In its final report to the court yesterday afternoon, the September grand jury recommended that the method of granting liquor licenses be changed; that greater efforts be made to prevent the carrying of concealed weapons by foreigners; that more attention be given to blind pigs and more care be taken to bring the offenders to justice; that an addition be built on the county jail, or that the matter of a new jail to be located nearer the new courthouse be taken up; and that a certain breed of cattle and hogs be raised at the county farm.

The report is a lengthy one and deals with almost every phase of county work. It drew attention to the fact that most all the crimes committed in St. Louis county were the direct result of the over-indulgence in liquor. The jurors recommended that only American citizens who are able to read and write the English language be granted liquor licenses. The carrying of concealed weapons, especially by foreigners, is thought to be a nuisance that cannot be tolerated longer. The jury asks that these matters be given greater attention.

"Blind-pigging" is also given consideration in the report. The officials are asked to double their efforts to suppress it.

A committee was sent to visit the new courthouse, the county jail and the county poor farm. In each instance the committee reported favorably.

The committee that visited the jail reported that while everything was in first class shape, the jail is growing too small to accomodate the prisoners. The members ask that the matter of a new jail be taken up or that an addition to the present structure be erected.

The committee that visited the poor farm suggested that more real farming be done at that place, and that a standard breed of cattle and hogs be raised.

The grand jury began its work Wednesday morning. John H. Crowley was foreman. The other members were:

Allen D. Goodman, Edward D. Baker, H. W. Nichols, William G. Johnson, Henry B. Hovland, A. W. Frick, James L. Cromwell, George H. Clapp, Jool, Charles Baxter, J. W. Fee, Alexander McDougall, John Coventry, William P. Lardner, Edward H. Pugh, Melville A. Dunning, Duluth; A. L. Bergero, Chisholm; Frank S. Dane, Biwabik; Frank Ansley, Hibbing; William D. Ellsworth, Eveleth; D. E. Cuppernull, Virginia; William Schurran, Hermantown.

WINTER SISTERS ARE SENTENCED

Shop-Lifters Go to Jail and to the Reform School.

Agnes Marie Winter, Lillian Winter and Mrs. Lena Smith, the three Superior girls, sisters, who were arrested earlier in the week charged with shoplifting in the store of Kris & Pass, 32 East Superior street, were taken before Judge Ensign in district court yesterday afternoon.

Agnes, 18 years old, was fined $50, with an alternative of thirty-five days in the county jail. Lillian, 16 years old, was given an indeterminate sentence in the reformatory at Red Wing. Mrs. Smith was the only one of the three who pleaded not guilty.

The judge allowed her to go upon her own recognizance, but told her to appear before him Oct. 6. The woman said she had been married two years and that she never before had been accused of such a crime. She was accompanied by her husband, mother and her 8-month-old child.

BOY OF FOURTEEN INVITES ROOSEVELT TO JOIN A BIG ELEPHANT HUNT

Berlin, Sept. 4.—Lidj Jeassu, the crown prince of Abyssinia, has invited Theodore Roosevelt to a great elephant hunt, promising to beat up a white elephant to kill and otherwise arrange a splendid sporting program.

This news has been brought into Berlin by Adolf Mayer, a kinsman of King Menelik of Abyssinia, who has arrived here with a commission from the Abyssinian government to purchase supplies.

King Menelik sent an invitation to Mr. Roosevelt at Washington to be his guest, but Mr. Roosevelt declined, explaining that as he had refused the invitations of several European sovereigns he could not make an exception of King Menelik, however much he might desire to do so. It was then arranged that the crown prince should invite Mr. Roosevelt unofficially. Before Mayer left Abyssinia, a mission had been sent to hand this invitation to Mr. Roosevelt wherever it could find him, and King Menelik was hopeful that the former president of the United States would accept the invitation in its present form.

Prince Is Mere Boy.

When it was suggested that the crown prince of Abyssinia was only 14 years old Mr. Mayer replied that Abyssinians develop young. He declared that the prince was an expert and adventurous huntsman, that he spoke English, French and German and that he was quite capable personally of showing Mr. Roosevelt fine hunting.

"Many stories have reached the court of King Menelik," Mr. Mayer said, in conclusion "of Mr. Roosevelt's prowess as a horseman, a hunter, a soldier and an administrator. The king is most keen to greet him and would probably go to the borders of the country with a great following to receive Mr. Roosevelt."

Mr. Mayer is the son of a German engineer, who married a sister of King Menelik.

BUSINESS IS BIGGER AND FAILURES ARE FEWER

New York, Sept. 4.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade today says:

Expansion in volume of business and concentration in business disasters characterized the month of August, usually one of the most inactive of the year, and this marks the situation on the eve of the fall season.

Reports for the current week confirm reports for the whole of the past month. Heavy buying, both for immediate and for 1910 consumption, continues in the iron and steel trade. The bigger cost of materials is one of the features of the situation which work for conservatism, but as the revival of activity has taken place in spite of other adverse conditions, it ignores this development. Advices from the leading cities continue to speak of business improvement, and in some cases the August trade was in excess of all former records for the month.

Hesitation in cotton and yarns was noted in the primary markets and difficulty is still experienced in securing prices for manufactured products commensurate with the increased cost of raw material. Higher wages are being sought in New England mills, and there has been a temporary curtailment of productions in consequence of annual repairs. Southern yarn mills are curtailnig until yarn prices become more profitable. Wholesale dry goods houses have had a very substantial volume of business of late. Silk mills making skein dyed goods still need business in volume, but piece dyed mills have good orders ahead. Woolen and worsted mills show little change from the recently noted imported conditions. Retailers are still preparing conservatively, but steadily, and mills are accumulating goods. Extraordinary public sales of broadcloths was very successful.

Former dullness noted in the footwear market continues unabated, buyers holding off. Salesmen are starting on the road again. Shoe shipments from Boston show a slight gain over a wek ago. New England factories are fairly busy, though some have completed the fall run. Tanners are operating in the Chicago packer hide market for current wants and some good sized sales were made. Prices have advanced on most descriptions. Country hides remain quiet, but some light cows have been worked off at ¼ @ ½c below the prices asked by dealers for best offerings. The leather market continues in a waiting position.

Smallpox in Calumet High.

Calumet, Mich., Sept. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—A case of smallpox was discovered in the Calumet high school Tuesday, one of the students being affected with the disease. His home has been quarantined and every precaution taken to prevent the disease spreading.

WHY DULUTH SPECIALISTS CURE WHEN OTHERS FAIL!

The Specialists of the Progressive Medical Association of Duluth regard their patients in a different way than most so-called specialists do. They feel that it is their duty to CURE every man who comes to them for relief. They have devoted their whole lives to the study of the diseases of men and therefore they are thoroughly competent to cure. They have in their offices at No. 1 West Superior street, all the latest scientific apparatus for the treatment of the diseases peculiar to men, and are thus able to give treatments which most other doctors cannot offer. Many thousands of dollars have been invested in the purchase of these instruments, but the Duluth Specialists set out to CURE their patients and they know that they cannot hope to do this without the proper appliances. The Duluth Specialists give their patients instructions and advice when they have cured them, which, if properly followed, will enable them to STAY CURED. They do not partially cure a man in order to have him come back; they entirely eradicate the disease from his system and then tell him how to avoid a recurrence of it. One quickly and entirely cured patient is worth a dozen "Come-backs," as a testimonial and advertisement. The Specialists of the Progressive Medical Association know that it pays to do good work, and they do good work therefore. At least one personal examination is desirable, but if you cannot possibly spare the time to come in and see the Specialists, write for a symptom blank, fill it out and return; your case will be handled confidentially by mail. Remember! The Specialists issue a LEGAL GUARANTEE TO CURE. You take no risk of paying your money for a partial cure; you will be ABSOLUTELY CURED.

1910--HUDSON--1910

ON ITS WAY HERE NOW!

Equipped with the slowest speed motor to develop the 24-horsepower, according to A. L. A. M. rating, of any car at its price in America today.

The longest wheel base. 100 inches for 1910. Selective gear transmission with the largest bearings and strongest gears, which gives this car distinctive features from a mechanical point of view.

With Bosch-Magneto, Prest-O-Lite gas tank, gas lamps, oil lamps, finest quality top, complete with side curtains, etc., including two seats on the back, making this car a desirable high powered four-passenger car for $1,050.

As stated above, the car is on its way by boat from Detroit and expect it will be here by Wednesday at the latest.

We have over two hundred inquiries for this car and expect that before the first of the year our entire allotment will be placed for spring delivery.

We will be pleased to give you a demonstration with this wonderful car upon its arrival. We invite you all to come in and inspect the mechanical features which are so far in advance of anything on the American market today.

CHALMERS "30" 1910.

Equal in power, considering weight, to any of the 60-horsepower cars in Duluth. A model of perfection. Graceful lines and thorough details of design and construction. The car we have on hand is our demonstrator, and we can assure you that it has been kept busy since its arrival here Saturday.

The wonderful performance of this Chalmers 30 has been instrumental in placing with us several orders for spring delivery. It will not be a question of how many cars we can sell, but rather how many cars we can get for our delivery.

OUR THOMAS FLYER DEMONSTRATOR.

Six-cylinder, 40-horsepower, which made, in an actual test on a 3 per cent grade, 64 miles an hour with six passengers while Mr. E. J. Filiatrault was at the factory, four weeks ago, will more than convince the skeptics that this car will be the peer of its class for 1910 in our city.

We have taken two orders for Model K, 70-horsepower 1910 Thomas Flyer for spring delivery, one of these cars to be equipped with a full touring body as also Limousine body for winter use, and we expect from the inquiries coming in, to take several more orders for these high grade cars.

MARKET OPEN TO EVERYONE

Many Outside Farmers Misunderstood Rules Governing the Institution.

Range Farmers Will Send in Their Produce Next Week.

The municipal public market at the Armory, probably will have a larger display of garden truck next week than at any time during the present season. A delegation of range farmers called upon the board of public works this morning to find whether the market was only for truck gardeners who reside in the city limits, or if people from other parts of the county could also exhibit their produce there.

Members of the delegation were informed that there was nothing to prevent men from outside the city offering their goods for sale at the Armory. It appears that heretofore many farmers have been laboring under the impression that if their homes were not inside the city limits, they would be denied the privileges of the Armory during market season. This impression is entirely wrong. Any of the St. Louis county farmers who have goods to sell will be welcomed.

Duluth is interested in the development of the entire county, and figures that everything helping the farmer will also reflect direct benefit upon the city, no matter in what part of the county said farmer may live. There is room for more tillers of the soil at the public market, for the demand for the home-grown vegetables is very heavy, and exceeds the supply. The patronage would be even larger if it became known that exhibits were more numerous. Many housewives do not visit the place at all because they are afraid all the desirable garden truck will be gone before they arrive there. With the assurance of a greater supply, the number of patrons would increase.

The market will be open Wednesdays and Saturdays for four or five weeks more. Every day so far the farmers on hand have sold all their produce exhibited during the morning, and generally it is gone before 10 o'clock. After that they take orders for future delivery.

A Sprained Ankle.

As usually treated a sprained ankle will disable the injured person for a month or more, but by applying Chamberlain's Liniment and observing the directions with each bottle faithfully, a cure may, in most cases, be effected in less than one week's time. This liniment is a most remarkable preparation; try it for a sprain or a bruise, or when laid up with chronic or muscular rheumatism, and you are certain to be delighted with the prompt relief which it affords. For sale by all druggists.

LEANS TO PAGANISM

Father Louis Lambert Deplores Spread of President Eliot's Religion.

Noted Catholic Editor and Author Visiting Bishop McGolrick.

Father Louis A. Lambert, author and editor, at the present time editor of the Freeman's Journal, and well known throughout the religious world for his views on religious subjects, is visiting Bishop McGolrick.

Father Lambert has many interesting views on the religious questions of the day. He is not in sympathy with the new religion, as explained by Ex-President Eliot of Harvard university. Father Lambert believes that the movement inaugurated by Mr. Eliot is a drift toward paganism, and away from the old Christian ideals, and that it is dangerous in the extreme.

According to the belief of Father Lambert, the religion as explained by Mr. Eliot, is a more popular form of religion, and one that will attract the masses. Father Lambert points out that Mr. Eliot has stated many things the new religion will not do, but has failed to state very many things the new religion will do.

"Such a move is a drifting away from the old established ideals of religion," said Father Lambert. "Just at the present time the new religion, as explained by Mr. Eliot is attracting a great deal of attention throughout the religious world. The religious as well as the secular press has given a good deal of attention to the so-called new religion.

"I am of the opinion that it is a move toward paganism, and as such is dangerous. It is supposed to be a more popular form of religion, but in drifting away from the old Christian form of worship, a very dangerous step may be taken."

Another question that Father Lambert says is one of the greatest importance, and one that deserves the most careful consideration, is the question of women's suffrage.

Father Lambert's idea is that the family is the unit of the national life. It has been such, he says, in the old ideas of the village and the state, and why should it not be so in the idea of the nation. If that is so, then Father Lambert asks why need the women vote. He points out that in the idea of the family being the unit, the man is representing the family in voting, and that in this vote each member of the family should be represented.

Father Lambert suggests that the present form of voting might be benefited by some change, as there are many men who are not qualified to vote. He points out that when a man is so depraved that his vote is purchased for a drink of whisky, he should not be allowed the privilege.

Father Lambert and Archbishop Ireland of St. Paul both served in the Civil war as chaplains. As far as Father Lambert knows, the archbishop and himself are the only two surviving Catholic chaplains. Father Lambert served with the Eighteenth Illinois volunteers and was in the battle of Shiloh, as was Archbishop Ireland.

Tomorrow Father Lambert will officiate at the cathedral. He is here simply on a vacation.

Beware of Imitations.

Cheap Substitutes and "Just As Good As."

Unscrupulous dealers, mindful only of profit and caring nothing for the health of their patrons, are offering for sale low-grade, impure whiskey, which they tell you is as "good as Duffy's."

It is a cheap concoction and fraud, intended to deceive the people. Of course, when a remedy has been before the public so long, has been prescribed and used by the best doctors and in all the prominent hospitals, and has carried the blessing of health into so many thousands of homes as Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey has, imitation are bound to arise. But they can imitate the bottle and label only—no one can imitate the contents.

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey is an absolutely pure distillation of malted grain; great care being used to have every kernel thoroughly malted, thus producing a liquid food, requiring no digestion, in the form of a medicinal whiskey, which is one of the most effetcive tonic stimulants and invigorators known to science; its palatability and freedom from injurious substances render it so that it can be retained by the most sensitive stomach.

BEWARE OF FRAUDS!

Any firm that will sell imitation or substitution goods will sell impure goods. The firm that is dishonest in one thing would not hesitate to be dishonest in another. Whenever you see imitation and substitution goods offered for sale by a firm, beware of anything and everything put up by that firm. You endanger your own life and the lives of your family and friends by dealing with them.

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey

is sold in sealed bottles only—never in bulk. A fac-simile of the genuine bottle is printed here so that you may easily recognize it. It is our own patented bottle—round, amber colored and with the name "Duffy Malt Whiskey Company" blown in the glass. The trade-mark—the Old Chemist's Head—is on the label, and over the cork there is an engraved paper seal. Be certain this seal is not broken.

It is the only whiskey recognized by doctors everywhere as a family medicine. All druggists, grocers, dealers, or direct, $1 a bottle.

HIGH SCHOOL ALUMNI MEET

Graduates of Central School Reorganize and Elect Officers.

At a meeting of graduates of the Duluth Central high school held last evening in the auditorium of the high school building, the old alumni association of the school was reorganized and officers of the new association elected.

Charles McLennan was elected president of the association; Miss Ethel Forsyth, vice president; Miss Ethel McNevin, secretary, and Don Stalker, treasurer.

Edward Furni was chairman of the meeting last evening and George Buck, the new principal of the high school, addressed the meeting. Mr. Buck stated that there should ever be a close and cordial feeling between the alumni and the students of the school.

Annual dues of $1 will be assessed against each of the members of the association. It is planned to hold the annual meeting of the association the first Friday in the year. Plans for the year will be made at the annual meeting of the association.

ROCHESTER BY ONLY 12 VOTES

New York City Finally Lands Letter Carriers' National Meet.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 4.—After most of yesterday afternoon and part of the evening had been spent in balloting and counting votes, it was announced that the next convention of the national Letter Carriers' association will be held in Rochester, N. Y., in 1911. There were five cities after the convention and Rochester won out by twelve votes over Dayton, Ohio, its nearest competitor.

It was decided to submit the proposed plan for a sanitarium to referendum to be decided by July 1, 1910.

The convention unanimously passed resolutions favoring the establishment of a parcels post and postal saving banks.

Postmasters Can Get Off.

Washington, Sept. 4.—To enable postmasters of the third and fourth classes to attend the convention of the National League of Postmasters of the United States to be held at Syracuse, N. FAMILY QUARREL OVER SMALL WILL Claiming that his mother, Mrs. Phoebe Commo, was feeble-minded and was influenced unduly by his sister, Rachel Thibideau, Louis Commo of this city is contesting the will made by his mother just before she died, some months ago, leaving to Rachel Thibideau all her property.

The property consists mostly of personal belongings, and is estimated as being worth in the neighborhood of $450.

Mrs. Commo was 78 years old at the time of her death, and lived at 703 Garfield avenue. There are two other daughters and three sons. Only the one daughter was mentioned in the will.

Louis Commo, in his petition to the probate court, says that his mother was in poor health generally at the time of her death, and that she was not physically or mentally able to execute a will.

He says that his sister misrepresented things and made herself the sole heir by fraudulent means. Commo also says that the will was made out in the English language, and that his mother was unable to speak or understand the language. The family is of French descent.

The case will come up before Judge J. B. Middlecoff of the probate court Monday.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound, or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

A COLD DAY COMING.

The recent drop in temperature with frost in the low places reminds us that the end of summer is nigh at hand. Is it not well to remember also that another cold day is confronting us—the winter of old age. No longer have we the vigorous strength of manhood, nor the fat salary that went with it. Small incomes and long cold winters do not go well together. A grape fruit grove on the Isle of Pines not only gives us a fine income but an ideal place of residence. UNIONISTS ALL READY

Plans for Observance of Labor Day in Duluth Completed.

Organized labor, together with all the rest of the city is in readiness for the annual celebration of Labor day, which is Monday.

Most business places will be closed and the day will be given over to the exercises of the trades unionists, which comprise an elaborate parade in the morning, athletic sports and speeches in the afternoon and dances in the evening.

The city and county offices and the banks will be closed all day and holiday hours will be observed at the postoffice. No sessions are to be held on the floors of the board of trade or the stock exchanges, and all the leading retail and wholesale establishments have arranged to give their employes a complete holiday. In those offices where an entire holiday is not to be given, the employes will enjoy half a day off.

The joint committee of the different labor organizations having the arrangements for the celebration in hand, held its final meeting last evening, when the details were attended to.

The parade will form on First street and is scheduled to start through the principal streets of the city at 9 a. m. It is expected that practically all the trades unionists in the city will be in line.

In addition to the program arranged by the Labor day committee, holiday crowds will be offered amusements at different places in the city. The theaters will give special holiday matinees and there will be of course, the regular evening performances.

CORNER STONE TO BE LAID

The corner stone of the new St. James' Orphanage and Industrial school will be laid Sunday afternoon at 3:30.

The new school is being erected on ground recently purchased by the society and located beyond the end of the Woodland car line.

The ceremonies will consist of several hymns, the laying of the corner stone and several short talks.

The committee in charge of the arrangements announces that there will be a ten-minute street car service to the end of the line, beginning at 2 p. m. The ceremonies will be over by 5 p. m.

MELVILLE SAYS COOK NEVER DID

New York, Sept. 4.—Ralph L. Shainwald, formerly treasurer of the Arctic Club of America, cabled to the club from Copenhagen today declaring that the North Pole had been reached without doubt. Mr. Shainwald went from Paris to Copenhagen to represent the Arctic club in welcoming Dr. Frederick A. Cook. The message from Mr. Shainwald follows:

"Cooks sends greetings to Arctic Club of America. Pole has been reached without doubt. Wonderful demonstration here.

"SHAINWALD."

The Arctic club also received a message from Rear Admiral George W. Melville today reading as follows:

"Do not give credence to report that Cook has discovered pole.

WILL SECURE GYMNASIUM

West Duluth Athletes May Be Organized Under One Management.

Irving Tigers Hold First Football Practice of the Season.

With the baseball season drawing to a strenuous close, and the football season making a vigorous beginning, athletics in West Duluth are booming.

The employes of the Union Match company are planning to form an athletic association this winter which promises to eclipse anything of the kind which has been organized in West Duluth up to this time. The idea is to secure a gymnasium, back hockey and basketball teams, and get the athletic interests of West Duluth organized under one management. The match company baseball team has made a conspicuous success except for the fact that its business management has been a little weak, and the association plans to remedy this. If the association can come out ahead on the winter sport program it intends to devote the surplus to financing a winning ball team next year.

The match company team has arranged a series of three games with the Bingham Hardware company team of Superior, the first of which will be played tomorrow afternoon at Billings park, Superior. The last two games will be played off as a double-header on the Fifty-second avenue grounds at some date to be arranged later. Talbot will pitch the first of the series and the last. Hackett will pitch the first game of the double-header and Uhlan will act as backstop for the whole series.

The Homestakers will play the Portlands tomorrow for the junior championship of the city on the Fifty-second avenue grounds. The Homestakers have won every one of twenty-four games, and the Portlands have played twenty-one games without defeat, so the contest tomorrow should be a battle royal. Delborn and Hayden will be the Homestake battery.

A number of West Duluth young men are going to Ashland tomorrow with the Kelly Hardware team to play the Ashland City team there. Those who go from West Duluth are J. Graham, Ernie Larson, Frank Sears, Tony Nelson, Bert Talbot and Clarence McLellan.

The Irving Tigers held their first football practice last night on the Fifty-second avenue grounds, with Reginald Graham of the University of Pennsylvania acting as coach. A good squad was out. The team lined up last night as follows: Winton, center; Boulevard and Poissant, guards; McLeod and Olson, tackles; Fieldman and Drake, ends; Murnian, quarter; Abrahamson and Ryan, halves; Ross, fullback.

LINEN FROM FLAX FIBER

Factory Will Be Started at Old West Duluth Brass Works.

New Machinery May Revolutionize Linen Industry of World.

That they have invented a machine that will revolutionize the linen industry of the world, is the claim made by E. H. Smith, local manager of the American Linseed company, and R. H. Adams, New York manager of the same company. These men, with others connected with the company, are organizing a concern for the manufacture of linen, and they say their factory will be the first to manufacture linen from flax grown in the Northwest. All the other linen mills import their working material. It is also claimed that the new system will greatly reduce the cost of linen.

The new machine is designed to separate the flax fiber from the wood, work that is done by hand in Europe, requiring a month or more time. The machines which are to start operations in the factory which it is proposed to start in Duluth, in the old brass works building at West Duluth, will do this work in ten hours, it is claimed. It is expected the factory will be in operation on a small scale. The services of Jonas Brolan, a chemist, have been secured, and he has invented a process for chemically bleaching the flax fiber. Mr. Smith says 500,000 tons of flax straw will be purchased by the new company this season.

Mr. Smith says he believes Duluth will become a linen manufacturing center. He says there is enough flax grown in the three states of Minnesota, North and South Dakota to supply the whole country with the finest of linen cloth. The expense of manufacture, under the old system, is so great, it is declared, as to be almost prohibitive, and 75 per cent of the linen cloth sold in this country is adulterated with cotton, but with the introduction of proper machinery for its manufacture, it is claimed the cost will be so reduced as to make the mixture of cotton unnecessary. The fiber used in the other American linen mills is imported.

BIG CARS IN A FEW DAYS

Grand Avenue Bridges Being Repaired to Carry Double Truck Cars.

Twenty-First Avenue Line Not Likely to Be Built.

The insecure condition of the bridge at Forty-ninth avenue west on Grand avenue will not delay the placing of big cars on the West Third street line seriously, if at all, according to the present outlook. Manager Warren of the street car company stated this morning that the company had planned to put the big cars on at once and would do so as soon the the bridges passed the inspection of their engineers.

The bridge at Twenty-sixth avenue west is already in the process of repair, and it is understood that the board of public works plans to take the old timbers from the Twenty-sixth avenue structure and use them in temporarily supporting the bridge at Forty-ninth avenue. The board does not wish to make permanent repairs there, as the ravine at that point will be filled in next year when Grand avenue is paved and graded, and it would be a waste of good material to put new timber in at that point. It is certain, however, that the board will provide a safe support for the big cars as soon as the company is ready to put them on the line, even if new timbers have to be installed, and taken out for use elsewhere when the fill is made.

It will be a week or two yet before the tracks on West Third street are ready to receive the big cars, and it is expected that all the bridges will be in good repair by that time.

Mr. Warren stated this morning that nothing would be done this year in regard to the improvements which have been causing so much discussion in the West end. He does not believe that the Twenty-first avenue cutoff will be established, and stated that, while the company was considering a single track up Twenty-fifth avenue west to enable it to get cars onto Third street more conveniently than at present, nothing would be done on that this year either. The company has spent about all that it can afford, in the repair of the West Third street and other lines, this season.

UNABLE TO LEARN ROAD'S PLANS

Commercial Club Postpones Action on Canadian Northern Matter.

The West Duluth Commercial Club's open mass meeting did not accomplish much last evening in the way of deciding what was to be done about the Canadian Northern proposition. The club does not feel that it knows enough about the proposition to pass on it as yet. The general feeling as expressed last night, was that if the road was to establish a roundhouse and machine shops in West Duluth it would be a good thing to encourage it, even though it did run a line through the Fifth and sixth divisions, West Duluth's most thickly settled residence district. Otherwise, the club decided, it was not worth while. It was agreed that the ore docks would help if they were established, however. The Canadian Northern holds blocks of water rights in the neighborhood of Forty-first avenue west, and also near the famous city dock at the foot of Raleigh street.

The committee which was appointed to look after the interests of West Duluth in the matter, reported that it had been unable to get into communication with any one who had any authority to outline the plans of the railroad. There was no one in Duluth, they stated, who had any authorized connection with the road, though a number of real estate men were interesting themselves in the right of way matter. The committee is composed of Emil J. Zauft, L. A. Barnes, H. H. Phelps, David Sang, and P. H. Martin.

CHURCH NOT YET COMPLETED

No Services Will Be Held at West Duluth Baptist Structure.

Because the new West Duluth Baptist church is not quite completed and ready for inspection, Rev. Arthur J. Hoag, the pastor, has decided to call off the regular services for tomorrow and the church will be closed all day. There will be no church or Sunday school services of any kind.

The interior of the church is about completed with the exception of placing a little wainscoting and setting up the pews. This work is in progress today, but will not be completed by tonight. The pastor and many of the members of the congregation have been working on the interior during the week and Mr. Hoag decided that a vacation was about due for all hands.

The new church will be opened next Sunday and the pastor will deliver his first sermon in the new auditorium at that time.

The Sunday school of the church gave a hayrack ride last evening, going from the church to the office of the old Spirit Lake steel plant, and holding a corn roast there. The two big hayracks were crowded and fully seventy-five persons were in attendance.

TO STATE FAIR.

West Duluth Will Be Well Represented in Twin Cities.

A large number of West Duluth people are planning to attend the state fair this week. Mr. and Mrs. Walter Evered, Mr. Evered's mother, Mrs. Anna Evered, his sister, Miss Iva Evered, and daughter, Helen, will leave tomorrow morning in Mr. Evered's Studebaker car for the Twin Cities and the fair. Others who will go by auto are: Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Hoard and Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Nygren.

Those who will go by rail include: Guy Nettleton, Laurence Gilley, Mr. and Mrs. Emil Zauft, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Ramstead, Ike Deatheridge and Charles Kelley.

CHANGE POLICY.

Fairmont Alumni Will Be in Charge of Younger Members.

At a meeting of the Fairmont Alumni executive committee this week it was decided to make a radical change in the policy of that organization. Hereafter there will be but one meeting a year, open to all members, instead of four meetings as formerly. The other three meetings will be open to and conducted by the younger members of the association, namely the last three graduating classes. A vigorous agitation for a new school building to replace the old frame structure now in use, is one of the plans of the association.

Tearing Down Depot.

Work was commenced this morning tearing down the old incline railroad depot on Central avenue. It is expected that the railroad will be running again by the latter part of this month, though the new depot at Grand avenue will not be completed by that time. The tracks will be moved about fifteen feet westward to avoid the creek and swamp land which proved disastrous during the last rain.

West Duluth Churches.

Frank Downing, assistant secretary of the Duluth Y. M. C. A., will conduct service in the Westminster Presbyterian church Sunday morning at 10:30. Rev. J. G. Leitch, who is on his way home from Scotland this week, is expected to fill the pulpit regularly thereafter.

• • •

At the Asbury M. E. church, Rev. Thomas Grice, the pastor, will preach both morning and evening. In the morning at 10:30 the annual Labor day sermon will be delivered, the subject being "The Opportunities of Christianity in the Social Situation." Ray Abbot will sing Saure's "Prie Jesu." In the evening at 8 o'clock, Mr. Grice's subject will be "The Greatest Thing in the Bible." Sunday school will meet at 11:45.

• • •

Services at the Merritt Memorial M. E. church, Forty-sixth avenue west and Halifax street will be as follows: 10:00 a. m., Sunday school; 11:00 a. m., preaching by the pastor, Rev. E. F. Stidd, subject: "Jesus, the World's Light." 12 noon class meeting; 7 p. m., Epworth League, leader, P. Merritt; 8 p. m., preaching by the pastor on "The Practical Christian at Home." At the morning service, Miss Corps, "The Singing Deaconess" will be present and sing.

• • •

At St. Stephen's Evangelical Lutheran church, corner of Sixty-seventh avenue west and Raleigh street, there will be services Sunday morning at 10:15 conducted in the German language by Rev. W. Sievers.

• • •

Danish Lutheran service is held on the first and third Sunday of every month at 3 o'clock in the German Lutheran church, corner of Raleigh street and Sixty-seventh avenue west.

FOUR MURDER SUSPECTS PLEAD NOT GUILTY

With the almost unnatural calm which he has affected ever since his arrest, Bjorn Osthy this morning faced the court among a crowd of other accused murderers, and coolly entered a plea of not guilty when the complaint charging him with shooting down his own father was read before him. He showed no signs of emotion whatever, and one would never have guessed, to look at him, that he was charged with so serious an offense.

Three other murderers were also arraigned, they could visibly and were very evidently frightened when brought before the bar of justice. All of them entered pleas of not guilty, however.

They were Michael Rossi, who used a knife and a revolver on Antonio De Meo in the railroad yards on Aug. 4, with fatal effect, and Adolph and Victor Matel, who are charged with making a murderous attack upon Adolph Mattis on Garfield avenue Wednesday mornig. All of them denied their guilt.

Joseph Doyle was arraigned on a first degree grand larceny charge and also entered a plea of not guilty. Doyle is the man who is said to have snatched a pocketbook from Theresa Haley containing $3 and a gold watch. He was arrested because he lost his hat making a quicket get-away and was caught buying a new one in a Bowery store.

E. Peterson was charged with second degree grand larceny, it being alleged that he stole $75 from Peter Wickland in August. Peterson had no attorney, so his case was continued. Peterson said that "it was a d—n lie; he only took $60."

Robert B. Hull and Joseph Ropel pleaded not guilty to charge of second degree forgery. D. M. McGinley and James Parker also pleaded not guilty to charges of making indecent assaults upon little girls.

ASK JOHNSON TO BOUNCE OFFICERS

Red Lake County Men Want Five Officials Ousted From Office.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Governor Johnson today received a petition from electors of Red Lake county, praying for the removal of County Auditor A. A. Latendesse, County Treasurer Harry Ives and County Commissioners W. C. Denman, Joseph Pigeon and C. A. Lindquist.

It is alleged in the complaint that funds were taken from the county ditch fund and transferred to the county general revenue fund at a meeting of the commissioners when there was no quorum of the board present.

E. T. Young, former attorney general, is representing the complainants. The petition is the outcome of a fierce quarrel in the legislature last session between the towns of Red Lake Falls and Thief River Falls for the county seat.

Governor Johnson will appoint a commission to hold a hearing next week.

CAR SHORTAGES TO BE GREATER

Railway Association President Draws Inference From Present Conditions.

Chicago, Sept. 4.—Increasing industrial, agricultural and mining activity is indicated by advance sheets of the fortnightly statement of car surpluses and shortages compiled by President Hale of the American Railway association.

The statement, which will be published Sept. 10, will show that on Sept. 1 the surplus of cars of all kinds has been reduced more than 40,000, bringing the surplus down to a little more than 10,000 cars of all kinds. This, according to Mr. Hale, is the smallest surplus since last October, when there were marked shortages in several sections of the country.

"It is important to note," said Mr. Hale today, "that this season's reduction is six weeks ahead of last year's, indicating that shortages this year will be greater than a year ago."

Brazilian exports in the first three months of 1909 totalled a value of $79,702,000, an increase of $24,300,000 over the same months of 1908. Coffee and rubber enjoyed 90 per cent of the increase. Imports decreased 14.45 per cent.

ON THE IRON RANGES

REV. MR. HILL IS MADE DEFENDANT

Sued at Grand Rapids By Bovey Saloon Keeper fo $2,500.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Sept. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—On a warrant sworn out by Rev. F. W. Hill, Thomas Kingston, a policeman of Bovey, was arrested Wednesday on a charge of assembling, with others, for unlawful purposes. It is charged by Hill that Kingston was one of the party which attempted to commit assault and battery on him recently, and for which Con Grefe of Bovey was arrested as one of the pricipals. The trial commenced Wednesday.

Hill and Mr. Herstad testified that they had identified Kingston as a member of the party that assaulted Hill. Kingston testified that he was not there, and the fact that he was not one of the assaulting party was further established by other testimony. The trial of the case was held before Justice Franti and a jury at Bovey. The jury returned a verdict of not guilty.

An action was commenced in district court here this week by John Specht, through his attorneys, Spear & Stone, and E. H. Hither, suing F. W. Hill and August Johnson for $2,500 damages for malicious trespass. The alleged trespass was committed at the time Hill and Johnson broke into Specht's saloon to find out if there was anybody inside att the time the anti-Bovey crusade started.

MAY GIVE TOWER A NEW STATION

Reported Iron Range Road Is Figuring on Another Depot.

Tower, Minn., Sept. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—President House of the Iron Range road was here this week and his coming started a rumor that a new depot is to be erected here in the near future and that a site is now being considered.

The city in general is taking on new life, in view of the fact that the mining explorations in the vicinity are more than meeting the expectations of the promoters, and there being a prospect of the Alger-Smith company purchasing a large tract of timber near Trout Lake. This purchase would lend new life to the sawmill district for unless they acquire some more timber, the mill will not run later than this fall.

Building activity is manifest in several instances. J. H. Dickey has had the foundation of the cigar factory repaired and the building will be painted. Mrs. Nettel's building has had a new foundation put in and a hardwood floor is being put in. J. D. Murphy's store building is also being treated to a new hardwood floor. Charles Mike's building also is being repaired and several others are anticipating improvements.

COHASSET IS LIVELY PLACE

Western Mesaba Range Town Is Certainly Forging Ahead.

Cohasset, Minn., Sept. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—This lively Western Mesaba village continues to forge ahead in a manner which is a wonder to all who come here. The recent past has seen some very substantial progress in the village, and much work has been done which has made times lively in and about town.

One of the new buildings being erected is the Catholic church. It is a neat building situated in the north part of town, 36 by 54. The exterior is nearing completion, but the interior will be left until a later date.

John Main's new sawmill has been busy cutting out lumber and paving timber for some time, employing some twenty men.

The Minnesota Hardwood company has the framework and part of their machinery up for their sawmill adjoining the hardwood factory. This mill will saw in the neighborhood of 50,000 per day. A 75-horse power engine was installed last week. This will be fed from the boilers at the mill. The company proposes to have a very complete little mill before they get through with it.

A Mr. Vane from Wisconsin has leased the old Moore mill, and will start it before long. A band saw will be put in, and the mill will have a considerable capacity. Mr. Vane has also purchased some lots in Cohasset, and is erecting a house which he will occupy with his family.

Callihan & Skeepy, who have the contract for completing the Grand Rapids-Cohasset road, have started to work on the Cohasset end of the road. A dozen teams and some twenty men are employed on the work. The hill near the Forsyth place is to be cut down seven feet, and all the road widened and leveled. An excellent road will be the result.

There is at present much shipping of cedar at Cohasset. At nearly every yard there are crews of men loading poles and posts.

MANY CHILDREN ARE TAKEN ILL

Three Deaths of Cholera Infantum Reported in Eveleth Vicinity.

Eveleth, Minn., Sept. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Many deaths from cholera infantum have been occurring here the past few days. Two deaths from that sickness occurred Wednesday in Sparta.

One case was that of the 11-months-old child of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Maki. The funeral of the infant took place yesterday afternoon with Rev. John Wargelin officiating. The other was that of Frances, the 7-months-old infant of Mr. and Mrs. Ignatius Ruz. The child had been sick but a short time when death overtook her. An unusual custom was observed by the parents when they had the dead body photographed at a local photograph shop. The funeral was held yesterday at Virginia, with Father Bliban of the Holy Family Catholic church officiating. The six-weeks-old child of Mrs. Cyril Van Elseiande also died of the same cause yesterday morning.

BRIGHT FUTURE FOR NASHWAUK

Is Discussed at First Annual Banquet of Commercial Club.

Nashwauk, Minn., Sept. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Commercial club members held their first annual banquet at the Ollila hotel Thursday evening. Many were attended, including many outsiders. The toasts of the evening, predicting a great future, were as follows: E. A. Rogers, toastmaster; Henry Hogan, "Nashwauk, Past Present and Future;" Dr. John L. Shellman, "Our New Hotel;" John C. Lewis, "A Greater Nashwauk;" E. C. Kiley of Grand Rapids, "Nashwauk's Place in the Development of the County;" A. P. Silliman, "The Future of the Mesaba Range." Music was furnished by Heinle's orchestra of Hibbing. The committee in charge was composed of John Lanti, Paul Tvedt, John T. Ring, George Lindsey, John R. Reigart and Archie McWilliams. An elaborate supper was served during the occasion.

The ladies of the Methodist church gave a bean social in the new Washington building on Central avenue this week. The supper was duly attended and the ladies realized the sum of $26, which will be spent towards the new church building nearing completion.

The new addition to the Nashwauk Mercantile company's store, owned by Erik Johison, and managed by John P. Lanto, is nearing completion. The new place will be used for gents' furnishings, as the old addition was not large enough.

GILBERT OFFICER WAS TOO QUICK FOR MOB.

Eveleth, Minn., Sept. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—The hearing of William McLoy for bastardy, will be held today in municipal court before Judge Prince. The girl in the case formerly lived in Eveleth, but is now residing out of town. McLoy was arrested by local authorities Wednesday.

The hearing of Clarence Koch charged with taking indecent liberties with two small girls at Gilbert, will be held Monday at 2 p. m., in the local court. Koch had a narrow escape from being lynched at Gilbert before he could be spirited away by the officers and hurried here as the people became very indignant when they heard of the accusation against him and hurried toward the Gilbert lockup. The village marshal heard the crowd was coming and taking Koch out through a rear door, hurried him into a waiting rig and dashed across the country to Eveleth.

GILBERT PLANS FOR GREAT DAY

Celebration of Labor Day to Be Notable Range Event.

Gilbert, Minn., Sept. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—The citizens of Gilbert are working to make the Labor day celebration about the biggest in the history of such celebrations on the range.

Much work is being done on the streets on lower Broadway, many men and teams are being employed, and everything there is hustling and bustling so as the streets can be in good condition for Labor day. Accommodations for over 2,000 people are being arranged by the Commercial club, and fully that number are expected from the nearby cities and Duluth alone.

A very elaborate and entertaining program has been prepared by the various committees appointed by the Commercial club, and the principal number will be a reception speech by City Attorney James P. Boyle of Eveleth. Exhibition races will be run by the local firemen force of volunteers.

Attorney J. Boyle will deliver the address of the day, which will be given at 10 a. m. The program will continue from 10 o'clock until noon, with intermission at the noon hour. At 2 p. m. the events will again start, finishing at about 7 p. m. In the evening a dance will be given in the Dowling hall by the Volunteer Firemen's benevolent association. Dances will also be given in the Bijou and Lyceum vaudeville theaters.

The athletic events, fifteen in number, will be as follows: 100-yard dash for local married men, $100 residence lot in Second addition to Gilbert; standing high jump, $2 and $1; potato race, $2 and $1; pony race; ball game, Eveleth Eagles and Gilbert Eagles; hose cart race, $15; ladder race, $5; 50-yard race for girls, $2 and $1; standing broad jump, $2 and $1; potato race, $2 and $1; pony race; ball game, Eveleth Eagles and Gilbert Eagles; hose cart race, $15; ladder race, $5; 50-yard race for girls, $2 and $1; standing broad jump, $2 and $1; sack race, $2 and $1; 100-yard race, free for all, $10 and $5; running broad jump, $2 and $1; boys' wheelbarrow race, $2 and $1; five-mile Marathon race, $25 and $10.

THE ORB TO RESUME.

Hibbing High School Publication Will Again Be Issued.

Hibbing, Minn., Sept. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—The high school publication, The Orb, will resume publication monthly in about two weeks. The editorial and business force consists of Aurle Cohoe, editor-chief; Fred Cobb, associate editor; Miss Beatrice Atkinson, William Hooker, Miss Emily Goule, Silas Packard, C. Johnson, Ellery Anderson and Miss Marie Killorin, assistant editors; Richard Field, publisher; Fred Anderson, business manager.

GRAND RAPIDS STREET WORK MAKES PROGRESS.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Sept. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—The paving work on Third street is progressing nicely. The curb and gutter has been constructed for two blocks and the excavation on the balance of the street is well under way. The concrete mixer which was received last week is now in running order, and Foreman Schoenfeld states that he is ready to start putting concrete on the street, and that that work will start as soon as the skilled workmen arrive. Twenty-five men will be employed at this work, besides the common labor which will be required as helpers. The contractors have leased the steam roller, which has recently been purchased by the township, and they will use it to pat down the streets preparatory to putting on the paving material.

The rock crusher is keeping well in advance of the pavers, and great piles of rock and sand are being piled up. The coarse rock is to be put in the concrete, and the fine stuff is being screened and will be used in the top dressing of the street.

Supt. Garis of the light plant is getting well along with the reconstruction of the light line. The house lights all over town are again in order, and Mr. Garis states that the arc lights—what there are left of them—will probably be turned on tonight. Much credit is due to Mr. Garis and his crew for the comparatively good house light service given during the time this construction work was going on.

MEN WANTED FOR RANGER FORCES

Examination for Superior Forest at Cass Lake Oct. 25-26.

Ely, Minn., Sept. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—An examination to fill vacancies in the ranger force on all national forests in district No. 1 will be held Oct. 25 and 26. From this examination it is expected that 100 appointments will be made in this district.

The examinations for the Superior forest will be held at Ely and the other Minnesota forest at Cass Lake. The examinations for Western forests will also take place on the same date at various headquarters.

While the examination is entirely along practical lines and knowledge of field conditions rather than book learning is considered essential, the opportunities for those applicants with educational advantages are considerably increased. The rapid development of the national forests is making continually increasing demands upon those engaged in their management, and men with ability to assume responsibility and serve in supervisory capacities are in demand. These more responsible positions on the national forests are filled by promotion from lower grades, so that anyone entering as a ranger is eligible for promotion to any of the more responsible and higher paid places, including that of forest supervisor.

Only those men who are at least 21 years of age, not more than 40, of good character, temperate and in good physical condition, are eligible to take this examination. The salary paid to beginners is $900 a year.

TO CULTIVATE GINSENG.

Grand Rapids Man to Embark in Raising New Product.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Sept. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—County Surveyor John A. Brown has decided to go into ginseng raising business. On his return from a trip which will include a visit at Wausau, Wis., where he will purchase about $500 worth of ginseng plants, he will commence operations on his ranch. On a recent trip West Mr. Brown was accompanied by John H. Koehler of Wausau, who has made a small fortune raising ginseng for the market, and after getting pointers on the culture of the plant, he became an enthusiast and concluded to go into the business at this point. Mr. Koehler's ginseng patch, it is said, consists of only about an acre, but in seven years that gentleman has succeeded in amassing his fortune from that plot of ground.

Mr. Brown feels that there is a grand opportunity here for the raising of the plant, as he has several lots near his home on which he will make a start, and he will experiment as he progresses.

The experiment will be watched with interest, as the success of the trial would mean a lot to the farmers of this section.

Ginseng is a plant supposed to contain vital medicinal virtues, and is much used in compounding medicines in China, to which country it is exported in great quantities.

SINKHOLE DELAYS WORK.

Unforseen Obstacle Struck on Great Northern Extension.

Nashwauk, Minn., Sept. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Work on the Great Northern extension to Grand Rapids, which was to have been completed and trains running Sept. 1, has been delayed on account of striking a sinkhole near Calumet. There are two steam shovels at work now, gradually filling in the hole, but as soon as the first is dumped it sinks down, making the fill larger, and as yet it is not known when the trains will be able to make the run.

WORKINGMAN'S SUNDAY.

Will Be Discussed By Eveleth Minister Sunday Evening.

Eveleth, Minn., Sept. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Services will be held in the First Presbyterian church tomorrow at 10:30 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. The pastor, Rev. Philip A. Schwarz, will preach. The morning subjects will be "Christ's Invitation to the Weary." In the evening he will speak on "The Workingman and His Sunday."

EVELETH BALL TEAM IS UNDER NEW MANAGEMENT.

Eveleth, Minn., Sept. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—The local city team which had disbanded yesterday afternoon under the management of J. F. Tredinneck, was reorganized by Frank Winchester and George Mulligan, local business men, who will play out the scheduled games, with the original line-up of the city team players.

The teams that games have been already scheduled with and that will be played are the Big Duluths, Duluth White Sox, Superior, Cass Lake and also the strong Winona team of the Minny league. All these teams will be played on the local grounds, and some very good exhibitions of ball are promised the local fans by the new management. The team will be captained as before, by Pat Boyle, and efforts are being made to have the players winter here and start the 1910 season next spring, with the present line-up.

Tomorrow afternoon the local team will line-up in the first game under the new management, against the Big Duluths. Labor day the same team will also play here. Cook, Long and Currie will be the Eveleth pitchers.

SUGAR CANE THRIVES.

W. H. Everett Raises Seven-Foot Cane North of Hibbing.

Hibbing, Minn., Sept. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—The idea of trying to raise sugar in this lattitude might seem visionary, but W. H. Everett, who is farming about forty miles north of here, can prove it is not so much of a dream. He will exhibit at the state fair next week some sugar cane about seven feet in length, grown and apparently well matured on his land, a novelty in Minnesota farming.

Virginian Weds at Brainerd.

Brainerd, Minn., Sept. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Harold H. Flam of Virginia, Minn., and Miss Thora Borsum of this city were united in marriage on Wednesday. They will make their future home in Virginia.

REV. JOHN WARGELIN TO PREACH FAREWELL SERMON

Eveleth, Minn., Sept. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Rev. John Wargelin, pastor of the Finnish Lutheran church, will deliver his farewell sermon tomorrow afternoon. He will review his work while here and appropriate services will be given. Rev. Wargelin will leave in two weeks for Republic, Mich., where he accepted a pastorship, but as yet his successor has not been named.

White Iron Lake—Fred Makros, principal; Minnie Pertula, primary.

Emma Keeley has been hired to coach pupils, throughout the grades, who are behind, and to act as a substitute teacher.

Diphtheria Claims Boy.

Eveleth, Minn., Sept. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—After a lingering illness, William John, the 5-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert McDonald, died from an attack of diphtheria Thursday. The parents reside on Douglas avenue, and are receiving the sympathies of many friends with whom the young lad was very popular. The funeral took place Thursday afternoon. Interment was at Virginia.

Police vs. Bartenders.

Hibbing, Minn., Sept. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—A game of baseball will be played here Sunday between the police and the bartenders. There will be patrolmen present to see that the game is orderly and the umpire properly protected. The postoffice employes will play the barbers, and the bankers have challenged the lawyers and doctors.

PRINCES JOIN IN BIG WELCOME TO DR. COOK

as do the Eskimos, and we secured game with these arms.

"Again near Cape York we were virtually on the point of starvation when we found a young seal sleeping on the ice.

"At Cape York itself we found traces of musk oxen, which we tracked and killed.

"From Upernavik to Egedesminde I sailed on the same ship that carried the MacClintock and Franklin relief expeditions."

Shabby, But Elated.

It was a weather beaten and shabby, but elated hero, who was welcomed this morning by the Danish capital at the same official pier and with the same honors that are customarily used in the greeting of visiting members of royal families.

Dr. Cook stood on the bridge of the Hansegede, wearing a shabby brown suit that had been loaned to him by a seaman. On his head was a disreputable old cap, and his feet were clad in leather moccasins. His blond hair was long and shaggy and his mustache rough and straggling. His complexion was sallow, but his face was full. He was a strange figure for the center of such a brilliant scene as greeted his return to civilization.

A bright sun lit up the blue waters of Copenhagen harbor. Ships and yachts on every side were gay with flags and the shore and piers were crowded with people.

Stars and Stripes Shown.

Two big American flags flanked the landing stage where Crown Prince Christian and other notable personages waited for one hour the appearance of the Hansegede. Hundreds of small boats containing sightseers swarmed over the waters of the harbor. Many of these boats were filled with American tourists waving the Stars and Stripes.

When the Hansegede was a mile away, slowly coming in with an enthusiastic following of small craft in her wake, Crown Prince Christian and the members of his staff embarked on a launch which took them to the side of the steamer bearing the explorer.

The moment the anchor was dropped the crown prince sprang up the gangway. Dr. Cook, at the same time, appeared at the head of the ladder and awaited the prince.

The people in the surrounding boats, who had expected from the newspaper pictures to see a bearded man, recognized the explorer for the first time and sent up a loud cheer.

Welcomed by Prince.

Prince Christian, who is a tall and handsome young man, was dressed in a silk hat and frock coat. He grasped the hand of the shabby explorer, congratulated him on his achievement, and welcomed him warmly in the name of the Danish nation and the Geographical society, of which the prince is president.

Prince Valdemar, brother of King Frederick, in an admiral's uniform, accompanied by a party of naval officials, city officials, delegates from societies and the minister of commerce, followed the crown prince up the side of the steamer, and the explorer was almost smothered in the friendly group of uniforms and officials in black coats and silk hats.

"Did you reach the North Pole, Dr. Cook?" asked the correspondent of the Associated Press.

"Yes, I did," replied Dr. Cook confidently.

After much handshaking Crown Prince Christian said to the explorer: "Come ashore with me, please; the people are waiting to see you."

Dr. Cook said something about his baggage.

"My people will look after your baggage," the crown prince answered, and led Dr. Cook to the royal launch.

Roar of Cheers.

When the launch approached the pier, with Prince Christian and Dr. Cook side by side, a tremendous roar of cheers burst out from the people on shore and from the assemblage of small craft, including yachts, motor boats, landing boats from the Russian warship in the harbor and racing shells, clustered thick about the pier.

Dr. Cook stepped ashore and in an instant the police were powerless as infants to make way for the party. Dr. Cook and those about him were engulfed and swept along by a clamorous crowd. Maurice F. Egan, the American minister, and the Danish officials literally clung to Dr. Cook. Together the party fought its way desperately to a point near the meteorological building.

"Worse Than Football."

Dr. Cook was bruised and capless and part of his sleeve was torn off.

"I used to be a football player, but this is the worst I ever saw," he panted.

Dr. Cook and Mr. Egan finally succeeded in reaching a balcony of the Institute. The people crowding the streets and the adjoining park yelled frantically when they appeared. Mr. Egan waved his hand toward Dr. Cook as an introduction, whereupon the explorer made a brief address in English.

"My friends," he said, "I have had too hard a time getting here to make a speech. I can only say that I consider it an honor to be able to put my foot first on Danish soil."

After more cheering Commodore Hovgaard took Dr. Cook in a carriage and drove him through the crowded streets to the Phoenix hotel, where he will be the guest of the Geographical society. The hallways of the hotel were decorated with American flags and masses of flowers.

Welcome to Denmark.

Johan Manson, the minister of commerce, and a committee of the Geographical society gave a reception to Dr. Cook at the hotel. The minister made a speech of welcome in which he said:

"Before retiring to your much needed rest, Dr. Cook, I hope you will give us an opportunity of bidding you welcome to Denmark. I thank you on behalf of my countrymen for the noble deeds which you so successfully have performed."

The minister then invited Dr. Cook, on behalf of the government, the municipality and the Geographical society "as our honored guest" to a banquet tonight at the town hall.

Dr. Cook thanked the minister briefly "for the very kind reception you already have granted me in Denmark, and with which I feel most delighted."

Minister Hansen, over a bottle of champagne, then led in "three cheers and a long life for Dr. Cook."

Work for the Tradesmen.

The members of the reception committee withdrew and were succeeded by a numerous delegation of tailors, bootmakers and barbers. The explorer placede himself in their hands, and several tradesmen were at work on him at the same time.

At the end of an hour Dr. Cook emerged with his hair neatly trimmed, his mustache cropped close, and in a new suit, hat and boots. He then went to the American legation and had luncheon with Minister Egan.

Dr. Cook will stay in Copenhagen for a few days as the guest of the government, awaiting the arrival of his wife. He will then go to Belgium.

ONE MAN'S ACT SAVES LIVES OF 100 PEOPLE

whether revenge or robbery, has not yet been determined. The officials of the road in Pittsburg were notified and the entire force of detectives was dispatched to the scene and began a thorough investigation.

Immediately after the accident a train was made up and the uninjured passengers, after being transferred, continued their journey westward, leaving at 5:20 o'clock this morning. The eastbound tracks were not obstructed by the wrecks.

Stories of passengers aboard the wrecked train came to light today in the New Castle hospitals, where the more seriously injured were taken.

The spot where the wreck occurred was a lonely stretch of roadbed, eight miles from this place. On either side of the tracks, which are built on a high fill, are woods and marshy lowlands. The wrecked train was running on schedule and was making at last fifty miles an hour when Clewton siding was reached. The semaphore arm over the tiny telegraph station there showed a clearance.

Running in Rain and Fog.

Past the siding the train picked up speed on a slight down grade, whistling for a trestle bridge just this side of the scene of the wreck. A drizzling rain was falling and fog overhung the tracks.

Into the death trap the heavy train plunged, and before time could be recorded a twisted mass of timbers, iron and steel were all that were left of an engine and a heavy tender and two cars, one a baggage and the other a passenger coach.

The more seriously injured passengers were in the day coach, which, rolling on its side and sliding down the steep embankment, was set on fire by hot coals and engine oil.

No money was aboard the flyer, according to express company officials. The loosened fish plates and pulled spikes, however, are mute evidence that some one skilled in railroading is responsible for the disaster.

No Money on Train.

Pittsburg, Pa., Sept. 4.—Officials of the United States Express company stated that no money was aboard train No. 5, known as the Royal Blue limited, wrecked at New Castle early today. The report that the train carried a large sum of money was said to be fiction, for the reason that the express company carries no money whatsoever on that train, nor has it ever done so.

The statement of the express company officials, it is believed, eliminates the robbery motive of the train wreck.

over the business done last fall. All of the jobbing houses in Duluth are sharing in the prosperity, according to Mr. Rust, and the present year will be a banner year in the history of Duluth wholesale and jobbing houses.

The Northern Shoe company has been operating its factory overtime this fall, so great is the demand for its products. The number of employes of the factory has also been increased. The month just passed was the largest month in the history of the business of the company. The month just closed was one-third larger than the same month a year ago. This is a very good example of the immense increase of business this fall.

A report just issued of the business being done by the Chicago wholesale houses shows that the large wholesale and jobbing houses in that section of the Northwest are doing almost as much business as they did in 1907. Here the large houses are doing a better business than they did in 1907, which goes to show that business in this section of the Northwest is more prosperous than in any other part of the country.

CHANGES MADE IN CONSULAR SERVICE.

Washington, Sept. 4.—Stuart K. Lupton, who was vice consul at Messina at the time of the destruction of that town by an earthquake last winter, has been transferred from the consulate at Catania, Italy, to Karachi, India.

Other consular changes made by President Taft are as follows:

Thomas Sammons, Washington, from consul general at Seoul, Korea, to consul general at Yokohama, Japan, George X. Scidmore, Wisconsin, from consul general at Kobe, Japan, to consul general at Seoul, Korea; Samuel S. Knabenshue, Ohio, from consul at Belfast, Ireland, to consul general at Tien-tsin, China; Henry B. Miller, Oregon, from consul general at Yokohama to consul at Belfast; Southard P. Warner, Maryland, from Leipzig, Germany, to Bahia, Brazil; Jay White, Michigan, from consul general at Bogota to consul at Santoe, Brazil, and Wallace C. Bond, Wyoming, from consul at Karanchi, India, to consul general at Copenhagen, Denmark.

A Dainty Toilet Article.

Every lady who desires to keep up her attractive appearance, while at the theater, attending receptions, when shopping, while traveling and on all occasions, should carry in her purse a booklet of Gouraud's Oriental Beauty Leaves. This is a dainty little booklet of exquisitely perfumed powdered leaves which are easily removed and applied to the skin. It is invaluable when the face becomes moist and flushed and is far superior to a powder puff as it does not spill and soil the clothes.

It removes dirt, soot and grease from the face, imparting a cool delicate bloom to the complexion. Sent anywhere on receipt of Five Cents in stamps or coin. F. T. Hopkins, 37 Great Jones street, New York.

La Crosse, Wis., Sept. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—La Crosse defeated the Sox in the final game of the season by the score of 3 to 2. The game was marred by continual kicking and stalling, and so late was the first contest in ending that it was found impossible to play more than three innings of the second game.

Dauss was benched in the first game for kicking against the decisions of Umpire Mack. Outfielder Taylor was also banished from the game, both men later being escorted from the grounds by officers.

What looked like a riot was prevented by the actions of the Duluth and La Crosse players. Taylor and Mack became involved in an argument and the Sox player knocked the umps down. It looked like a free-for-all fight, but the local players crowded around the umpire, and what might have resulted in a general fight was prevented.

The runs of the locals were secured through the wildness of Dauss and Schmidt. Schardt had one bad inning, when the Sox scored their two runs, but after that he tightened up and pitched great ball. Score:

Klingebiel Loses a Hard Luck Pitchers' Battle With Corbett.

Winona, Minn., Sept. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Corbett defeated Klingebiel in a pitchers' battle, the score being 1 to 0 in favor of the locals. While the Winona hitters secured but three hits off the delivery of the Superior pitcher, two of the hits came at the right time, and with a sacrifice secured the only run of the game. Corbett was found for seven bingles, but he kept the hits scattered throughout the game. It was the best pitched games on the local ground of the present season. Score:

Brooklyn, Sept. 4.—With the score 2 to 4 at the end of the eighth yesterday, McIntyre weakened and eight of the Chicago team crossed the plate in the ninth, President Ebbetts will protest, as there was an agreement to call the game at 5:15. This would make the score revert to the eighth. Score:

A Tie Game at Cleveland.

Cleveland, Ohio, Sept. 4.—Cleveland and Detroit played a tie game yesterday, each team scoring one run. Cleveland scored in the first on a force play, Bush's error and Stovall's single. Detroit tied the score in the seventh on Moriarity's triple and Mullin's single. Each club had many chances to score, but fast fielding intervened. The game was called on account of darkness. Two games will be played today. Score:

Twelfth Shutout for McGlynn.

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 4.—The leaders gained another lap in the league race by beating Kansas City yesterday afternoon, 8 to 0, in a game featured by hard hitting. McGlynn, for the home club, was in perfect form, being master of the situation at all times. It was his twelfth shutout of the season. A wonderful one-handed catch by Spike Shannon, robbing Clark of a triple, and McCormick's second base play featured. Score: R. H. E.

RACES AT FAIR.

Duluthians Interested in Contest Between Dan Patch and Minor Heir.

A large number of local horse lovers will leave today and Sunday for the Minnesota state fair to witness the race between Dan Patch and Minor Heir. Advices from Minneapolis are to the effect that the lameness of the great son of Joe Patchen will not prevent his starting in the race of the opening day of the fair.

Local judges of horse flesh, who have looked over the card offered at the Hemline track, say some of the best horses of the West will be entered in the various events, and that the races during the week should be some of the best ever offered by the fair management.

PULLIAM'S ACT RECALLS OTHERS.

Baseball has certainly had its full quota of suicides. The recent suicide of Harry C. Pulliam brings to mind the long list of men identified with the great game who have died by their own hands.

The first ball player who took his own life seems to have been Frank Ringo, the catcher of the famous Coleman and Ringo battery. Ringo committed suicide April 12, 1880, at Kansas City by taking carbolic acid. Others who followed in the footsteps of Ringo were Ed J. McNabb, the famous Baltimore pitcher; Ed Crane, Martin Bergen, the old Boston National catcher, who killed his wife and three children before killing himself; James McCuilligan of the Giants; William Mercer, the Washington pitcher; Chick Stahl of the Red Sox; P. D. Murphy, A. Payne, Bob Lakewert, William Palmer, Ed Delehanty, Izzie Van Zandt, the old Nashua player; Harry Pulliam, the late National league president, and Henry Roth, an Indian ball player, who killed his mother and himself this year.

SUPERIOR WINS GAME

Duluth Aldermen Sad Failures as Baseball Players.

Fail to Score, While Superior Is Making Fifteen Runs.

Duluth has a bunch of aldermen who can legislate to beat the band, but they cannot play ball a little bit. Their attempts at stopping the ball are as ineffective as efforts expended in the past to prevent amendments to the building ordinance, while their pitchers have about as much control over the ball as a Superior street policeman has over a South American revolution.

In a five-inning game with the Superior common council yesterday afternoon, in the league park in the Wisconsin city, Duluth was beaten by a score of 15 to 8, and it would have been a shut-out for the Zenith City if the Superiorites, out of the kindness of their hearts, had not taken their best pitcher from the box, and allowed Duluth to put five ringers in the game. County Coroner McCuen was put behind the bat for Duluth in the fourth inning and his verdict after the inquest was that Duluth's chances for winning were killed by the neglect of the voters in not electing to office.

Dr. McCuen and Joe Maitland, who went in as the battery for Duluth in the fourth inning, probably would have saved the day for Duluth if the game had run nine innings, for the Superior aldermen had much trouble in connecting with Maitland's benders, and Dr. McCuen proved himself a wonder behind the bat. He caught everything that came his way, and when it came to batting, he hit every ball thrown within five feet of him, and got down to first base without any trouble at all.

In the first three innings not a single Duluth man got as far as first base. Eight men out of the nine to bat fanned out, and the other didn't hit the ball hard enough to allow him time to reach bag No. 1. In these same three innings Superior scored fifteen runs. Alderman Shartel was pitching for Duluth and there was no mystery nor serious about his curves. Almost every man who came to bat would make a safe hit, apparently without half trying. The Superiorites were wonders in connecting with the ball.

Alderman Hector was acting as manager for Duluth and played first base the first two innings. He didn't like the stand of Mr. Shartel's work in the pitcher's box, however, so in the third acted as pitcher himself. The Duluthians closely watched, to learn just how to throw the ball. A surprised and disappointed look settled upon Mr. Hector's features when Alderman Nelson of Superior, in a very ungentlemanly manner, landed on the ball's nose and smashed it clear over the left field fence. That was more than any of them had been able to do with Shartel. Nelson would have had time to run around the bases six times before the ball came back over the fence, but his conscience began hurting him when he arrived at second, and he stopped there to rest.

The game was well patronized and the crowd got a full measure of amusement. The proceeds went to the Superior Children's Home, and after the game the aldermen were given an automobile ride around the city, and this was followed by a dinner at the Commercial club.

Mayors Haven and Crumpton acted as umpires, and as the players knew nothing of the rules of the game, the umpires both escaped without any criticism. Mayor Crumpton announced after the fifth inning that the game would be called on account of rain. No rain drops were visible. In fact, the players looked very dry. Indeed. The ringers allowed Duluth in the fourth inning were: Dr. McCuen, Jack Desmond, City Comptroller McCormick, Health Commissioner Patton and Joe Maitland.

The lineup of the two teams at the beginning of the game was as follows:

Superior—McCutcheon, catcher; Tomlinson, Chadwick, Nelson, pitchers; Roise, first base; Chadwick, Tomlinson, second base; Comiskey, third base; Nelson Tomlinson, shortstop; Idler, right field; Russell center field; Dillon, left field.

SOME IDEAS FOR PITCHERS

Christy Mathewson Proportions Qualities Needed for Successful Throwing.

"The proportions of qualities needed for good pitching are about as follows: Fifty per cent control, 30 per cent luck, 10 per cent speed, 10 per cent curve, says Mathewson.'

"All the speed, the fast jumps, the cross-fires, the spitballs, the big curves, and the 'head' are worth nothing unless a pitcher has control.

"The most disheartening thing in the world for a young pitcher is for the team to fail to hit behind him. That has broken the heart of more newcomers than any other one thing.

"The team has never been lucky enough to hit well behind Marquard, and that is largely responsible for his failure to get a good start. He has everything that goes to make a good pitcher. Let them get a few runs ahead for him and see what he will do. He needs confidence.

"The most puzzling thing in the pitching business is how a man can go in without 'anything' and win his game. I pitched but four curve balls throughout a game recently.

"The only man that has gotten a base on balls off me this season when I didn't give it to him purposely was Clements of Brooklyn."

Dr. Roller Goes to Steep.

Seattle, Wash., Sept. 4.—Henry Ordemann of Minneapolis won from Dr. B. F. Roller of Seattle last night, the Minneapolis man putting the local wrestler completely out of commission at the end of sixty-six minutes of exciting work. Roller was carried from the ring unconscious. Detectives detained Ordemann until it was ascertained that Roller's condition was not serious.

KETCHEL BEGINS HIS TRAINING

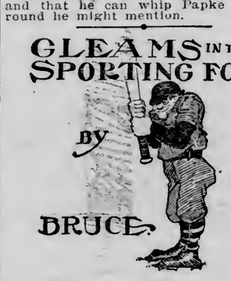

Says He Is Fit as a Fiddle --Weighs 185 Pounds.

New York, Sept. 4.—Stanley Ketchel took up his quarters in a little inn in the Bronx today, to begin active training for his 10-round fight with Sam Langford, to be held before the Fairmount Athletic club of this city on Sept. 17.

With the arrival of Ketchel and the announcement by the club management that the public officials have been satisfied, it is considered practically certain that the much-talked-of fight will take place.

Ketchel says he weighs 185 pounds now, and critics say that he is apparently in the best of physical condition.

Ketchel says he is as strong as ever, and that he can whip Papke in any round he might mention.

King Baseball wields the scepter with mighty hand. We are watching with unabating interest the passing of the season. Who will win? That is the question that is agitating us just at the present time.

Let us gather closely, just for a moment, and see if we can figure out a line of dope that will at least be pleasing to ourselves.

Take the race in our own league first. It is almost over. It truly looks as if the Sox had copped the flag. They have only one more game to win, and, with two home games to play, there seems hardly a chance that we can lose.

With the battle in our own league laid to rest, for the time being at least, we may turn to other leagues.

What a different situation we meet in some of the other leagues. In the minors, to be sure, the result seems pretty nearly settled at the present time. Take the Western Canada league, a league that we were always interested in, and you will find that the pennant is going to the Medicine Hat team—the team that our own Si Bennett is leading.

Creep over to the Wisconsin-Illinois league and you will find that Madison is leading by a safe margin for the flag.

Those are the two leagues that most concern us. We may meet both these pennant winners in post-season games.

But the dope for the bigger leagues is really more difficult to provide. It looks like Pittsburg in the older organization. Throughout the season the Pirates have played a brand of ball that is hard to beat. We have for the past three years looked upon the Cubs as an invincible organization. And for the first two years of their tenure of the leadership they were. Last year they had a very hard fight to win the flag. But we admired them the more for the gameness they showed in winning under the circumstances. This year, if the truth be told, they seemed to be battling against a better team. It is seldom that a team comes out of the field like Pittsburg has. Three times the Pirates won the pennant in the past. Then they were passed by the wonderful team that John J. McGraw placed in the field. Then came the turn of the Cubs. Such a team as Frank L. Chance trotted onto the diamond has rarely been gathered together in the history of baseball.

It required years to assemble the machine. But when once the players that the wise heads behind the Cub management sought for, were welded together, it required but a season for the Cubs to show a clean pair of heels to all the other teams in the National.

They have won the pennant three successive years. Their reign seems destined to come to an end, at least for the present season. If you have glanced at the drafted list of players, you could not help but be impressed with the list of young players, who have been gathered under the banner of the Cubs. But that is for another season—it looks as if the Cubs are going to be tossed out for the flag.

How did they lose? Or how are they going to lose, for the season is not over as yet.

It is simply through the superhuman endurance of some great players. In the natural course of a baseball player's life, Clarke, Wagner, Leach, Phillips and Maddox should be all in. But they are not. They are playing their greatest game the present season. There you have the answer to the question.

On the other hand, some of the wonderful players of the Cubs are slowing up. There is Harry Steinfeldt. A wonderful player, today he is nevertheless slowing up. There is Jimmy Sheckard, a wonderful player, who is showing the signs of continuous service. It is just the slight slowing up of these players, that is losing the flag for the Cubs.

But there is another angle to the wonderful work of the Pittsburg team. There are two two wonderful young players, Miller and Abstein. It is rarely that a season produces two such stars as these youngsters have proven to be. It was with the help of these two young players that the Pirates acquired the lead that they possess at the present time.

Players come and go. It is a pity and a shame that they cannot go on like the brook that Tennyson warbled about. They can't and there is no use feeling sorry about the misfortune. The Cubs have slowed down after the strenuous grind of three pennant-winning seasons and the Pirates have come back stronger than ever. There you have the answer.

Then we have the race in the American league. It sure did look like Connie Mack's Athletics two weeks ago. Now it is different. Jennings is a general whom you do not meet every year in baseball, or in any other walk of life, for that matter. He saw the Tigers were weakening. He had the brains and the ability to change horses in midstream, as it were. By trades he has apparently strengthened the Tigers, and today they look like the strongest bidders for the pennant in the American.

Even without the services of "Wild Bill" Donovan, who seemed indispensable to the Tigers, the crew that plucky Hughey Jennings captains, has gone along and pulled itself out of the ruck. You must give it to a team that is playing the kind of baseball that the Tigers have shown for the past two weeks. But at that, what chances have they, should they finish in front in the American League race, against the winner of the flag in the National?

It will be either the Pirates or the Cubs in the National. That is as certain as anything can be in baseball. If the Tigers win the younger league flag, it does not seem as if they will present the grand team on the field that either the Pirates or the Cubs will, as the representatives of the older league. It truly seems as if the world's championship will again fly at the masthead of the National League.

BUILDING RACE TRACK IN MEXICO

American Capitalists Have 300 Acres Across From El Paso.

El Paso, Tex., Sept. 4.—Over in the center of a plowed and bordered field in Mexico, just beyond the last tumbledown house on the San Lorenzo road, in the outskirts of Juarez, which is across the river from El Paso, Tex., a covey of Americans have located, built a temporary office out of rough pine, installed a telephone, and, after ordering a ton of ice and a wagonload of distilled water, they have started in to make the irrigated fields into the fastest and best-known race track on the Northern hemisphere, the acequia bank to be the site of the modern concrete grandstand ever built, and the meadow land the location of a fair and exposition grounds which will cover 300 acres of good Mexican adobe soil.

A visit to the site of the Juarez Jockey club track and Col. Matt Winn of Kentucky, general manager and man on the job, again proves the old adage that the only way to keep an American from progressing in a forward direction is to decapitate him and hide his head where he will not find it.

The track site has not yet been selected, although an ideal location for one just east of the site where the temporary building has been erected will probably be selected. This includes a large part of the 300 acres which have been secured for the racing plant, and it is as level as a floor from border to border. Little grading will have to be done, aside from what is necessary to get the track perfectly level and for the building sites. Neither has the site for the 5,000 capacity grandstand been selected, but this will be done as soon as the track is decided upon.

This track will be a mile and a furlong, with a half mile and a mile chute, or straightaway, in connection for the running of the dashes. The soil for both the track and the chutes will be manufactured from a mixture of the adobe, which is to be found everywhere on the ground, and other ingredients which will be brought in.

In addition to the main grand stand, which is to be a combination of the good points in all of the American and foreign grand stands, there will be the paddock, the office, the betting stand, the casino and a field stand for the native element. Later it is expected that a large concrete hotel and buildings for holding a fair and exposition in connection with the running races, Col. Winn says. The grand stand, which will be of reinforced concrete and of mission design, will have a capacity of 5,000 people, and will have a dome shaped roof, much after the style of the Paris racecourse stand.

It is the present intention of the management to have the grand opening of the Juarez track on Thanksgiving day, when a purse of $2,000 gold will be hung up for the Chihuahua Handicap stake, which will be attended by the officials of the Chihuahua state government. The other prizes will be $1,000 for each day, and the racing will continue six days each week for 100 days. Everything is being built of the most substantial material, and the promoters seem to have all possible confidence in the permanent success of the project.

BREEN WILL GO TO BOSTON

Third Baseman Drafted By Red Sox for Mike Kelly.

Through the working agreement between the Boston Americans and the St. Paul baseball team, Breen will go to the Americans, thus covering him up for the use of the Apostles. The inside of the deal can be readily discerned, as Mike Kelly was taking no chances on having the youngster get away from him.

It is understood that the "drafting" of Breen by the Boston American management will have no effect on the sale of Kohl to the St. Paul team. In fact, it is understood that Kohl figures in the deal for Breen. Kelly is almost as eager to give the King a trial as he was to see whether Breen was fast enough for the American Association.

There has been a working agreement between the Boston Americans and the Apostles the present season. Hall, Karger and other players have been sent to the Boston team this year, though they were playing great baseball for St. Paul. In return for the services of these players the Saints received Chech and Ryan, and it is very probable that no other club but St. Paul could have secured the services of "Tubby" Spencer, the fat catcher, who deserted Boston upon one warm and sultry day last spring. He is now playing with Kelly, simply because he refused to play with Boston and St. Paul needed the services of a backstop very badly.

So the going up of Breen merely means that the lad will be turned over to Kelly when that astute manager has use for him. In fact, it is St. Paul money that has swung the deal for "Toughey." He is the property of the St. Paul team at the present time.

Unless the Sox drop the remaining five games on their schedule, they have already won the flag. Winona has won four less games than the Sox and has lost five more than we uns. If we take one more game we have the flag clinched. At that the Sox are not playing any too good baseball at the present time.

UHLAN WINS GREAT RACE

Readville Horse Defeats Hamburg Belle in Straight Heats.

Each Has a Victory; Tie May Be Broken at Columbus.

Readville, Mass., Sept. 4.—Over a track fully two seconds slower than when the great Lou Dillon startled the world with a mile in 2 minutes thereon, the trotting gelding Uhlan startled the Hamburg Belle in straight heats at the Readville track yesterday in the second meeting of the pair to decide the trotting championship of the world. As Uhlan is a locally owned and bred horse, the victory was decidedly popular, the crowd of 10,000 cheering at the conclusion of each of the heats and also when the victor returned to the wire for Driver Robert Proctor to weigh in.

Hamburg Belle was favorite before the start at odds of 5 to 3 because of her success last week in the National meeting of the cracks at Cleveland, when she earned the world's record of 2:01¼ for trotters in a race, two seconds better than the previous mark, which has stood since the Cresceus, The Abbott at Brighton Beach in 1903.

In drawing for position Billy Andrews held to his usual run of good luck in securing the pole. This was rather disheartening to the followers of Uhlan.

On the second score Walker sent them away to a fine start. Immediately Andrews opened a gap of a length, maintaining this advantage clear to the three-quarters pole when it was seen that Proctor was driving for the first time in earnest in attempting to overtake the leader with the black son of Bingen.

Rapidly Uhlan closed in on the mare until at the head of the home stretch he had her tapped, his head being at her saddle. Andrews apparently had confidence in the finishing abilities of Hamburg Belle and never made a move which he saw Uhlan had reached her neck. Thirty yards from the wire, he tapped the trotting queen a couple of times, but she failed to respond and Uhlan quickly went into the lead, winning easily by two lengths.

The fractional parts of the mile were: 31¾; 1:02¾; 1:33¼, and 2:04¾.

After a couple of warming up scores for the second heat the contestants turned for the word and got it the first time down. The pole, the backers and admirers of the Boston representative had concluded was a big help, but just before reaching the quarter, Andrews surprised every one by fairly jumping Hamburg Belle into a speed so that it appeared from the grandstand as if Uhlan had met with an accident and had been forced to stop stock still. It was a wonderful burst of speed, considering too, that the quarter was reached in 31 seconds. From this point Uhlan was in about the same position back of the leader as the previous heat and Proctor too made great a large concrete hotel and buildings for holding a fair and exposition in connection with the running races, Col. Winn says. The grand stand, which will be of reinforced concrete and of mission design, will have a capacity of 5,000 people, and will have a dome shaped roof, much after the style of the Paris racecourse stand.

It is the present intention of the management to have the grand opening of the Juarez track on Thanksgiving day, when a purse of $2,000 gold will be hung up for the Chihuahua Handicap stake, which will be attended by the officials of the Chihuahua state government. The other prizes will be $1,000 for each day, and the racing will continue six days each week for 100 days. THE VILLAGE CATCHER.

Behind the erstwhile willow tree
The village catcher squats,
A cross and hostile man is he,
With fingers tied in knots
Festooned about with two mammoth palms
As big as corner lots.

His neck is short and thick and red,
His face is black with tan,
He tears his muzzle from his head
And kicks when'er he can,
And shakes his fist at all the world,
For he fears not any man.

The merchant king with eager grins
Come flocking by the score
To see him rake the wide ones in
And wave his arms and roar,
And hear his pungent chaff which flies
Like sparks from furnace door.

He goes on Sunday to the parks
And sits among the boys
Upon the bench, with visage dark
And loud, infernal noise,
And when the umpire dodges rocks
It makes his heart rejoice.

Broiling, rejoicing, thundering
On through the game he goes.
Each inning sees some reason new
To rise upon his toes,
And put it o'er the other crew
By means each player knows.

Thanks, thanks to thee, my worthy friend,
For the lesson thou hast taught.
Turn loose your tongue to join the strife
When battles must be fought.
Hot air will do as much in life
As muscle, nerve or thought.
—Omaha World-Herald.

Uhlan is a 5-year-old gelding by Bingen, out of Blonde by Sir Walter, Jr. He was bred by Arthur H. Parker of Bedford, Mass., once the owner of Bingen, for which he paid $32,000 at auction, and later sold to W. G. Bradbury of New York for a largely advanced price. When Uhlan was 3 years old Mr. Parker sold him to Charles Sanders of Salem, Mass., for $2,500. The same season Uhlan won a race to matinee wagon over the Readville track in 2:13¾, which is today the world's record for that age that way hitched. In his 4-year-old form, Uhlan won all his races excepting the American trotting derby, securing a record of 2:07¾, the fastest race record made by a gelding of that age.

This season his single defeat was by Hamburg Belle at Cleveland, he having previously won in that city, tieing the gelding race record of The Abbott in 2:03¾, which he repeated at Buffalo and bettered yesterday by half a second. Sanders was offered $20,000 for his horse after the first heat in the Hamburg Belle race at Cleveland, but refused to consider the proposition.

Soprano, owned by H. M. Combs of New York and driven by Johnny Dickerson, in the American Horse Breeders' Futurity for trotting foals of 1906, yesterday equalled the record of Fantasy, 2:08¾, that has stood on the turf books for many years as unapproachable.

Soprano had no soft work in bringing home the victory. In both heats Czarevna, the property of D. C. Moran of New York, held the advantage until well to the wire, when Dickerson brought up the winner and just by inches was first at the wire, both of the fillies being under a stiff drive.

In the Blue Hill handicap for trotters, Prince Lavaland, 2:11¾, tripped and broke his leg above the ankle. A policeman ended his suffering with a bullet. The horse was 18 years old and had campaigned all over the country. He was owned by S. Birch of Orange, Mass.

PATTERSON, HERO OF HIS HOME TOWN

Minneapolis Pitcher the Big Noise in St. Croix Falls.

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 4.—St. Croix Falls, Wis., is getting ready to do honor to its favorite native son. The managers of the St. Croix fair, which occurs two days in October, maybe, have announced a Roy Patterson day, and on that eventful occasion Pat is to pitch an exhibition game in front of the race track grandstand with his home team, when they take on the Wahoo, Wis., Wizards.

Pat is the pride of the settlement and when the natives see that Pat is to pitch a game with the Millers they come into the town and watch the bulletin boards and get real sporty, smoking 5-cent cigars and yelling every time the postmaster hangs up a card saying that Minneapolis has scored a run. In the late fall they hang around Pat's barn and bother him and the hired man nearly to death, talking about them there ball players in that there Minneapolis club. They make Pat throw away about all the winesaps in the orchard demonstrating how he pitches and they keep it up until winter comes, then Pat has to lock the kitchen door to keep them out of the house.

It has been the same ever since Pat pitched for the Sox and was the boy wonder of the St. Croix Falls and Harrison, the boy preacher, Pat is still the boy wonder in St. Croix Falls and will be until he grows gray Gallaghers on his chin and becomes baldheaded.

He learned his wonderful control of the ball steering a mule through a stump patch in the Wisconsin clearing and became so adept that he could get through a whole furrow without having plow handles hurdle him over into the adjacent meadow. The skill with which he calculated curves around the stumps gave him a mastery of the ball that later made him famous the world over and put St. Croix Falls upon the map. He still plans his games just as he used to survey a cornfield or lumpage on his boyhood home and he still gets away with it. Incidentally it might be mentioned that Pat is just as much of a favorite with the yaps around Minneapolis as he is with the folks who sit upon his doorstep on the long autumn evenings at St. Croix Falls.

Some of the oldtime Duluth baseball fans will remember Patterson. Many years ago he threw great ball for the Duluth team when it was an independent organization and was managed by Frank Wade. At the end of each year the Minneapolis team used to come to the Head of the Lakes for an outing and some easy money. They usually got both, but once or twice that team composed of "Loole" Klein, Shepard, Lambert, Patterson, Dingwall and some others slipped it over on the Millers.

GUNTHER IS COMING WEST

Will Train Here for Return Match With Whitehead.

Word has been received by George Thatcher, manager of George Gunther, "the Melbourne Kangaroo," stating that the colored boy will return to Duluth within a very short time and will begin active preparations for his encounter with Walter Whitehead.

The battle between the dusky rivals will be staged somewhere in the Copper country, it is believed at the present time, there seemingly being little chance to pull off the battle anywhere around these parts.

Gunther is in very good condition at the present time, according to the advices Thatcher has received from him. Whitehead has also kept in good shape since his fight with Mike Screck. Both men are anxious to settle the ill feeling that has been growing since Gunther first came from the East and became a rival of the larger black man.

Both men think the battle in Superior ended in an unsatisfactory manner, and each fighter is of the opinion that in a return fight he will prove the winner. The fight should be a fast one.

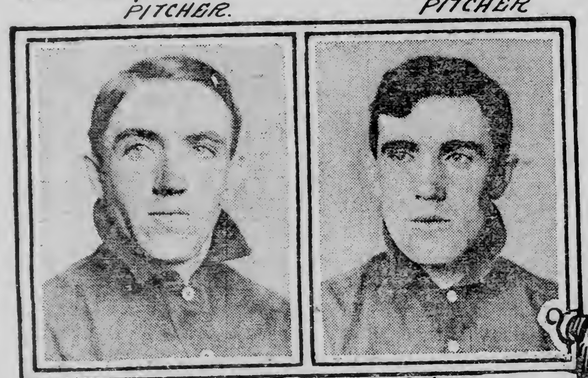

Many people delude themselves by saying "It will wear away," when they notice symptoms of kidney and bladder trouble. This is a mistake. Take Foley's Kidney Remedy, and stop the drain on the vitality. It cures backache, rheumatism, kidney and bladder trouble and makes every trace of pain, weakness, and urinary trouble disappear. New York, Sept. 4.—Perhaps few people realize how nearly equal Stanley Ketchell and Sam Langford are in their physical make-ups. Though the figures vary greatly at some points, a careful going over with the tape discloses the fact that the men are splendidly built, and in many cases are very nearly alike. Both have 17-inch neck. Ketchell has the better of the reach by a scant inch and a half; three-quarters of an inch makes up the difference in their thighs, with Ketchell on the small end; there is an inch difference in their calves, with Stanley the more shapely; a quarter of an inch is the difference in the measurement of the ankles; they are just about of a weight and Ketchell has the best of the forearm figures and the worst of the wrist.

The greatest difference in the tape measurement is in the chest and height. Ketchell stands 5 feet 11 inches, peeking down on Sam from an eminence of four and a half inches. But Sam evens it up when the tape is whipped around that giant chest of his. The great darkey has a 44-inch chest normally, and when he throws it out with pride he adds two inches and a half to the table of figures that stamps him as a remarkable athlete. Ketchell has a great, powerful, broad chest himself and one can readily see what a star Sam is when, with four and a half inches less height to his credit, he has it on Ketchell by seven inches in chest measurement.

Both have small waists when compared to the breadth of their shoulders. Langford is thicker through than Ketchell by two inches. What Langford lacks in reach he makes up for in the depth of his chest. It is little wonder that he drops them with one punch. His chest is as big as Jim Jeffries', yet the top of his head barely reaches the alfalfa king's shoulders. Their wrists and forearms compare favorably. Ketchell makes up for his failing in the chest figures by his unusually long and well-knit arms. He has a remarkably big fist for a man of his size, and it has often been commented upon in the training camps as well as in the ring, where there is sure to be a tussle to get the gloves over the big moneygarners. Both men are growing, evidently, and there is no telling just what great changes may occur in their table of figures in a few years.

Ketchell will eventually be the bigger man by a whole lot. His weight jumps twenty or thirty pounds every time he takes a rest. He intends to batter his way from the middleweight division to the heavyweight title by mowing Jack Johnson down. After that he will simply grow up with the crown. Langford, with his naturally stubby build, can hardly hope to ever be as large. He resembles a heavyweight only in the heft of his punch. He is like Joe Walcott in that respect.

PUGS WARMING UP IN QUAKERVILLE

Looks Like Big Winter in Town of Eternal Sleep.

Philadelphia, Sept. 4.—Within a few weeks the curtain will ascend on the fall and winter boxing season of Philadelphia, which promises to mark a new epoch in the history of local pugilism.

Not in the memory of the "oldest inhabitant" will there be so many boxing clubs doing business weekly, furnishing fistic entertainments to the many followers of the sport in this city every night of the week, as indicated at the present time.

There are at present but two clubs holding weekly entertainments. They are the Douglas Athletic club, conducted by Fred Douglas, and the Broadway Athletic club, supervised by Lew Bailey. In addition the other regularly organized boxing clubs in town, closed during the summer months, are the Nonpareil Athletic club, superintended by Eddie Holland; the West End Athletic club, owned by "Philadelphia" Jack O'Brien, and the National Athletic club, of which Harry Edwards is nominal manager.

Announcement is made that within a few weeks two more clubs, the Philadelphia Athletic club and the Wayne Athletic club are to be opened to the public by Frank O'Brien and "Patsy" Reardon, respectively. These two are reckoned upon as certainties. Then there is some talk relating to the reopening of the clubhouse formerly conducted as the Washington Sporting club.

But of more importance than the number is the benefit that should be derived by the sport. There should be no fear on the part of the individual promoters that the number of clubs will jeopardize their chances of coming out ahead at the end of the season. It is certain there are more followers of pugilism in Philadelphia than are required to support the various clubs which will soon be in operation.

With the reopening of the season, a more satisfactory system of refereeing should be introduced. Too often the club will pay too much attention to the cost of hiring a competent official, and bouts, that under the eye of a capable referee would be big successes, develop into a frost solely through the absence of a capable third man.

Another thing that is to be considered. With the success of the present season, there may be more liberality on the part of the city officials in the matter of lengthening the limit of the bouts. Well conducted clubs which can provide boxing for a period of six rounds should be entrusted with the privileges of holding shows of greater length, say ten, or possibly twelve rounds. This probability may develop into an actuality when the boxing officials can show that reliance can be placed in them. The matter for the present rests in their keeping. It would be profitable all around for them to make the most of it.

WOMEN PLAY FOR CHAMPIONSHIP

Finals in Western Golf Event Being Played at Chicago.

Chicago, Sept. 4.—Two local golfers, Miss Veda Llewellyn of Lagrange, Ill., and Miss Caroline Painter of the Midlothian Country club, survivors from an entry list of eighty, contested in the final match at eighteen holes for the women's Western golf championship at Homewood today. Although neither player had been picked as a probable title winner when the tournament began, both earned the right to play for the championship by eliminating in previous rounds several of the best women golfers in the West.

In the semi-finals yesterday both players defeated their respective opponents in easy manner, Miss Llewellyn winning from Elizabeth Young of the South Shore Country club by 4 up and 2 to play, and Miss Painter triumphing over Mrs. George S. Haskell of Homewood, 5 to 4.

Mrs. George Niedercken of Milwaukee today met Mrs. F. S. Colburn of the Evanston Golf club in the final match for the association cup.

JOCKEY POWERS BARRED FOR LIFE

Saratoga, N. Y., Sept. 4.—Ugly scandals fills the air here and it all grows out of the indefinite suspension of Jockey Vincent Powers by the stewards of the Saratoga Racing association.

Powers was set down for the meeting on the report of Patrol Judge Hall that he was guilty of fouling Waldo with his mount Fauntleroy. At the time everybody disagreed with Judge Hall, it being pointed out that Fauntleroy at no time was within three lengths of Waldo. However, the judge's report was believed and Powers was set down.

It was expected then that the opening of the Sheepshead meeting would see Powers again in silks on a Futurity candidate, but the continuance of the jockey's suspension makes it a matter of conjecture if he ever will straddle another horse on any of the tracks under the control of the jockey club.

LIPTON IS STILL AFTER THE CUP

Boston, Mass., Sept. 4.—Sir Thomas Lipton, despite his three unsuccessful attempts, is still set upon winning the America's cup, according to an interview had with him while abroad recently by Former Mayor John F. Fitzgerald, who was Sir Thomas' guest.

"I am just as anxious and as determined to continue my efforts toward winning the America'n cup as I was the day the Shamrock was launched," Mr. Lipton is quoted as saying. "Repeated failure has only tended to fix more firmly my resolution to give to Ireland the honor of capturing the trophy which stands for the blue ribbon of the sea. My former efforts have taught me that to succeed I must build a boat capable of beating the American defender despite the enormous handicap of the rules governing the deed of gift under which the New York Yacht club holds the cup. I would challenge again tomorrow were the race to be governed by the regular rules of the New York Yacht club or of any recognized club in the world. The present rules provide that the challenger must proceed under sail to the place where the contest is to take place on its own bottom. This latter clause is the key to the situation.

"The sport has grown from contests among purely seagoing vessels into a scientific struggle between vessels that are nothing more nor less than freaks or racing machines. Such a development is not productive of any genuine development in naval architecture as a whole, as was the original intention in perpetuating the America's cup contests.

"The constantly increasing peril of the Atlantic passage on one of these latter-day machines only serves to emphasize the necessity of amending the deed of gift in the interest of true sport. There is no doubt in my mind but that Designer Watson actually worried himself to death over the dangers consequent upon the journeys across the Atlantic. It is impossible to get a builder to attempt the construction of a cup challenger under existing conditions."

News of the Theater

AT THE LYCEUM

ELINOR GLYN'S DRAMATIZATION OF HER OWN BOOK, "THREE WEEKS," WILL BE THE NEXT ATTRACTION AT THE LYCEUM—AMATEUR TALENT THE LATER PART OF THE WEEK. ∴ ∴ ∴ ∴ ∴ ∴ ∴ ∴ ∴ ∴ ∴

The strength and quality of the company presenting the splendid production of Elinor Glyn's remarkable story, "Three Weeks," which is billed for Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday at the Lyceum with matinee Monday and Wednesday, is illustrated by the fact that the cast contains two distinguished leading women of the East.

Beryl Hope who plays "The Lady" is an actress of wonderful emotional power and has been a high salaried artist for years.

None the less clever and popular with the public is Miss Lillian Rhodes, who will lend dignity to the performance by her interpretation of the Russian maid, Anna, the faithful attendant of "The Lady." Miss Rhodes has had a remarkably varied experience despite her youth and relates with great gusto some of the amusing things that have occurred to her. Her temperament is a cheerful one and happily she sees the funny side of all things.

At one time, in one of the important Eastern cities, she was engaged as leading woman for a stock company and was assured by the management that none but high class plays should be produced. But business did not come with the better class dramas, so the management tried a policy of melodrama with more encouraging results.

Although repellant to her artistic instincts, Miss Rhodes permitted herself to be thrown from a balcon as the heroine of one thriller and to be tied close to the business edge of an operating buzz saw in another, but when the stage manager came to her one day and told her that in the next play she would have to walk across a tight rope stretched across a yawning chasm—and in her bare feet at that—Miss Rhodes balked and tendered her resignation for immediate effect.

She says she has often wondered if she would have been able to do the stunt and what the next request would have been. Emotional roles—ladies with pasts attached to them—have since claimed most of her attention. Although more strenuous, they are less hazardous than the melodramatic heroine.

LOCAL TALENT.

"Up and Down Broadway" at the Lyceum Next Week.

Donald MacDonald will present "Up and Down Broadway" at the Lyceum theater for two performances Friday and Saturday evenings of next week. A number of young Duluth society people will appear in the principal roles and the performance will be given for the first time on any stage.

A more extended notice will be found on the society page of this evening's Herald.

Lyceum Notes.

The last performance of "The Shepherd King" will be given at the Lyceum tonight.

• • •

"In Wyoming," one of the finest Western productions of the present day, will be seen here. Perhaps not since "The Virginian" has the stage been offered a hero at once so human, so manly and so irresistable as Mr. Mack's "Bob Rickards." The glorified cowboy has appeared in fiction and stage again and again with his sombrero and his wild antics with a six-shooter. The thing about Mr. Mack's cowboy, that has appealed so forcefully, is that he is real. He is a man.

• • •

One of the most interesting events of the present season will be the presentation here at the Lyceum soon of the successful Irish play, "Ragged Robin," with ever welcome Chauncey Olcott in the title role. The play has been a phenomenal success throughout the country, and is said to be one of the most delightful performances of Irish drama ever given in this country. More than that, it is the real thing, so far as Irish atmosphere goes. It affords a vivid and faithful picture of life in the Green Isle during the first part of the last century and, interwoven with the every day happenings of the peasantry are delightful bits of fairy and folk lore, illustrated by songs, clfin dances and much handsome scenery.

An early booking at the Lyceum is the big spectacular production, "The Parisian Model" There is catchy music, clever dancing and a magnificent arrangement of coloring in costumes and scenery which makes the entire production a masterpiece of stage craft.

• • •

Among the early season attractions at the Lyceum are Harry Askin's big musical production, "Lo," by O. Henry, F. P. Adams and A. B. Sloane, and MacDonough and Herbert's "Babes in Toyland."

AT THE BIJOU

CELEBRATED GYMNASTS, SCENIC SKETCH, AND STRONG COMEDY FEATURES TO BE SEEN LABOR DAY AND THE FOLLOWING WEEK. ∴ ∴

Variety is the keynote of the bill of vaudeville that will open at the popular Bijou theater Labor day, as the program will have everything that goes to make up a first-class entertainment.

It would be hard to say just who is entitled to the feature billing of the show, as each act is of the feature kind. On the bill will be such vaudeville favorites as Harry and Kate Jackson, whose names are well known throughout the Eastern cities, and who have done much to make vaudeville the popular amusebent it is today. They will present on their first appearance in Duluth the beautiful scenic sketch "Cupid's Voyage," which has a pretty story and is brim full of bright and catchy comedy. The scenic and electrical effects are said to be very attractive and out of the ordinary.

Now comes His Honor, "The Mayor of The Bowery," Harry Thomson, who has been a favorite in vaudeville over two continents. He is the man who can get a laugh with Hamlet's soliloquy. He has been in Europe so long that he seems like a foreigner. He is the man who made the president of France laugh so that he subscribed for all the American funny papers.

Mlle. Martha, an European artist of the athletic kind, who has been a big success abroad, plays her second week of her American tour at the Bijou, playing her first week at Winnipeg this week. Mlle. Martha is said to be young, pretty and graceful as well as to be possessed of remarkable agility and physical development. She is assisted by Max Aldo, another noted European gymnast.

Morris and Morton, two popular singing and dancing comedians, will be one of the principle comedy acts of the week. They are naturally funny and send their humor out into the audience before they speak a word. They are both excellent singers, and as dancers they are entitled to the blue ribbon.

The big gymnastic feature of the week will be the Malvern troupe of acrobats, who perform their entire act in full evening dress. This act is the fastest acrobatic act in America, and is considered to be one of the foremost of the world. They have been featured with the Ringling shows, the Hippodrome, New York, have toured Europe three times and were featured in all the principle circuses and theaters of England, Germany, France, Scotland and Ireland, also playing one tour over South Africa.

Harry Webb will sing one of his newest illustrated songs and the moving pictures will all be new and exclusive subjects. Matinees are given daily at 2:45 and night performances at 8 and 9:30. Seats may be reserved by either telephone. The box office opens at 10 a. m. A school children's matinee will be given Saturday afternoon at 2:30. All scholars under the age of 14 years will be admitted for 5 cents. Special attention is paid to the comfort of ladies and children at all times. This theater has been enlarged to hold 250 more people. New exists have been installed direct to the street, from the balcony, making the theater safer than ever. Also a fine ventilating system has been put in. Everything is growing about the Bijou, except the prices.

GOSSIP OF THE RIALTO

NEWS OF ATTRACTIONS THAT ARE CAUSING COMMENT DURING THE EARLY SEASON ON BROADWAY. ∴ ∴ ∴ ∴ ∴ ∴ ∴ ∴

"The American girl is far too pure-minded for the foreign man." That was one of the significant things said by George C. Tyler, managing director of the theatrical firm of Liebler & Co., when he got back from Europe on his latest trip. Mr. Tyler, Booth Tarkington and Harry Leon Wilson had been making a tour of the continent and each had come to the conclusion which Mr. Tyler summed up so tersely.

Out of the applied observation given the subject by these three shrewd American men of affairs, there has developed a play which is looked upon by those who have seen it as the most convincing arraignment of the titled rakes that has yet been written. It is called "Foreign Exchange," and in it the authors, Messrs. Tarkington and Wilson, have shown the disastrous consequences secure to follow the marriage of a pure-minded American girl to a man brought up to the lax moral idea of Europe. Of course, it is a comedy—it would be rather hard for these gentlemen to write anything that wasn't comedy. "The Man From Home" and "Cameo Kirby" are examples of the Tarkington-Wilson product, and proof of the generous depth of their comedy vein.

Liebler & Co. have completed the cast of "The Battle," the Cleveland Moffett play which ran all last season at the Savoy theater in New York. Wilton Lackaye will continue as John J. Hegelton, "the richest man in New York." Harry Hilliard will be the Philip Ames, the son of Haggleton, who has been brought up among the poor of the East side and who holds ideas directly opposite those of his father's; Thomas McGrane has the part of Gentle, the old Socialist who has instructed Philip; Gerald Griffin is the Moran, an enemy of capitalists; Charles Abbe has his old part of Joe, with a fondness of picking the winners—or trying to; Clara Blandick will be Margaret Lawrence, the trained nurse who does her part in the battle for Philip, and Julie Herne will be seen as the unfortunate Jenny.

Miss Mabel Hite has been engaged by Liebler & Co. to star in a new comedy which the firm will produce a little later in the season, and in which the chief part is of the sort Miss Hite has been so successful in portraying. In connection with this engagement, there is another announcement which should be of interest to a great many thousands who see in Miss Hite not only a capable and entertaining actress, but also the wife of the celebrated Mike Donlin, hero of many a diamond battle. Mr. Donlin will be a member of the company, and from the opening date and after will literally support his wife. A part is being written for the outfielder who was for so long a favorite with the New York fans, and when the comedy is put on the bold Mike may be expected to speak such lines as his baseball admirers will look to him to speak.

Many of the Shubert attractions lean towards ship scenes. The latest is Lew Fields' new review, which, by the way, he is calling "The Merry Bachelors." One of the scenes in this production will show three decks of the Lusitania. Over 200 people will be employed.

"Billy," the Sidney Drew farce now at Daly's, takes place aboard the steamship "Florida." There is a midget yacht in "Havana," the Casino musical comedy, while in "The Ringmaster" the second act occurs at mid-ocean on the private yacht of Le Baron. There will also be a ship scene in "The Paradise of Mahomet."

Lew Dockstader, now under the management of James H. Decker, opened his season Tuesday night at Binghamton, N. Y. Surrounding him are Neil O'Brien, Al Jolson, Eddie Mazier, Frank Dumont, W. H. Hallett and Peter Detzel.

• • •

"The Ringmaster," the Maxine Elliott theater success, was formerly called "The Son of His Father," and under that title was first produced in Washington by a stock company.

• • •

Maude Lambert succeeds Blanche Ring in "The Midnight Sons." The review, by the way, will not be withdrawn from the Broadway theater before November.

Louise Gunning began her second season in "Marcelle" last Monday at the Savoy theater, Atlantic City. Jess Dandy remains with the company as a special "feature."

• • •

Geraldine Malone is a newcomer to the cast of "Havana," playing the part created by Miss Clara Palmer, the latter going with Lew Fields' "Old Dutch."

• • •

In addition to appearing in a drama by Eugene Walter, Nazimova, the Russian actress, will be seen in another new play by an American.

John Philip Sousa has signed contracts with the Shuberts to write a comic opera. It will be called "The Glass Blowers."

• • •

Bert Williams will be seen this season in a new musical play called "Mr. Lode of Koal."

• • •

Miss Julie Herne has entered into a double alliance with the firm of Liebler & Co., selling the managers a play and being engaged by George C. Tyler, the managing director, to play a part in one of his attractions. The play is called "Managing Sylvia" and is not the first this daughter of the late James A. Herne has written. It will be produced this season. Meantime, Miss Herne will join the Liebler forces in the character of Jenny in "The Battle."

• • •

Mary Elizabeth Forbes, the new young lady in "The Man From Home," is going through her part in the happy avoidance of a rather natural error into which she fell when she was rehearsing the part of Ethel Granger-Simpson. Miss Forbes comes from St. Louis, where her parents are admittedly of the F. F. M., and prominent in the best society of that excellent city. Miss Forbes of St. Louis, had little time for rehearsing Ethel, on account of Henry Hall being away on a vacation. When Mr. Hall did get back to New York, to rehearse for the special company, which is presenting the play on the road, he spoke kindly to Miss Forbes, and interspersed the dialogue and business of the play with friendly and instructive personal converse. Following a bit of dialogue which comes in the third act, Mr. Hall looked suddenly at Ethel and said politely—

"Your father and mother both come from Missouri, don't they?"

"Why yes, how did you know?" said Miss Forbes, much pleased.

"My child," said the paternal Mr. Hall, "those lines are in the play, and when I speak them, it would very much displease Messrs. Tarkington and Wilson if you were to publicly exhibit the delightful surprise you have just shown."

And now, at performances, when Daniel Voorhees Pike says something about Ethel Granger-Simpson's folks being from Missouri, Ethel, she just looks silently sweet and sweetly silent, and the play runs smoothly.

Miss Trixie Friganza and her fellow players in the Cohan and Harris comedians, are rehearsing George M. Cohan's "The American Idea" for its second tour of the nation. This huge musical play which won unstinted praise in New York, Chicago and Boston last season will visit new territory this year and introduce to play-goers who love piquancy, melody, dancing and effervescent humor one of the brightest things that Cohan has done. "The American Idea" was written and composed by Mr. Cohan as a musical presentation of the speed with which America lives; it all moves at a breakneck pace and the laughs are so frequent that they come at machine gun velocity. Miss Friganza heads the cast.

The preliminary tour of Mrs. Leslie Carter, during which she hopes to present "Vasta Herne," the new Peple play, "Kassa" and "Camille," opens in St. Paul, Sept. 13, and takes in Minneapolis, Milwaukee and Kansas City.

INCUBATOR BABY TO GO BACK HOME

Kidnaper Will Be Accused in Spite of Dropping of Her Charges.

Topeka, Kan., Sept. 3.—Marian Bleakley, the "incubator baby," will be turned over to its mother, Mrs. Charlotte Bleakley, at Kansas City within a few days, when the attorneys for Mrs. Stelle Barclay of Buffalo, N. Y., charged with kidnapping the child, will ask that the habeas corpus proceedings brought at Kansas City be dismissed. This announcement was made today by attorneys on both sides.

The baby is now in Kansas City in charge of the clerk of the juvenile court. The case brought by Mrs. Barclay was to have been heard in Kansas City next Tuesday. Mrs. Bleakley is now in the East, but will, according to the present arrangements, dismiss the suit at Kansas City as soon as she returns to this city. Mrs. Barclay still is under ban in the Kansas City jail on the charge of kidnaping, and the officials here say she must stand trial, no matter what disposition is made of the case.

CANADA STIRRED BY PAYNE BILL

Retaliatory Measures Are Not Proposed As Yet, However.

Montreal, Que., Sept. 3.—While it is true that there is resentment in this country over the new provisions of the Payne tariff affecting the pulp and paper industry, it is felt both at Ottawa and Quebec that nothing can be gained by the imposition of export duties. The federal government, it is officially announced, will not take any action of a retaliatory nature in this direction, and any legislation that it may enact will be directed rather to a final settlement rather than to an aggravation of the difficulties at present in the way.

It can be authoritatively announced that the future action of the Quebec provincial government will be in line with the policy most acceptable to the dominion as a whole, rather than any calculated to meet the immediate situation as it is found in the province of Quebec.

Timber Leases Near End.

The existing timber leases in that province expire at the end of the current year. The government will have to decided upon its policy soon, in order that it may be carried into effect with the granting of the new leases. It is certain that the provincial government will elect to follow the example of Ontario and make it a stipulated essential condition of all new leases that there shall be absolutely no exportation of unmanufactured wood pulp to the United States in so far as crown lands are concerned.

It would require an act of the dominion government to prohibit exportations from other than crown lands. Considerably more than 50 per cent of the unmanufactured pulpwood sent from Quebec province to the United States is exported by farmers from their own lands.

Need Not Call Parliament.

The provincial government can take action in the matter without calling parliament together, as the assent of the provincial assembly is not necessary to any change in the conditions of timber leases, though such change would in all probability be submitted to it if the premier decided to call a late fall session. On this point no authoritative announcement is forthcoming.

Bryce Goes to Ottawa.

Ottawa, Ont., Sept. 3.—James Bryce, British ambassador at Washington, has come to Ottawa to consult with Sir Wilfred Laurier on questions at issue between Canada and the United States. It is understood that the conference was chiefly concerning trade conditions consequent upon the Payne tariff and the prospect of Canada's officially showing resentment should Canada be put upon the American maximum status if the Franco-Canadian tariff is confirmed.

MONTENEGRO'S NATIONAL DANCE.

Wide World Magazine: The national dance of Montenegro is the "Kolo," somewhat similar to the "Horo" of Bulgaria. Both sexes take part, crossing hands and forming an unjoined circle. The music they supply themselves, each end of the horn alternately singing a verse in honor of the prince, and his warlike deeds. The "Kolo" is always danced at any great national festival, and the effect of the sonorous voices and swaying ring is very fine. Then there is another dance performed by four or five, usually youths, to the accompaniment of a fiddle, the leader setting a lot of intricate steps which the rest imitate at once. It is really a sort of jig and makes the spectator's head swim if he watches it for long.

I never saw any dances in Northern Albania; though certain Slav artists love to depict wonderful sword dances, with beauteous maidens swaying gracefully after the style of nautch girls. A casual observer, who has seen the Albanians come into Montenegrin markets or to their great weekly gathering in the bazar of Scutari, could never picture these stern, lean men dancing or at play. They never smile, and they look the life they lead, each clan ever ready for war with its neighbor and absolutely pitiless in the vendetta. The red Indian is not more stoical in his bearing than the Northern Albanian clansman.

A French chemist has recently proclaimed that cider is an antidote for typhoid fever. The acid in it is the agent, as it destroys the germs. Cider in Europe is more generally used as a beverage than in this country. Germans appear to prefer cider after it becomes sour, but Americans usually prefer it while it is sweet.

IS BETTER THAN EVER

New Chisholm Has Arisen on Ashes of Former Ruins.

One Year Ago Fire Fiend Left Trail of Desolation.

Chisholm, Minn. ,Sept. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—One year ago tomorrow, Sept. 5, 1908, Chisholm was visited by the worst conflagration that ever sent terror into the fire threatened communities of the Mesaba range, when the forest fires menacing the town got beyond control. The village of 4,000 souls was practically wiped out, about thirty-two small residences, two schoolhouses and two churches being all that was left of a once bustling prosperous place.

Within the short period of twelve months the newer and better Chisholm has risen from the ashes of its predecessor, better and more progressive than ever. Like all communities that have received a "baptism of fire" Chisholm has benefitted materially regardless of the mental and financial suffering that the great disaster involved and the progressive men and women of this growing place have almost forgotten that just a year ago their homes and places of business were either endangered or wiped out by the relentless fire fiend.

Birdseye View of New Town.

The panoramic view of the new Chisholm furnishes a partial idea of the amount of money and energy expended in the rebuilding of the town. The individual pictures of buildings furnish some conception of what the builders of the new town have overcome in the brief space of twelve months. The high school building, which was fortunately saved from destruction, being the only large building excepting the two churches that did not fall before the onward march of the relentless flames, is also shown.

That readers not familiar with the numerous industries of this section may recognize what it was that gave heart to every man and woman when the village was wiped out, the great Shenango mine here is also shown. This is one of the great open pit mines of the Mesaba range from which trainloads of ore are taken daily during the shipping season and which contributes largely to the prosperity of the community.

Disaster Came Suddenly.

The fire which swept this village almost off the map Saturday ,Sept. 5 last, came with a suddenness that almost caught the people unawares. Brush fires had been raging in the locality for several days, but on the eventful day the danger that hung over the town did not seem to dawn upon the people until late in the afternoon. About 5 o'clock the whistles began blowing, summoning the people to save their personal effects, for the fire was beyond control and was jumping from stump to stump, sweeping towards the doomed village like a veritable tornado of death and destruction. The flames and smoke soon became so dense that the work of saving household goods had to be abandoned and many fled to escape cremation. Soon the flames licked up the water plant and the last fire fighter giving up the battle joined in the exodus. The tales of suffering and privation were told in The Herald, as well as the magnanimity of the people of Hibbing and other range communities, Duluth and the Twin Cities and other portions of the state and nation who responded to the calls for aid for the stricken village. Order was brought out of chaos, the needy ones were fed and aided and the rebuilding of Chisholm began. Momentarily shocked by the great calamity, the loyalty of the citizens never wavered and they set about rebuilding the newer and better Chisholm in a manner that spoke volumes for human pluck and enterprise.

FROM THE MINES AND THE SMELTERS

REDUCING COSTS AT BUTTE

Adopting Electricity, Sinking New Shafts and Completing Development—East Butte Has Suspended Development in Old Mines and Is Paying Expenses From Pittsmont—Insiders Selling Davis-Daly.

Butte, Mont., Sept. 4.—With the introduction of electric power at the Butte mines, to replace steam power, thereby reducing the cost of production about one-third of a cent per pound, there still remain several other plans to be introduced for the still further reduction of costs. Electric power will reduce Amalgamated costs considerably below 10 cents per pound, but a greater saving will be made for some of the Amalgamated mines when the new Belmont shaft is completed and will be used for operating many of the big mines on the Anaconda hill.

The Belmont shaft is situated nearly two miles south of the shafts of the Anaconda, Neversweat and St. Lawrence mines of the Anaconda company. The main underground workings of these mines extend to and beyond the Belmont, and it requires little computation to realize the great saving that will ensue when everything in supplies and ore can be handled through the Belmont shaft.

At present all fuel and supplies have to be hauled up the hill for several miles by steam, and then all the ore must be hauled down again after it has been trammed underground for a mile or two in the hill shafts. A new shaft is also being sunk at the Gagnon mine, an Amalgamated property, and that will serve to make a large saving at that mine in operating expenses.

The North Butte will in six months have two working shafts in place of one, as at present, and that fact ought to help in a reduction of costs. The North Butte is still turning out copper at 8 cents or less per pound, and that will probably continue while the high average of ore value is maintained. Some of the Amalgamated mines are producing copper at 9 cents per pound, but several cost as high as 13 cents. The Anaconda group run between 9 and 10 cents.

Butte Coalition copper, it is estimated, costs about 9½ cents per pound. The latter company has been under extraordinary expense in development work ever since its organization. In spite of which the cost of production has been gradually reduced, and in all likelihood it will fall to 8 cents when there is a cessation of the extraordinary work, and the output of the mines

WESTERN UTAH IS NOW BUSY

More Than 200,000 Tons of Ore Blocked Out in Deep Creek District and Will Soon Begin Shipping.

Salt Lake City, Utah, Sept. 4.—With the proper railroad facilities the Western Utah Copper company, which is operating in the Deep Creek mining district in the western part of the state, could begin shipping a good tonnage at once and keep it up indefinitely. Such is the information given out by Supt. John Bergh, who is in the city for a few days after spending five months at the property, giving it his attention every minute of the time.

At present the company is working about ten men and each day they are adding to the tonnage of the property. Already something like $55,000 has been expended for development work, and better than 200,000 tons of ore have been blocked out.

The recent strike at the property is 250 feet to the south and east of the old workings and in a portion of the territory where an engineer during the financial depression of 1907 declared in a report that not even the lime would be found. As it is, the company has opened up an excellent body of lead-silver ore, and Mr. Bergh is confident that it will run into copper at depth.

On the 350-foot level in the property, which is the lowest workings, the vein has been crosscut for seventy-five feet before finding both walls. This vein carries a heavy excess of iron with silver, lead and copper values. The copper is becoming stronger as depth is secured. The conditions are the same as that surrounding the copper ore found on the upper levels. This rock is an ideal flux. As the width of the vein has been ascertained, the shaft will be sent to greater depth.

On the 300-foot level the vein has been crosscut for fifty feet, and only the one wall has thus far been found. It is believed that the vein will be equally as large on this level as it was on the level below. Six feet of this ore will go twelve to fifteen ounces silver and from 12 to 15 per cent lead.

The company has just installed a

DOUGLAS DISTRICT NEWS

Regular Well Drills Ordered for Development of Bernoudy-Turkey Creek Property After Machines and Compressors Were on Cars.

Douglas, Ariz., Sept. 4.—Plans for the development of the Bernoudy-Turkey Creek property have recently undergone considerable revision.

After machines and compressors were on board the cars, the order was countermanded, and it is now proposed to put in regular drills. This plan is highly recommended by many of the leading mining men of Montana and Colorado, as cheaper and superior to diamonds or any other known mode of sinking. Burrell Musgrave is in Texas, and Mr. Bond expects to go East tomorrow. Manager Lowell is in Paradise.

Mr. Joplin and others who went out to the property to work came back dissatisfied with financial conditions and are looking for jobs. The outlook is none too rosy just at present.

"Dad" Stewart went to his property in the north end of the Ajos yesterday, where he will do some development work. Assessment work not being required in Mexico, he will simply engage in a bit of exploitation.

All kinds of supplies are streaming out to the Heffern these days. President Heffern was in Douglas yesterday and was as sanguine as ever in regard to the prospects of their property.

James Taylor, the well known mining man from the Lucky Tiger district is in Douglas. He states that the Tombior is bonded and speaks very highly of the North Tigre, owned by Dick Brown and associates. The Tigre district has certainly accumulated a swell reputation in the outside world and results have gone far to vindicate its claims to merit.

Murray McInnerny and others are developing a promising proposition just below Cabullona.

Chloriding on the San Marcus and Santa Roca is running light, most of the leasers having thrown up their jobs and come to Douglas.

C. B. Bell, prominently associated with the Carman, the Belle Union and the La Union properties, the last named being in the Tordilla district, came in from the Carman last evening. Mr. Bell has no statement to give out for publication, since the Carman affair is still in the courts.

Charley Dolf, superintendent of the Grand Arizona, ten miles east of Douglas, is authority for the statement that the shaft is down 175 feet and has

MINE IS SOLD FOR $1,000,000

Nickel Plate Property Disposed of By Marcus Daly Estate.

Spokane, Wash., Sept. 4. — Frank Atherton Ross of Grand Forks, B. C., who is in Spokane, confirmed yesterday the sale of the Nickel Plate mine, located in the Similkameen valley in British Columbia. Mr. Ross, who is managing director of the property, said:

"The Nickel Plate mine was the last property bought by the late Marcus Daly. It was bought by him as a prospect and was later developed by his estate, which remained the owner up to the time of the present sale. It is the most famous gold producer in Canada and the deal is considered of great importance in British Columbia, for it will bring greater capital into the Similkameen valley, where there are many valuable undeveloped properties.

"The Great Northern opened its line to Hedley, the location of the mine, Aug. 14, and construction work on to Vancouver will be hurried forward."

The exploration syndicate which purchased the Nickel Plate mine is said to be the strongest mining concern in the United States and is backed by Standard Oil and United States Steel capitalists. The purchase price is said to have been $1,000,000.

The mine, in fewer than five years, is said to have produced $2,500,000 with but forty stamps in service.

Mr. Ross, who has had the management of the mine for some time, will remain in that capacity with the new company.

TERMS OF OPTION ON BUTTE & ELY

T. F. Cole Has Right to Purchase Controlling Interest in Property.

The terms of the option given on the controlling interest in the Butte & Ely Mining company's stock have just become public through a notice sent to stockholders by the company. It appears that the option is given to Thomas F. Cole personally, but it is presumed that he holds it for the Giroux Consolidated company, which is engaged in prospecting the Butte & Ely ground. The directors' notice to stockholders reads as follows:

"To the stockholders of the Butte & Ely Copper company:

"The directors have given Thomas F. Cole of Duluth, Minn., an option to purchase all of the treasury stock of the company, which amounts to two hundred twenty-nine thousand one hundred seventy-five (229,175) shares at one ($1.00) dollar a share, payable on or before Sept. 14, 1909.

"As a condition to taking this, Mr. Cole has asked that enough private stock be included in the option to give him control of the company, or a total of two hundred fifty thousand five (250,005) shares.

"The directors are asking the individual stockholders to contribute at one ($1.00) dollar a share 10 per cent of their holdings. The form of option is herewith inclosed, which, if agreeable to you, you will execute and return to me.

"Your stock should be deposited with the Daly Bank & Trust company, Butte."

LAKE SUPERIOR COPPER MINES

Cross Cutting in Baltic Lode on Isle Royale Property Has Not Disclosed Any Good Values—Effort Made to Find Lode on New Arcadian Property.

Houghton, Mich., Sept. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Isle Royale's operations in the Baltic lode continue centered in crosscutting that formation at the 500-foot level with the object of intercepting the extension of the copper chute from which a small core was taken in the diamond drill operations of a year and a half ago, and though this crosscut has traversed the greater part of the width of the lode nothing of importance in the way of copper ground has developed. This crosscut will be further extended and should it fail to encounter the much sought copper course, shaft sinking will be immediately resumed. The character of the rock encountered in the crosscut has changed from flinty red rock in which the shaft is sunk, to a softer rock ash gray in color and of marked similarity to the rock in the Superior mine next south. Though it is from this rock from its own mine that the Superior is securing such excellent results, the gray rock on the Isle Royale property is apparently without copper mineral and such showings as have been secured at the latter point have thus far been confined to the red rock exposed in the shaft. Operations on the Isle Royale lode result in the further disclosure of good runs of copper ground, though of the same low average copper content noted in the past. Sinking in all four shafts continues without interruption and the creation of lateral openings is being accomplished at a rate that should soon put the property in shape to produce fully 2,100 tons of rock daily with a production up to quite 3,500 tons of rock daily possible, though quite unlikely, in the near future, the present capacity of the stamp mill not being greatly in excess of 2,100 tons of rock daily. Present rock output is approximately 1,400 tons daily.

The first diamond drill hole of a series that will be put down on the property of the New Arcadian in an endeavor to locate the Baltic lode has penetrated the overburden and is now sinking in rock at a depth of sixty-five feet from surface. A second diamond drill outfit is being delivered and will go into commission on the assumed strike line of this lode at a point nearly one mile distant from the No. 1 hole.

Steam was turned into the hoist recently installed at the No. 2 shaft of the Superior Copper company, and everything is now in shape to resume mining operations at that point after a period of idleness of quite one year. Plans are to immediately deepen this shaft from the present depth of about 250 feet to nearer 500 feet where laterals will be run out in search of the Baltic lode. This work should be accomplished before the end of the year. Developments in the No. 1 shaft reveal a persistency in values in the drift extensions that is most gratifying. Good stoping ground is being developed at the several points of activity in this shaft and a more frequent occurrence of mass copper is noted in the newer work at the lower levels. The shaft is sinking for the twelfth level.

North Lake.

North Lake has been compelled to abandon the No. 3 diamond drill hole at a depth of about 2,100 feet owing to the broken condition of the formation at that depth making impossible the continuation of diamond drilling without danger of wedging the drill bit and losing the carbons. It was expected that the Lake lode would be encountered in this hole at between 2,200 and 2,600 feet of depth. The drill outfit has been removed to the westward of the abandoned No. 3 hole, where a sixth hole is sinking to complete the geological cross section of the property begun. A fifth drill hole to the southward of No. 3 hole has attained a depth of 350 feet and is expected to tap the Lake lode within the next few hundred feet of drilling. Operations to date at the North Lake have resulted in the disclosure of two copper bearing lodes thought to be identical with the Adventure lodes Nos. 1 and 2. The so-called Lake lode is yet to be located on this property.

Indiana has rigged up the first of the two diamond drill outfits that will be placed in operation on this property and diamond drilling is expected to be in progress within a few days, the ledge having been encountered at comparatively shallow depth. Present operations are directed toward the location of the northern extension of the so-called Adventure and Lake lodes recently disclosed on those prpoerties.

New Baltic has succeeded in getting the No. 3 drill hole started after considerable difficulties and delay in getting the No. 2 hole started only to result in abandonment before actual drilling in rock was possible and is

MINE ZINC INSTEAD OF COPPER

New Method for Treating Zinc Ores May Revolutionize Mining Around Butte—Butte & Superior Company Will Mine Zinc at the Blackrock Mine.

Butte, Mont., Sept. 4.—In August the Butte district produced about 26,070,130 pounds of copper from 373,520 tons of ore. The Mountain View mine, one of the largest producers of the Amalgamated company, was shut down nearly the entire month on account of an accident to the shaft. The different companies, on a basis of twenty-nine days, figured in the production as follows:

Companies—	Total tons of ore.	lbs. of copper per ton.	Total lbs.
Boston & Montana	92,800	76	7,052,800
Anaconda	104,545	62	6,481,790

North Butte	40,310	84	3,386,040
Butte Coalition	45,500	72	3,432,000
Original	20,300	73	1,481,900
Pittsburg & Montana	11,310	68	769,080

Butte, Mont., Sept. 4.—The Butte & Superior Copper company, which owns the Blackrock group of claims, will for the present pin its faith on the zinc ore deposits in the Blackrock, and has decided to erect a 300-ton zinc concentrator at the mine. The Blackrock contains an immense tonnage of zinc ore, but until quite recently the Butte zinc ores could not be treated at a profit, but a method has been found, and W. A. Clark has built a large zinc plant at the Butte Reduction works for the purpose of treating ore from some of his mines. The Butte & Superior has been trying to find copper ore in paying quality and quantity in the Blackrock, but not with very good success. The intention now is to concentrate the zinc ore, regardless of the copper value, the latter, necessarily, being last. A 300-ton mill is a small concern, considering the great quantity of zinc ore in the Blackrock mine. The Butte & Superior has spent a great deal of money in trying to make a paying mine out of the old property. In addition to its large capitalization, it has a bond issue of $500,000.

The new zinc mill is to be completed within five months, a contract for its erection having already been let. Engineers and others representing W. A. Clark have made some excellent reports on the zinc deposits in the Butte district, and have predicted that zinc will become of greater profit to Butte miners than copper. The district contains some of the largest zinc deposits in the world. The Alice group of mines, now owned by Butte Coalition, has millions of tons of the ore in sight. The same is true of the Lexington mines owned by La France Copper company, a United Copper company concern, and the old Emma mine, owned now by the Butte Copper & Zinc company, a New York corporation owned by the Sellgmans and associates, also has several million tons of high grade zinc ore in sight.

Heretofore Butte ores were mined and treated only for copper, silver and gold, and the smelters exacted a penalty for the zinc content, and when the percentage of zinc was too high, the ore no longer paid for the mining, and so was left in the ground. To treat it for zinc alone it is necessary to ignore the other mineral contents, which therefore become a loss, but the Butte & Superior company and others believe that there is more profit in the zinc than there is in copper and silver. Much of the Butte ore carries 45 to 60 per cent zinc, and the lower grade is said to be an exceptionally good concentrating ore.

The experiments in Butte are causing the owners of other zinc properties throughout the state to begin investigations and experiments. A great deal of the ore exists in the old Blue-Eyed Nellie mining district west of Anaconda, the ore averaging about 36 per cent zinc. If the hopes of the pioneers in the industry are realized, a smelter for the treatment of zinc ores will soon become a necessity in the Butte district.

The Sierra Company.

It would appear that the flotation of the Sierra mining company, organized by Thomas F. Cole of Duluth, was not the great success that was at first advertised. The announcement was that the stock had been greatly oversubscribed, but the latter information was that everybody would get all they had asked for. The allotment was postponed from time to time. It is understood that the enterprise is one fathered alone by Mr. Cole, and is not one of the so-called Cole-Ryan propositions. Three hundred thousand shares of the stock have been offered for subscription at $5 per share, $4 more to be collected later. The Sierra

STRIPPING WORK IS RUSHED

Big Bodies of Ore on Mesaba Being Laid Bare in Record Time —There Will Be More Mines on 1910 Shipping List Than Ever Before.

While great activity in mining and shipping prevails in practically all of the various fields of the Lake Superior country, operations on the Mesaba range are being conducted with particular vigor. The work there is on a truly tremendous scale, and it needs to be, for from the Mesaba must come materially more than half of the ore demanded from the entire region. Not only is the Mesaba breaking all former records of production this season, but it is preparing for still greater things in the year to come. More mines will be on the shipping list in 1910 than ever before. A considerable number of new properties are being opened. Among them are several which will produce from underground, but for the most part the development work consists of the removal of overburden preparatory to mining the deposits with steam shovels.

Stripping operations on the Mesaba were never more active, and they will continue on a very large scale throughout the winter. Most of the big contracting concerns which make a specialty of work of this kind are employing larger forces of men and are operating more shovels than at any previous time. An important stripping program now being embarked upon is that which will result in adding the Hudson property to the list of open-pit producers. The Hudson is a property of Pickands, Mather & Co. and is near that operator's Mohawk mine in the Aurora district. Another new mine in the Aurora field is the Perkins, controlled by Joseph Sellwood of Duluth. This mine also will be an open-pit proposition. The work of removing the overburden has been in progress for some time past and mining operations are already possible.

A prospective stripping work of large proportons is that which is contemplated at the United States Steel corporation's Genoa property. It has not yet been announced just when the operations will be instituted, but it is reported they will be started shortly and will be pushed with vigor during the winter. The area from which the overburden is to be removed was the locaton of the once thriving village of Sparta, dismantled within the past few months, and what was the main street of the town will be the very center of the big pit to be excavated. In the Eveleth district, work is in progress preliminary to opening a new mine in section 30-58-17, not far from the Steel corporation's big Adams pit. Pickands, Mather & Co. control the lease and will develop and operate the property. The mine will be an open pit. The tract contains some three million tons of ore, it is estimated, and it is understood the lease calls for the payment of a royalty of $1.30 a ton, the highest yet recorded in the region. The fee simple is owned by Duluth parties.

Another new mine of Pickands, Mather & Co. will be the Scranton, directly southwest of Hibbing. The property will be an underground producer and when fully opened will probably be the largest mine of that kind on the range. There are 120 acres in the tract and the deposit is estimated to contain 18,000,000 to 20,000,000 tons of ore. The fee is owned by the state of Minnesota. A contract for the construction of a reinforced concrete shaft was awarded recently to the Foundation Company of New York, and this work is now in progress. The mine will enter the shipping list next year, it is expected. The concrete shaft which the Foundation company has been sinking at the Morton property at Carson lake, southwest of Hibbing, for almost a year past, is rapidly nearing completion. The ledge has been reached at a depth of close to 200 feet, fifty feet below which point lies the ore body. The Morton is a property of Tod, Stambaugh & Co., and is the first one to be developed by that Cleveland concern on the Mesaba range. It will be given an exceptionally fine equipment. The Morton will make its first shipment next season.

Still another new Mesaba producer next year will be the Woodbridge mine, a property of Oglebay, Norton & Co., and located in section 16-58-19, near Buhl. The mine will be an underground proposition. Development work is now in progress. The land is owned in fee by the commonwealth. The Pittsburg Iron Ore company is preparing to resume mining operations at the Nassau property, northeast of Hibbing. The workings are now being unwatered, and with production in progress again, employment will be given to some 300 men. The Nassau has been idle the past two years. The New York State Steel company is pushing the development of the Kellogg mine, in section 9-58-16, near Biwabik. Shipments are being made, but it will not be until the coming year that the property will

GOLD CRAZE HAS REVIVED

Klondike Never Saw Greater Activity in the Quartz Properties Than at the Present Time—Big Rush for Claim Renewals at Dawson.

Seattle, Wash., Sept. 4.—Bringing $180,000 in gold dust, the first big shipment from the Porcupine mines near Haines, and about $26,000 from the De Groff mines, near Sitka, the steamship Jefferson, which has arrived in port from Skagway with a full list of passengers, brought news of great gold excitement throughout Southeastern Alaska.

To E. E. Harvey of the Porcupine Gold Mining company, in which many Seattle men are interested, is the credit given for the cleanup on the Porcupine properties. For years he has developed the property, putting hundreds of thousands into it without taking any profit out. He put in a $500,000 flume during the last year, and has now just begun to clean up. He is said to have $3,000,000 in sight.

The De Groff properties are on Chicago island, and W. C. Wells, who owns the adjoining property, which he thinks is very rich, came out on the boat to buy machinery. He has bought the Silver Bull mine, about forty miles from Sitka, and will install an electric light plant and use it to light the city of Sitka.

Klondike never saw such activity in its quartz properties as today. The quartz receiving office has been crowded of late with applications, renewals and the like. Last month 110 quartz claims were located, and this month nearly 150 have been applied for to date. Each quartz claim is 1,500 feet square. The new staking is not confined to any one locality. The boom is on in every part of the district, from Twelve mile to Sixty mile, from the high ridge dividing the camp to points along the Yukon, from Dawson to Whitehorse.

Claim No. 17, Gold Stream, in the Fairbanks district, owned by L. L. James, is the biggest producer in the

LIVELY LEGAL WAR BEGUN

Litigation Over Apex of Part of Edith May Vein May Be Most Important Since the Amalgamated-Heinze Trouble.

Butte, Mont., Sept. 4.—The start in what threatens to become the largest and most important piece of mining litigation Butte has seen since the settlement of the Amalgamated-Heinze suits was made in the district court yesterday when a suit for $966.75 was instituted in the names of W. O. Clymo and Sampson Hall against the Anaconda Copper Mining company and the First National bank of Butte. The controversy involves a contention between James A. Murray, owner of the Ticon lode claim, and the Anaconda company over the apex of a portion of what is supposed to be the Edith May vein, and unless settled, will later, perhaps, involve a similar controversy with the North Butte Mining company, according to the claims of Mr. Murray.

In the complaint filed yesterday it is stated that on Nov. 14, 1907, Silas F. King, in whose name the legal title to the Ticon was held, gave a lease and a bond for $150,000 on the Ticon to Edwin Soles for a period of twelve months. Soles transferred the lease and bond to Clymo and Hall, the transfer providing that in the event the bond was taken up Clymo and Hall should pay Soles $165,000 for his interest. Since then the lease and bond has been renewed to Clymo and Hall and they are now working the property.

The complaint filed yesterday states that between Dec. 17, 1907, when Clymo and Hall went into possession of the Ticon, and Feb. 10, 1908, they mined a quantity of ore from the Ticon, down to the depth of 500 feet, the ore being taken from the vein on a dip and within the vertical boundaries of the Bell-Speculator claim, owned by the Anaconda company. The ore was shipped to the Pittsmont smelter and a check for $66.75 was returned to the leasers for the net returns from the smelter. Then the Anaconda company made a claim for the money, claiming to own the vein extension from which the ore was mined by the leasers. It was agreed that the check should be deposited with the First National bank and held there subject to a determination of the contro-

COLORADO DEVELOPMENTS

Mining in the Cripple Creek District is Increasing All the Time and a Number of New Properties Are Being Developed.

Colorado Springs, Colo., Sept. 4.—The Uintah Leasing company, operating the Necessity mine, Cripple Creek, is shipping steadily at full capacity. The owners are now realizing profits and an assessment to cancel debts will not be asked. The mine is a fractional plot originally owned by the Uintah Tunnel company. The Woods Investment and the Ajax companies were claimants. The Uintah-Ajax Gold Mining company was organized to take over the property by the contestants.

A large tonnage is being outputted by thirty sets of lessees operating on the El Paso Gold Mining company's properties, Cripple Creek. The August output will approximate 2,000 tons. The company is also prosecuting work south of the main shaft in new territory. The general average of the ore is close to $20 a ton.

The Dante mine, Cripple Creek, has entered a two-foot vein by a short crosscut from the main shaft at sixty-five feet depth. The ore carries values in rusty gold as high as $280 a ton crossvein.

The El Paso Consolidated company, Cripple Creek, is upraising to surface from the fourth level of the main shaft. The upraise will become El Paso shaft No. 2, 740 feet deep from collar to sump. The shaft will be completed in seven months, or about the time the Roosevelt tunnel will drain the lower workings.

The estimated cost of mining $1,320,000 worth of ore in Cripple Creek in July is as follows: Labor, $360,000; mine supplies, $75,000; cartage, $12,000; freight, $54,000; treatment, $198,000; office expenses, $21,000; officers' salaries, $72,000; other expenses, $28,000. Total, $820,000; profit, $500,000.

Work has been resumed in the tunnel on the Western Union Consolidated Gold Mining company's Rhyolite Mountain property, Cripple Creek.

DEEPEST ORE IN THE DISTRICT

Junction Shaft in Good Ore on the 1,500-Foot Level.

The recent encountering of a fine ore body at the lowest level of the Junction shaft of the Superior & Pittsburg company marks the deepest point at which copper has been found in the district and is of great importance as showing the continuance of the ore bodies to depths which can only be determined by subsequent developments. It is an indication that richness of Bisbee as a camp and the Warren district has never been surmised and is further indicative of long and continued prosperity without prospect of exhausting the mineral resources of the great copper belt.

It is on the 1,500-foot level that a fine sulphide body was encountered, and this is now being developed and explored. Its extent can not now be surmised, but this far development has been most satisfactory and the whole face of the drift is in ore running from 7 to 15 per cent. The management of the company is always conservative and speaks of this body as being 7 to 10 per cent ore, though much of it runs higher and some to the 15 per cent figure.

On the 1,400 level the Junction has been in good ore of this quality for several weeks past and development on that level was entirely satisfactory to the management. Then work was started in drifting on the 1,500 level with the result of encountering this good grade sulphide body on the lowest depth in the Junction and at the greatest depth yet known in Warren district.

On both the 1,400 and 1,500 levels the drifts were run in the direction of the Briggs' shaft and it was in this country that sulphides were encountered in both drifts.

It was said yesterday that the first of the year would witness the reopening of the Briggs shaft, which is now shut down.

MINING NOTES FROM DAKOTA

Minnesota Mines Company Is Making Good Progress in Black Hills.

Deadwood, S. D., Sept. 4.—Stockholders of the Balkan Gold Mining company held their annual meeting recently at Rochford in Pennington county. Officers elected were: President, D. C. Doolittle of Whiting, Ind; vice president, C. Heilwig, Whiting, Ind.; secretary, M. Milakovich, Chicago; treasurer, H. Groth, Chicago. Heretofore all the officers have been South Chicago men, but some Indiana capital has become interested in the property, which consists of 400 acres two miles southwest of Rochford. The ore is of the free milling type and shows in a twelve foot ledge giving assays of from $7 to $25 a ton gold. The main shaft is now down about 100 feet.

In the old Puritan property in Strawberry gulch where Kansas City capital is engaged in opening up the section, the miners have encountered a porphyry dyke through which they are sinking and it is believed that under it exists a large ore shoot, a continuation of which shows further down the hill.

The Minnesota Mines company is making satisfactory progress and is the most promising in the Maitland district today. The company besides milling 100 tons regularly each day is doing considerable development work. The ore is being taken from the open cut, which is being put in shape to increase the output. To the east and west of the shaft the work consists in crosscutting to the verticals on the 200-foot level. This has been done with hand drills but machine drills are to be installed. These verticals show a width of 35 and 40 feet at the 100-foot levels and it is expected that they will be materially wider at 200 feet.

The latest pamphlet issued by the United States Geological survey contains a report of Frank L. Hess on rare metals in the Black Hills. Mr. Hess spent some months last fall going over the Hills. He gives inling formation on the deposits of tin, tungsten and tantalum. All three metals have been found in several regions of the Hills and all have at various times been shipped out and treated.

The Formation of Stomach Cases

Many Different Causes Are Concerned In Gaseous Accumulation In the Stomach.

In cases of chronic gastric catarrh the secretion of digestive juices in the stomach is deficient; the food is digested slowly; the secretion is not normal; and fermentation occurs with the evolution of much gas.

It is evident, however, that a considerable time is required to allow gas to be formed in any large quantity in the stomach, and therefore, flatulence from this cause is not likely to occur until some time after food has been eaten. If the pylorus, or opening from the stomach into the intestines does not close properly, gas may pass from the duodenum into the stomach, and distend it; and such distension may occur at any time of the day or night, and is not entirely dependent upon the decomposition of food in the stomach, although this may be a prominent cause in many cases.

There is still another cause of excessive flatulence, and that is the swallowing of air. There is no doubt about air being carried down into the stomach by the food eaten; but it is also known that liquids force a much greater quantity of air into the alimentary tract than foods do.

STUART'S CHARCOAL LOZENGES were especially designed for the relief and cure of stomach and intestinal gas-formation and accumulation, no matter what the cause may be. Over a century ago physicians discovered that charcoal possessed wonderful powers of absorption, not found in any other remedial agent. Charcoal is definitely known to lessen and cure flatulence by oxidizing and absorbing the excess of gas from the stomach; but, in addition to that property, it also acts as a mechanical stimulant and cleanser to the stomach and intestinal walls, and it exerts a purifying and antiseptic effect on the alimentary canal, which is similar to the action of tooth powder in the mouth.

Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges are highly recommended by all sufferers from flatulence or gas in the stomach and other parts of the alimentary tract, as the one remedy which has given complete relief from all such disagreeable symptoms. Many persons who had been using various other remedies without relief, have given these powerful charcoal lozenges a trial, and have obtained immediate relief and a permanent cure.

These little lozenges will absorb one hundred times their own volume in gases; will antiseptize the stomach and intestines, destroying all poisons and disease germs, and deodorizing, oxidizing and destroying all foul odors.

WOMAN IS HURT PITCHING HAY

Falls From Hay Wagon Running Pitchfork Through Thigh.

Moose Lake, Minn., Sept. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—While helping her husband in the hay field Tuesday afternoon, Mrs. Louis Gunderson met with a serious accident. She was loading hay on the rear end of the wagon when the horses stepped forward, causing her to lose her balance and fall to the ground. She had a pitchfork in her hands at the time, and in falling one of the tines penetrated the thigh,passing through. Her injuries are not considered fatal.

Tuesday afternoon, while blasting rocks on the Soo right-of-way, T. H. Lee nearly met death by running into a blast. The man with whom he was working had set off the blast unknown to Mr. Lee, and while in the act of going to set off it discharged, while he was standing almost directly over it. On examination it was found he was not seriously injured, although badly shaken up.

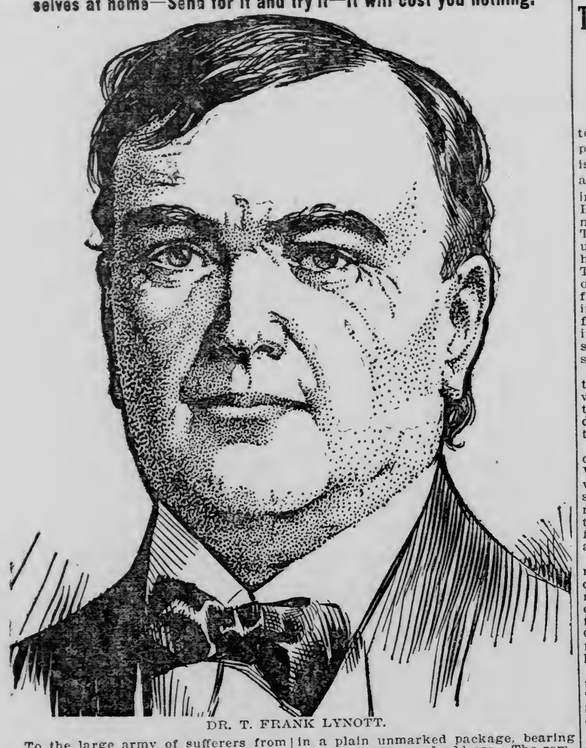

LONG SEARCH REWARDED

St. Cloud, Minn., Sept. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—A search of two cousins for one another covering a period of more than 59 years and extending over two continents reached its successful culmination in the visit of Joseph Boose of Boeman, Mont., with his cousin, Mrs. J. G. Huber, 228 Seventh avenue south, of this city.

The story of their separation and meeting after more than half a century reads like a romance. Mrs. Huber is now 83 years of age and has been for fifty-one years a resident of this city. Boose is 75.

TO VICTIMS OF KIDNEY, BLADDER OR RHEUMATIC TROUBLE I OFFER FREE

A free treatment to any such sufferer by which they can cure themselves at home—Send for it and try it—It will cost you nothing.

DR. T. FRANK LYNOTT.

To the large army of sufferers from such uric acid diseases as kidney trouble, bladder trouble or rheumatism it should prove important as well as good news that a free treatment can be obtained by which legions have successfully cured themselves in their own home. You have simply to fill out the coupon or write a letter explaining how you suffer and the free treatment, composed of different remedies, will be sent you. It is sent postpaid without charges of any kind.

You can tell if you have a kidney, bladder or rheumatic disease by the pain in the back, the getting up of nights, the twitching and pain of muscles or nerves. Some of the main symptoms of these diseases are:

1. Pain in the back.
2. Too frequent desire to urinate.
3. Burning or obstruction of urine.
4. Pain or soreness in the bladder.
5. Prostatic trouble.
6. Gas or pain in the stomach.
7. General debility, weakness, dizziness.
8. Constipation or liver trouble.
9. Pain or soreness under right ribs.
10. Swelling in any part of the body.
11. Palpitation or pain under the heart.
12. Pain in the hip joint.
13. Pain in the neck or head.
14. Pain or soreness in the kidneys.
15. Pain or swelling of the joints.
16. Pain and swelling of the muscles.
17. Pain and soreness in nerves.
18. Acute or chronic rheumatism.

The free treatment will come to you in a plain unmarked package, bearing only your name and address. The remedies have been taken by thousands of people and are all vouched for by me to the Government as to purity. The directions also are simple. You are putting yourself under no obligations in any way, and it would seem that anyone in need of such treatment would give the remedies a trial. I will, therefore, gladly send you a free treatment if you will give me your address. My address is Dr. T. Frank Lynott, 2779 Occidental Building, Chicago, Ill.

I could very easily give you the names of several hundred people whom these remedies have cured, many of them no doubt your very neighbors. I will send you a list of them when I send you the free treatment. I will likewise give you my opinion of your case and a letter of medical advice, which alone has been a great help to thousands of people.

The free treatment will prove to you that the danger and aches of kidney trouble, the annoyance and discomfort of bladder trouble, the crippling and pains of rheumatism can be controlled and cured. And my great illustrated medical booklet, for which I make no charge, will describe these diseases and explain how I treat them. So correspond with me and learn for yourself that your disease is curable when the right remedies are sent you.

Let me hear from you today asking me to send the free treatment, etc.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

DAM BLOWN TO PIECES

Barrier at Outlet of Schoolcraft River Is Completely Wrecked.

Covert Threats Had Often Been Made It Would Be Blown Out.

Bemidji, Minn., Sept. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—At an early hour Friday morning some parties, whose identity is at present unknown, destroyed the combined dam and bridge which spanned the Schoolcraft river at the outlet of that stream from Lake Plantagnet. High explosive was used, probably dynamite, and the wrecking of the dam and bridge was complete, as far as the main portion of the structure was concerned.

The dam is located on the property of A. H. Jester, who is conducting a summer resort in connection with his farming operations.

Mr. Jester's main building and cottages are located but a short distance from the dam; and none of the family or the guests heard any noise during the night, indicating that the work of blowing out the dam was done very expeditiously and quietly.

The dam was put in some eleven years ago, by the Brainerd Lumber company, and has been used nearly every spring since that time for the purpose of sluicing logs through from Lake Plantagnet into the Schoolcraft river. Some complaint has been made that the dam at times held the waters of the lake back to such an extent that damage was done to the hay crop of some of the farmers living along the lake shore, but it was not thought that any person would become so wrought up over the matter as to wilfully destroy the dam, which is private property, belonging to Mr. Jester.

Covert threats were made last year, relative to possible destruction of the dam, but they came to naught. Mr. Jester cannot imagine who did the work of destruction, which has caused him an estimated damage of $1,000.

Mr. Jester states that he will rebuild the bridge portion of the dam.

FINE SHAFT AT KENNEDY MINE

Three Compartment Up-to-Date Affair on Cuyuna Range.

Deerwood, Minn., Sept. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—The new three-compartment shaft in the Kennedy mine is now progressing favorably. After a delay of several weeks they are now in the act of sinking the framework. But for this delay, the shaft would now be down to ledge, approximately. The new hoist is in place connected up to the boilers in the old engine house, by asbestos covered piping. The boilers are undergoing a complete overhauling and room is being made for a couple of new ones. The framing work on the new shaft shows perfect workmanship and when finished it will be one of the most up-to-date shafts in the country, for a timber shaft.

John Lundgren has just completed the iron work on a new dump skip which is to be used in connection with the mine. The carpenter work was done by Emil Menzel, and is everything that could be desired.

The surface workers are levelling off the stripping from the new shaft. When this work is finished the mine will be a picturesque sight from every standpoint. The dryhouse has been raised in the neighborhood of ten or twelve feet and the miners in coming from the different shafts have easy access of same as a result.

The old cook camp is now being remodeled, being divided into five cosy little rooms, which will meet the needs of Gust Sylow, who is the resident mining captain. This will be finished in the course of a week and Capt. Sylow will immediately bring his family from Ishpeming, Mich., where he left them when coming to Cuyuna.

The Rogers-Brown Ore company's threo new houses are all completed. The painting is to be done by H. L. Searle of Aitkin, who will start immediately on the work.

NEW HOTEL ON SERPENT LAKE

Modern Brick and Cement Structure for New Town of Crosby.

Deerwood, Minn., Sept. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Plans are being drawn by Architect Anthony Puck of Duluth for a modern brick and cement hotel at the new town of Crosby, on Serpent lake. The building will occupy a 100-foot corner about the center of the town, overlooking the lake. It will have hot water heat and electric lights. The construction work will begin as soon as the plans are ready and will be pushed to completion this year. The first floor will be given over to the office, lobby, dining room, cafe and checkrooms. The second floor will have the parlor and rooms, and the third floor will be given over to rooms. The rooms will be provided with baths. The hotel will be a great convenience to tourists, fishermen and the engineers and others engaged in the mining operations at or near Crosby.

P. A. McDONNELL'S TAR HEATER CATCHES FIRE.

Grand Forks, N. D., Sept. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Dense clouds of smoke rolling up from a fire which started in a tar heater owned by Contractor P. A. McDonnell of Duluth, completely enveloped the southern business section of the city and the blaze for a time endangered the Hanson pool room and the Manowald harness shop. The fire was quickly extinguished upon the arrival of the fire department.

COLLEGE GETS ANOTHER GIFT

Methodist Institution at Grand Forks Receives Another Donation.

Grand Forks, N. D., Sept. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Announcement is made by President E. P. Robertson of Wesley college of the receipt of a gift of $17,000 from A. J. Sayre, which makes a total of $42,000 received from him.

Some two years ago Mr. Sayre, who is a Calgary, N. W. T., resident, donated $25,000 to the college and his additional gift at this time is given as a part of the $125,000 needed to claim an endowment of $25,000 from James J. Hill. A total of $75,000 of the necessary $100,000 has now been pledged and the college has until the first of next year in which to comply. It is believed that there will be little trouble in gaining the figure sought.

HAMILTON ON GOVERNOR.

Aitkin Editor Visiting in Houghton Lands Minnesota Executive.

Houghon, Mich., Sept. 4.—A. L. Hamilton, editor of the Aitkin Republican at Aitkin, Minn., is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. John T. McNamara, who are also entertaining Mr. Hamilton's mother, who is here from Ithaca, Mich. Mr. Hamilton says that there are good times in sight for Aitkin. It is right in the midst of the new Cuyuna iron range and on its every hand are evidences of coming prosperity.

Though a Republican, Mr. Hamilton has a high regard for Governor Johnson of his state. He says that he believes Johnson stands as good a chance now for the presidency as he ever did and thinks that his failure to secure the Democratic nomination in the last campaign was not a setback. "We like Governor Johnson up our way," said Mr. Hamilton. "You know he vetoed the tonnage tax for us."

SOO REACHING OUT.

Reported to Have Leased Omaha Grain Elevator at Washburn.

Washburn, Wis., Sept. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—It is currently reported that the Soo railroad has leased the Omaha elevator here, having a capacity of 1,000,000 bushels, and will use it in connecting with its new Minnesota and Dakota connections in handling this year's grain crop.

The news is welcomed here, as it means the employment of a large force of men.

AUGUST WAS VERY HOT.

Only Once in Nine Years Fargo Had Hotter Weather.

Fargo, N. D., Sept. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—There has never been but one hotter August in Fargo than the past month. That was nine years ago. This year the average daily temperature was 71 degs. In 1909 it was 73 degs. No other August ever went over the daily average of 69 degs. The average daily temperature for August since the establishment of the bureau in Moorhead, twenty-nine years ago, has been 66 degs., which makes the past month average 5 degs. above normal.

The hottest days were 92 degs., Aug. 2 and 27.

SLAYS MANY RATTLERS.

Viroqua, Wis., Sept. 3.—Frank Alexander of Viroqua is doing his share toward exterminating rattle snakes in Vernon county, having killed seventy-three in a short time.

Laurium, Mich., Sept. 4.—(Special to the Herald.)—Rev. Father Casimir of the Sacred Heart church and Rev. Father Clarance, assistant to Father Casimir, have been appointed to other charges, and both will leave in the near future. Rev. Casimir has been in charge of the Sacred Heart church for the past two years and has made many friends. He will go to Lafayette, Ind., and Rev. Father Clarence has been appointed to a professorship in St. Francis' college in Cincinnati. Rev. Father Herculan has been appointed to take charge of Sacred Heart and Rev. Father Hubert of Louisville, Ky., will be his assistant.

CHRISTOPHER SIMMER DEAD.

Well Known and Old Resident of Hancock Is Called.

Hancock, Mich., Sept. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Christopher Simmer, for years a well-known resident of Hancock, a native of Germany, who has lived nearly all his life here, and for many years was employed at the Quincy mills, is dead.

Mr. Simmer's wife died about fourteen years ago. He is survived by two sisters, who reside at Sheboygan, Wis., and the following sons and daughters: Charles of Hancock, Christopher of Hurontown, Theodore and Fred of Ripley, Mrs. Jennie Zimmerman of Ripley and Mrs. Edward Sleeman of Mason.

The funeral will be held on Sunday afternoon with services at the German Lutheran church, conducted by Rev. G. Traub, and the remains will be laid at rest in Lakeside cemetery in Hancock. Mr. Simmer was a member of the German Aid society, which organization will turn out to attend the funeral services.

TO ENLARGE PLANT.

Fergus Falls Packing House Will Be Made Larger.

Fergus Falls, Minn., Sept. 4.—(Special to The Herald.) — The Fergus Packing company is to double the capacity of its plant, located in the west end of the city. A new addition, 40 by 100 feet, will be built at the west end of the present large structure, and it will be equipped with the most modern machinery. Included in the new machinery to be installed is an apparatus for handling hogs in the killing department that will make it possible to slaughter 250 hogs per hour.

The new building will be three stories high, like the old, and will be of brick or concrete, instead of cement blocks, of which the old one was built.

To provide funds for making these big improvements, $40,000 of stock will be sold, increasing the capital stock from $60,000 to $100,000.

ESCANABA'S BUSY MONTH.

Heavier Shipments in August From There Than Ever Before.

Escanaba, Mich., Sept. 4.—During August Escanaba shipped more ore than during any previous month in its history. The amount was 1,036,000 tons.

The St. Paul railroad shipped 313,600 tons and the Northewestern sent out 723,000 tons. Both roads report that this is the largest total ever reached during any one month's business in their history here.

The Northwestern railroad officials here decided to build a new $1,000,000 ore dock to replace the one that collapsed recently.

CLOQUET HOME RULE CHARTER BOARD NAMED.

Cloquet, Minn., Sept. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Subsequent to a petition to the judges of the Eleventh judicial district, a board of freeholders has been appointed by the judges to frame a home rule charter for Cloquet. The board is composed of citizens of the city, who have resided here for five years, as follows: William Kelly, P. V. Inskeep, F. D. Vibert, F. P. Thompson, H. M. Selmser, H. G. Stevens, Joseph Loisel, Claus Johnson, John Mattinen, Alexander Summerfield, C. I. McNair, W. L. Case, J. D. Peters, L. A. Fish and W. H. Skemp.

Within six months the charter must be framed and presented to the mayor and at the next general election submitted to the voters for adoption or rejection. The charter, when submitted, will undoubtedly be adopted, owing to the great demand among local citizens for such a charter enlarging the rights of the city.

NORTH DAKOTA W. C. T. U. MEETS AT VALLEY CITY.

Valley City, N. D., Sept. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—The North Dakota W. C. T. U. convention will be held in Valley City, Sept. 23 to 26, and from the present outlook there will be a large attendance. Excellent speakers have been secured for the meeting, the program being replete with splendid numbers. Mrs. Mary Harris Armor of Georgia will be the convention speaker.

BIG FORK, MINN., MAN TAKEN WITH HEMORRHAGE

Grand Forks, N. D., Sept. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Frank Lavin of Big Fork, Minn., is an inmate of St. Michael's hospital in this city, as a result of a hemarrhage, which he suffered Friday. Lavin was walking along Third street when he became attacked. Falling to the sidewalk he spit forth several big clots of blood, being removed to the hospital within a few minutes in very bad shape. He is 50 years of age and came here to thresh.

ASK MARINETTE COUNTY GRAND JURY TO QUIT.

Marinette, Wis., Sept. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—The county board yesterday unanimously adopted a resolution asking the present grand jury to adjourn sine die of its own motion and asking the circuit judge to confirm it. The board is of the opinion that the jury has been in session long enough. The jury adjourned until Nov. 8. The expenses incurred by the jury have been large.

Bayfield Assessment Cut.

Washburn, Wis., Sept. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—The state board of assessments has cut the valuation of Bayfield county nearly $250,000. Two years ago it was raised to nearly $16,000,000, an increase of almost $2,000,000.

Railroad Commission Meet.

Grand Forks, N. D., Sept. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—The next meeting of the North Dakota board of railroad commissioners will be held here Oct. 11, 12 and 13, as provided by law. As yet there are no special matters of importance filed for consideration at that session.

PENINSULA BRIEFS

Ishpeming—The 3-months-old daughter of Salmon Anttila, 449 West Division street, died Wednesday. The funeral was held Friday.

Negaunee—The price of hay has gone off the past few days, due to the heavy crops in Wisconsin, Minnesota and other nearby states. First-class hay is quoted at from $13.50 to $14. A Negaunee merchant expressed the opinion that it would sell at a slightly lower price, as the commission men seem anxious to dispose of their hay.

Marquette—J. Swan, division superintendent of the Western Union Telegraph company, with headquarters in Minneapolis, was in the city Thursday on one of his periodical visits to the Marquette office.

Hancock—Joseph Vivian, aged 30 years, is dead at Ripley, after suffering from an attack of typhoid fever. This is the fourth death which has occurred in Hancock and vicinity recently from the same dreaded disease.

Calumet—Con Kelly, formerly of the Copper range staff in Calumet, writes to local friends to the effect that he is now employed by the Great Northern road at Butte, Mont.

Hancock—The St. Patrick's school will open on Tuesday morning next, the same date as the opening of the public schools. No changes will be made in the teaching staff or in the curriculum, which will be the same as last year.

The Unexpected Guest

YOU HATE to allow him or her to go away without partaking of your hospitality, but the fire is out in the stove, and it would take too long to relight it. Bring out the little ELECTRIC HEATER, connect up the plug, turn the switch, and there you are! Two minutes' time, perhaps three, and you have a steaming cup of tea, coffee or chocolate whichever your guest prefers.

How many times during the day does it happen that you wish you had a little hot water?" If yours is an average household it will not be infrequent. That's the reason that you want at least one electric-water-heater always close at hand, it will cost scarcely anything, and will be of great saving to you.

We have the ELECTRIC WATER HEATER IN MANY SIZES. Won't you come in and pick one out from our stock? It will be one of those things that you never regret. Phone us and we will send one direct to your home.

DAKOTA BRIEFS

Grand Forks, N. D.—The appeal to the supreme court in the case of the state of North Dakota against Henry Nyhus, convicted in Steele county on a charge of rape, is now being perfected. Nyhus, in the meantime, has been released under a bond of $5,000, the appeal acting as a stay of judgment pending the higher court's decision.

Langdon, N. D.—Messrs. McDonald and McGregor of this city have given a final demonstration with their new automatic grain shocking machine, and declare such a machine is practicable. It is attached to the harvester on the opposite side from the cutting apparatus, taking off all side draft, and requires less than one horse power to operate.

Grand Forks, N. D.—Prof. E. D. Burton, who was some time ago delegated by the University of Chicago to make a trip around the world, with a view to determining upon educational opportunity here and there, will very probably be in Grand Forks the latter part of the month, during the convention of the North Dakota Baptists.

Wilton, N. D.—The marriage of Miss Charlotte Macomber of Wilton and Rev. Gilbert W. Stewart of New Salem was solemnized at the home of the bride's parents in Wilton Wednesday afternoon, Rev. Mr. Harris of the Presbyterian church of Bismarck officiating.

Bismarck, N. D.—Secretary of State Blaisdell has addressed a letter to Secretary Ballinger, protesting against the ruling of the department that notaries public who have filed commissions after July 1 will not be qualified to administer oaths to applicants for registration for the land drawing in connection with the opening of the Cheyenne and Standing Rock reservations.

Nash, N. D.—John Donnelly, one of the most prominent farmers of this section, met with an accident Wednesday evening that nearly cost him his life. While putting his colts in the stable, one kicked him in the back, under the shoulder blade, breaking one rib.

Fargo, N. D.—Beginning next Sunday evening the Northern Pacific will begin running a special train every night to the Twin Cities, in order to accommodate North Dakotans who wish to take in the Minnesota state fair. The train will run as the second section of No. 16, which is due out of Fargo at midnight.

REGULATION THAT DOESN'T REGULATE.

When the interstate commerce commission was created, it was hoped that it would act as an arbiter between the railroads and the public, giving just profits to the capital invested in railroads and just rates to the people patronizing the railroads. For a time the tendency worked to that end, though the gain was slow. Now, apparently, it is working the other way, and the interstate commerce commission is being stripped of its just powers and relegated to the position of a judicial body that must wait until somebody drags a complaint before it.

Without some active and energetic arm of government to reach out and put them where they belong, the railroads are certain to continue, as they have in the past, to grab for everything in sight, to impose "all the traffic will bear," to work out the selfish schemes of those in power by discriminating against some communities in favor of others, to foster tyrannical monopoly by discriminating between shippers.

It was supposed that the railroad legislation recently accomplished had stopped rebating, but A. B. Stickney, who usually knows what he is talking about and who usually says what he thinks, says that "the rebate evil, instead of being stamped out by the enforcement of the new law, flourishes now more than ever. Rebates, while not paid directly, as formerly, are made possible by various expedients to which railroads and favored shippers are parties."

The infamous Grosscup decision in the Missouri rate case is to the effect that it isn't right that a body of men—the interstate commerce commission—should have the power to fix rates for or against any particular communities. Yet the effect of that argument is that that power must be left with the railroads—and humanity is not so unselfish that the people can afford to leave that power in the hands of men who are able to use it for selfish purposes.

About the same time that Mr. Stickney was declaring that rebating is more prevalent than ever, and that the federal court was declaring that the interstate commerce commission mustn't interfere with the right of the railroads to fix such rates as they please, no matter how they may work to the detriment of sections and communities, the announcement came from Beverly that President Taft proposes to strip the interstate commerce commission of the functions as an executive body, of its authority as a prosecutor and of its power to initiate investigations. He wants the commission to become a mere judicial body.

This is taking the back track with a vengeance. The country has no need of more judicial bodies. It has, in the case of the railroads, great need of a powerful and independent executive body that can oversee railroad operations, scrutinize rates, lower those that are too high and raise those that are too low, and generally to act as a buffer between the greed of railroad capital and the need of the people.

All this points to a tendency, on the part of the administration and the courts, to prevent public regulation of railroads. That is shortsighted folly. This nation is going to regulate the railroads, or it is going to own them. The power is too great to be left in private and selfish hands. President Taft, by his proposal to turn back, the federal courts, by their decisions in favor of the railroads and against the people, and the railroads themselves, by their acquiescence in and their demand for such action, are inviting public ownership.

LAWYERS AND CARPENTERS.

The Association of American Law Schools has formally expressed the opinion that it is altogether too easy in this country for a man to become a lawyer; therefore there are too many lawyers, and especially too many poor ones.

Says the Detroit Journal: "This is a conclusion that many of us reached long ago. It is much easier for the young man to become a lawyer than a carpenter, and many a good carpenter has been lost in a poor lawyer. A good carpenter is one of the most useful of men, but a poor lawyer is a nuisance to the community. He either becomes a burden on his family, or he essays to earn his living by any means within his power, and these means are generally unprofessional."

It is certainly true that this country could spare more of its lawyers than it could of its carpenters. There is no surplus of carpenters, and there is most evidently a surplus of lawyers. A lawyer who is crowded out of regular practice because of his incompetency or his lack of character, or even merely because there isn't room for him, is more or less of a menace to the community, to his profession and to himself. He must live; and he hates to abandon his profession and seek honest work. If his character is high, he may half starve on the crumbs may fall from the tables of the more fortunate; if his character is not high, he will seek to gain his living in the easiest way possible, and to a lawyer without conscience there are many ways open of making a living that involve mischief to the community and that bring the profession into bad repute.

Every misfit in a profession tends to lower the moral tone of that profession. To the manifest over-crowding of the legal profession is due in a large measure the evils of the practice of law. The ambulance-chaser, the pettifogger, the champertor, the instigator of useless litigation—these come from the misfits of the profession, and from the ranks of those who sink because they are crowded away from the table of legitimate practice.

Some of these misfits are naturally evil, no doubt; but the majority of them, it is fair to say, are bad because they have had to be bad to make a living in the law. If they had happily been made carpenters instead of lawyers, they might have become respectable and useful citizens.

If it is too easy to become a lawyer, and if the law is overcrowded—and of neither of these items is there any doubt whatever—the remedy obviously is to raise the standard of qualification and to keep on raising it until those who are mentally and temperamentally unfit for the law are pushed back into the niches in which they belong. It is no reproach to either to say that a man fitted to be a good carpenter might be a bad lawyer, or that a man fitted to be a good lawyer might be a poor carpenter. Carpentry is just as respectable as the law; and in the present overcrowded state of the profession it would not be difficult to establish a case on the claim that carpentry is more respectable. The offenses of the bar are not confined to the lowly pettifogging class; those high in the profession, skilled, tactful, wise and intellectual, who teach high finance how to evade the spirit of the law without breaking its letter, are greater offenders than any.

HORRORS IN OLD SCHOOL BOOKS.

The Journal of Education contains an article by A. E. Winship on the changes that have come about in the school textbooks of this country in a century. Reading some of the extracts from the books out of which our grandparents got their learning, one wonders what kind of beings they were that prepared the textbooks of that day.

The arithmetics, for instance, abounded in horrors and unpleasant suggestions:

"If nine cats killed eighteen birds, how many has each killed?"

"If a cat divides four birds between two kittens, how many will each kitten have?"

"A skunk went into a barn, where he found three nests; one had seven eggs, another eight, and another three; from each nest he ate two eggs. How many did the skunk eat?"

"One hundred and nineteen persons died from drunkenness in New York and 127 in Philadelphia. How many in both?"

"A man had seven children; two of them were killed by the fall of a tree. How many had he left?"

"Three score and ten kings had their thumbs and their great toes cut off and gathered under the table of Adonibezek. How many thumbs and toes were under Adonibezek's table?"

"A human body, if baked until all the moisture is evaporated, is reduced in weight as 1 to 10. A body that weighs 100 pounds when living weighs how much when baked?"

Surely here is a dish of horrors to set before the tender mind of childhood in search of knowledge!

These examples are taken from arithmetics in use as late as 1840. Examples on lotteries are common. Hardly a page fails to furnish problems based on beer, ale, wine, rum, gin or brandy. No other commodity was in such universal use in arithmetics as intoxicating liquors.

The horrors spread to other textbooks. The geographies reeked with blood. Indian massacres were common. Selling female slaves furnished an attractive subject for illustration. Bull fights and burnings at the stake figured liberally. The books were filled with silly things to learn and horrible things to see; the language was grandiloquent to the point of absurdity. For instance: "Everything in the universe is systematical, all is combination, affinity, and connection. The beauty of the world is founded in the harmonious diversity of the beings that compose it; in the number, the extent, and the quality of their effects, and in the sum of happiness which it is capable of affording." Meaningless verbosity could scarcely go further.

Wolves killing antelopes; the horrors of an earthquake, with death and human anguish crudely but horribly portrayed; a boa-constrictor killing a horse and man; a widow being burned on the funeral pyre of her late husband; a human being prepared for sacrifice in a religious service in a heathen land, with nearby piles of skulls to commemorate former similarly auspicious occasions: these are the subjects chosen to illustrate a geography in common use seventy-five years ago.

Truly progress has been made in the preparation of school books since these horrors were omitted.

ATHLETICS, HERE AND ELSEWHERE.

Dudley Allen Sargent, director of the Hemenway gymnasium of Harvard university, draws a sharp comparison between American and German athletics in an article in the September Putnam's magazine based upon the Olympic games in London and the German athletic festival in Frankfurt, Germany, in which a criticism is made of American athletic methods and tendencies that may prove rather astonishing to the average American.

Briefly, the point is that while the effort to excel creates a brood of specialized athletes in this country, the desire for all-round physical development in Germany works for the physical and therefore the mental betterment of the masses of the people.

Says Mr. Sargent: "The interesting as well as the most important facts to know are how far the athletes of the Olympic games represented the physical condition of the masses in the country from which they came and whether the strivings for records in feats of strength, speed and endurance, in certain narrow and prescribed lines of physical exercise, are conducive to the greatest amount of health, happiness and longevity. In America there are very few active athletic clubs outside of the colleges, and the athletes who went from the United States could hardly be said to represent what this country is doing for the physical training of her youth." In point of fact, there is no relationship whatever between our "champion" athletes and the physical condition of the masses. Health enters not at all—for the champion athlete is not more likely to be healthy and long-lived than the narrow-chested clerk. Over-development, the building up of particular muscles at the expense of others and at a cost of drains upon the heart and lungs, tend to make athletes short-lived rather than long-lived.

In this country the prevalent idea of athletics is to break records. The average man contents himself with watching a group of over-developed and irregularly developed experts break records, while he roots from the grandstand. With the exception of gymnastic teams from countries that do these things better—though they break no records—the entries at the Olympic games were of highly trained specialists.

It is different in Germany. At Frankfurt no records were broken, but there was an interesting exhibit of all-round proficiency. Every man that entered the contests had to compete in six events: putting the shot, vaulting horse, running high jump, parallel bars, horizontal bar and 120-yard hurdles. There were special contests in wrestling, fencing and swimming. Societies gave fine gymnastic displays, and there was one exhibition of 300 men between 45 and 60 on the heavy apparatus.

On the last day of the Olympic games, where the American spirit was exhibited, "a hundred thousand spectators wrought up to a high state of nervous excitement and emotional expectancy waiting two hours in the hot July sun to see which of one, two or three blind, staggering and exhausted runners would be first to make a half-turn around the track and reach a specified goal post" in the Marathon race. In Frankfurt, on the last day, 10,000 children gave an exhibition of the health-promoting exercises that they had been doing daily at school. "The Germans," says Mr. Sargent, "have a system that reaches down into the school, the shop and the factory, and extends out into the woods and fields and playgrounds. They care little for the achievements of the champions; it is the physical education of the masses that most concerns them."

The Olympic way, which is the American way, may be more exciting and more interesting; but the German way makes for health, happiness and long life. Says Mr. Sargent in a wise conclusion: "What our American students of today should strive for is neither to be victorious athletes, prize gymnasts nor champion strong men, but to have some of the strength of the strong man, some of the alertness and endurance of the athlete, and some of the grace and skill of the gymnast, all combined with the poise and dignity of the gentleman."

THE DRAIN ON THE FOREST.

When Ormsby McHarg of North Dakota let loose his thoughts upon the conservation of national resources, and incidentally upon the whole Roosevelt policy, he flew in the face of public sentiment, defied actual conditions, and he richly merited the rebuke that came in the form of the separation that occurred between himself and his job.

There is nothing in the Roosevelt policies—and they, in a very large degree, were and are the people's policies—more important than the program of conservation; and there is no feature of this program that is of more importance than the conservation of the forests. Mr. McHarg, like Mr. Ballinger, would have the government continue to permit private greed to lay the forests waste, to exhaust the last stick of timber in the search for the last possible dollar of quick profits. Luckily, they are out of harmony with popular thought, and it is to be hoped that events will show that they are out of harmony with the Taft administration—though this has yet to be proved.

R. S. Kellogg, assistant forester in charge of the office of forest statistics, in a publication on the timber supply of the United States just issued by the forest service, says that the total yearly drain upon the forests, not counting losses from fires, storms and insects, is some 20,000,000,000 cubic feet.

"Our present forest area of 550,000,000 acres may be roughly estimated," says he, "to consist of 200,000,000 acres of mature forests, in which the annual growth is balanced by death and decay, of 250,000,000 acres partially cut or burned over, on which, with reasonable care, there is sufficient young growth to produce in the course of time a merchantable but not a full crop of timber, and 100,000,000 acres of more severely cut and burned-over forests, on which there is not sufficient young growth to produce another crop of much value.

"Taken as a whole, the annual growth of the forests under these conditions does not exceed 12 cubic feet per acre, a total of less than 7,000,000,000 cubic feet. That is, we are cutting our forests three times as fast as they are growing. There is menace in the continuance of such conditions. While we might never reach absolute timber exhaustion, the unrestricted exploitation of our forests in the past has already had serious effects, and it will have much worse if it is allowed to continue unchecked."

Yet the enemies of the forestry service and of the conservation program would let it continue unchecked, apparently up to the point of absolute exhaustion. They care nothing about how the coming generation is to house itself, if they and their friends can exploit the forests now and squeeze the last possible dollar of profit out of them.

Mr. Kellogg shows that white pine, which was once considered inexhaustible, has fallen off 70 per cent in cut since 1890, and more than 45 per cent since 1900. The cut of oak, our most valuable hardwood lumber, has decreased 16 per cent since 1900, and that of yellow poplar 22 per cent. We take 250 cubic feet of wood per capita annually from our forests, while Germany uses only 37 cubic feet and France but twenty-five. On the other hand, Germany, which has learned a lesson, makes its state forests produce an average of forty-eight cubic feet of wood per acre.

Finding a market for farm produce is just as important as getting it raised.

In providing medical inspection in the public schools the board of education is acting wisely and progressively.

THE BROAD CLAIMS OF CHRISTIAN SCIENCE.

To the Editor of The Herald:

In your editorial on "The Antiquity of Mental Healing," in Tuesday evening's Herald, you inadvertently make a statement regarding Christian Science, which is incorrect. You say: "Christian Science, the new thought and the Immanuel movement, are actually curing sick people. They are not mending broken limbs or healing the lesions of organic disease, but they are curing functional disease right and left." I wish to state that any one who is sufficiently interested to look around him in an unprejudiced state of mind for the evidence, can just as readily find cases where the "lesions of organic disease" have been healed through the medium of Christian Science, as he can find cases of functional disorder healed thereby. The Immanuel movement and other forms of suggestive therapeutics, based upon the operation of human will power, do not claim the ability to do more than to cure what are termed functional disorders, leaving organic disease for materia medica to wrestle with. Christian Science, on the other hand, basing the healing power on the omniscience, omnipresence and omnipotence of infinite mind—God, to whom all things are possible, and who does not recognize or need the aid of any lesser power, such as hypnotism or drugs, in the accomplishment of His will, heals organic disease just as readily as functional disorders.

The great metaphysician said: "Ye shall know the truth and the truth shall make you free." The truth about God, man and the universe, as taught and demonstrated by Christian Science, overcomes one form of error just as readily as another, establishes harmony where discord had prevailed, and replaces abnormal and unhealthy conditions with those that are normal and healthy.

Christian Science proves the scientific correctness of the principle upon which it is based by its works; and it is manifestly incorrect to place it in the same category with those empirical systems which do not even profess the ability to do more than to alleviate the symptoms of functional disorders.

A SUGGESTION.

To the Editor of The Herald:

I should like to make a suggestion to the sporting editors of the Duluth papers.

I think I have a greater portion of the sport loving public with me in making this suggestion. It is this: Now that the football season is coming on do you not think it a good plan to give the public a more detailed account of the University of Minnesota football games?

There are a number of the younger alumni of the university, (of which I happen to be one), who are intensely interested in the workings of the team and each individual member of the team. Now Duluth is a lively town and up-to-date enough to get the first and best of football news and sports of the university. Is it not possible for us to get through our daily papers all the "dope" which the public of Minneapolis and St. Paul get through their papers?

I say it is possible, or should be, and therefore would suggest that the editor of sports give us everything he can from the prospects to the end of the season.

K. A. S.

Duluth, Sept. 4, 1909.

(Arrangements have been made to cover the football games more completely this year than ever before. In former years The Herald sporting extras have been on the streets a few minutes after the games were over at Northrup Field.—The Editor.)

GRASSHOPPERS AND BINDING TWINE.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Under date of Aug. 21 you have a communication from Pierz, Minn., speaking of the harm caused by grasshoppers in gnawing twine around bundles in shock. Binding twine can be, in a measure, protected from their ravages by soaking it before using in the following solution: Two pounds blue stone dissolved in twelve gallons of water. The twine should be soaked in this for half an hour and then allowed to dry thoroughly. Some farmers soak the twine in kerosene.

Yours very truly,

F. L. WASHBURN,
Entomologist.

What We Love Is Ours.

Memphis News-Scimitar: This is a world of beauty, not to them who have money to pluck and wear its roses, but to them who have souls sensitized to the sweet odors.

With love of the beautiful in man and in nature none can be poor; without it none can be rich.

Happiness is not carried in the pocket, but in the heart.

The millionaire may make his thousand-acre park in the rich valley and by a fiction of the law call it his own; but it all is the front yard of the poorest squatter in the rudest cabin on the rugged hillside.

The one who has paid for it owns it? No! It is most truly possessed by the one who most enjoys it.

What can a beautiful park mean to a man whose heart is smothered in a money bag?

And to him who loves the trees, the brooks, the hills, the sky, what matters it who holds the title?

Why, Adam and Eve never had a deed to Eden!

Descendants of theirs today hold deeds, but not possession. It was not the land itself which was taken away, but the power to enjoy it.

What we love is ours—and nothing more.

We can truly possess nothing that we sacrifice to our own selfish purposes. It is only to the man who is poor that wealth glows like a bright star in the night. The law of recompense always is in force. It is only when darkness shrouds our world that we can see the lights of a million others.

Did we not learn in babyhood that the bubble is brilliant only until we grasp it?

The gems in the fine lady's hair and at her throat sparkle not for her eyes, but for the eyes of others. She owns only some costly stones—never the priceless light that dances in them. This priceless treasure is only for them who love it, and for them it is scattered broadcast at their very feet in countless myriads of frost flakes on the brown winter earth and in the morning dew drops in the summer grass.

What we love we own—and there our real possessions end. If our love be greed and lust, then these stinging serpents of vice will creep into the heart and make it their abode. But to the soul where love is pure all in the world that is good and sweet flies straight and swift as homing doves.

Yes, what we love is ours, and in the same degree as we love we own. All that is worth while in the world we may own, if we will.

Good Advice.

Argonaut: One Sunday morning Mr. Moody, the revivalist, entered a Chicago drug store distributing tracts. At the back of the store sat an elderly and distinguished citizen reading a morning newspaper. Mr. Moody approached this gentleman and threw one of the temperance tracts upon the paper before him. The old gentleman glanced at the tract, and then, looking up benignantly at Moody, asked: "Are you a reformed drunkard?" "No, sir, I am not!" cried Moody, drawing back, indignantly. "Then why in h— don't you reform?" quietly asked the old gentleman.

THE WEATHER.

The chill still hangs in the air, and the weather man looks for still cooler weather tonight and tomorrow, with frost. Showers are also predicted. A year ago today it was cool and clear. The sun rose this morning at 5:31 and will set at 6:43, making thirteen hours and twelve minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"During the past twenty-four hours showers fell over the lake region, central valley states, the Northwest and Southwest, as a result of low pressures now central over the lake region and Western Mexico, respectively. The Alberta high pressure has advanced its center to Montana and has caused much cooler weather in Western Canada, Montana, Wyoming and the Dakotas. Freezing temperatures prevail in Alberta and Northern Montana. Indications favor generally fair and chilly weather at the Head of the Lakes tonight and Sunday, as a result of the easterly movement of the Montana high barometer area."

Modan Tunkin Tell.

I.

Oh, Kitty dear, I love you with a love
that never dies,
The night wind's in the poplars: it is but thy lover's sighs.
Now thou art gone my heart beats like a sadly tolling bell
For I love you—yes, I love you, Kitty—
modan tunkin tell.

Yes, modan tunkin tell,
Yes, modan tunkin tell,
You ask me how I love you, but you
know the answer well:
I love you—love you—Kit—my Kitty—
Modan....
Tunkin....
Tell!

II.

'Tis only in my sad-sweet dreams your form, my love, appears.
The rain beats on thy window pane:
'tis but thy lover's tears.
The church bell rings the lonely hours and every hour a knell,
For I love you—yes, I love you, Kitty—
modan tunkin tell.

Yes, modan tunkin tell,
Yes, modan tunkin tell,
You ask me how I love you, but you
know the answer well:
I love you—love you—Kit—my Kitty—
Modan....
Tunkin....
Tell!

III.

So quickly come, my darling, for I cannot love thee less.
The south wind yearns against thee:
it is but my fond caress.
The south wind bears thee to me and
I know my life is well.
For I love you—yes, I love you, Kitty—
modan tunkin tell.

Yes, modan tunkin tell,
Yes, modan tunkin tell,
You ask me how I love you, but you
know the answer well:
I love you—love you—Kit—my Kitty—
Modan....
Tunkin....
Tell!

Edgin' Towards Fall.

Gittin' Fall! Gittin' Fall!
Nowadays the shadders crawl
Further 'cross the pasture fence—
Further than they've flitted sence
Autumn time a year ago—
Don't the seasons hurry though!

Crops are growed an' heapin' in
Cellar, loft an' granary bin,
Whilst the soil where they was growed,
Havin' lost its heavy load,
Stretches out an' yawns an' jest
Makes its mind t' take a rest.

Mornin' light don's come so soon—
Night gets closerlike t' noon—
Birds have changed their tarnal call
"Spring has come" t' "Gittin' Fall!"
Fickle things! Je-m-i-m-y, how
Time is gallavantin' now!

Man an' things are like a bit,
I'm the livin' proof of it—
Gittin' gray around my ears,
Gittin' bent with weight of years
Roomatics an' chills an' all—
Gittin' Fall! Gittin' Fall!

SATURDAY NIGHT TALK

The Passing of the Playtime.

Oh the bright and joyful summer.
Oh the short and transient summer.

Who that has enjoyed a summer in the open, or a part of the summer away from routine duties and in the midst of delightful holiday opportunities is quite ready for the call of September? To begin again is so much harder than it was to leave off a short time ago.

But my dear wage-earner, school teacher, student, home-maker, what is playtime but an interlude between seasons of labor? If it were anything, it would lose its charm and value. As I go about the world I am struck with the increasing number of persons in American life who belong, the year through, to the leisure class. They have inherited money or they have made their pile and retired. But I do not find myself envying them. The happiest people—at least the happiest young and middle aged people—are those who have their definite and strenuous tasks to do and whose playtime comes as a just compensation for some genuine productive labor. In their heart of hearts some of these well fed, richly fixed, leisurely people may be coveting your chance for the next ten or twelve months to do something worth while in God's great working world.

Playtime may pass, but its memories need not. Those jolly hours on top of the coach, or sitting on the bleachers, those hours of pleasant comradeship on the piazza or around the camp fire, those quiet, solitary hours when you floated in the canoe or rested on the greensward, they have made their permanent contribution of hope and cheer to your life. They are going to come back to you often. As Wadsworth put it, they are going to "flash upon the inward eye" again and again when you are in the thick of tasks and problems.

Besides the impressions that have been coming to you during playtime, you have been making impressions on others. Just what they were it may not be good taste in an outsider to inquire too minutely. But while you have been off duty, in undress uniform, while you have sat at hotel tables, traveled on trains and trolleys, entered zestfully into sports and games, others have been taking note of you, your manners, your morals. In some little place, perhaps 500 miles from where you will live this winter, there is a very definite impression today of your character. Fortunate are you if the impression so indelibly made has been that of a royal gentleman, a true lady, a real Christian.

Henry Van Dyke in his essay, "Leaving Off," has a helpful word to say on this general subject of moving on from one period to another. Take the comfort of it with you, now that playtime is over:

"The fairest things in the world and the finest are always in transition. Why should we hold back? The bloom of tender spring disappears in the dark verdure of summer. The splendid hues of the autumnal hills fade like the colors on a bubble. Would you stand where you are today, always doing the same thing, always repeating the same experiences, never leaving off? Then be thankful that the wisdom and goodness by which this passing show is ordered will not suffer you to indulge your foolish wish. The wisest men and women are not those who cling tenaciously to one point of life, with desperate aversion to all changes, but those who travel cheerfully through its mutations, finding in every season, in every duty, in every pleasure, a time to begin and a time to cease.

"THE PARSON."

MEANT TO BE FUNNY.

Punch: Frugal North Briton (in his first experience of a taxi)—Here, mon, stop! I hae a weak heart. I canna stand that hangt wee machine o' yours markin' up thae tuppences.

Baltimore American: "How is it that Julia is so jealous and quarrelsome? She used to have such a sweet disposition."

"I know, but the past year she has been singing in a church choir."

Syracuse Post-Standard: "She's all puffed up."

"With pride?"

"No, with powder."

Comic Cuts: Young Golightly (to pretty girl)—Is the seat next to you engaged, miss?

Miss—No; but I am! And he's going to get in at the next station!

The Bystander: Lady (on the bank)—My dear sir, how did you come to tumble in?

Man (in water)—My dear madam, to be frank, I didn't come to tumble in—I came to skate.

Yonkers Statesman: "And that young man kissed you on the lips? Why didn't you offer him your hand?" said the father.

"Oh, I didn't have to, papa," said the girl; "he's going to ask you for that."

San Francisco Examiner: Tramp (outside the gate)—Madam, may I ask does your dog bite?

Mrs Jaye (in the garden)—Yes, he does; and please don't come in. We are very particular about what we feed him on.

University of Pennsylvania Punch Bowl: Freshman—Who is the smallest man mentioned in history?

Sophomore—I give it up.

Freshman—Why, the Roman soldier who slept on his watch.

Chicago News: He proposed to her by mail, and by letter she replied. He read her brief refusal, then committed suicide. Alas! he'd be alive today and she a happy bride, had he but read the postcript on the other side.

London Punch: "Yus, Bill, mark my words, the thing wot's goin' to make England is tariff reform—an' no mistake."

"Wot be tariff reform, 'Enery?"

"Why, tariff reform is—er—well, it's—er—what they tells yer at the meetings."

Washington Star: "Did you tell that photographer you didn't want your picture taken?"

"Yes," answered the eminent but uncomely personage.

"Did he take offense?"

"No. He said he didn't blame me."

Cleveland Leader: "Is my hat on straight?"

"Yes—hurry, or we'll be late."

"Are you sure it's perfectly straight?"

"Indeed it is—you couldn't get it straighter. Are you ready?"

"No. I'll have to go back and change this hat. You know it isn't stylish to have this kind on straight."

Reward Offered For Him.

Albany Argus: Wonder if there ever was a farmer who said "by heck!" We knew a man once who claimed that his cousin knew a farmer who said "by cracky!"

Then There Was Silence.

Brooklyn Life: Mr. Brown (rushing excitedly into the room)—Marie, Marie, intelligence has just reached me—

Mrs. Brown (calmly interrupting him)—Well, thank heaven, Henry.

University School

We offer to the people of Duluth a school with the following advantages: Small classes; college-trained teachers; pupils, except in the primary grades, taught by men; no need of following a formal course of study; pupils advance as rapidly as ability for preparation warrant; nature study, experimental science, water color; free hand and mechanical drawing; manual training. The Principal will call on interested parties, or they may call 707-L, old 'phone. Term begins September 7.

ROGER BROOKE TANEY

BY SAVOYARD.

Saturday, Oct. 15, 1864, there was a meeting of the bar of Boston, Mass., to take measures for giving expression to the feelings of that body in contemplation of the death of Roger Brooke Taney, chief justice of the supreme bench of the United States. A committee on resolutions was appointed, consisting of Benjamin R. Curtis, Caleb Cushing, Richard H. Dana, and Sidney Bartlett. The following Monday that committee by Judge Curtis reported this resolution:

"The members of this bar render the tribute of their admiration and reverence for the pre-eminent abilities, profound learning, incorruptible integrity and signal private virtues, exhibited in the long and illustrious judicial career of the late lamented Chief Justice Taney."

And then Benjamin R. Curtis, who had rendered the dissenting opinion in the Dred Scott case, took the floor and delivered the eulogy. It is a grand speech. It is a masterpiece of that character of eloquence—strong, massive, simple, chaste, beautiful. I wish I had space to quote it entire. This Curtis was the grand old lawyer who subsequently was the main reliance of Andy Johnson in the impeachment proceeding. He was on the supreme bench six years while Taney was chief justice, and looked the character of his chief through and through.

I am persuaded that the speech of Benjamin R. Curtis on that occasion was more than eulogy. It was March 3, 1858, that William H. Seward made an elaborate speech in the senate of the United States, and then and there he assailed the character of the then chief justice with brutal mendacity. He charged that a few moments before the inauguration of President Buchanan, the chief justice in whispered conversation had revealed what was to be the decision of the bench in the Dred Scott case. He had no proof except the perverse interpretation he chose to put upon the inaugural address. But he was not allowed to go unrebuked. Reverdy Johnson, a leader of the American bar, took him to task in a public address that must have pierced even the rhinocerotian cuticle of the New York senator, while two of the supreme bench resented the slander in papers they left behind. As for Taney, he treated the thing with the serene contempt it merited.

Benjamin R. Curtis could not have delivered the eulogy he did on a man such as Seward, held Taney to be.

Roger B. Taney was to civil life what Robert E. Lee was to military, absolutely pure so far as it is given finite man to be perfect. He was born March 17, 1777, in Calvert county, Md., of Catholic parents, and he was a devout member of that church all his life. His father was a man of substance and proprietor of an extensive landed estate, a country gentleman of the old English school. The family because of its religion had felt the oppression of the penal laws of William and Mary that deprived them of many of the liberties of Englishmen, but they never surrendered a jot or tittle of their faith.

Young Taney was educated by private tutors until he was sent to Dickinson college, whence he was graduated in 1795. He returned to the paternal roof and spent a year riding to hounds and in similar pastimes of the country gentry of that day. Then he studied law in the office of Jeremiah Townley Chase, a judge of the general court of Maryland. The old jurist would not allow the students in his office to hold a "moot court," and in later years the great chief justice said this in support of his venerated preceptor:

"No one improves his own knowledge or capacity for argument by habitually speaking on subjects which he does not fully understand, or by listening to those who speak under like circumstances."

Somebody ought to read that in each house of the American congress every day it is in session as soon as the chaplain leaves the clerk's desk.

Instead of practicing in the moot court, Taney attended the sessions of the supreme court daily and heard such giants as Luther Martin, P. B. Key, John Thompson Mason and other leading lawyers of the state plead. It is doubtful if this country ever produced a lawyer the superior of Luther Martin, unless his rival, William Pinckney, was he. Taney left his estimates of these two giants in his papers; but it would be unsatisfactory to take fragments from them, and they are too long to print entire in such a paper as this.

Strange it sounds, but Taney was a Federalist as long as that party existed, and stranger yet, the author of the Dred Scott decision was an emancipationist, manumitted the slaves that came to him by inheritance, and contributed to their support out of his own means after they were free. Again, his colored body servant was drafted as a soldier by the Federal authorities, and though Taney now had nothing but his salary, 3 per cent of which was withheld by the income tax in flat violation of section 1, article III, of the Constitution of the United States, he hired a substitute for his faithful servitor.

As a Federalist, Taney was chosen to the Maryland house of delegates when 22 years old, and greatly distinguished himself in that body, but in the wreck of the Federalist party in 1800, he went down leading his ticket at the election. He now left Calvert county and opened a law office at Frederick, and devoted his time to constant and laborious study of his profession. Always a frail man physically, it was astounding that he attained to the great age of nearly 88 years. In Curtis' eulogy is this passage:

"There can be no doubt that his was a vehement and passionate nature, but he subdued it. I have seen him sorely tried, when the only observable effects of the trial were silence and a flushed cheek. So long as he lived he preserved that quietness of temper and that consideration for the feelings and wishes of others, which were as far as possible removed from weak and selfish querulousness."

He soon acquired a lucrative practice and attained to a place among the leaders of the American bar. He had a case in ejectment in Washington county, and Luther Martin was his senior counsel. They rode twenty-six miles, and at every tavern, which they passed every five miles, Martin drank all the whiskey he could hold, and when he could not get whiskey he drank ale, and wanting both, he drank buttermilk. As a consequence, when they reached Hagerstown, the old lawyer was what the maid said in Sir Walter Scott's Guy Mannering—"pretty particular drunk." He was put to bed, and though his junior counsel sought to awaken him to consult, it was impossible, and Taney went off, and sat up all night studying the case. The next day he went to court, after failing to see Martin, and nerved himself to meet the assaults of opposing counsel, nearly equal to Martin himself. But just as the case was called, in came Martin, who took command, and never before did he show more forensic skill in the management of a case. A chief point was a spring of water that had been located to determine the boundary. That was enough for Martin.

At the age of 29, Taney married the sister of Francis Scott Key. I wish I had space to copy a love letter he wrote to her on the forty-sixth anniversary of their marriage, when he was honored as the most just jurist on e ither hemisphere. It is simply beautiful, and what a happy life must theirs have been.

Taney was the chief counsel for Gen. Wilkinson, who was tried by court-martial in the Mississippi early in the nineteenth century. The results of the trial was an acquittal, though Wilkinson was always looked upon with suspicion by the great majority of his countrymen. He was also counsel for the meddling Methodist preacher Gruber from Pennsylvania, who sought to have a rising of the slaves of Maryland, and strange as it may seem, the accused was acquitted.

After Martin and Pinckney died, Taney moved to Baltimore, and there he was the head of the bar. William Wirt had taken up his residence there and sometimes appeared in court, but there was no professional rivalry between them. Taney was chosen attorney general of Maryland and his fame as a lawyer continued to spread until he was everywhere recognized as the first man in the profession in a commonwealth always famous for the learning, capacity and skill of its leading lawyers.

As remarked, Taney was originally a Federalist, but after the death of that party and the "era of good feeling," in 1820, there came the splitup of 1824 when Jackson, Adams, Crawford and Clay all received votes in the electoral college, and all claiming to be "Republicans." Taney joined the party of Jackson and in 1831 he was appointed attorney general in Gen. Jackson's cabinet. He opposed nullification, but he had the greatest admiration for Mr. Calhoun. I wish I had space to give his estimate of that extraordinary man. While a Jackson man, Taney, who was absent from Washington at the time, disapproved some of the passages of the famous proclamation against the nullifiers, and it is quite likely that it would have been materially modified had he been present to pass on the law of it. And yet Taney himself had a bout with the nullifiers of the North thirty years later.

It was not Andrew Jackson, it was not Thomas H. Benton, it was Roger Brooke Taney who destroyed Nicholas Biddle's United States bank. It was his conception—that battle; he planned it, and he played a big part in the execution of it. Taney it was who convinced Jackson that the bank was a menace to the liberties of the people, and that was enough. Originally Jackson had been a bank man, and Clay had been an anti-bank man.

Jackson would never have removed the deposits if Taney had not suggested it and after Duane had refused to remove the deposits Taney was made secretary of the treasury. He had as much moral courage as "Old Hickory," and he practiced what he had preached. Clay, Calhoun and Webster all assailed him, but he was as firm as his chief and the bank failed. His nomination to the treasury was rejected by the senate, but he had done his work and the bank was dead. Later his nomination for associate justice was rejected, but when Marshall died the senate was Democratic and Taney was confirmed as his successor.

Here is a little piece of history. Jan. 31, 1851, William H. Seward had the unspeakable effrontery to write the chief justice of the United States for permission to "inscribe" his speech in favor of that hoary steal, the French Spoliation Claims, to the head of the supreme judiciary. It was an invitation to Roger B. Taney to lend himself to that shameless lobby. The answer of the chief justice was a courteous but firm refusal.

And speaking of the French Spoliation Claims, I saw that grandest of all Georgians, Henry G. Turner, kill the thing two or three times; but after he refired the thing went ithrough and long ago the American people footed the bill of this steal as they had many a one before and as they will again.

Taney was the kindest-hearted of men. Many was the time that he would take up a little insignificant case that required nothing but drudgery to decide, leaving to his brothers on the bench important cases that they were ambitious to shine in. It takes a man to do that. And he was a man, every inch—as great a jurist as ever wore ermine, and the purest man who ever sat in judgment on any bench. I regret that it is too much for me to undertake to try to review his career on the bench, though I do wish I had space to say a word or two about the treason of Wisconsin in 1860-61.

THE GOOSE GIRL. By Harold McGrath, author of "The Man on the Box," etc. Indianapolis: Bobbs-Merrill company. $1.50.

Harold McGrath writes purely for the amusement of the public, and the public reads him for amusement only. His books are to be considered, then, upon that plane, and upon that plane only. In one place in the present volume he dips briefly into economics and sociology—only for a few lines, however—and shows how hopelessly beyond him is anything above mere entertainment by dismissing the problem of poverty with the shallow statement that the poor are poor because they are incompetent and criminal. However, it is perhaps wrong to give so much emphasis to a feature which is the merest incident in the book, to a defect which is lost in a sea of merits from the viewpoint of entertainment. For of this there is plenty, as we have grown accustomed to expect from this author. We meet, in the beginning, a ragged old peasant who looks and acts like a prime minister, a goose girl with the face, figure and grace of a duchess or something greater still; a vintner with soft hands who looks like a colonel of hussars. These hint at pretty mysteries to be unfolded. There are two rival German principalities, one with a handsome young prince and the other with a beautiful young princess. The princess has been stolen in childhood, and until she is found, ambassadors of the two countries want to arrange a marriage between her and the prince. A gallant young American consul loves her, and often she changes for the garret from which greatness plucked her. Presently a complex conspiracy unfolds; mystery is added to mystery. The singe is covered with mountaineers, butchers, carters, clockmakers and bakers that are evidently not what they seem. The very air is rife with mystery; a very whirlpool of plot and counter plot, of mystery and romance, boils in our view. All that is left is to smoothe it all out to a happy finish all around, and the curtain goes down. It is a most diverting tale, skillfully told, and it cannot fail to interest.

THE DISAPPEARING EYE. By Fergus Hume, author of "The Mystery of a Hansom Cab" and other novels of sensation. New York: G. W. Dillingham company. $1.25.

Fergus Hume is an accomplished teller of tales of mystery and violence, and his latest is one of the best of his kind. The tale opens with the discovery of a weird murder. A woman in village shopkeeper's guise is found stabbed through the heart with a hatpin. Her left eye has been taken from her head, and it turns out that it is an artificial eye, in the back of which is information of about the hiding place of a legacy of £50,000 left to a beautiful girl. A girl had visited the shop a few minutes before the murder. She wore a white cloak and veil, which are later found hidden in a nearby field. The hatpin is hers. The glass eye is seen for a moment on a table in her room; then it mysteriously disappears. In spite of all this circumstantial evidence, she protests her innocence. There are two other persons who want to get possession of the eye. They were both visitors to the shop on the night of the tragedy. The glass eye is seen in the room of one of them but immediately vanishes. Each of these persons, also, protests his innocence. The reader is fascinated by the play of circumstantial evidence, and the solution of the mystery is well concealed until toward the end, as it ought to be. If you like mystery stories involving crime, you will like this book; the chances are that you will keep at it until you finish it. It is the best thing Hume has done since "The Mystery of a Hansom Cab."

THE RESCUER. By Percy White. New York: G. W. Dillingham company. $1.25.

Edgar Maitland, a scientist, had died just as he seemed to be on the verge of discovering a way of photographing thought processes by a kind of ray which he believed the mind generates in action. Percy Athelstan, his secretary, carries on the work while the widow goes in for society. We quickly acquire the suspicion that Athelstan is a good deal of a rogue clinging tightly to a soft berth, especially as we can't learn nothing of his antecedents, and as he has queer starts when certain names are mentioned by Col. Drayton, an English artillery officer who was Maitland's friend and who takes interest in the family for that reason and because there is a charming daughter. His researches get him into trouble, but they bode no good for Athelstan, and the story of them is laughable and entertaining. Once the colonial takes out to supper a flashy blond whom Athelstan employs as the subject of his experiments, and though he learns important things thereby, gossip uses the incident as a handle to get him into the bad graces of the widow and her daughter. However, he perseveres, and presently his efforts bring success, greatly to the confusion of Percy and the widow, but to the delight of the colonel and Miss Maitland. It is an ingenious and a diverting story by an English writer who, though little known on this side, has large vogue in Great Britain.

HAPPY HAWKINS. By Robert Alexander Wason. Boston: Small, Maynard company. $1.50.

Here is a story of unusual charm and interest. It is told by Happy Hawkins himself. Happy is a cowboy, and the tale deals with the plains. Besides, he is a clean-cut, keen-witted and big-hearted fellow, with a quaint and penetrating wit, and he views things from an unusual angle and tells about them uncommonly well. Quick-tempered, independent, loyal, lovable, adventurous and philosophical, he is a distinct addition to American literature, and the author establishes himself, by the production of this book, as a humorist and story-teller worth while. Happy tells his tale in his own way. The working out of the slender plot might be criticised, but if he had worked out in a manner that was technically correct, it wouldn't have been in keeping with the character, and as it is it is just right. His knowledge of human nature, his simple-hearted devotion to those he loves, his ability to get into trouble and out of it, his self-possession in any society and any circumstances, combine to make him a character from whom we shall hope to hear more. The story is full of red blood, with an abundance of action, plenty of romance, plot enough to give the book coherence, though most of it is crowded into the later pages. There is a great variety of scene and type, much shrewd philosophy and homely wit, and real fun and humor on every page. Happy's interpretation of the story of Monte Cristo is worth the price of admission alone.

EVERYBODY'S SECRET. By Dion Clayton Calthrop. New York: G. W. Dillingham company. $1.50.

Peter Welby, inheritor of a fortune a year from soap invented by his father, hating soap and seeking something to make his existence interesting, is advised by Toby Quarrenden to adopt a child. The fancy pleases him, and he follows it. Toby, by the way, is a grown up, delightful child of six feet, three inches, and has charge of an unusual charity—the equipping of decayed gentlemen with incomes and homes in the outskirts of villages, for the good of the villages. Also, he has a pleasant platonic chumship with Christine Macaire, a beautiful actress with a past. This relationship is misunderstood, most of all by Toby himself, who takes a precious long time to find out what Christine means to him. First, he falls in love with and marries a dainty, weak little woman, not knowing that Christine loves him and that he needs her. Then, before the marriage takes place, it develops that Iris Ferringay, Toby's divinity, had some years before formed an attachment for Welby, out of which had come the very child which Peter had adopted. Toby believes every human being to be perfect, and they don't dare tell him about Iris, but let him marry her. And then, when the child becomes ill and Iris nurses her, the mother love comes to the surface and brings out the whole story; whereupon Toby's ideals go clattering to the ground in a very dilapidated heap. With an old marplot of a meddling woman to stir things up, matters get into very serious complications, and it makes a very full story. It is piquant, witty and entertaining; a very pleasant story about very pleasant people.

The G. W. Dillingham company announces for early publication a novelization of the Charles Klein's enormously successful drama "The Third Degree." The play is now in its second year and this season half a dozen companies will be performing it all over the United States. The book is being written by Charles Klein and Arthur Hornblow, whose joint collaboration on the novel "The Lion and the Mouse" resulted in sales reaching considerably over 200,000 copies. "The Third Degree" is promised for November. Other new Dillingham publications announced are "The Writing on the Wall," founded on Olga Nethersole's play by Edward Marshall; "Samantha on Children's Rights," by Marietta Holley; and "The Fortunate Prisoner," by Max Pemberton.

"By Right of Conquest," Arthur Hornblower's recent novel, is in its fifth edition, and bids fair to be one of the autumn's best sellers.

Of Books and Writers.

Mr. McCutcheon discovered "Graustark." Just where it is, nobody but Mr. McCutcheon knows, although a small army of writers have been exploring and prospecting in the neighborhood. But Mr. McCutcheon discovered Graustark, ran up his flag on the highest mountain in it, and ever since has been the real ruler of the country. We have no doubt that he has plans, elevations, maps, topographical, geological, etc., if not in his office then at least in his head. By the way, it would be interesting if some historian, or statistician, or whoever digs out such things, would tell us how many years it was after the United States was discovered before it panned out as profitably as Graustark has. Was it fifty years? Or a century? Or more? We seem to remember that it was more than a century after it was first discovered before people tried to live in it, and longer than that before it paid.

Certainly, when Mr. McCutcheon marched into the land of Graustark, proclaimed that he had discovered it, and annexed it, he made a discovery which has added to the healthy enjoyment of a very large reading public. Three Graustark books—"Graustark," "Beverley of Graustark," and now the new one, "Truxton King." The publishers are Dodd, Mead & Co.

The nature of the hitherto unpublished material concerning Henry Hudson which is a feature of Thomas A. Janvier's "Henry Hudson," just announced by the Harpers, is indicated by the author in his preface. Herein he speaks of contemporary Hudson documents which have remained neglected for three centuries, and here are published for the first time. The discovery of these is due, according to Mr. Janvier, to the painstaking research of R. G. Marsden, M.A., the importance of whose discovery Mr. Janvier recognized, afterward directing the search in the Record office in London, that has resulted in their present reproduction. "We still are ignorant of what punishment was inflicted upon the mutineers of the Discovery," says Mr. Janvier, "or even if they were punished at all. The primary importance of these documents, however, is not that they establish the fact—until now not established—that the mutineers were brought to trial; it is that on the body of the sworn testimony, hitherto unproduced, of six members of Hudson's crew."

A new novel by S. R. Crockett is to be reckoned a literary event of the season. It is called "The Men of the Mountain," and announced by the Harpers as forthcoming immediately. Mr. Crockett is still best recalled by "The Stickit Minister," although several others of his novels are favorably remembered, among them "The Gray Man," "The Dark o' the Moon," and "The Red Axe."

Hamlin Garland, whose announcement that he would probably write no more novels, but plays instead, occasioned outspoken regret, has modified his resolve, and a new book by him is expected to be in the hands of his publishers, the Harpers, some time in September.

September 8 is the date announced by the Macmillan company for the publication of "The New New York," the book in which Professor Jesse Lynch Van Dyke and Joseph Pennell have set themselves to describe the ever-changing city. It will be by far the most elaborate work of the kind that has yet appeared. Mr. Pennell's pictures of New York have long been regarded by connoisseurs as among the best of his works, and in "The New New York" there are no less than 124 of his illustrations. Of these twenty-six are in color, and others full-page drawings in black and white.

The text of the book is remarkable not only for a keen analysis and vivid description of the city as it is today, but for a vision of a not so remote future when New York shall have come into its own. As Professor Van Dyke sees it, New York is destined to be like no other city on the globe. With amazing rapidity it is being built on a scale so collossal that few of us have grasped any of its significance. Fascinating though the vision is, it has not blinded Professor Van Dyke to the present. He knows the city as few men do, and in addition he knows how to tell of his knowledge. With Mr. Pennell's aid he has achieved a remarkable feat of description and analysis.

ON THE TRAIL OF THE WHITE HEARSE

THE STORY OF THE MODERN SLAUGHTER OF THE INNOCENTS —WHAT AUGUST MEANS TO THE BABIES OF THE TENEMENTS.

By SHERMAN C. KINGSLEY, Superintendent United Charities of Chicago.

(Exclusive Service The Survey Press Bureau.)

If you wish to know whether or not your city is right, get a map and an indelible pencil and ask your health commissioner to put a black dot on the map for every baby under two who dies in the month of August. Chicago's health commissioner did it last summer. Seven hundred and nineteen dots—deaths from diarrheal diseases alone—were the startling result. July and September were almost as bad. The babies got sick in late May and June, fretted, cried, suffered, wilted and died in July, August and September. The 719 ugly dots did not tell the whole story. Other hundreds of babies managed to live with constitutions blasted. Later they will be found among the undernourished and backward school children; then as delinquents; finally on the books of charity organizations among the dependents to be cared for by society. You cannot make an efficient citizen out of a blighted baby.

Taking the back trail of these pathetic little dots we are led straight to the beaten paths of visiting nurses, truant and probation officers and charity workers into the region of the three-room homes where live widowed and deserted women and others whose income will not permit higher rent. Here insanitary plumbing and lack of health conveniences do their deadly work. It is the destination of the poorest milk sold in the city. It is where streets are cleaned least often or not at all; where stalest bread and oldest meat are sold. To it in the dusk of evening, little children with shawls over their heads and market baskets on their arms return with their prizes from the city dumps and the garbage barrels of the market streets. Visiting commercial organizations are not escorted to this part of the town. The dignitaries from other lands are not taken here as visitors. The ninety and nine of the city's business men have never seen and know little about the conditions which prevail. It is left to the ward politician, the policeman, the insurance solicitor, the installment man, the undertaker, the poor and their children. No matter what the adverse condition which prevails, whether simple poverty, or poverty plus ignorance, or poverty plus ignorance, plus intemperance and viciousness—down at the bottom of it all are the little children and in particular the babies.

For five years the Chicago Relief and Aid society carried on a special work in summer for the babies of such districts. Fresh air tents, superintended by nurses from the Visiting Nurse association and diercted by a staff of expert physicians, who volunteered their services, were set up. The mother of the sick baby was carefully instructed, the work at the tent being supplemented by visits from the nurses to the home. Mothers' meetings were held and groups of women, themselves children in all but burdens and years and the marks of sacrifice, would gather about the nurse and doctor and listen to lessons, simple, direct and practical, on the care and feeding of babies. The simplicity of the tents, their proximity to these humble cots, drew to them hundreds of suffering babies. The mothers superstitious and shrinking, the poorest clad mothers would come. There was no formidable building; no door opening into a corridor with a corridor after that with the cries of babies coming as the doors opened. There was no losing the baby from sight. You could see all that went on in the tents.

This experience served to reveal a widespread condition. There were many efforts to cope with it, but they were scattered and unrelated. The United Charities, with conviction born of these experiences, felt that a broad and comprehensive plan should be made in behalf of the babies. While the conditions were most intense in the congested parts of the city, they were yet pervasive and an effort to rally and unite all possible co-operating forces of the town seemed desirable. A meeting was called, the plan outlined, and a committee on infant welfare, with Dr. William A. Evans, health commisioner, as chairman, created. Taking as a guide the spot map prepared by Dr. Evans, the city was districted for the purpose of covering it in a house to house visitation of discovery and relief. Settlements, hospitals, district offices of the United Charities, churches, missions, representatives of philanthropic agencies of every sort were summoned, the plan was explained and maps displayed, volunteers to accept responsibility for certain territory were chosen, and a campaign to be co-ordinated and guided by the committee was launched.

The trustees of the Elizabeth McCormick memorial fund, a foundation established in honor of Elizabeth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus H. McCormick, made the campaign possible through a grant of $5,330. This money maintains a corps of nurses who are assigned to the thirty distributing stations of the milk commission, each having its clientage of sick babies and its hold upon the neighborhood. Milk pasteurized and modified to suit the age and condition of the child is supplied under the direction and guidance of doctor and nurse. In addition the fund maintains five baby tent stations with their nurses and corps of physicians and ten neighborhood mothers, who speak the language of the neighborhood and are familiar with conditions.

Contributions from individuals, women's clubs and other organizations have been made to employ nurses and assist in other branches of the work. Recently the city council appropriated $10,000 to be used by the board of health. This is being spent for doctors and nurses, for clerical and statistical work and for printing literature on the summer care of babies—general health instructions and an attractive card with terse instructions printed in different languages, at the bottom of which is a reference to the relieving station nearest to the particular home where the card is left.

One of the most effective and far-reaching instances of co-operation is that on the part of the medical society itself. Meetings have been called of the officers of the fourteen branch medical societies. These branches are all co-operating heartily, each branch designating certain physicians who will give their services in their districts, in all instances where the United Charities assures them that volunteer help is needed. Great care is being taken on the one hand not to encroach on the legitimate field of the private practitioner and on the other hand not to allow the baby, in the very midst of doctors, nurses, social workers, dispensaries and hospitals to die without help or with inadequate help.

The Pediatric society organized a corps of lecturers who respond to calls for addresses before mothers' meetings at settlements, churches and clubs. The school of domestic arts and sciences has conducted home-making classes. Catholic, Protestants and Jewish churches are giving health talks and local papers in many languages are publishing health hints and health stories.

These babies, living and dead, have pointed out the weak spots in our municipal housekeeping. Medical inspection and nursing in schools is admirable, but it is five years too late. Insanitary tenements, dust, mud, smoke, flies, impure milk, improper care, never seem to intolerate as when organizations are trying to help a sick baby combat them.

SOCIETY

SOCIETY is most interested in the coming production of "Up and Down Broadway," which will be seen at the Lyceum Friday and Saturday evenings of next week. The affair is being given under the auspices of the Twentieth Century club, and the funds will go toward the work of Neighborhood House at the West end.

The performance will be given in three acts, the first to be an Indian love tragedy, much of it to be told in pantomime. The second act will be a number of clever and dazzling specialties, and the last act will be a brilliant climax. Miss Elizabeth Kendall Bailey will be featured prominently in the first act as the Indian maiden and she will be heard formally in several solos for the first time since her return to Duluth in the early summer. Miss Jane Everington will appear and her song, "I'm Looking For a Sweetheart," with its attendant business, will be among the most attractive numbers of the evening. Miss Frances Woodbridge will have a delightful number, and Miss Marie Clarke will also be among the soloists.

One of the most pleasing numbers will be "The Girl I Met at Sherry's" in which Miss Everington will sing the solo and character bits will be given by Miss Senta Erd. Miss Berta Schmeid, Miss Rachael St. Clair and Miss Annie Hugo. The Messrs. McFadyen will appear as waiters. The guests at Sherry's will be further entertained by Miss Berta Schmeid, with nonsense verses, with a piano accompaniment, and with whistling solos by Miss Watson of Burlington, Iowa.

Among the others who will appear are: Misses Marie Agatin, Senta Erd, Annie Hugo, Frances Burris, Margaret Barrows, Lucille Bradley, Dorothy Baker, Hazel Aske, Eleanor Aske, Marion Cunningham, Ethleen Fee, Grace Farmer, Cleo Fenton, Roella Lovett, Winnifred Mahon, Katherine Pearson, Dorothy Feck, Frank Paine, Alva Pateneaud, Chloe Richards, Evonne Roberts, Natalie Smith, Emily Smith, Leila Spraks, Nannie Turrish, Gladys Tyler, Marion Williamson, Winnifred Warner, Florence Wilkinson, Miss Watson of Burlington, Iowa, Katherine Denfeld and Genevieve Washburn.

The solos for the men will be sung by Walter E. Smith, Joe Lonegren and Donald MacDonald, and the assisting men will be Myron Bunnell, Bushnell, Leon Cooley, John Craig, Cecil Day, John Foote, Clyde Farmer, Reginald Hartman, Telford Hartman, Carl Helmbach, Chauncey Hazen, Joe Lonegren, Walter McCarthy, Henry, Arthur and John McFadyen, Carl Mahon, Wayne Marshall, John Panton.

The list of patronesses is as follows:

Mesdames—J. D. Morrison, A. L. Agatin, Pentecost Mitchell, Carpenter, John W. Powell, Ward Ames, George Gray, J. A. Hearding, Julius H. Barnes, J. F. Killorin, Page Morris, Watson Moore, F. J. Everybody Admires a Beautiful Complexion.

DR. T. FELIX GOURAUD'S
Oriental Cream
OR MAGICAL BEAUTIFIER

An Indispensable and Delightful Toilet Requisite for Fashionable Women.

A daily necessity for the ladies' toilet whether at home or while traveling. It protects the skin from injurious effects of the elements, gives a wonderfully effective beauty to the complexion. It is a perfect non-greasy Toilet Cream and positively will not cause or encourage the growth of hair which all ladies should guard against when selecting a toilet preparation. When dancing, bowling or other exertions heat the skin, it prevents a greasy appearance.

Gouraud's Oriental Cream has been highly recommended by physicians, actresses, singers and women of fashion for over half a century and cannot be surpassed when preparing for daily or evening attire.

Gouraud's Oriental Cream cures Skin Diseases and relieves Sunburn. Removes Tan, Pimples, Blackheads, Moth Patches, Rash, Freckles and Vulgar Redness, Yellow and Muddy Skin, giving a delicately clear and refined complexion which every woman desires.

NOTED WOMAN TEMPERANCE ORATOR TO SPEAK IN DULUTH

MARY HARRIS ARMOR.

One of the most interesting features of the annual state meeting of the Women's Christian Temperance union, which will be held in Duluth Sept. 17, 18 and 19, will be the appearance of Mary Harris Armor, president of the Georgia W. C. T. U., and one of the most eloquent of the temperance orators before the public today. The meeting this month will be the first state meeting to be held in Duluth in twelve years and many plans for the entertainment of the delegates are being made.

Mrs. Armor is said to be one of the finest platform speakers since Frances E. Willard, and she will address a meeting at the First Methodist church Sunday evening, Sept. 19, to which the public is invited.

The following is taken from a two-column article in the Philadelphia North American of March 25, 1908, describing Mrs. Armor's last meeting in Philadelphia:

"At a mass meeting which filled the Academy of Music last night from pit to dome, and overflowed out into Broad street, Mary Harris Armor, the Joan of Arc of the temperance movement throughout the South, bade farewell to Philadelphia, and in parting raised a storm of sentiment for local option the equal of which has never been witnessed in Pennsylvania. Pleading, praying, and singing, the evangel of the new crusade aroused the multitude to a pitch of enthusiasm, which not once, but a dozen times brought the entire house to its feet. By and by the word was passed along that Mrs. Armor had promised to leave the meeting side and come out to speak to the crowd on the street; with this announcement the crowd became denser and the people packed close to the steps. Broad street resounded with cheers in her honor, and a sea of upturned faces greeted her. Broad street presented a scene during her address rarely if ever witnessed in this city. Theater-goers on their way home, cab drivers, parties in automobiles, people of all descriptions stopped for a moment out of curiosity, and ended by surrendering to the spell of the speaker's enthusiasm and reason."

The local members are making arrangements for the entertainment of the visiting delegates and any one who will entertain a delegate for lodging and breakfast during the time of the convention is asked to communicate with the local president, Mrs. W. F. Bailey of 1220 North Central avenue, West Duluth.

SCARLET FEVER IS PREVALENT

Meeting at Hunter's Park Will Be to Discuss Situation.

Hunter's Park people will hold a mass meeting at 8 o'clock this evening in the Glen Avon Presbyterian church for a general discussion of the scarlet fever situation. There are several cases of the disease in that section of the city, and there is a strong sentiment in some quarters against allowing the Washburn school to open next week.

The city health department has been requested to have a representative on hand, and probably Dr. Patton will be there himself. The health commissioner has done everything possible to bring the scarlet fever situation under control in Duluth, and now has the number of cases almost down to the normal. Special quarantine officers have been maintained at Woodland and Hunter's Park at different times during the summer, but despite all precautions the disease still exists there.

At the Seventh Day Adventist church, Tenth avenue east and Sixth street, Elder A. V. Olson, who is to succeed Elder C. M. Babcock as pastor of the Duluth church, will speak Sunday evening at 8 o'clock, on the subject, "The Desire of the Ages." On the following Saturday at the regular morning service at 11:30 a. m., Elder Babcock will deliver his farewell sermon to the people of his church. Sunday school meets every Saturday at 10:30 a. m.

At Bethesda Norwegian Lutheran church, Sixth avenue east and Fifth street, the pastor, Rev. Theodore J. Austad, will conduct services Sunday forenoon at 10:30 in the Norwegian language, and in the evening at 7:45, in the English language. Norwegian Sunday school will meet at 9 a. m., English Sunday school at noon.

The Ladies' Aid society will meet with Mrs. L. Peterson, Thursday afternoon, Sept. 9, at 2 o'clock. The Ladies' Aid society will give an ice cream social in the church, Wednesday evening, Sept. 8, at 8 o'clock.

The Young Ladies' Aid society will meet with Mrs. J. Rust Wednesday evening, Sept. 15, at 8 o'clock.

At the First Norwegian Lutheran church, First avenue east and Third street, the pastor, J. H. Stenberg, will preach in the morning on "Perfection." The Sunday school in Norwegian and English will meet at noon. The Bible class will study Mark 1:1-13. At the English service in the evening H. J. Glenn will preach. The pastor will conduct communion service at 8 p. m., at Our Savior's church in West Duluth.

Rev. A. F. Elmquist, Ph. D. of Minneapolis, will conduct services at 10:30 in the morning and Sunday school at 11:45. No service will be held in the evening.

MEDICAL INSPECTION OF THE SCHOOL CHILDREN

Board Will Try Experiment in Four City Schools.

Preliminary Plans for New Building Are Ordered Prepared.

The board of education took a decided step toward the adoption of a system of medical inspection in the public schools of the city, at the regular meeting at Central High school last evening, when it was decided to establish a temporary inspection in four schools, as an experiment.

If the experimental inspection in the four schools to be designated proves satisfactory, the inspection will be adopted by the board as a regular thing, and the co-operation of the parochial schools will be asked, so that the health of every child attending school in this city may be looked after.

The committee on schools and teachers, which is composed of Wilson G. Crosby, Dr. S. H. Boyer and L. A. Barnes, has been working upon this problem of medical inspection for some weeks and the adoption of the plan temporarily was upon the recommendation of the committee, made to the board in its regular report last evening.

The St. Louis County Medical society is heartily in favor of the medical inspection of school children and in a communication to the board urged its adoption and assured the members of its co-operation in every way.

Chairman Crosby of the committee on schools in explaining the inspection plan to the other members of the board, said that it was not the intention to have the board undertake the responsibility for the treatment of defective children nor to take any steps contrary to the wishes of the parents or guardians of the youngsters.

"The plan," said Mr. Crosby, "merely provides for the inspection, after which recommendations as to proper treatment will be made to the parents of children with diseases or defects which endanger the health of the other pupils or which retard the progress of the afflicted child."

To help the scheme along, he said, members of the St. Louis County Medical association had agreed to treat children free of charge in instances where the parents were too poor to have it done. Also, a number of physicians have volunteered to lend their time and professional services gratis to assist in the perfection and operation of the medical inspection plan.

The matter is intelligently explained in the report and recommendations of the committee on teachers and schools received and adopted by the board last evening. That section pertaining to the inspection follows:

"We recommend that the following measures be taken looking to the ultimate adoption of a system of medical inspection in the schools:

"That four schools be selected and the principals instructed to co-operate with the physicians who have volunteered their services in making a physical examination of the pupils as to (a) communicable diseases and (b) curable physical defects having a direct influence upon the work of the child.

"That the principals of the above schools be requested to report to the board at each regular meeting, until the examination is complete, a summary of the results giving the total number of pupils examined to the date of each report, the number found diseased or defective and the general character of the diseases or defects together with the number that have received treatment. In the case of those treated the percentage of improvement, if any, should be noted. That blanks be furnished the principals for the purpose.

"That the physicians be requested to make their report on each pupil to the principals of the respective schools upon blanks substantially in the form herewith submitted.

"That the principals be requested in the case of a pupil suffering from contagious disease to notify the health department of the city at once and to send the pupil home with a note to the parents. In the case of a pupil suffering from a physical defect which, in the opinion of the physician, should receive treatment, the principal should send a card substantially in the form herewith submitted to the parent or other person having care of the pupil and should personally advise with such parent or other person as to the course to be persued.

"That upon the completion of the examination of the pupils of said four schools the general results be stated by the board and published for the information of the community and as a guide to the future policy of the board.

"That the clerk be authorized to have blanks printed in sufficient number and in the form herewith submitted."

The medical inspection of school children has been successfully tried in Eveleth. A man familiar with that work was to have addressed the board last night, but he did not put in an appearance.

Mr. Crosby, in reading statistics on the medical inspection in New York city, stated that the general efficiency of the scholars had increased 15 per cent since it was instituted.

Dr. Boyer reported that a number of cases of scarlet fever still existed in Hunter's Park and the board instructed Supt. Denfeld to investigate conditions there and ascertain whether it was advisable to open the Washburn school Tuesday or not.

The resignation of George Fifer as truant officer was received, but upon the recommendation of the committee on schools and teachers, it was decided to hold the appointment of a successor in abeyance for a while. It was suggested that later it might be possible to combine the post of truant officer with the proposed one of medical inspector. The matter will probably come up again at the next meeting.

The committee on the maintenance of buildings and grounds was instructed to have prepared preliminary plans for the new combination grade school and manual training building, to be erected on Lake avenue, between Third and Fourth streets, and present them at the next meeting. To give this new building ample grounds, two additional lots at Lake avenue and Fourth street have just been purchased by the board. The new building will cost in the neighborhood of $125,000 and will be one of the finest school buildings in the city. Until the architect's plans are accepted, it cannot be said when work will begin on the structure.

The buildings and grounds committee reported that the new C. C. Salter school in the East end and the Ensign school in the West end would be ready to receive the pupils Tuesday morning. The board ordered the cancellation of the builders' insurance on the buildings and directed the committee on administration and finance to secure insurance on them according to the methods adopted by the board a year or so ago. The Ensign building, which is quite a distance up the hill, will be insured for $30,000, and the Salter school, which is partially fire proof, for about $20,000.

The Salter school's district takes in that part of the Jefferson school district below First street and between Twelfth and Fourteenth avenues east and that part of the Endion school district lying south of Superior street from Twelfth to Eighteenth avenues west and south of London road from Eighteenth to Thirty-second avenues east.

A request to have night school in the Washington building, across from the Central high school, was referred to the committee on schools and teachers.

The American Exchange National bank was named as the board's depository.

Supt. Denfeld and Clerk Bronson were instructed to ascertain the number of Duluth children attending the Proctor school, to end of determining what the Duluth school district should pay the Proctor folk for the education of the young Duluthians, who attend the Proctor school, because it is nearest.

A delegation from the East end asked the board to have a kindergarten in the new Salter school. The matter was referred to the committee on teachers and schools, which is expected to act favorably upon the request.

The following teachers were employed by the board: E. P. Gibson, Mabel G. Compton, H. D. Brackett, Julien M. Romieux, C. R. Avery, Marvin Wallace, Henry J. Meyers, Forrest Z. Wheeler, M. Goldsmith, for the high schools; and Anna D. Kent and Jane E. Murray for the grades.

STRIKE OF 2,000 WORKERS THREATENS COTTON MILLS.

New Bedford, Mass., Sept. 4.—A general strike of the 20,000 cotton mill operatives in this city is threatened as a result of the refusal of the managers to restore a 10 per cent cut in wages made in March, 1908. At a meeting of the Textile Council last night a formal refusal of the mill owners was received.

The delegates to the council had expected that the manufacturers would offer to advance wages 5 per cent, if not to make a complete restoration, and the letter from the mill treasurers created considerable surprise.

The Best Remedy For Insect Bites.

By Louise Field.

Remember how when we were children we used to run to mother to have the mosquito and insect bites cooled with soda or salt. Faith was the best part of that treatment, yet back of it was a real scientific reason, the use of an antiseptic of which soda and salt treatments were poor examples. Any insect bite may be a serious matter, however, and it is always a painful one. Many people are very sensitive to the poison of insects, and I cannot too strongly recommend the use of the Swedish preparation I use—Toilet Salubrin, which is probably the most perfect home antiseptic made and entirely harmless. Salubrin will stop the smarting and pain at once and removes any possibility of danger of blood infection. It is just as useful in any skin irritation or summer rash, sunburn, eczema, pimples, blackheads and tan, in fact, it is a perfect skin treatment and acts at once. There should be a bottle of Toilet Salubrin which sells at all druggists at 75c, in every home. One bottle will last the average family a whole summer.

Salubrin is sold in Duluth by William A. Abbett, druggist, 129 West Superior street, 101 West Fourth street, and 932 East Second street.

Tom and His Prize Pig at the Fair.

BY MAUD WALKER.

ALL during the spring and summer Tom had taken especial care of a fine pig his father had given him, telling him that if he fed it well it might develop into a "prize" pig for the County Fair, which was to be held in September. And all during the spring and summer the pig had eaten and waxed fat and sleek, becoming an adult pig, so to speak, one that is usually alluded to as a "hog." And after the pig had grown into a real hog Tom had the fondest hopes that he might go to the fair and carry home a blue ribbon tied to the pig's ear or tail.

But so fond had the pig—but I'll call him a hog after this, so big had he grown—become of Tom that he would follow him about the big hog lot where he spent most of his time in company with other pigs and hogs. And Tom had but to step over the stile into the lot and call "Fattie, Fattie, come to your slop!" and the fine fellow would come on the trot, as fast as his short legs could carry his huge body. If he were in the farthest corner of the lot he would hear his master's voice, and knowing that it meant something good to eat, would come at once. And Tom saw to it that the other hogs and pigs were kept away from the private trough from which he fed his "prize" hog till the round-bellied fellow was so full that he went away from the trough of his own accord and lay down in the shade somewhere to digest his much-enjoyed meal.

And so it happened that with the advent of September the well-fed hog was really a fit subject for the County Fair. He would easily weigh two hundred and fifty pounds, and that was pretty good weight for a hog of his age. And so it happened that Tom prepared to drive him to the "County Seat," the town where the fair was held each year. As the distance to town was only three miles, Tom felt it would be unnecessary to ask his father for a team of horses and a wagon to carry his "prize" hog to the Fair, for the horses were all kept busy with the fall plowing, and could not well be spared. So he planned on leading or driving the hog to town, making an early start and taking as much time to make the journey as the hog seemed to want. Of course, his being so fat would necessitate their traveling very slowly.

The morning before the Fair was to open Tom started townward with the hog, whom he had called by the name of Blue-ribbon. The first half mile was covered without any trouble, but at the end of that distance Blue-ribbon became very tired and refused to follow Tom, or to be driven by him. Indeed, he just walked out to the roadside, found a shady spot under a fine green hedge and lay down to rest. Tom, who always felt deep sympathy for dumb animals, decided to let the poor fat fellow rest awhile, and during the interval would take a nap himself under a nearby tree that shaded a spot of green grass on the roadside. So, seeing Blue-ribbon fast asleep under the hedge, Tom stretched himself on the grass in the shade, not twenty-five feet from where rested the "prize" porker.

For over an hour Tom slept, for he was very tired from the walk in the hot September sun, having done a number of chores that morning before leaving home. And Blue-ribbon had not been a very good traveling companion, for he had continually wandered from the road, obliging Tom to run after him very, very often. So, while they had covered only half a mile of the road to town, they really had taken steps enough to have measured three times that distance. Thus, weary from his farm chores and the walk, Tom slept, not waking till a wagoner came driving along. "Hello! What are you sleepin' here for, Tom?" It was the voice of a neighbor farmer that roused Tom from his dreams. Rising on his elbow Tom rubbed his eyes, speedily recovered consciousness and realized his whereabouts.

"Oh, I'm on my way to town; am driving my prize hog to the fair. Did you see him when you were over at our place the other day? Have a look at him—there under the hedge. Gee, he's a dandy porker. I'll sure get the blue ribbon. Fact is, I've called the hog Blue-ribbon for a name."

The farmer not having noticed Blue-ribbon on the day he had called at Tom's home, got down from his high seat in the wagon and went to the spot designated by Tom as being the resting place of Blue-ribbon. But in vain he looked about under the hedge, no hog did he see.

"Say, Tom, your hog ain't here—no-wheres. But here's a place in the weeds and grass where he's been layin' down."

Tom hurried to the spot where he had seen Blue-ribbon reposing when he himself had sought rest close by. Sure enough, it was as the farmer had said; there was no hog there. Where could he have gone? Tom began to make search all up and down the hedge-row, but could not find even a track of Blue-ribbon, for the ground was hard and sunbaked, preventing the animal's hoofs from sinking into it. "Well, that beats me," declared Tom. "Wonder how long I've slept, anyway. I think it must have been about 8 o'clock when I lay down."

The farmer carried a watch and took it from his pocket. "My turnip says it's quarter after nine," he said. "Moley hoses! I've got to be drivin' on. If I see yer hog on the way to town I'll yell back to you. He may have stole a march on you, Tom."

The farmer laughed, jumped into his wagon, chucked to his horses to be going and was off down the dusty road.

For some time Tom remained at the spot, wondering what course to pursue. Then he decided to go on to town, stopping at the farmhouses on the road and learn whether or not Blue-ribbon had been seen passing that way. He did not think the hog had taken the road leading home, for it was mostly up hill from the spot where he had been resting, and, naturally, the fat animal would prefer going down grade.

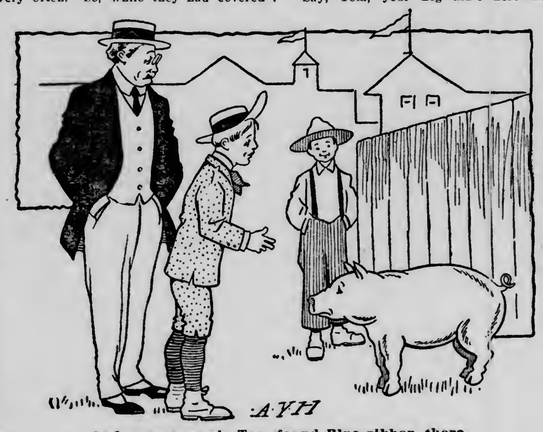

Tom made inquiry at several farmhouses, but could hear nothing of his hog. So he decided to stop at the fair grounds and make his excuse for not entering the hog, as he had already listed him for exhibition. Then he would go on to the office of the town paper and advertise Blue-ribbon in the "Lost and Found" column.

He hurried to the business office at the fair grounds and told of his loss. While he was talking to one of the men in charge of the live stock exhibit, a boy came running into the office, grinning from ear to ear. "Say, boss," he exclaimed, "thar's a fine big hog just come in through the gate, an' nobody's with 'im. What'll we do with 'im, put 'im in one of the hogpens? I reckon he's come to the fair to sho' hisself, fer he's a beaut."

"Say, I guess that's my hog," said Tom, addressing the boy, who was one of the "roustabouts" on the grounds, and who helped to look after the animals. "I'll just go and look him over."

The business man and the boy and Tom went to the spot where the stray hog had entered the fair grounds. And, sure enough, Tom found Blue-ribbon there, looking pretty tired and hungry. When he heard Tom call him by name he looked up quickly and waddled to his owner's side. "Yes, he's my property; but how he ever got to this place without my bringing him is a puzzle to me." And Tom laughed heartily. "Well, we'll enter him in regular form now, Mr. Jackson," Tom added, turning to the gentleman in charge.

And, sure enough, when the fair was over Tom found that that "prize" pig had taken a blue ribbon, and you can imagine that Tom himself was the proudest boy in the county.

And, sure enough, Tom found Blue-ribbon there.

Bill, The Mule.

OLD BILL didn't like a load of two,
So if two rode he always threw
One off in a creek that ran close by;
Another he'd toss in an old pig sty.

It wasn't the weight of his human load
That old Bill minded; but that two rode Seemed like imposition to him, you know:

So that was the reason he always threw
One off in the creek that ran close by,
And the other one into the old pig sty.

When Myrtle Was Lost in the Market Place.

BY HELENA DAVIS.

"MAY I go with you to market, Mamma?" asked Myrtle.

"Yes, dear, as it so cool and nice I think the trip to the market would be very pleasant for you since your long illness. Do you think you feel quite strong enough to stand the long street-car ride?"

"Oh, yes, Mamma; I'd so enjoy the ride on the open street car. And I don't feel as though I had ever been sick at all. Let me see—it's been almost a week since I got up from my bed. And I've gotten very strong again. You know I practiced my piano lesson for an hour yesterday without feeling a bit exhausted."

"All right, dear," said Myrtle's mamma, getting her hat and gloves. "We'll start right away while it is cool. And the vegetables and fruits are more choice early in the morning, for the crowds have not picked them over. While you get your hat I'll go to the kitchen and fetch the basket."

A few minutes later Myrtle and her mother were on their way to market riding on an open street car and enjoying the fresh morning air immensely. Myrtle had had a long illness, and this was her first visit to market since her recovery. At the market place Myrtle and her mother went about among the vegetable and fruit stalls selecting all they wanted for the morrow, which was Sunday. Then Myrtle's mother found a seat beside a great pile of cabbages for her little daughter, and told her to rest there, and keep an eye on the basket while she ran across the street to a poultry shop to buy a chicken. "Don't leave here, dearie, till I return," said Myrtle's mother. "I may be detained several minutes on account of the many customers who are ahead of me. So you just sit here and wait for me. I'll place the basket on the ground beside you so that you may keep close watch of it."

Then Myrtle's mother went out of the market-house and hurried across the street to the poultry shop. As she feared, she was obliged to wait some little time before a clerk could serve her. Then she selected a fine chicken, and after it was dressed and wrapped for her hurried back across the street to the market-house. She soon sought out the place where she had left Myrtle but to her amazement the child was gone. The mother was a bit anxious, and looked all about for her little daughter, making inquiry of some of the keepers of stalls near to the place where she had left Myrtle. But as no one had seen the little girl, therefore, could give the uneasy mother no information regarding her, the poor half-distracted woman went on about the market-house, first up one long alley and then down another, searching in vain for her child.

Growing more and more uneasy, Myrtle's mother sought out a policeman, and had him send in the alarm to the station-house that a little golden-haired girl of 10 years of age, wearing a pink frock and white shoes, white stockings, hat and collar, was lost. But before she did this she had phoned to her own home asking the housemaid whether or not Myrtle had arrived there, for she thought the time might have seemed long to Myrtle, waiting in the market place, and that she might have become ill or frightened and taken the basket and hurried home, thinking that perhaps her mother was lost, and that she (Myrtle) would have to tell her papa so that he could instigate a search for the missing wife and mother.

But the housemaid said Myrtle had not appeared, neither had she phoned. Then the poor mother was at her wits' end as to what to do. She had tried getting her husband at his office, but he had gone. Then she tried getting him by phone at their home, but the maid said he had not yet arrived there. What should she do? She walked up and down the long rows of booths, looking everywhere, still hoping that she might see the little pink-robed figure she was seeking so yearningly. Suddenly her eyes fell on something pink. Yes, it was a child's pink frock, and there was a broad white hat and long golden curls. With a cry of joy the mother rushed madly through the crowd to the spot where the pink-frocked child sat. Yes, it was Myrtle, and she was sitting quietly beside a great bunch of cabbages, her basket of vegetables and fruits beside her.

"Why, dearie, where on earth have you been?"

"Why, dearie, where on earth have you been?" cried the happy mother excitedly, clasping Myrtle in her arms. "Oh, I have been frightened almost to death!"

"Why, Mamma, I haven't left this spot," declared Myrtle. "I have remained right here—on this chair—ever since you went across the street to get the chicken. But mercy me, how long you have been gone! It seems an hour. I began to get very frightened about you."

"But child, I came back here ever so long ago to find you, and you were gone," persisted the mother. "Didn't you go away for a moment—to get a drink, or to look for me? I was back here over half an hour ago."

But Myrtle shook her head emphatically. "No, Mamma, I haven't left this spot. I have been sitting right here ever since you left me. And here is the basket, safe and sound."

Myrtle's mother was dumfounded. She knew that Myrtle would speak only the truth. Also, she thought she knew that she had returned to the spot some time ago and had found the child gone. What could it all mean, anyway?

"Well, darling, we'll not bother about how I missed finding you awhile ago, but rejoice that I have you at this instant. Come, dearie, let's go. I must tell the policeman over there that I have found my lost child and then phone out home to the maid to tell Papa—if he has arrived at home—that you are safe and sound in my care."

Then as Myrtle's mother told her of the alarm she had sent into the station house, and also of her phone to the maid at home, Myrtle said: "Why, Mamma, this is the strangest thing I ever heard of. I sat right there on that chair during the time you were away and still you couldn't find me on your return. Really, Mamma, it is mysterious, and——"

But her mother interrupted her. "Oh, Myrtle, there is another huge pile of cabbages, and as I live there's a chair beside them, too. I came to this pile of cabbages looking for you. Yes, here is the very spot! No wonder I looked in vain. Well, I am stupid, anyway."

"No, Mamma, you are not stupid. The market people have no right to build up two mountains of cabbages in one end of the market place—and only a little way apart, too—to confuse people. But I am so glad, Mamma, that we have solved the mystery, for I was beginning to think that either you or I had been asleep and dreaming. But I'm glad to be wide awake and to find that you are the same. Mercy, but I was getting uneasy when you stayed away so long."

"And I was losing my mind over not being able to find you, dearie," declared Myrtle's mamma. "But everything is all right now. In future I'll take you with me everywhere, though, for I shall never leave you any place alone again—not even for a few seconds."

"Unless we are sure there is but one pile of cabbage," smiled Myrtle. "Well, it will be a good joke to tell to Papa, won't it?"

When the Monkeys Trained the Boy.

BY WILLIAM WALLACE, JR.

IT was Frank Strong's first visit to the city. He went with his jolly fat Uncle Ben, who took him about to see the many and strange sights.

Among the places of entertainment they visited was a roof-garden vaudeville performance. Frank was highly amused at the antics of a trained monkey that was the principal attraction of the show, and after the performance he and his uncle talked the monkey's "turn" over, as they sat in their room at the hotel.

"I tell you, Uncle Ben, that monkey was almost human," asserted Frank. "Did you notice his hands, and the manner of his catching hold of the bicycle handle when he rode about the stage on the wheel? And he rode better than half of the experts, too."

"Yes, Frank; but I couldn't help feeling sorry for the poor monk," said Uncle Ben. "I knew that he was unhappy there in that unnatural place. He would much prefer being in the wilds of Africa with his own kind. And, besides, his loneliness there is another thing to be considered—it is the punishment he must suffer while being trained, for it is a fact that trainers of animals resort to the whip in teaching their dumb victims. It is cruel, to say the least."

Frank thought over what his uncle said, and began to feel the keenest sympathy for the dumb creatures that were at the mercy of the trainer. While he was deeply meditating on some plan by which a stop to the practice of animal training might be brought about his uncle rose and said he must have a smoke before going to bed, late as it was. "You can turn in whenever you like, son," said Uncle Ben. "For I'll stop down stairs in the smoking-room till I've finished my cigar. Gee! but I'd like to take a whiff at my old pipe. I don't fancy cigars much; but I'll have to content myself with one tonight, as my pipe is at home, a hundred miles from us tonight."

After Uncle Ben went down stairs to the smoking-room Frank sat in a big, easy chair beside an open window. But he was not interested in the busy throngs of the streets, 10 stories below, for he was still thinking about the torture of the poor dumb animals that were trained for public shows. "Something ought to be done," said Frank to himself. "How would we like being taken by monkeys to their haunts and made to live as they live, and to perform their tricks to amuse other monks? I guess it would come pretty hard——"

But Frank's sentence was interrupted by someone entering the door. Frank turned about, expecting to see his Uncle Ben; but, to his surprise, he saw a small, strange-featured creature standing there, with round, bright eyes on him. Then Frank recognized the very same monkey that he had seen performing such clever tricks at the roof-garden show an hour before. The monkey had divested himself of the clothes, cut man's fashion, and appeared in his natural attire, which was a fine coat of long hair.

"Why, what brings you here to this hotel?" asked Frank, never dreaming that the monkey would reply in words to him. But he was somewhat taken aback when the monkey spoke in good English: "I have come to invite you to go to my home in Africa and become the leading actor at a tree show my friends are planning to give there. We want only humans to perform for us."

"Oh, but I do not wish to go to Africa," declared Frank. "I would be most unhappy there—just among monkeys."

"But we want you," insisted the monkey, coming into the room and closing the door behind him. "It isn't a question of whether or not you wish to go with me; it is the fact that I want you, and shall find the means of carrying you off, whether or not you consent to go."

Frank was about to laugh at the monkey's absurd threat when the door again opened and in came several very large monkeys, the largest Frank had ever seen. Some of them appeared to be almost as heavy as full-grown men. They circled about Frank, and, before he realized what was transpiring, they had him gagged and bound, and were carrying him out of the room. In vain did Frank struggle, the monkeys held him secure.

Within a few minutes they had left the hotel and had wound their way down a dark street, still carrying the helpless Frank. To say that the poor captive boy was frightened would hardly express his feeling. There was a sense of his great loss, the loss of home, father, mother, sister, brother and good Uncle Ben, who would never know what had become of his nephew. Oh, the anxiety of those dear ones!

But Frank's chain of thought was broken by his being carried on board a small ship which, he overheard a sailor say, was bound for Africa. But, as he was gagged, he could not cry out to those of his own species to unbind him and set him free. He was soon confined in the hold of the boat, several huge, staring, blinking monkeys keeping guard over him. Oh, the mental anguish that the poor boy suffered at that moment! Bound, gagged, in the custody of heartless monkeys, and in the hold of an African sailing vessel. And what would his dear ones at home think about his absence? They would mourn him as dead or accuse him of being so wicked as to run away from home and leave them in suspense of his whereabouts. No one can imagine poor Frank's mental suffering.

"Ah, while we are making the voyage we'll train our captive," said one old monkey. And he took from the corner of the ship a long whip, which he began to lash about, cracking it toward Frank "When I tell you what to do, and you fail to imitate me correctly, I shall lash you with this whip," he said, speaking to Frank. "That is the way the humans train us to do tricks. They first capture us—just as we have captured you—and then they subdue us, break our spirit and make us fear them. They beat us and starve us into obedience. And that is the method we shall adopt in training you to perform for our monkey society in Africa."

Frank's heart was breaking, and he bowed his head to the great, cruel monster, tears trickling from his eyes the while. But at the moment a loud noise caused him to sit up quickly. He opened his eyes. There was Uncle Ben—and—and—as sure as he was alive—he was again in the hotel bedroom just where Uncle Ben had left him half an hour before. He sat bolt upright in the chair, blinked at the gas light that shone from a jet on the side wall. Then, trembling in every nerve, he spoke:

"Oh, Uncle Ben, are you really here? Am I really here? Or is this a dream? Come, tell me—am I asleep now or awake?"

"Why, kid, you're awake, I reckon, for I left you in that chair when I went down stairs to smoke. You must have fallen into a doze, and on waking your strange surroundings make you think you are dreaming. But you are awake and we are at the Hotel Sanderson. But it's after 11 o'clock, and farmers like you and I should have been in bed two mortal hours ago. It's bad habits we'd learn if we lived in the city long. Come, get out of your duds and into bed. Gee, you look scared!"

"Say, Uncle Ben, I've had a terrible nightmare," confessed Frank. "But I'll tell you about it tomorrow, for it's too late to stay awake any longer tonight. But this much I'll say: I dreamed I was in captivity, and that monkeys were my captors. Ugh, the dream was terrible!"

"That's because you saw that poor trained monk at the show tonight," said Uncle Ben. "Well, it is a pity for one kind of creature to take another kind of creature into captivity and make it perform foolish tricks to entertain more foolish people. We've a lot to learn in this world yet, my boy, a lot to learn." And Uncle Ben drew off his boots, meditating on the wicked ways of men.

"But we want you," insisted the monkey.

A LONG THINK.

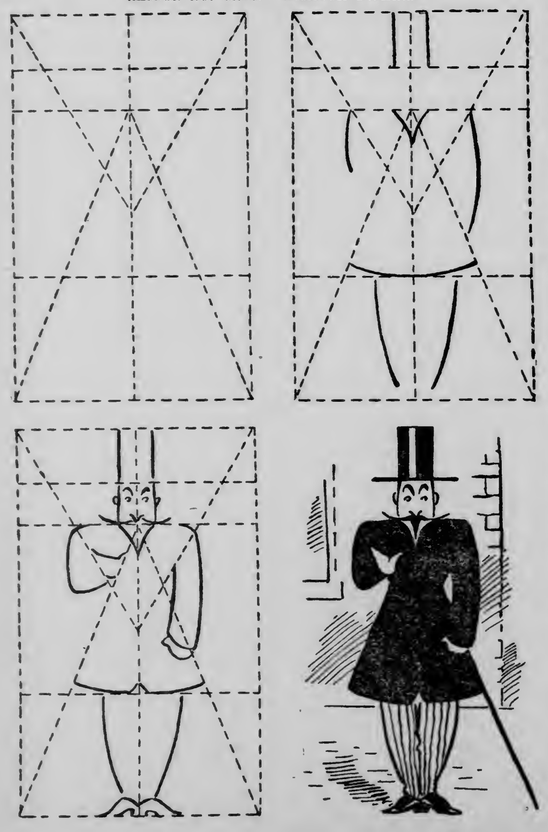

"There's a fellow of whom I think a great deal."

"A good friend, eh?"

"No. He owes me ten dollars."

LETTER ENIGMA.

My first is in sun, but not in moon;
My second is in come, but not in soon;
My third is in harvest, but not in grain;
My fourth is in agony, but not in pain;
My fifth you have already found in my four;
My sixth is in fly, but not in soar.
My whole spells a place
Where all children go;
You must solve the above
If it you would know.

HIDDEN PROVERB PUZZLE.

A well-known proverb is hidden in the following six sentences. Each sentence contains but one word of the proverb, and if the words are rightly guessed and written together in the order in which they should appear, they will form the desired solution:

Often a man's conscience prompts him to do right.

A man may be rolling in wealth and still be unhappy.

It would seem that some people have a stone in the place where a heart ought to be.

He who gathers many true friends about him has lovable qualities.

Never be afraid to say no.

In shady nooks one will find rocks covered with moss.

ILLUSTRATED PRIMAL ACROSTIC.

The words of this acrostic are pictured instead of described. If the words are rightly guessed, and written one below another, their initial letters will spell the name of two inventors.

CURTAILINGS.

1. Curtail an Asiatic country and leave a part of the human face. 2. Curtail a large body of soldiers and leave a part of the human anatomy. 3. Doubly curtail a boy's name and leave a barnyard fowl.

MR. HARRIMAN SAID THIS IS THE BEST PHOTOGRAPH OF HIM EVER MADE.

Written for The Herald by E. J. Edwards ("Holland")

(Copyright 1909, by E. J. Edwards.)

WHEN E. H. HARRIMAN returned from Europe he found that the team work, so to call it, of his great railway organization was as perfect as it was when he, the captain, was watching the machine, giving signals to every member of the team, and getting that result which is only possible when there is perfect team work in an organization. Veteran railroad managers who have been watching the manner in which Mr. Harriman has built up his organization well tell you that to them the most interesting and the really new feature of this organization is what may be called its team work. Every subordinate works in his place as accurately as do the various parts of a great and skillfully adjusted piece of machinery.

It isn't so strange as it might appear that Mr. Harriman should have thought of making his railway organization a perfect specimen of team work. He may have got the idea from his old baseball days. One of the things which now interests him in baseball as played today is that some of the clubs have made of team work a fine science. Mr. Harriman is sure that, other things being equal, the baseball club which has secured the highest kind of team work is the one which is going to get the championship.

When Mr. Harriman was a clerk in the private bank in Wall street he organized a baseball nine. He has never put into any railroad operations any greater energy than he did into his amateur baseball nine. They used to play on Staten island on Wednesday and Saturday afternoons. Harriman was shortstop; he took that place partly because he was a little man and partly because he thought it was the best way for the captain of the nine. He worked the nine over and over, putting the men in various positions, until at last he got something like perfect team work out of them.

Now exactly what he set out to accomplish with his great railway organization. He wanted to get the ablest men, big-brained men, who had plenty of energy, who never got tired, or, if they did, would not confess it, and who were always looking ahead and never behind. And this is the kind of organization which Mr. Harriman found upon his return from Europe ready to receive him.

If any one were to ask who is the ablest man among Mr. Harriman's lieutenants the correct answer would be, no one of them is abler than any other, although each in his own particular sphere is better suited to his work and to his responsibilities than any of the other members of the organization. Some are very able in one way and some in another. But they all work together. They think only of the great machine of which each is a component part. No one of them seems to be thinking about himself.

That has been a trouble which all the great railway captains have found the most difficult to overcome. The general manager and the general traffic manager are usually disposed to be very jealous each of his own authority. The man who has charge of maintenance of way might see a hundred things in the traffic department that could be improved, yet he would not say anything about it, because of the likelihood of being told that if he would attend to his own department the traffic manager would look after his. All this kind of friction and jealousy has been eliminated from among Mr. Harriman's lieutenants in their relations one with another.

It took long and hard work to make an organization of this kind, just exactly as it takes three or four years for the captain and general manager of a professional baseball team to lick the men into perfect shape and discipline, so that in playing the game each man is doing the best for the club, never thinking about doing the best for himself.

The core of Mr. Harriman's organization, that part of it upon which he relies for the perfect administration of his railway systems, consists of few men. Julius Kruttschnitt is one of these men. John C. Stubbs is another. Robert S. Lovett is still another, and A. L. Mohler make up a quartet of probably the ablest railway operators acting as a whole, to be found anywhere in the United States. Then, in addition, there are, on the operating side, L. F. Loree, J. T. Harahan, Albert J. Earling, Marvin Hughitt, and on the financial side, Henry Clay Frick, P. A. Valentine and William G. Rockefeller, Jr. Formerly James Stillman was a financial lieutenant, or, more accurately speaking, a financial associate, but he has retired from active business life.

The Legal Guide of the Harriman System.

There isn't a more interesting character in the world of railway affairs than Robert S. Lovett. He was born far down in the southern part of Texas, and when a boy he heard many tales of Sam Houston and of the struggle for the independence of Texas, for all that country which is near his birthplace was marching ground and camping ground for Gen. Houston and his army.

Young Lovett, while still a boy, was satisfied that he would make a fair lawyer. Almost all of his studying was done at home with a copy of Blackstone on his knee and the Texas statutes on his desk. Sometimes, nowadays, when he is asked where he was educated as a lawyer he replies that he taught himself. He was admitted to the bar almost as easily as was the late Speaker Reed, who, after answering two questions put to him by the examining committee, was passed by it.

Within a few months after his admission to the bar this young man had a railroad company for a client. It was a little railroad company with a high sounding name, but it became important because it eventually was incorporated by or allied with, the Texas & Pacific railroad. Little did the young lawyer dream when the was retained by the railroad to defend certain damage cases that he was taking a step in the direction of association with the great railway line that was to stretch from New Orleans to San Francisco, untimately to become a part fo the Union Pacific system.

In those days the railroads that stretched over the prairies of the West and the Southwest were kept busy defending themselves against suits for damages for killing cows or hogs that had wandered upon the tracks. Usually the roads tried to settle amicably with the owners, and young Lovett showed himself a skilful diplomatist in work of this kind. But all the while he was doing something more than planning defenses for damage suits. Before he was 25 years of age he saw clearly what Texas was to be as a route for a transcontinental railway system.

You can picture to yourself this ambitious young lawyer posting himself up on all the details of railroad law, studying statues, and particularly the way in which old railroads or great railroads were legally able to absorb young, weak or almost bankrupted railroads. Gradually it came to be said in Texas that young Lovett was the smartest, brightest railroad lawayer in the state, as gradually he was given more and more important railroad work; and finally it came to pass that C. P. Huntington, who always kept his eyes open for capable young men, made Mr. Lovett general counsel for all the Southern Pacific lines in Texas.

After Mr. Harriman and his Union Pacific railroad bought the control of the Southern Pacific, he took a special fancy to Mr. Lovett, who came to him with his new property. In fact, Mr. Harriman tied up with Mr. Lovett, as the saying is, and in business and pleasure the two men became almost like Siamese twins. When Mr. Harriman traveled, he would not go unless Mr. Lovett was with him, if that traveling companionship could be secured without interfering with business. It is upon Mr. Lovett that Mr. Harriman has relied in the main for counsel on delicate and important legal questions. And when he was perfecting his new organization he named Mr. Lovett general counsel for what is called the Harriman system. A far cry from the Texas boy who twenty-one years before was patiently reading Blackstone and fingering his way through the Texas statutes.

If you were to meet Mr. Lovett, not knowing that he is a lawyer, you would never dream that this apparent fun-loving, bright-eyed, quick-moving man had gained the reputation of being one of the most clear-headed, subtle and acute of all the lawyers now in the employ of railway organizations of the United States. You can judge his sense of humor when it is said that he classed himself, when asked for his political affiliations, as a Democratic Mugwump. There have been lots of Republican Mugwumps in the Northeast, but not many Democratic Mugwumps.

Harriman's Chief Operating Lieutenant.

Mr. Lovett and Julius Kruttschnitt, since their association as lieutenants of Mr. Harriman, have never had an important difference of opinion. The lawyer defers to the man who is the supreme director of maintenance and operation of the Union Pacific and nearly all of the allied Harriman lines. On the other hand, what the lawyer advises, as a lawyer, "goes" every time with Julius Kruttschnitt.

Here is a man of most intense concentration of purpose in business. He thinks, dreams and lives with the Harriman system. It is everything to him in the world, excepting his family. He is sure that it is the greatest business organization that the world has ever seen. He is as proud of it as he would be if he were the owner of every dollar of its stock.

Like Mr. Lovett, Julius Kruttschnitt was born in the Far South, in New Orleans, and six years earlier than the date of Mr. Lovett's birth, which occurred before the outbreak of the Civil war. He was only 10 years of age when he received the degree of civil engineer from Washington and Lee university. Railway men say that at the time of his final examination he received the highest mark which up to that time had been given by the university to any one taking that degree. You see, he was gifted at birth, apparently, with a mind that was able to grasp mathematics with the understanding and the fascination with which most boys read "Robinson Crusoe."

At one time his friends expected that Kruttschnitt would become a professor of mathematics. But when he was a teacher in a school near Baltimore for the five years following his graduation, in his leisure hours he grew accustomed to watch the surveying then in progress for the construction of a new railroad from Baltimore to Washington. The work fascinated him, and after a time he made up his mind that his proper field was the mechanics and engineering of railway construction and operation. After that he was very glad to get employment upon a new railroad under construction in Texas, and after it was in operation he advanced from the humble position of roadmaster up and up, exactly as some of the engineers and surveyors of the Pennsylvania railroad system have been promoted from minor positions until at last they have held important places upon the executive staff, some even becoming president.

It used to be said of Kruttschnitt that he could survey without an instrument; that if he had a jackknife and a piece of wood he could whittle out an implement with which he could take an elevation. He seemed to know instinctively what the best layout for a railroad would be. Naturally, C. P. Huntington heard of this bright chap when he was pushing that part of his Southern Pacific system which extended from El Paso, Tex., to New Orleans. Kruttschnitt was exactly the kind of man sure to appeal to Huntington, who was very fond of young men who had great intensity of purpose and supreme power of concentration, men who could say in ten words a good deal more than most other men could say in a hundred.

It was six years after he had taken up railroading that his former school teacher became Huntington's assistant general manager of the Southern Pacific lines east of El Paso. Not so very long after he had secured this promotion he seemed to know the life history and every-day behavior of every rail and every tie upon the lines under his charge. Riding upon an engine he could tell with his eyes shut where he was by the feel of the land. Such expert knowledge as this and his initiative placed him in San Francisco as general manager of all the Southern Pacific lines just ten years after he had entered the employ of C. P. Huntington. This promotion came to him in 1895, and three years later he also had the burdens of fourth vice president placed upon his shoulders.

He was cheerfully performing this double duty when Mr. Harriman took over the Huntington property, and the new "boss," discovering that Kruttschnitt was a glutton for work, at least for railway work, made him also the director of maintenance and operation of the Union Pacific, the Oregon Short line and the other parts of the Harriman system that stretch northerly from San Francisco. Today he does his day's work in Chicago, where also are located John C. Stubbs, J. T. Harahan, A. J. Earling and Marvin Hughitt.

Mr. Kruttschnitt was early convinced of the necessity of perfect team work for the operation of a perfect railway organization. You may think it strange that a person of such intense personality could work without friction with other executive officers of the Harriman railway system. But it is a peculiarity of this organization that the more easily, apparently, he associates with the others who are responsible for the operation and maintenance of the system.

It is believed to have been at the suggestion of Mr. Lovett that Mr. Harriman abandoned the old method which has characterized railway organization since railways were first operated in the United States, and instead made each of the executive heads a vice president. At all events it was a plan which met with Mr. Kruttschnitt's cordial approval. You see, if all are vice presidents, and if each one has equal authority in every department, and one month or one year may be in control of one department and another month or another year in authority over another, then opportunity for all friction is removed. Each executive has become part of the great machine. If one executive dies or resigns, another is ready on the instant to step into his place.

Harriman's Traffic Man.

Mr. Harriman was recently described as a human dynamo, but if ever there was such a creature, his name is John C. Stubbs, another exceedingly important Harriman lieutenant. To make every railroad man believe this, it is only necessary to tell him that Mr. Stubbs is really the traffic manager of almost 30,000 miles of railroad—that in this particular he directs railways which, if their tracks were carried from east to west in a single line, would completely encircle the globe and lap over some 5,000 miles.

To be a good traffic manager, even in a small district, a man has got to know exactly what kind of traffic will come into or go out of that district. Even in a state as small as New Jersey, for example, this is no easy task. But to know the traffic that may be handled by railroads having 27,000 miles of tracks is to have accurate statistical knowledge of pretty much all of the production in the United States. A man must have a natural gift for such work. All the training in the world would not make a competent traffic manager out of a man who knew how to write beautiful poems, compose music or to be the author of a best selling novel.

The Spanish have a problem in which they express the idea of expertness and facility in handling many things. They say, "He has good fingers for the piano." That exactly describes John C. Stubbs. He could tell you any day not only how many cars are needed to move the products in any district which the Harriman system covers, but he could tell you where these cars are. His associates sometimes laughingly declare that he seems to have a sort of hypnotic vision which makes it possible for him to follow the movement of every freight and of every passenger car anywhere on the Union Pacific lines. Mr. Harriman never has to ask Mr. Stubbs twice to get needed information.

All that Mr. Stubbs knows of railway operation and traffic management he has taught himself. He drifted West from his native place in Ohio and got a job as freight clerk at Oakland, Cal., where the Central Pacific, now the Western link of the Union Pacific, terminated. That was only four or five years after C. P. Huntington, Mark Hopkins, Crocker and Leland Stanford had finished the Central Pacific railroad, making connection with the Union Pacific, thereby giving to the United States the first transcontinental line. So Mr. Stubbs, beginning railroading when 22, has actually grown up with the Union Pacific.

Even as a clerk at Oakland Mr. Stubbs was away ahead of his time. He knew what was coming in the way of Pacific railway development. What he predicted was realized, and so pleased was Mr. Huntington that he made him assistant general freight agent. This was in 1871.

In that office Mr. Stubbs was not satisfied simply to move cars. He went all over the state of California to see what the farmers were doing, how much business the miners were to offer, and he was able to predict in the spring of every year approximately the actual amount of the crops that were harvested. One man recently said of him: "Stubbs knows just how many peaches are on the trees in California and how many tons of ore will be shipped out of Arizona." And this man might have added that long before other railway men thought of doing such things scientifically, Stubbs also knew how many orange groves there were in Southern California, and where each grove was, and where the best prune orchards, and how many tons of prunes would be offered each year for shipment to the East.

Meanwhile Mr. Stubbs was working out the problem of how best to haul traffic for long distances without breaking the freight and with the highest economy. Mr. Harriman early learned to accept Mr. Stubbs' statements without question, and he knew that, more than any other one man, Mr. Stubbs showed how it was possible to increase and expedite and operate at low cost long-haul traffic. Today he is vice president and traffic director of the entire Harriman system. He works in perfect sympathy and in cordial co-operation as well with Julius Kruttschnitt, Robert Lovett, A. J. Mohler and the other lieutenants. And of the great quartet he is the oldest—he is 62—while Judge Lovett is the youngest, being 49. Mr. Kruttschnitt is 55; Mr. Mohler goes him four years better—or worse, according to the way you view the accretion of years.

The Last of the Big Four.

Some years ago one of the big men in a trunk line system which has its terminal in New York was asked by a friend if he could tell him anything about A. L. Mohler, who had something to do with "Jim Hill's railway out in St. Paul." The New York railway man replied that he did not know Mohler and had never heard the name before. Thereupon he was informed that the time was sure to come when he would hear of Mohler, "for he is certain to be one of the big guns in railway management. Such he most certainly became when Mr. Harriman took him away from Mr. Hill.

As his name indicates, Mr. Mohler is of Pennsylvania Dutch origin. Born at Ephrata, Pa., he yet began his railway career with the Chicago & Northwestern when it was a comparatively small road, and long before Marvin Hughitt and James D. Layng had taken it 1,000 miles across the uninhabited prairie. Mohler remained an humble clerk only a little while, and then, like the present president of the Boston & Maine, Lucius Tuttle, he became a station agent.

While thus occupied at Erie, Ill., his superiors found that he had a native-born gift for figures and accounts, and in that way he became traveling auditor for a railroad west of the Mississippi. Such he was when he fell under the eye of James J. Hill, then keen in his search for young men to help him convert the old St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba railroad into the Great Northern system, and Mr. Mohler became that road's general freight agent. This was in 1882.

There followed promotion after promotion, until, at the end of seven years, Mr. Mohler found himself vested with the title and authority of general manager of the Great Northern. As such he worked out many of the problems whose proper solutions have helped spell success for the Hill properties. Eight years later Mr. Harriman annexed him, and so he has the honor of being the first of the "big four" to secure Mr. Harriman's confidence.

That he has had Mr. Harriman's full confidence from the start is shown by the fact that the latter at once made him president and general manager of the Oregon Railroad & Navigation company, a particular Harriman pet. Today Mr. Mohler is also a vice president and the general manager of the Union Pacific system. It is because of his peculiar managerial qualities that he is held by Mr. Harriman in such high business estcem.

Harriman's Secondary Lieutenants.

These four men—Lovett, Kruttschnitt, Stubbs and Mohler—make the quartet, the big four, who, were Harriman's organization an army of which he was the commanding general, would each be a major general in command of a corps. But it is necessary, in order that Mr. Harriman may carry out the higher plans for the development of the so-called Harriman system of railways that he should have also competent lieutenants who are not in the direct, immediate Union Pacific organization.

Take, for instance, James Theodore Harahan. He is president of the Illinois Central, but everybody knows that it is E. H. Harriman's railroad. It serves as a feeder to and is fed by the Union Pacific system. It is the link, or it may be better to call it the key, to that all-sweeping transcontinental railway which is Mr. Harriman's supreme purpose.

Marvin Hughitt, president of the Chicago & Northwestern, comes in the same class with Mr. Harahan, and Mr. Harriman values him so highly as a lieutenant that he a director of the Union Pacific. As for another railroad president, L. F. Loree, he owes his position in the Delaware & Hudson directly to Mr. Harriman, who, as soon as he became of very great influence in this Eastern property, put the former president of the Baltimore & Ohio in charge of it. Mr. Loree has the absolute confidence of Mr. Harriman, as, in fact, have all of his lieutenants. Harriman would not have about him any one in whom he does not place perfect trust. For it is his opinion that the sole test is success, and that success cannot be gained unless there exists loyalty to those who control great railway systems.

Yet another big railroad president who is looked upon as being an important secondary lieutenant is Albert J. Earling of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul. His railroad beginnings were quite as humble as those of Mohler or Harahan or any of the other lieutenants, first and second grade; and when you talk with railroad men about him, you are sure to note the enthusiasm with which they speak of him.

Mr. Earling was born in a little Wisconsin town sixty years ago, and never had an education, except that which he obtained in the common schools. But as a boy the railroad fascinated him. Jeremiah Milbank and others were just perfecting the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul system, because they knew that William H. Seward was correct when he predicted that at St. Paul and Minneapolis one of the greatest of American commercial centers would be established, a powerful twin city, commanding the gateways of the Northwest. This railroad passed close by the boyhood home of Mr. Earling, and he was the happiest boy imaginable when, at 18 years of age, it took him into employment as a clerk.

But he wasn't satisfied to be a mere clerk. He wanted to learn telegraphy, for at that time he thought that the finest thing a young man could do would be to serve as a train dispatcher. So he mastered the mysteries of the telegraph instrument in about six months, and then spent his days and often his nights in sending and receiving messages for the railroad company. It is said of him that he never made a mistake, never was reprimanded, never was late for work, never looked at the clock to see if his day's work was ended. It is very hard work to act as a train dispatcher upon any railroad, and it was especially hard in the early days of the St. Paul.

But for five years young Earling controlled the movement of trains on that system, and did it so well that they made him assistant superintendent, then general superintendent, and, when he was 40 years of age, general manager. Ten years later this man who had taught himself telegraphy was elevated to the presidency of the St. Paul. Under him that road will shortly become a true Pacific coast route.

Mr. Earling is one of Mr. Harriman's lieutenants in the sense that a very important community of interest has been established between the Union Pacific and the St. Paul systems, and it is for this reason that Mr. Earling is now serving as one of the directors of the Union Pacific.

Another of the road's directors is William G. Rockefeller, Jr., nephew of Jhon D. Undoubtedly William Rockefeller represents the financial power of the so-called "Standard Oil party," which is in very close association with Mr. Harriman. But when it comes to matters of finance, this Rockefeller sits at the feet of Mr. Harriman, so to speak. He is one of the little-big railroad man's financial aids, and so comes in the same category with Henry Clay Frick and P. A. Valentine, coke and steel barons, respectively.

Secondary, But Highly Important Lieutenants, Include L. F. Loree, J. T. Harahan, Albert J. Earling, Marvin Hughitt, Railroad Presidents, and Three Commanders in Other Great Businesses; Henry C. Frick, P. A. Valentine and W. G. Rockefeller, Jr., Financial Aids.

Robert S. Lovett, Julius Kruttschnitt, A. L. Mohler and John C. Stubbs Form the Quartet on Whom Harriman Mainly Relies for the Perfect Administration of His Great Railroad System—All Four Have Worked From the Bottom Up to Almost Nation-Wide Influence.

Aurora

Aurora, Minn., Sept. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mrs. Fred C. Witte and Miss Witte visited friends and relatives in Virginia Friday and Saturday.

Miss Margaret Smith of Oshkosh, Wis., is the guest of Messrs. C. G. and A. L. Vanderpoel, her uncles.

Miss Harriet Levin left Friday for Annandale, Minn., where she will resume her duties as teacher in the public schools.

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Corwin are enjoying a visit from the former's brother and his wife of Minneapolis.

A fight on the street Sunday night caused considerable commotion. A Montenegrin started the trouble and when the officer attempted to arrest him he resisted. His comrades took sides against the officer who was compelled to pull his revolver. The Montenegrin was sent to the county jail for twenty days.

The fire department was called out Sunday night by a fire at the Meadow location. The fire was extinguished before any damage was done.

Capt. Penglaze has the excavating done for his residence on Second avenue and work on the frame will start soon.

Mrs. Julius Crockstedt of Superior, who has been visiting Mrs. Lund returned home Monday.

Miss Hattie Martin returned to her home in Tower Tuesday after having visited at the home of Mrs. Lund.

Miss Anna and Signa Lundgren left Friday to attend the state fair, after which they will visit ricnds in Southern Minnesota.

An electrical and wind storm visited Aurora and vicinity Friday of last week. Several trees were blown over in town while at Cotton a three-story frame building, all completed but the front, was blown over, the building breaking off about four feet from the ground. At Mesaba the saloon building of John Wallace was struck by lightning and burned to the ground.

Messrs. A. L. and C. G. Vanderpoel, W. Wallace, David Wiener, N. A. Young and F. C. Witte attended the installation of a Pythian lodge at Gilbert Friday night.

Mrs. J. T. Rutz visited in Eveleth Monday.

John Beecroft, who was injured in the hub and hub race here during the tournament, is able to be about again, though having to walk with a cane.

Mrs. Frank Tillmans has been quite ill the past week.

Miss Bertha Rye visited friends in Virginia Tuesday.

Mrs. John Wagner of Oshkosh is a guest at the home of A. L. Vanderpoel, her uncle.

Mrs. Edward Darrow returned home Tuesday from a month's visit in Colorado. She was accompanied as far as Duluth with her sister Mrs. Chase, who lives in that city.

A. Miller has resigned his position in Tillmans cigar factory and has returned to his home in Duluth.

Mrs. Marcus Levin and son David left Thursday for Rochester, where the latter will undergo an operation.

The first fall meeting of the ladies' aid was held at the home of Mrs. Given McGee Wednesday. It was decided to have Division A give the regular supper on Sept. 15.

Born, to Mr. and Mrs. Roger Wood, on Monday, Aug. 30, a daughter.

New Duluth

New Duluth, Minn., Sept. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Miss Elva Rosky, of Duluth was a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Jarosch, Sunday.

John Berger came up from Duluth Saturday to spend Sunday with his mother, Mrs. Barbara Berger.

A. E. Loud of Chicago was a caller in New Duluth during the week.

Kilian Jarosch of Duluth spent Sunday at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Jarosch.

Mr. and Mrs. U. C. Tower, Mrs. George E. Tupper, Mrs. T. E. Bowles and Miss Violet Huber went to Duluth Saturday to see "The Three Twins" at the Lyceum.

William Stevenson of Duluth called on friends in New Duluth Sunday.

Miss Alice Shannon of West Duluth was a caller in New Duluth Sunday.

Charles Tupper came up from Minneapolis Friday to visit his brother, George Tupper.

A. J. Denham of Duluth spent Sunday at his home in New Duluth.

Mrs. Frank Brand and Mrs. Sam Brand spent Monday at West Duluth with Mrs. Donald.

Leland Giddings went to Duluth Monday evening to attend "The Shepherd King" at the Lyceum. Leland was one of the successful contestants in The Herald's contest for tickets to the play.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hicks and Mr. and Mrs. George Lee spent Sunday at Fond du Lac.

Twins, a son and a daughter, were born to Mr and Mrs. Edgar Tizzard, Saturday, Aug. 28

Miss Ethel Becklinger spent Saturday in Duluth.

Melvin Becklinger visited friends in Fond du Lac Sunday.

Mrs. Anna Smith and Miss Sarah Smith returned home Monday from a visit with friends and relatives in Minneapolis, Omaha and Winthrop.

Miss Sadie Carr and Miss June Carr of Duluth and Miss Louise Hicks of Virginia were in New Duluth Sunday.

The members of the Presbyterian Sunday school and the members of the Ladies' Social league held a picnic at Fond du Lac Tuesday. A big picnic dinner was served in the grove and the young people enjoyed games and boating.

Mrs. Keenan of St. Paul, Mrs. Victor Dash and Miss Dorothy Dash of Smithville spent Tuesday with New Duluth friends.

HOLDS DIRECTORS LIABLE FOR LOANS

New York Judge Says They Neglected Duty to the Trust Company.

Saratoga, N. Y., Sept. 4.—Thirteen former directors of the Trust Company of the Republic are held responsible in a decision by Justice Vankirk, for losses sustained by the trust company through loans made in 1902 by its president, Daniel Leroy Dresser, from the company's funds on securities of the United States Shipbuilding company, and for which restitution to the trust company was asked in a suit brought by Charles H. Kavanaugh, a stockholder, against the directors. The action was tried before Justice Vankirk in this village during the greater part of June and July.

Justice Vankirk holds that the defendant directors, Perry Belmont, Charles D. Marvin, James McMahon, Thomas Crimmons, Charles W. Wetmore, William D. Baldwin, Ballard McCall, Charles F. Brooker, George J. Gould, Elbridge G. Snow, Herbert L. Satterlee, George C. Boldt and Stuyvesant Fish, failed to perform properly their duties as directors; that losses sustained by the trust company were due to negligence and that the individual directors are liable for the losses suffered by the company during their terms of office, Aug. 19, 1902, when, Justice Vankirk decides, had they performed their duties they would have learned of improper and reckless loans being made to Lewis Nixon, president of the United States Shipbuilding company, and others. Up to this date, he said, nothing had occurred to put the directors on their guard.

In his findings, the justice gives no total of the losses for which he holds the directors accountable. The action was brought to recover about $700,000. The judgment awarded, will, with interest, reach about $350,000, according to the attorneys for the plaintiffs.

Especially recommended for the relief of nervous dyspepsia, loss of appetite and headache.

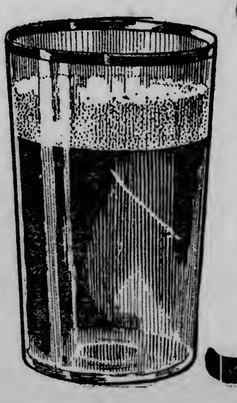

COOLING AND REFRESHING

A COOL, not ice-cold glass of beer is the most healthful and delicious refreshment. It is not a nerve stimulant as are many of the so-called "soft drinks," but a liquid food, obtaining through natural processes, the properties which nourish and refresh.

Prof. Dr. P. Bauer, Berlin, Germany, says: "Beer has a number of pleasant and valuable qualities. No other beverage contains such a combination of useful properties. The water of it quenches the thirst, the carbonic acid refreshes, the extracts are nutritious, the alcohol furthers digestion, the mineral salts build up the bones, and the extract of hops act as a tonic."

Fitger's Beer
Best by 25 Years' Test

Has qualities all its own and differs from other beers in character as does the character of two men. It's delicious, mild flavor and absolute purity make it ideal for home use. It is recommended by physicians and used in hospitals. Keep a case in your cellar and protect your family's health.

is said to own several thousand acres of land in old Mexico, including a great lot of valuable timber and some old mines that were worked by the Spaniards hundreds of years ago. Friends of Mr. Cole quote him as saying that he thinks very well of the property and that it can he made dividend paying in a very short time.

Stockholders of the Keating Gold Mining company received a surprise package from the directors in the form of an announcement that a special meeting would be held Oct. 2 for the purpose of increasing the capital stock to $2,000,000, the object being to provide more stock and raise money on it if possible. The surprise comes in the fact that stockholders had always been given to understand that the mine was paying well and that dividends were in sight. The statement of the directors, however, indicates differently, and money is needed to do some development and exploration work recommended by an engineer. It also develops that there is no stock left in the treasury. Considerable of the stock has been distributed in New York and elsewhere in the East.

Stockholders of the Butte & Ely Copper company have received notice that they are expected to contribute 10 per cent of their private holdings to the option given Tohmas F. Cole of the Giroux Consolidated company, in order to make up a majority of the stock, as a condition imposed by Mr. Cole is that he shall have control. The directors gave him an option on the stock remaining in the treasury, amounting to 229,175 shares, at $1 per share, payable on or before Sept. 14. The stockholders are asked to contribute sufficient more at the same price to make up at least 250,005 shares. The stock has for some time been selling around $2 per share. While the option stands in the name of Mr. Cole personally there is no doubt that he holds it for the Giroux company and the Cole-Ryan syndicate.

The report is current in Butte that control of Ohio Copper passed from F. A. Heinze some time ago, and that it is possible when the new owners appear that they will be found friendly to or to represent Amalgamated interests.

Supt. Sheehan of the Tuolumne Copper company says the mine is in shape to yield daily from 100 to 300 tons of ore. Shipments have been started and it is the present intention of the company to continue them at the rate of 100 to 200 tons per day. Shipments are made to the Butte Reduction works.

Although the British Butte Mining company is making weekly clean-ups and shipping gold to the United States assay office from its big dredge west of Butte, small stockholders in Montana, who have grown tired of holding British Butte stock, have discovered that there is no market for the shares anywhere, although there was at one time considerable trading in them in London. The last quotations, however, were 8 cents per share, and for some time not even one cent has been offered. The C. W. Syndicate of London practically owns the company, and its manager in Butte is the controlling authority. No directors' meetings have been held and no reports are made. The company is capitalized for 5,000,000 shares at $1 par, and in addition to that the C. W. syndicate has advanced several hundred thousand dollars, which is understood to be unsecured and is hanging over the company as a claim that may be preferred at any time.

been in the iron sulphides on exhibition ever since they reached ninety-nine feet, and that the quality of the rock is improving. The management is putting up a new and improved gallows frame and preparing to develop on a more improved plan. It really looks as if Douglas had a big mine in her door yard.

Gid Graham was up from Gleeson yesterday and thinks the mines in that camp are among the best in this celebrated county of Cochise.

Judge G. W. Cass of Douglas, attorney for C. B. James in the latter's legal fight for possession of the Cochise property, contends that the question of ownership is not yet answered. He said: "Two sheriffs' deeds covering the Cochise property have been issued, the sheriff having received his orders from the district court. We claim that our deed is the prior and legal one, and our opponents make a similar contention in regard to their claim. The situation therefore remains unchanged; and it is still for the courts to determine who is the rightful owner."

versy over the ore body.

In the meantime the leasers continued their work on the Ticon and now they claim to have satisfied themselves that they are the owners of the ore and the money, and that the apex of the vein on which they were mining is within the side lines of the Ticon, so they have brought the action to get the check on deposit with the bank. Of course, James A. Murray is back of the leasers, and Robert L. Clinton represents the Murray interests in the controversy, being attorney in the suit that was brough yesterday.

In explanation of the Anaconda company's claim, it is understood that years ago, in a contest over the Speculator lode claim location, a settlement was reached by which the Anaconda company became the owner of a portion of the original Speculator location, or claim, about 60 per cent of it, and that ground is known as the Bell-Speculator.

That portion of the vein in controversy east of the Bell-Speculator is now owned by the North Butte company, and it has been understood that Mr. Murray contends that if his claim to the ore mined from the Ticon is sustained by the courts he will also have some claim against the North Butte for part of the vein mined by that company. However, the fact that the Anaconda company first raised the question of ownership and stopped the leasers on the Ticon indicates the position of both the Anaconda and North Butte, and that they regard the Ticon people, or Murray interests, as trespassers.

The suit brought yesterday can only raise the question of ownership down to the 500-foot level, the depth of the Ticon workings, and the determination of the case either means practically nothing or it will involve future controversies over many millions of dollars' worth of ore. The Murray interests have sunk a new shaft, an incline on the vein having its apex in the Ticon ground, for the purpose of making connections on the vein down to the 500-foot level.

There has been talk and rumors about threatened litigation for many months, and the possibilities of it have been denied. The North Butte and Anaconda interests have expressed themselves as little concerned about the matter, and that there was no doubt about their ownership of the ore body in question.

The Ticon is a fraction lying north of the Speculator claim and between the latter and the Edith May. The Speculator shaft of the North Butte company is very close to the Ticon line.

LAKE SUPERIOR COPPERS

now sinking in the No. 3 hole at the rate of ten feet per eight-hour shift. This hole has attained a depth of 60 feet, the last twenty-five feet being in rock and if calculations prove correct should top the New Baltic lode, the assured northern extension of the big south range master lode at a depth of between 200 and 250 feet. To reach that depth with the core drill in use is expected to require the greater part of three weeks.

An idea of the Ahmeek's capacity for production can be had from the present rock output of 2,000 daily with but two shafts in operation a production per shaft not equalled elsewhere in the district. Conditions in the mine show no material changes from month to month in the character of ground opened the average copper content of which has since milling was begun proven remarkably high and but little under that of the Wolverine's the richest amygdaloid rock mined in this district. The two new shafts on the north end of the property have reached a depth of between 225 and 250 feet and promise to be in shape for production before another year has passed. The new stamp mill is rapidly nearing completion and very probably will be ready for service early in the new year. The company is at present outputting 2,000 tons of rock daily, averaging between 24 and 25 pounds fine copper per ton of rock. About 1,700 tons of this output is being milled in equal portions at the Franklin and the Tamarack stamp mills, the balance of about 300 tons going to the Calumet mill for experimental test run being made there to determine milling method best adapted for the economical extraction of values from this rock.

camp. In the group are five claims. Last year the property yielded a gross of $400,000, and this year is doing fully as well. It is worked entirely on the lay system. Thus the men have a personal interest in getting the most out of the ground. The Union Mining company has one lay, and two holes to bedrock. Nelson & Jorgenson have the other lay, and are hoisting through two holes.

O. P. Larsen and John McDonald have arrived from Duncan Creek, where they have been working on Seven Above. They report the government pumps on Duncan idle, and nothing much doing anywhere along the creek. Three men are working on discovery, and have stripped a considerable stretch. Thirty-five to forty men are working on Highet. John Jackson Suttles, the minstrel miner, is working seven men on Dublin Gulch. The Dublin Hydraulics has ten men working, and is putting in a big ditch preparatory to extensive operations. Haggert Creek also has quite a number of men at work.

June was the heaviest month for renewals of mining claims in the history of Dawson. More than $9,000 has been taken in at the renewal department, the renewal fee for each claim being $10. The record is broken this month because the Yukon Gold company, sometimes known as the Guggenheims, has bunched all its placer properties in the territory so that they will come due on June 1 hereafter.

An arrival from the lower river brings word that Anvil, Holy Cross and other trading posts of that district were skinned entirely of supplies before this summer's renewals arrived from the outside. The activity in the Innoko and neighboring camps, was the cause. Some of those getting supplies freighted 200 to 300 miles over the snow with dogs. In the Ruby City district in the Innoko flour sold for a time for $40 a sack, and one prospector reported that he paid as high as $53.

The ammonia freezing process has just been successfully placed in operation in the Cyrus Noble mine at Nome. It is used in thawed ground, where running water cannot be pumped out as fast as it comes in. A few weeks ago a geyser burst through the workings of the Bessie mine, spurting from the shaft seventy feet. The drifts and workings under ground were soon flooded and work was suspended.

A similar accident occurred a few days later in the Cyrus Noble claim near by when an underground reservoir developed from a trickling rill to a running stream of eight or ten miners' inches. This volume was uninterrupted for days and made a gloomy outlook. Flooding of the entire Third Beach diggings from Little Creek to Newton Gulch seemed impending. Last week Messrs. Sundback & Morris consulted a mining engineer as to ridding the works of the water. The result was that a complete freezing plant used in cold storage processes was installed. While huge pumps kept the water in check the freezing process was applied. In three days the running water was checked and a frozen wall of muck, gravel and sand effectually blocked the fissure and the mine is now as dry as a bone. All pumping has been suspended and men are working and thawing out gravel in close proximity to the freezing coils.

being installed in the main shaft of the Little Nell Gold Mining company, Cripple Creek. As soon as conditions permit, the shaft will be sunk to 500 feet from 300 and a station cut and a crosscut carried 120 feet to intersect the vein opened at 300 feet depth.

The Shurtlof mine, Cripple Creek, is in ore carrying $88.60 a ton in car lots.

Rassbach lessees on the Fluorine mine, Cripple Creek, have resumed work as a result of a strike on the Bill Nye mine adjoining. Ore will be carried out from the Blanchard mine tunnel to intersect the vein, which is yielding good ore to Helm and associates, Bill Nye lessees.

A valuable copper lead has apparently been opened on Green Ridge, Loveland, Colo. Several years ago a shallow shaft was sunk on good looking ore-shoots but was not taken out. Recently local capital deepened the shaft and entered a strong lead with indications of rich ore. The vein is thirty inches wide. It carries 30 to 80 per cent copper.

The Boulder County Metal Mining association reports a Boulder district mine yielding thirty-five tons daily of $11 ore and another which has produced 1,500 tons of $14 from a three-foot vein.

The advent of the Colorado Central Power company and of the Summit County Power company, with unlimited power delivered competitively, is opening a new future to the old Montezuma camp, 130 miles west of Denver, in Summit county. An unused spur of the Colorado & Southern from Dillon to Keystone is practically useless for want of a six-mile extension to the camp. Railroad men have hesitated to build the extension because of insufficient tonnage. The Montezuma Mill-men complete say that sufficient ore and concentrates are now available.

On the completion of the Vidler or Transcontinental tunnel a road from the East is probable. The tunnel is in 5,000 feet, with 3,000 yet to objective.

A second rich ore shoot has been opened on the Livingston at the 300-foot or bottom level. It has been drifted on fifty feet and is evidently the same from which in the level ninety feet above a fortune was extracted. The ore is coming from a four-foot vein, but the high grade streak is six inches wide only. Values from the latter approximate $1 a pound. Several years ago the mine yielded $30,000 from surface workings. The company is completing a cyanide mill.

Henry P. Lowe of Central City, Col., has purchased for $25,000 a half interest in the Topeka group of eight claims in Russell district.

The London group of mines in Hwelve Mile district, Central City, Col., has been leased and bonded to McLeod & McConnell of Victor, Col. The property is being unwatered.

J. R. Ball of Chicago, has taken a lease and bond on the Dump mine on Bobtail Hill, Central City, Col. The present plant will be replaced with one much heavier.

Central City, Col., capitalists have taken a lease and bond on the Mitchell property on Quartz Hill owned by New York and other Eastern parties. Ore is coming from levels at sixty and 120 feet depth, with good returns.

The Alps mine, Central City, Col., is producing mill and smelter grade ores, values running from $40 gold a cord to $250 a ton.

The Eureka Tungsten Mining and Milling company has been incorporated by J. L. Gray, J. O. Bender, R. A. Mann., A. N. Selfridge and Vernon Selfridge of Boulder to operate on Middle Boulder Creek eleven miles north of Boulder, Col., where tungsten developments are reported. Capital stock, $100,000.

The Doctor-Jack Pot Gold Mining company, Cripple Creek, has announced a dividend of one-half cent, or $15,000, payable Sept. 15.

The old Lundstrum tunnel and adjoining claims and the Whirlwind group of lodes on Eureka Mountain, Gilpin, Col., have consolidated to further exploitation and development through the tunnel.

STRIPPING WORK IS RUSHED

be prepared for extensive production.

The Hill Lands.

The great majority of the Steel corporation's Mesaba mines are shipping heavily, and in addition to that stripping work is being done. An interesting operation is the removal of the Hull-Rust overburden on the western edge of Hibbing. The big cut that is being made there will eventually be used in taking out ore from the Sellers and Burt plts. It will not be completed until next year. The Steel corporation is pushing the development of the Hill lands in the vicinity of Calumet and Marble, at the west end of the range, and it is expected that a very considerable production will be made in that territory the coming season. There is much activity at the Jones & Laughlin Steel company's Grant mine at Buhl. It was at this property that the grab and clamshell system was given an unsuccessful test of several years' duration. The overburden is now being stripped in the usual manner, and excellent progress is being made.

A new shipper on the Vermillion range next year will be the Section Thirty property, known also as the Shagawa. Surveys for the construction of a spur track have been made, and it is the understanding that the line will be built by the Duluth & Iron Range railroad this fall or winter. From all accounts, the Section Thirty is now developing into the valuable proposition it has long been supposed to be. Mining work is in progress both in the original shaft and in Shaft No. 2, some 450 feet distant from the initial opening. Some fine Bessemer ore is being taken out and the stockpiles are attaining large proportions. The physical condition of the property is understood to be entirely satisfactory, and particularly so in Shaft No. 2.

Section Thirty has been in many different hands the past decade or more, and a very large amount of money has been expended in its exploitation. It appears now that the property is at the verge of a notably successful career. George A. St. Clair of Duluth is directing the operations, and associated with him in the control of the property is Alfred Merritt of Duluth. A force of 100 men is employed. A prospective producer on the Vermillion is the property of the Vermillion Steel & Iron company, in Section 5-62-14. Considerable exploratory work has been done, both by test-pitting and diamond drilling, and it is reported that sufficient high grade ore has been found to warrant the sinking of a shaft. T. J. Walsh of Duluth is president of the company. Ore is said to have been found in Section 36-63-15, ten miles from Tower, where Duluth men have been drilling for two or three years past. The tract is a state lease.

Marquette range operators are still complaining of a dearth of labor. Because of the shortage of men, M. A. Hanna & Co.'s Richmond mine, in the Cascade district, will perhaps be obliged to discontinue its night shaft. A force of 100 men are employed, but double that number are wanted. Shipments from the Richmond have been brisk this season, and it is likely the year's output will be the largest in the history of the property, notwithstanding the lack of needed labor. The Richmond is operated on the open cut plan. Shipments from the Breitung company's Mary Charlotte mine at Negaunee are going forward at a more rapid rate than at any previous time this season, and it is apparent that it will not be long before the once big stockpiles will be entirely cleared away. There are a number of large orders yet to fill. One hundred more men are urgently needed at the mine, and fifty or more are wanted at the same company's Baron property at Humboldt. The Cleveland Cliffs Iron company has increased the working force at the Negaunee mine to upwards of 500 men, and it has enlarged the force at the Cleveland Lake mine at Ishpeming to a similar number. Both properties are now employing almost double the number of men that were on the payrolls the past two years, and places are still open for others. M. A. Hanna & Co.'s American mine, west of Ishpeming, also is short-handed.

Railroad switching crews employed in the ore movement are putting in overtime on both the Marquette and Menominee ranges. Similar conditions prevail on the Gogebic. The steam shovels at the stockpiles are being operated extra hours, and it is expected that most of them will be in commission nearly every Sunday from now until the close of navigation. Shipments were never more active. Railroad equipment is being taxed. The Chicago & Northwestern has recently brought in considerable more rolling stock, transferring it from other divisions, but there is still complaint of a shortage of cars. Mining operations are hampered when the movement of ore from the pockets of the various shafts is interrupted, and with rolling stock scarce much annoyance is frequently occasioned.

reaches the figure set for it within the next six months.

Among the high cost producers are Pluto and Montana and the Original Mining company, the latter owned by W. A. Clark. The public is not much interested in the Clark mines, except as their operation is related to other mines. Clark's companies have few stockholders outside of the Clark family, and it is difficult to obtain information concerning the properties. However, it was stated some time ago, by what was assumed to be a Clark authority, that during the panic period the Clark mines were operated at a considerable loss and that it cost Clark 22 cents a pound to produce copper from the ores of the Stewart and Original mines in Butte. Since then the cost has been reduced and the Elm Orlu, a newly opened Clark mine, has been added to his list of producers. The Elm Orlu ore carries a very large quantity of silver, which greatly reduces the cost of copper production.

For the present the East Butte company has suspended development work in the old mines of the company, below the 600-foot level, owing to the difficulty in handling the water that comes from the Glengarry vein, which was encountered in the 900-foot south crosscut. The Glengarry really drains a number of the adjoining mines and it would be a great and useless expense to pump water for half a dozen properties.

Some work is being done on the 600 and 400-foot levels, but the company's energy is mainly directed to the work in the Pittsmont mines, the output from which is paying all expenses and piling up a satisfactory treasury surplus. Richard Valle, who has been superintendent of the East Butte company for a year or more, has resigned, all the work of superintendence being done by Oscar Rohn, manager of the Pittsmont, the East Butte's new acquisition.

Reports from the Davis-Daly mine are that a big producing property is being opened. In the face of this, however, some of the insiders in Butte, and employes of the company, have been selling the stock lately, a fact that has discouraged outsiders from investing in Davis-Daly stock.

There is a persistent report among miners that the company has a very limited extent of the rich vein which is being opened by the company in the Colorado ground. The Colorado is a very narrow location, east and west, while the veins that have been cut cross the claim north and south.

The Tuolumne Mining company, which has a number of stockholders in the East and also in California, appears to have made a genuine strike on the 1,400-foot level of the Tuolumne mine. The vein, which is believed to be an extension of the Edith May vein of the North Butte company, is about twenty feet wide in the crosscut and eleven feet of it is high-grade ore, assays going as high as 20 to 35 per cent copper, the remainder of the vein being good concentrating ore.

Drifting has been started on the vein both east and west. The top of this ore body seems to have been cut on the 1,000-foot level, and is there believed to be continuous from that level down below the 1,400. Some of the directors of the company are in favor of mining the ore body, but others advocate further sinking and development to a depth of 1,600 feet, leaving the ore in the mine, awaiting a better copper market.

The drifts on the 1,400 will be continued to the east lines of the company's claim. The plant has a capacity to work to a depth of 3,000 feet. The boiler plant of 900-horse power was also installed very recently. The shaft is of generous dimensions.

The Ohio-Keating Gold Mining company, in which a number of New York and Boston capitalists are interested, has made a considerable strike in its property in the Radersburg district, at a depth of 125 feet, where a drift has been extended along the vein. A big body of ore is being developed and numerous assays have been made, none lower than $12 per ton, and many as high as $78 per ton. Ore yielding $12 per ton is commercial ore, and can be shipped at a good profit to the company.

Another body of ore was cut in the bottom of the sump of the shaft, four feet wide, and yielding on general average assay of $51.20 per ton. The claims of the company are on a vein parallel to the famous old Keating vein, which produced millions of dollars years ago. It is estimated that within ninety days the property will produce easily ninety tons of ore per day, netting at least $20 per ton, or $1,000 per day.

The company is a Montana corporation, capitalized for 500,000 shares, having a par value of $1 per share. R. M. Calkins, traffic manager of the Chicago, Milwaukee & Puget Sound railway, is president of the company. The property is equipped with a gasolene hoist, a compressor, machine drills and pump, all driven with gasolene power.

The British Butte Mining company, operating a large gold dredge four miles west of Butte, has begun making regular weekly shipments of gold to the United States assay office at Helena. Last week's cleanup was ninety-three ounces, which netted the company $1,313. It is estimated that this week's cleanup will be at least 50 per cent more. The company has an expense of about $600 a week, and a capitalization of $5,000,000.

The C. W. syndicate of London is the principal stockholder and financial backer of the British Butte, having recently purchased all the stock of Maurice Eisenberg and associates in this country. The company contemplates putting in more dredges, but that has not yet been fully decided on.

The British Butte owns more than 1,000 acres of placer ground, but it has not yet solved the main problem that confronts it, and that is how to mine by dredge down to bedrock, which is supposed to be nearly 2,000 feet below the surface, as demonstrated by a deep shaft and borings from the bottom. The placer is supposed to cover an old lake bed that drained the surrounding country for ages. There is a false bedrock only two and three feet below the surface, and the dredge is working only to that depth, but it is realized that the big values must lie below the false bedrock.

WESTERN UTAH IS BUSY

new compressor and a number of machine drills, so that work will progress much more rapidly at the property than ever before. The lead-silver ore opens up another resource for the mine besides the enormous quantity of high-grade copper ore that has already been developed. The equipment at the property, which is forty-six miles from a railroad, is valued at $12,000.

Two tunnels, which were worked many years ago, cut the property. One tunnel is in 400 feet, while 250 feet below this is another tunnel 1,000 feet long. The property was worked by John Woodman, father of the district, who was also the pioneer of the Eastern Nevada country. Woodman is also said to have been the discoverer of the Centennial Eureka.

Besides the tunnels, the new workings of the company consist of a 350-foot shaft and numerous crosscuts, upraises and winzes.

There seems to be no doubt but what the enormous deposits of copper, lead and silver in the Deep Creek district of Utah will, one of these days, be the greatest source of revenue in the entire state. The great deposits of low-grade copper porphyry rock and the high-grade mineralization of the district are such that most of the returning travelers from that section wonder that the country has been so long neglected.

It is estimated that the Boston Consolidated company is now profiting at the rate of $60,000 each month, with the reduction plant at Garfield treating in the neighborhood of 3,000 tons of ore a month. It is understood that there is now some effort being made on the part of a number of the stockholders to increase the present capacity of the mill to double its size.

It was the intention of President Samuel Newhouse some time ago to have the capacity of the mill at 6,000 tons a day. Plans and other arrangements were made, but the matter was dropped. Recently it was revived, and it is believed that it will be a matter of but a few months before some announcement is made of the plan to increase the present capacity.

It is understood that the United States Smelting company intends to connect the shaft of the Centennial Eureka mine with the Bullion Beck shaft. This will mean 3,000 feet of drifting. No definite announcement has been made.

The starting up of the Ohio Copper mill has been again delayed. Some time ago General Superintendent McIntosh received a telegram from an Eastern factory announcing that it would send the steel for the trestle work which will connect the mill and the portals of the Mascotte tunnel. Recently he received another telegram, which announced that the steel had not been sent, but would be started in a day or two. This means that the starting of the mill will not be until some time late in October.

Before leaving for Arizona General Manager George E. Gunn of the Mason Valley property explained that the sudden rise in the price of this stock was due to the excellent development work that is being performed at the property. For three weeks past Lew Humphries, consulting engineer for the company, has been stationed at the property, sinking and cutting closely every new grade of rock encountered. He expects to be there at least three weeks more. At that time it is probable a detailed report of the condition of the property will be given out.

According to Mr. Gunn, 100,000 tons of good Mason Valley copper rock has been added to the amount blocked out, thus raising the amount of ore in sight to better than 200,000 tons.

There has been some delay in finding the ore on the No. 4 level of the mine, which is about 500 feet from the surface. When the ore was first encountered nothing was said of it. The management was content with working ahead and demonstrating to a certainty the exact condition.

At present the ore on this level has been crosscut for fifty-three feet, and a drift has been run for better than eighty feet along the strike, and it is all in excellent copper ore. There is no doubt but what the present territory can be easily doubled and still find plenty of good ore.

The level on which the ore has been worked most recently is 148 feet below the former lowest level, which demonstrates quite thoroughly that the rich ore bodies at Yerington, Nev., go to depth.

Some excellent specimens of ore from this property have been forwarded to the American Mining congress at Goldfield. The exhibit consists of specimens showing the prevailing characteristic minerals of the mine. The box weighs in the neighborhood of 200 pounds. Among the specimens are gossan croppings and carbonates of the upper levels, pyrite, chalcocite, chalcopyrite and cuprite. Cubes of native copper, sawed out of the rough as broken down in the face, various specimen chunks of fine smelting ore and various kinds of iron and lime ores are to be shown. The exhibit includes so much high grade that there is not less than 150 pounds of copper in the 200 pounds.

Within a few days a conference of J. Ross Clark, vice president of the Salt Lake route; Senator W. A. Clark, Jr., president of the same road, and W. H. Bancroft, vice president and general manager of the Oregon Short Line, will be held and the date will be set for work to commence on the extension of the railroad from Pioche, Nev., to the west of the city and around the mountains to the southwest of Pioche.

This road, which will be about eight and a half miles long, will care for the ore of the Prince Consolidated Mining company, which is one of the big Pioche bonanzas. This road will also care for the ore of about a dozen different properties in that portion of the district. Recently a new postoffice was added to that section of Pioche. It is called Princeton, and is only about three and a half miles from Pioche by direct road over the mountain.

The district is opening up for an enormour tonnage of rich ore. The Prince has a very large amount of ore blocked out. On the 550-level, which is the lowest at present, a winze is being sunk on the ore and for the twenty-five feet which the winze has gone through, high grade ore has been found. Samples have been taken out that ran as high as 4,000 ounces in silver. The average is 180 ounces silver, 25 per cent lead and $12 in gold. This shows that this end of the district is also finding ore at depth.

Since the Cole-Ryan interests secured adoption on the Butte-Ely property at Ely, adjoining the Giroux estate, a battery of six churn drills has been busy prospecting the property. Two holes have already been completed, and there is shown a good amount of commercial grade ore. It is believed that the Giroux Consolidated intends to add largely to its steam shovel territory by the Butte-Ely.

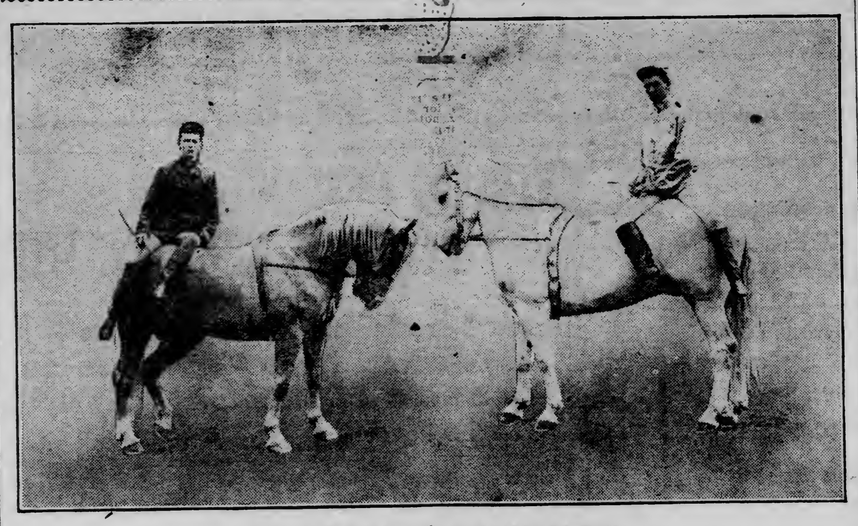

It is expected that no time will be wasted in putting the drill holes through and proving up as thoroughly as possible the extent of the mineral zone. This part of the property promises to be a second Copper Flat, the Nevada Consolidated's great territory, from which it is now taking out an enormous tonnage.

Why Druggists Recommend Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

Frank C. Hanraan, a prominent druggist of Portsmouth, Va., says, "For the past six years I have sold and recommended Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. It is a great remedy and one of the best patent medicines on the market. I handle some others for the same purposes that pay me a larger profit, but this remedy is so sure to effect a cure, and my customer so certain to appreciate my recommending it to him, that I give it the preference." For sale by all druggists.

From a "cold-blooded business viewpoint," it's not worth while to actually cut prices below the "usual" and then fail to so advertise the fact that everybody is told about it.

HIPPODROME AND HORSE SHOW A BIG FEATURE AT THE STATE FAIR THIS YEAR

TWO OF THE FAMOUS HOLLAND FAMILY.
Equestrians at the Horse Show.

More than $20,000 will be spent by the board of managers of the Minnesota state fair this year in the circus and vaudeville program to be given before the grandstand each afternoon and evening, Sept. 6 to 11, and in addition there will be a big ballet under the direction of Mme. Hilda Carolil, the living flag; the spectacle entitled "Minnesota at Gettysburg," and the $1,000 display of Gregory's gorgeous fireworks to be given each evening.

In addition to this extraordinary amusement program, however, there will be given each evening in the live stock amphitheater, a horse show and hippodrome, which will call for the exhibition of some of the best high school horses, gaited horses, jumpers, five-in-hands, sporting tandems, and a great many professional riders, including Mme. Maran Tette, who has some of the champion high jumpers of the world. Several circus riding acts will be entered in connection with the performance, and among the artists of the sawdust ring thus engaged, are the Holland family, among the best known riders in the circus profession. They will appear each evening at the horse show, as will also the Hobsons, somersault riders, and many other circus features which lwil add a high-class variety to this entertainment which gives promise of becoming so popular this year.

The horse show and hippodrome was only an experiment last season, but were such a pronounced success that elaborate preparations are being made for the show to be given this year. Entries have been made by some of the best horse show exhibitors of Canada and the United States, and in the opinion of the managers, will be at a premium in the live stock amphitheater after the opening night, Sept. 6.

SUMMONS IN APPLICATION FOR REGISTRATION OF LAND.

State of Minnesota, County of St. Louis—ss.

District Court, Eleventh Judicial District.

In the matter of the application of Allas Land company to register the title to the following described real estate situated in St. Louis county, Minnesota, namely: Lot numbered three (3) in block numbered two (2), Woodland Park, First Division, according to the plat thereof on file and of record in the office of the register of deeds of St. Louis County, Minnesota, vs.

Applicant.

George W. Bergtold, Daniel J. Ryan and all other persons or parties unknown, claiming any right, title, estate, lien or interest in the real estate described in the application herein,

Defendants.

The State of Minnesota to the above named Defendants:

You are hereby summoned and required to answer the application of the applicant in the above entitled proceeding and to file your answer to the said application in the office of the Clerk of said Court, in said county, within twenty (20) days after the service of this summons upon you, exclusive of the day of such service, and, if you fail to answer the said application within the time aforesaid, the applicant in this proceeding will apply to the Court for the relief demanded therein.

Witness, J. P. Johnson, Clerk of said Court, and the seal thereof, at Duluth, in said County, this 27th day of August, A. D. 1909.

NOTICE OF MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE.

Notice is hereby given that default has been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage executed and delivered by Gust Macki and Mary Macki, his wife, Mortgagors, to Albert Baldwin, as mortgagee, bearing the date of the 3rd day of February, 1905, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for St. Louis County, Minnesota, on the 16th day of February, 1905, at 2:15 o'clock p. m., in Book 191 of Mortgages on page 571.

Said default consists in the failure of the said mortgagors to pay the sum of $127.42, which amount is claimed to be due and is due, at the date hereof, upon a note, which said mortgage was given to secure and which said amount consists of the principal sum due on said note of $100.00 and $27.42 interest.

The property described in said mortgage and hereby mortgaged is situated in the County of St. Louis, State of Minnesota, and is described as follows, to-wit: Lot number six (6) in Block number one (1), of the village of Buhl, St. Louis County, Minnesota, according to the plat thereof on file in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for said St. Louis County, together with all the hereditaments and appurtenances thereunto belonging or in anywise appertaining, excepting the mineral rights.

By reason of such default the power of sale contained in said mortgage has become operative, and no action or proceeding at law or otherwise having been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

NOW THEREFORE, By virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, said mortgage will be foreclosed by the sale of the premises at public auction to the highest bidder for cash by the sheriff of said St. Louis County, at the front door of the County Court House at Duluth, in said County, upon Saturday, the 16th day of October, 1909, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day, to satisfy the amount then due on said mortgage, together with twenty-five dollars ($25.00) attorney's fees, as stipulated in said mortgage, and the costs and disbursements allowed by law.

Dated this 28th day of August, 1909.

ALBERT BALDWIN,
Mortgagee.

H. A. DANCER,

STRONG DEMAND FOR ACREAGE NEAR DULUTH

Transfer During the Week Indicates Big Advance in the Price of Unplatted Property---Year Has Been Active One in Building---Fall Months Should Be Busy Ones in Real Estate Circles.

The acreage movement which has been noticeable all summer and has been gaining impetus, is now at a height that means a few deals of some magnitude will be closed during September. Any piece of acreage property in the vicinity of Duluth that might go on the market now at anything approaching a reasonable figure, would be snapped up as quickly as the owner could sign the necessary papers.

The movement has this significance: It indicates unbounded faith on the part of a large number of people in the future of Duluth. Duluth is bound to grow within the next few years. The present platted section will not be able to accommodate the population of the city. The fact is plain that land now selling in acres will, within the course of a few years, be selling as city lots at prices that will bring those who are now putting their money into them, returns that will make the venture highly profitable.

Real estate men say that it has always been proven that outsiders have more faith in the future of Duluth than Duluthians themselves, who take everything as a matter of course and do not look ahead. While local men are showing wisdom in buying up acreage, the bulk of the inquiry comes from outside investors, who realize that land purchases in the vicinity of a growing city will bring bigger returns on the outlay than property in the platted portion of the city. While Eastern investors have been paying marked attention to acreage within or near the city limits, for the great things in store for Duluth have dawned on them.

While the inquiry has been strong, there has been no disposition on the part of the holders of acreage to let loose at anything short of unprecedented prices. Two acres in an unplated tract near the Glen Avon division this week, brought $2,500, or $1,250 an acre. Land in the same district sold last year for $1,000 an acre. Of course it adjoins platted divisions and is thus much more valuable than land situated at a greater distance from the built up portion of the city, but the increase there shown is a fair criterion of what has been going on in unplatted lands during the past year.

While much of the attention given acreage has been bestowed on that back on the hill, the St. Louis river shores have not been neglected. The erection of the steel plant will be a boon to land values in that section of the city and since the announcement was made that the land would be erected prices have increased materially. Most of the land is closely held and that which has come on the market has been absorbed readily at high prices. Despite the close hold on the titles and the high prices prevailing, land in the Spirit Lake district is the subject of much inquiry and the number of purchasers on the market is far in excess of the number of owners who are willing to ransfer the titles.

The impression has prevailed this summer that the season was a quiet one for building. The report of Building Inspector S. M. Kielley for the month of August, which was published this week, disproves this impression. During August 125 permits covering work estimated to be worth $293,793 were issued, which compares favorably with the report for August, 1908, when 117 permits were issued. Up to the first of September the amount of money represented by building permits issued from Jan 1 was $1,973,272, compared with $1,746,540 during the same period last year.

The building in Duluth for the year 1909 will be far in excess of that for 1908, when the year is ended. Residences by the hundred have sprung up all over the city. The Hotel Holland, the Alworth and Bradley buildings, the new Soo depot, the new courthouse and other fine structures are really placed in this year, although most of them will not be completed until next season.

The residence building is the most remarkable. Last year was a good one in that respect, but this will be better. From Fond du Lac to Lester park and from Park Point to the farthest point in Woodland, there is hardly a block in which some sort of building is not being done. Residences costing from $500 to $50,000 are adding to the wealth and stability of the city. Residence building is one of the surest marks of prosperity, and Duluth is surely prosperous, assuming as much.

The real estate market has shown no material improvement during the past week. It takes time for realty deals to develop, and July and August were exceptionally quiet months even for the summer season. With the activity that developed during the latter part of August, September should show up well. The undertone has been strong during August; there has been much inquiry, some depositing of earnest money and a good deal of negotiating that is bound to bring results in actual transfers of titles.

Sept. 1 was the secondary moving day of the year, but it didn't develop any very noticeable migration. The fact is that almost all of the desirable houses and apartments were taken up May 1 on year leases, and Sept. 1 does not count very much with tenants. The principal part of the moving was occasioned by the competition of apartment houses, leaving a number of vacant apartments to be filled.

Apartments have the call among the house-hunters and investors are providing for the future by placing their money in propositions where the returns will be good and the initial outlay comparatively small. The amount of building of apartment houses in Duluth during the past two years is wonderful when considered, but the great moving public is not yet supplied and will not for years to come.

A. Terryberry is receiving bids on a nine-flat building for Harry Christian on Fourth street, between First and Second avenues west. Mr. Terryberry is preparing plans for a bungalow for Miss Jean Johnston at Lakeside. It will contain seven rooms and will be one of the finest buildings of its kind in Duluth, costing about $3,500. Mr. Terryberry has been commissioned to prepare plans for a new Methodist Episcopal church at Bemidji. It will be a brick building in the Grecian style of architecture and will cost about $10,000.

NEW BOAT ON THE SOUTH SHORE RUN

Steamer Hilton of John Schroeder Lumber Co. to Finish Season.

Steamboat service between Duluth and South shore points will be resumed within a few days.

Previous to this season the Booth company used a boat on this run but lately claiming that the business does not warrant, the service was discontinued.

During the present season the Clow & Nicholson Transportation company has used the Plow Boy and the Mascotte on the run. These boats are being laid up for the winter.

The steamer Hilton, owned by the John Schroeder Lumber company, will finish the season between South shore points and the Head of the Lakes country. If the business warrants the boat will go as far as the Soo.

The boat will make Port Wing, Ashland, Hancock, Houghton, Jacobsville, Ontonogan, Shell Lake and a number of other points.

Local jobbers were instrumental in getting the lumber company to put on the boat. Their trade on the South shore was suffering for want of a means of transportation and they got together with the result stated.

WHEAT HAS A DECLINE

Market Eased Off at End of a Short Session.

Flax Is Active, But Closes Lower in Duluth Market.

Duluth Board of Trade, Sept. 4.—Wheat was firm until the end of the short session today, when prices eased off, closing fractionally lower than yesterday in all the American markets. Minneapolis September showed the largest decline, the weakness here being slight.

Liverpool closed ⅝d lower to ½d higher, Budapest ⅛c higher.

The September option closed ⅛c lower in Duluth, ⅛@¼c lower in Chicago and Kansas City, ½@⅝c lower in Minneapolis, unchanged in New York and St. Louis. October wheat closed ⅛c lower in Winnipeg. The December option closed unchanged in Duluth and New York, ⅛@⅜c lower in Chicago, a shade lower in Minneapolis, ¼c lower in St. Louis, Kansas City and Winnipeg.

September corn and oats closed ⅛c lower in Chicago.

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool: "Wheat was steady at the opening with values unchanged to ¼d lower, being influenced by the steadier American cables yesterday. Following the opening, the market showed a decline on the forecast of large Russian shipments, predictions of heavy shipments from America to Liverpool and the easier feeling in spot. Longs liquidated freely in September, while the December option was well supported. America was reported to be a buyer in this market and this had a tendency to tighten offers and at the close the market was steady with the exception of September which showed a decline of ⅝d from yesterday.

"Corn was steady at the start and unchanged. Later values lost ⅛d on the cheaper offerings of parcels from Argentina.

"It is necessary for me to revise my forecast for the world's shipments as given out yesterday. I estimate the world's shipments exclusive of North America at 7,200,000 bu., and of this quantity Europe will take 6,400,000. The amount on passage will show an increase."

Car receipts of wheat at Duluth were 176, against 446 last year, and at Minneapolis, 339, against 320 last year, making a total for the Northwest of 515, against 766 last year. Chicago received 70, against 65 last year.

Primary receipts of wheat were 950,000 bu., last year, 1,105,000 bu. Shipments, 452,000 bu; last year, 430,000 bu. Clearances of wheat and flour were 273,000 bu.

Primary receipts of corn were 628,000 bu; last year, 398,000 bu. Shipments, 609,000 bu; last year, 369,000 bu.

Wheat trading was active during the session in Duluth. September wheat opened unchanged at 95⅜c, advanced to 96c, declined to 95⅝c and closed there, a loss of ⅛c from yesterday. December wheat opened ¼c higher at 94c, advanced to 94¼c, declined to 93½c and close dat 93¾c, unchanged from yesterday.

Durum wheat closed ¼c lower.

Flax was quite active, but weak, closing lower than yesterday. September flax opened ¼c lower at $1.33½, declined to $1.31½ and closed there, a loss of ¼c from yesterday. October flax opened ⅜c higher at $1.35 asked, declined to $1.33¾ and closed at $1.34, a loss of ⅝c from yesterday. THE CHICAGO MARKET.

Pre-holiday Dullness Rules and Prices Change But Little.

Chicago, Sept. 4.—Pre-holiday dullness prevailed in the wheat market here today and prices showed little change. Wet weather in the Northwest was offset by a weak market at Liverpool. There was also a little early buying prompted by a private report of damage to the Argentine crop by locusts. Demand, however fell off as trading advanced and sentiment in the pit became somewhat bearish.

Opening quotations for wheat were ⅛c to ¼@¼c higher, December being at 94½@94⅝c. After selling at at 94⅝c the price for December dropped back to 94⅜@94½c.

A heavy tone prevailed the remainder of the day and the trading continued light. For December the low point was reached at 94@94⅛c. The close was easy with December off ⅛@⅜c at 94¼c.

Traders in the corn pit were still inclined to believe in the lower estimates made on corn crop owing to the recent drouth, and, in consequence, sentiment was bullish at the start. Offerings early were light. December opened a shade to ¼@⅜c higher at 57½@57⅝c, advanced to 58½@57⅝c and then reacted to 57¼c.

The market held comparatively steady the entire day and closed steady with December up ⅜@½c at 57½c.

Oats were firm because of unsettled weather, which it was thought might interfere with the movement of the new crop. December opened unchanged to ⅛c higher at 38@38¼c and sold up to 38¾c.

Provisions were quiet and firm. Moderate buying by cash interests was the feature of early trading. Prices at the opening were unchanged to 7½c higher.

THE MINNEAPOLIS MARKET.

Wheat Tendency Is Downward With Only 1 Cent Range of Price.

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 4.—Local elevator stocks of wheat decreased 10,000 bushels for one day of the week opening today. Last week there was an increase of 4,784 bushels. The wheat market today was in a narrow range, there being only 1c difference between the high and low. The tendency was decidedly downward. Weakness was caused by anticipated heavy receipts Tuesday and the covering of shorts. September closed ⅜@⅝c lower than yesterday and December unchanged to ⅛c lower. Minneapolis today received 339 cars of wheat as compared with 320 cars a year ago; Duluth 176 cars against 446 cars and Winnipeg 210 cars against 34 cars. September opened 95½c; high, 95⅝c; low, 94⅝@95¾c; close, 94¾c. December opened 93⅞c; high, 93⅞c; low, 93¼@¾c; close, 93½c. May opened 97¾c; high, 97¾c; low, 97⅛c; close, 97¼c.

Cash wheat was weaker today, on account of the anticipated heavy receipts today. Millers were not eager in seeking offerings, and premiums were lower for the first time on the new crop. No. 1 northern sold for ⅛c above the September option, and No. 2 northern for 2⅛c above. No. 1 northern spot, 99@99½c; to arrive, 97½c; No. 2 northern spot, 97@97¾c; to arrive, 95½c; No. 3 wheat, 94½@95¼c; No. 3 yellow corn, 64¾@65¼c; No. 3 white oats, 35¾@36¼c; No. 2 rye, 63¾@65¾c.

Millstuffs—Shipments, 1,388 tons. Demand was good at prevailing prices. Shipments were fairly heavy and the market was steady. Bran in 100-pound sacks, $19.00.

Flour was in good domestic and foreign demand. Millers reported a very satisfactory business. About all the mills are running full capacity. Shipments for the week show a material increase over last week. Prices were steady. Shipments, 54,985 barrels. First patents, $5.10@5.35; second patents, $5.00@5.25; first clears, $4.35@4.55; second clears, $3.10@3.30.

Flax—Receipts, 42 cars; year ago, 26 cars; shipments, none. Little change was noticeable in the market today. Of the liberal receipts the majority arrived on sale. One sale was reported at $1.41½. Demand was strong. Closing price, $140⅞@1.41¼.

Barley—Receipts, 110 cars; year ago, 195 cars; shipments, 71 cars. Light change was noticed in the market today, unless the feeding grades were a trifle easier. Heavy receipts are expected Tuesday, and as a result a decline in prices. Demand was good, especially for choice malting barley. Closing range, 41@59c.

Liverpool Grain.

Liverpool, Sept. 4.—Close: Wheat—Spot quiet; No. 2 red western winter, 7s 8d; future quiet; September, 7s 6⅞d; December, 7s 4⅝d; March, 7s 5¼d. Corn—Spot steady; American mixed, via Galveston, 6s 5½d; do, old, 6s 6d; futures nominal; October, 5s 5½d; December, 5s 6¼d.

Duluth Car Inspection.

Wheat—No. 1 hard, 1; No. 1 northern, 24; No. 2 northern, 34; No. 3 northern, 5; no grade, 2; velvet chaff, 9; No. 1 durum, 46; No. 2 durum, 148; No. 3 durum, 6; no grade durum, 1. Total of wheat, 176; last year, 446.

Flax—No. 1, 2; last year, 8.

Oats, 9; rye, 5; barley, 66.

Total of all cars, 258. Cars on track today, 351.

NEW STREET CAR LINES

An Extension Will Be Run Up to Eighth Street.

The Hillside Improvement Club Holds Important Meeting.

As soon as the new Sundby road is completed, the Duluth Street Railway company will extend its line from Fifth avenue east and Fourth street to Eighth street, and then eastward along Eighth street, according to assurances given the Hillside Improvement club by Manager Warren. This fact was brought out at a meeting of the club last night. Manager Warren told representatives of the club that it never was the company's intention to run a line along Sixth street, as was reported.

A committee was last night appointed to work with the Duluth Commercial club in hastening construction work on the Sundby road, which will run up the hillside from Fifth street and Sixth avenue east to Eighth street, and thence over to Fourth avenue east and up the hill to Duluth Heights, affording an easy grade road out of the city. The city already has acquired the route by condemnation proceedings.

Another committee was appointed to confer with the city engineer and board of public works in regard to a storm sewer along Seventh avenue west. At present there is no sewer there, and it is proposed to double the capacity of the Sixth avenue sewer to care for the overflow.

The next meeting of the club will be given over to the property owners interested in the improvement of Fourth street, between Sixth avenue east and Fourteenth avenue east. There is some sentiment in favor of narrowing the street, and providing grass plots at the side.

There was some discussion in regard to telephone poles in Second alley, and the sentiment seemed to be that the city should find some way of getting rid of the poles. No resolution relative to them was adopted, however.

CANADA TO MAKE IMPROVEMENTS

Will Build New Soo Pier and Install Powerful Foghorn.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Sept. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Within a few days, contractors will start the construction of a concrete pier at the head of the Canadian locks, which will cost in the neighborhood of $75,000. The old wooden piers which were put in when the lock was constructed are worn out. The work is expected to be completed by the opening of navigation in the spring.

The Canadian government is about to repair the old foghorn on Caribou island, with another plant costing about $50,000. The horn will be the most powerful on the lakes, and is supposed to be heard at a distance of forty miles. The steam plant will be replaced by three compressors, with three coal oil-driven engines of twelve-horse power each, similar to those now being installed on the coasts, by the French and British governments.

OFFERS $25,000 FOR WRECKERS

Railroad Officials Lay Disaster at Newcastle to Strikers.

New Castle, Pa., Sept. 4.—With bloodhounds on the trail and a $25,-000 reward hung up by the railroad company, for the apprehension of the person or persons, who early today wrecked the Royal Blue limited, the fast New York-Chicago, Baltimore & Ohio railroad flyer, the railroad police, county deputies and local officers are combing the vicinity of Chewton siding, Wampum and the little settlements intervening, each spurred on to more active efforts by the reward.

From Wampus, a small and desolate foreign settlement near here, came the report this afternoon that the train wreckers had been surrounded in a slaughter house near Wampum by railroad police who had been led there by bloodhounds.

Lay It to Strikers.

Casting about for a motive for the train wreck, the Baltimore & Ohio special police attach special significance to the recent strike of the machinists employed on the road. At this place there are about 200 idle machinists. These men, it is said, have annoyed the imported workmen to such an extent that several days ago the railroad company asked for and was granted an injunction against the strikers, thirty-five of them being summoned before the federal court in Allegheny county.

The railway police say the wreck was the work of railroad men, as the manner of extracting the bolts from the rails and the removal of the fish plates was done in a way indicative of experienced workmen.

Strikers Scout Charges.

The strikers deny all allegations that one of their number might have been mixed up in the affair. One striking machinist said today:

"Our men are not the kind to deliberately or maliciously wreck a train. No one ever heard of a railroad man's wrecking a train. It is preposterous even to intimate that railroad men would place in jeopardy the lives of others for any amount whatsoever."

The injured at the local hospitals are reported to be recovering from the shock. Only one death is expected, that of Mrs. Seneca Dippon.

HELP WANTED—MALE

WANTED AT ONCE.
ASSISTANT JANITOR.
J. M. GIDDING & CO.

A FEW YEARS SPENT IN THE NAVY are years of valuable experience. Habits of regularity are formed. Healthy exercise, regular drills and growing responsibility develop quickness and self reliance. Many large employers prefer men who have had naval training because more capable and efficient. Young men with mechanical knowledge have greater opportunities. They master their trade instead of being mere helpers. Go to a recruiting office and learn about the fine chances in the different branches of the service to save money, the hours of duty, cruises, sports, promotion, etc. You are not urged to enlist. Individuality will be developed, not suppressed, in the navy. Ask any one in the service about it. The navy hanger in postoffice and navy posters will give you an idea of the appearance of a bluejacket. Apply at Navy Recruiting office, Postoffice building, Minneapolis, Minn.

OFFICE ASSISTANT WANTED.

DULUTH PAYS ITS TRIBUTE TO ORGANIZED LABOR

PLANS QUIET RETURN TO NEW YORK

Dr. Cook Expects to Have Plenty of Time to Prepare His Data.

Explorer Does Not Realize That He Is Central Figure of the World.

Says His Greatest Feeling at the Pole Was Fear of Return Trip.

Copenhagen, Sept. 6.—Being without official engagements today, Dr. Frederick A. Cook mapped out a quiet day for himself. In the course of the morning he visited Old Prince Hans, who is known as the uncle of the reigning houses of Europe, and later he received a deputation of students who hailed him as a hero. He then took a drive with Maurice F. Egan, the American minister, and had lunch privately with the minister, in the country, his purpose being to escape the applauding crowds.

One of the most interesting features of Dr. Cook's position is that he is about the only intelligent man in the world now, who does not realize how conspicuous and talked about Dr. Cook is today. Minister Egan has shielded him as carefully as possible. While he is theoretically living as the government's guest at a hotel, he is practically living at the legations so that he may be kept away from the pressure of the crowds which are still surrounding the hotel. Dr. Cook thinks that he will be able to get back to New York quietly so that he may revise his scientific records before he gives them to the world.

At lunch at the American embassy yesterday the explorer escaped for a few minutes from the absorbing topic of the Arctic expedition and asked questions which, to the listeners, appeared amusing, about what was going on. "What was this remark about the play, 'The Merry Widow,' of which he had heard from the Danes in Greenland? "What was Taft's majority?" And similar questions.

RUSSIANS ENACT FAMOUS BATTLE

Reproduce Storming of Fortress Which Broke Circassian Power.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 6.—An interesting military spectacle commemorating the fiftieth annoversary of the storming of the fortress of Gunib in the Caucasus, which broke the power of Shamyl, the great Circassian leader, and established Russian authority in the Caucasus, was presented today at Gunib, in the presence of the viceroy of the Caucasus, some of the survivors of the battle and many distinguished persons, the assault was faithfully reproduced in all its historic details by the regiments engaged in the original campaign against Shamyl. The defenders of the fortress, who perished almost to a man, were represented by Cossacks correctly costumed.

GIRL'S TORSO IS FOUND IN SACK

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 6.—Tied in a bag in the torso of a young girl was discovered today in Ecorse creek at Ecorse, a down the river suburb of this city. The head, arms and legs were not to be found and it was impossible to identify the body.

GIRL FREED; FATHER SLAIN

Theft Charge Followed By Murder of Parent of "Thief."

Huntington, W. Va., Sept. 6.—One of the most sensational tragedies in the history of Huntington occurred early today when I. N. Chapman, supervisor of the Huntington division of the Chesapenke & Ohio railroad, was shot down and fatally wounded by Earle Dudding, a leading business man of this city.

Some time ago Chapman's daughter, who was employed in a department store owned by Dudding, was arrested on a charge of theft. After the arrest of the young girl Dudding refused to prosecute her. It was alleged by the friends of the girl that the charges were made by Dudding as the result of her refusal to listen to his attentions, and a damage suit against Dudding was threatened.

Today Dudding went to the office of Supervisor Chapman to endeavor to settle the affair. He alleges that Chapman attempted to kill him with a hatchet and he pulled his pistol and fired in self defense.

Census Bureau Plans Full Report on That Industry.

Minute Details of Crops and Acreage and Values to Be Obtained.

Washington, Sept. 6.—Farm economists and scientists, learned in agricultural problems, appointed as expert special agents for a brief term, are now in Washington assisting Census Director Durand and his staff in the formulation of the agricultural schedule of the thirteenth census so that the questions to be asked by the census enumerators shall be easily comprehended by the farmers of the country, and so draw out the information ordered by congress to be ascertained. At the same time these practical steps are being taken by the census bureau.

TIMES WHEN THE ENGLISHMAN DROPS HIS DIGNITY AND HOOTS

Written for The Evening Herald by Zach McGhee (Savoyard).
(Copyright 1909, by Zach McGhee.)

Manchester, Eng., Aug. 16.—"Beg Pa-ah-don!" as they say in England. I take it back; the Englishman does hoot. He shrugs his shoulders and claps his hands at the cricket game, the national game, corresponding to our baseball, reserving his lung power for the political meeting, where he hoots and yells.

This afternoon I went to a political meeting in North Manchester to hear the Conservatives denounce the government's "budget" and preach the doctrine of protection. The one Conservative M. P. from Manchester, the Hon. Somebody Hlx, M. P.—don't fail to put the M. P. after the name; that is one of the most important parts of the name—was present, and another prominent statesman, candidate for M. P. from some other district next time an election comes off.

But scarcely anybody heard either speak, for no sooner did the Hon. Hlx suggest "tariff reform," which means protection, than there was a tremendous uproar, which kept up continuously throughout the meeting. Hoot at protection, did I say? About 5,000 men were present, and they raised all sorts of Cain to prevent the opponents of the government and the proponents of protection from speaking. They hooted, yelled, laughed, talked aloud and even sang songs—a regular old Tillmanite howl-down, and Americans, at least in the Southern and Western states, know what that means.

No Hope for Tariff Men.

At the close of the meeting, which came much earlier than expected, the speakers having despaired of getting a hearing and sat down, the chairman of the meeting, who, for his imperturbable good humor and a good, strong voice, was the only one the crowd would listen to at any time, offered some resolutions. These he managed to read and take a "hand primary" on, with a most astoundingly disappointing result to the protectionists.

The resolutions condemned the government for putting an additional tax on unimproved land and for not reforming the tariff along protection, instead of free trade, lines. The vote, so far as I could judge, was about three to one against the resolutions. On the car coming back I heard a man say it was at least seven to one, but he, I learned, was a red-hot free trader. The Conservatives, or protectionists, admitted they were outvoted by a big majority. Mind you, it was a Conservative meeting, but the Conservatives claim that the "socialists," as they call those favoring the government, packed the meeting.

Now, this political meeting in Manchester may not be considered very important in Minnesota, but it is interesting, and perhaps somewhat insignificant, especially to those in America who have been told that everything in England tends toward protection, and hence if the United States should put its tariff on a revenue basis it would be to fall behind all the nations of the earth.

BLIND PIGGER GETS FIVE HUNDRED FINE.

Minot, N. D., Sept. 6.—Eddie Van, who was recently arrested for pigging, pleaded guilty in county court and received a sentence of six months, $500 fine and $200 costs, or sixty days additional in default of the payment of the fine and costs.

FUNDS SUPPLIED BY SPORTING MAN

Dr. Cook's Expedition Financed by John R. Bradley as Hunting Trip.

Chicago, Sept. 6.—Funds and equipment for Dr. Cook's expedition to the North pole generally are known to have been supplied by John R. Bradley, the "silent" partner of E. R. Bradley, his brother, who has a country-wide reputation as a sportsman and horseman. They are natives of Chicago, own the Hotel De Prado on the Midway, a tailoring establishment and gambling houses at Florida resorts.

"Jack" Bradley, who built the schooner John R. Bradley for Dr. Cook and furnished the coin, going with the party himself as far as the Arctic ocean, declares that he expected nothing else but victory for Dr. Cook.

"We studied out the mistakes and misfortunes of other men who had tried for the pole, hoping to benefit by their errors, and we certainly benefited.

"I am not going to tell what the cost was, but I'll tell you this much: One single item of the equipment was 5,000 gallons of gasoline, and another was two barrels of gum drops. An Eskimo will travel thirty miles for a gum drop. His sweet tooth is the sweetest in the world."

Mr. Bradley said Dr. Cook would cable him from Copenhagen on reaching there, and at that time he might have something more to say in connection with the expedition.

How Trip Was Begun.

How Mr. Bradley came to send an expedition to the North Pole is an interesting story of itself. Primarily, he did not equip his schooner, which later he turned over to Dr. Cook, for a strictly polar expedition of discovery, but, having hunted big game in every other quarter of the globe, and sighing for other game than lions, leopards, tigers and rhinoceri to conquer, he decided to shoot polar bears, seals and such other game as could be found in the northern fringe of this continent. He wanted sport, and Dr. Cook, who had become notable as the first man to conquer Mount McKinley in Alaska, the tallest and bleakest peak in North America, if not in the hemisphere, went along as a companion and to make scientific observations.

NEW YORKER BREAKS RECORD ON MT. BLANC.

GERMANS GIVE COOK CREDIT

Berlin, Sept. 6.—Two of the leading societies of German geographers, the Berlin and the Hamburg associations, have congratulated Dr. Cook on his discovery of the North pole. The managing committees of each society met and decided duly on this recognition.

The Berlin committee expressed the opinion that it had no right to withhold its acknowledgement from an honorable and experienced explorer such as Dr. Cook, and it sent its congratulations gladly. In doing this, however, the committee does not consider that it formally accepts every statement of fact made by Dr. Cook; it simply gives general recognition to his fine achievement.

Pope Believes It.

Rome, Sept. 6.—The pope is keenly interested in the story of Dr. Cook's achievement, and is following with interest the newspaper accounts of the expedition. The pope expressed the opinion today that one must believe in the truthfulness of a man whose character had been tried by such perils and who had faced death alone.

MORE THAN 10,000 DOGS AND HORSES EATEN IN BERLIN.

Berlin, Sept. 6.—The official statistics for the second quarter of 1909 show that 1,051 dogs have been slaughtered for food under government inspection, and 9,785 horses.

FOXHOME BANK IS BURGLARIZED

Fergus Falls, Minn., Sept. 6.—(Special to The Herald).—The First State bank at Foxhome, fifteen miles west of here, was burglarized early this morning. The robbers blew the safe and got all the money in it, about $2,000. They then escaped on a handcar, which they threw into the river near Breckenridge. The bank is owned largely by Fergus Falls men.

DRIVER ON FATAL TRIP IS ARRESTED

New York, Sept. 6.—While William Hobbey, a wealthy resident of Mount Vernon, was running his automobile today at high speed between Mount Vernon and Pelham manor, the bursting of a tire threw the car over an embankment. Joseph Eisenger, one of the passengers, was killed, and Henry Clausen, another passenger, will die. Eisenger and Clausen were musicians whom Hobbey was bringing home. Hobbey and his chauffeur escaped with bad bruises. Hobbey, who was driving the car, was arrested and held in $5,000 bail.

GIRL DIES REJOICING IN MURDER OF MAN.

New York, Sept. 6.—Still unrepentant for her act, Elizabeth Clara Becker, the young woman who on Saturday killed John A. Gunther, Jr., the garage proprietor with whom she lived, and then shot herself, died today at a Brooklyn hospital. Her last words expressed satisfaction that Gunther was dead. The woman said she shot him because he was untrue to her.

More Deaths in Amoy.

Amoy, Sept. 6.—During the fortnight ending last Saturday there were ninety-four Bubonic plague and thirty-five cholera deaths in the city of Amoy, according to an official announcement made today.

Union Veteran League to Meet.

Washington, Sept. 6.—Delegates in large numbers are arriving to attend the twenty-fourth annual encampment of the Union Veteran league, whose sessions will begin tomorrow and continue until Friday.

THE EVERYDAY LABOR PARADE.

Parade of Union Men Followed By Mass Meeting in Park.

A. R. MacDonald Delivers Oration---Holiday Observed.

Under smiling September skies, and with the gaily garbed populace cheering on the side lines, organized labor paraded the principal streets of the city this morning and is continuing the celebration of Labor day at Fairmont park and other places about town this afternoon.

In common with all the rest of the nation, Duluth is dedicating this day to labor, and labor is celebrating its past achievements, and expressing its hopes and aims.

Weather conditions were ideal for the industrial pageant which Duluthians witnessed on their principal streets this morning. The sun was shining brightly, but in the air there was a bracing breeze.

The parade formed on First street, the first arrivals gathering there shortly after 8 oclock, although it was not until after 9:30 that Chief Marshal M. J. Harney gave the signal for the spick and span policemen, who marched in the van, to get under way.

By that time even the sleepiest citizen had his eyes sufficiently rubbed, had inhaled the holiday spirit and was on the curb to greet the well-groomed unionists as they trooped by.

The American flag fluttered in the autumnal breeze; union banners waved; bands blared forth stirring American marches, and the workers swept up one street and down another before the encouraging and friendly gaze of the rest of the community.

The Line of March.

The parade traversed First street, marched up Superior street for a considerable distance, doubling, and after coming back on Superior street for a considerable distance, disbanding.

It was one of the finest Labor day parades ever held in Duluth. Every union was represented by practically a full quota of men, and they made a fine showing as they marched down the street between the holiday throngs.

The clean-shaven, well-groomed policemen led off, with Mayor Haven and A. R. McDonald, editor of the Labor World and the orator of the day, immediately behind in a carriage. Then there followed carriages bearing the members of the city council and municipal officials.

La Brosse's band followed.

Immediately following this representation of the city government and the musicians came the Federated Trades and Labor assembly, representing every union in the city and being the general legislative body of the organized unionists of Duluth.

Every union is represented on the assembly floor and all of the delegates were on hand to make up that part of the parade which was given over to them. Delegate O'Meara flaunted the assembly's banner and led the way for the individual unions, which followed in a military formation.

Behind the assembly members came the machinists', building laborers' and the Typographical unions, all of which are important and large organizations and all of them being represented by a large percentage of their members.

The butchers' union made a very brave showing. The division was headed by a mounted butcher, in his snow white coat and cap, and the entire delegation, on foot, was dressed in the white coats and caps, each member being embellished with a big badge of the organization.

The painters and decorators, wearing white caps and carrying yellow rule sticks, contributed largely to the length and general excellent appearance of the parade, as did the leather workers, all of whom wore the purple badges of their order.

The bridge and structural iron workers, the international brewery workers,

HORDES SEE STATE FAIR

Visitors Pour Into Grounds at the Rate of 2,000 an Hour.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—At 8 o'clock this morning the gates of the Minnesota state fair were thrown open for the fiftieth annual fair and before 8:30 o'clock there were fully 10,000 on the grounds, including exhibitors and employes.

At that hour the street car service was taxed to its early capacity and a call was sent in for the greatest possible headway on service, to begin at the close of the Labor day parade. As early as 9 o'clock people were arriving through all gates at the rate of 2,000 an hour.

The big crush began at noon. There is every indication, with a prediction of fair weather, that last year's total attendance of 38,032 will be far exceeded, and the big record of 82,049 of 1907 is the mark at which the hopes of those in charge aim. Certainly not less than 50,000 will be on the grounds before evening, and tonight's attendance will swell that figure.

Troops on the Grounds.

Trops G and H arrived from Fort Snelling early this morning and went into camp on the west side of the machinery building. Every afternoon and night the government cavalry will give camping and drill exhibitions. In addition to the military feature, the government is today beginning its exhibitions of land reclamation and agriculture by the departments of the interior and agriculture.

The event of the day was the formal opening at 11 o'clock with an address by Senator Knute Nelson and at 1:30 in the livestock ampitheater Bishop Robert McIntyre addressed the forces of labor, as a fitting climax of Labor day celebrations.

FRENCH CREW IS ALL MASSACRED

Sydney, N. S. W., Sept. 6.—The captain and crew of the French schooner Qualite, engaged in recruiting laborers, have been murdered by natives of Malicollo island, in the New Hebrides. The vessel was driven ashore by a storm, and while stranded was attacked. In spite of a stubborn defense, the crew was massacred to the last man. A British warship is investigating the occurrence.

HAS BEEN A MASON SINCE THE YEAR 1827.

North Newport, N. H., Sept. 6.—James Bellows McGregor celebrated his 108th birthday at his home, "The Maples," here today. He has been a Free Mason since 1827.

HARRIMAN IS SAID TO HAVE RELAPSE

New York, Sept. 6.—An afternoon paper gives currency to the statement today that E. H. Harriman suffered a relapse late last night and that for a time his condition was very serious. Inquiry was made at Mr. Harriman's home in Arden as to the truth of the report that would result, the inquirers being referred to the Union Pacific offices in this city. These offices were closed. Judge Lovett, who is in close touch with Mr. Harriman's affairs, was not in the city. At Judge Lovett's home it was refused as to whether he had gone to Arden to see Mr. Harriman.

On Monday last the newspaper men at Arden were withdrawn after the issuance of Mr. Harriman's statement to the newspapers, in which he said:

"If there was or should be anything serious I will let the press know, and as I have never deceived them I ask that the press now withdraw its representatives and rely upon me."

WEST END

DELEGATES ARRIVING

Annual Conference of Danish Church Will Open Tuesday.

Bishop Robert McIntyre Will Preside Over the Sessions.

Bishop Robert McIntyre of St. Paul, one of the most noted speakers in the Methodist Episcopal church, will arrive in Duluth tomorrow to preside over the business sessions of the Norwegian Danish M. E. church conference, which will be held at the First Norwegian-Danish M. E. church, Twenty-fourth avenue west and Third street.

Bishop McIntyre will deliver his famous lecture on "Buttoned Up People" Thursday evening at the church and will take an active part in the sessions throughout the conference, which opens tomorrow evening and continues for one week. Delegates from all parts of the Northwest are arriving in Duluth today. One hundred outside visitors expect to be here before evening.

The annual examination of candidates for the ministry is being conducted today. Rev. H. K. Madsen, pastor of the local church, is chairman of the board of examiners. The classes were organized this morning and about twenty-five applicants were present. Only two will be admitted this year and a number of the others will be promoted to higher classes.

Tomorrow evening District Superintendent James Sanacker of Minneapolis will open the sessions with an address of welcome, to which Rev. H. K. Madsen of the West end church will give a response. The sermons for the evening will be delivered by Rev. J. P. Anderson of Milwaukee and Elliott Hanson of Neenah, Wis.

Bishop McIntyre will open the session Wednesday morning and will administer the sacrament. During the afternoon Rev. F. M. Haugen of Chicago and Rev. O. S. Bakatel of Philadelphia will talk, the latter giving an address on Sunday school work. In the evening sermons will be delivered by Rev. Charles J. Johnson and Rev. E. T. Scholbert.

An interesting program has been arranged for the remainder of the week.

NOW LAYING SEWER.

The Garfield Avenue Improvement Will Soon Be Finished.

It is expected that work on the new sewer, which is being constructed from 800 Garfield avenue to the bay will be finished before the end of the month. Work was commenced last week and is progressing rapidly. The improvement will cost about $4,500.

As soon as the sewer has been laid, the avenue will be ready for paving. It is expected that by Oct. 1, enough money will have been subscribed by the business men to warrant the commencement of the paving.

DELIVERS ADDRESS.

Prominent Milwaukee Clergyman Is Heard at St. Clement's Church.

Rev. Fritz Schultze, who is at the head of the theological department of St. Francis seminary at Milwaukee, Wis., delivered an interesting address yesterday at St. Clement's Catholic church, on West Third street.

He left this morning for his home in Milwaukee. During the past week he has been the guest of Rev. Father Brockmeyer of the St. Clement's church. Father Brockmeyer and Rev. Schultze were classmates at college.

Johnson-Holmberg.

The marriage of Miss Alvina Johnson to Nels Holmberg was solemnized Saturday night at the home of the officiating clergyman, Rev. C. G. Olsen of the Swedish Bethany Lutheran church. They have gone to St. Paul on a wedding trip. After Sept. 15, they will be at home at 726 East Fifth street.

SOME SCENES ON DR. COOK'S TRIP

ON AN ICE FLOE.

A TROPHY OF THE HUNT.

Reproductions From Photographs Made in the Early Stages of Dr. Frederick A. Cook's Now Famous Trip Into the Far North When He Was Traveling on the Steamer John R. Bradley in the Company of the Sportsman, After Whom the Ship Was Named and Who Financed the Explorer's Expedition.

PLANS QUIET RETURN TO NEW YORK

Dr. Cook's exploit, which seems to have raised questions in America, there is this to be said—in Denmark the men of his own profession—exploration—surrounded him and support him whole souledly.

Instead of avoiding them, as a charlatan would, he spends every possible moment with them, discussing eagerly observations, ice floes and drifts, dogs and supplies, and they believe in him. Whatever the rest of the world may think, Denmark, which prides itself on Arctic explorations, has put the seal of its belief and indorsement on Dr. Cook as strong as it is possible to do.

Honored by the King.

The king, acting on carefully considered advice from experts, gives him such honors as never before have been given to a private person. All the Danish papers, after the first day's skepticism, accept him wholly. There was strong doubt of his claims before he arrived, but one of the strongest factors now is Dr. Cook's personality and the absolute freedom and candor with which he answers all questions.

To obviate the possible loss by shipwreck of his papers, Dr. Cook shipped sections of them from Greenland by different vessels, and is arranging to have them sent from Denmark in a similar way.

Dr. Cook disclaims any title to unusual bravery. He says that the success of his expedition was due to the fact that he had strong men and dogs for the final dash, on which several others had started with weakened parties, and did not follow the "starvation route."

Eskimos Were Scared.

Dr. Cook's version of further incidents of his expedition to the pole, he tells of when there remained but two valiant and faithful Eskimos as an escort as he plunged over the vast extent of polar seas. On approaching the pole, he said, the icy plain took on animated motion as if rotating on an invisible pivot.

"A great fissure then opened up from behind," he added, "and it seemed as if we were isolated from the world. My two Eskimos threw themselves at my feet, and bursting into tears, refused to continue one way or another, so paralyzed with fear were they. Nevertheless I calmed them and we resumed our journey.

"You ask my impression on reaching the pole. Let me confess I was disappointed. I had reached the pole, and now at a moment when I should have been thrilled with pride and joy, I was invaded with a sudden fear of the dangers and sufferings of the return."

Dr. Cook was immensely pleased Sunday by receipt of a telegram from President Taft, in which the president of the United States extended his hearty congratulations on the announcement that Dr. Cook had reached the pole.

CHEATS LAW BY SUICIDE

Accused Ironwood Banker Prefers Death to Facing Trial.

Ironwood, Mich., Sept. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Herman F. Jahn, accused of forgery and of aiding in the alleged embezzlement of $200,000 of the funds of the First National bank of this city, which was closed several months ago by the comptroller of the currency will never have to answer on earth for his alleged mismanagement of the institution of which he was president.

Attempted Life Before.

Mr. Jahn is dead by his own hand having shot and killed himself about 3:30 p. m. Saturday. His tragic end was not a complete surprise to a few of his intimate friends as it has been known for several weeks or since his arrest June 20, that he had made one or more attempts to take his life, but had been prevented through the intervention of relatives or friends.

Mr. Jahn fired the fatal shot with a pistol which he had borrowed from a friend under the guise of desiring to shoot some cats which he claimed were troublesome in the neighborhood of his home.

A favorable opportunity presenting itself he went to his room and fired a bullet through his heart dying instantly. His wife attracted by the sound of the shot and of a falling body hastened to his room finding him dead. An inquest found that death resulted from a shot fired by himself.

Held To Grand Jury.

At the preliminary hearing, shortly after his arrest, Jahn was held to the grand jury of the circuit court, which will convene next Tuesday at Marquette. His bond was fixed at $25,000, which was readily furnished by citizens of Ironwood, and since June 21 he had enjoyed liberty. E. T. Larson, cashier of the grand jury had his bond fixed at $50,000. He has been unable to secure bondsmen and has been in jail since June 21. Assistant Cashier G. H. Beddow's bond was fixed at $10,000, which was furnished and he is at liberty. The alleged defalcations, for which the three bank officers were arrested, are estimated to amount to upwards of $700,000.

Jahn, who was 60, before the failure of the First National bank of which he was the head, was a very sedate and reserved man and seldom mixed with other classes of people, devoting himself, when not on duty at the bank, almost exclusively to his home life. He is survived by a wife. He was a prominent member of the local Episcopal church of which he was a trustee. He came to this city from Milwaukee, where he belonged to a leading family.

EVERY WOMAN in Duluth and its vicinity recognizes the position of the Gidding Store as regards style leadership. She has always found the greatest variety and best choice here. Yet, this season we leap past our former mark, with three times the selling space for cloaks and suits, and fully twice the stock.

Think what this means to you, Lady Fashionable! The Store that has formerly been able to serve you best, now more than doubles its capacity!

In Materials for the Season, rough effects predominate! Plain colors and two-tones are equally good, with mixtures and novelties added for spice. Zibelines, Skeye Suitings, Scotch and English Homespuns, diagonal weaves, wales, and whip-cord Serges are exceptionally good. But Broadcloths are fair rivals. Black, which is always proper, becomes really prominent in the color list for Fall, and nothing can be richer. Of the new shades that will be worn for Autumn, Sage, Oxford, Seal Brown, Otter, Walnut, Drake, Raisin, Cedar, Raspberry, Mahogany, Coal Dust, Copper, Amethyst, Egg-Plant, Prussian Blue, English Mustard, Carrot, Artichoke, Carob Poussier Grey, Chicory, Coral, and Bronze are among the most prominent. Navy Blue is an old reliable, and always considered stylish and in good taste. Fashion Notes in Millinery!

Just a few hints for the information of well dressed women who are watching to know what the styles are to be.

Will Hats Be Large?—Or will they be small? One might almost answer "yes" to both questions at once, for large sizes hold their own, and the large English Turbans are prominent. Yet Small Hats and Medium Sizes have been pronounced stylish by some of the world's best Millinery Artists. The Cavalier Shape is a medium style which has gained much favor.

Beavers and Silk Beavers are very stylish; also Moire and Bengaline Hats. White Kid Chamois, and fine leathers are fashionable for the hand and bow trimmings of street hats.

The New Millinery Shades are many and beautiful, but they must be seen to be appreciated, for the shadings are exquisite. Among the new and prominent colors are the Wine and Violet Series—Greens of many hues from Absinthe to deep Sea-green—Carrot, Shrimp, Coral, Cinammon, Gold, English-mustard, Raspberry, Prussian Blue, Corbeau, Mahogany, Persian Gray and Tete-de-Negre (a deep dull gray).

PROMISE WAS NEVER MADE

Warren Says Eighth Street Line Is Only a Possibility.

Open Letter to Members of Hillside Improvement Club.

To the Editor of The Duluth Evening Herald and the Central Duluth Hillside Improvement club:

Gentlemen: In the Saturday Evening Herald the following appears:

"As soon as the new Sundby road is completed the Duluth Street Railway company will extend its line from Fifth avenue east and Fourth street to Eighth street, and then eastward along Eighth street, according to assurances given the Hillside Improvement club by Manager Warren. This fact was brought out at a meeting of the club last night. Manager Warren told representatives of the club that it never was the company's intention to run a line along Sixth street, as was reported."

Several months ago I did tell a representative of the club that the company had no intention of building a line along Sixth street, and would probably never parallel its East Fourth street line within two blocks, and added that if any line were ever built in that section it would be farther away from the East Fourth street line, and probably about Eighth street. This is the nearest I ever came to assuring any one that a line would be built by the Duluth Street Railway company on Eighth street.

Recently our company was charged with "repudiating a tacit agreement" to build a line in Superior. If we should remain silent regarding our alleged "assurance" as to the Eighth street line we might later be charged with repudiating another tacit agreement. Yours truly,

HERBERT WARREN,
General Manager.

MOUNTRAILE TEACHERS FORM AN ASSOCIATION.

Stanley, N. D., Sept. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—The teachers of the new county of Mountrail, at a meeting held here Saturday, formed a county association the object of which is to promote the best interests of the schools of the district. The officers of the organization are as follows: President, C. A. Collins, Amanda; vice president, Miss B. M. Payne, Stanley; secretary, Miss C. B. Amley, White Earth; and treasurer, Miss J. Frink, Plaza.

IRON ORDERED FROM GERMANY LAST WEEK.

Dusseldorf, Germany, Sept. 6.—More than 40,000 tons of high grade pig iron for steel making was ordered in Germany last week for export to the United States. Prices in iron have risen slightly in the last few days, and a more hopeful feeling exists regarding the future in view of the steady improvement in the American situation. German iron manufacturers expect a considerable increase in iron exports to the United States owing to the reductions in the duty.

DULUTH PAYS ITS TRIBUTE TO ORGANIZED LABOR

and the electrical workers made good showings. The largest delegation in the parade was that of the carpenters' and joiners' union, which is one of the largest in this part of the country. All the members of this union carried canes of a uniform length and thickness.

P. G. Phillips, secretary of the joint Labor day committee and chief aide to Marshal Harney, headed the second division of the parade, his fiery steed prancing to the music of the Duluth Marine band, which came right behind. Then followed the tinners, plumbers, longshoremen, the drum corps, the bakers and confectioners, ships' carpenters, cigar-makers, lathers, stone masons and many more workers in delegations and assorted sizes.

The parade itself was trailed by a number of business floats, advertising various local institutions, some of them added zest to the occasion and gave happiness to the big troop of small boys, by dispensing, free of charge, apples, candy and other good things to eat.

The exact order of the parade as outlined by the Labor day committee follows:

Labrosse's Band.
Platoon of Police.
Speaker of the Day and Mayor in carriages.
Carriages containing City Council.
Chief Marshal M. J. Harney.
Federated Trades Assembly.
Women's Union Label League.
Steamfitters' Helpers.
Tailors.
Machinists.
Musicians.
Ore Dock Workers.
Tugmen's Protective Association.
Switchmen.
Building Laborers.
Steamfitters.
Typographical Union.
Tug Firemen and Linemen.
Team Drivers.
Butchers.
Iron Molders.
Boiler Makers.
Painters.
Leather Workers.
Printing Pressmen.
Structural Iron Workers.
Cement Workers.
Barbers.
Cooks and Waiters.
Blacksmiths.
Brewery Workers.
Steam Engineers.
Electrical Workers.
Horseshoers.
Carpenters.
Second Division.
Flaaten's Band.
Marshal P. G. Phillips.
Sheet Metal Workers.
Commercial Telegraphers.
Plumbers.
Stationary Firemen.
Tilesetters and Helpers.
Stage Employes.
Freight Handlers.
Drum Corps.
Bakers.
Longshoremen.
Cigarmakers.
Clerks.
Lathers.
Bricklayers.
Plasterers.
Stonemasons.

The parade and the arrangements for the rest of the day reflected considerable credit upon the Labor day committee, comprised of members of the various unions and of the Labor Pavilion association, which operates the workers' pavilion in Fairmont park.

M. J. Harney is chairman of this committee and P. G. Phillips is secretary. Other members of the committee are: P. Anderson, F. Hiedemann, I. Gilliland, J. Burke, L. Ewald, Sam Keilly, F. Mooney and S. Uhlean.

Before noon the parade had passed through the principal streets and the paraders and the watchers had dispersed to their homes for the noonday meal.

This afternoon at Fairmont park, which is the location of Labor pavilion, the rest of the Labor day program arranged by the unionists, was held.

The sub-committee in direct charge of this feature of the day's celebration comprises S. Hess, M. Tierney, L. Ewald, C. A. Newman and J. H. Powers.

The following program of athletic events is being under the supervision of the committee:

Event No. 1—Boys' running race (under 16 years of age.) First prize, $1.00; second prize, 50 cents.

Event No. 2—Girls' running race, 50 yards for girls under 14 years of age. First prize, 75 cents; second prize, 50 cents; third prize, 25 cents.

Event No. 3—100 yard dash. First prize, $1.50; second prize, $1.00; third prize, 50 cents.

Event No. 4—Three-legged race, First prize, $2.00; second prize, $1.00.

Event No. 5—100-yard-dash, open to all. First prize, $1.00; second prize, 50 cents.

Event No. 6—Fat Men's race, 75 yards, 200 pounds or over. First prize, $1.50; second prize, $1.00.

Event No. 7—Pie eating contest. First prize, 75 cents; second prize, 50 cents.

Event No. 8—Tug of war. Prize, $2.00.

The more serious side of the celebration of Labor day found its expression in the speech of A. R. MacDonald, the orator of the day. Mr. MacDonald's address was listened to by a large crowd. Mr. MacDonald spoke as follows:

Mr. MacDonald spoke as follows:

"Fellow Citizens, Ladies and Gentlemen:

"While I entertain the highest respect for the members of your Labor day committee I must confess they have left themselves open to severe criticism for the judgment they manifested in making the selection of a speaker for Labor day. Their action is the more inexcusable because they had a full demonstration last year of the gentleman's utter inability to measure up to the reasonable expectations of Labor day audience.

"Speaking for the gentleman himself, let me say that he would have been as well pleased had he been permitted this year to be an humble listener, conscientiously absorbing such thoughts and sentiments as might be delivered from this rostrum. But speaking in the first person, perhaps I better reserve my apologies until after I have done, as I apprehend I shall then be most sorely in need of them.

"My address last year was criticised as being too long and also for its dealing with the abstract too much and with the concrete too little. Today I shall endeavor to avoid giving occasion for either criticism. It is not easy for an individual to divorce himself from the methods of thought which prevail in his day. This is an age of abstractions. We have gone clear daffy on personifications. We personify qualities, conditions, and attributes, and then proceed to construct philosophies upon them as if they were actual entities having existence of their own independent of their substantives. All the religious, economic, industrial and political fallacies of our day move and have their being in this personification craze.

"That I may steer clear of falling into such error I have selected for my theme a subject with which I hope you are all familiar. I am going to talk to you about farming. Yes, I see some of you smile at the announcement of my subject, and no doubt wonder why I did not select some subject as labor injunctions, employers liability, the union shop, or some other phase of the trades union movement in your opinion more appropriate for a Labor Day address. Well, without in the least disparaging the merits of the questions named, let me say, that you all belong to the industrial class and of all our industries farming is the most distinctively American, and that is my only apology for introducing it. What suggested it was this:

The First Farmer.

"A few days ago, a full fledged farmer from Hermantown visited the Labor World office and waxed eloquent in extolling the supremacy of the agricultural life over all others. Incidentally he observed that the first born of the human race was a farmer. 'Yes,' replied a machinist who was present, 'and the same first farmer was the first murderer.' The farmer retorted quickly, 'as soon as he became a murderer he quit farming went into a country, and became a great worker of metals and then he was enabled to murder people indirectly without let or hindrance, and if any protests were registered against his actions, he could invoke the aid of the "powers that be" in enforcing silence and obedience to his murderous methods; and, his lenial descendants in this industry have followed in his footsteps as is evidenced by the recent unearthing of the Pressed Steel Car company horrors at McKees Rocks, Pennsylvania.' This shot silenced the iron man.

"My subject, then, is 'Farming,' and that I may keep my thoughts from running riot over too great a field in agriculture I have narrowed the subject to the topic embodied in the scripture quotation, 'That which a man sows shall he not also reap?'

"The argument of the question is easily understood, and the lesson to be inferred from it applies to every line of endeavor in which humanity can engage. Let us take sowing to be a collective term expressive of all the activities preliminary to and including the work of getting the seed properly implanted in suitable soil.

"These activities, as you know, will embrace, in our section of the country at least, the falling of timber, removal of stumps, plowing and harrowing of the land, etc. Let us say that the word 'reaping' means all that is implied in being rewarded with an abundant harvest. We may state as a general rule that if due care is exercised in the selection of seed and all the other conditions precedent are properly observed, the certainty of reaping an abundant harvest is practically assured; unless the interval between the sowing and the reaping something is suffered to be done that prevents it. During the time intervening between the sowing and the reaping the good farmer will exercise great diligence in such work as removing and suppressing noxious weeds, in protecting the growing crop against the encroachment of animals that would eat up its tender stalks and its vines, nor must he overlook the ravages to the crop that might be caused by a neglect of exterminating bugs and other vermin so injurious to plant life. All these contingencies and others that will readily suggest themselves to your minds are entirely within the control of the farmer, and the degree of mischief that can result from them is in exactly an opposite proportion to the degree of vigilance he exercises in subduing them. There may, of course, be a failure of crops from causes which the lawyers call 'acts of God,' such as storm, hail, drouth, etc., for which the farmer is not responsible and which he cannot control.

"These causes are never universal, are always local, and they in no wise affect the general proposition 'that as a man sows, so shall he reap.'

"Now, in the application of this principle to the wage earners of our nation, I shall lay down two certain propositions, the truth of which cannot well be gainsaid.

"First—Measured by a right standard of twentieth century compensation the worker in any vocation whatsoever who is industrious and economical, will earn means sufficient for the necessaries and conveniences of life, and have a good margin left as a provision for old age, sickness or other contingency.

"Second—On point of efficiency, industry and all those graces that go to make a competent and reliable workman the American wage earner has no superior in any nation on this planet.

Does Not Reap Harvest.

"Continuing the same farm analogy then the American wage earner does his sowing and all that thereto appertaineth in a manner that challenges the world for superiority, and yet we find that he does not reap that abundant harvest to which his painstaking care and labor bestowed upon the sowing would justly entitle him.

"It is clearly manifest then that the infirmity is not with the sowing nor with any inattention to the reaping, but that it lies wholly with some mischievous factors intervening between the sowing and the reaping. As I have already intimated the successful farmer is as vigilant to give his crop fair play after it is sown as he is in any other of his farming operations. Here is where the analogy between my good farmer and the American wage earner ceases.

"The American wage earner does not reap as he sows because he neglects the precautionary activity demanded in the interval between the sowing and the reaping. He sows well, but leaves his crop unfenced, and at the mercy of the cattle on the thousand hills.

"The noxious weeds of political corruption and special privileges he not only does not uproot, but lends his vote and influence towards giving them a firmer grip upon the soil. The tariff parasite which preys upon every ear of grain in his field, so far as he gives attention to it at all, is to support the men and measures that give perpetuity to the parasitical robber.

"And yet the American wage earners kick because they don't reap as they sow, forgetting that the realizing of the abundant harvest is just as much dependent upon after-sowing activities as upon the sowing itself.

"You of course, understand that sometimes there are local conditions, which the wage earner cannot control or remove, and which may prevent him from reaping the abundant harvest which is faithfulness and assidious toil would justly merit. We have a notable example of such a condition right here in Duluth. Our wage earners are not reaping the abundant harvest they deserve, and it is not because they are not paid high enough wages either. That's not the reason. I have a conviction founded upon a knowledge of affairs here that every industry in our city today is paying every dollar in wages that the industry can rightfully stand, and to force any of them to pay more than they now do would be to precipitate conditions harmful to all concerned.

The Problem Here.

"The perplexing problem in Duluth is not low wages, but the high cost of living that ails us, and when the question is sifted to the bottom I think it will be found that exorbitant rents are responsible for it all.

We have here a city of great possibilities. But what of that? Ireland too is a country of great possibilities but the rent racker has for centuries prevented prosperity from materializing there to any extent. I am not unmindful of the fact that so good an authority as Mr. Patton, attributes the slowness of our progress and development to another cause. I don't agree with him. It takes more than a mere boosting to prevail upon desirable citizens to cast their lot in a community where the cost of living is wholly out of proportion to one's earnings or income,—where the rent of dwelling houses, stores, and offices could be divided by two, and leave a quotent for rent as large as reason and good conscience ought to expect.

"High rents advance the costs of all the necessaries of life. Their influence is felt upon the price of every commodity. I am not going to locate the blame for the exhorbitant rental charges which prevail in this city. You are as competent to do that as I am, but the fact remains and will continue to remain, that people will not be falling over one another to come to Duluth so long as present rental conditions are suffered to continue, and captains of industry will show no desire to locate their plants in a city where their employes cannot live as becometh American citizens upon the highest wages the industry can afford to pay.

"So far as boosting is concerned no city of its size in this union has been advertised more extensively than Duluth, and when its natural and commercial advantages are considered no city deserves to be better advertised, and it is really too bad that its progress and growth should be sacrificed to the same cause that handicaps every city and country on earth where it is allowed to hold sway.

"We have an organization known as the Commercial club, whose activities for the advancement of the material and commercial prosperity of the city are being conducted along the very best possible lines, but what can it accomplish for the city's prosperity in the face of our enormous cost of living consequent upon exorbitant rents? The club deserves all praise for its endeavors, but the odds are too strong against it.

"But to return to the main question, I want to say to you wage-earners, you are never going to reap the abundant harvest your honest labors would merit until the time comes when no one can truthfully say of you, 'United they march; divided they vote.' I am not appearing as the champion of any political party, either Republican, Democratic or Socialistic, but I want to propound just one question. During the many long and weary weeks and months of discussion in congress upon the enactment of our present tariff law, what thought or consideration was given to the rights, interests or well being of the millions of our people who earn their living by the 'sweat of their brow?' To answer this question let me give a few excerpts from a speech delivered in the senate of the Unitd States on the third day of last month, by one of the Republican senators from this state, Hon. Moses E. Clapp.

"'When the tariff debate began, for a while I supposed that the isue involved in this revision was the mere issuse of rates as related to the question of free trade or protection. But it soon became evident that the matter of protection bore no relation whatever to this discussion. The bill was not framed to develop American industries nor extend the foreign markets for American products; that the broad principle of protection has been thrown to the wind and ruthlessly trampled under foot whenever it served a particular purpose to do so.

"'Men must ever rally around something as a standard. In a few days we began to hear the words free trade and protection. But it often happens that rallying words often befog and becloud the situation. Back of these words, which seemed at first to mark an issue, but subsequently developed as mere rallying standards, there gradually began to develop a force never before accentuated in the legislative history of this country. As we watched from day to day we saw this commodity or that commodity slaughtered at the hands of the forces that were driving this bill through the senate whenever it seemed to serve a particular purpose. We began to realize that protection had been abandoned, and in its place was the purpose to perpetuate, uphold and intensify profit.

"'The issue today, therefore, is not between free trade and protection, but the question is whether what was once a benign factor in American legislation shall now be used for the sole purpose of profits. You can trace the growth of that force in the genesis of this bill from the very start to the very finish of its formation and the process of its enactment. I assert again, that protection was thrown to the winds wherever it served the purpose of American interests to inordinately add to their profits.

"'The truth of the senator's statements is irrefutable. Through the negligence, division and scattering of forces, on the part of the wage earners of America they have no voice in the halls of legislation nor will they have until they shall have acquired sense enough to vote as they march together.

"'It is absolutely worthless and useless to waste any time denouncing corporations and trusts. They are the legitimate products of our economic evolution. They are here to stay until the exigencies of our industrial life shall cause them to be superseded by something else. A trust is only an aggregation of corporations, and a corporation is but an aggregation of individuals, and those individuals are usually of the average American stamp, no better and no worse. They look after their own interests, and see to it that their interests are not jeopardized by unfriendly legislation if they can prevent it. Their representatives frequently go too far because there are no representatives of the wage earners there to check them.

"'Ours is a representation government, and any class that is numerous enough to be represented but neglects its opportunity has no one but itself to blame.

"'Before labor can gain its rightful measure of industrial justice, it must make a more determined and emphatic advancement in the path which leads to it. It may be necessary, through the use of the ballot, and other orderly methods, to effect a complete readjustment of affairs, such adjustment as will result in staple employment at adequate wages for all who toil in any line of endeavor that benefits society. This can be done if labor uses its political power more wisely, more unitedly and more decisively, than it is now doing.

"'Labor, as every one knows, represents the unprivileged classes, and as such will fall in achieving results worth while unless it uses its political power to effect a more equitable administration of national affairs than can be obtained through representatives of the idle rich and privileged classes.

Labor contends that the ownership of riches is a relative and not an absolute right and that Uncle Sam in his sovereign capacity of government has right to say to the possessor of riches, "I am Uncle Samuel, I give character and prestige to your riches and I protect you in the enjoyment of them and you must use and administer those riches in a manner that will be just and equitable to my other subjects and if you don't do it of your own accord I shall see to it that it is done at your cost. I will apply to you the doctrine of making you reap as you sow." Labor also says that in the methods prescribed by Uncle Sam for ascertaining the facts relative to how riches are used and administered no one man, be his position what it may, shall be vested with authority to exercise at one and the same time the functions of complaining witness, prosecuting attorney, trial judge, petit jury, and court executioner. Labor contends that such an assumption of power savors too much of tyranny, and is in direct contravention of the American spirit of equality and justice.

The enemies of organized labor, and those who contend that the ownership of riches is absolute and not relative, for instance the National Association of Manufacturers, say that the owner of riches has a right to use and administer them as he pleases, without any regard or consideration for the rights of any other person whatsoever. That's the exact issue between organized labor and those who oppose the movement. Labor says that the rights of the public must be sacredly regarded; the others say the public be damned.

"Labor should not, and does not make war upon wealth as such. I take it that nobody but a fanatic or a fool wishes for the abolition of ordinary riches. What labor does say is that poverty and deprivation are reprehensible in a nation possessed of as much wealth as the United States; and that when such menaces are found to exist, and are continually interfering with and destroying a part of the human efficiency of a great and populous nation, preventing its best citizens—those who fight its battles in time of war and maintain its industries in time of peace, from reaping the abundant harvest their labors have earned, there is maladjustment somewhere. Organized labor has located it, has made good progress in removing it, but it shall never be wholly eradicated until the hosts of labor shall enter the political field in good earnest, pledged to the divine purpose of realizing the eternal destiny of the grandest and best government on the face of God's fair earth."

Dancing will be enjoyed at the pavilion this afternoon and this evening, when it is expected large crowds will participate.

In other ways the holiday was observed in the city. Most of the business places were closed all day and the workers enjoyed a complete day of recreation.

Many sought amusement at the boat club and its branches and on the water. Others went to the parks and the theaters entertained large crowds at special Labor day matinees. Box office predictions indicate that many people will relax at the theaters this evening.

Many strangers are in the city and the hotels and cafes are crowded. The visitors mingled with the large crowds on the streets, making the principal thoroughfares glad places.

A Fortune in a Chimney.

The chimney built by the Alphous Costodis Construction Company of New York for the smelter plant of the Boston & Montana Consolidated Copper & Silver Mining company, Great Falls, Mont., is by far the largest chimney ever constructed. If laid down on the ground it would form a tunnel through which three railroad tracks of standard gauge could be laid, side by side. The heaviest types of engines, each one coupled to eleven freight cars, could stand on the tracks without projecting from the tunnel end. LAST CONCERT OF THE SEASON

Immense Crowd Hears Third Regiment Band at Chester Park.

The Third Regiment band gave its last open air concert of the season at Chester park yesterday, and it was attended by one of the largest crowds of the season. Thousands of people were on hand. Every available foot of space within a long distance of the musicians was occupied, and the people grew enthusiastic over several of the numbers.

The program was one of the best of the season. All the numbers played were selected from the list prepared for the Minnesota state fair, and the musicians, individually and collectively, were at their best. The band, in charge of Director Jens Flaaten, left last night for the state fair, where it will be given a position at the head of all the other musical organizations, in recognition of its acknowledged supremacy.

Every concert this season has been a huge success. They have drawn thousands of people to the parks who would not otherwise have visited these beauty spots, and have furnished free entertainment to practically the entire city.

Proclamation!

WHEREAS, the highest Legislative Body of this great and prosperous State has very wisely directed that the first Monday in September of each year be dedicated to the honor of that large portion of our citizens, who, by their faithful toil, have supplied the dominant force in developing and making the great Industrial and Commercial supremacy which is ours in this country today;

IT BECOMES THE DUTY of every citizen to do his full part towards the proper observance of Labor's Holiday. I hereby request that, on Monday, September sixth, all industrial operations be suspended; that all commercial houses close, and that citizens generally turn aside from their daily avocations and all join together in paying a tribute of respect to that host of toilers upon whose success and happiness depends the future development and prosperity of our city. Let the Gospel of good Will Towards All Men be spread.

ROLAND D. HAVEN
Mayor.

FAINTS WHILE WATCHING PARADE

While watching the Labor day parade form on First street this morning, a woman, whose name could not be learned, fainted, falling on her face on the cement sidewalk. Two of her teeth were knocked out by the fall, causing blood to flow from her mouth and nose.

Friends picked her up and took her out of the crowd before her identity could be learned. She revived almost instantly and was not seriously in-

Sick Headache And Indigestion

The Former Is Very Frequently Caused By The Other.

The pneumo-gastric nerve connects the stomach region directly with the brain, and when the stomach is out of order the head is almost certain to be affected through reflex or sympathetic nervous irritation.

The headache o dyspepsia and indigestion is of every variety from the dullest and least defined to the most acute pain. Sometimes the whole mass of the brain seems racked with anguish; at others, the ache is confined to the back or front part of the head. The first form is usually of a confused character, and is often accompanied by dimness of vision, and a mild vertigo, or so-called "rush of blood to the head." The victims of this symptom complain of a "swimming" or "lightness" in the head, and dizziness, or a sensation of motion while the body is still, and specks, or flashes of light before the eyes.

Persons subject to indigestion and other forms of stomach trouble are very frequent sufferers from headache, and in numerous cases a sick headache is the only noticeable symptom of indigestion present; in others, there are stomach manifestations as well.

The majority of people regard this headache as a separate disease, instead of a symptom of stomach-disease, which it usually is; and they attempt to treat it separately, and make the mistake of endeavoring to obtain relief through the use of headache powders, tablets, pills and seltzers, the use of which is extremely dangerous, as many of them contain such powerful depressent drugs as acetanilid, phenacetine, antipyrine, caffeine, etc., which depress the heart, brain and nerve centers and lower arterial pressure; and many a person with a weak heart has become dangerously ill shortly after taking one of these headache remedies. They also interfere with the digestive processes, and actually make the dyspepsia worse than before.

In order to get rid of the headache of indigestion—and most headaches are caused by stomach trouble—one should endeavor to reach and remove the cause, and the headache effect will soon be relieved.

STUART'S DYSPEPSIA TABLETS do not cure the symptoms; they cure the cause of the headache, which permanently removes the symptoms. They digest every atom of food in the stomach, cure all forms of stomach trouble, and the headache, and every other disagreeable symptom and untoward effect is quickly gotten rid of.

Don't make the mistake of trying to cure your dyspeptic or nervous headache through the use of headache powders, tablets, etc. Use common sense, good judgment, and one or two of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, and you will be agreeably surprised at the rapidity with which the headache will be relieved and cured simultaneously with the relief and cure of the stomach disturbance.

"THE BIG STICK" IN RELIGION

Most Men Like It, Says Rev. George R. Gebauer.

President Eliot's "new religion" was the theme of a sermon preached by Rev. George R. Gebauer at the First Unitarian church, yesterday morning. Mr. Gebauer spoke, in part, as follows:

"Only a few weeks ago Harvard's grand old man, President Emeritus Charles W. Eliot, addressed the students of the summer school of theology on the subject of the 'New Religion to Come.' Though in the first place only intended for the few scores of students, this address has considerably stirred and agitated the religious world of America.

"In order to fully understand the message, we must know the man. President Eliot is a Unitarian with Unitarian traditions; his religious training, therefore, was thoroughly rationalistic. He is a man of science, hence his theological notions are clear and defined and opposed to any verbal mystifications. He is an educator in the highest sense, hence he takes a pragmatic attitude in religion. And these elements in his nature have been permeated by a spirit of religious sympathy, fostered by the free atmosphere of Harvard. For Harvard as a university, stands in religion for the very principles advocated by the liberal congress of religion. Its divinity school is open to teachers of various church affiliations; its students are religious nondescripts; the pulpit of the university welcomes preachers of all denominations. Here Presbyterian and Jew, Baptist and Episcopalean, Catholic and Unitarian may utter their gospel. And because they are met in this perfect freedom, therefore, the message of these men brings what the liberal spirit of Harvard demands.

"Even the bishop of Rome would preach a liberal, rational sermon in Appleton chapel.

"Now, listening to the freest minds of all denominations day after day, for President Eliot never misses chapel service in the morning, must naturally create in a man of Dr. Eliot's optimistic character the impression that indeed the old things are passing away, that everything is becoming new. It is natural to believe that whatever is inessential or is a hindrance to the free expression of religion will die before another century rolls around. It has been said, that there is nothing new about this new gospel. Of course not, for it has been preached from our Unitarian pulpits for a generation. It is the gospel of Jesus, as it is, the gospel of Micah, when he says, 'But what does the Lord require of thee?' To do justly, to love mercy and to walk humbly with thy God.

"It is most gratifying to think that Dr. Eliot, called the foremost citizen of the country by not a few, is proof of the claiming our gospel as the religion of present century. But after all, this prophecy must not be taken too literally. Dr Eliot's inductions are hardly sufficient to make him a reliable prognosticator. He does not see many things which must be taken into account, many factors which do not appear in Appleton chapel. In his moral enthusiasm for religion pure and undefiled, he does not see what a hold the traditional has upon the world. The severe criticism his message received makes this quite plain. We may fully sympathize with the great representative of our faith, but what Unitarian will not see that the very things we loathe are loved by millions? The very freedom in which we so devotedly believe, is the very thing which retards our progress, and the bondage which other churches so meekly bear, is their strength. Certainly the power of the Roman church and of Episcopallanism and Lutheranism, is to a large extent in their dogma and sacrament and authority. What to us is blessed freedom is to the churchman cursed anarchism. I am inclined to believe that most people like authority, though at times it may be irksome to them. Men are on the whole happiest when they are managed by others, and when their spiritual pabulum is prepared for them by infallible experts. Men in religion as in politics love the 'big stick.' This is the reason why the most dogmatic churches have the largest following and why the freest faith attracts but a few."

TAFT'S AUTO CAUGHT IN RURAL SPEED TRAP.

Newburyport, Mass., Sept. 6.—Four constables, operating an automobile "speed trap" in the adjoining town of Newbury, held up the presidential automobile Friday night for alleged speeding and detained President Taft a few minutes. The president was driving from Beverly to Haverhill to see Associate Justice Moody of the United States supreme court, who is ill in the latter city.

The constables who stopped the president's automobile did not recognize the occupants at first. President Taft expressed regret that his car had been traveling at a speed considered above the limit by the officers, and he instructed his chauffeur to drive slower for the rest of the trip.

COMPLAIN OF LAX METHODS

Woodland Residents Claim Quarantine Is Not Properly Enforced.

Washburn School Will Remain Closed---Protest to Mayor.

At a mass meting of Woodland and Hunter's Park held Saturday evening in the Glen Avon Presbyterian church, a resolution sharply criticising the health department for alleged lax methods adopted in the campaign against the scarlet fever epidemic, and calling upon the mayor to investigate the department to see whether or not it is efficient, was adopted.

Scarlet fever and diphtheria are still prevalent at Woodland and Hunter's Park, and people of that section of the city apparently feel that the disease would have been stamped out before this, had the health department properly attended to its duties. It was decided not to open the Washburn school for the fall term next Tuesday, when the other public schools of the city will begin their sessions.

The charge was made at the meeting that one of the department's disinfecting men fumigated the lower rooms of a house while those above, one of which was occupied by a convalescent patient, were not touched. E. F. Alford, who acted as chairman of the meeting, appointed H. B. Fryberger, Maj. H. V. Eva and T. W. Hoopes to act on the committee to present a copy of the resolution adopted to the mayor and to the school board. This committee was also empowered to take whatever steps its members deem necessary in the way of stamping out the epidemic. Supt. Denfeld of the city schools was present, and promised that the wishes of the community would be observed in the matter of keeping the Washburn school closed, although he personally favored opening it at the regular time.

Health Commissioner Patton says his department will stand an investigation, and that he will be glad to have it made. He says he is doing his duty and intends to keep on doing it, and asserts that the rules in regard to both quarantine and disinfection have been strictly enforced. The resolution adopted reads as follows:

"Whereas, scarlet fever has existed continuously in the vicinity of Hunter's Park and Woodland for several months last past, and conditions appear to be worse than at any previous time during the said period, and

"Whereas, the citizens of said communities feel convinced that the rules applicable both to quarantine and disinfection have not been enforced as required by law, and that proper effort has not been put forth to stamp out said epidemic now, therefore,

"Be It Resolved by the citizens of said communities in mass meeting assembled, that it is the sense of this meeting:

"First, That the school at Hunter's Park should not be opened until said epidemic is stamped out.

"Second, That the Hon. R. D. Haven, mayor of this city, be requested to at once cause a proper investigation to be made into the existing methods of the health department relative to quarantine and disinfection, and to cause strict quarantine to be maintained and more thorough disinfection exacted, and that the proper authorities at once employ additional and competent men to see that the laws applicable to the subject under consideration are rigidly enforced, and that such other steps be taken as may be necessary to entirely rid the community of such disease.

"Be It Further Resolved, That the chairman of this meeting appoint a committee to present one copy of this resolution to the said honorable mayor and one copy thereof to the proper school authorities of this city."

FORGED CHECK TO BURY BABY

Young Milwaukee Husband Tells Touching Story in Court.

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 6.—With his young wife clasping him in her arms and sobbing bitterly, Louis Scalle stood with hanging head in district court, heard himself branded as a forger and in a shaking voice told how he had forged the check because his baby had died and he had no money to bury the little body.

A hush fell over the courtroom at the sight of the young couple standing in the prisoners' dock, crushed and broken after the bitter, losing fight against poverty and temptation. They have been married but two years and were happy in their little home in Chicago until the boy husband lost his job.

Misfortunes crowded upon them after that. They became driftwood on the sea of life, washed hither and thither and finally cast upon Milwaukee. Then the baby died. It was the last blow, and nagging temptation won its victory.

Scalle forged and passed a check for $48 on the German-American bank.

Scalle pleaded guilty, admitted everything, and tried to be brave. So did his girl wife, but the strain was too much. She broke down, threw her arms around his neck and hid her face on his shoulder.

"O, Louis, Louis!" she sobbed.

Judge Neelon adjourned the case one week, for there is a possibility that Scalle's father will send him the money to pay Mrs. Mertz back.

WARROAD KNEW ECCLES.

Warroad, Minn., Sept. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—George H. Eccles, mentioned in the Seattle dispatches as the wireless operator whose heroism was the the means of saving many lives at the sinking of the steamship Ohio off the Alaskan coast recently, is well known here, having been employed a short while as operator at the Canadian Northern station a few years ago, and during that time made many friends by reason of his fine manly qualities.

The dispatches tell of how Eccles, while the boat was rapidly sinking, was calling other boats to come to their assistance, and hardly finished the message before he went down with the boat, which sank in three minutes. A large funeral was held at Winnipeg in honor of the young hero, the remains being brought there for interment.

RUNQUIST HOME AND RANCH

BEAUTIFUL FARMSIDE OF DULUTH MAN PROVIDED WITH EVERY CONVENIENCE AND COMFORT—LOCATED NEAR THRIVING VILLAGE OF GRASSTON, KANABEC COUNTY.

The Mora Times gives the following description of the home and ranch of John Runquist, the well-known contractor who has his headquarters at Duluth:

Through the kind invitation of Hon. J. C. Pope it was the pleasure of the writer to accompany him Sunday afternoon to the John Runquist home and ranch at Grasston.

Grasston, less than ten years of age, had its inception as a trading point with the building of the new "Bee Line" branch of the Great Northern. For a year or two Grasston was considered nothing more than a cross-roads trading post with a postoffice, hotel and one or two small stores; there was nothing inviting or attractive about the place itself except that it was surrounded by a beautiful, fertile and prosperous farming district. But then through the influence, determination and progressiveness of one man mainly, the sleepy little burg has within a few years been transformed into a hustling and up-to-date little village. For its size there is not a neater or better business point in the state than Grasston. Nearly every line of business is represented by shrewd and enterprising business men who labor in harmony for the growth, prosperity and all that is beneficial to their town in general. Grasston has good cement sidewalks, attractive stores, pretty residences, a starch factory, creamery, etc., and affords excellent markets for farm produce. Who was this man who put Grasston on the map; who gave it life and strength to develop its resources and build up its industries? The cry is universal: we doubt if a single voice in the territory of which Grasston radiates as a central point would say no to the name of John Runquist.

John Runquist, a contractor, with headquarters at Duluth, who operates extensively on the iron ranges in the construction of railroad grades and the stripping of iron mines, employing hundreds of men and teams, is the man who has made Grasston what it is.

This little place for some reason had an attraction for the railroad contractor, and he came and invested and built his town, purchased farm lands to the extent of several thousand acres, and established his home on a 400-acre farm adjoining just west but in full view of the village. This is Mr. Runquist's home and is occupied by his family, who are happy and contented. Mr. Runquist's operations in Northern Minnesota necessitate him spending a major portion of his time in that locality, but he has enforced a rule of spending his Sundays at least with his family at his home, and it is of this home and farm that we wish to give the reader a brief description.

We do not believe that John Runquist is making any money from his home farm, which he personally manages, and we have not the slightest idea that he has any such object in view, although it is as well conducted farm as there is in the state, under a high state of cultivation and produces bountiful crops, but it is his pleasure, his hobby and his home. At this home the Runquists have all the enjoyments of rural life combined with all the conveniences and comforts of the city, and they thoroughly enjoy it.

The home is equipped with a hot water heating plant, electric lights, waterworks and sewerage, in fact with the exception of the heat these conveniences have been provided in the barns and other buildings of the premises.

A landscape gardener is engaged in improving the natural beauties of the lawn and grounds, and another summer this will be a beauty spot to behold. A large cement fountain has been erected in front of the yard to be supplied by the waterworks system, and in the rear of the residence in a slight depression of the grounds, is found an artificial miniature lake, also supplied by the same system. Gravel walks lead the visitor gracefully about the grounds to its many beauty spots.

We then follow a cement sidewalk from the residence to the mammoth barn, which, by the way, is the largest in the country and probably one of the best arranged and equipped in the state. This massive structure is 80 feet in width and 128 feet in length, beautifully constructed and of the basement design. The basement walls are of Sandstone and the entire floor is of cement. This is divided into compartments for cattle, young stock, horses, etc. The cleanliness of this basement is a striking feature. Every device for the comfort and convenience of caring for the stock is provided. The barn is electric lighted throughout, waterworks and a sewerage system connecting with Snake river. A suspended track from the ceiling with small cars carry the manure to the rear where it is dumped into a manure spreader and taken to the field, being never allowed to accumulate about the stable. Mr. Runquist is a lover of good horses and always has a number in his stable. It might be said here that he owns no automobile and has no desire for one. In the southeast corner of the basement are fitted up rooms for employes on the farm. They are neat and provided with many comforts not enjoyed in the home of the average farmer. The second story of the barn reminds one of a mammoth amphitheatre. A small portion of its space is divided into compartments for grains, feed, etc., leaving a mountain of room as a hay mow. This mow will hold 480 tons of hay.

We leave the barn and visit the electric and motor plant, which is superior to that of many villages. A high grade gasoline engine furnishes the power for running the dynamo and pumping the water into a huge tank in the upper story of the barn. A storage battery is used and it is necessary to run the dynamo but a few hours each evening in order to charge this battery sufficiently to furnish lights both night and day.

The Runquist home is but a short distance from the Snake river where may be found a boathouse and a pleasure launch. The family and friends enjoy many excursions down the beautiful Snake to Lake Pokegama which is fast becoming a popular summer resort.

A visit to the Runquist home impresses one with the hospitality of this gentleman and his estimable wife. It matters not to John Runquist the position in life one occupies, your financial rating or social connections. The calloused hand of the laborer in overalls, be he a friend, is greeted with as hearty a handshake and is as welcome at his table as the man in broadcloth. The better acquainted one becomes with this gentleman, the more do you admire him.

NEGRO TRIES TO WRECK FLYER

Wedges Timbers in Water Trough---Section Men Find Obstruction.

Hammond, Ind., Sept. 6.—The lives of a hundred players on the New York Flyer of the Michigan Central railroad leaving Chicago before noon Saturday were jeopardized by the work of a negro who gave his name as Michael Durham of Terre Haute, Ind., The effort to wreck the flyer took place near East Gary, where the trains take up water by means of a scoop from a trough buried between the rails.

Section men discovered that heavy timbers had been wedged into the trough in such a way that when the scoop was projected to catch the water the timbers would be picked up and thrown into the wind of the coaches. The train travels fifty miles an hour over this trough, and had the section men not discovered the obstruction the train undoubtedly would have been wrecked.

The negro Durham was found skulking in the woods nearby and admitted his guilt. He was taken to Gary.

MRS. ROOSEVELT WILL MEET TEDDY AT KHARTOUM

Berlin, Sept. 6.—Adolf Mayer, a kinsman of King Menelik of Abyssinia, who is at present in Berlin with a commission from the Abyssinian government to purchase supplies, says that Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt has engaged a house at Khartoum, where she will meet her husband when he comes out of the jungle. According to Mayer, Mrs. Roosevelt intends to spend a couple of months in Khartoum early in 1910.

T. S. SWICK AND WIFE BOTH DIE OF CONSUMPTION.

El Paso, Tex., Sept. 6.—After the death of her husband, Travis S. Swick, just a week before, Mrs. Adeline S. Swick died last Saturday in the same hospital of the same disease.

Travis S. Swick served in the Spanish war with the Thirty-first Michigan infantry and contracted consumption. He later ran out of Duluth as a railroad conductor. His wife contracted the disease from him. Both came to El Paso for relief, but too late.

Beer and Temperance

Dr. Joseph Zeisler, of the Northwestern University of Chicago, says:—"I fully believe that the moderate use of good beer at mealtime, acts as a tonic and is, therefore, useful to adult persons. The chief point in favor of beer as compared with other alcoholic beverages is in the small percentage of alcohol, and in the fact that it is responsible for few drunkards, if any."

Andrew D. White says in his Autobiography: "The best temperance workers among us that I know are the men who brew our light, pure, American beer." Such a beer conscientiously and scientifically brewed by one of the world's best brewers is

HAWGOOD SINKS.

Big Boat Boat Meets Much Misfortune on Trip to Duluth.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Sept. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—While entering the upper Canadian canal this morning the steamer A. H. Hawgood struck the north pier, puncturing a hole in her port bow, and she sank. The Hawgood is close enough to the pier so that traffic is not interfered with. It is expected that she will be released tomorrow, tugs and lighters being at work on her today.

The Hawgood has been playing in hard luck this trip, one of her deckhands being drowned while she was tied up at a Superior coal dock.

De Graff Grounds.

Escanaba, Mich., Sept. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—The steamer Legrande S. De Graff ran on Sand point last night and is hard on the bottom. She was downbound with 11,000 tons of ore, having loaded at the St. Paul dock. The De Graff is one of the largest boats on the lake, measuring 585 feet over all. She is owned by the Western Transit company of North Tonowanda, N. Y.

Northern Queen Disabled.

The steamer Northern Queen of the Mutual Transit company arrived in port Saturday in tow of the E. N. Ohl. The connecting rod of the intermediate engine broke about 1 o'clock Friday morning, and upset the engine room pretty badly before it could be checked. The Northern Queen signaled for assistance and the Ohl responded. It is not known how long it will take to repair the damage.

Steamer Engineer Dies.

Calumet, Mich., Sept. 6.—Henry Scherer, engineer on the steamer S. L. Fryer of the Mitchell line, which is discharging a cargo of coal at Gay, north of this city, died suddenly while on board the vessel. He was 48 years old and his home is at Cleveland.

A COLD DAY COMING.

The recent drop in temperature with frost in the low places reminds us that the end of summer is nigh at hand. Is it not well to remember also that another cold day is confronting us—the winter of old age. No longer have we the glorious strength of manhood, nor the fat salary that went with it. Small incomes and long cold winters do not go well together. A grape fruit grove on the Isle of Pines not only gives us a fine income but an ideal place of residence. PUBLIC SCHOOLS WILL REOPEN

Vacation has but a few short hours to live, as the public schools of the city will reopen for the fall term tomorrow morning.

The teachers are in readiness, having reported at a meeting held at the Central high school Saturday, at which time Supt. Denfeld outlined in a general way their work for the coming year.

During the summer repairs have been made on many schools and the pupils will return to freshly polished desks and better ventilated and equipped class rooms to pursue knowledge during the ensuing nine months. Two new school, the C. C. Salter school, relieving congestion in the Jefferson and Endion district, and the Ensign school, relieving congestion principally in the Lincoln district in the West end, will open their doors to scholars for the first time tomorrow morning.

CONCERNING WOMAN.

The complete program for the local talent entertainment, "Up and Down Broadway," which will be given at the Lyceum theater Friday and Saturday nights and Saturday afternoon, under the auspices of the Twentieth Century club, has just been announced.

While members of the company have been rehearsing, the songs and dances for some time, the entire program is announced to the general public for the first time now. It follows:

Act I.

"An Indianesque."

1. "The Lament of the Indian"—Chorus of twenty braves and ten Indian maids.
2. "Come, My Indian Malden"—Miss Bessie Bailey and Indian pony ballet.
3. "The Legend of the Mojaves"—Sung by Miss Bailey and assisted in the pantomime by Mr. MacDonald.

Act II.

"A Little of Everything."

4. The Jolly Rough Riders—Chorus of twenty young men, and Mr. MacFadyen as soloist.
5. "After the Matinee"—Chorus girls, Misses Cunningham, Baker and Smith; the girl who has a "speaking part," Miss Senta Erd; the other girl with a "line," Miss Annie Hugo; the leading lady, Miss Rachel St. Clair; her maid, Miss Roberts; the soubrette, Miss Marie Agatin; the wife, Miss Senta Erd; the star, Donald MacDonald; the eight schoolgirls, Misses Schmied, Lovette, Pierson, Clarke, Richards, Patten and Woodbridge.
6. "I'm Looking for a Sweetheart"—Miss Jane Everington and Joe Lonegren and full chorus.
7. "They Always Follow in My Footsteps"—Miss Marie Clarke and her male pony ballet.
8. "Chick Song"—Miss Marie Agatin and Mr. MacDonald.
9. "College Serenade"—Walter Smith and full chorus.
10. "Jack's the Boy" (a nautical contest)—Miss Woodbridge, assisted by eighteen nautical lads and lassies.
11. "The Girl from Sherry's"—Donald MacDonald, and Miss Rachel St. Clair as the Boston girl, Miss Berta Schmied as a simple country maid, Miss Annie Hugo as a lady under a hat, Miss Senta Erd as a waitress from "Larrie's," the Messrs. MacFadyen as Bowery types and chorus of "Beaux et Belles."

Act III.

"La Fete Champetie."

12. "The Fete of the Flowers"—Entire company, and the flower song by Miss Bailey.

Vaudeville features:

13. The girl at the piano, Miss Berta Schmied.
14. "La Danse Eccentrique," by ten Pierrettes.
15. Miss Bess Watson, phenomenal whistler.
16. Donald MacDonald and his Broadway octette.
17. Finale, "Confetti" (arranged by George Schmied)—Entire company.

Mr. Leo Schmied, musical director.

The company numbers exactly seventy-five.

POSTPONE RECEPTION

Y. W. C. A. Will Entertain For Teachers in October.

The annual reception to the teachers of the city's schools will probably not be given this year at the Young Women's Christian association until some time during October. The reception in former years was given soon after the return of the city's teaching force from the summer vacation but this year it was thought to have it later after the hurry of getting settled in their new homes was past and the regular school routine started.

Friday evening of this week, Miss Pullar, Miss Case and Miss Patrick, the instructors of the school, will be the guests of honor at a reception at the building.

Mrs. Wesley Feetham, the general secretary of the association will leave Wednesday of this week for a short trip to Montana.

LEAVE FOR "U."

Duluth Students Are Returning to Winter's Work.

Entrance examinations for the University of Minnesota are in progress in Minneapolis the first part of this week, and those of the high school students who are required to take them left last night for the Twin Cities. A number of the high school students have to take examinations in entrance English, and the engineering department requires mathematics entrance examinations, so a considerable number of the coming freshmen are already on the campus.

An unusually large number of the old students will go down during the week, as the state fair is in progress and this gives an added attraction to getting back to the campus. Fraternity men are heading back toward school with a view to getting the freshmen lined up and starting rushing. Many of the others are going back early with the intention of getting a better choice of rooms and boarding places, for while their number is almost unlimited, the better places are taken early.

Personal Mention.

Miss Gertrude Carey has returned from Winnipeg and New York, where she studied the early part of the summer at Columbia college.

J. H. Sorgenfie Dies.

J. H. Sorgenfie, aged 49 years, died yesterday morning at his home, 614½ East Seventh street, of pneumonia. He leaves a wife and six children. Mr. Sorgenfie had lived in Duluth for the past eight years and has for the past year been employed as a teamster for the Duluth Brewing & Malting company. The funeral will be held tomorrow afternoon from the residence at 2 o'clock. Interment will be at Forest Hill cemetery.

Last Excursions Tomorrow.

Tomorrow will end The Herald excursions for this year. The Mascotte will leave at 8 a. m. for a 110-mile ride along the south shore and the America at 4 p. m. for a 60-mile ride along the north shore. Get tickets at Herald office.

Dies On Train.

While on his way to Duluth to undergo an operation here Raymond, the infant son of Alexander J. Hubbard of Chisholm died on the Duluth, Missabe & Northern train just before it reached Proctor Saturday afternoon. The body was taken in charge by Flood & Horgan, and shipped to Iron River, Wis., for burial.

A Good Samaritan.

Walter Murray, "chauffeur" of the police patrol wagon, acted the role of good Samaritan Saturday afternoon, taking Frank Moran to St. Mary's hospital in the wagon. Moran had fallen on some bottles near the Sixth avenue viaduct, and cut a huge gash in his arm. The officer bound up the wound, and took the man to the hospital, but by the time he arrived there, the wound had stopped bleeding, and the hospital authorities were unable to persuade him to stay and have the cut attended to.

Granted A Divorce.

Judge Dibell granted a decree of divorce to Beatrice Brandamour, Saturday afternoon. The complaint alleged that her husband is now confined in the Michigan state reformatory.

Labor Day Celebration

At Lincoln Park pavilion this afternoon and evening. Free dancing all afternoon. Best dancing floor in the city. Big dance this evening and electrical display at 8 o'clock. Tickets 50 cents. Di Marco's orchestra will furnish the music.

Fraternity Banquet.

Members of the Zeta Psi college fraternity held a banquet Saturday evening. There are a number of visiting fraternity members in the city, and the alumni here treated them to a spread.

McCoy-Alves.

Miss Mamie McCoy and Madison Alves were married Saturday afternoon by Judge Middlecoff of the probate court. Both are residents of Duluth, and they will make their home here.

A Near Panic.

A panic was narrowly averted in "The Jungle," the show being conducted at 14 West Superior street, Saturday night. The place was crowded to suffocation, and it is claimed the floor began to sag, causing some one in the room to believe that everyone was about to be precipitated into the basement. His fears were communicated to the rest of the crowd, and there was a stampede for the door. Several people narrowly escaped being badly injured in the crush.

Two Women Arrested.

Two women were arrested at 128 West Second street this morning, charged with being occupants of a house of ill fame. S. H. Elson made the complaint. He claims that he stayed at the house last night, and that he was robbed of $20, which he recovered, finding the lost money under a carpet.

TABLE KNIFE AS A WEAPON

Carlo Belardino was kicked out of the saloon at 625 West Superior street Saturday afternoon because he flourished an open razor in the face of the bartender, and a little while later Belardino's wife appeared in the saloon. She pulled a long knife from her stocking and made for the man behind the polished mahogany, but was overpowered and turned out into the street, where she was arrested by Patrolmen Shannon and Bradley.

The couple claimed the bartender had been saying some unkind things about Mrs. Belardino. The husband was also notified. The woman's weapon was a curious affair. It was an ordinary table knife, sharpened to a point and with a keen double edge. If the bartender had not been assisted by other men in the room it might have gone hard with him. The Belardinos were locked up on a charge of disorderly conduct.

MEETING IN NEW COURTHOUSE

Members of the bar of the Eleventh judicial district will hold a meeting in Duluth immediately after the call of the October calendar in the new courthouse.

This was decided upon at a meeting of the committee of the association, held Saturday afternoon. Supreme court judges and the officers of the state bar association will be invited to attend, and there will be a number of speeches by the prominent attorneys and judges of the state.

The arrangements for the meeting are in the hands of the following committee: E. M. Morgan, chairman; W. E. Richardson, Walter Dacey, Warren E. Greene and C. S. Mitchell.

FEW SCARLET FEVER CASES

The monthly report of Health Commissioner Patton shows that there are now thirty-seven cases of scarlet fever in the city. They are distributed as follows:

In the district between Lake avenue and Lester river, nine cases; two cases from Lake avenue to Twelfth avenue west; four cases from Twelfth avenue west to Thirty-second avenue west; one case in West Duluth; eight cases at the emergency hospital; and the remaining cases in the Woodland and Hunter's Park districts.

The report shows that during August there were ninety-eight deaths in the city, and six of these were accident cases. Fifteen infants died of cholera infantum. Nine tuberculosis patients died, and there was only one death from scarlet fever.

Two months ago there were about 160 scarlet fever cases in the city.

THE RISE OF LABOR.

Though labor has yet much to gain, it is a far cry from the old-time thrall who was as much his master's chattel as was a dumb beast of burden, to the stalwart, independent fellows whose particular holiday occurs today. Many are still riding free upon labor's back who have no right to be there and who do not pay their passage, but labor's eyes are open, and presently more parasites upon labor will be tumbled down to the ground to find, to their amazement, that they must labor to live.

One of the first recorded revolts of labor came, according to Pultarch, about 1180 B. C. Headed by one Menestheus, who appears to have been the original "labor agitator," the workers of Athens rose against the aristocrats to demand for the people the right to be initiated into the Eleusinian mysteries. The aristocrats held the view that laboring men had no souls, and therefore had no right to mix in with religious mysteries. Nowadays that view is not openly expressed, even though some employers, notably the concern at McKee's Rock, Pa., whose conflict with its oppressed workers is a present national scandal, seem to treat their employes upon that basis. This Athenian revolt indicates the existence of some understanding between the Athenian workingmen, even if it was not exactly a union.

In the time of Solon—about 600 B. C.—trades unions were common. Earlier than that, judging from Biblical references, there were unions; there were some in the time of Joshua, and certainly in the time of Solomon. Hiram of Tyre, architect of Solomon's temple at Jerusalem, brought with him from Tyre 3,200 foremen and 40,000 free artificers. Greece and Rome both had unions, though most of the historians of that day were too aristocratic in their leanings to notice such things. There is a curious modern ring in the inscription found at Pompeii stating that "the members of the fishermen's union nominate Popedius Rufus for member of the board of public works." Whether Popedius was elected or not the records do not show. Socrates was proud to declare himself a member of a union. C. Osborne Ward, who has given this subject careful study, the results of which appear in his book "The Ancient Lowly," believes that Jesus Christ was a member of a union, and he says that the Savior "proclaimed successfully to the world the brotherhood and equality which the unions had long preached and striven for in private." He says that the early Christian church was first developed where labor unions were strong.

While those who have ridden in comfort on labor's back have always declared the nobility of labor, in reality they have despised it, and have striven to keep it in lowly subjection. Labor is noble, indeed; it is the foundation of society and most of its superstructure as well. But never will labor come into its own until it has far more to say about the distribution of its products than it has today. Labor creates all wealth, and gets for its pains such scanty living as the usurpers choose to give it, or as it can wrest out of the interminable struggle between labor and capital by means more or less effective according to the power it is able to muster.

Taking it by and large, though labor has accomplished much, as the fact that it has a holiday of its own proclaims, it is still submerged so long as the property which is created out of the laborer's toil is congested in the hands of a few and is held higher by courts and legislatures than the human beings that create it.

THE ARTFUL DODGE.

Some two months ago William Jennings Bryan—he of Lincoln and of the battlefields of 1896, 1900 and 1908—dropped a friendly line to William H. Taft, president of these United States, suggesting that it might be a good time to take up the matter of amending the Constitution so as to permit the people to choose their United States senators, and giving the president the assurance of his heartiest support if he would take it up and present it to congress.

Now the president had stated, in his speech of acceptance, that he was personally inclined to favor such an amendment. If he favored it, he was in the best possible position to help it along. He was president of the United States, and congress was in session, ready to hear what he had to suggest. Naturally, Mr. Bryan seemed to think that it was not an inopportune time to take it up, and that it would not be considered intrusive if he suggested that it be then taken up.

All he got out of it, however, was a very polite reply, which he has just published in his Commoner. In it the president said: "I am not prepared to urge as an administration measure the submission of an amendment changing the Constitution with reference to the election of United States senators by popular vote. As I said in my speech of acceptance, I hardly deem this a party question, and as there is a very wide difference of opinion in my own party in respect to it, I think it ought to be presented to congress not as a party or as an administration question, but as a matter of individual opinion."

The president does not retract his expression in favor of the amendment, but he will not urge it upon congress. His only reasons appear to be that it is not a party question, and that there is a wide difference of opinion about it in his own party. It probably is not a party question; neither is the tariff, nor regulation of public service corporations, nor postal savings banks. Yet these are just enough party questions so that the organization of the Republican party is able to prevent any action upon any of them that will benefit the people. If the direct election of United States senators is a good reform, and if the people need it and demand it, the failure of the Republican president to recommend it and of the Republican congress to submit it makes it a party question because it puts the Republican party on record as being against it or, fearful of so positive an attitude, as being anxious to shelve it and put it out of public notice.

President Taft's reply is ingenious, but disingenuous. Because an issue is "not a party question" is not a good reason for refusing to face it, nor any reason at all, good or bad. Because there is a division of opinion in the president's party is a very poor reason for refusing to act upon the subject of that division; it is not a reason that would appeal to a man of courage and character and force: certainly it isn't the kind of reason that would appeal to Theodore Roosevelt, or that will weigh very heavily with the people of the United States.

A DISMAL FIASCO.

Of course everybody here at home knows what to make of the fact that the reception to the Minnesota senators and congressmen who voted against the Aldrich-Payne-Taft tariff atrocity has fallen through; but what are those in other states, who have looked upon Minnesota as a leader in the cause of independence and aggressive action for the right regardless of partisanship, to be expected to think of it? What conclusions will they be expected to draw from the melancholy fizzling out of the reception idea, which started but a little while ago with a great fanfare of trumpets and a huge beating of drums, and now dribbles out through a very small hole?

One thing certain is that it isn't going to make Minnesota look a bit more splendid and dignified and positive and self-confident and full of character than it did before. As a matter of fact, the tendency is rather decidedly the other way. Of course it isn't fair for outsiders to draw a prejudicial conclusion from this absurd incident, because the great majority of the people of the state had nothing whatever to do with it, one way or another. They hadn't the chance to have anything to do with it, even if they had wished it.

Putting aside altogether the question of the expediency and wisdom of getting up the thing in the first place,—for it is too late to talk about that now,—it seems quite certain that having started it, the only way to bring the state out of it with any remains of dignity was to go through with it to the bitter finish.

Just adopt the viewpoint of one not familiar with conditions in the state, for a moment; a man imbued with the spirit of independence who admires independence in others. He has noted that with one solitary exception the senators and congressmen from Minnesota did the will and met the needs of their constituents in so far as they were able by voting against a tariff bill that mocked the faith of the people and made a laughing stock of party pledges and of government for and by the people. He has thrown up his hat and given three cheers for a state that has produced so much independence and stalwart statesmanship—for he has probably lost sight of the fact that most of those Minnesota statesmen had helped to kill honest tariff revision at the beginning by voting for the re-election of Cannon. Next he observes, with kindling enthusiasm, that it is proposed to give a vast public reception to the congressmen who voted right—for once. "That," he says, "is in keeping with the whole splendid record, and it is worthy of a state that could produce such fearless champions of the popular rights."

And then, suddenly, he sees the whole thing go to pieces. The one man who failed to vote in the interests of his state kicks up a hullaballoo because the proposed reception is a slap at him. It IS a slap at him, and this outsider is glad of it; for that, too, is a logical and suitable part of the whole admirable incident. But then everybody connected with it begins to experience quaking stomachs, trembling will power, and cold feet. The friends of the one man who flew in the face of his people's wishes and showed contempt for his people's needs are powerful enough to overturn the whole program, and to turn the ratification that started out so auspiciously into a wretched joke that would make angels weep and fiends laugh.

What can that outsider think, except that he has done Minnesota too great honor in deeming her independent and fearless? He thought to see a state freed from the bondage of partisanship and doing and applauding the right regardless of partisan considerations; and here he finds a state that trembles and flees at the thought of party discord, turns tail in the face of the slightest opposition, and abandons its pretty plans in a panic when it is suggested that they tread upon the corns of a statesman who really deserves nothing so feeble as that, but a sudden amputation of his political head. The outsider's head is hung in shame for Minnesota—and he does not know that the fault is not Minnesota's, but that of a few weak-kneed zealots and the shattered remains of the old guard of bossism in Minnesota, given new courage by this, their latest and chiefest exploit.

BACK TO SCHOOL.

So you are feeling pretty blue about the outlook for tomorrow are you, little boy and little girl? Vacation is ended and tomorrow school begins, and it seems pretty tough to have to say good-by to the happy days of freedom and walk up tomorrow and submit to the chains of bondage for another year. You think of the pleasant fields and the woodland that have rung with your laughter and wild play; you drop a tear of regret for the fishing rod and the faithful dog chum that has been your companion through the vacation months; you dwell in misery with vain regrets for the vacation that is past and with dismal forebodings of the grind of the school year that is ahead. You have cherished these last days, parting with each one with solemn ceremony, for it brought you one day nearer to the opening of school. You think your fate is a hard one, and you wonder what schools were made for, anyway.

Well, you will know, some time. The day that you long for when you can finish with the bondage of school days will come all too soon; and if you think that your lot in life is a harsh one, turn to some wearied toiler who has left school far behind and ask him whether he would change places with you. If he could he would do it so quickly it would make your head swim; and maybe his willingness will give you some idea of how fortunate you really are, and of how you are passing through the joy-time of your life with so little heed to its delights that one day you will hark back with aching heart and wish you were back again to enjoy it as it deserves.

The north poles is ours, and the land about it; but let's not try to settle it until the vacant acres in Northern Minnesota are filled.

THE OPEN COURT.

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about live topics of general interest. Letters should not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer, though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective however.)

AN ANSWER TO MR. PYLE.

To the Editor of The Herald:

J. G. Pyle's remarks on my article on St. Paul newspapers in The Duluth Herald of July 17, are hardly germane. Mr. Pyle covers several points, but not the point. By imputing implications I never intended, he has placed me in a wrong light. Mr. Pyle must have done this inadvertently, for during an acquaintance of twenty-eight years I have always found him disposed to be just and fair.

I do not dispute his statement regarding the internal affairs of the Pioneer Press from 1881 to 1895. It was long after 1895, in a period concerning which Mr. Pyle admits that he cannot speak on authority, that the discreditable conditions I attacked became so acute. My criticism was based upon the news department of the paper rather than the editorial page.

I admired and revered the late Joseph A. Wheelock, the editor-in-chief, and cherish his memory. It was through no fault of his that the paper degenerated, for during the last years of his life he was shorn of the dominant power which he had wielded for nearly a generation. Mr. Wheelock's habitual attitude toward the news department was one of seeming if not actual indifference. His ignorance of the methods of general newspaper work was amazing. Practically his whole mind and every ounce of his energies were devoted to the opinion page. Not otherwise, with such a nature, could he have attained his distinction as the supreme Western editorial writer of his time.

In The Herald article I spoke only in praise of the late St. Paul Globe. Mr. Pyle proceeds to defend that paper as from assault. Can it be that he regards my blessing deadlier than my curse? When I said "chloroformed," I referred solely to the suspension, the killing, of the Globe. Why does Mr. Pyle try to make it appear that this humorous employment of the word I had the formulation and pursuit of policies in view? (Right here it gives me real pleasure to testify that in all my thirty years' residence in St. Paul, no newspaper here was ever managed more ably, wisely, honorably or successfully than the Globe was conducted by J. G. Pyle).

I am not given to entertaining "low suspicions" of my fellow-man or creating them in others. Suspicions, low or high, had nothing whatever to do with this case. I dealt with facts only; portrayed actual conditions which I knew to have existed. To deny their existence would be folly. There are too many living witnesses.

My only object in writing The Duluth Herald letter was:

First—To applaud and emphasize the new, wholesome, refreshing note sounded in St. Paul newspaperdom by the management of the Dispatch.

Second—To assist in making servile, recreant journalism so odious in the public eye as to discourage others from undertaking it in future.

It will be recalled that I did not fail to recognize the "new leaf" turned over by the Pioneer Press when it entered the field of the Dispatch under a new management. It is not true, as Mr. Pyle appears to intimate, that what I said was "based not upon knowledge." I spoke from a knowledge at once abundant and painful. The truth remains as I stated it—that for year after year the Pioneer Press went on suppressing news whose prompt and impartial publication was demanded by public as well as professional duty.

I knew exactly what I was talking about, and I will stand by my guns as long as I have legs to stand on.

JOHN TALMAN.

St. Paul, Aug. 30.

RENTS AND DULUTH.

To the Editor of The Herald:

I have been in Duluth for two weeks, and have been much interested in the suggestions made in The Herald as to how to make Duluth more attractive as a place of business and residence. During my stay here I have been brought into contact more or less with the class of men whose incomes would be described as "moderate," and it is that class that goes far toward making up the population of any city. I believe the things that interest them should be considered in discussions such as I have seen carried on.

Now one of the things that affects such men most strongly is the question of rent, and I have been surprised, and I believe that most of the business men of Duluth would be even more so than I was if they knew of it, to find how many of that class of men make their homes in Superior, though they work in Duluth. I came across so many such instances that I made some inquiries, and found that in all but two or three instances the difference in residence and business places was due to the difference in the rental rates between the two cities, which in one instance that I found amounted, I was told, to $40 a month for houses of equal comfort and convenience and equally good location.

As a matter of fact I found a number of cottages in Superior, modern in everything except heat, which are rented for $15 a month, a rate which I am told cannot be duplicated in Duluth, especially for anything near the same class of residence. One man, who is renting a nine-room modern house in an excellent location there, and is paying $25 a month for it, told me that his friends in Superior insist that he is paying an exorbitant price for the place, as rents go in that city.

Now, all this may be of no special interest or value to anybody, but it seems to me that it ought to be vitally interesting to those of you who are trying to find out "what is the matter with Duluth." These men who work in Duluth and live in Superior are making daily drains on Duluth's prosperity, for they draw their money here, and spend it there. If a man's income is $1,500 a year and it costs him $1,200 to live, virtually all of that $1,200 is spent in the Wisconsin city. He pays his rent there, buys his groceries there, his wife does her shopping there, and he pays his personal property taxes to that city. Duluth, meanwhile, gets perhaps the cost of his daily lunches, and sometimes a cigar.

Perhaps this kind of thing suits Duluth, but personally I cannot see how the city can be suited with such drains on its wealth. It may be there is no remedy for the "rent-robbery" as some of these people call it. That I have not looked for. But it does seem to me that if you Duluth people are in earnest about rooting out the things that are detrimental to your city, you ought to take up this matter and straighten it out somehow or other, if you have to build municipal flats and cottages to be rented to tenants at rates that they can afford to pay.

VISITOR.

Duluth, Sept. 6.

If Death Be Final.

If death be final, what is life, with all
Its lavish promises, its thwarted aims,
Its lost ideals, its dishonored claims,
Its uncompleted growth? A prison wall,
Whose heartless stones but echo back our call;
An epitaph recording but our names;
A puppet-stage where joys and griefs and shames
Furnish a demon jester's carnical;
A plan without a purpose or a form;
A roofless temple; an unfinished tale,
And men like Madrepores through calm and storm
Toil, die to build a branch of fossil frail,
And add from all their dreams, thoughts, acts belief,
A few more inches to a coral-reef.

—Henry Theodore Tuckerman.

The Blessing of Work.

Cleveland Plain Dealer: Almost any hearty young American, with a sound pair of legs, capacious lungs and a vigorous brain is to be envied above the Croesus who is obliged to lay down the burden of work at 60 and be a mere looker-on while his few remaining years spin out.

THE WEATHER.

Yesterday was one of the days that are making Duluth's fall weather famous. Scarcely a cloud appeared over the horizon all day, and the steady south breeze which prevailed made the day a truly delightful one in every way. Autumn was in the air, but the warm rays of the sun tempered it and made Duluth's parks and recreation places ideal pleasure spots.

The weather a year ago yesterday and a year ago today was bright and warm. The sun came up this morning at 5:34 and will set this evening at 6:39. This gives thirteen hours and five minutes of sunshine.

Mr. Richardson says of weather conditions:

"Slight barometric depressions centered over Lake Superior and Alberta, but they have not thus far caused any rainfall of importance. The temperature has risen slightly in the upper lake region, Minnesota and South Dakota. The barometer is high over the Central Valley states and Manitoba, cooler weather resulting in those districts. Generally fair weather is indicated for St. Louis and Douglass counties during the next thirty-six hours."

The minimum temperatures last night and the maximum temperatures during the last twenty-four hours were as follows:

	Min.	Max.		Min.	Max.
Bismarck	46	72	Madison	48	66
Calgary	44	80	Medicine Hat	46	78

Department of Agriculture, Weather Bureau, Duluth, Sept. 6.—Forecast for twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m. Tuesday: Duluth, Superior and vicinity, including Mesaba and Vermilion Iron ranges—Generally fair tonight and Tuesday; not much change in temperature; moderate winds, mostly westerly.

Chicago, Sept. 6.—Forecasts for twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m. Tuesday:

Minnesota — Partly cloudy tonight and Tuesday.

Upper lakes — Moderate southwest winds, variable; generally fair.

THE SCHOOL COMMENCEMENT.

Atlantic Monthly: I had a sore disappointment the other day. I went to a grammar school "commencement." Though it was hot, so hot that my coat cleave to the varnished back of my chair; though I could ill spare that particular afternoon; though I had forgotten to provide a graduation present—unheard of in my own era—for the young friend who had honored me with a card, yet I went joyfully, for, be it frankly confessed, I expected to hear the boys "speak pieces."

It was many and many a year ago,
In a kingdom by the sea,

that a certain freckled urchin in a front seat would wait in breathless ecstasy while one big fellow after another strode, sauntered or shambled to the platform, according to the degree of his courage, and there bowed, bobbed or ducked, according to the measure of his grace.

Then—oh, then! How the conscious globe in the geography corner would shake with the thunderous reminder:

At midnight, in his guarded tent,
The Turk was dreaming of the hour
When Greece, her knee in suppliance bent,
Should tr-remble at his power.

Or perhaps it's the young declaimer, his eye fixed on the upper corner of the blackboard, breaks into blood-curdling apostrophe:

Speak, speak, thou fearful guest!
Who, with thy hollow breast
Still in rude armor drest,
Comest to daunt me!

Of course at this modern solemnity I heard nothing of the kind. The children marched up and down and across the platform in a labyrinthine design, as if they had set out to weave a spider's web. Then they arranged themselves in a front row of hair-plastered boys, who sat, and a back row of white-frocked girls, who stood. Such were not the manners of my generation. Thus disposed, they sang a patriotic song or two, beating time with small flags which were passed around on a tray like refreshments. One very plump and very flaxen boy, perspiring freely, inadvertently wiped his face on his. Then we had a staid salutatory and several depressing recitations of commonplace, didactic prose. The reciters did not remember their paragraphs over well, but why should they? And who could? Who can learn "by heart" what does not speak to the heart?

A spiritless youngster obliged us with an extract, apparently from some school history of France, relative to Henry IV and his changes of faith. How the dead we would have waked up had he been set to shouting:

Now glory to the Lord of Hosts, from whom all glories are!
And glory to our sovereign liege, King Henry of Navarre!

I would rather have heard—should I blush to own it?—

Woodman! spare that tree, than the instructive fragment from a Popular Science Monthly article on the gypsy moth; and as for the description of an up-to-date battleship, I escaped from the monotony of that recital in surging memories of John Maynard, the undaunted helmsman, who was my earliest hero.

Am I the only man alive who, when solitude gives consent, mouths those simple, stirring stanzas through from start to finish?

'Twas on Lake Erie's broad expanse,
One bright midsummer day,
The gallant steamer Ocean Queen
Swept proudly on her way.

I will spare you the rest, editor, though you would love it too if you had learned it as I did, simply from hearing the big boys declaim it of a Friday afternoon. Perhaps you say it is not poetry. How can I tell? I know that it made poetry in the heart of a child. But if you do not care for my old-fashioned "pieces," are there no present-day poems to set young blood dancing and nerve young hearts to glorious resolves? Has the bethumbed, betattered "Speaker" gone forever out of commission?

Off Guard.

Philosophy of Epictetus: Those who have been fortunate in their parents and in their education, who have acquired good habits, and are not greatly disturbed by the affects and the passions, may pass this life calmly and with little danger even when the powers of the will are very weak and hardly ever exercised. Life with them is fortunately a series of habits, generally good, or at least not bad. This is the condition of many men and women. They are good, or seem to be good because they are not tried above their power, but if a temptation should suddenly surprise them when they are not prepared for it they are conquered and they fall. Even a man who has trained himself to the exercise of his rational faculties and has for a long time passed a blameless life may in a moment when his vigilance is relaxed when he is off his guard, be defeated by the enemy whom he has always about with him.

Home As a Summer Resort.

Buffalo Courier: Though not far from the sea, a Boston philosopher speaks a few words as follows, which may be a comfort to the stay-at-homes: "Go to the beach? No! Not any! Home and mother and pajamas for ours. Our own bed and cellar, our own bathtub and back yard are a blamed sight better than a doghouse on the sand or a berth in a summer hotel, where you hear a man snoring ten rooms away, and where you wash in a tin cup, eat in a fly-blown barn, suffer from heat and fleas and have no more privacy and peace than a cop on a Washington street crossing. Beach? G'wan!"

MINNESOTA OPINIONS.

Austin Transcript: The people demanded a revision of tariff on manufactured goods and instead got a reduction of raw material and an increase on manufactured goods. This enables the manufacturer to get his material cheaper and at the same time raise his price to the consumer. He evidently gets it both going and coming.

Anoka Union: As a money producer, the potato doesn't have to take a back seat for any other crop.

Albert Lea Tribune: In punishing the insurgents who voted against his autocratic rules, Speaker Cannon is sowing the wind, and in a few years he and his fellow standpatters will surely reap the whirlwind, as the progressives will increase in number and the time is not far distant when the old oligarchy that has so long controlled legislation will be down and out and better conditions will prevail. To the average plain, American citizen this change cannot come too soon, as there has been a period of great trial and tribulation.

Winona Independent: Now that Alaska has developed a full sized scandal connected with coal lands her place as an integral part of this great nation seems to be secure. When Seward bought the mass of ice and snow he little imagined the heights of civilization to which it should rise.

Red Lake Falls Gazette: Apropos of the "jokes" of the tariff bill, the St. Cloud Times thinks that one of the largest is the signature of William H. Taft.

Litchfield Independent: Hammond, the Democrat, and Davis and Lindbergh, Republicans, are the only Minnesota congressmen who consistently opposed the Aldrich bill. True, other members from this state voted against the bill on its final passage, all except Tawney of Winona, but they voted for Cannon, and all that is implied by that act. Had their votes been needed to put the Aldrich bill through the house, they would probably have voted that way.

Albert Lea Standard: Ask Senators Nelson and Clapp and the suddenly insurgent Republican congressman how they stand on the Aldrich scheme for a "central bank." The time to put them on record is before instead of after it happens.

St. Cloud Journal-Press (Rep.): Governor Johnson has been three times elected governor of the best state in the Union, and he has been operated on three times for appendicitis. The doctors say he must undergo a fourth one. Does this mean that he will be elected governor for the fourth time? We sincerely hope that he will recover from the next operation speedily. Personally, he is one of the most likable of men, and we wish him long life and vigorous health.

"Cleon and I."

Cleon hath a million acres, ne'er a one have I;
Cleon dwelleth in a palace, in a cottage I;
Cleon hath a dozen fortunes, not a penny I;
Yet the poorer of the twain is Cleon, and not I.

Cleon, true, possesseth acres, but the landscape I;
Half the charms to me it yieldeth money cannot buy.
Cleon harbors sloth and dulness, freshening vigor I,
He in velvet, I in fustian, richer man am I.

Cleon is a slave to grandeur, free as thought am I;
Cleon fees a score of doctors, need of none have I;
Wealth-surrounded, care-environed, Cleon fears to die;
Death may come, he'll find me ready—happier man am I.

Cleon sees no charms in nature, in a daisy I;
Cleon hears no anthems ringing in the sea and sky;
Nature sings to me forever, earnest listener I;
State for state, with all attendants, who would change? Not I.

Protection for American Labor.

Puck: Now and again in the whirlpool of economic poppycock, truth gets a chance to lift up its head. President Hoffstot of the Pressed Steel Car company, whose employees are on strike, makes this statement: "The 1907 rates have nothing whatever to do with what we pay the men today. We buy labor in the cheapest market." Let us repeat this. It is a good thing to remember. This highly-protected, tariff-coddled corporation "buys labor in the cheapest market." The American consumer is denied that privilege when he buys food and clothing. The United States, when it sought supplies for the Panama canal, was denied it. But nothing, please observe, must interfere with the corporation's right to entire freedom when labor is the commodity to be bought. Then it becomes an adamantine matter of "supply and demand," the unhampered operation of natural law. Incidentally, the labor which this Pittsburg concern has been in the habit of buying is not even American labor, thousands being Slavs who do not speak the English language. The way in which a monopolistic tariff protects American workmen from foreign cheap labor is, therefore, given a vivid illustration in that very citadel of high protection, Pittsburg.

Reflections of a Bachelor.

New York Press: Flirting is second nature to most women, and first to the rest.

Girls need lots of exercise, except at helping mother around the house.

The average man is your very good friend till he has a chance to prove it.

A woman likes to go on a tour, if it's only across the street to ask how a neighbor's baby is.

A woman can have absolute faith in her prayers to keep her from harm and yet climb up on a table to say them when she thinks a mouse is in the closet.

Pointed Paragraphs.

Chicago News: Even a physician can't tell what ails a wagon by looking at its tongue.

It's far better to let the other fellow convince you than to go to the hospital.

If every man was rewarded according to his merit, where do you think you would come in?

Haven't you often wondered why the grocer carries so many things in stock that you never ask for?

Even the man who isn't self-made may have something else to boast of that will make people just as weary.

Many a mother thinks it all right for her daughter to marry money if it will enable her to help take care of her folks.

MEANT TO BE FUNNY.

Chicago Tribune: "You little hound!" snapped the multi-millionaire's vixenish wife.

"Oh, well," he said, yawning drearily, "I suppose everybody knows I lead a dog's life."

Puck: Judge—That lady declares that you hugged her at the baseball game.

The Accused — Couldn't help it, judge. She was sitting next me when one of our boys swatted a homer over the left field fence!

Louisville Courier-Journal: I would not care to have a $2 graduating gown."

"But it might get you a husband."

"Well, I'd hate to have to dress the rest of my life on a precedent like that."

St. Louis Post-Dispatch: Eve was a little out of sorts. "It is intolerable," she said.

"What is intolerable?" he asked.

She sank upon a stone in sheer despair.

"Just think," she said, "there is no other woman's husband with whom I can make invidious comparisons."

Washington Star: "Excuse me," said the collector, "but I must call your attention to this account. It has been running for some time."

"Well," answered the genial but irresponsible person, "let's not disturb it. Maybe it will land a Marathon record."

Detroit Free Press: "How is the June bride getting along?"

"Splendidly. She's only got two more pickle dishes to exchange, and then she'll be all through."

Chicago Daily News: "But you spent enough money on me before we were married," protested his wife.

"True, my dear," replied her husband. "I had it to spend then."

Judge: Willie—You was bein' discussed in the kitchen today, Mr. Stoptill-dawn.

Sister's Suitor — When was this, Willie?

Willie—Just after the gas man called.

Chicago News: Mrs. Naggins—May I stay at the Thousand Islands this summer, dear?

Naggins—Yes, stay a week on each of 'em!

St. Louis Times: Stage Manager—But you laughed in the death scene. You mustn't do that.

Actor—With the salary you give me I can only greet death with joy.

Philadelphia Record: To keep the pot boiling it isn't necessary to have money to burn.

Ratification Meeting Abandoned.

St. Paul Pioneer Press: The committee in charge of arrangements for the proposed ratification meeting in honor of the Minnesota delegates in congress who voted against the Payne-Aldrich tariff bill formally have decided to abandon the ratification.

The Pioneer Press is convinced that the committee and those most directly interested have taken the sentiment of politicians for the sentiment of the people of Minnesota in determining to forego the voicing of appreciation of the action of the Minnesota members of congress in opposing the tariff bill which pleases none but the already over-protected manufacturers of the East. The members of the delegation in whose honor the ratification was planned have, through what may be politely called an excess of modesty, sided with those opposing the ratification, and apparently there was nothing left for the committee in charge but to abandon its plans for the meeting.

We regret the decision of the committee, because we are convinced that 90 per cent of the voters of Minnesota warmly and unqualifiedly approve of the course taken by the members of the congressional delegation who voted against the unsatisfactory tariff bill. Public ratification of the course of these members would have served notice on the standpatters and the trust protectors that Minnesota and the Northwest cannot be counted upon in future legislation to foster and encourage the plans of the over-protected interests to fatten at the expense of the people. The failure to give this public indorsement will, we believe, make it more difficult for the real friends of tariff reform to make their influence felt in opposition to Aldrichism and Cannonism—an influence that must be felt and made effective to the point of making congress representative of the United States instead of confining its representation to Rhode Island and Wall street. The politicians may have gained a temporary advantage by the defeat of the ratification plans, but it remains to be seen if their victory is lasting when the people are given an opportunity to pass upon it.

He Did His Part Thoroughly.

Judge: In order to avoid an argument with a woman suffragist on the subject of her hobby, a happy bachelor gallantly acquiesced in the truth of her assertions.

"But, sir," sternly remarked the spinster, "your admission is anything but creditable to you. What, for instance, have you ever done for the emancipation of woman?"

"Madam," responded the gentleman with a polite smile and a bow, "I have at least remained a bachelor!"

University School

We offer to the people of Duluth a school with the following advantages: Small classes; college-trained teachers; pupils, except in the primary grades, taught by men; no need of following a formal course of study; pupils advance as rapidly as ability for preparation warrant; nature study, experimental science, water color; free hand and mechanical drawing; manual training. The Principal will call on interested parties, or they may call 707-L, old 'phone. Term begins September 7.

THE BISHOP LAYS STONE

Conducts Ceremony at New St. James' Orphanage at Woodland.

New Structure Will Provide Home for Two Hundred Children.

Bishop James McGolrick of the Roman Catholic diocese of Duluth laid the cornerstone of the new St. James orphanage yesterday afternoon at Woodland before a crowd of 1,500 persons.

The construction of the building is well under way and when completed will furnish a home and instruction for 200 children, supplanting the old building in the West end that has been used as an orphanage for many years.

Many Catholic societies marched from the end of the car line to the orphanage grounds and a number of clergymen accompanied the bishop and assisted him in the ceremonies.

In a short speech incidental to the laying of the stone, Bishop McGolrick spoke of real charity and that style he described as "modern plagiarism." He spoke of the nobility of charity of the right sort and had nothing but scorn for those who gather together, discuss the uplift of the race and then adjourn to dinner with no more thought of men's misery.

He spoke of the sacrifices of the young women who give up the pleasures of life to enter the nunnery and devote their lives nursing the sick or instructing unfortunate children in just such institutions as the orphanage.

The bishop praised the generosity of those whose contributions made possible the erection of the new building and the clergy and laity who devoted many hours of their time to a furtherance of the welfare of the school.

In the cornerstone were placed a parchment in Latin, giving the names of the pope, the bishop and other clergy who were present, the members of the board in charge of the orphanage, and the names of the principal givers, the trowel which the bishop used, a few coins, and copies of the local newspapers.

The new building stands on a 40-acre tract bought by the bishop when he first came to Duluth. For years he has had in mind the erection there of an institution like St. James orphanage and it was largely through his untiring efforts that it became possible.

Of brick and stone and four stories high, the new building will cost about $120,000.

Not only children whose both parents are dead will be cared for, but as well those who have one parent living, but in such circumstances as do not permit of properly caring for the child.

"Does any one doubt," declaimed Mr. Aldrich in the senate one day, "that if the Conservatives should come into power in England, they would adopt the policy of protection?"

Well, at least no one about this great manufacturing center seems to doubt it, and for that very reason some seven-eighths or more of the population are going to do all they can to keep the Conservatives from coming into power. I don't know what the sentiment in other parts of England is, but I purpose to find out before I leave this island; but there isn't a ghost of a chance among these cotton manufacturing people for any candidate who proposes to "revise the tariff upward," and it can't be revised downward very well.

I have been trying to get at the real nature of this sturdy, stolid, stupid Englishman I have been hearing about all my days—John Bull and Tommy Atkins, the "Ah-extraawdinary—don'cher know" fellow I have seen on the stage, and all the rest. They all really exist, and I run across them every day. So far I haven't even thought of those who live in the castles and wear titles and high hats—they are so few and so relatively unimportant. Day before yesterday I went to a cricket match; yesterday afternoon to a political meeting and last night to a vaudeville show.

They were all funny, the least being the vaudeville show, which was intended to be funny. But the cricket game and the political meeting—oh, my!

Cricket and Baseball.

This is the height of the cricket season in England. Cricket matches are going on all over the country. The greatest interest is manifested in these games—more, if possible, than in baseball in America. Down in London, parliament is daily debating the subject of the tariff, and while the London papers, taking their statesmen a little more seriously than we do in America, print long reports, even giving most of the speeches verbatim, so far as I have been able to figure out, in the public mind parliament holds about the same position of unimportance relative to cricket as, in America, congress does to baseball.

But what do you suppose they do on the grnadstands and on the side lines, these thousands and thousands who attend, when a good play is made? Holler, yell through megaphones, root? Not on your knickerbockers. They sit still, smoke their pipes, and clap their hands. I thought they would at least shout "Hear—hear—heac—hear!" when a fellow knocks the ball to the fence and so scores what in cricket is the equivalent of a home run. But no, sir!

Next to me on the grandstand—but don't you call it a "stand" in England; that word here means what it says, and if you buy a ticket to the "grandstand" you will have a grand stand, sure enough; you will have no place to sit down. Well, next to me in the "pavilion" sat a very cordial and agreeable English gentleman, to whom I remarked when a superb play was made that if it had been in America there would have been no such handclapping as that.

"Would not be any hand-clapping?" he asked in surprise. "And, pray, would not they applaud at all?"

"Oh, yes," said I, "but they would yell worse than forty thousand wildcats."

Dignity in the Icebox.

"Ah, indeed!" he said, eyeing me closely, but very moderately, "but—ah—would not that be a little—ah—boisterous—say—ah—somewhat undignified, don't you think?"

I told him people leave their dignities at home, in the drawing room or the icebox, when they go to a baseball game.

"In the drawing room! In the icebox! How very extrawd'n'ry!"

I became very well acquainted with this gentleman, by the way. It is easy to get acquainted with Englishmen of all classes, they are generally so cordial and frank. This one chanced to be a large gas stove manufacturer. He sells gas stoves to people in England and on the European continent for about $12, while the same stoves, a little inferior—for the English make good stoves and not shoddy ones—costs in America from $30 to $40. The stoves he sells for $12 (retail) have four gas burners on top and two in the oven. They are made of the best material and with superior workmanship. See how much such a stove or range—in England they are called "cookers"—but see how much you can get one for in your town. Of course, in America, as here, the gas companies frequently rent them at a nominal rent, or even lend them, to get people to use them.

There is an American trust which controls the price of gas stoves in America, and is even trying to drive out of business in Europe this English concern. And if you will sit up a few nights tracing out the stove joker in the new tariff law you will find it under some such head as this: "Forgings of iron or steel not otherwise provided for, 30 per cent."

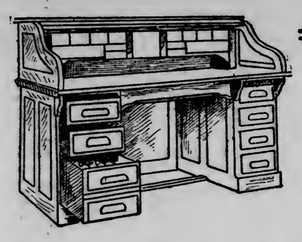

I may have more to tell about stoves before I get through.

And what has all this to do with the cricket game, the political meeting, and the vaudeville show?

Figure it out for yourself. It was at the cricket game that by chance I got acquainted with the stove man.

And later I'll tell you more about cricket, too.

WILL SEEK FARMERS' AID.

the farmers themselves will be called upon to help push the statistical plow over the country-wide field of farm data.

It will be suggested by Director Durand to the farmers that the work of securing accurate returns at the coming census of agriculture, which will be taken April 15, 1910, at the same time as the count of population, will be greatly facilitated if the farmers will keep or provide some sort of written record of their farm operations during the year 1909.

Want Farmers to Help.

This effort to secure the farmers' personal co-operation is but one of a number of ways and means chosen in the effort to secure an accurate, expeditious and economical census concerning population, agriculture, manufactures, mines and quarries, which are the subjects of inquiry defined in the census law.

Great good, it is expected, will be accomplished by getting into direct contact and co-operation with the farmer. Some of the instrumentalities which will be used to reach him and which promise practical results are the state commissioners and state boards of agriculture, the state agricultural colleges, the farmers' unions, the patrons of husbandry, the farmers' institutes and the agricultural experiment stations—in fact, all the existing organizations for the education and betterment of farmers, while the public press will be an important factor in this week. It is estimated that millions of farmers will be reached at their homes or at their mutual improvement meetings by the contemplated method of circulating preparatory information.

Inventory Farm Supplies.

The questions about farm operations will relate to the present calendar year, 1909, but on the other hand, the inquiries regarding farm equipment are directed toward the farmers' possessions of this kind on the day and date of the enumeration, April 15, 1910. The latter division of inquiry really amounts to an inventory. The necessity of some written or permanent record by the farmers themselves of farm operations is obvious, and its value in furnishing data more reliable than guess work is equally evident.

In order that the farmers may begin at once, Director Durand indicates as follows what operations are to be recorded, although the schedule is still incomplete in shape.

Questions for Farmers.

"Each person in charge of a farm will be asked to state the acreage and value of his farm; that is, the acreage and value of land kept and cultivated by him; also the area of land in his farm covered with woodland; and finally, that which is utilized for specified farm purposes.

"Each farmer will be asked to give the acreage, quantity produced and value of each crop, including grains, hay, vegetables, fruits, cotton, tobacco, etc., raised on the farm in the season of 1909.

"Each farmer will be asked to report the number and value of all domestic animals, poultry and swarms of bees on the farm on April 15, 1910; also the number and value of young animals, such as calves, colts, lambs, pigs; and of young fowls, such as chickens, turkeys, ducks, etc., raised in 1909.

"He will be further asked to state the number and kind of animals sold during 1909 and the receipts for such sales, the number purchased and the amount paid therefor; and also the number slaughtered for food and the value of such animals.

Milk, Butter and Cheese.

"The law requires a report of the number of cows kept for dairy purposes in 1909, and the total estimate of the amount of milk produced on the farm; also the amount of butter and cheese sold and the amount received from such sales.

"In addition to the inquiry regarding animals on the farm April 15, 1910, the census will seek to ascertain the quantity and value of all eggs, honey and wax produced on the farm in 1909.

"Of the expenditures of the farm, the census schedule will call for a statement of the amount paid farm labor; the amount paid for food for livestock; and the amount expended for fertilizers.

"If the farm changes owners or tenants between the crop year, 1909, and the date of enumeration, it is requested that the occupant of the farm in 1910 shall secure the above information relating to the farm for the year 1909. The owner or tenant this year shall leave his book record with his successor."

For Census Use Only.

Farmers need not fear that the information they give to the census enumerators will be used in any way to their detriment, as the census act provides that the information shall be used only for the statistical purposes for which it is supplied.

"No publication shall be made by the census office whereby the data furnished by any particular establishment can be identified, nor shall the director of the census permit any one other than the sworn employes of the census office to examine the individual reports," is the way the law reads.

Furthermore, the information reported on the agricultural schedule will not be used as a basis of taxation or communicated to any assessor.

Refusals to answer questions asked by the census enumerators are made illegal and a penalty is provided for this as well as for the giving of false answers to the inquiries. Fines and imprisonment or both in cases of violation of the secrecy imposed upon supervisors, enumerators, special agents and other employes of the census office is provided in the act.

Investment of $20,514,001,838.

The importance of the agricultural census hardly can be overestimated, since the total fixed capital invested in agricultural pursuits in 1900 was more than four times that of manufactures of the country, the total being $20,514,001,838. It is estimated by a process of calculation called "arithmetical progression," the method chosen by the census bureau, that next year's census will show almost 200,000 more farms in operation than in 1900, with a total in round figures of about 6,000,000.

Prof. Powers, chief statistician of the census office, estimates that the 1910 census will show an increase of several millions in the number of people employed on the farms of the country. In 1900 there were 10,433,188 males and females over 10 years of age engaged in agricultural pursuits.

Soil Not Wearing Out.

Soils of the United States are not wearing out and the crop yields are rather increasing than decreasing. These facts are demonstrated in a bulletin shortly to be issued by the bureau of soils of the agricultural department, prepared by Prof. Milton Whitney, chief of the bureau. The bulletin deals exhaustively with the yields of crops from 1867 to 1906 inclusively.

"A careful study of the data which has been presented appears to justify two conclusions," says Professor Whitney.

"First—That the productivity of the newer agricultural soils of the United States, and of the older agricultural soils of Europe, taken as a whole and for the nation, are not declining, as is popularly supposed. Individual farms deteriorate and soils wear out, as they have always done, but as a whole it seems probable that we are producing more crops per acre than formerly. This is undoubtedly due to many factors; to better and more intelligent cultivation, more and better systems of rotations of crops and in later years, to the intelligent use of fertilizers through measures of control in the hands of every individual farmer.

More Stock Raised.

"In addition we must recognize the increase in farm animals and stock, the improvement in seed by selection and breeding, and increased intensity of population, which is forcing attention to more intensive methods.

"Second—That so far as our information goes there is apparently no significant difference at the present time between the composition of the old agricultural soils of Europe and the newer agricultural soils of the United States with respect to potash, phosphoric acid, lime and magnesia."

AUTOMOBILE ORDINANCES

They Will be Reconsidered by the Common Council.

This being Labor day there will be no council meeting tonight. The regular weekly meeting will be held tomorrow night. Aside from the traffic and automobile ordinances, which will be returned without the mayor's signature, so that slight alterations may be made, nothing of special importance is scheduled to come before the aldermen.

At the last meeting of the city fathers an ordinance requiring the payment of a $5 license fee to the city by every one who drives an automobile on the local streets, and another fixing the fares that may be charged by "for hire" automobiles, were passed. Mayor Haven thinks the license fee too high, and believes a different schedule of fares should be prepared.

DULUTH TAKES SECOND PLACE

Many Men Given Employment by the State Bureaus.

During the month of August the Duluth state free employment bureau furnished employment to 1,818 men and 254 women, a total of 2,072 for the month. Minneapolis beat this record, with a total of 2,680, and St. Paul stood third, with a total of 738 men and 311 women.

The three offices supplied 5,801 persons with work during the month, and the total expense to the state was $760.77. This is the lowest cost to the state, in proportion to the number of men supplied with jobs, in the history of free labor bureaus.

The expenses of the three offices for the month were as follows: Minneapolis, $270.22; Duluth, $261.11; St. Paul, $223.44.

KICKED, NEARLY KILLED WHILE WATERING HORSE.

Fessenden, N. D., Sept. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Sunday afternoon, while he was engaged in watering a horse, Christoff Martin, Germantown, this county, was kicked and nearly killed. He had taken the horse to the well and was just about to return when the affair took place, Martin receiving such a blow that he was rendered unconscious for many hours. The right side of his head was badly crushed and other injuries of an internal nature were feared.

Big Phil Stremmel wound up his career in the Minnesota-Wisconsin league yesterday afternoon at the league park at Superior by taking two games from the leaders in spite of the desperate efforts of Matchless Marion and Home-pride Cummings. The scores were 5 to 1 and 4 to 3, and the Sox got the small end of the tally in both sad affairs. Stremmel allowed four hits to Marion's ten in the first game, and while he let the Sox find him for seven safe ones in the second spasm, he kept them well scatterd, and with the exception of the second frame, did not allow the pennant winners anything like a batting streak.

The Drillers did things in the first inning of the first contest, after two of them had taken the count. After Gray and Caldwell had fallen before Marion, the big fellow walked Koepping, who stole second and scored on Shaub's single to right. Shaub went to second on the throw to the plate, and tallied when Geelan sent a sizzler just inside the third sack.

In the second McCrone tried to catch Clapper at third after retiring Stremmel and sent it away out of Breen's reach. Clapper trotting home for the third rally. The Drillers had another batting streak in the fourth. Geelan, Bancroft and Stremmel finding Marion for safe ones, scoring Geelan. Bancroft and Stremmel died on the sacks.

The Sox did not get a tally until the sixth, when they sent a quartet of flies to the outfielders, who promptly muffed them. Breen, Neelon and Mueller sent high ones out into the distant horizon and Vogt and Shaub loyally muffed every one of them. Breen scored. This was the only moment of joy for the loyal fans, who journeyed across the bay.

In the seventh Superior wound up the scoring, when Dimples Gray got a hit, was sacrificed to second, went to third on Marion's wild pitch, and scored on Shaub's hit. Mueller got Schaub when he tried to steal retiring the side.

The second inning in the second game again brought joy to the loyal from this side of the water. Breen singled, went down to second on Koepping's wild throw, and went to third when Darby dumped an out down to the pitcher. Neelon was passed, and stole second. Breen scored on Mueller's single. Zackert singled but Neelon hesitated about coming in and his slowness gave Koepping time to catch Mugller between second and third. Neelon scoring on the play. Cummings drew a pass, but he and Zackert were left stranded when Kohl sent a high one to Gray. This ended the Sox scoring until the ninth when McLaughlin brought Mueller home from third on a hit to left. Mac spoiled it trying to make a two-bagger out his single and was caught at second, retiring the side.

The Superiorites won the game in the third inning, two hits to left field and one to left center scoring Bancroft. Gray and Caldwell. The deciding run came in the next frame when Geelan went to second on a wild throw to first by Breen. He was sacrificed to third, and when Mueller tried to catch him napping, the ball hit the runner and bounded into the crowd. Before Breen could retrover it Geelan had tallied.

The Sox cinched the pennant on Saturday.

Again it was Georgie Dauss. He is always a stumbling block for the Superior players and the Saturday game proved to be no exception to the rule. George had everything. He allowed but three hits, one of which was a home run and the only run scored by Superior. He fielded his position well and kept the men from Wisconsin from bringling into the infield.

Mr. Wilson was on the mound for Superior. He allowed the Sox to connect for six hits in the third and fourth innings. They counted for four runs.

Breen was in fine form. He accepted six chances at third without a bobble. His whip was in fine working order and the way he lined them to first was sensational. Kohl's work at short was the best of the year.

FOUR SHUT OUTS AT EAU CLAIRE

Home Team Breaks Even With Wausau in Two Double Headers.

Eau Claire, Wis., Sept. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Eau Clarie and Wausau made an even break of the last four games, splitting even on two double-headers, both Saturday and Sunday. All the games were shutouts.

Wausau took the first game Saturday, a double and four singles in the fifth resulting in the only three tallies of the game. Schroeder was hit freely, but good support saved further trouble.

The second Saturday game went ten innings without a score. Kuck brought in the winning tally on a passed ball.

Eau Claire took the first Sunday game, 1 to 0. The score came in the first, two passed balls, a sacrifice and Dexter's hit resulting in the only tally.

Wausau scored in the first and sixth of a seven-inning game in the second contest, bunching hits off Nicholson and Els. This is Lakoff's second shutout in the two days, as he pitched the first game Saturday.

LA CROSSE WINS.

Timely Hits and Errors Give Easy Victory Over Winona.

La Crosse, Wis., Sept. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Hits in the pinches and a timely boobie by Goodman resulted in an easy victory for the home team here Saturday in the first game of the final series with Winona. The final score was 3 to 1, La Crosse scoring on bunched hits in the third and sixth. Winona's one run came in the second on a sacrifice and a hit by Moore, which narrowly missed going over the left field fence, resulting in the tally.

WINONA TAKES SECOND.

Watson Falls Before Cates in a Pretty Pitchers' Battle.

Winona, Minn., Sept. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—By a score of 2 to 0, Winona pulled out a victory here yesterday in the second game of the concluding La Crosse series. A hit and a wild throw by Schriner in the fourth inning resulted in the only two runs of the game. Schroeder was hit freely, but good support saved further trouble.

The second Saturday game went ten innings without a score. Kuck brought in the winning tally on a passed ball.

Eau Claire took the first Sunday game, 1 to 0. The score came in the first, two passed balls, a sacrifice and Dexter's hit resulting in the only tally.

Wausau scored in the first and sixth of a seven-inning game in the second contest, bunching hits off Nicholson and Els. This is Lakoff's second shutout in the two days, as he pitched the first game Saturday.

LA CROSSE WINS.

Timely Hits and Errors Give Easy Victory Over Winona.

La Crosse, Wis., Sept. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Hits in the pinches and a timely boobie by Goodman resulted in an easy victory for the home team here Saturday in the first game of the final series with Winona. The final score was 3 to 1, La Crosse scoring on bunched hits in the third and sixth. Winona's one run came in the second on a sacrifice and a hit by Moore, which narrowly missed going over the left field fence, resulting in the tally.

WINONA TAKES SECOND.

Watson Falls Before Cates in a Pretty Pitchers' Battle.

Winona, Minn., Sept. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—By a score of 2 to 0, Winona pulled out a victory here yesterday in the second game of the concluding La Crosse series. A hit and a wild throw by Schriner in the fourth inning resulted in the only two runs of the game. Cates and Watson engaged in a pretty pitchers' battle, and hits were few and far between. The game was marked by considerable kicking by both teams. The score:

PITTSBURG WINS FROM CHICAGO

Pirates Strengthen Grip on Flag By Taking Eleven-Inning Game.

Chicago, Sept. 6.—Pittsburg strengthened its hold on first place in the pennant race yesterday by defeating Chicago, 5 to 1, in an 11-inning contest, before a record-breaking crowd.

Chicago took the lead in the seventh, Schulte singled through short. Then Chance, trying to dodge a pitched ball, hit to the right field crowd, advancing Schulte to third. Schulte was caught at the plate on a fielder's choice. Chance going to third and scoring on Hofman's long fly to center. Pittsburg evened up in the eighth. Wilson singled, took second on a wild pitch, went to third on a sacrifice fly to right field and scored on a fielder's choice.

Pittsburg started a batting bee in the eleventh, when Brown, with poor support, was hit hard. Byrne opened with a double into left and Leach singled over second. Tinker fumbled Clark's drive and Bryne scored. Leach scored on Wagner's single, and Clark was caught at home. Abstein struck out and Tinker fumbled Wilson's slow drive, filling the bases. Gibson singled and Wagner and Miller scored. Hofman caught Leever's fly and the side was retired.

Camnitz was relieved in the eighth, when Hyatt went to bat in his stead. Ground rules were necessary, making a hit into the crowd good for two bases. Score:

Batteries — Brown and Needham; Leever, Camnitz and Gibson. Umpires —Johnstone and Klem.

Beebe Is Invincible.

Cincinnati, Sept. 6.—Cincinnati could do little with Beebe until the game was practically won, when, pitching for the locals, was compelled to retire in the fifth. The hitting of Phelps and Beebe of the St. Louis team was the feature of the game. Score:

DULUTH BOY STARTS THINGS

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 6.—The leaders won two games from Kansas City Sunday afternoon, 7 to 6 and 9 to 2, before the largest crowd that ever attended a ball game in Milwaukee.

The first game was an exciting affair, the home club winning out in the ninth after a great uphill fight. With two out in the final session, Randall singled, Robinson walked, McGann singled, scoring Randall. After Shannon had tried to head Randall off at the plate, Frambes threw wild to Hetling, permitting Robinson to score with the winning run. Both clubs used two pitchers in the first, Wacker being the only one to show any form.

In the second game the home club clinched matters in the first inning by scoring seven runs. The second game was called after the visitors had batted in the seventh to permit them to catch a train. Scores:

Minneapolis, 1; St. Paul, 0.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 6.—Nearly 14,000 people saw Minneapolis shut out St. Paul in the last home game of the year at Lexington park Sunday. It was a pitchers' battle between Nick Altrock and the Indian Laroy, in which the former Chicago twirler won out 1 to 0, holding St. Paul to two hits, while Minneapolis secured five off Laroy. SCUD TAKES FIRST OF SERIES

George Holland's Boat Wins Race for Boat Club Cup.

The Scud, sailed by George Holland, was the winner of the sailing races Saturday afternoon on the bay. It was the first race in a series of three for the Duluth Boat club cup.

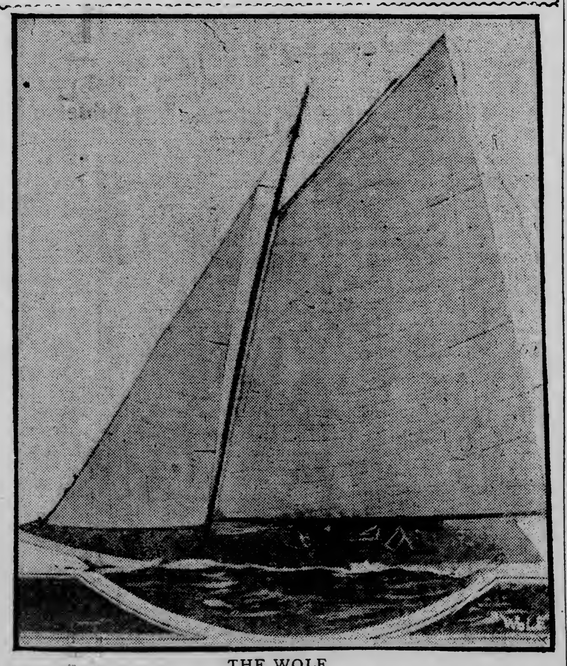

The Scud finished four minutes in advance of her nearest competitor, the Freckles sailed by George Fiske. The Viking, sailed by Roy Kent, dropped out before the finish.

In the consolation event for 28-footers, the Voyageur, sailed by Oscar Bransted, finished first, with the North Wind, sailed by Frank Farrell, second. The Merry Widow, sailed by J. H. Trux, dropped out after the first time around. Claiming fouls, the North Wind entered a protest against the Voyageur, and the Merry Widow entered one against the North Wind. If the protests are allowed the race will probably be sailed over.

The Minotaur took another race from the Allegro in the Cotton cup series.

A. C. Le Duc; J. F. McLaran and William Craig acted as judges, and J. A. Craig as starter.

THE WOLF, A TYPE OF SONDER CLASS BOATS

THE WOLF.

The Wolf, owned by Caleb Loring of Boston, finished third in the first of the series of Sonder boat races for the President Taft and Governor Draper cups. She finished third to the other two American boats, Joyette and Ellen, and was the only American boat of the three to lose out in the preliminary heats.

WILTSE CAN PITCH BUT ONE GAME A WEEK

GEORGE WILTSE.

If George Wiltse was strong enough to pitch two winning games a week the chances of the New York Giants for the pennant would be very bright. Wiltse, however, can only pitch one game a week and when McGraw in his scarcity of pitchers is compelled to put him in before he has recovered from his last game, he usually blows up toward the end of the game. He is famous for his no-hit game against Philadelphia last year. He has been with the Giants for some years and comes from Syracuse, N. Y. When right, Wiltse is one of the best southpaw pitchers in the league.

Last Ball Game of Year---Tennis Tourney at Branch.

HOLIDAY SPORT PROGRAM.

- Informal golf at Northland Country club.
- Informal sailing races on the bay.
- Baseball at Athletic park. Duluth vs. Superior. Game called at 3 p. m.
- Amateur baseball on nearly every corner.
- Program of sports at Fairmont park, the scene of the Labor day picnic.
- Tennis tournament on the courts of the Duluth Boat club at Spirit Lake branch.

The sport program for today is of an informal nature. A regular Labor day sport card was not framed, but there is plenty to keep everybody busy should they seek their pleasure among the sporting events.

The game of baseball at Athletic park which is the last league game of the year will undoubtedly draw one of the largest crowds of the year. The old time saying that "Everybody beats Superior and Superior beats Duluth" is no longer in vogue. The Soxlets have taken many a game from the Drillers this year and hope to finish up in a blaze of glory taking the game this afternoon.

There will be races and contests at Fairmont park where the big Labor day picnic is being held under the auspices of organized labor.

The golf grounds are always busy on a holiday in Duluth, and the usual number of informal matches are being played today. A number of the Duluth golfers are in St. Paul today, however, playing informal matches on the grounds of the Town and Country club.

There is much interest in the tennis tournament being conducted on the courts of the boat club at Spirit lake. The devotees of this sport are out in force. A number of them left on the early morning train.

Contrary to the usual custom there are no horse races today. The track of the old driving park has been torn up. This is the first Labor day in some years that there have not been horse races.

A. J. FREY IS HONORED.

Business Men Give Banquet for Former Athletic Director.

August J. Frey, who recently resigned as physical director of the Y. M. C. A. to go into the real estate business, was tendered a banquet at the Commercial club Saturday, by a number of prominent business men who were members of his gymnasium class.

Mr. Frey did much to promote the Business Men's club at the Y. M. C. A. and Saturday evening he was presented with a card in the organization.

Among those present were: August J. Frey, William A. McGonagle, W. E. Richardson, F. E. House, William C. Winton, John Uno Sebenius, W. M. Prindle, A. C. Le Duc, Pentecost Mitchell, H. W. Coffin, Frank A. Day, L. C. Harris, W. J. McCabe and John H. Hearding. Many members of the club sent messages expressing regret that they were unable to attend and wishing Mr. Frey success in his business career. Among them were W. J. Olcott, L. B. Arnold, R. E. Mace and C. Young.

Mr. Frey will enter the office of Field & Co.

The season that closes today has been, in many respects, the greatest race that has ever been seen in this part of the country. All through the season Duluth and Winona have been very close together, and not until the last week of play did the Sox show their small advantage.

Both teams were evenly matched. Because the Winona team is composed of veterans, it got off to a very good start. The winning of the flag by the Sox is all the more creditable from the fact that they were weak at the beginning of the season and had a big lead to make up on the Winona team.

The play in the league has been above that in the old Northern league. The teams have all been very evenly matched. Even the teams that have trailed in the ruck, have not been outclassed by the two leaders. The one great drawback to the whole season has been the dissatisfaction that the umpires have given.

One reason why the teams of the new league have lost so many games when away from home, is that the umpires has so favored the home teams that the visitors had little chance of getting away with the games. The success of any league depends largely upon the work of the umpires. The work that has been handed out by some of the indicator handlers in this league, is a shame and a disgrace, and has done much to hurt the game in the new league.

The Sox have suffered greatly from this home umpire business. Down in the southern part of the state, the Sox have suffered from the home decisions many times, and many of the lost games that have been charged against the percentage of the Sox this season, should be laid at the door of some of the incompetent umpires.

But the statement that the umpires in this league have been very bad, is not meant to intimate that the Sox are the worst sufferers in the league from this cause. All of the teams have suffered. Duluth and Superior have had their full share of it, however. The reason is not very difficult to understand.

Duluth and Superior are the two largest cities in the league. It is in the small towns that the fan is most rabid and most insistent that the home team get more than is coming to it. It is this fact that has caused most of the trouble with the umpires in towns like Wausau, Eau Claire, Winona and La Crosse.

The Winonna players stated, when they were here for the last series, that Umpire Osborne openly gave them several games at Winona. The Winona players made no secret of this fact.

But from the article of baseball that has been played, the new league has been a distinct success. The baseball has been very fast and the race has been close enough all season to sustain the interest. If the officials of the league can take care of the financial trouble, that threatened this year to cripple several of the managers, the league should continue next year and should be even a stronger organization.

The geographical situation of the cities in the league is a distinct improvement upon the long jumps that ate up railroad fare in the old Northern league. The schedule has been an improvement, also, and it is to be hoped that the attendance problem will be solved somehow, so that the league may continue another year, and that the same class of baseball will be given to the fans of this part of the country.

Now that the authorities have decided to permit Stanley Ketchel and Sammy Langford to battle, the interest in the meeting of the two great leaders of the light heavy division, is increasing. There are a great many wise followers of the fight game who believe that the black will prove too tough a customer for "Steve." The great basis of comparison regarding the ability of Ketchel, Langford and Johnson centers upon one willing trial horse. That person is no less a character than our old friend, Pueblo Jim Flynn. Tommy Burns hewed the fireman down in fourteen rounds. It required Jack Johnson eleven rounds to bring the fighting fireman to the resin. Sam Langford, black and stumpy, licked the Pueblo punch assimilator in just one punch.

Now for the comparison in regard to Ketchel. Ketchel and Billy Papke are not very far apart in ability—not so very widely separated, no matter what a lot of people say. Well, Papke fought two draws with Fireman Flynn. He couldn't beat the man from Colorado on the occasion of either meeting. That would make it seem as if Flynn were just as good, if not a little better than Papke. Then he must be very nearly as good as Ketchel. But he has shown that he is not in the same class of Langford. Do you get the point?

No, you can't rely on dope. But judging from past performances, Langford has it on Ketchel. But you can't rely on the courage of the black brother. This Langford may wilt before the furious attack of Ketchel. If there is one thing in the world that Ketchel possesses in abundance, it is bulldog courage. He would sooner die than quit. In fact in his battle with Bill Papke, when he was being chopped to pieces, he informed his seconds, who pleaded with him to permit them to throw the sponge into the ring, that he would die in the ring before he would show the white feather.

That courage may beat Langford. Both are terrific punchers. The first blow may decide the battle. It should be a great fight, and any man who sets out to pick the winner, has sure some moral courage and a disregard of his reputation as a prophet.

WILL HAVE STRONG TEAM.

Company K. of State Militia Preparing for Gridiron Contests.

Bemidji, Minn., Sept. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Company K, Minnesota National Guard, of Bemidji will this year have a strong football team in the field to play against all semi-professional elevens of the Northwest, and already the claim is made that the present aggregation of pigskin chasers will be faster and more formidable than was the heavy team which the militia boys had last season.

While one or two members of last year's eleven will be missing, the new material which will be available will undoubtedly more than make up for the losses; and some of the new players are faster than those who will be absent.

The company has chosen First Lieut. John Hillaly as manager, and Ted Getchell, fourth duty sergeant, will act as captain, and the squad from which the team will be chosen are the following players:

A. E. Otto, captain of the company; George Lucas, Frank Getchell, "Gill" Mantor, Ralph Lycan, Claude Breneman, Roy Lindsay, Warren Gill, Harry Gell, Scott Stewart, Hallon Ruffman, Kin Kelley, Carl Mitchell, "Babe" Kreatz, Walter Brennon and several others.

BALL PLAYER IS SUSPENDED

Sherwood Magee, Philadelphia Star Outfielder, Did Not Obey Orders.

Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 6.—Sherwood Magee, the star outfielder of the Philadelphia National league baseball club, has been suspended indefinitely without pay, by Manager William Murray for alleged insubordination and may never again play ball in a Philadelphia National league uniform.

The trouble occurred in Saturday's game with Brooklyn. Magee is said to have disregarded instructions to play close to second base instead of taking a long lead. Magee was finally caught between the bases and ran out. It is reported that there was a warm time in the clubhouse after the game which resulted in the player's suspension.

Magee says that if anything is deducted from his salary he will never play in a Philadelphia uniform again. At the time of the proposed Donlin deal, Magee is said to have expressed a desire to get away from the Philadelphia club.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

GETS CHANGE TO BRAINERD

Retrial of Paul Fournier to Be in Crow Wing County.

Case Given Too Much Publicity; Change of Venue Is Necessary.

Bemidji, Minn., Sept. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Judge McClenahan of Brainerd has granted a change of venue to Crow Wing county in the case of Paul Fournier, charged with murdering N. O. Dahl, in Beltrami county, to whom a new trial was recently granted by the supreme court.

The judge in his memorandum, accompanying the decision granting the change of venue, says:

"The serious nature of the charge against the defendant, the publicity given the case, particularly in the county where it is now pending, the interest it has attracted and the discussion it has engendered, together with its entire history, including the first trial and the review thereof in the supreme court, all lead me to the conclusion, after careful consideration, that another trial of the case should not be had in its local environment. In selecting the place for another trial I have not overlooked the suggestions of counsel that if a change of venue should be granted a point should be selected at a considerable distance from original venue."

Crime Was Brutal One.

The killing of N. O. Dahl and his daughter, August, at Quiring, this county, in the spring of 1904, was one of the most cold-blooded and brutal murders in the history of crime in Minnesota.

Dahl and his daughter, residents of Crookston, lived on claims near Quiring; the old gentleman later proving up and living with his daughter on her claim.

They were missed from their home and were not found for several months, when the body of Mr. Dahl was discovered buried under the roots of a giant pine tree. The body of the girl was later found, concealed in an unfrequented spot in a marshy meadow.

Several parties were arrested in connection with the murder, including Paul Fournier and "Shorty" Wesley, who were convicted.

At the trial of Wesley, Fred Foote, an inmate of the state prison at Stillwater, gave damaging testimony against Wesley, claiming the latter had confessed to him that he, Wesley, and Fournier had killed the Dahl's, and the confession stood, despite efforts to discredit Foote's word.

At the trial of Fournier, Owen Fournier, his brother, testified to an alleged confession which Paul had made to him and his wife, in which Paul had said that they were trying to make a desperado out of him; that he killed the Dahls, and he would kill some more people in that vicinity. Mrs. Owen Fournier corroborated the testimony of her husband. The defense tried to discredit this testimony, by showing that there was ill feeling at the time of the trial between the brothers; but the jury returned their verdict of guilty principally on this evidence.

Important Witness Dead.

Owen Fournier has died since the conclusion of the trial, and some question has been raised as to whether the testimony given by Owen during the first trial can be used in the forthcoming new trial. The authorities say that the alleged confession as testified to by Owen Fournier in his lifetime can be given by the court reporter who took the notes in the case; and it will undoubtedly again be used.

While an effort is being made to free Paul Fournier of the charge of having killed N. O. Dahl, James Wesley ("Shorty") is working in the twine department at Stillwater, serving his term of life imprisonment as an associate of Fournier in the murder. No one takes an interest in his welfare and he will probably end his days behind the bars.

BIG CONFERENCE AT MANISTIQUE

National Gathering of Baptists of United States Begins Tuesday.

Manistique, Mich., Sept. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—With representatives present from most of the states of the Union, the general conference of the Swedish Baptist church of the United States will convene here tomorrow in annual session.

Four hundred or more delegates are expected. The convention will be in session for four days. Rev. Emil Friborg of New York city will preside, and addresses will be made by some of the most prominent men of the Swedish Baptist denomination. Among the clergymen who will take part in the program are: Rev. Charles Palms, G. E. Wallendorf, E. Carlson and J. A. Swanson, Chicago; C. W. Lindstrom, New York; Emanuel Smith, Ph. D., Seattle; C. A. Segenstrom, Kansas City, Mo.; A. Lindberg, Boston, Mass.; F. Peterson and G. A. Hagerstrom, Minneapolis, Swan Nilson, Duluth; E. J. Nordlander, McKeesport, Pa.; J. A. Westin, Manistee, Mich.; O. Hofgeit, Ludington, Mich. During the course of the convention reports will be received from the following church institutions: Adolphus college, Seattle; Mount Parks sanitarium, St. Paul; Bethel academy, Minneapolis; Orphans' Home, New Britain, Conn.; Swedish Baptist Seminary and Home for the Aged, Chicago.

ADA MILL ORGANIZED.

Louis Hanson Is Chosen President of the New Concern.

Ada, Minn., Sept. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—The organization of the Ada Milling company has been completed and the articles of incorporation filed. The capital stock is $25,000, sufficient to give the company ample means to run the mill at its full capacity, and make the Ada mill one of the leading mills in this section.

The incorporators are C. J. Skaurud, Louis Hanson, A. A. Stee, C. J. Lofgren, J. F. Prigge, O. N. Bodding, Emil Betcher, John Merkins, Frank Gaetke and J. T. Shelland, all of Ada. The officers are: President, Louis Hanson; vice president, O. N. Bodding; secretary, J. F. Prigge; treasurer, C. J. Lofgren. These four with E. C. Betcher constitutes the board of directors.

Wreck Victim to Survive.

Fosston, Minn., Sept. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Chris Olson has received word in a letter from his daughter, Miss Mary, at Coeur d'Alene, Idaho, that P. M. Waters, former Great Norther agent here, who was mangled in a wreck upon an electric railway near that city several weeks ago, had undergone an operation at the hospital there and that hopes of his ultimate recovery were entertained.

FIGHT IS FATAL AT FORT FRANCES

Richard Drisdall, Knocked Into Street, Dies of His Injuries.

International Falls, Minn., Sept. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Two men under the influence of liquor quarreled in the barroom of the Emperor hotel at Fort Frances, two days ago, and after being put out on the street, where the quarrel continued, one of them, Richard Drisdale, was knocked down, striking his head on the curbing.

The injured man was removed to a room in the hotel, where the best of medical aid was given, but owing to the severe injury died within a few hours.

Patrick Lynch has returned from Montana and North Dakota, where he purchased a number of draft horses for heavy teaming.

Eleanor Gates and Fred Fuller left Monday night for the purpose of resuming their studies in the Superior and Ashland schools.

Mrs. Barrell and daughter Erma have left for their home in Minneapolis, after spending several weeks with relatives here.

R. F. C. Ellis and J. J. Stone are in Duluth transacting business.

A. H. Griceser of Duluth has opened up a moving picture show here.

The International Falls hospital is nearng completion.

Dr. Bridgman, president of the Hamline university of St. Paul, is an international Falls visitor.

Miss Mabel McKenzie has arrived home from Minneapolis and other points, where she purchased the fall millinery goods for the Olson & Peterson company.

The foundation is being laid for the International State Bank building, which is to be a two-story brick building.

An addition is being built to the Roman Catholic church, owing to the gratuitous growth of the congregation.

The work on the courthouse is progressing rapidly, with the third story nearing completion. When completed it will be one of the finest structures in this northern country.

PROPERTY OUT OF DEBT.

Flattering Showing at Meeting of Great Northern Copper Company.

Hinckley, Minn., Sept. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—At the annual meeting of the Great Northern Copper company held here, stockholders were present from all parts of Minnesota, Iowa and Wisconsin. The reports of the officers showed the company in a good condition but in need of money to buy drills, air compressors, etc., to carry on the work more economically.

The report of the secretary showed 111,000 more shares of treasury stock on hand that could be used to develop the mine than were in the treasury a year ago and that all debts were paid, whereas a year ago the debts amounted to the worth of the property. About four-sevenths of the total stock of the company was represented at the meeting.

President Ovenshire in his opening remarks stated that the meeting was called in Hinckley in order that the stockholders might examine the mine and see what had been done and what was on the ground. He created a laugh by saying that an officer of a mining company was not necessarily a rogue.

The officers elected for the year were: C. E. Ovenshire, president; A. H. Cunningham, treasurer; C. M. Hutchinson, secretary, and C. E. Overshire, A. H. Cunningham, Minneapolis, Dr. C. A. Snow, Mankato, Godfrey Dawe, Eau Claire, George O. Riggs, Grand Forks; E. H. Holbert, Hinckley; Steve O'Dea, Winona; C. M. Hutchinson, Minneapolis, directors.

TO ENTERTAIN JAPANESE.

Fargo Planning to Give Distinguished Visitors Fine Time.

Fargo, N. D., Sept. 6.—(Special to The Herald.) — The entertainment committee of the Commercial club are preparing a royal reception for the Japanese visitors touring this country who will be here Sept. 16.

The members of the committee are unanimous in the opinion that this will be one of the most important events in the history of Fargo for 1909 and they have outlined an elaborate plan of entertainment.

The visitors will arrive on their special train over the Northern Pacific at 7:25 a. m., and they will be met at the depot with a full delegation of the Fargo Commercial club and citizens of the city. It is the plan of the entertainment committee to provide at least fifty automobiles and have them at the station when the train pulls in.

Every member og the party will be given a seat in the autos and every point of interest in both Fargo and Moorhead will be visited. The agricultural gardens will be visited, the fair grounds, the Fargo college, the Moorhead normal and, in fact, all of the institutions of leanring in the two cities.

At 10:30 in the forenoon the autos will return to the Masonic temple, where a big public reception will be held and an opportunity given for Fargo citizens to become acquainted with the citizens of Japan.

President J. H. Worst of the Agricultural college will deliver an address of welcome to the visitors on behalf of Fargo and the state of North Dakota, this being the first stop that the party will make in the state. This will be followed by another address to be arranged later.

MARINETTE MAN DOUBTS.

Survivor of Polar Expedition Says Cook Must Show Him.

Marinette, Wis., Sept. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—August Larsen, a hardy Marinette woodsman, who in 1872, accompanied the famous Nordenskold expedition to within 150 miles of the north pole, is numbered among the Arctic explorers who doubt that Dr. Cook reached the pole.

"If Dr. Cook, upon his return to civilization, corrects the statement that he averaged thirteen miles a day on the last lap of his polar dash, I will be glad to accept his story," said Larsen. "But thirteen years of battling with arctic ice and storms has taught me to believe that neither man nor man's engines can traverse that awful 100 mile barrier surrounding the coveted goal, at a rate of thirteen miles an hour as Cook's speed is reported to have been."

WATER FOUL PLENTIFUL.

Hunting in Upper Peninsula Reported to Be Very Good.

Detour, Mich., Sept. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—The period from Sept. 1 to Jan. 1 being the open season for water fowl in Michigan, some excellent hunting is being enjoyed in the various upper peninsula localities, whose waters are frequented by ducks and other game birds.

The sport is reported particularly good in the vicinity of Manistique, Sault Ste. Marie and the Portage Lake ship canal. The use of boats propelled by machinery is prohibited by law, as is the use of sink boats or of guns of greater caulbre than .10-gauge. Much wild rice has been the past few years, and it is becoming evident that the results are to be in keeping with expectations, reports received here indicating that the hunting is steadily growing better. The open season for patridge in the upper peninsula will open Oct. 1 and will continue until No. 30. After this year English or Mongolian pheasants may be killed. This will add to fall sport in the eastern end of the peninsula. Through the efforts of sportsmen at Sault Ste. Marie many of these birds were procured a few years ago and were "planted" in Chippewa county, and it is said they have thrived remarkably well.

CANNOT UNDERSTAND WHY BLACK BEAR ARE PROTECTED

Channing, Mich., Sept. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—A new law taking effect in Michigan the first of the present month is one which protects black bear from the first of May until the first of November. Just why it has been deemed necessary to provide a closed season for these marauding animals is not known in this neck of the woods, and the action of the legislature in this respect is coming in for considerable criticism. Another new law which is not relished by lumbermen, farmers and fishermen is that which extends the closed season on beaver until Dec. 31, 1912.

Beaver have already been protected for a decade or more and they have multiplied so rapidly that they are declared to have become an expensive nuisance. By damming the streams, it is said they have flooded timber and agricultural lands, and as they are reported especially fond of brook trout they are charged with having practically ruined the fishing in various localities. Woodsmen say there are many tens of thousands of beaver in Upper Michigan, and that notwithstanding much illegal trapping, the numbers of the animals are increasing rapidly.

HINCKLEY SCHOOLS OPEN; SUPT. PICKARD IN CHARGE.

Hinckley, Minn., Sept. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—The local school opened today with Supt. A. E. Pickard in charge with the following corps of teachers: High school, J. M. Humphreys, agriculture; D. E. Jackson, history; Rose K. Brandt, normal department; Mabel Stone, principal and languages; Charles Robertson, manual training; Marie Henegren, domestic science and art; Mary Olson, mathematics. First grade, Miss Seely, Blue Earth; second grade, Miss Butler, Merrill, Wis.; third grade, Miss Kirschstein, Winona; fourth grade, Miss Pavlish, Willow River; fifth grade, Miss Connor, Royalton; sixth and seventh grades, Miss Kenevan, Austin; eighth grade, Miss Olson, Oak Park.

MARQUETTE COUNTY TO FIGHT WHITE PLAGUE.

Marquette, Mich., Sept. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Marquette county has the distinction of being the first county in the state to take effective measures to fight the great white plague. As the result of a vigorous campaign by Marquette physicians to bring about some action along that line, the board of supervisors has appropriated $15,000 for the erection of a sanitarium. A site has been selected and there will be a tuberculosis hospital that will accommodate twenty patients.

OPERATION HER ONLY CHANCE

Was Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Adrian, Ga.—"I suffered untold misery from a female weakness and disease, and I could not stand more than a minute at a time. My doctor said an operation was the only chance I had, and I dreaded it almost as much as death. One day I was reading how other women had been cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and decided to try it. Before I had taken one bottle I was better, and now I am completely cured."—LENA V. HENRY, Route No. 3, Adrian, Ga.

Why will women take chances with an operation or drag out a sickly, half-hearted existence, missing three-fourths of the joy of living, when they can find health in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound?

For thirty years it has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has cured thousands of women who have been troubled with such ailments as displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, indigestion, and nervous prostration.

If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be absolutely confidential, and the advice free.

DEATH CLAIMS SHERMAN SMITH

The Well Known Minneapolis Politician Is Victim of Heart Failure.

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Surrounded by his wife and two children, Sherman S. Smith, well known here and over the state as a Republican politician, died rather suddenly at Rest hospital, where he was taken about six weeks ago, of heart failure. He came near dying about two weeks ago, but rallied and hope was expressed for his recovery.

SHERMAN S. SMITH.

but a turn for the worse developed in the last few days, and he sank rapidly, dying Saturday evening.

Sherman S. Smith was born in Boscobel, Wis., in 1865. Shortly after attaining majority, Mr. Smith came to Minnesota and eventually located at Minneapolis. As a traveling salesman he gained a wide acquaintance throughout the Northwest.

Mr. Smith was a man of massive build and was in robust health until a few months ago. He is survived by a wife and two children.

In the past ten years Mr. Smith was best known for his activity in local politics. He made the race for the legislature in the campaign of 1900 and served the Fortieth district, the Fourth ward of Minneapolis, in the session of 1903. Governor Van Sant appointed Mr. Smith to his military staff. He was again sent to the legislature in 1905. In the session of 1907 he served as clerk to Lawrence H. Johnson, speaker of the house. Mr. Smith sought the Republican nomination as sheriff of Hennepin county, but failed in the primaries.

Deny Blackmail Story.

Grand Forks, N. D., Sept. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—A sensational story went out from Devils Lake Saturday to the effect that A. Toscas, Greek interpretor of the Great Northern railroad, was conducting a system of blackmail against the Greek laborers of that company received an emphatic denial from him in Grand Forks Sunday evening. This morning Mr. Toscas went to Devils Lake to look into the charges that have been made against him through the press and proposes to start things if he finds the parties responsible.

PENINSULA BRIEFS

Calumet—Word has been received of the death of Dr. Carl Sederholm, aged 42, in Finland. The decedent who was known here was found dead in bed in the Hotel Kemp, in Helsingfors. A post-mortem examination was to be held, but the result is not known as yet.

Houghton— Mme. Schumann-Heink, the prima donna, will appear at the Kerredge theater under Houghton management in May, the exact date to be selected later, though contracts for the engagement were signed Friday.

Hancock—The labor troubles connected with the erection of the brick-work on the new Finnish church have been settled and Lakso & Company are now pushing the work rapidly with union men. The difficulty arose from a misunderstanding on the part of the contractors resulting from their having been misinformed.

Calumet—Ellis Karvakko was bound over to the next term of circuit court this morning on the charge of murder. This is the case in which Herman Mattson, a Finn, was found in a dying condition on the Lake View road, just outside of the Red Jacket village limits, a couple of weeks ago, the decedent later succumbing to his injuries.

Laurium—A consignment of two carloads of pipe for the Florida Water company has reached here and other consignments are expected at once. The work of installing the new water system for Florida location will be started as soon as enough of the pipe is received to warrant placing a large force at work.

Calumet—Miss Anna C. Reding of Hubbell, has accepted a position in the Calumet high school, and is teaching German. She was formerly connected with the Lake Linden high school and is a graduate of the University of Minnesota.

MINNESOTA BRIEFS

Moorhead—J. J. Hanson, who is farming near here, has seventy acres of corn which is ready to harvest. During the last two weeks the field has been viewed by a large number of farmers from the corn belts of Iowa, Indiana and Illinois, and they pronounce the crop to be an excellent one—one that would pass muster anywhere—and that it will mature ten days sooner than in many of the states named.

Ada—James R. Woodward, a cigarmaker, who made his home in Ada for the past year and a half, died in Hawley last week, at the home of his brother. The deceased was about 65 years old, and left for Hawley about three weeks ago, being sick at the time with stomach trouble.

Sauk Rapids—Supt. Harry E. Flynn's resignation of the superintendency of the Sauk Rapids public schools has been definitely accepted by the school board, and he has sent his acceptance of a similar position at Two Harbors. Prof. R. H. Brown, formerly of St. Cloud, but now of Mapleton, has been elected to fill the vacancy.

Detroit—County Auditor A. C. Knudson is in receipt of a letter from Attorney General Simpson, in which that gentleman goes on record as saying that the special sewer tax levied by the city council of Detroit for the installation of its sanitary sewer cannot be carried on the books for a period of three years, as was allowable under the old law, but must be paid entire in the year following the levy.

Roseau—The fair grounds are being fixed up in good shape. The track and baseball grounds are in excellent shape, and new buildings will be erected. The attractions of the fair, aside from a big show of stock and products of Roseau county, will be well worth the attendance.

Red Lake Falls—A special election for the city of Red Lake Falls will be held Tuesday to vote on the proposition of adopting the amendments to the city charter recommended by a commission appointed for that purpose some time ago.

Staples—F. W. Cross of Duluth was in the city a short time Friday, visiting his cousin, an optician. Miss Jackson, formerly of this place but now of Duluth, was in the city Monday, on her way home from Rochester.

Brainerd—Mrs. Joseph Kelbler, Jr., and children went to Duluth Friday morning for a short visit. Miss Minnie Fitzpatrick, who has been visiting at the Kelbler home, left on the same train for Duluth, to attend the Duluth normal.

Roseau—Mrs. Catherine Davis, aged 90, mother of Mrs. Carl Frank, died at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Frank, in Malung, recently. The deceased was born in Illinois, and leaves surviving her, four children, two sons and two daughters.

Stillwater—The inmates of the state prison will have Labor day for a holiday. With the weather fine, they will be given the freedom of the park for several hours, with permission for unrestrained conversation and recreation. The prison band will give a concert. Permission will also be given to write an extra letter.

WISCONSIN BRIEFS

Manitowoc—A total of over 13,000 people used the new municipal bathing beach here this summer during the months it was open. The average cost per bath was 2 cents. Several more bathhouses will be erected by the city next year.

Washburn—Bayfield county has developed a "pain reliever" and "wonder healer" in the person of William Harris of the town of Barksdale, who lives on his farm five miles south of here. Mr. Harris does not claim to be possessed of any special power, but those who have been to him say that he is a wonder when it comes to dispelling pain and giving relief in cases of sickness.

Fond du Lac—That Evelyn Romadka, the divorced wife of the wealthy Milwaukee trunk manufacturer and a former society belle of Oshkosh, who is now confined at the penitentiary at Joliet, Ill., will be pardoned this fall is the opinion of Attorney Maurice McIlstrup, who appeared before the board of pardons at Joliet in her behalf.

Washburn—From the proceeds of a fair to be held by the Roman Catholics here next week, it is expected that the debt on the large church will be wiped out. Among the thousands of articles on sale is a fine house and lot donated to the church.

Monroe—In the West Wisconsin M. E. conference Bishop William F. McDowell, with much earnestness, strongly commented on the weaknesses of pastors, citing the decrease in the number of children in the Sunday schools in the last decade as one evidence that some one has not been doing his duty.

Milwaukee—The Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance company, the fourth largest life insurance company in the world, is now in the "billion dollar class." The company reached the point in its business development Friday, where it boasts $1,000,000,000 worth of outstanding insurance on its books.

DAKOTA BRIEFS

Schafer, N. D.—The Indian office has rejected as being too low the bid of J. E. Phelan of Dickinson, N. D., of 4½ cents an acre for a year's grazing privileges in the Fort Berthold reservation.

Cooperstown, N. D.—Lewis Berg met with a very severe accident. He was taking his gasoline plow engine over to his farm west of town and got down to crank it. The crank flew back and hit Mr. Berg a terrible blow in the face breaking his nose and other bones in his face.

Grand Forks, N. D.—B. J. Bagen, the mail clerk, will be assistant chief clerk beginning Sept. 10. He will succeed James Martin in Chief Clerk McBride's office, while Mr. Martin will go to a position as clerk in charge on the road.

Minot, N. D.—Miss Florence Cotton, formerly principal of the Minot high school, who will attend the University of Minnesota this coming year, donated upon her departure a handsome set of thirty-five volumes of the "Nations of the World" to the public library.

Aberdeen, S. D.—The building permits issued in Aberdeen since Jan. 1, amount to over $1,200,000. It was estimated earlier in the year that the total building done in the city for one year would reach $1,500,000, but it now promises to exceed that figure.

Rugby, N. D.—At 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon, near Pleasant Lake, a station just east of here, John Stigsell was seriously, perhaps fatally, injured when a freight train ran into the wagon he was driving.

Fargo, N. D.—Charged by a girl at Wadena, Minn., with a statutory offense, Otto Hoeft of Davenport was arrested Friday morning. On arraignment before Judge H. F. Miller the defendant waived examination and was held to the county court with bonds fixed at $750, which were furnished.

Grafton, N. D.—Game Warden W. N. Smith was out looking for violators of the game law and at the Salt lake near Cashel found two Italians with one duck and four snipe. The warden confiscated the guns and took what money they had on them for their appearance in court.

NATURE'S PERFECT TONIC
S.S.S.

Something more than an ordinary tonic is required to restore health to a weakened, run-down system; the medicine must possess blood-purifying properties as well, because the weakness and impurity of the circulation is responsible for the poor physical condition. The blood does not contain the necessary quantity of rich, red corpuscles, and is therefore a weak, watery stream which cannot afford sufficient nourishment to sustain the system in ordinary health. A poorly nourished body cannot resist disease, and this explains why so many persons are attacked by a spell of sickness when the use of a good tonic would have prevented the trouble. In S. S. S. will be found both blood-cleansing and tonic qualities combined. It builds up weak constitutions by removing all impurities and germs from the blood, thus supplying a certain means for restoring strength and invigorating the system. The healthful, vegetable ingredients of which S. S. S. is composed make it splendidly fitted to the needs of those systems which are delicate from any cause. It is Nature's Perfect Tonic, free from all harmful minerals, a safe and pleasant acting medicine for persons of every age. S. S. S. rids the body of that tired, worn-out feeling so common at this season, improves the appetite and digestion, tones up the stomach, acts with pleasing effects on the nervous system, and reinvigorates every portion of the body. ACCEPTS CALL TO SWEDISH CHURCH

Brainerd Minister Will Succeed Rev. Frederick Blom.

Rev. E. Ingstrom, pastor of the Mission church at Brainerd has accepted a call to the Swedish Christian Mission church, Fifty-ninth avenue west and Grand street to fill the vacancy which occurred because of the resignation of Rev. Frederick Blom.

Rev. Ingstrom is a graduate of the North Park College of Theology and was an old classmate of Rev. Blom. He will be in West Duluth to take charge of the work on the first Sunday in October. Rev. Mr. Blom leaves tomorrow for San Pedro, Cal., where he will establish a sailors' mission.

Hartley-Sweeney.

The marriage of Miss Helen Agnes Hartley of West Duluth to John M. Sweeney of Virginia will take place at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William B. Hartley, of 827 North Fifty-sixth avenue west, tomorrow morning at 8 o'clock. Mr. Sweeney and his bride will leave on a short wedding tour and will be at home at Virginia after Oct. 1.

DEATH CLAIMS CHILD AFTER TAKING MOTHER.

Funeral services for Mary, the 2-weeks-old daughter of Alfred Ouellette of 4115 West First street, who died yesterday, were held this morning from the residence with interment at Calvary cemetery. The mother of the child died a few days ago.

LOCKED IN ICE BOX.

C. Peterson Spends Half Hour in a Refrigerator.

Charles Peterson, who is employed as a butcher in Olson & Kauppi's market, on Sixty-third avenue west, accidentally locked himself in the refrigerator Saturday afternoon and nearly froze to death before he was released. He went into the cold room and pulled the door shut behind him, forgetting the snap lock with the handle on the outside.

The clerks in the store mistook his poundings for the hammers of the carpenters who were at work outside, and a customer, looking for the butcher, was the one who released him. He was in the refrigerator about half an hour.

WANT STREET REPAIRED.

Forty-First Avenue West Is Impassable Since the Storm.

Complaints have been made to the board of public works by residents of Forty-first avenue west between Third and Seventh streets, that the street ever since the storm of July 22, has been impassable and has never yet been opened to traffic.

A big ravine several feet wide and at least ten feet deep, is cut through the street at one place between Third and Fourth streets and it is said that no attempt has yet been made to fill it up. The sidewalks which were washed out were replaced after the storm.

It is said that the street was in poor condition prior to the storm. Six years ago, part of the street was graded but since nothing has been done to improve the thoroughfare, it is said.

Dinner Party.

Miss Eva Baker, who will be married next Wednesday at the St. James Catholic church parsonage on Fifty-seventh avenue west to Benjamin Floer was entertained at a dinner party Saturday evening at the home of Mrs. Robert Brotherton, of Fifty-third avenue west and Main street.

Covers were laid for eight and those present were: Mesdames Walton and J. A. Baker and Misses Eva Baker, Ella Baker, Emma Baker, Eloise Brown and Agnes Harvey and Effie Brotherton. Last Friday evening, Miss Baker was the honored guest at a bundle shower given at the home of Mrs. J. A. McEvoy of 223 Ninth avenue east. On this occasion she received many beautiful gifts:

Those present were:
Mesdames — Borgen, McEvoy, Messrs— Behning, Harrington.
Eva Baker, Jule Holland, Nellie McInnis, Freda Klein, Kate Bush, Emma Baker, Agnes Harvey, Ella Baker, Married in Idaho.

Word has been received at West Duluth announcing the marriage of Miss Helen T. Mackey and Edward A. Murphy, which took place last month at Coeur d'Alene, Idaho. After a short wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Murphy will be at home at Ferrell, Idaho. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Mackey of 524 North Fifty-seventh avenue west.

RAILROADS

BIG CROWDS GO TO FAIR

Duluth railroad ticket agents say that no one need reproach the northern section of the state for any lack of enthusiasm in supporting the state fair. They have been jumping sideways for the last three days providing adequate means for getting the crowds to Minneapolis. Every road running to the Twin Cities has run extra coaches, doubling its accommodations, and the big trains have been packed to the limit ever since Saturday afternoon. The Northern Pacific ran an extra train yesterday afternoon of six coaches, leaving on the schedule of the limited, and the train last night had two extra coaches and two extra sleepers. On Saturday the Northern Pacific ran a total of eleven extra cars. Every train was packed.

The Great Northern ran three extra cars on the 3:25 Gopher State, and there were two extra sleepers on the 11:10 train for the Twin Cities. The Omaha ran two extra coaches from Duluth and Spooner both Saturday and Sunday, and its trains were also loaded. This year will be the biggest in fair traffic on record, unless there is a marked falling off in the traffic later in the week.

Chief Clerk Here.

Albert J. Dickinson and wife, chief clerk of the passenger department of the Great Northern at St. Paul, spent yesterday in Duluth.

August Car Report.

According to the monthly report of the Lake Superior Car Service association, the number of cars handled during the month of August just passed showed a big increase over the corresponding month of last year.

During August, 1909, there were 26,626 cars handled at the Head of the Lakes terminals as compared with 21,884 cars in August, 1908.

THE SOX HAVE MADE MONEY

Score, morning game at Superior:

Duluth	0 0 0 0 0
Superior	0 0 0 0 4

Batteries—Schmirler and Mueller; Peterson and Clapper.

The Duluth team has made money this year. This was the announcement made by Manager Al Kuehnow this morning. For a time things looked pretty dark, but since the Sox have hit the top of the ladder the attendance has been picking up and put the team in a place where there will be no new debts hanging over it when the season closes this afternoon.

It is a close shave, however, as Mr. Kuehnow was not sure just how things would stand until he sized up the crowd at Superior this morning. There are 2,000 people in the stands there, and the attendance there alone will bring things out even. This afternoon's profits will be clear gain.

Wednesday the whole team will leave for Winnipeg, with the exception of "Toughy" Breen, wo will join the St. Paul team at Milwaukee Thursday. At Winnipeg the team will play Wednesday, Thursday and Saturday, coming back to finish the series with the Muroons on the Athletic park grounds Sunday, Monday and Tuesday. They go to Hibbing for games Wednesday and Thursday of next week and will come here to play Hibbing again Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

The final game here will be a benefit game for the family of Eddie Lats, the youngster who was killed at the park some time ago. This will be a masquerade baseball game and some novel stunts are promised the fans in the last contest here.

After this game the Sox will start on a barnstorming tour, taking in Eveleth, Two Harbors and Madison.

ON THE IRON RANGES

MADE CRAZY BY HUSBAND'S END

Killing of Dominick Lazzaro at Nashwauk Blow to Widow.

Nashwauk, Minn., Sept. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Dominick Lazzaro an Italian brakeman employed at the Hawkins mine, was almost instantly killed by three dirt cars passing over his body Friday afternoon. While at work he unfortunately fell underneath the cars, and the engine could not be stopped as the grade was very steep. He was about 40 years of age and leaves a wife and five children. He had been a resident of this village the past six years and had many friends.

Mr. Lazzaro had his leg broken about one year ago and his wife recently returned from Fergus Falls, where she was sent a year ago for a slight mental aberation caused by a fright received from the big fire at this place, and she is again afflicted with this disease from the shock of the death of her husband.

The body of Lazzarro was taken to Hibbing by a special train under the auspices of the Italian Christopher Columbus society Sunday morning and buried at the Hibbing cemetery Sunday afternoon.

An Italian laborer while at work on the sewer had a narrow escape from death. He was at work in a ditch, when the banks of dirt on both sides caved in upon him. He was covered with dirt and by great efforts of his fellow workmen he was gotten out in a short time, and received only slight bruises.

VIRGINIA DEBT SMALL.

Range City Owes Very Little for City of Its Size.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—For a city of its size, Virginia has a small indebtedness, the report of City Clerk Bickford showing that the debt amounts to only $8,362. The receipts during the month of August amounted to $62,005.38, and the balance on hand in the treasury Sept. 1 was $43,397.16.

Mayor Hawkins has named the standing committees of the council, as provided for under the new home rule charter, as follows:

Aldermen Osborn, Smith, Elmquist, finance; McNeil, Carlson, Boylan, streets, alleys and sewers; Elmquist, Gillmor, Weber, city property and buildings; Osborn, Smith, Boylan, light and water; Boylan, Mattson, Carlson, ways and means; McNeil, Gillmor, Elmquist, ordinance; Gillmor, Smith, Boylan, license; Mattson, Weber, Carlson, election; Smith, Elmquist, Weber, printing; Carlson, Gillmor, Osborn, railroads; Weber, Elmquist, Smith, rules and regulations; health officer, Dr. J. H. Crowe; Aldermen Mattson, Smith, Elmquist, board of health.

FIFTH DEATH OCCURS.

Another Infant in Eveleth Victim of Prevailing Disease.

Eveleth, Minn., Sept. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—The funeral of Uno Alaric Saline, the 3-month-old infant of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Saline, was held Saturday afternoon from the home of the parents. Interment was held at Virginia with Rev. John Wargelin of the Finnish Lutheran church officiating.

Funeral services were read at the home of the parents. The cause of the death was cholera infantum, and this case marks the fifth death of that disease in the past few days. The babe had been ill but a few days before death overtook it. The parents reside on Adams avenue.

EVELETH'S NEW HIGH IS ALMOST IN SHAPE.

Eveleth, Minn., Sept. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—The regular school year commences tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock, and much busy work is still being done by the contractors on the high school, to make as much as possible ready for the opening. As yet the grade rooms in the new high school building has not been finished, and the pupils of the grades affected will be taken care of partly in the Royal and Adams public schools. A meeting of the school teachers for this year will be held at the Fayal school building this afternoon at 2 o'clock, at which time plans for the coming year will be thoroughly discussed.

The parents are advised to send their children to the rooms that they attended last year, from which they will be sent in a body to the rooms they are assigned for this year. The high school and eighth grade pupils should come directly to the high school building. The three sixth grade rooms will be in the Fayal, Spruce and Adams buildings, and the seventh grade in the Fayal school.

The unfinished rooms in the high school will be fixed as quickly as possible, and the contractors will do night work in them, so that the work of the pupils will not be interfered with. The commercial and manual training rooms have been fixed and will be situated in the high school building, doing away with the long walks to outside buildings as last year, where such work was held. New seats and desks have been installed and they will be very convenient for the studious pupils.

ORE LOADING CONTINUES.

Shipping Ore Too Important to Halt for Labor Day Celebration.

Two Harbors, Minn., Sept. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—All stores and other lines of business are observing Labor day, with the exception of ore loading, which continues, as it is the desire of the companies to ship as much as possible before the season ends. There was no Labor day program here today, everybody observing the day as they desired.

Owing to a tie between the Tigers and Pirates in the Y. M. C. A. league with a percentage of 733 each at the close of their season the tie will be played off today. The winner will receive a fine silver trophy presented by E. J. Steurwald.

The Presbyterian Sunday school is holding its annual picnic today on Lighthouse point.

FREE NIGHT SCHOOL.

Hibbing Plans to Suit Convenience of Those Who Work.

Hibbing, Minn., Sept. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—The largest enrollment in the history of the local schools is expected by Supt. Blair when the schools are opened for the year, tomorrow. The teachers are all here, and for two days have been busy skirmishing around, looking for rooms.

For the convenience of those who are anxious for an education, and yet cannot spare the time to attend school in the daytime, night school will open tonight in the Washington building. Prof. Smith of the manual training department of the high school will teach mechanical drawing. Miss Ingalls will teach sewing, dressmaking and millinery and the common branches will be taught by other members of the high school faculty.

TOWER SCHOOLS BEGIN TUESDAY

Tower, Minn., Sept. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—The public schools here and at Soudan will open tomorrow morning. Supt. Cartright will have charge of both schools, there being twenty-one instructors to have charge of the various grades.

Following is a list of the teachers: Tower school—W. R. Morton, St. Louis Park; Fannie Gray, Pine City; Monica Kowaleska, Winona; Fannie Stephenson, Duluth; Lavina Guthrie, Blooming Prairie; Grace McLaren, Crookston; Rose Seigelbaum, St. Paul; Ina Martin, Mayme Mahady and Winnifred Pfieffer, Tower.

Soudan school—Isabelle Carlisle, Lansing, Iowa; Ethel Harbin, St. Paul; Grace Albricht, St. Cloud; Agnes Hamp, Alexandria; Annie Anderson, Soudan; Ethel Gardner, Soudan; Maude Salnsbury, Winona; May Carlson, Soudan; Margaret Merrill, St. Paul; Mabel Thornton, Northfield.

SEVERAL GOING OFF TO SCHOOL

Two Harbors, Minn., Sept. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—The schools will open tomorrow for the fall term.

Among local young people who will go away to attend school this year are Ruth Woodward and Hattie Falk, to the Stout School of Domestic Science, Menomonie, Wis.; Florence Switzer, MacAlister college; Sadie Headley, Nicollet Business college, St. Paul; Miss Helen Metcalfe, Villa Scholastica school, Duluth; Arthur La Force, St. Peter, Minn.; Lillian Dyer and Earl Brewer, University of Minnesota.

The annual gun club picnic held at Flood bay yesterday was a great success in every way.

The Palmatier Sisters' Orchestra & Concert company will appear here Monday, Sept. 27, under the auspices of the local lodge, K. of P.

A small fire at the residence of M. M. Hanna, Third avenue, called out the fire department Saturday afternoon.

Work on the Split Rock lighthouse will commence in the near future, much of the material being already on the ground.

MINING CAPTAINS TO MEET IN VIRGINIA.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Mesaba Mining Captains' Institute will hold a regular session here Saturday, Sept. 11. T. J. Nicholas of Aurora is president of the association and James R. Fayle of Hibbing is secretary. About thirty mining captains of the range belong to the organization.

LARSEN-THIEL CASE STILL A SENSATION.

Hibbing, Minn., Sept. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—The sensational damage case of Dan Larsen against Carl Thiel in which the Duluthian seeks $15,000 from a local photographer for the alleged alienation of the affections of his wife, still continues a local sensation. More sensational testimony was offered Saturday. There was no session of court yesterday, but the case will be resumed before Judge Cant today with the likelihood of the case going to the jury later in the week.

BOVEY BRIEFS.

Bovey, Minn., Sept. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—A number of young people drove to the Rapids for the Blue Bell dance Saturday evening.

Mrs. A. A. Mitchell left yesterday to attend the state fair.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bentz have left for the fair and also visit at their former home at Cloquet.

Mr. and Mrs. Provinski and daughter, Bernice, attended the banquet at Nashwauk Thursday night. Mr. Provinski left Friday from there to go to Duluth, and Mrs. Provinski and daughter returned home Saturday noon.

Miss Ferguson of Duluth is the guest of Miss Bernice Provinski this week.

The M. W. A. will entertain at a dancing party at the Eagles' hall tonight.

Chief of Police Kingston and wife left yesterday for a trip to the state fair.

Miss Trudel of Duluth, who has been the guest of her aunt, Mrs. Joe Andre, has returned home.

E. Pelky and A. Frieland of the Bovey baseball team joined the Coleraine team Sunday in a game between Deer River and Coleraine, at the latter place.

Mr. and Mrs. Livour have returned from their wedding trip, and are at home on Seventh street.

James Peltier is filling the place of William Berrett at the Coleraine depot as messenger boy while he is away on his vacation.

Miss Vera Matheson has resigned her position at Coleraine.

NASHWAUK PIRATES WON.

Nashwauk, Minn., Sept. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Nashwauk Pirates won from the Coleraine Junior baseball team here Sunday by a score of 5 to 7. The Pirates have made a good showing so far this season, winning five out of seven games played. The batteries Sunday were: Nashwauk, George Anderson and Joseph Cloon; Coleraine, Riley and Jones.

Hibbing Wins Easily.

Hibbing, Minn., Sept. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Having no team to play yesterday because of the inability to arrange a game with Eveleth, the locals yesterday easily defeated the Stevenson nine, 17 to 5.

In an exciting game played yesterday morning, the policemen of the city defeated the bartenders by a score of 14 to 11.

Big Duluth's Beaten.

Eveleth, Minn., Sept. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Eveleth city team defeated the Big Duluths yesterday afternoon in one of the closest and exciting games of the season on the local grounds. This was the first game under the new management of Frank Winchester and G. A. Mulligan.

Resume Drilling Thursday.

Eveleth, Minn., Sept. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—It was decided at a recent meeting of the local militia officers to commence drill work Thursday evening. At this time a business meeting will be held by the members to decide as to what winter work should be carried on.

Private Eveleth Exchange.

Eveleth, Minn., Sept. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Among the many improvements being made by the Mesaba Telephone company, is the installing of a private exchange in the Bailey office building. The office building will be connected with the newly erected Bailey flats, and C. E. Bailey's residence.

GRAND RAPIDS BOYS WINNERS

Grand Rapids, Minn., Sept. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Grand Rapids Junior baseball team won another victory Sunday by defeating the Taconite Juniors by a score of 13 to 5.

The first inning resulted in no score for either side. In the second Wallace for the visitors started a bat fest, which netted them three runs. The locals rallied and neither side scored in the third. In the fourth, fifth and sixth Taconite scored goose eggs, and in the seventh and eighth one score per inning. The Rapids made three runs in the fourth, three in the fifth, two in the sixth and five in the seventh, making them thirteen. Taconite was unable to rally in the ninth. A fair sized crowd was in attendance and the Juniors netted enough to get them out of debt.

This game practically decided the Junior championship of the range. Taconite's juniors beat everything except the Grand Rapids team, which defeated them two weeks ago and again yesterday.

WAR VETERAN CALLED.

Patrick McGrain of Negaunee Dies Suddenly at Marble.

Marble, Minn., Sept. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Death came suddenly to Patrick McGrain of Negaunee, Mich. while he was here visiting his daughter, Mrs. William Webb. He came here about two months ago and planned to return home in a few days. The body was taken to Negaunee for interment. The deceased was about 70 years of age, and is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Webb of Marble, and Mrs. Patrick Dowd of Negaunee.

Mr. McGrain was an old resident of Negaunee, having located there something like forty years ago. He lived at Hancock from 1857 to 1862, and served in the Civil war with the Twenty-fourth Michigan infantry.

EXCHANGE AT GILBERT.

Mesaba Telephone Company Makes a Very Welcome Announcement.

Gilbert, Minn., Sept. 6.—Special to The Herald.)—The people who have been clamoring for a local telephone exchange central are agreeably surprised by the announcement of the Mesaba Telephone company that it will install one here soon. This decision was reached by the company after having detailed a solicitor there to secure new patrons, which has met with great success.

All apparatus, such as poles, wire, cables, switch board and instruments, have been ordered shipped, and are expected soon. Work on the new exchange will start as soon as the apparatus arrives, and the work will be pushed as rapidly as possible.

MEET AFTER YEARS AT FUNERAL OF RELATIVE.

Lake Nebagamon, Wis., Sept. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mrs. Bertha Stone, aged 26, who died at a hospital in Superior recently, after an illness of about a year, was buried at the Lake last week. She was the wife of Jack Stone of this village.

Three brothers of Mr. Stone, two from Two Harbors and one from Washburn, attended the funeral. Mr. Stone and his brothers had not seen each other for twenty-three years.

OBITUARY

Z. D. Goodell, formerly of Duluth, is dead at Jacksonville, Fla. He was a timber estimator and about 55 years of age. A widow and three daughters survive him. Interment was at Jacksonville. His wife and one daughter were visiting friends in Duluth at the time he was taken sick, and they were notified and returned home at once. Mr. Goodell left for Florida about eight years ago, and his family went there six years ago. He was a member of Gate City lodge, formerly Agate lodge, of the Knights of Pythias, of Duluth. Mr. Goodell came to Duluth in the latter 80's from Green Bay. It is said that he has left his family in comfortable circumstances.

Clyde Fitch, the American playwright, died at Chalons Sur Marne, France, Saturday.

Death was due to appendicitis. Mr. Fitch was stricken with an acute attack while traveling from Germany, and upon his arrival at Chalons Sur Marne underwent an operation at the hands of Dr. Alquier. Clyde Fitch was easily the most prolific of younger American dramatists. He was born in Elmira, N. Y., in 1865, of English ancestors, who settled in Connecticut early in the seventeenth century and after descendants who have been prominent in the religious and political life of the country ever since. After an early education under private instructions at home, he was fitted for college at Holderness, N. H., and was graduated from Amherst in 1886. Both in school and college he early evinced an interest in literature and was an untiring amateur actor. In 1889 came his first novel, the "Wave of Life," followed in the interval of subsequent activities by "Some Correspondence and Six Conversations" and "The Smart Set." Contemporaneous with his first novel, "Betty's Finish," a playlet, had a brief run at the Boston theater, but nothing from his pen found any prominence on the boards until the production of "Beau Brummel" in 1890 by the late Richard Mansfield. Thereafter the plays came two and sometimes three to the year with unflagging regularity.

Col. Celsus Price, son of Gen. Sterling Price and serving on his staff in the Civil war, died at St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 5, aged 68. He left the University of Virginia to enter the Confederate army, and after the war joined Maximilian's forces in Mexico. Twenty years ago he took up Eastern cults and since then has lived as a man of mystery, disappearing at one time for several years, during which he is supposed to have gone to the fountainhead of the Orientalism he studied.

SUPERIOR NEWS

No Demand for Teachers.

County Supt. A. N. Young of the Douglas county schools has issued sixty-eight certificates this year to rural school teachers as a result of the examinations which were conducted recently. There will be more teachers available this year than will be needed in the county schools. Some of the county schools have already started the year's work.

City Official Buried.

Impressive funeral services for Robert L. Hunter, late city treasurer of Superior, were held yesterday afternoon from the Hammond avenue Presbyterian church to Greenwood cemetery. Rev. L. K. Grimes officiated and the services were held under the auspices of the Masonic order. The council and the city officers attended in a body.

Hibernians May Play.

Duluth and Superior members of the Ancient Order of Hibernians may clash in the near future at baseball, if the present plans are carried out. Maurice McInnis is manager and Ed Doherty captain of the Superior Irishmen.

Celebrate at St. Paul.

A large and enthusiastic delegation of Superior Germans attended the German day celebration held yesterday at St. Paul. There were sixty-two in the party, and they comprised the members of the local Germania society. A post of honor was awarded the Superiorites in the parade which was held.

Find Jobs for 3,290.

Work for 3,290 men, the larger proportion of which were required by the railroads entering the Head of the Lakes, was provided by the branch office of the local state employment bureau during the past ten weeks, according to a report filed by C. F. Penn, secretary and manager. There is still a dearth of labor.

Leaves the Poor Farm.

John Lindberg has resigned his position as superintendent of the county poor farm and will move with his family to St. Paul in the near future. He gives as a reason for leaving that the new board of trustees has cut down his salary.

Observe Labor Day.

Labor day is being observed today at Superior with an excellent parade this morning in which nearly 5,000 took part, and a splendid program of sports, which will be held during the course of the afternoon.

Nemadji park, the scene of the festivities, is well adapted for the affair and was thronged this afternoon with many people. The orations of the day will be delivered by Mayor F. R. Crumpton and Col. H. C. Stivers.

MONTAL TO BE SENT BACK HOME

Frank Montalto, "Black Hand' suspect and keeper of a disorderly resort at Hibbing, will be deported as an undesirable citizen, the immigration department having at last completed its investigation of his case. John Masslin and Domonick Popalato, who were arrested in May at Grand Rapids will be released.

Montalto was found guilty of running a disreputable house on March 15 and was committed to the county jail on this charge. While there his case was brought to the attention of Immigration Inspector W. H. Dean, who ordered him held for investigation.

It took the department nearly seven months to find out whether he was an undesirable or not, and it has at last secured evidence sufficient to justify his being deported. There is nothing tangible against the other two suspects, however.

LYNCH BROTHER OF FLEEING NEGRO

Clarksdale, Miss., Sept. 6.—Unable to get their hands upon Nathan McDaniels, a negro, who is alleged to have shot and killed Policeman Walter Marshall when the latter attempted to raid a crap game here on Saturday night, a mob of hundreds of citizens caught McDaniels brother, Hiram McDaniels, at midnight, and lynched him from a telegraph pole on the spot where Marshall fell dead.

Hiram McDaniels had admitted furnishing a mule to aid his bother in escaping.

ISHPEMING STILL LEADS.

Negaunee, Mich., Sept. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—The local team defeated the Munising nine in a hotly contested game at Union park Sunday afternoon by 2 to 0.

Siebenthal pitched for the locals and Nelson for Munising.

In the game between Ishpeming and Marquette played at the Marquette fair grounds, the Queen City boys were victorious, winning by a score of 2 to 0.

The standing of the teams follows:

	Won.	Lost.	Pct.
Ishpeming	13	5	.722
Negaunee	13	7	.650
Marquette	10	9	.526
Munising	2	17	.105

KNIVES FREELY USED; ONE MAN IS KILLED.

Escanaba, Mich., Sept. 6.—One man is dead and two others were seriously injured in a free-for-all fight at Trenary, on the Soo line, in a camp of Finlander woodchoppers employed by the Cleveland-Cliffs Iron company. Knives were freely used. Two men are held at Trenary. Sheriff Aronson and Prosecuting Attorney Dotsch left for Trenary Friday morning to bring back the two prisoners.

To the Citizens of Duluth
Le Richeux's drug stores have in their possession what can be honestly termed a Godsend to Humanity, and they will prove it if given the opportunity. Go to their store if you are troubled with Rheumatism, in any form, Eczema or Salt Rheum. Buy a bottle of Irish Liniment, follow directions as found on page three of the little book that goes with the bottle, give it a fair trial and then if Irish Liniment does not relieve you, to your entire satisfaction, go back to the Le Richeux drug store, tell them so, and they will on your word, pay back the amount of money you paid them. Besides the ailments mentioned, please see the little book about a burn or sprain. It will remove soreness and stop Neuralgia pain instantly.
This leaves the matter entirely in your hands.

IRON AND STEEL REVIEW

New York, Sept. 6.—Strength and buoyancy have been the prominent characteristics of iron trade during the week with interest centered largely in row materials, including ore, pig iron scrap and coke. Finished steel products have given evidence of great vitality with a strong upward tendency in prices although the new contracts have not been conspicuously large after the enormous transactions of the last few months.

The last two days of August and the first of September developed great activity in foundry and forge iron in the Eastern district, sales for the three days aggregating 30,000 tons, not including 10,000 tons additional of basic iron. Then followed a lull for a day or two, but at the close of the week, the demand was more active and urgent than ever. Total transactions made by New York houses alone for the week aggregated 50,000 tons. During the last ten days of August contracts for pig iron reached 120,000 and for the full month of August 200,000 tons. Some furnaces have again advanced prices of foundry grades, the minimum for No. 2 foundry at Virginia furnaces is $15.50, Alabama No. 2 iron is difficult to purchase under $14. Birmingham and Buffalo furnaces, after selling at $15.75 in round lots, are now asking and obtaining $16 to $16.50 for both No. 2 foundry and malleable. Eastern Pennsylvania furnaces are obtaining $17 mainly, but some sales have been made at $17.50 furnace. There is much irregularity, No. 2 having sold as low as $16.50 and as high as $17.50, while other furnaces are demanding $18 and $18.50. Basic iron has sold mainly at $18 delivered for the last quarter of this year and the first quarter of next year, but few small lots of prompt iron have brought $18.25 delivered.

Rail contracts placed during the last week of August aggregated 40,000 tons, making the total of the month 400,000 tons. The car orders placed by railroads during August aggregated 26,000 and 20,000 more are pending shipments. Shops are placing new orders for axles, wheels, plates, bars and shapes. There is an active demand for billets and lots of from 500 to 1,000 tons of open hearth have sold from $24.50 to $27 at the mill. Cold shafting is $3 per ton higher. Rolled iron pipe was advanced $2 by some mills. Steel casing, line and drive pipes are $2 higher.

Fabricated structural material has been less active in the Eastern territory, but more sales have been reported in the West, some of which, however, are duplications. The total contracts placed during August aggregated about 115,000 tons. Eastern furnaces have placed additional contracts for foreign ore, including 180,000 tons of Swedish ore and 50,000 tons of Algerian.

About 600,000 tons of Lake Superior-Bessemer ore have been sold at prices prevailing for 1908.

Old material has advanced sharply and heavy steel melting scrap has broken through Eastern restrictions, with sales of round lots at $18 delivered.

ACCUSED ONE HELPING OUT

Head of Suspended Glen Ullin, N. D., Bank Aiding Bank Examiner.

Mandan, N. D., Sept. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—W. T. Moore, who, on last Tuesday, gave himself up to the authorities of Morton county in connection with the closing of the German State bank at Glen Ullin, of which he was president, has been unable to secure bond, although efforts to do so have been made. His hearing will not be held until such a time as it is definitely ascertained just what the shortage will amount to.

The officials are still engaged on the books of the bank, but up to the present time they are unable to say just what amount of money is not accounted for. Moore is still assisting the accountants in checking up affairs and renders every aid possible.

It is expected that the German State bank will be reorganized under the name of the Merchants State bank, with H. R. Lyon of Minneapolis and C. L. Timmerman and Joseph P. Hess of Mandan as the prime movers. They are all heavily interested in banks in the Missouri slope district, and are now working with the state bank examiner's office to the end that the affairs of the German State bank will be turned over to them, this insuring the depositors in the closed bank against any losses.

Held on Rape Charge.

Harvey, N. D., Sept. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—John Martin was bound over to the district court of Wells county on a charge of rape, Miss Margaret Volk, aged 15 years, being the state's witness. The affair is alleged to have occurred over a year ago. Martin going to Canada. On his return he was immediately placed under arrest and held for trial.

STANG PINE TRACT SOLD

Virginia & Rainy Lake Company Pays Big Sum for Timber.

Two Hundred Million Feet of Pine Changes Hands.

One million, five hundred thousand dollars is said to have been the price just paid by the Virginia & Rainy Lake company for the Stang tract of white pine in Lake county.

The deal, which has just been closed, is one of the biggest timber transactions that has been made for some time and adds to the Virginia & Rainy Lake company's holding, one of the best and most important pieces of timber still standing in this part of the country.

Edward Hines, president of the company, Rudolph Weyerhaeuser and S. J. Cusson, manager of the company, recently visited the tract and there were rumors then that a deal for the purchase of the timber was pending.

Negotiations between the purchaser and the owner, A. Stang of Morrill, Wis., were carried on for several days, but the transaction was not closed until late Saturday, when, it is understood, Mr. Stang agreed to part with his pine for $1,500,000.

The tract is said to contain 200,000,000 feet of white pine and it is understood that the company will begin cutting it, at the rate of about 50,000,000 feet a year. The logs will probably be cut at the company's mill in West Duluth. The timber lies about fourteen miles north of Two Harbors. A spur from the Iron Range road will probably be built to that point and the logs shipped direct to Duluth.

DEMONSTRATION IS ABANDONED

No Public Recognition of Minnesota Delegation in Congress.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 6.—The proposed demonstration in honor of the Minnesota delegation in congress, scheduled for the night of Wednesday, Sept. 8, has been abandoned by those in charge of the arrangements for it.

The ratification which has been thus formally abandoned was conceived by business enthusiasm and killed by political cowardice.

Shortly after the final vote on the tariff bill, in which the members of the Minnesota delegation in congress, with one notable exception, voted for the masses and against the classes, a delegation of three business men of St. Paul, representing the membership of the Commercial club, the Jobbers' union and the Business Men's league, represented to the Pioneer Press and the Dispatch that it would be a proper and fitting thing to give some public testimonial of the appreciation of Minnesota citizens of the courageous course of our delegates in congress in antagonizing the wishes of the standpatters and voting for the interests of the people of Minnesota and the nation.

Following this suggestion, committees were appointed and preliminary plans for the ratification adopted. Then the politicians began to get busy. The gentlemen who hold office and those posing as the people's champions for what there is in it for them threw up their hands in horror and began insisting that such action would be construed as "a slap at President Taft" and a step toward party disruption.

An epidemic of cold feet apparently attacked those charged with the plans for the meeting, and one by one they began to lose their enthusiasm, plead business engagements or vacation needs as excuses for their failure to further participate in the demonstration. The ranks finally narrowed down to two or three members who became convinced that they had no authority to proceed with the demonstration.

The members of the delegation in congress—for reasons best known to themselves—showed such anxiety over the political effects of the demonstration that they intimated a desire to have it abandoned.

Those who had been loudest in applauding the delegates in congress for their loyalty to principle finally smothered their enthusiasm for the sake of "party regularity" and practically beseeched the committee in charge of the ratification to abandon the plans and let the enthusiasm for the men who had done right die a neglected death.

Accordingly, so far as the politicians have a say in the matter, the ratification has been abandoned.

DOCTOR KILLS NEGRO BURGLAR

Answers Call to House of Neighbor and Has Fight on His Hands.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Sept. 6.—Responding to a call for aid at the house of a neighbor where a negro burglar had forced an entrance to the place, Dr. Robert D. Maddox, a prominent physician, shot and killed a negro early today.

The burglar, who later was identified as John Scott, a former convict who served three years in the Frankfort, Ky., penitentiary, broke into the residence of Mrs. Florence G. Barnes, Walnut Hill, Mrs. Wilkie Woodard of Syracuse, N. Y., a visitor at the Barnes home, awoke and discovered the presence of the intruder in her room. When he moved to another room she turned in a call for the police and also managed to notify Dr. Maddox, who lives in an adjoining house.

The doctor, half clad, appeared on the scene as the burglar attempted to escape from the house. Seeing the physician confronting him, the burglar was preparing to give battle when Dr. Maddox fired three bullets into the negroe's body, killing him instantly. An open knife was found clutched in the fingers of the dead man.

Dr. Maddox was not arrested.

PINE CITY WILL HAVE VERY FINE POSTOFFICE.

Pine City, Minn., Sept. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—J. Y. Breckenridge is showing the plan of the new postoffice building. If completed according to the plan which has been approved by the postoffice department, it will be one of the best and most convenient offices between St. Paul and Duluth.

FOLLOWERS OF DR. COOK AND PEARY RAISE CRY THAT "OUR MAN DID IT!"

North Pole Ananias Club Springs From Claims of Explorers.

Lieut. Shackleton Says Each Man's Records Will Check the Other's.

Bridgeman Attacks "Ethics" of Achievement of Dr. Cook.

New York, Sept. 7.—Has the North Pole been discovered? If so, who did it? How is either of the two present claimants of that honor going to prove his assertions beyond possibility of refutation?

These are the questions that today are dividing the world of science and exploration into two camps and promise the organization of an immense society which already has been dubbed the "North Pole Ananias club."

On one side of the world-wide controversy stand Dr. Frederick A. Cook of Brooklyn and his supporters; on the other are Commander Robert E. Peary and those who side with him. Thus far the controversy is in the "did"—"didn't" stage. Further developments promise even greater interest than has yet been aroused.

Admiral Melville's Stand.

Following the receipt, a week ago, of Dr. Cook's modest message announcing merely that his venture into the Far North had been "successful," and the explorer's return to civilization, the world of science abruptly divided itself into believers and skeptics. Chief of all the latter was Rear Admiral Mellville, U. S. N., who took immediate occasion to telegraph to the Arctic club to put no credence in Dr. Cook's claim to have found the North Pole." To this position the admiral held firmly in spite of the reports of European scientists, who declared themselves convinced after talking with Dr. Cook and reading his notes of his trip.

Then, on the same day that the Brooklyn man's claims were officially recognized by the kings of Sweden and Denmark, came a volley of telegrams from Commander Peary, addressed to the Associated Press, to individuals and to various geographical societies, announcing, with varied phraseology, that "the Stars and Stripes had been nailed to the North Pole," and that he "had the pole on board."

Once more Admiral Melville jumped to the front with the declaration:

"If Peary has telegraphed the Associated Press that he has found the Pole, I believe it and say bully for him."

One for Dr. Cook.

But it was now the turn of the other side to express skepticism, and the first

WANTS TO CLAIM POLE FOR CANADA

British Member of Parliament Will Put Question Up to Premier.

London, Sept. 7.—The question of the land of the North Pole is to come up in the house of commons. Sir George Parker has given notice of his intention of asking Premier Asquith whether this territory is not considered as belonging to Canada and if Dr. Cook has planted the American flag, whether or not this act gives the United States any right of possession over the region.

NEW CLAIMANT TO THE HONORS OF THE NORTH

ROBERT E. PEARY.

WILL APPEAL RATE CASE

Interstate Commerce Commission Will Carry Fight to Supreme Court.

Contends That It Did Not Exceed Its Power in Missouri Matter.

Washington, Sept. 7.—Although no formal conference of the interstate commerce commission has been held since the promulgation of the United States circuit court decision in the Missouri rate case, it has been determined that an appeal shall be taken to the United States supreme court as soon as possible.

Members of the commission and lawyers attached to the body are convinced that the circuit court failed to grasp fully the points contended for by the commission in the trial. So far as the commission is concerned, it exercised, in the promulgation of the order in the case, only the power conferred expressly upon it by the interstate commerce act.

Rate Held Unreasonable.

It decided, for instance, that the rate on certain shipments from New York to Kansas City, Mo., was unreasonable. That, it is contended, is a power clearly within the jurisdiction of the commission. The rate is made up of a sum of the through rates from New York to Mississippi river points and a sum of the local rates from those points to Kansas City.

The through rate from New York to Mississippi river points is considered reasonable by the commission, but the sum of the local rates from the Mississippi to Kansas City, when applied to through shipments, is considered unreasonably high, and, by the order of the commission, it was reduced.

Up to Railroads.

It is maintained by the commisson, and will be maintained before the supreme court, that, once the rates between two widely separated points are fixed on a reasonable basis, the adjustment of intermediate rates and the rates to localities affected by the original order of the commission necessarily must be worked out by the railroads themselves.

MURDERED IN CAR BERTH

Italian Is Shot While on a Great Northern Train.

Body Is Removed at St. Paul Depot---Black Hand Plot Suspected.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—The body of an Italian, supposed to be Angelino Cenediti, residing at 397 Rosabel street, St. Paul, was taken from a Great Northern train here when it arrived from the West this morning.

The man had been shot in the back while lying in his berth in the train, and the police suspect a Black Hand assassination.

Cenediti and a companion boarded the train at Saco, Mont. Shortly after they had entered their berths on the train, Conductor D. L. Clanty was told that one of the men was seriously ill. A hurried investigation disclosed that Cenediti had been shot. The bed clothes were soaked with blood and the man was weak with loss of blood.

Companion Has Disappeared.

Conductor Clanty wanted to put the injured man off at Devils Lake, N. D., but his companion insisted that he should be taken to St. Paul, the destination on their tickets. When the train arrived here Cenditi was dead and Coroner Miller, who had been notified, took charge of the body.

The companion of the dead man disappeared at the station. No suspicion attached to him and no attempt was made to hold him, as he promised to report to the police here.

The shooting is enveloped in mystery, as no one seems to know when the shooting occurred.

LORD STRATHCONA HURT IN RUNAWAY

Carries Arm in a Sling as Result of Experience in Manitoba.

Winnipeg, Man., Sept. 7. — Lord Strathcona, while driving to his ranch with Mayor Megaw of Verona, Saturday night, was thrown out of his carriage and slightly injured. The horses became unmanageable, and to save themselves the two men turned the horses into a wire fence. Lord Strathcona sustained an injured arm, which he now carries in a sling. Mayor Megaw suffered a broken leg. Lord Strathcona is 82 years of age.

HERO OF THE WRECK OF STEAMER OHIO

GEORGE E. ECCLES.

George Eccles is one of the heroes of the sea. He was the wireless operator on the Ohio, of the Alaska line, which sank recently off the Pacific coast. When the Ohio was sinking, Eccles stuck to his post, sending out "C. Q. D." signals till the last passenger was in the boats. Then, amid the cheers of the rescued passengers, he leaped into the sea to swim to safety. But a timber struck him on the head and he was stunned and sank. Four years ago Eccles was discharged by the Canadian Northern railroad for carelessness and inefficiency. Just before the Ohio started on her last trip he resigned to accept a better position, but agreed to make one more trip to oblige the officers of the company.

PUMMELS GIRL'S LOVER; KILLED

Sioux Falls Man Is Shot By Brother of Daughter's Sweetheart.

Sioux Falls, S. D., Sept. 7.—George Hurd of this city was shot and killed early today after attacking his daughter's sweetheart, Eugene Radford of Franklin, Ill. While Eugene was being beaten, his brother, Charles, came to his ald, and after both had been severely pounded and Hurd had Charles down, the latter drew a revolver and fired twice, killing Hurd. The brothers surrendered to the police.

ONLY ONE MAN IS HURT IN BURLINGTON WRECK.

St. Joseph, Mo., Sept. 7.—The Burlington's express, southbound, ran into a washout four miles south of St. Joseph this morning. Seven coaches left the track, and five of them rolled into the ravine. A wrecking train carrying surgeons was sent from here before it was known that only one person was hurt, an unknown man whose foot was sprained.

St. Joe Voting on Charter.

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 7.—St. Joseph citizens are voting today on a proposition to adopt a new city charter. The new charter is patterned after the commission forms of government lately adopted by a number of cities.

HARRIMAN IS SICK IN BED

Magnate's Relapse Is Laid to Indiscretion in His Eating.

Magnate Is Feverish and Weak But Doctors Hope for Recovery.

Arden, N. Y., Sept. 7.—All the alarming rumors regarding the condition of E. H. Harriman have been revived, following his relapse of Sunday night. From the best information obtainable today, however, it was believed that the attack that caused a hurry call for a New York nurse, and probably two nurses, one for day and one for night, was a temporary sickness caused by a sudden change of temperature, due to an indiscretion in diet which the sick man in his weakened condition was unable to throw off. Dr. W. G. Lyle, Mr. Harriman's private physician, calls the attack "acute indigestion." In his statement last night he said that his patient was better.

Newspapermen Go Back.

One result of the news has been a swift reassembling of the newspaper representatives whose presence a week ago at every avenue leading to the Harriman house finally caused the sick man himself to issue a statement regarding his condition and promise that if the press of the country will withdraw its representatives he would see that it was informed of any subsequent crisis in his condition. For this reason an effort is being made to secure daily bulletins from Dr. Lyle.

While Mr. Harriman's last attack in itself may not be serious, there is always danger of grave consequences in the case of a man as weak as Mr. Harriman.

Confined to His Bed.

This, it is believed, accounts for anxiety of those surrounding the sick man. It was said today that although the progress of Mr. Harriman's latest attack has been arrested, his temperature remains high and he is exceedingly weak. The best information is that he is in bed, and although no confirmation of the report has yet been obtained from the house, little doubt exists here that there are other physicians attending him besides Dr. Lyle.

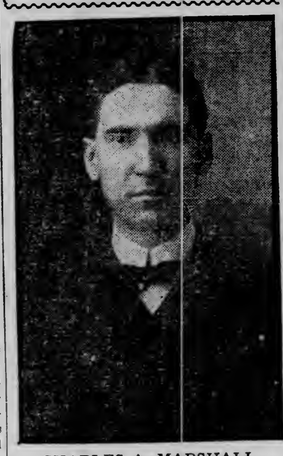

It was known that only one person was hurt, an unknown man whose foot was sprained.

Talk of an operation has been revived, but there is nothing definite to support such a rumor.

Ex-Governor Benjamin B. Odell came from his home in Newburgh today and was taken on the inclined railroad to the Harriman house.

Mr. Odell told a passenger on the train that Mr. Harriman was "a very sick man."

NOW IN FULL CONTROL OF LYCEUM THEATER

CHARLES A. MARSHALL.

BITTER FIGHT IS SETTLED

Strike at McKee's Rocks Is Settled By Agreement on Terms.

Company Is Said to Have Made Some Notable Concessions.

Pittsburg, Pa., Sept. 7.—After eight weeks that have been marked by rioting, charges of peonage so strong that they resulted in an investigation by the Federal government, and some fatalities, besides much misery and suffering among the men and their families, the strike at the Pressed Steel Car company's plant at McKee's Rocks was settled last night between officials of the car company and representatives of the 3,500 employes. Today the men began to vote on the terms of settlement.

It is reported that concessions in the form of better working conditions, equal rights to all the strikers, and a promise of an increase in wages have been made by the company.

FATAL FALL FROM BOAT.

Longshoreman Perishes Between Ashland and Bayfield.

Ashland, Wis., Sept. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—William Boyle, a longshoreman fell from a sailboat while on his way between Ashland and Bayfield during a Labor day celebration and was drowned.

HUSH MONEY TRIAL BEGUN IN CHICAGO.

Chicago, Sept. 7.—Police Inspector Edward McCann, charged with malfeasance in office and accepting bribes, was put on trial today before Judge Barnes of the criminal court. McCann is accused of accepting "hush money in connection with the alleged protection of illegal establishments in certain parts of the city.

Charles A. Marshall Company Gets Control of Theater Property.

Will Be Permanent Home of Copper and Iron Circuit.

Duluth to Be Booking Center for the Entire Northwest.

A $1,000,000 real estate deal, which also means that Duluth will become the permanent theatrical center of the entire district between Chicago and the coast, was closed today, when the Charles A. Marshall company purchased the Lyceum theater building from Thomas F. Cole, for a price which has not been made public, but is close to the $1,000,000 mark.

It is the biggest real estate deal made in Duluth in years, and there is more behind it than the mere transfer of the property. The object in acquiring the Lyceum building, was not only to assure the permanent occupancy of the building, but also to provide a home for the Copper and Iron circuit of theaters, and the Northwestern Theater Managers' association.

During the past few years Mr. Marshall has been gradually building up a circuit of theaters, until he is now probably second only to John Cort among the Western booking managers. He books what is known as the Copper & Iron Circuit, which contains some twenty theaters in Wisconsin and Michigan, and in addition to this is president of the Northwestern Theater Managers' association, through which he is able to reach some fifty theaters in all parts of the Northwest.

Mr. Marshall and the associations he represents, are on very friendly terms with John Cort, manager of the Northwestern Theatrical association, which controls about 100 theaters from Denver west to the coast. Cort is the biggest man in the theatrical business in the West at the present time, and any attractions that want to go to the coast, outside of the vaudeville bookings, have to see Cort. Mr. Marshall has built up a very strong circuit in the Middle West, and practically all of the large companies going West over the northern route have to book Mr. Marshall's theaters. Owing to this fact and from his New York connections with Al Hayman, Klaw & Erlanger, Mr. Marshall has built up a big institution here, and he has been working to make it permanent. The Lyceum building will house not only the theater itself, but the offices of these theatrical associations.

Main Booking Center.

It means that Duluth will in time become the main booking center of the Northwest, and probably in time a big producing center for theatrical attractions, the way having been already paved for this with two companies

HORDE OF SLEUTHS FOR NEW ORLEANS

Police Intend to Safeguard Taft and Sherman During Their Visit.

New Orleans, La., Sept. 7.—Detectives from nearly all of the largest cities of the United States will assemble in New Orleans during the Lakes-to-the-Gulf Deep Waterways convention Oct. 30 to Nov. 2, it was announced today. Both the president and vice president of the United States will be guests. This has prompted the local police to invite all outside aid possible.

WANTS WOMEN TO WAGE WAR ON PESTIFEROUS RATS

Uncle Sam Officially Declares Rodents Should Be Exterminated.

Washington, Sept. 7.—Rat clubs and other societies for more systematic warfare on destructive rodents may leap into popular favor among housekeepers, now that the government has officially sanctioned this method for extermination of the worst mammal pest in the United States.

The rat has been recognized by the government as a problem. Its activity in disseminating infectious diseases has long loomed up as a danger signel to the health authorities, and losses from its depredations run into many million dollars a year, according to an official statement just issued by the department of agriculture.

Cats of Little Use.

Dr. David E. Lantz of the bureau of biological survey, has taken vigorous hold of the question, and this is what he thinks of the cat as a rat destroyer:

"However valuable cats may be as mousers, few of them learn to catch rats. The ordinary house cat is too well fed and consequently too lazy to undertake the capture of an animal as formidable as the brown rat. Birds are more to their liking."

The department in a bulletin emphasizes the importance of "rat clubs," and suggests that interest in organized rat hunts may be stimulated by offering prizes or rewards in various communities to the individual hauling forth the greatest number of dead rats after one of the crusades.

PROBE CHARGES IN G. A. R. HOME

Board of Governors Begins Investigation of Alleged Mismanagement.

Sawtelle, Cal., Sept. 7.—Headed by United States Senator Warner, the national board of governors of Grand Army Veterans' Homes began an investigation of the charges of mismanagement today against the officials of the home here. Senator Warner said that the present inquiry would go to the bottom of the affair, and numerous witnesses have been called to testify.

RAIN FLOODS TOPEKA STREETS

Heaviest Twelve-Hour Fall on Record Ties Up Street Car Traffic.

Topeka, Kan., Sept. 7.—The heaviest rainfall for twelve hours ever recorded here, fell last night and this morning, the total precipitation being a fraction more than eight inches. A light fall continued today.

Several streets were flooded. Street car traffic was tied up and people waded to their places of business through water varying in depth from three inches to a foot.

THE NEW HOLIDAY LAW CLOSED ALL SALOONS.

Houghton, Mich., Sept. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—The celebration of Labor day in the Copper country was marked by one important feature—the saloons were closed under the law passed by the last session forbidding such places from being open on holidays. The police say the result of the working of the law speaks volumes for the wisdom of its author. A parade with speeches and other events at Hancock marked the day in this section.

Frank Keithman Is Accused of Clubbing Dr. Egge to Death.

Fargo, N. D., Sept. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Frank Keithman, a carpenter, was arrested at his home in Fargo this morning on a charge of murdering Dr. Thrond S. Egge of Moorhead, Minn., whose head was beaten to a pulp last night.

It is claimed that Keithman and Egge had a wrestling match in a saloon early last evening, and that Egge threw Keithman, which so enraged the defeated man that he lay in wait near Egge's home. Keithman was intoxicated when found asleep later in his home in Fargo. The prisoner formerly was a policeman in Moorhead. Dr. Egge was a well known physician, and formerly was coroner.

Convincing evidence is said to have been found against Keithman. A microscopic examination of the sleeve and side of Keithman's coat showed blood stains, and Keithman's hat was found near the scene of the murder.

After a wrestling match in Walter's saloon last night, Keithman was so enraged that he struck Egge when they were lined up at the bar a few minutes later. Walter cautioned Keithman and the latter left the saloon vowing vengeance against Egge and declaring he would "get him."

Killed on His Way Home.

Later, when Dr. Egge was on his

TWO WIVES SURVIVE HIM

Anton Poupore Said to Have Lived a Double Life.

Strange Story Is Brought Out at Inquest Over Body.

Anton Poupore of Poupore's Siding Minn., who died of fatty degeneration of the heart, as was learned at an inquest at the rooms of Flood & Horgan's undertaking establishment yesterday, lived with one woman twenty years and became the father of nine children by her, while his wife, undivorced, was living in New York, with the seven children born to them while they lived in wedded bless.

This strange story was brought out at the inquest, which was conducted by Dr. Tuohy. The deceased was 74 years of age, and appeared to be in the best of health up to the day of his death. He died very suddenly at his home. The youngest child of Poupore is only 9 years old. All sixteen children and both wives survive him.

Mr. Poupore was higly respected in the community in which he lived, although the story of his life was known to some of his neighbors, it is said. It was one of these neighbors who testified as to his past at the inquest. The deceased had been very successful in the West, and had acquired extensive property holdings, most of them in the vicinity of the siding named after him, which is only a few miles from Brookston, Minn. The land is valuable for farming purposes, and it is expected that a lively fight will develop among the relatives as to its ownership.

Mr. Poupore was born in New York, and in his younger days worked on a farm. He married while a young man, and is said to have lived happily for many years with his wife, becoming the father of seven children during that period. He met with financial reverses about twenty years ago, and his small savings were swept away. Opportunities for getting back on his feet seemed rather limited in the East, so he came West to seek his fortune, according to the story told by his neighbors.

He came to Northern Minnesota, and worked at different things here finally settling near Brookston. He engaged quite extensively in the timber business, and the spot where he loaded his ties and logs on to the cars, came to be known as Poupore's Siding. He had not been in this section of the country long when he met a woman with whom he fell in love, and whom he married.

The funeral services were held this morning from Flood & Horgan's undertaking rooms.

Tramps Slug Brakeman.

Harvey, N. D., Sept. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—While endeavoring to dislodge a gang of tramps who had taken place on a freight train, Brakeman James Schaffer of this city was slugged and knocked from his train. He was found several hours later at the side of the track in an unconscious condition. Schaffer has as yet been unable to give any details of the affair.

COOK LAUDS PEARY'S ACT

Denies Taking Stores Left at Etah By His Rival Explorer.

New Honor Given Brooklyn Man By University of Copenhagen.

Copenhagen, Sept. 7.—"By going farther to the East than I did, Commander Peary has cut out of the unknown an enormous space which, of course, will be vastly useful and scientifically interesting."

These were the words of Dr. Frederick A. Cook when he was told today of the receipt of dispatches confirming the previous reports of Commander Peary's success in reaching the North pole.

"I am the first to shout 'Hurrah for Peary!'" the doctor continued. "If he has telegraphed an announcement that he has reached the pole, then it is true, and I congratulate him."

Asked whether Commander Peary was likely to have found traces of his progress over the Polar seas, Dr. Cook replied:

"No, he scarcely would have come across my tracks."

Did Not Take Peary's Supplies.

Dr. Cook then said:

"I understand a rumor is current about my having taken some of Peary's provisions at Etah; this is founded on Eskimo gossip and misunderstanding. I desire no controversy. I simply say, in reply to any such assertion, 'No.' Commander Peary is a friend of mine."

Dr. Cook said also that, according to his present plans, he would reach New York Sept. 20 or 21, on board the Scandinavian-American line steamer Oscar II.

The name of Peary is heard more frequently in Copenhagen today than that of Cook. Experts, the general public and the newspapers accept Commander Peary's triumph as an unquestioned fact. While loyal to their belief in Dr. Cook, the people await the revelations to be made by the publication of the details of his observations.

New Honor for Cook.

The University of Copenhagen tomorrow will make Dr. Cook honorary president of science, a greater distinction than the honorary degree which it was first proposed to confer upon him.

Maurice F. Egan, the American minister to Denmark, Miss Egan and the German minister, Count Kenckel, had luncheon with Dr. Cook at the Hotel Angleterre today. This afternoon Mr. Egan gave a reception to the diplomatic corps to meet Dr. Cook.

A steamer with 400 English tourists on board arrived here this morning from England. The entire party remained in Copenhagen for the purpose of seeing Dr. Cook. They filled the corridors of the hotel, eager to catch sight of the famous American.

Says Cook Was First.

No one was more interested in Commander Peary's announcement than Commodore Hovgaard, who is an authority on Arctic exploration.

"I said to Dr. Cook when I received news of Peary's success," the commodore declared, "'you at all events were the first to reach the pole,' and there you have my opinion briefly. I think that in justice to Dr. Cook we should remember he got there first. He selected what seems to have been the best route."

"How long after Dr. Cook reached the pole do you think Commander Peary arrived there?" the commodore was asked.

"Probably a year, perhaps only six months," he replied.

"Could Peary have learned at the pole that Cook had been there before him?"

"That seems impossible. Even if Peary was there two weeks or two days after Dr. Cook he might not have found any track of the first party, because of the movement of the drift ice. It is probable also that the moving ice took away the metal box Cook left at the pole."

Peary Steamer Starts.

St. Johns, N. F., Sept. 7.—The Peary Arctic steamer Roosevelt left Indian Harbor, Labrador, today for the southward. She will touch at Battle Harbor, which port she probably will not reach before tomorrow.

ORDINANCE WILL STAND

Mayor Fails to Veto It Within the Time Limit.

Aldermen Will Be Asked to Lower the License Fee.

It looks very much as if the automobile ordinance, passed at the last council meeting, which provides that each person operating an automobile in the city shall have in his or her possession a license costing $5 yearly, would stand.

The time limit for Mayor Haven to veto the measure expired yesterday, but there was no veto forthcoming. It is understood, however, that he will ask the council to reconsider the ordinance. A reconsideration will require a majority vote, and it is claimed, from the expressions of the different aldermen, that there is very slight chance of this majority being secured. If it is not secured, there will be no chance of modifying the objectionable features.

If Mayor Haven had vetoed the measure, it would have taken a two-thirds vote of the aldermen to override the veto, where, under present conditions, a majority vote will be sufficient to kill whatever chance there may have been for the automobile matter to be considered. The aldermen say they were careful to look into the situation before voting on the amendment to the traffic ordinance, and express the belief that public sentiment favors the $5 license fee.

While the bitter opposition of the automobile owners may have changed the ideas of some of the aldermen on the subject, it is said that not enough votes will be secured for a reconsideration.

"Correct Dress for Women"

Our garments appeal to the woman who appreciates beauty of line — individuality—quality and quiet refinement.

It isn't a question of how much fancy trimming braids or "do dabs" we can put on, but rather how much we can leave off--

That accounts in a measure for their charm and simplicity.

Always well tailored---of finest materials and richest linings, with correct lines that give so much style and character to the figure.

That's why Gidding Garments are in a class by themselves—

Yet prices here are modest—More reasonable, in fact, than at the "usual" store for the ordinary kind of clothes—due to our superior buying ability and larger outlet for higher class things.

Splendid tailor-made suits of excellent materials, richly lined and cut on fashionable lines, with newest skirts, are to be had here at $25.00. You can't match them at the usual store for under $35.

Excellent Suits in a wide range of styles, mantailored throughout and finest linings, at $27.50 and $29.50.

From these prices by a dollar and two to one hundred and fifty to the most beautiful kinds of two and three-piece suits.

Gowns and Dresses for various functions. Wraps and Coats for street, evenings or informal wear—

Luxurious Furs---Fashionable Millinery ---Fashionable Corsets --- Undermuslins --- in fact anything and everything that milady of good taste wants to wear.

NORTHCLIFFE IN WAR PAINT

Says Germany Is Getting Ready to Fight With England.

Tells Canadians They Ought to Keep an Eye on the Affairs.

Winnipeg, Man., Sept. 7.—Lord Northcliffe, owner of the London Times, in an interview here today predicted war between Germany and Great Britain. He said in the Krupp gun works alone 100,000 men are working night and day and on Sundays preparing for war. He said:

"I would make the suggestion, with all respect to the Canadians, who are investing their money and labor in constructing railroads and building grain elevators, that they keep an eye on European affairs and begin to figure out why it is all the shipbuilding yards in Germany are busy constructing rapid crusers and first class battleships and why it is that the Krupp's works have increased their hands to over 100,000 men, nearly the population of Winnipeg."

Says England Must Prepare.

His conviction is that war can only be averted by most thorough preparation on the side of Great Britain.

The English editor makes no effort to spare the feelings of Canadians. He states that some Canadians have Utopian views and think such a war a crime.

"The Germans do not think so," he continued. "They have a magnificent army, and the second navy in the world, and they ask what these things are for.

"They are a thrifty people. They do not throw money away. They have made an immense sum of money out of their last great war.

"They will fight or threaten again when they think that it will pay. Many people say now that they will fight Great Britain in the near future, and some have mentioned the year 1912."

WHY DULUTH SPECIALISTS CURE WHEN OTHERS FAIL!

The specialists of the Progressive Medical Association of Duluth regard their patients in a different way than most so-called specialists do. They feel that it is their duty to CURE every man who comes to them for relief. They have devoted their whole lives to the study of the diseases of men and therefore they are thoroughly competent to cure. They have in their offices at No. 1 West Superior street, all the latest scientific apparatus for the treatment of the diseases peculiar to men, and are thus able to give treatments which most other doctors cannot offer. Many thousands of dollars have been invested in the purchase of these instruments, but the Duluth specialists set out to CURE their patients and they know that they cannot hope to do this without the proper appliances. The Duluth specialists give their patients instructions and advice when they have cured them, which, if properly followed, will enable them to STAY CURED. They do not partially cure a man in order to have him come back; they entirely eradicate the disease from his system and then tell him how to avoid a recurrence of it. One quickly and entirely cured patient is worth a dozen 'come-backs' as a testimonial and advertisement. The Specialists of the Progressive Medical Association know that it pays to do good work and they do good work therefore. At least one personal examination is desirable, but if you cannot possibly spare the time to come in and see the specialists, write for a symptom blank, fill it out and return; your case will be handled confidentially by mail. Remember! The Specialists issue a LEGAL GUARANTEE TO CURE. You take no risk of paying your money for a partial cure; you will be ABSOLUTELY CURED.

BEER THE LIMIT.

Grand Marais Drinkers Will Have to Cut Out Red Liquor.

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—The prohibition state headquarters are elated over the announcement that the government's enforcement of the Indian treaty of 1855 relative to the sale of liquor in the northeastern section of Minnesota will shut out saloons handling spirituous liquor in many places. A place that will be affected will be Grand Marais in Cook county and it is understood the government has ordered the head of the village to restrict the sale of drinks to beer, which is not technically considered a spirituous liquor.

The prohibitionists are working to close saloons in Walker, near the Leech Lake Indian reservation and in Bagley and Detroit, near the White Earth reservation on the same grounds.

MARINE NEWS

MANY BOATS BEING BUILT

Next Season Will See Many New Vessels on the Lakes.

American Shipbuilding Company Alone Has Orders for Nine.

Never in the history of the Great Lakes have so many new steel vessels been contracted for and ordered as in the past ten days. About a week ago an order of three vessels was announced. Yesterday one of the most important shipping deals for lake vessels made in recent years was closed when orders for four vessels, to cost $1,300,000, were placed.

James C. Wallace, president of the American Shipbuilding company, announced that he had closed contracts with Southern furnace interests for four modern freight steamers, to come out at the opening of next season. One, and possibly two, of the big vessels will be built at the Cleveland yard, and the other two will probably be turned out at the Lorain plant. This order makes five steamers that the American Shipbuilding company has closed contracts for this week.

Three of the steamers will be of the 9,000-ton class. They will be 524 feet over all, 504 feet keel, 54 feet beam and 30 feet deep. The fourth boat will have a carrying capacity of 10,000 gross tons. She will be 546 feet over all, 525 feet keel, 58 feet beam and 31 feet deep.

The steamers will have triple expansion engines with cylinders 23½, 38 and 63 inches, with 42-inch stroke. Each of the boats will have two Scotch boilers to be allowed 180 pounds pressure. The boilers of the 9,000-ton boats will be 14½ feet in diameter and 11½ feet long. The boilers of the other ship will be 15 feet in diameter and 11½ feet long.

The American Shipbuilding company now has orders for nine steamers for 1910 delivery and they will cost about $3,500,000. The list includes seven bulk freighters, two passenger steamers and a package freighter. Two of the steamers are for the Pittsburg Steamship company, which is the lake bld of the Steel corporation. They will be 600 feet long, and work has been started at Lorain. Another of the coarse freighters, which will have a capacity of 9,000 tons, is for Cleveland parties.

The Great Lakes Engineering Works of Detroit has lined up four steamers, making a total of thirteen ships that have been contracted for up to date for 1910 delivery. Three of the vessels that will be built by the Detroit firm were ordered by the Northern Lakes Steamship company, which was organized by Cleveland men. That contract was closed here last week. The other one is a package freight steamer, which is building for the Mutual Transit company of Buffalo.

More figuring for new tonnage is being done and it is expected that the lake builders will book more orders before the end of the month. The outlook in the shipbuilding trade is better than it has been at any time during the past two years and with the large amount of repair work that is in sight, the plants will have about all the business they will be able to handle the coming winter.

Between 50,000 and 60,000 tons of steel will be used in the construction of the new vessels that have been ordered.

Hawgood Gets Away.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Sept. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—The steamer Arthur H. Hawgood, which struck an obstruction while entering the upper Canadian canal Sunday morning, puncturning her forward port compartment, got away early this morning after undergoing temporary repairs.

RECORDS GO AT THE SOO

Tonnage for August Almost Reaches the 9,000,000 Mark.

Exceeds Total for June 1907, Which Held Former Record.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Sept. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Had but one more big ore carrier passed through the docks loaded, the tonnage figures for the month of August would have reached the 9,000,000-ton mark.

Nevertheless, the record established in June, 1907, was smashed, the largest tonnage in the history of the canals being passed through.

The total tonnage is 8,988,223 tons, exceeding the former record by 122,871 tons.

New ore figures are established at 6,778,835 tons, while soft coal also hovers about the record, with 1,486,932 tons.

The vessel passages numbered 2,901 and passengers 20,613.

HAVE TROUBLE RAISING BOAT

Rough Seas and Fog Seriously Interfere With Work.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Sept. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Rough seas and fogs have caused considerable delay in raising the steamer Senator, which is sunk off Pipe Island, near Detour. Patchings were completed Saturday and it was expected that pumping out would start Sunday. No work was done, however, owing to the strong wind. Conditions were more favorable yesterday and pumping out was started. It is expected that the Senator can be raised within twenty-four hours from the time pumping out was started. The tug Manistique is expected to arrive today with more pumps.

The steamer Arthur H. Hawgood of the Neptune Steamship company, which ran afoul an obstruction while warping into the upper Canadian pier, was lightered of about 400 tons of ore and brought to this side. A diver put on a patch. Her forward port compartment was punctured with an oblong-shaped hole about a yard long. It is presumed she hit a rock.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Sept. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—That the steamer Senator will break in two if an attempt is made to raise her while in her present condition, is the decision reached by the Reid wrecking crew, which is at work on that steamer off Pipe island, near Detour.

The vessel has been patched and it was expected that pumping out would be started yesterday.

More extensive examinations have left the opinion that the buckle amidships will break still farther if raising is attempted without some of the cargo being removed.

Yesterday the tug Manistique arrived with a clam shell. About 500 tons have already been removed and it is figured that 2,000 tons more must be taken off before danger of breaking can be overcome.

TRIBUTES TO TISCHER

County Board in Session Passes Resolution of Condolence.

Routine Business Is Transacted at the September Meeting.

The county board this morning at the opening of its September meeting, the first since the death of George Tischer, commissioner for the Second district, who died as the result of a street car accident, paid fitting tribute to the memory of the dead commissioner. No successor yet having been elected, Mr. Tischer's chair was vacant. A resolution expressing the regret of the board over the loss of their member was passed and a committee consisting of Commissioners Cummings, Fraser and Overton was appointed to draw up suitable resolutions to be spread on the minutes of the board and seent to the bereavel family.

The business of the meeting this morning was largely routine. Bills were allowed, road petitions considered and other matters of general nature disposed of.

The board this morning expressed its faith in the agricultural resources of St. Louis county and offered its support to the individuals and associations which are working for their development. A resolution was adopted appropriating $500 for the St. Louis county exhibit at the Minnesota state fair and another resolution appropriated $500 for the aid of the St. Louis County Agricultural Society of Hibbing, which holds the county fair this month.

A protest was presented by farmers and settiers of the towns of Industrial and Independence against Commissioner Overton, who, they claim, has employed a foreman from outside of the two towns on a road there. They claim the foreman has been hiring men and teams from outside, to the detriment of the people who are developing the towns. They ask that they be accorded the privilege of working for the county when they can give just as good service as people from outside of the towns where the work is being done. The board received the protest, but took no action.

A communication was received from Edward Mendenhall, complaining of the condition of the Swan lake road from Pike lake to the city limits. He said the road was in poor condition for all of that distance, but is in fairly good shape within the city limits. He also said that some of the courdoroys need replacement. Commissioner Overton said the road appeared to be in good condition last week when he went over it. He said he would look it over again, however.

The monthly average of men employed in mining in St. Louis county during the year ending June 30, 1909, was 8,551, and the total amount of ore shipped from the ranges during that period was 21,662,675 tons, according to W. H. Harvey, inspector of mines in St. Louis county, whose report was presented to the board.

The report goes on to say that the number of cubic yards of earth removed in uncovering ore bodies was 23,893,113, and for this work an average of 4,809 men were employed every month. This makes a total monthly average of 13,360 men.

There are 111 mines in St. Louis county, eighty-five of which were in operation during the year. The average amount of money paid out daily as wages was $2.52 for underground labor, and $2.83 for open pit and skilled labor, making an average daily wage per man of $2.68.

The mining operations resulted in sixty-one fatal accidents during the year, thirty-two of these occuring underground, and twenty-five in open pit and stripping operations. This record is six ahead of that set in 1907. Mr. Harvey says the majority of these accidents was due to cave-ins, and asserts the compahies have taken steps to reduce the number of accidents by the construction of supporting roofs in the underground workings. Besides the fatalities, there were sixty-one serious accidents during the year, resulting in injuries to laborers.

The deaths by nationalities were as follows: Austrians, 20; Fins, 5; Italians, 6; Americans, 6; Swede-Finns, 2; Swedes, 2; Polish, 2; Norwegians, English and Canadians, one each.

The companies used 93,500,000 feet of lumber cut during this period. Lineal feet of mining timber used, (average diameter 9 inches) was 14,980,329, while 165,515 railroad cross-ties and 28,592 cords of six-inch lagging, were used. In all, the consumption of timber was 8,959,700,000,000 feet.

The companies own 1,407 buildings, 1,317 of which are for employes, Forty-five are boarding houses and forty-five camps. The Oliver Iron Mining company owns 899, the Shenango Furnace company 76, the Hobart Iron company 87, the Mahoning Ore & Steel company 52 and the Inter-State Iron company 65.

The shipments by mines producing more than half a million tons of iron ore during the year were: Hull-Rust, 3,266,905, Fayal 1,660,919, Burt 1,595,435, Virginia 1,181,726, Adams 1,176,330, Mahoning 1,064,611, Morris 915,810, Stevenson 682,345, Shenango 542,789, Genoa (Gilbert) 530,226, Biwabik 500,694.

Justice of the Peace E. H. Barratt of Buhl reported to the board that Ed Thompson had pleaded guilty before him to keeping his saloon open after hours, and Eli Anderson pleaded guilty to keeping a gambling device. The board had no record of Anderson owning a saloon, so action on his case was deferred. Thompson was cited to appear at the next meeting, Oct. 7, to show cause why his license should not be revoked. The saloons are in the town of Great Scott.

The board refunded $68.05 to Harry Burnell, who had a saloon in the town of Morcom. The town voted "dry" last spring, and his saloon was closed before the period of his license had expired.

• • •

The board appropriated $2,400 for the improvement of roads in the Fifth commissioner's district. The money comes out of the special road fund.

The county board of education was authorized to employ a clerk at a salary not to exceed $60 a month.

A petition was presented by the people of Kinney, a location near Buhl in the town of Great Scott, asking that they be allowed to incorporate as a village. Action on the petition was put off until the next meeting of the board, to allow the completion of preliminaries.

Mayor Andrew Hawkinson and several members of the council of Virginia, accompanied by Attorney N. B. Arnold, were present to talk over the question of providing quarters for the district court on the range. They arrived too late this morning and they will be heard this afternoon.

The court is now holding forth in the council chamber in the Virginia city hall. The city of Virginia proposed to enlarge the building to accommodate the court, the county to rent the new quarters. Plans were prepared and bids received. It was estimated the work would cost about $18,000, but when the bids were opened, it was found that the lowest was $48,000.

All bids were rejected and now Virginia is putting up the question to the county board. The law provides that the board must provide quarters and means of complying will be discussed. The city of Virginia will not build the addition proposed. The present building cost only $10,000 originally, and, as Mayor Hawkinson expressed it this morning, the city doesn't propose to "put a dog on the tail."

A Great Inrush of Beautiful Fall Styles

Smartly Tailored Suits
Stunning Long Coats
Rich Furs and Fur Garments

We invite you to inspect a most exquisite gathering of Autumn and Fall styles, the authentic interpretation of the really correct fashions.

For, tho our display space and facilities are sadly hampered by the great alteration work now going on here, there are unusual advantages that offset these inconveniences, such as first choice from exclusive lines, prices attractively low, while our expert fitters can give you better attention now than will be possible later on.

Meanwhile, a great body of mechanics are working night and day to complete our great second floor in the shortest possible time.

Still, we are prepared to give you all possible attention, and while it may not be up to our usual standard of excellence, we hope you will bear with us just a little longer.

The Corset Demonstration of the S. & B. Special

The attendance at the demonstration this morning portends a great measure of success for this new Corset, which is manufactured upon our own designs and exclusively for this store.

An expert corsetiere will demonstrate and give fittings of all "S. & B. Special" corsets, regardless of price. Every woman interested in matters relating to correct gowning and corset ease is invited to attend—no charges for fittings. A trio of new fitting parlors are in use for this occasion.

Prices of the new S. & B. Special Corset are $1.00, $1.50, $1.75, $2.00, $2.50, $3.25, $4.00 and $4.50.

TO ENFORCE QUARANTINE

Two Special Officers Will Be Stationed at Woodland.

Hunter's Park Residents Lay Their Case Before the Mayor.

Maj. H. V. Eva and T. W. Hoopes conferred with Mayor Haven this morning in regard to the scarlet fever situation in Hunter's Park, and explained to him the need, as they saw it, for more strict health regulations until the present epidemic in that section of the city is stamped out.

The mayor concurred in their views, and promised that two quarantine officers should be stationed in the afflicted district, in order to see that quarantine regulations are strictly enforced. He also agreed, upon the recommendation of his two callers, who were acting as a committee representing Hunter's Park and Woodland, to have a thorough medical inspection made in the district in question once or twice a week, and to do everything possible to stamp out scarlet fever.

Neither Mayor Haven nor Health Commissioner Patton have said anything for publication in regard to the situation, further than that Dr. Patton has said that he was doing and would continue to do his duty as he saw it. The doctor says he will welcome an investigation of his department.

The Washburn school was unable to open for the fall term today, as the result of the epidemic in and about Hunter's Park, and it will remain closed until the situation is brought under control. Residents of the community have promised to co-operate with the health department in stamping out the disease, and they will do all they can in carrying on the campaign against the epidemic.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound, or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

LYCEUM BUILDING SOLD FOR SUM SAID TO BE CLOSE TO MILLION DOLLAR MARK

which started out from here this fall presenting "In Wyoming."

The Lyceum building is one of the most substantial structures in Duluth and the entire Northwest. It was built by A. M. Miller about twenty years ago, and he took a peculiar pride in it. He gave it his personal supervision during construction, and every bit of material that went into it, was carefully inspected by him. The building is said to have cost $750,000 to build and it has deteriorated but little, if any, in value, having been most carefully kept up.

The exact price paid for the property is not given out, but it will be close to the $1,000,000 mark. The site is 125 by 140 feet, facing 125 feet on Superior street. The price paid for the site is said to have been $2,000 a front foot, or $250,000.

The C. A. Marshall company will be the holding company. It is composed of C. A. Marshall, W. F. Fitch, and other Duluth men whose names have not been made public. It will be capitalized at $500,000 with a limit of indebtedness of $500,000.

The sale was made through the office of Little & Nolte, who have handled the property since Mr. Cole acquired it, and who will continue to act for the new owners.

"The purchase is simply the culmination of plans which have been maturing for some time," said Mr. Marshall. "The building is the ideal theater site. It is in the very center of the railroad and hotel district, with all the principal hotels within a few hundred feet of it, and all depots within two blocks.

"The theater will be thoroughly renovated, and the seating capacity probably enlarged. There are also plans for a canopy out over the entrance, and other improvements which have not all been worked out as yet."

THE LYCEUM BUILDING.

RISE WAS RAPID.

From Cub Reporter to Theater Owner and Manager in Ten Years.

From cub reporter on a Superior newspaper to theatrical manager and one of the owners of a $1,000,000 theater building, is what Charles A. Marshall of the Lyceum theater has accomplished in the last ten years.

Ten years ago Mr. Marshall was a reporter on the Superior Telegram, and a good one. He had an opportunity to lease the Grand theater in Superior, then something of a white elephant, and took the chance. He made good at the Grand and later secured a lease on the Lyceum property. Since then his rise has been rapid, and thanks to the connections he has made in the East, he has been able to build up the second largest theatrical circuit in the West.

"Charley Marshall is one of the most popular men in the theatrical business in this country," said Harry Elmer, one of William A. Brady's right-hand men and manager of "The Shepherd King" company, when he was in the city last week. "He is better known in New York than nine-tenths of the theatrical managers there, and there is hardly a manager or agent along the Rialto, who, when you say you are going to Duluth, does not reply, 'Oh, then you'll see Charley Marshall.'"

There will be some telegrams of congratulation from Broadway, when the news reaches there that Mr. Marshal has secured control of the Lyceum.

FARGO MAN ARRESTED FOR MOORHEAD DOCTOR'S DEATH

way home, he was attacked by a man who stepped from behind a tree and struck him a crushing blow on the head with a club. The doctor fell, and was dead when picked up.

Keithman was readily recognized by City Attorney Witherow from the meager description given by people who saw a man running from the scene of the murder in the semi-darkness.

Shortly after the murder, Keithman was seen up town by Policeman Crossmna, holding his head and moaning. He claimed to be deathly sick. The policeman was hurrying to the scene of the crime, and told Keithman to wait till he returned, when a hack would be secured to take him home. That was the last seen of Keithman until his arrest at his home.

Keithman is sullen this morning and refuses to make a statement of any kind. After being kept at the Moorhead police station a few hours following his arrest in Fargo, he was transferred to the Clay county jail.

The officers are elated over the quick capture and claim the evidence is so direct that there can be no possible mistake, and that Keithman is the man who committed the crime.

FOLLOWERS OF DR. COOK AND PEARY RAISE CRY THAT "OUR MAN DID IT!"

open denial came from Capt. Bradley S. Osborn, a retired Polar explorer, secretary of the Arctic club and one of Dr. Cook's most earnest supporters.

"I am extremely doubtful that Commander Peary has reached the pole," he said. "I want much better confirmation that the word so far received is true. Mr Peary must have encountered very smooth ice and water to have succeeded in such a short time. All news hitherto indicated that he made his dash for the pole in the summer of 1908. I do not see how it would have been possible for him to have arrived and returned with the news so early."

Comparison of the dates shows that while Dr. Cook's achievement is set for April 21, 1908, Peary's claim is that he reached the pole just 350 days later than that, or on April 6, 1909.

As far as information has been obtainable, Commander Peary found no traces of Dr. Cook's expedition. A dispatch from Copenhagen, however, says:

"When the report that Commander Peary had discovered the pole reached here, Dr. Cook said:

"'I hope the news is correct. If Peary has reached the North pole his descriptions of that region will confirm mine on the subject.'"

"I Have the Old Pole."

Commander Peary announced his success in discovering the North pole to his wife, who is summering at Eagle island, Me., as follows:

"Indian Harbor, via Cape Ray, Sept. 6.

"Mrs. Robert E. Peary,

"South Harpswell, Me.

"Have made good at last. I have the old pole. Am well. Love. Will wire again from Chateau. BERTS."

In reply, Mrs. Peary sent the following dispatch:

"South Harpswell, Me., Sept. 6.

"Commander Robert E. Peary, steamer Roosevelt, Chateau bay:

"All well. Best love. God bless you. Hurry home. JO."

Whatever question of priority may exist between the claims of Commander Peary and Dr. Cook, there can be no doubt that to the United States belongs the unquestionable credit and lasting renown of discovering the North Pole.

The remarkable coincidence of two American announcements of such a colossal achievement, coming within five days, after centuries of fruitless endeavor, constitutes one of the most remarkable coincidents in history.

Priority Is Questioned.

The question of priority in reaching the pole now absorbs attention in this country and Europe. That Peary will claim to be the first discoverer appears to be definitely assured from the following:

First—Formal announcement has been telegraphed from Indian Harbor, Labrador, to all principal geographical societies of all nations, including Japan and Brazil specifically announcing that "the North Pole was discovered April 6 by the Peary Arctic club expedition under command of Commander Peary."

Second—A London dispatch received from St. Johns, N. F., states that Commander Peary claims that he was the first man to reach the North Pole.

Dr. Cook in an interview at Copenhagen today says he will be the first to shout hurrah for Peary. If he has telegraphed an announcement that he has reached the pole, then it is true, and I congratulate him."

Dr. Cook also states that he does not want any controversy.

No further word direct from Peary has been received today, nor can there be any further word from him until he reaches Chateau Bay, Labrador, tonight or tomorrow.

The world continues to be stirred with excitement and admiration for the achievement by which America has solved the problem of centuries.

Shackleton Tells Views.

London, Sept. 7.—"The honor of planting the national flag at the North Pole undoubtedly belongs to America," Lieut. E. H. Shackleton, the English explorer, who recently led an expedition into the Antarctic regions, said today.

"The news within a week," he continued, "that two men have reached the pole is an extraordinary coincidence. We all expected Cukear or Commander Peary's arrival some time during the month, and we sincerely hoped that the result of his years of effort and struggle would be crowned with success.

"Peary undoubtedly got to the pole; between him and Dr. Cook the pole certainly has been reached. It is said that Peury reached the goal April 6, 1906. It will be interesting to know the date he left his base to go to the polar sea and his rate of travel northward.

Check Each Other's Claims.

"If Peary's speed coincides with Cook's this fact will go far in the eyes of the world to clear up the question whether such distances as claimed by Cook can be covered. The ice conditions around Peary's camp in 1908 should approximate somewhat the condition observed by Cook, and that will clear up another point.

"It is extremely unlikely that the metal cylinder left at the pole by Dr. Cook will be found by Peary, because of the drifting of the ice. If Peary took a more easterly line, there is a possibility of his coming across the cylinder, but such a find would be extraordinary, for a fall of snow would be sufficient to hide all traces of this tube.

"Peary, from what I know of him, would be the first to give credit to any one who preceded him. Peary deserved his success; he has devoted his entire life to Arctic exploration, and nobody has a wider knowledge of Arctic travel."

In conclusion Lieut. Shackelton said: "While Peary's success will stop attempts to reach the North Pole, there is a lot of scientific work to be done in the Arctic regions which it will be impossible to carry out on marches to the pole on account of the quickness of travel."

Writes of Cook's Claim.

New York, Sept. 7.—Herbert L. Bridgman, secretary of the Peary Arctic club and a recognized authority on Arctic exploration, contributes to the Independent, which will appear tomorrow, an article on "The Dash to the Pole." The article was written before Commander Peary's announcement had been made, and deals chiefly with Dr. Frederick A. Cook's claim to having reached the pole on April 21, 1908. The article says in part:

"The announcement that the north pole, that lure of the century, has actually been reached, comes so suddenly and from a quarter so unexpected that intelligent judgment on the fact is difficult. Naturally, writing for the public and forwarding his account by cable, only the personal and popular phases would be presented, and any statement of scientific results or data would be deferred. But Dr. Cook would probably not demand that scientific frank and weight should be given to his expedition. It was simply a duel with nature; man, stripped for the fight, encumbered only with the barest necessities, determined to make a life and death struggle for one thing only, the goal. But the world will ask that science, though not directly interested and served, shall verify the claim and shall attest the result.

"And, therefore, Dr. Cook will doubtless be only too willing to offer the data upon which the confirmation of his narrative will rest. Records, diaries, notebooks, locations, courses and all indications so well known to explorers will be produced and placed with the archives, either in original or in duplicate, of the principal geographic societies of the world.

"Had he by any possibility opened any of Peary's cairns at Cape Thomas Hubbard or Cape Columbia, or any of Sverdrup's in his farthest land and archipelago, the evidence would be conclusive and all the doubts forever silenced. Reading between the lines and dismissing at once for what they may be worth, all the views, opinions and comments with which the papers are just now so heavily burdened, the tale stands or falls by itself and without witness or testimony.

After discussing past Polar research and the outlook for further exploration, the article continues:

As to Polar Ethics.

"Maybe this is not the time or place to introduces ethics or etiquette. Yet those who have followed Arctic methods do not forget that Peary made all this possible, and they reserve until the facts are known their judgment. Eskimos had been trained by him, land explored and seas charted, and only an unlucky delay of contractors, for which he was in no way responsible, kept him at home in the summer of 1907. Everybody knew the facts—that his work was unfinished, postponed and the fitting out of the Bradley by stealth (the Bradley was Dr. Cook's ship), equipped for field work and stores and supplies for land and sea ice marches, while, of course, within the prescriptive rights of her owner, invited remark among men who respect, honor and observe fair honor.

Stole Peary's Thunder.

"Peary's plans were all as open as the day, and all of his countrymen knew that fifteen years of dauntless and undaunted work, in which he had accomplished many times more than all who had preceded him, were to be crowned by one final attempt to reach the coveted goal of centuries. That his men, methods and reasonings should all be appropriated and the long struggle finished before he had his fair and final opportunity is a transaction upon which the American people will render just judgment when they know all the facts. And in the meantime the past is already secure. Patience, and more light."

FOUND A WAY

To Be Clear of the Coffee Troubles.

"Husband and myself both had the coffee habit and finally his stomach and kidneys got in such a bad condition that he was compelled to give up a good position that he had held for years. He was too sick to work. His skin was yellow, and I hardly think there was an organ in his body that was not affected.

"I told him I felt sure his sickness was due to coffee and after some discussion he decided to give it up.

"It was a struggle, because of the powerful habit. One day we heard about Postum and concluded to try it and then it was easy to leave off coffee.

"His fearful headaches grew less frequent, his complexion began to clear, kidneys grew better until at last he was a new man altogether, as a result of leaving off coffee and taking up Postum. Then I began to drink it, too.

"Although I was never as bad off as my husband, I was always very nervous and never at any time very strong, only weighing 95 lbs. before I began to use Postum. Now I weigh 115 lbs. and can do as much work as any one my size, I think.

"Many do not use Postum because they have not taken the trouble to make it right. I have successfully fooled a great many persons who have drunk it at my table. They would remark, 'You must buy a high grade of coffee.' One young man who clerked in a grocery store was very enthusiastic about my 'coffee.' When I told him what it was, he said, 'why I've sold Postum for four years but I had no idea it was like this. Think I'll drink Postum hereafter."

CAUGHT ON TIMBER.

Otherwise Tri-Mountain Employe Would Have Been Killed.

Houghton, Mich., Sept. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—William Vial, an employe of the Tri-mountain mine, narrowly escaped being dashed to pieces while riding in a bucket which was being hoisted. He had already ridden more than 150 feet when he suddenly lost his balance and plunged headlong down the shaft. His descent was stopped almost as instanteously as was his start. Dividing the two compartments are large pieces of timber, and it was one of these that the falling man struck. He had presence of mind to hold fast until removed from his perilous position by fellow employes. Vial sustained injuries which will confine him to the Copper Range hospital for some time. Had he not come in contact with the timber, he would have fallen to the bottom of the shaft, a distance of 150 feet.

NO DROP IN THE PRICE OF HIDES

Scarcity of Leather Offsets Reduction in Tariff Says Turnbladh.

"The removal of the 15 per cent tariff on hides has not resulted in any reduction in price yet," said N. P. Turnbladh, proprietor of the Gopher Shoe works this morning. "There is a great scarcity of hides at present and the reduction in the tariff has only prevented a further raise in prices."

Mr. Turnbladh has just returned from the shoe and leather market fair in Chicago, where he came in contact with most of the leather men of the country and is well posted on the situation. While there Mr. Turnbladh placed an order for the biggest lot of sole leather that ever came to the city.

Hay's Hair Health

DON'T TRIFLE WITH DYES--RESTORE YOUR GRAY HAIR TO THE COLOR AND LUSTROUS LUXURIANCE OF YOUTH.

For twenty years Hay's Hair Health has been restoring gray and faded hair for both men and women from one end of the country to the other, and yet some people confuse it with hair dyes. It is not a dye. It contains no chemicals—no dye-substances. It doesn't color hair, but restores it. It brings back the exact color and luxuriant beauty of youth—puts it back in the precise condition it was in before it began to turn gray or to fade. This is what it does, and it never fails.

Hay's Hair Health helps men keep their positions or get better ones by making them look young and vigorous. It helps women to secure and keep their chief charm, and thus to hold their rightful place among "the younger set" instead of being banished by reason of premature grayness. It stops hair from falling out, removes dandruff, and keeps the scalp clean and healthy. Try it—it will work wonders with your hair.

ON THE IRON RANGES

GILBERT DID HONORS WELL

Celebration of Labor Day Monday Was Most Successful Event.

Gilbert, Minn., Sept. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Labor day celebration here yesterday was a huge success, about 1,000 people from many parts of the range assembling for the event. The stores and dwellings were all cleverly decorated.

Many athletic events were pulled off. Leonard Dawson of Eveleth winning the five-mile Marathon race easily, getting the prize of $25. Tony Mesich of Gilbert made a plucky fight and finished second, taking the prize of $10. The 100-yard dash was one of the prettiest races of the day, Marvin Van Buskirck of Eveleth taking first place in 10⅘ seconds; E. C. Sandberg, Aurora, second, and C. B. Thompson of Gilbert, third. The prizes for this event were hotly contested for, and the runners all proved plucky until the end, but the Eveleth man, by a burst of speed and a good start, took down first money. The 100-yard dash for married men only was won by Fire Chief Harry Silver in three seconds. By his good running Silver secured a $100 residence lot in the new Gilbert Second addition. The hose cart race was won by the Gilbert volunteer firemen.

The Eveleth Eagles defeated the local Eagles in a one-sided game of ball, which was characterized by the effective pitching of Alderman Matt Doyle for Eveleth, who struck out many of the local batsmen. Dr. Fred Barret pitched for the locals and W. E. Koenen caught. James Clark did good work behind the bat for the Eveleth birds. The game was played at the local ball grounds and was for a purse of $25. A very large crowd witnessed the game.

There were also various races. The Gilbert band furnished music all day, while in the evening there was dancing under the auspices of the volunteer fire department.

TOWER WINS EASILY.

Final Game With Ely Finn Nine Was Played Monday.

Tower, Minn., Sept. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—The last baseball game of the season was played on the local diamond yesterday afternoon, between the Ely Finn team and the local club.

A nine-inning game was played and is was Towers from start to finish, the score at the close being 1 to 6. Manager Hickey of the local team has challenged the Winton team, offering to pay their expenses here and play for a side bet of $25, but no reply has been received. A game arranged for earlier in the season failed to come off on account of the non-appearance of the Wintonites. The locals are anxious to meet them.

Eveleth and Big Duluth Break Even on a Double Header.

Eveleth, Minn., Sept. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Eveleth and the Big Duluths broke even in the double-header played on the local grounds yesterday afternoon. Eveleth took the first game 8 to 5, while the visitors won the second, which only went five innings, 2 to 1. The first game was a bungle of hits and errors that accounted for the large score. Both pitchers did good work at times in the first game, Thorsen for the visitors striking out nine men, and Cook for the locals seven. Agan and Schaefer did the catching for the two teams, Agan being in the place of Chaffee, the star local catcher, who is laid up with a sore arm. Both teams hit hard in the latter innings, but Cook had better control and support and won out.

The second game was a faster affair, and both teams played better ball, Cook and Agan, Thorsen and Schaefer were also the batteries in the escond game. Thorsen had good control and with good support made the locals play hard.

COME TO DULUTH TO ATTEND STATE NORMAL

Tower, Minn., Sept. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—A number of local high school graduates left yesterday for Duluth to attend the normal school. Among them being, Misses Besssie and Edna Shaeffer, Effie Pfieffer, Minnie Campaigne and Hattie Martin.

Miss Iinth Hewitt of Soudan and Miss Louise Kitto of this city leave today to attend the St. Cloud normal.

ALLEGED BRUTE HELD.

Clarence Koth Must Answer to the Charge of Attacking Girls.

Eveleth, Minn., Sept. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Clarence Koth alleged to have attempted to assault two little girls in Gilbert must answer to the next St. Louis county grand jury, having been held by Judge Prince after a preliminary hearing. The little girls and Joe Kern were the witnesses before the court against the accused. Koth has been taken to the county jail at Duluth.

LAST OF LOGS ARE SHIPPED

Shipping of Unsawed Timber From Ely to Duluth Ended.

Two Harbors, Minn., Sept. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—The shipments of logs from Ely to Duluth, which have been under way the past two months, were completed yesterday.

The steamer Wiehe is taking on a cargo of lumber here and the Bacon is due for a load.

The ball game here yesterday between the Tigers and Pirates for the championship of the Y. M. C. A. City league was won by the latter by a score of 29 to 16.

The local ball team easily defeated the Cloquet, Minn., club here Sunday by a score of 22 to 8, and the Turnbull-Cameron-Degler team of Superior yesterday by a score of 10 to 3.

TYPHOID IN LUMBER CAMPS.

Nineteen Cases Brought to Ely From Camps Near Fall Lake.

Ely, Minn., Sept. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—An alarming epidemic of typhoid fever has broken out in the Fall Lake lumber camps, as so far nineteen men suffering from the disease have been brought to the Shipman hospital from that locality. There is no typhoid fever here and has not been since the water plant was removed to the lake some time ago.

DEPOT AGENT SQUEEZED.

W. H. Kleckner Caught Between Car and Chute, Ribs Being Broken.

Hibbing, Minn., Sept. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—With three ribs broken as the result of being caught between a stock car and cattle chute at the stockyards near here yesterday, W. H. Kleckner, local agent for the Great Northern, is receiving treatment at the Rood hospital and thanking himself he was not killed. Three of his ribs were broken. Owing to shortness of help, Mrs. Kleckner is assisting at the depot.

OLD OLIVER EMPLOYE CLAIMED BY BRIGHT'S.

Eveleth, Minn., Sept. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—James O'Connor, one of the faithful employes of the Oliver Iron Mining company, who was working in the Fayal mine, died at his home in the Fayal location Sunday evening of Bright's disease.

His funeral will take place tomorrow afternoon and interment will be at Virginia. He was well known locally and at Gilbert, and has a host of friends mourning his loss.

EVELETH CURLERS ARE TO ERECT BUILDING.

Eveleth, Minn., Sept. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—It has been decided by the members of the local curling club to soon begin the erection of a large building, containing two rinks, in which they can play the game. This building will be located at the end of Jones street, below the Home Electric & Heating company's plant, and will be 150 feet long and 130 feet wide, in which an observation room will be built for the spectators.

HIBBING CHILD HAS VERY NARROW ESCAPE.

Hibbing, Minn., Sept. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—The 7-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. Sinm came near drowning yesterday afternoon when she fell into a hole in the street several feet deep and partly filled with water. Fortunately, a delivery man was passing by when she lost her balance and quickly rescued her, though she received a good wetting.

ELY POLICE CHIEF HAS RESIGNED JOB.

Ely, Minn., Sept. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Resigning his position as chief of police in order to accept the position of general agent for a brewery at Gilbert, John Lamuth, chief of police, has left the city.

Joseph Seraphine, Jr., has been appointed by Mayor Eisenbach, subject to the approval of the council, to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Chief Lamuth and has entered his new duties.

Hibbing Teachers Picnic.

Hibbing, Minn., Sept. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Teachers in the local high school celebrated Labor day yesterday by a picnic at Wilpin, six miles east of here, on the Missabe road. They returned last evening, bringing baskets full of wild flowers gathered there.

By Prodigius Score.

Hibbing, Minn., Sept. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—The barbers defeated the cigarmakers yesterday in a game of baseball, 32 to 28. The feature of the game was the heavy hitting and light fielding on the part of both teams.

CHILD THIEVES.

Three Superior Children Steal Purse and Come to Duluth.

Three youthful thieves, the oldest 7 years of age, were taken into custody by Patrolman Andree on Superior street, shortly after 6 o'clock yesterday. Their names were Joe Corneave, 328 John avenue, Superior; his brother Frank, and Samie Norwich, 7, 6 and 5 years old. Joe admits having stolen his mother's pocketbook, containing $15. After getting his brother and the Norwich boy, the three came to Duluth to have a good time.

The boys were taken to the police station, and allowed the freedom of one of the inner rooms, where they played merrily while waiting for their people to come and get them. They said the money had been taken while Mrs. Corneave was visiting with relatives. The parents arrived on the scene about 10 o'clock, and took the erring children home. There was $12.08 of the $15 left.

GOVERNOR IN PROCESSION.

State Executive Heads St. Paul's Big Labor Day Parade.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 7.—More than 3,500 craftsmen of St. Paul formed into the annual Labor day parade yesterday morning and made long marches before thousands of spectators.

Governor Johnson rode in the first carriage beside George B. Howler, president of the State Federation of Labor. Mayor Lawler and Bishop McIntyre of the Methodist Episcopal church occupied the second carriage.

After the parade many of the participants went to the state fair, where Bishop McIntyre delivered an address on labor.

DIRECTORY OF AMUSEMENTS

WHERE TO GO TONIGHT.

LYCEUM—"Three Weeks."
BIJOU—New Vaudeville Bill.

AS HARMLESS AS A COOING BABE.

"Three Weeks" Didn't Thrill a Thrill In Three Acts.

Carefully informing everybody "we" were going to the boat club, "we" sneaked down to the Lyceum last evening and sidled in the front door, there to mingle with a rather foolish-looking audience which was trying to get something dramatically satisfactory out of Elinor Glyn's dramatization of her own maudlin novel, "Three Weeks."

It was impossible to do that, and the audience sat there during a prologue and three acts, yawned and wondered what the rest of the town was doing. The play was merely an exploitation of an ordinary flirtation between an everyday young man and an everyday young woman.

The lady's husband got drunk and the lady went away. She went to a hotel in Switzerland. There she had the forethought to have her dinner served on the terrace, and she was seen by a young man, this everyday young man, who murmured to his male companion as follows: "By jove, there's a stunning woman. I wonder who she is."

It was just the observation any one might have made. There was nothing extraordinary about it—nothing interesting. Because, as has already been noted, he was an everyday young man and she was an ordinary-looking woman. She was comely, to be sure, but nothing to rave about.

And, being an everyday young man and wishing to show his elder friend how to flirt according to the best methods, he flirted with her, and she, being an ordinary-looking woman, flirted right back at him.

The sheepish audience waited for thrills—thrills that never came. The everyday man behaved just as any other everyday man would behave if he encountered an ordinary-looking woman whom he did not know and began flirting with her.

Thus it went on, and the audience yawned again and wondered how the big league games came out, or if the back door was locked. Nothing happened—that is, nothing interesting. After three acts it developed that Paul loved the lady and that the lady loved Paul, but that's all there was to it, so the audience got up and went home.

As a nook, "Three Weeks," with its embellishment of stars at the end of chapters and its description of tiger rugs and things, had the dubious recommendation of being "sensational," but the play lacked that. It is hardly worth talking about. A number of people appeared on the stage from time to time and helped the flirtation along.

Stop "Three Weeks"? They might as well stop a Sunday school picnic where the Sunday school superintendent flirts with the teacher of the primary department.

AT THE BIJOU.

New Bill Pleases Large Audience of First Nighters.

There is a first-class bill at the Bijou this week.

There is much good comedy, some fine acrobatic work, some clever dancing, a sketch that is both humorous and realistic, and many other pleasing features.

The big audiences of first nighters that saw the bill last night were very much pleased, several features of the entertainment being allowed to go off the stage with reluctance.

The Malvern troupe of gymnasts are the best seen here in some time. There are three men, a woman and a very small boy in the troupe, and they perform some wonderful feats of strength, balancing and tumbling.

Harry Thompson has a talking stunt, and a good one. He imitates the different characters common in every police court in the country. They sometimes say some very funny things, and Mr. Thompson has a rare collection. His turn got many laughs last night.

Morris and Morton do some clever foot work. They have all the new steps and are hard workers. They sing well. Their turn seemed to be enjoyed greatly.

"Cupid's Voyage," a humorous sketch telling of love mingled with seasickness, brought down the house. Harry and Kate Jackson are the principal characters. The settings for this act are very elaborate.

Mlle. Martin does some new stunts on the trapeze, and introduces some new rope work that has never until this time been seen in the city.

"When the Purple Shadows Tint the Golden Grain" is the illustrated song this week, and Harry Webb sings it beautifully.

The pictures this week are also of a high class.

CHICKEN SLAUGHTER ON.

Popping of Guns Began at Daybreak in North Dakota Today.

Grand Forks, N. D., Sept. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—With the opening of the season for small game today, a week later than heretofore, hunters of North Dakota are engaged in the annual slaughter of birds. Splendid shooting everywhere is reported, the abolishment of spring shooting, together with the strict enforcement of the law in all sections of the state, working to give the sportsmen one of the best crops of birds that it has been their good fortune to harvest in many years.

The law allows the hunting of turtle doves, snipe, prairie chickens, pinnated grouse, ruffled grouse, white-breasted or sharp-tailed grouse, woodcock, upland plover or golden plover, until Nov. 1; wild ducks, wild goose, brant or crane and swan, up to Dec. 15.

The law also provides that no hunter shall kill more than ten prairie chickens in one day or more than twenty-five ducks. No hunting is allowed between a half hour after sunset till a half hour before sunrise.

A PIONEER IN MINNESOTA

Henry Eckstein Survived the Indian Massacres of 1862.

The death of Henry Eckstein at New Ulm, Aug. 29 last, makes another gap in the ranks of the sturdy German frontiersmen, who came to Minnesota in the early days and did so much in building up a prosperous farming country from the wilderness that then existed about the New Ulm district. Mr. Eckstein was stricken with paralysis Aug. 26 and passed away Aug. 29 at the age of 87 years.

He came to Minnesota from the old country in 1855, settling at New Ulm immediately. He was one of the founders of the town and one of the little company of defenders at the time of the Indian massacres in 1862. He was born in Hanover, Germany, and served in the war with Denmark over Schleswig-Holstein in 1848, so his life has been an eventful one.

He leaves a wife and six children, one of whom is A. H. W. Eckstein of 831 East Third street, Duluth, who has just returned from the funeral of his father which was held Thursday, Sept. 2.

PICNIC LABOR FATAL.

Grand Forks Woman Dead From Exerting Herself at Outing.

Grand Forks, N. D., Sept. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mrs. Henry J. Larivee died last evening while being transported from the Catholic picnic in this city to St. Michael's hospital, after having fallen into a faint from overwork. During the afternoon the woman was busily engaged in assisting about the picnic supper tables, and just as she was preparing to leave for home she suffered the stroke. Physicians were called immediately and she was placed in an auto to be taken to the hospital, but she had gone only a short distance when death came.

BLIND PIGGERS ARE GIVEN FAIR WARNING.

Starkweather, N. D., Sept. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—The people are determined to put an end to the liquor traffic in this section, and at a meeting of the Starkweather Commercial club, resolutions bearing to that end were passed, blind-piggers and those who contenplate launching into that business being warned that Starkweather is not a very healthy place for such enterprises, and that prosecutions will follow.

CONTINUE THE BAND CONCERTS.

Sunday the last of the 1909 series of popular outdoor band concerts took place before an immense crowd in Chester park, and there will be no more of them until next year, and probably not then unless the spirit of public interest in band concerts has been worked up to a sufficient pitch to compel action by the city.

The summer band concerts have been a gratifying success, and The Herald has never taken up a project that has given it more satisfaction. As it stated in the beginning of the series, its object was to prove what it had been contending for years—that band concerts were needed and would be appreciated by the people, and that the results of them would be altogether good and entirely out of proportion to their cost.

Believing this, it engaged the Third Regiment band for the series. After The Herald's series of concerts were over, the work was taken up by local citizens, headed by Byron G. Segog, and money enough was raised to continue the concerts until last Sunday. The concerts have been held in nearly every park in the city, and all parts of the community have been provided with them—West Duluth, the West end, down town, the East end and Lester Park. Though rain spoiled a few Sundays, every fair Sunday had its concert, and on every occasion the people turned out in very large numbers, manifestly enjoying the outing and the music, and testified their appreciation in a thousand ways.

Now, The Herald believes, it is up to the city of Duluth to provide further concerts for its people. Arrangements should be made for permanent summer band concerts, as many of them as the city can afford. If the city charter in its present form does not allow the expenditure, it should be amended. At the city election of 1908, though The Herald urged the submission of a charter amendment authorizing the council to spend money raised by taxation for this purpose, the charter commission refused to submit it on the ground that it would load up the ballot with too many amendments. The Herald expressed the belief then, and it still adheres to it, that so far from overloading the ballot, a proposition of so popular an appeal would draw attention to it and help out the other amendments. Without the band concert amendment, all of the proposed charter changes were defeated. With it, containing as it does a concrete appeal to public interest, the result might have been very different.

The Herald's experiment of this summer shows that the people want band concerts and that they appreciate and patronize them. No community can be complete and well-rounded without plenty of music, available to all classes. The open air band concerts, given by a musical organization so excellent as the Third Regiment band under the leadership of Jens H. Flaaten, caters to that inborn love of music which has been so greatly neglected in this community in the past. When musical events of high class have been put on in Duluth and have failed to draw enough patronage to pay expenses, those responsible for them have felt indignant and ashamed. Yet it is not surprising that the public refuses to leap at a bound into an appreciation of classical music when it has been denied the benefit of semi-popular music, such as the band concerts provide, to cultivate and bring into life a public musical taste.

THE GOOD OF ONE IS THE GOOD OF ALL.

Charles R. Frost, secretary of the Minnesota Bankers' association, has been in Duluth describing the efforts which that organization is putting forth to encourage the settlement of the vacant lands of this state; and right valiant and wise and helpful these efforts are.

Now there may be people that will wonder what an association of bankers has to do with the settlement of idle acres, and why it should be bothering itself and using its funds and energies upon a project that seems rather remote from the banking business.

The answer is that it isn't remote from the banking business at all, nor from any other business that is carried on in Minnesota. The more farmers in Minnesota, the more soil cultivated; the more soil cultivated, the more crops raised; the more crops raised, the greater the wealth of the state and the more money to come into it from markets outside—or the more money put into home products instead of going into products raised outside the state, which is exactly the same thing in the end. The more wealth there is in Minnesota, the more business there will be for the banks—which explains why the bankers are interested in settling the state's idle lands.

But the benefit isn't confined to the bankers, any more than it is to the farmers. The more farmers there are in Minnesota, the greater the market of the merchants of this state, the greater the business done by everybody who has things to sell to farmers, and the greater the business done in communities drawing upon farming districts, indirectly or directly, for their trade. Every new farmer means more business for some grocer, some butcher, some drygoods dealer, some piano dealer, some furniture dealer, some tinner, some builder, some lumber merchant, some banker. Jobbers and retailers, employers and employes in every line of trade, professional men, newspaper men, everybody, in fact, gains by the development of the farming sections.

That is reason enough why the bankers should be encouraging the development of the agricultural industries of the state. It is also reason enough why the merchant, the lumber dealer, the newspaper man, the doctor, the lawyer, the tinner, the plumber, the preacher, should each put his shoulder to the wheel and help put workers on the idle soil. Those who don't sell directly to the farmer do sell to those who sell directly to him; and everybody consumes the products of the soil, which can be had cheapest and best when the idle acres are all made busy.

So the bankers of Minnesota, in working to encourage settlement, are working for their own best interests and for the best interests of everybody else and of the state as a whole. Instead of inquiring why they do it, others should imitate their example. There is a great work to do, and there cannot be too many at it. For every new tiller of the soil added to the state's population there is new wealth added to the state's total, new opportunities for industry, new food for the strengthening of the state in every branch of its activities.

AND PEARY, TOO? WELL! WELL!

Upon the heels of the announcement that Dr. Frederick A. Cook had discovered the North Pole comes flashing over the cables from the dreary wastes of ice and storm tossed waters the news that Commander Robert E. Peary has also discovered it.

This is almost an embarrassment of riches. For centuries men have toiled and suffered and died to find that isolated place of lonely desolation, but without success; and then, sudden as a flash of lightning out of a clear sky, comes the news that two men have found it and are on their way home to tell about it. And both, it is good to think, are Americans.

Dr. Cook's discovery was made April 21, 1908, and Commander Peary's discovery was made April 6, 1909. A year, therefore, separated the two achievements, though scarcely a week elapsed between the two announcements. If there had been any doubt whatever about this country's title to the pole it has disappeared now; though for the matter of that the polar territory isn't so valuable that anybody was likely to dispute our possession of it.

It is to be hoped that these magnificent exploits will not be spoiled by jealous bickerings between the discoverers or between their friends. There is glory enough for two. Word comes that Peary found no trace of Dr. Cook's having been at the pole, but Dr. Cook explains that clearly enough by showing that the polar drift, in the year that had elapsed, would have carried away the records he left there. Two parties might easily visit the pole a year apart, or even closer, and neither be aware of the other's visit.

There is a hint of pathos in it, too. Peary's lifelong ambition has been to discover the pole. At least, in the spring of this year, he succeeded, and he toiled over the weary trail back toward warmth and civilization, spurred on his way by the triumph of his success, only to find that another had beaten him by a year to the pole, and by a week in the proclamation of the achievement to the world.

Suspicion and disbelief are unworthy. It would be impossible to carry off a gigantic lie such as a few charge. It might go for a time, but ultimately it would be discovered, and no man would willingly invite the ignominy that would follow its discovery and exposure.

A GOOD SOURCE OF TAXATION.

If those in control of the government of this nation were really anxious to devise means of raising the national revenues in a way that would be least burdensome to the people, there would be a strong appeal in an interesting deduction from a recent report on tobacco in the United States and Europe.

The significant fact in this report is this: This country's annual revenue from tobacco is about $87,000,000. If the American rate of tobacco taxation were the same as the British rate, the amount of tobacco now used in this country would produce an annual revenue of $380,000,000, and if it were the same as the French rate it would produce $436,000,000. Both of these sums are greater than the entire receipts of this country from import duties. If it were desirable, the tariff could be abolished altogether, therefore, and the revenue it produces replaced from the taxes on tobacco alone.

Nor would there be any sound argument against such a tax. Tobacco is not a necessity, even though the average man is so much a victim of the tobacco habit that it seems a necessity to him. Nevertheless, it is a luxury, and as such a proper subject of heavy taxation.

But that would never do, say the friends of protection. While the country gets out of tariff taxation only a little more than $300,000,000 a year, the tariff taxes amount to ten times that. The remainder goes to subsidize the private beneficiaries of the tariff special privilege. In other words, the country is overtaxed $2,700,000,000 a year, every penny of which is turned over to the favored beneficiaries of the tariff. If the revenue now derived from the tariff were abandoned and its place taken by tobacco taxes, there would be no color of an excuse for the policy of protection; and it seems fashionable to think so little of the ingenuity and resources of this country as to believe that without the artificial fostering of the tariff, its industries would languish and die and the nation would shortly become a place of desolation and despair.

How little relationship there is between the tariff and national taxation is shown not only by the fact that only 10 per cent of the tariff tax gets into the government treasury, but by the further fact that the advocates of high protection consistently refuse to consider any other method of raising taxes, no matter how much relief it would involve to the people. The protective tariff costs the people three billions of dollars a year, and pays the Federal treasury three hundred millions of dollars only. It would be easy to raise that three hundred millions by an income tax, by a tobacco tax, or by other direct taxes; but that would mean that in shifting the source of taxation, the people would be relieved of an annual burden of nearly three billions of dollars; and the people must keep on paying this so that Pittsburg and New York may vie with Nero's Rome in profligacy.

It is a sadly pathetic picture, this thing of a sober, industrious and well-behaved nation toiling and slaving to produce wealth which is wasted in riotous living by a few beneficiaries of Special Privilege.

MEDICAL INSPECTION IN SCHOOLS.

As The Herald said when it was announced that the school board was to take up medical inspection of public school pupils, the idea is helpful and progressive. It should be added further, however, that parents should co-operate sympathetically in this work, for unless the knowledge gained by the school inspection is made use of, the results cannot be large. The Herald has for years urged the adoption of this system by the school authorities, and now it urges upon parents that they give full support and encouragement to the work. In some communities where it has been adopted there has been suspicion and obstructive opposition. It is to be hoped that these will not develop in Duluth. The work is for the good of the pupils as well as for the good of the community; and to be successful and fully helpful it must have thorough support on the part of the public.

THE OPEN COURT.

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about live topics of general interest. Letters should not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer, though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective however.)

THAT SPORTSMEN'S LEAGUE.

To the Editor of The Herald:

I was so interested in a communication appearing in The Herald last week, signed "A Sportsman." The writer advanced some ideas for the protection of game and suggested, as one of them, that local hunters band themselves into a society for the enforcement of game and fish laws, and that they employ game wardens of their own, not depending upon those hired by the state.

While I do not recall having heard of any such organization employing its own men for the detection of law breakers, I have known of several different communities where game and fish protection leagues were organized, but regret to say that I never saw any particular good come of them, for the reason, principally, that selfishness, and not love for wild creatures of field, forest and stream, prompted the forming of these societies.

Why does the average man want game protected? So he can have good hunting when he himself gets into the field. Your correspondent of last week suggests that only men entitled to be called true sportsmen, that is men who do not break the laws, and who are not game and fish hogs, be made members of his society. If he confined himself to this class, there would be very few eligibles, for there isn't one so-called sportsman in ten who will not shoot all he can in a day's hunt, whether it be six or sixty birds. In the city they may appear perfect gentlemen, and may talk virtuously of bag limitations and the observation of game laws, but get them out in the woods or on the lakes with their "pump" guns, and they do not practice what they preach. There is too much of the savage in the average man to resist the temptation to slaughter all the game in sight when the chance presents itself, in season or out. That savage spirit is penned up in the city month after month, but once let the man get out with his gun and it breaks forth and brings havoc to everything in the shape of game.

An instance of this may be had in the person of a friend of mine who was elected president of a sportsman's league in a city a short distance from Duluth a few years ago. He was chosen as the best man for the place and felt duly honored at the tribute. I was out bird hunting with him one day early in the fall and drove a yearling buck across in front of him. It was so close that he could kill it with bird shot, and he killed it, although deer season did not open until two months later. That same season I knew of two other members of the league bagging 140 ducks in one day's shooting. They were sincere in their expressions favoring game protection at meetings of our league, but when they got out in the duck marshes, with the flight on, they could not control that savage spirit.

Right here in Duluth I know of a man who is regarded as one of the cleanest sportsmen and all-around good fellows in the city. Yet, a couple of weeks ago, while fishing on the north shore, he shot twelve ruffled grouse one afternoon with a small calibre rifle his son had taken along, although the ruffled grouse season will not open until the middle of October. The same man, a season or two ago, with a friend, shot 130 prairie chickens in a couple of days' hunting, practically cleaning out all of the birds in the district. I could name any number of similar instances.

The matter of game and fish protection is a big problem, and I fear our friend signing himself "A Sportsman" has not hit upon the proper solution. A PLAIN HUNTER.

Duluth, Sept. 13.

The Aldrich Tariff.

Dry Goods Guide: After Senator Aldrich has departed to that bourne where tariffs are not needed, the nation may keep his memory green by some such epitaph as this, a paraphrase, by the way, of a loving tribute to another man who also failed to grasp his opportunity:

Here lies Aldrich.
He done his damndest.
He also done 90 millions of it were the fish-men.

Here are some consolations of the new tariff: Laces are to cost more—but then the Go-through lace machine will come in free for the benefit of Messrs. Aldrich, Goff and a few other Rhode Island favorites.

Foreign velvets are barred out—but Ewano Tumbo will be able to get his zoological specimens in without cost.

Hosiery has been boosted so that the poor may have to go barefooted—but joss sticks may still be entered free.

Though when you buy cotton cloth you are forced to pay extra tribute to the greedy Rhode Island gang, remember that by the grace of Aldrich and his friends, you may import your ashes free.

While you may not be able to pay the new high tariff prices for linoleum, you have the satisfaction of knowing that natural teeth will come in without cost.

Silk goods have been so tangled up by the schedule-jugglers of the tariff that no man knows how much more they will cost—but there is no doubt that pig iron is to be cheaper.

You had a narrow escape in the matter of gloves—but your friend, the undertaker, will have to pay more for hats when he comes around.

Woolen cloth is taxed up to 250 per cent—but if you can't buy a new gown for your wife or new panties for your children, rest content because J. Pierpont Morgan can now bring in his works of art without annoyance from rude customs men.

Lemons are up 1½ cents—but then the whole bill is a lemon anyway.

The Governor's Staff Indulges.

New York Telegraph: "Pardon me," he began, with suavity, as he took his place in a game of dominos at the near-Broadway Mills hotel. "Although I am a stranger in this company, I am very certain that my partner in the game is known as colonel."

"Correct," nodded his partner. "I believe, by the way, that I am addressing the governor?"

"Quite so."

Their adversaries beamed happily.

"I am called doctor," said one.

"I am called judge," said the other.

The governor was pleased.

"I cannot say," said he "what regiment the colonel belongs to, nor what court the judge presides over, nor where the doctor's practice is; but, speaking for myself, I am not and never have been governor of any place on earth."

There was deep silence, during which the governor looked from one to the other.

Presently the colonel spoke with an affable smile.

"As a colonel, I am the governor's chief of staff," said he.

"My practice," remarked the doctor genially, "is wholly to the governor's constituents."

"I am on the supreme bench of the governor's state," remarked the judge.

"I am glad of it," said the governor heartily. "Dominos at the Mills hotel are justly famed for their distinguished courtesy and titled fellowship. Gentlemen, I will now set double six, the swinger!"

Nuggets On Advertising.

Newspaperdom: Free advertising is like most other free things—no good. If a thing is worth advertising it is worth advertising well, and the modern newspaper is or should be too jealous of its space to allow graft notices to crowd in on legitimate news.

During the past five years the Pittsburg, Pa., banks that advertised consistently in newspapers show an increase in assets of 33 per cent, and an increase in deposits of 85 per cent while the conservative, nonadvertising banks gained 27 per cent in assets and 11 per cent in deposits.

Reform Goes On.

White Pine News: The old stock exchange building in Ely is being remodeled and will house a saloon some time next week.

THE WEATHER.

CLOUDY

These delvings into the previous existences of the weather man on this mundane sphere grow interesting. Who knows? Perhaps the weather man was a walking delegate to the stone masons on the pyramids, when Cheops tried to make the swarthy Egyptians work sixteen hours a day, and the said swarthy Egyptians held out for a fifteen-hour day. Anyway, the weather man favored the union men with an ideal day yesterday, and is keeping up the good work today. He looks for cloudy weather tonight.

A year ago it was bright and warm.

The sun rose this morning at 5:35 and will set at 6:37, making thirteen hours and two minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"During the past twenty-four hours light to heavy rains fell over Southern Illinois, Missouri, Kansas, Oklahoma, Nebraska, Wyoming, Utah, Colorado and New Mexico, due in part to the influence of the stationary low pressure over Western Mexico and another disturbance that passed to the eastward over northern border states. A depression that has developed over Alberta is causing warmer weather in Montana, North Dakota and Manitoba. An area of high pressure that has moved from Manitoba to Michigan is attended by cooler weather in that state and Ontario. The easterly movement of the Alberta depression will be attended by generally fair weather in St. Louis and Douglas counties during the ensuing thirty-six hours."

Following were the minimum and maximum temperatures for the last twenty-four hours:

Reach Heads, Not Hearts.

Warren Register: A writer in one of the current magazines discusses "The Faith of the Unchurched." A reading of this article leads one to believe that there is less formal religion, but more real Christianity, in the United States today than there was a generation or more ago. Perhaps it is because the people prefer the substance to the shadow. A long face and a devout manhood on Sunday are not sufficient; what is wanted is a kind of religion that is good for every day in the week, one that will not only secure heaven for suffering, sinful humanity after death but which will obtain for it some measure of peace and joy and happiness here on earth. In the big cities many of the churches are accused—whether rightly or wrongly, we do not know—of ministering almost solely to the intellectual side of their well-to-do members. Their preachers are not pastors in the old fashioned sense, but rather lecturers upon a thousand and one subjects that have little to do with the material and moral welfare of the people. In consequence, the attendance has fallen off and sermons are often preached to practically empty pews. The denizens of the tenement districts feel out of harmony with their surroundings when they go to the big churches, and seldom go a second time. The simplicity that made religious services appeal to them years ago has passed away, giving place to a formality that has little attraction for any except the rich pew owner who caused its adoption. The $5,000 and $10,000 preachers are eloquent, brilliant, dignified, but they talk to the heads of their auditors instead of their hearts and the ignorant and only half-educated understand so little of what they say they derive no benefit from listening to them.

Paying the Piper.

Pipestone State Journal: If the latest news from Beverly is correct, the president is arranging for a head-on collision with Senator Aldrich and his train of senators when congress meets in regular session. In the tariff scuffle a specific promise of last year's Republican national platform has been lost sight of. The words of that promise are: "We favor the establishment of a postal savings bank system for the convenience of the people and the encouragement of thrift." The news is that the president will remind congress of this pledge and call for a show down.

Now it is well known that neither the senate machine nor the house machine favors a postal savings bank or will support it except under irresistible pressure. Senator Aldrich has only lately let it be known that he has no thought of putting forward such a measure. What excuse can or will be given for ignoring this party pledge can only be guessed. Senators were able to convince themselves that the tariff plank did not mean downward revision. Possibly they can satisfy themselves that "we favor" does not mean a promise to execute. More likely they will hold with Senator Heyburn that the pledge was given under duress, the fear of deposit guarantee, and hence is not legally or morally binding.

But the president seems to consider that the promise of a thousand guilders to clear a town of rats is as binding after the rats are in the river as when they are still in garrets and cellar. In his message to congress he will transmit the account: "People of the United States in account with the Republican party, Dr., to killing deposit guarantee, one postal savings bank."

The result bids fair to be one more dash of confusion to the "blind" party man, another object lesson in independence. For mark you, the senators who assumed to read La Follette, Cummins and their fellow insurgents out of the Republican party for opposing the tariff bill are the very men who are "insurgent" on the postal savings bank.

No Wonder He Jumped.

Fargo Forum: J. N. Johnson of Jamestown swallowed a steel spring about three inches long and did some lively jumping till the medics rammed something down his throat and yanked it back.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

Taken From the Columns of The Herald of This Date, 1889.

Allen Manvel, now general manager of the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba road, has been elected president of the reorganized Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe Railroad company, and will take office on Sept. 9. It is expected that many changes in the officials of the Manitoba system will follow Mr. Manvel's retirement.

Mr. and Mrs. Fish of Philadelphia have removed to Duluth. Mr. Fish has assumed the management of the Duluth Telephone company.

The final details have been perfected by which the Highland Improvement company, which intends to build up Seventh avenue west an incline plane cable road, has secured title to all the property it wants. The Duluth Street Railway company is a stockholder. The incorporators are Marcus Simpson and E. S. Huston, Burlington, Iowa; John A. Willard, Mankato; James Bardon, Superior; A. W. Bradley, E. L. Bradely, John H. Harris, Charles M. Gray, George A. Elder, Albert S. Chase, Charles E. Shannon, W. K. Rogers, Clinton Markell and H. W. Coffin, all of Duluth. Capital stock is fixed at $2,000,000, and the company has already purchased nearly $800,000 worth of undeveloped real estate in the Third division of Duluth above the boulevard. It is proposed to build a summer hotel near Eighth street and Seventh avenue west. Engineer Samuel Diether will soon be here to superintend construction of the incline road.

Rudolph Herling, consulting sanitary engineer of New York city, and Andrew Rosewater, who holds a like position at Omaha, have arrived here to examine the sewerage system of Duluth and, to report upon a system for the entire upper part of the city and the West end, plans for which have never been made.

Miss Lizzie Duane of Le Sueur county is visiting the family of P. L. Ronayne at West Duluth.

MINNESOTA OPINIONS.

Winona Independent: The Cannon Falls Beacon hits the nail square on the head when it says Mr. Tawney claims to be a revisionist. He always claimed that at home. Cannon does not care what he claims at home, so long as he votes right in the house. Mr. Tawney claims he fought for revision in the late session. Either Mr. Tawney's influence in congress amounts to but little, or he had permission from Cannon to assume a hostile attitude with the understanding that he vote right in the end. Certain it is that Mr. Tawney with all his vaunted influence in the house brought home no "sheaves" for revision.

Aurora News: The waste baskets in a newspaper office of any town do more to keep its citizens in good repute than any other agency, except the fear of the law and the hereafter.

Anoka Free Press: The Princeton Union asks why denounce Tawney and praise Taft. If the Union editor will tell us why we should praise either on their tariff positions we will be under obligations to him.

Foley Independent: The next session of the legislature will pass upon the income tax amendment to the national constitution and as it requires ratification by four-fifths of the legislatures in this country before it can be made a part of the Federal Constitution it behooves the people of Minnesota to elect men who will favor its enactment. Of course, it is to be expected that all whose income run into the hundreds of thousands and millions will oppose its passage, but if the right sort of men are elected that will not make any particular difference. That, together with an inheritance tax, would do more to prevent great and dangerous accumulations of money than any other form of taxation that has ever been devised and it is inconceivable that any legislature will dare reject the proposition.

R. C. Dunn's Princeton Union: One of the greatest pleasures which President Taft looks forward to upon his visit to Minneapolis is the meeting with that grizzled, powder-stained old warrior, that hero of a hundred battles whose name is familiar to every man, woman and child throughout the length and breadth of the land—Commander-In-Chief Samuel R. San Vant.

Sauk Rapids Sentinel-Free Press: There seems to be a tendency among the powers that be in the Republican party in this state to shrink away from the inevitable conflict within the party. This struggle will not be confined to the organization in this state, it will spread through the nation. And by the decision of the rank and file of the party its future will be determined. The Republican party cannot long survive "half slave and half free." If the progressive, the insurgent, element does not get control, both in the state and nation, the G. O. P. will have outlived its usefulness.

Cambridge Independent-Press: The popularity of Governor Johnson in the Western states cannot be imagined. It is necessary to visit it among the people of the West to get an idea of the popularity of our governor. The West is Johnson's for the asking.

Elk River Star-News: There may be no sense in the movement to indorse the congressmen at this late day, but there is still less sense in the opposition of the self-appointed political bosses, whose dictatorial loud noises in the past have irritated and annoyed the rank and file to that point of resentment that largely accounts for the reverses the dominant party has met. The Republican party has been severely jolted in the past half dozen years, but it doesn't appear to have benefited thereby and probably another jolt will have no better result.

It's a Wise Father, Etc.

Puck: The sole proprietor of the "world's largest, grandest and most stupendous circus" was making his bookings for the next season when his son, fresh from his first year at college, stepped into the office. The circus proprietor shook hands with the youth, whom he now saw for the first time in eight months.

Silently the old gentleman petted the bulldog that the lad had at the end of a cord; fingered the glaring suitcase labels; looked wonderingly at the highly reefed trousers and the red-and-white polka-dot socks, curiously observed the exaggerated, square-cut coat; noticed the noisy necktie, and gazed in awe at the white crush hat with the dog-chewed effect on the edges and the pink-and-purple band around the crown.

"So you learned all that at college, did you?" inquired the old gentleman, pointing to Junior's clothes, dog and suitcase.

The son grinned and nodded.

"I suppose you learned the college yell?"

His heir answered by giving a graphic demonstration:

"Sssssssssssss- - - - - - - -BOOM!
Ahhhhhhhhhh! ! ! ! ! ! ! ! !
Rickity rax, Rickity rax, Rah, rah ra!"

"And then some people are foolish enough to say that a college education doesn't pay! Why, son, since you've gone away to college you're a fortune. You'll make the greatest sideshow attraction I've had in ten years."

A Moot Question.

Where is Mabel's waistline?
Is what I want to know;
It used to be just half way up,
But now it seems as though,
She's shifted it, and, if you please,
It's somewhere 'round about her knees.

Where is Mabel's waistline?
A few short years ago
'T was just beneath her dimpled arms,
But now it's way below
The site Dame Fashion formerly
Declared it a la mode to be.

Where is Mabel's waistline?
The modes may come and go;
But while the public has to guess,
In confidence I know:
A good right arm reveals to me
The truth—'tis where it used to be!

A Willing Worker.

Cosmopolitan: A Western business man walking down Broadway encountered a friend of former days. It was evident that times had dealt harshly with him. His clothes were frazzled and he bore every visible sign of failure and dejection. It was evident from his watery eyes and red nose that liquor had played no little part in his undoing. The business man, however, wanted to be cordial and asked him to have a drink. When the other gladly agreed the two stepped into a cafe, and the business man said to the bartender:

"Two highballs, please."

The derelict edged to the bar quickly and in a tremulous but eager voice said:

"Give me the same!"

MEANT TO BE FUNNY.

Bystander: "A play," remarked the theatrical manager, "is like a cigar."

"What's the answer?" inquired the innocent reporter.

"If it's good," explained the manager, "everybody wants a box, and if it's bad no amount of puffing will make it draw."

Chicago Daily News: Irate Woman—These photographs you made of myself and husband are not at all satisfactory, and I refuse to accept them.

"Tell you what I am willing to do. I will give you a lesson in correct English. Is it a go?"

Kansas City Journal: "Why do you always go out on the balcony when I begin to sing, John? Can't you bear to listen to me?"

"It isn't that, but I don't want the neighbors to think I'm a wife beater."

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

KILLS BOY WHO DARED

Youth Living Near Bagley Accidentally Shot By His Sister.

Aimed "Unloaded" Gun in Fun With Usual Tragic Result.

Bagley, Minn., Sept. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—The 8-year-old son of Elling Gulbranson is dead at his home in the town of Leonard, ten miles north of here, with his head blown to atoms, being another victim of a gun that "wasn't loaded."

The fatal shot was fired from a gun in the hands of his 14-year-old sister, the killing being evidently accidental.

According to reports the girl went to her brother's room to arouse him, and some little joking occurred between them.

She told the boy to get up, and he answered that he guessed he would not; he'd take a little longer sleep.

The girl then laughingly told him that she would shoot him, if he didn't get up, and pointed towards a gun that was hanging on the wall.

Dares Her to Shoot.

The boy smiled and told her to "shoot away."

Without realizing what she was doing she took the gun from the wall and taking aim, pulled the trigger.

There was a deafening report, and the girl was horrified to note that a charge of shot had bored its way into the boy's head, literally tearing away his head from the shoulders.

The shot was instantly fatal, the boy rot uttering a sound.

The girl has been grief-stricken since the accident, and it is feared that her mind will become deranged so intense is her lamentation over the sad affair.

NEW CHURCH ON SHORE OF LAKE

Methodist Episcopal Church of Vineland Dedicated Last Sunday.

Onamia, Minn., Sept. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Last Sunday at Vineland, a pretty little town, rich in pioneer history on the southwest shore of Mille Lacs lake, the new Methodist Episcopal church was dedicated by the district superintendent of the Duluth district, the Rev. E. C. Clemans, D. D., assisted by the pastor, Rev. G. W. Hunt and the Rev. Mr. Turner, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church here.

The day was clear and warm and the people for miles around gathered to attend the services. Some coming twenty miles in teams.

The services began at 11 a. m. with a sermon by the district superintendent. At this close the finances were presented. With what will be raised outside, the indebtedness of some $100 was provided for. Under the trees in the church grounds tables were set and good things brought by the hospitable ladies served.

At the afternoon service the church was dedicated, Dr. Clemans, assisted by the pastor, and visiting ministers.

The church building is a credit to the board of trustees consisting of Burrell Ghee, W. D. Bartlett, H. O. Oliver, Harrison Ghee, Williard Warren, G. W. Hunt and Mrs. E. G. Bergendahl, and to the Ladies' Aid society, Mrs. Phoebe Ghee, president. This is the first church building in a community that has been settled for many years and the whole neighborhood is rejoicing over the church. Much credit is due to the pastor, the Rev. G. W. Hunt, who for four years has traveled twenty-four miles every other Sunday, in all kinds of weather to preach.

WANT CHIEF'S HEAD.

St. Cloud People Demand Removal of Head Peace Officer.

St. Cloud, Minn., Sept. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—The meeting of some thirty or forty citizens held Friday evening at the Commercial club rooms proved a demonstration in favor of bringing to full justice Dan Jernberg, who is now serving time in the state reformatory for the crime which he committed on the person of Lizzie Swintek on the evening of June 18, and to express the indignation of those present at the inactivity of Chief of Police John Quinlivan and the part he has taken in the matter. Mayor Hugh Evans, who was present at the meeting, was handed a petition asking for Mr. Quinlivan's removal from office, and the matter will be taken under advisement by the executive of the city.

There were in reality two meetings. The first was one of the several ward committees which had been appointed by the main committee, and was composed entirely of men.

PULL OUT A HAIR

The Way To Tell If Your Hair is Diseased

Even if you have a luxuriant head of hair, you may want to know whether it is in a healthy condition or not. Ninety-eight per cent of the people need a hair tonic. You can make a test yourself that you can see and understand, which will tell whether your hair is healthy or not. Pull a hair out of your head, if the bulb at the end of the root is white and shrunken, it proves that the hair is diseased, and requires prompt treatment if its loss would be avoided. If the bulk is pink and full, the hair is healthy.

We want everyone in Duluth whose hair requires treatment to try our Rexall "93" Hair Tonic. We promise that it shall not cost anything if it does not give satisfactory results. Rexall "93" Hair Tonic is designed to overcome dandruff, relieve scalp irritation, to stimulate the hair roots, to tighten the hair already in the head, grow hair and cure baldness.

Out of 100 cases where it was given a thorough, conscientious test, it grew hair on 93 heads, which should be sufficient proof that Rexall "93" Hair Tonic contains extraordinary curative and hair growing qualities. It is because of our knowledge of this preparation and our sincere faith in its goodness that we want you to try it at our risk.

Rexall "93" Hair Tonic is a clean, clear preparation which does not grease, gum or thicken the hair, and it has a very pleasant odor. We have it in two sizes, prices 50c. and $1.00. E. M. Tredway, 108 West Superior street.

BRAINERD HAS ONE BIG TIME

Labor Day Celebration One of Largest Held There In Years.

Brainerd, Minn., Sept. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Organized labor did itself proud here in the celebration yesterday. The parade was the largest since the big sawmill shut down several years ago and the sawmill's union went out of existence. Nearly every labor organization was in line, there being at least 500 in the parade, which was led by the city police, mounted. They were followed by the city council and the speakers of the day, and by the Brainerd band followed by the various labor organizations, headed by the Trades and Labor assembly.

The parade traversed the principal streets of the city, ending at Gregory park, where the speaking took place. The speakers were W. E. McEwen, state labor commissioner; Rev. J. J. O'Mahoney, pastor of St. Francis Catholic church of this city, and Rev. J. R. Alten, pastor of St. Paul's Episcopal church of Brainerd.

The afternoon was devoted to a program of sports, pulled off under the direction of Secretary Dennis, of the Y. M. C. A., and in the evening there was a grand ball given at Gardner's hall, under the auspices of the Trades and Labor assembly.

COUNTY SEAT FIGHT.

Rival Towns After Courthouse in Oliver County, North Dakota.

Mandan, N. D., Sept. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Oliver county is upon the verge of a county seat war, in which the newly platted townsite of Fort Clark will endeavor to wrest from Center the honors it now holds. Fort Clark will be located on the banks of the Missouri river and along the line of the new railroad that is being built north from Mandan.

Center has been the county seat for a number of years. It is an inland town, and this is the fact that the workers for Fort Clark will put up as an argument against its being kept there in the future. With the building of the railroad through the eastern part of the county it is also claimed that the center of population will be there, and for that reason the county seat should be removed.

DEMURRER IS ARGUED.

In the Case of Beltrami Against Clearwater County.

Bemidji, Minn., Sept. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—A demurrer has just been argued before Judge Stanton, in the district court, in the case of Beltrami County vs. Clearwater County, wherein Beltrami county seeks to recover $30,000, claimed to be due as a portion of the indebtedness which Clearwater county should have assumed as its share at the time the territory which is now Clearwater county was taken from Beltrami county and organized as an independent county.

This case is an action brought for contribution, and is so admitted by the plaintiff in its brief, to recover approximately $30,000, the plaintiff alleging in the complaint that about $175,000 was the indebtedness of old Beltrami county at the time Clearwater county was constructed in 1902.

INDIANS AFTER RICE.

Chippewas Flock to Lake Onamia After Annual Crop.

Onamia, Minn., Sept. 7.—Lake Onamia has an unusually large crop of wild rice this year, and the Indians are congregating here. The crop of rice always draws the scattered bands together for their annual harvest. Some rice has already been picked, but it will be about a week before the crop is fully ripe. Then the lake will be lined with canoes filled with Chippewa pickers and the merchants will be besieged with rice-sellers. The preparation of the rice for market requires considerable labor, and it is well worth the time of the uninitated to watch them. The Indians have promised to return to White Earth after they gather this year's crop, but the outcome seems quite problematical.

FIGURING ON RAILROAD.

Eastern Capitalist May Purchase an Unused Logging Road.

Brainerd, Minn., Sept. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Odran Fritz of St. Paul, official photographer of the Northern Pacific and Rock Island railways, has gone to Cross lake to take a series of pictures of the Cass lake logging railroad, for a New York capitalist named McNally, who is considering the possibility of purchasing the road, which is now out of use, and extending it either to the Northern Pacific on the south or the Great Northern on the north. A corps of surveyors went over the line a few weeks ago to investigate it for the same parties.

ARE CAUGHT REDHANDED.

Boxcar Thieves Encountered Looting By Railroad Detective.

Rolette, N. D., Sept. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Great Northern's special agent, J. G. Callahan, recently had an exciting experience with a pair of toughs here before he finally landed one of them in the county jail on a charge of burglary. Arthur B. Kelly is held for trial on that charge, while one W. F. Burke, who was also wanted, made his escape. Several thefts from the Great Northern depot had taken place when the detective arrived on the scene. He laid in wait and says he finally discovered Burke and Kelly in the act of removing a part of their loot from one place to another. He broke in on the men, captured Kelly, while Burke took to a horse and buggy and escaped, although Callahan fired several shots at him in an effort to make him stop. Burke headed for the Canadian line and probably found safety in King Edward's domain.

MORRISON COUNTY APPLES.

Plenty of Evidences Fruit Thrives in That Section.

Little Falls, Minn., Sept. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—That Morrison county is very much in the apple belt was clearly demonstrated by John Hanfler of Swan River, owner of the Oakland Stock farm, who was in the city and brought some fruit from his apple orchard.

Mr. Hanfler began the planting of apple trees about six years ago and now has a total of 200 trees on two acres of ground. The varieties are the Wealthy, Duchess, Patent Greening, Okobena and the Transcendent crab, besides plum trees and the compass cherries. He has taken "eating" apples from his trees of late which measure thirteen and one-half inches in circumference and are solid through and through with a fine flavor. The crabs are solid and fine eating.

SOO BRAKEMAN FATALLY HURT

Richard Poppler Dies in Detroit Following Amputation of Limbs.

Frazee, Minn., Sept. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Richard Poppler, aged 21, of Fargo, who formerly lived with his family on a farm near here and who has been employed as a brakeman on the Soo road, died in the Detroit hospital yesterday afternoon, following an amputation of both his arms and legs as the result of being thrown between the wheels of a freight train when some cars were ditched.

The injured man was hurried to a hospital in Detroit, but died soon after the mangled limbs were removed. The funeral will be held tomorrow, with interment in the cemetery at Perham, where his sister resides.

CAMP IS ORGANIZED.

Spanish-American War Veterans of Fargo Perfect Organization.

Fargo, N. D., Sept. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Spanish-American war veterans of Fargo and vicinity met at the Company B armory and organized the first Spanish-American camp in the state. The name selected for the camp is Camp Frederick Keye, No. 1 of Fargo, N. D.

There was an attendance of twenty-four veterans of the Spanish-American war present and the business of organizing was put through without a hitch. The following officers were selected:

Commander, Capt. Angus Fraser, Fargo; senior vice commander, C. E. Stowers, Wheatland; junior vice commander, M. A. Hall, Fargo; officer of the day, Capt. G. C. Grafton, Fargo; Officer of the guard, Ed Fay, Moorhead; chaplain, Capt. Charles Foster, Fargo; trustee, three years, Lieut. R. A. Thomson; trustee, two years, Lieut. D. S. Lewis; trustee, one year, Olaf Leaf.

The following appointive officers were named by Commander Fraser: Quartermaster, Lieut. H. Sorenson; adjutant, James McGuigan.

AITKIN FAIR FEATURES.

Aitkin, Minn., Sept. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Among the amusements planned during the Aitkin county fair, Sept. 16, 17 and 18, will be a ball game Friday afternoon, Sept. 17, between Aitkin and Cromwell. Saturday afternoon the Aitkin team will meet the Northern Pacific team of Duluth. Games will be called at 1:30.

An appropriation of $20 was made for purses for a five-mile speed contest between an automobile and a motorcycle, to be run on both Friday and Saturday. This will be a novelty that will be of intense interest, and it is hoped that entries may be secured for it without delay.

An automobile exhibition run is also being solicited with out-of-town parties, with hopes of success in securing it.

The idea of a Marathon race has been settled by the offering of three prizes for both Friday and Saturday for a free-for-all foot race of two miles. The prizes for each event will be $7, $5 and $3. Any of the young men of the county who can make a good long distance run will be welcome to enter free, and will stand a good show of getting a purse.

PENINSULA BRIEFS

Ishpeming—Miss Rose O'Brien and her friend, Miss Margaret McDonald of Duluth, went to the Copper country Sunday to visit the former's brother, M. J. O'Brien and family for a few days. Miss O'Brien will teach at Duluth again this year.

Marquette—James Russell arrived Saturday from Detroit, where he attended a meeting of the joint prison boards of the state. Marl T. Murray was elected secretary of the boards of corrections and charities.

Hancock—Contractor Fred King of Hancock has been awarded the contract for the erection of a modern business block at South Range for Frank Waltz. The building will be on Baltic and First street, opposite the candy kitchen. It will be a two-story brick veneer structure, with store room down stairs and office and living rooms on the second floor.

Calumet—The annual flower and vegetable exhibit of the school children of Calumet, under the auspices of the civic committee of the Calumet Woman's club, will take place at the school hall of the Washington building on Friday and Saturday, Sept. 10 and 11.

Houghton—The Good Will Farm will net a comfortable sum this season through the sale of farm products. The three oldest boys at the institution, neither of whom is more than 15 years of age, have been appointed by Supt. Gertrude M. Waler to have full charge of the farm.

Hancock—Jacob Gartner, proprietor of the Gartner department store, accompanied by his nephew, Isidore Krolick of Calumet, has arrived home from a three months' trip to Germany and other points of interest in Europe.

Calumet—The Calumet & Hecla Mining company has a force of men at work upon the pumping station on the waterworks, and is making a number of important improvements there.

Laurium—Mrs. C. M. Dunbar of Guthrie, Okla., is visiting her brother, Arthur Bennetts, in Laurium. Mrs. Dunbar was a former Calumet resident, but has been absent from this city for the past twenty years.

Ontonagon—Charles Orr, who has been running a harness shop in this village and has been kept at the county jail for the past few days was examined as to his sanity Wednesday afternoon by Doctors Swinton and Nitterauer, before Judge Van Slyck and pronounced insane.

Crystal Falls—Crystal Falls lodge No. 385, F. & A. M., will receive a visit from Grand Master Arthur H. Hume and Grand Lecturer Frank O. Gilbert Monday evening, Sept. 13. Arrangements are being made for the entertainment of the expected guests and special lodge work is being arranged for that evening.

MINNESOTA BRIEFS

Mankato—Arthur Fry of Kasota, 20 years old, died in a local hospital. He was employed as a lineman by a telegraph company and while there contracted typhoid fever. He returned to Kasota and his condition was so serious that he was brought to this city and placed in a hospital.

Deer River—Miss Bertha La Freniere of Grand Rapids will teach the Island Lake school and Miss Merrila Ranick of Little Falls will teach the Norman school in the Fifth district.

St. Cloud—Rev. J. L. Haack of San Antonio, Tex., has been called to the pastorate of the St. Cloud Germain Evangelical Freiden's church and was duly installed at the Sunday morning services by the venerable Rev. Waldmann, who has been supply the pulpit since the retirement of Rev. Seigenthaler.

Greenbush — A. O. Storvick, state creamery inspector, condemned a shipment of cream here that had been bought up by a representative of some central creamery, presumably located in the Twin Cities.

Crookston — Charles Wattam, who was formerly connected with the Great Northern offices of this city, and was later transferred to the Grand Forks offices, has accepted a position as stenographer in the supreme court at Bismarck, and will leave the latter part of this week for that place.

Brainerd—Rev. J. A. Caskey, newly installed pastor of the First Congregational church, occupied the pulpit Sunday morning and evening for the first time since being chosen as pastor of the church.

Aitkin—The new "crop" of partridges is said to be unusually large because of the dry spring and summer weather, which was particularly favorable to hatching and rearing of the chicks. Their numbers are a continual temptation to sportsmen, but the season does not open until Oct. 1.

St. Cloud—Shipments of crushed rock from the St. Cloud reformatory under the auspices of the state highway commission continue. The demand has been so large that if the orders now on hand are filled in full, the crusher will be kept busy for two years to come. Orders have been received from fifteen counties and about 100 cars have been sent.

Beaver Bay—J. W. Gray has returned from Isle Royale, where he has been collecting green stones the past summer, and will take charge of the Baptism River school.

Little Falls—Threshing is in full blast in Swan River town and the bumper crop is in evidence. On the L. M. Larson farm the threshing has been finished and the yield was twenty-five bushels to the acre for wheat and oats averaged fifty-six bushels to the acre. On the Peter Kowkott farm an average yield of twenty-six bushels of wheat to the acre was secured.

Moorhead—J. D. Moore, a representative of the Cudahy Packing company, was the victim of a runaway accident Saturday, and while not seriously injured, his bruises are very painful. Mr. Moore fell upon his right side, badly bruising his side and hand, and the buggy struck him upon the left shoulder.

Stillwater — Manager Joseph Schott of the South Stillwater baseball team, has deposited $100 with W. E. Easton, challenging the Minnesota Guards team to play a game of ball for that amount.

DAKOTA BRIEFS

Grand Forks, N. D.—Bert De Long and Frank Allen are expected to appear before Judge Templeton of the district court this week to enter pleas of guilty to charges of grand larceny. They were captured in the act of disposing of a quantity of goods that they had secured in the theft of a pair of suit cases at the Great Northern depot in this city.

Bowman, N. D.—Otto Kranz saved his life by his ability at climbing trees, thus outwitting an enraged steer that had attacked him. A neighbor chanced to pass the place of Kranz's captivity rescued him, the animal having taken up a position nearby holding its owner a prisoner.

Ridgewood, N. D.—Gilbert MacDonald of this city will probably lose the sight of his right eye as a result of an accident which occurred while he was engaged in repairing a granary. In striking a nail the hammer failed to hit true, the nail flying out and piercing his right eye.

Fargo, N. D.—Announcements of the marriage of Miss Blanche Newman, daughter of Mrs. Georgia A. Newman of St. Paul, to John Francis Shea of this city, son of United States Marshal Shea, have been received by friends of the contracting parties in Fargo.

Wahpeton, N. D.—Reports from the threshing machines in this county vary all the way from five to thirty bushels of wheat to the acre. Three 80-tract fields not far from Wahpeton only averaged five bushels. This grain was partly drowned out in June.

Bismarck, N. D.—For the month ending Aug. 31, the railroad commissioner office has returned into the state treasurer $10,255 for license fees from the elevators doing business in the state. The licenses are paid for a biennial period.

Cavalier, N. D.—Friday afternoon, a young man named Charles Bernard, working on the pile driver for the Fargo Bridge company on the new iron bridge being put across the Tongue river north of the Akra schoolhouse, met with an accident that will cost him his life.

Bottineau, N. D.—The contract for putting in the water works here, including a stand pipe, pumping station, water mains, sewer mains and septic tank, all complete, was let to Gilbert Haggart of Fargo for $49,000, this being the lowest bid. The next lowest bid was about $40,000 by James Kennedy of Fargo. The work is to be completed by Jan. 1, 1910.

WISCONSIN BRIEFS

Eau Claire—Judge Albert R. Savage of the supreme court of Maine returned to his home state, after a visit with his sisters, Mrs. A. H. Frye of Gilbert avenue and Mrs. John Dickson of Bellinger street.

Ashland—John Berg has returned from an extensive trip to the West. He visited in San Francisco, Los Angeles, Tacoma, Spokane, Seattle and Denver, and reports a fine trip. Mrs. Berg will remain in the west another month visiting. The trip took them about six weeks.

Janesville—Laverne F. Raymond, under arrest charged with the murder of Michael Cronin on Jan. 21 of last year, was discharged at the preliminary hearing on the testimony of witnesses from Chicago, who came to his presence in that city on that night. Raymond was arrested a week ago at Tomah and came here voluntarily to answer the charge.

La Crosse—Frank Welgel, a farmer living near Stoddard, seeing smoke issuing from the cabin occupied by his aged father near by Saturday morning, went to the cabin and, entering the burning building at the risk of his life, carried his father out. Then it was seen that the elder Welgel, Joseph, aged 75 years, had smothered to death. The house was burned to the ground.

Madison—Rudolph Donnerstag, a convict of Fort Leavenworth prison, wants a wooden leg. He has written to United States Marshal Flint to furnish him with one. Donnerstak is one of the three brothers who are serving time for passing spurious coins. While attempting to run away from the officers he was shot in the leg. It was necessary to amputate the limb.

Every man who cares will want one of the new blue hats. If he's particular his hat will be the matchless

GIVES UP CLAIM TO LITTLE GIRL

Mrs. Barclay Withdraws Action to Get Possession of Marian Bleakley.

Kansas City, Mo., Sept. 7.—The fight for the possession of Marian Bleakley, the "incubator baby," is at an end.

So declared John H. Atwood in the circuit court here today when he, on behalf of Mrs. James G. Barclay, withdrew the habeas corpus suit brought to prevent the return of the child to Mrs. J. J. Bleakley, from whose home little Marian was kidnaped. In closing a dramatic address, he said:

"Although we believe we are legally and morally entitled to this child, the heartaches of my client must cease. We shall forever relieve this good woman's soul of the weight of responsibility."

Mrs. Barclay was in tears. Mrs. Bleakley and the baby were not in court. Mrs. Barclay later said:

"I'm so sorry, but I guess it will mean that I shouldn't have Marian. In a Buffalo bank, deposited to her name, is $921, which I shall arrange to have given her at once."

Foley's Kidney Remedy will do the same for you. For sale by all druggists.

CZAR GOING TO VISIT THE CRIMEA

Plans for Tour Are Changed on Account of Health of Czarina.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 7.—Emperor Nicholas and the members of the imperial family will leave St. Petersburg tonight for the Crimea. The celebrations at Moscow and other cities on the way have been abandoned on account of the empress' weakness and nervousness. The only important halt before reaching Sevastopol will be at Borki, in Southern Russia, where Emperor Nicholas, his father, and other members of the imperial family narrowly escaped death in a railroad accident in 1888. Religious services will be held in the Memorial church at Borki.

Big Time at Sevastopol.

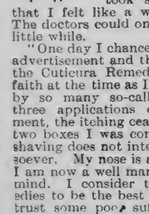

Extensive preparations are being made at Sevastopol to welcome the emperor and empress. There is to be an official reception and a review of the Black Sea fleet. After this the imperial family will go to the palace at Livadia to remain about one month.

Emperor Nicholas' departure will delay the presentation of W. W. Rockhill, the American ambassador, who is expected here about Sept. 15. John W. Riddle, the retiring ambassador, will leave here tomorrow without seeking the emperor in farewell audience. He will meet Mr. Rockhill in Berlin.

POISON TURNED TO ITCHING ECZEMA

On Hands and Face—Torment Prevented Sleep—Sufferer Had to Give Up His Work—Specialists and "Cures" Utterly Failed.

IS CURED AND CALLS CUTICURA WORLD'S BEST

"Three years ago, while a conductor, I was poisoned from the brass railings on the cars. I contracted salt-rheum or eczema on my hand. In wiping the perspiration from my face, I poisoned my nose and chin and was unable to shave. I had to give up my position and was treated by specialists, but to no avail. I tried every remedy I was told of and took so much medicine that I felt like a walking drug shop. The doctors could only relieve me for a little while.

"One day I chanced to see a Cuticura advertisement and thought I would try the Cuticura Remedies, but I had no faith at the time as I had been deceived by so many so-called 'cures.' After three applications of Cuticura Ointment, the itching ceased and after using two boxes I was completely cured and shaving does not interfere with it whatsoever. My nose is as clear as ever and I am now a well man both in body and mind. I consider the Cuticura Remedies to be the best in the world and I trust some poor sufferer will see this and be benefited thereby.

"I used Cuticura Soap, Ointment and Pills. I can also say the suffering was intense. It itched and burned so that it was impossible to sleep but thanks to the wonderful Cuticura Remedies I am now well. I enclose my photograph which you may publish. Harold Ayers, 783 Jefferson Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y., Dec. 7 and 19, 1908."

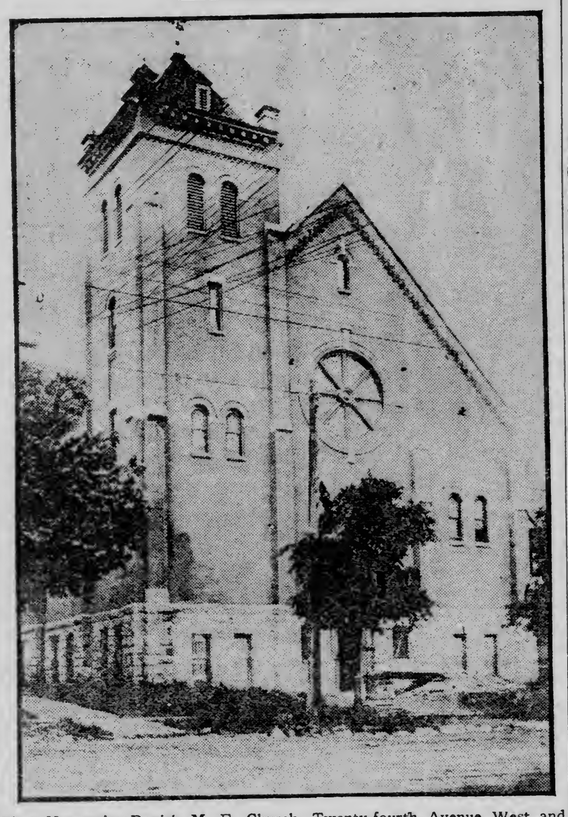

For eczemas, rashes, itchings, irritations, inflammations and other unwholesome conditions of the skin and scalp and for the prevention of the same, as well as for the sanative, antiseptic cleansing of ulcerated, inflamed mucous surfaces and other uses which readily suggest themselves to women, Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment, assisted when necessary by Cuticura Resolvent, are indispensable.

Sold throughout the world. Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Sole Props., Boston, Mass.

Cuticura Book, mailed free, tells all sufferers need to know about treatment and cure of hundreds of diseases of the skin scalp and hair.

INJURED IN COLLISION.

Street Car Strikes Rig and A. Jacobson Is Hurt.

In a collision with a westbound street car at the intersection of Twenty-fifth avenue west and Superior street, Andrew Jacobson, 21 years old, of 2221 West Michigan street, was thrown from a rig to the pavement. He sustained a severe cut on his forehead and bruises about the back of his head. He is recovering.

Jacobson was returning from a short drive and was driving across Superior street, not observing the street car which struck the rear of the rig, pitching him out on to the street. He was the sole occupant in the buggy. The rig was demolished. Dr. Robert Graham, who was driving by in an automobile, stopped and dressed his wounds.

Jacobson is employed at the Aune meat market at 2224 West Superior street as a butcher and lives in a boarding house on West Michigan street at the rear of the shop. Today he felt well enough to start work. His parents are not in Duluth.

DEATH FOLLOWS AN OPERATION.

Roland, the 6-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Lefgren of Badger, Minn., died yesterday afternoon at St. Luke's hospital, after a six weeks' illness. The body was taken to Badger last evening for burial. Mrs. Lofgren, who has been stopping with West end friends, accompanied the remains.

The direct cause of the death of the child is said to be heart failure during an operation.

HAS CLIMBED HIGH ON LADDER OF POLITICS

CONGRESSMAN C. H. COWLES.

Charles H. Cowles, the Republican representative from the Eighth district of North Carolina, was born in Charlotte, N. C., but later removed with his parents to Wilkesboro, N. C. Here he distinguished himself as a successful real estate operator and as the founder of a weekly publication—The Wilkes Patriot. His political career began upon his election as an alderman for Wilkesboro and then soon after followed his election to congress.

FROM THE BENCH.

A Judge Commends Pure Food.

A judge of a Colorado court said: "Nearly one year ago I began the use of Grape-Nuts as a food. Constant confinement indoors and the monotonous grind of office duties had so weakened and impaired my mental powers that I felt the imperative need of something which neither doctors nor food specialists seemed able to supply.

"A week's use of Grape-Nuts twice each day convinced me that some unusual and marvelous virtue was contained therein. My mental vigor returned with astonishing rapidity; brain weariness (from which I had constantly suffered) quickly disappeared; clearness of thought and intellectual health and activity which I had never previously known were to me the plain results of a few months' use of this food.

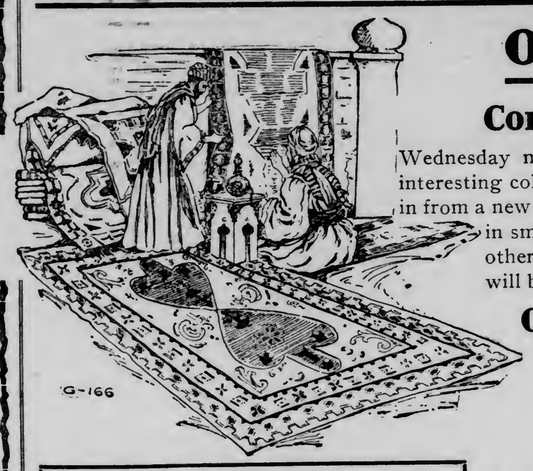

"Unhesitatingly I commend Grape-Nuts as the most remarkable food preparation which science has ever produced so far as my knowledge and experience extends."

The judge is right. Grape-Nuts food is a certain and remarkable brain builder and can be relied upon. "There's a Reason."

TO BE READY IN FEBRUARY

Contractors Expect Soo Depot Will be Complete by Then.

Big $750,000 Lantry Contract Is Now Practically Finished.

Contractor George H. Lounsberry, who has the contract for the erection of the new Soo depot between Sixth and Eighth avenues west on Superior street, stated this morning that, though he has a full force of men at work on the building, and the work is progressing with fair rapidity, it will be at least three months before his portion of the contract will be completed. It will probably take two months more before the inside work of the station is done, which means five or six months before the big depot is ready for use. This will mean that it will probably be ready some time in February.

Work on the first floor of the building will be started some time this week if the plans of Mr. Lounsberry work out as he expects.

Division Engineer David A. Reed of the Wisconsin Central says that the work on the big $175,000 Lantry contract is now practically complete, though there still remains some work in grading and removing earth. This contract included all of the track laying, tunneling and grading necessary in establishing the terminals of the road in Duluth.

Yeggmen Blow Safe.

Andover, S. D., Sept. 7.—Yeggmen gained an entrance through the back window of the postoffice at an early hour and blew open the safe with nitro-glycerin. They secured about $80 in cash and $8 worth of stamps. There is no club to the robbers.

HEAVIEST IN YEARS

Travel to the Twin Cities Is Breaking All Records.

Morning Train From St. Paul Had Twelve Crowded Coaches.

The volume of travel between the Twin Cities and Duluth has not been so great for years as during the past few days. Friday, Saturday and Sunday, people who wanted to be on hand for the opening day of the Minnesota state fair at Hamline, crowded all trains running out of Duluth. Yesterday those who are counting on taking in two or three days of the fair made up the bulk of the travel, and it is expected that all during the week extra long trains will carry loads of humanity daily.

The Northern Pacific train from Minneapolis, due in Duluth at 6:30 a. m., was nearly three hours late this morning. Every berth in the train was taken and every inch of available space in the day coaches. At St. Paul, there were people standing in the aisles and vestibules so that the train was held for about an hour until another coach could be obtained to relieve the congestion. The train pulled in this morning with twelve coaches, every one of them filled.

To swell the traffic, the teachers are arriving. The number of teachers for Duluth schools and passing through to the range is large. For the next week the traveler out of Duluth will do well to look to his accommodations, or he may have to ride in the tender.

Those who returned from the fair this morning say it is the best ever. The crowd yesterday was the largest in the history, running close to the 100,000 mark.

TAILS AND COURTSHIP.

Strand Magazine: It would be tedious to dwell on the pretty part which the tail plays in the courtships of sparrows and pigeons, or on the sprightly attitudes by which birds of all sorts let off their spirits when shower and sunshine have overfilled their hearts with gladness. But birds twitch their tails constantly, without meaning anything by it. The ceaseless wagging of a wagtail is a mere habit of cheerfulness, like the twirling of her thumbs by an idle Scotch woman. The long tail is there and something must be done with it. Look at the embarrassment which a nervous young man shows about the disposal of his hands; how he thrusts them into his trousers pockets, hangs them by their thumbs from the armholes of his waistcoat, or gives them a walking stick to play with. I like to imagine what such a fellow would do with a long tail if he had it—how he would wind it round each leg in turn, rub up his back hair, and describe figures on the floor. But no animal so self-conscious as man could bear up long under the nervous strain of having to think continually of its tail. It would die young and the race would become extinct. Perhaps it did.

QUAINTNESS.

Prof. Brander Matthews, the brilliant writer and teacher, was discussing literary quaintness at Columbia. In illustration of the quaint he said:

"A little girl I know was very bad one day. She was so bad that, other corrections failing, her mother took her to her room to whip her.

"During this proceeding, the little girl's older brother opened the door and was about to enter. But in her prone position across her mother's knee the little girl twisted round her head and said severely:

"'Eddie, go out! Can't you see we're busy?'"

HE WAS A HEN.

Reginald Vanderbilt, at a dinner in New York, denied that, during the Pittsburg horse show, he had snubbed Pittsburg society.

"The trouble lay in the fact," said Mr. Vanderbilt, "that in Pittsburg I was misunderstood. I was taken for a society man of leisure, when really I was a hard-working horseman without a minute to spare.

"It was a case," he said, "of mistaken identity, like that of the little Newport boy. He, with his little brothers and sisters, was being taught natural history by his governess through the instrumentality of a game. The game was called 'Barnyard.' One child was a turkey, another a duck, a third a calf, and so on. A noisy, delightful game, and much natural history was no doubt learned through it.

"But my little boy remained, in all the tumult, as still as death. Far off in a corner he crouched, silent and alone. The governess, spying him, approached indignantly.

"'Come,' she said, 'play! Be a rooster! Flap your wings and crow!'

"'S-sh,' said he. 'I'm laying an egg!'"

FOUR GAMES TO THE GOOD

Sox End Season With Good Margin Over Eau Claire.

Even Break In Double-Header With Superior on Monday.

How They Finished.

	Won.	Lost.	Pct.
Duluth	65	52	.556
Eau Claire	62	57	.521
Winona	60	56	.517
La Crosse	60	56	.517
Wausau	56	66	.460
Superior	51	65	.440

With a clear lead of four games above Eau Claire, their nearest rivals, and with their bank account totalling enough to enable them to more than break even financially when all debts are paid, the Duluth White Sox wound up what has been perhaps Duluth's most successful baseball season yesterday by dividing a double-header with Superior, losing the morning game 6 to 0 in Superior and taking a ten-inning 4 to 3 game here in the afternoon before one of the season's best crowds.

Another feature of yesterday's play in the Minnesota-Wisconsin league was the capture of a double-header by Eau Claire, and a defeat for Winona from La Crosse, putting the Cream Puffs in second place and retiring the Kickers from their position as the nearest rivals of the Sox.

The morning game at Superior was as dull and uninteresting as the dramatization of "Three Weeks," from a Duluth point of view. Peterson had it on the Duluth sticklers from the time the curtain went up until McLaughlin villainously murdered the hopes of the Sox by shooting up a high fly to right field and ending things in the ninth. Only two safe hits did the leaders get off the brawny Norseman who did the hurling for the Drillites, and they came far, far apart.

Schmirler did pretty well for the Sox until the fifth when things went up in the air generally and four runs tallied. Bancroft singled cleanly, Peterson bunted, and was safe because no one covered first. Gray sacrificed successfully and Caldwell was retired at first. Then Koepping sent a hot one through Kohl and Bancroft and Peterson tallied. Koepping took second on the throw to the plate and went home from there on Shaub's single. Geelan lammed a hot one down third base line, and Shaub went to third, coming home on a wild throw to Kohl by Mueller.

Superior scored again in the seventh, Koepping beating the ball home on a play to second where the old stunt of the short stop intercepting the long throw down, was featured. Koepping was too fast for this kind of work and beat Kohl's throw in by several feet. The last tally came in the eighth. Capper getting a three-base hit, and going home on a wild pitch by Schmirler. The Sox did not get a semblance of a hit in the ninth.

Score by innings:
Superior	0	0	0	0	4	0	1	1	x	—6

Summary: Two-base hit—Mueller. Three-base hit—Clapper. Sacrifice hit—Gray. Stolen bases—Caldwell, Koepping, 2; Shaub, Mueller. Struck out—by Schmirler, 3; by Peterson, 5. Bases on balls—Off Schmirler, 6. Wild pitch—Schmirler. Double play—Schmirler to McCrone. Time of game—1:40. Umpire—Anderson.

There was nothing doing in the second game until the third inning, when Kohl went to second on Caldwell's wild throw to first. McLaughlin went out advancing the king to third. McCrone found one of Klingebell's outs for a three-sacker, scoring Kohl. Toughy Breen went out ingloriously and left the bog first baseman stranded on third.

In the fifth the Sox tallied again. Marion and Kohl got singles and Marion stole third. Kohl started to steal second and big Klingebell committed a very evident balk, finally holding the ball himself. Umpire Anderson saw it, and with a pained expression motioned Marion home. Kohl went to third when McCrone got another long fly to right, but died peacefully there when Breen fanned again.

Superior took the lead in the next inning, getting to Marion for three clean hits and scoring three men. Gray hammered out a clean single, Caldwell got another, Gray stealing down to third on the throw in. Then Koepping picked out one of Reuben's slants and gently pushed it way over Pete Nelson's head and bounced it against the center field fence. Gray and Caldwell scored, and Koepping was dancing around third when the ball got back to where it was useful again. The Drillers worked the squeeze play then, and with Koepping to do the fast work, the score was easy. Two men grounded out, retiring the side.

In the eighth Duluth tied up the score. Jacket got a single after Neelon had drawn a pass and had been advanced on Mueller's infield out. Zack's hit was a long one, away out in left, and Neelon went home easily.

The ninth inning passed without event, and Superior went down in one, two, three order in the first half of the tenth.

The Sox broke things up in their half of the last frame. Breen got a pass, the only time he saw first during the game. Darby sacrificed neatly, putting Toughey on the second sack. Then Neelon did the trick with a clean single just over second, scoring Breen with the deciding tally.

There was a bumper crowd, grandstand and bleachers being crowded. A good sized crowd of decidedly partisan fans from Superior were in attendance and the opposing rooters indulged in some repartee which was very interesting. A shift was made in the Superior lineup after Geelan was hurt batting in the third. Shaub came in to take care of the first sack and Peterson went out to Shaub's field.

NO-HIT GAME AT LA CROSSE.

Schardt Does Not Allow Winona a Single Slam.

La Crosse, Wis., Sept. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—With Schardt doing the manipulating for the home team, the visitors were unable at any stage in yesterday's contest on the local diamond to secure a hit, although two errors on the part of the locals permitted them to amass one run. However, the home team won very handily by a score of 3 to 1.

The Winona players showed a disposition to pound the umpire in the fifth inning, but the crowd swarmed upon the field and dissuaded them. The game was called at the end of the eighth, to permit the players to catch a train. Score:

	R.	H.	E.
La Crosse	3	4	4

Batteries — Baillies and Moore; Schardt and Klein.

WAUSAU DROPS TWO.

Loses First on Error and Second on Failure to Hit.

Wausau, Wis., Sept. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Wausau failed to figure happily in two games with Eau Claire, played on the local grounds yesterday. The first game went to the visitors by a score of 6 to 4 and the second game was lost by a score of 5 to 1.

The first game, played in the morning, went eleven innings and the locals had a chance to win in the ninth, but man in center field made an error which decided the contest in favor of the out-of-town delegation. The Eau Claire persons won the second game by outhitting the locals. Scores:

First game—	R.	H.	E.

ALLARD GETS A BAD BEATING

Eddie McGoorty Puts It All Over Copper Country Fighter.

Houghton, Mich., Sept. 7.—Eddie McGoorty put it all over Art Allard, the Copper country fighter, in a 10-round bout here last night.

The Oshkosh scrapper landed at will, while Allard got in but three or four stiff punches during the entire encounter.

Once during the fight Allard took a count of five, and again at the end of the tenth round the Copper country man was about to go down, when the gong saved him from being knocked out.

McGoorty played with his man from the first and punished his opponent severely after the first round. Allard's ability to take lots of hard punishment saved him being knocked out early in the game.

The fight was witnessed by one of the largest crowds that ever attended a fight in the Copper country, and the decision was well received.

McGoorty is planning on meeting Tony Caponi. The mix will take place either at Dayton, Ohio, or at some town in Michigan.

HOOLIGAN WINS; STRAIGHT HEATS

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 7.—The Western races opened here yesterday before one of the largest crowds that has attended the state fair. Minor Heir and Dan Patch were scheduled to race, but both went lame. Minor Heir, however, went an exhibition mile in 2:01¾. Governor Sarles took the second and third heats in the 2:06 pace, after finishing fourth in the first, and won the race.

There were three starters in the 2:25 pace, and Happy Hooligan won in straight heats.

Allie K. won the 2:17 trot from a field of eleven starters, taking the last three heats after finishing fourth in the first.

Summary:

2:06 Pace, Purse $1,000.

Governor Sarles, bs, (McMahon), 411; Ismetta, bh, (Loomis), 143; Tony Swift, bl, (Dean), 222. Time, 2:07½; 2:09¾; 2:09¼.

HIS ANNUAL RESIGNATION

But Kuehnow Says He Is Really Through This Time.

The Rowdy Conduct of Joe Killian Will Go Unpunished.

Will Al Kuehnow ever quit organized baseball? Perhaps, but the fans would awfully hate to bet much on it. Al has just handed in his annual resignation as manager of the Duluth Ball club. Like Patti's farewell tours and O'Neil's "Monte Christo," it comes every year, just as surely as the wind-up of the baseball season. And then, when the sun begins to break things up in the spring, and the kids get out and break windows on the corner lots with balls they swiped from Al last year, he gets the fever again, and pretty soon he shows up with a line of dope about the wonderful young diamond stars he has lined up for spring practice at Madison.

"I" says he means it this time, though. The club has been $2,000 in debt since the disastrous season of three years ago, and he has wanted to stay with the club until it was out of debt. The present season will net the club about $1,500 to clean up old debts, including the admission fees and the money from the sale of men, and this is near enough to satisfy this manager. So he says he intends to quit while he has a clean slate.

"I am really out of the game," he said this morning, "I have done my share for baseball here, and I am going to turn the management over to somebody who can devote more time to it than I am able to do."

Just now Mr. Kheunnow is acting president of the league, President Elliott being away from home. He received a telegram this morning from H. J. Rooney, president of the La Crosse ball club, saying that the Winona team had been disgraced by the action of Manager Joe Killian in the morning game at La Crosse. Killian, in the telegram, walked out on the field in plain clothes and assaulted Umpire Wheeler. Nothing can be done, as a penalty at this time of year would probably not be very effective, so the rowdyism of the Winona manager will have to pass unpunished.

The team will be the guests of the ball club at a luncheon this noon. Louis today, and will leave tonight for Winnipeg. McLaughlin will replace Breen, who goes to join the St. Paul team at Milwaukee today, and Taylor will be back in the game again. He was fined $25 and suspended for conduct at La Crosse. The team will be back here to finish the series with the Maroons, commencing next Sunday.

PITTSBURG GETS BUMPED AT HOME

Pirates Fall Down in Two Games With the Chicago Cubs.

Pittsburg, Pa., Sept. 7. — Chicago gained sixteen points on Pittsburg yesterday in the race for the National league pennant by winning the afternoon game by a score of 6 to 3, before a crowd of 29,000 persons.

Ground rules were necessary. A hit into the crowd, which covered the outfield, counted for two bases, and many two-baggers resulted from singles that otherwise would have counted for but one base.

The visitors took the lead in the first inning when they secured three runs, and were never headed. Willis was hit freely, being removed in the second inning, Leifield taking his place. Phillippi was sent to the mound in the sixth inning and allowed but two hits. Overall pitched a strong game. Three singles, a double, a base on balls and a fielder's choice in the first inning netted Chicago three runs. In the same period Leach singled, stole second and scored on Wagner's single. Tinker, the first man up in the second, brought the immense crowd to their feet with wild cheers when he knocked the ball over the left field fence for a home run. A base on balls, two singles and a double gave the home team their final two runs of the contest. Chicago scored again in the fourth on two doubles and once more in the ninth. The final run caused a dispute that for a time threatened to end the game. Hofman doubled and went to third on Tinker's hit. Tinker started to steal second. Wagner threw the ball to Abstein, who dropped it when Tinker bumped him. Hofman scoring. Practically the entire Pittsburg team argued the matter with Umpire Klem, but to no avail, for the run counted and Tinker was safe. Evers was put out of the game in the fifth inning for disputing a decision. The score:

Chicago, 3; Pittsburg, 1.

Pittsburg, Pa., Sept. 7.—Chicago won a 10-inning contest from Pittsburg yesterday morning by a score of 3 to 1. Clarke's misjudging of Chance's fly in the ninth inning allowed the batter a two-base hit, Chance coming across the plate in a moment with a run, thereby tying the score. The visitors won in the tenth when Evers doubled, coming home when Schulte singled. The latter went to third on Wilson's wild throw to the plate and scored when Chance again secured a double. Pittsburg scored in the second inning when Abstein knocked a "Texas leaguer" to left field, and the next three batters secured infield hits. Adams pitched gilt-edged ball, striking twelve players, six of them consecutively. Reulbach was strong with men on bases. Score:

Boston	4	5	2

Batteries—Mathewson and Schlei; Mattern, Richie and Smith. Umpire—Rigler.

Brooklyn, 6; Philadelphia, 2.

Brooklyn, N. Y., Sept. 7.—Brooklyn turned the tables on the Philadelphias in the afternoon game yesterday, winning by a score of 6 to 2. The visitors made more hits, but three of the home team's drives were for the circuit, two of them with men on bases. Bergen distinguished himself by making a home run, his first on record here.

Score:	R.	H.	E.
Philadelphia	2	11	2
Brooklyn	6	9	1

Batteries — McQuillen, Foxen and Dooln; Rucker and Bergen. Umpire—Kane and Emslie.

Cincinnati Takes Two.

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 7.—Cincinnati took both games of a double-header from St. Louis yesterday, the first by a score of 6 to 1 and the second 6 to 5. There were no striking features. Both games were played in a drizzling rain. Scores:

First game—	R.	H.	E.
Cincinnati	6	5	2

Washington Men Win Big Labor Day Shoot, However.

"Swiss Trophy" Goes to John W. Hessian of New York.

Seagirt, N. J., Sept. 7.—The Labor day honors at the rifle tournament here went yesterday to riflemen from Washington, D. C. Four officers from the ordinance department of the National Guard of the District of Columbia won the banner event of the day, the New York state rifle association's company team match. Firing seven shots each at 200, 500 and 600 yards, the Washington men scored 383 points, to 371 by ten men from headquarters, Seventy-first New York, and 369 by the team of Company C, Fourth New Jersey.

Of the other matches fought out on the Seagirt traffic field, New York led in the Swiss Trophy contest, while the United States Marine corps took both the Hale and the officers and inspectors competitions. Weather conditions were ideal.

The novelty of the tournament thus far was today's "Swiss Trophy" match won by John J. Hessian of New York. The first prize is a bronze figure representing William Tell with his boy. The distance was 500 yards. Each competitor fired two sighting shots, and continued to shoot so long as he remained in the bulls-eye. The other prize winners, in the order named, were as follows:

Musician Chesley, Connecticut; Lieut. Col. Tewes, New Jersey; Maj. Martin, New Jersey; Kent Dardinkiller, New York; Lieut. Col. Widner, Ohio;

CARLTON TO HOLD FAIR

Annual Event at Barnum on September 15, 16 and 17.

Exhibits Will Be Larger Than in Any Previous Year.

Barnum, Minn., Sept. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—This year's Carlton county fair to be held here Sept. 15, 16 and 17 promises to eclipse former fairs in every way.

From present reports the fair this year will have the largest attendance of any previous year. The exhibits will be larger and better which will be a good drawing card. But the card that will draw them all will be the five-mile automobile race which takes place Thursday, the 16th, being the second day of the fair. This is an event you do not want to miss as it will be the best race on the program. A number of the large cars from Duluth will be down to take a try at the money, and the prize being a good sized one will attract some of the fast drivers.

The program for the three days follow:

Wednesday, Sept. 15.—
9:00—Formal opening by J. D. Connor, president.
1:30—Pony race, green pony, two in three, half mile. Entrance free, purse $10
2:30—Farmers' running race, green horse, two in three, half mile. Entrance free, purse 15
3:00—Free-for-all, purse 50

Thursday, Sept. 16.—
1:30—Auto race, five miles, purse.. $150
2:00—Running race, half mile, two in three, purse 40
2:30—Trot or pace, free for all, one mile, three in five, purse... 80
3:00—Ladies' Bicycle race, one mile single dash, entrance free, purse 5
3:30—Ball game, purse..... 40

Friday, Sept. 17.
1:30—There will be speeches by prominent men of the state.

The following athletic events will be contested and will be interspersed with other attractions of the fair: One mile run, 100-yard dash, high jump, pole vault, hammer throw, 220-yard dash, shot put, three-legged race, 100 yards; standing broad jump, without weights; high kick, hurdle race, 120 yards; half mile run, ball throw, potato race, shoe race, 50 yards hop, skip and jump; for which liberal purses will be given.

FIVE MIDDIES SHY IN "APTITUDE"

Are Subject of Adverse Report on Fitness for Naval Career.

Washington, Sept. 7.—"Aptitude" as a characteristic of fitness for a naval career was made the subject of observation during the recent practice cruise of the naval cadets.

As a consequence, Capt. Bowyer, the head of the Annapolis academy, acting on the reports of his subordinates, has found it necessary to report five midshipmen for separation from the service on account of inaptitude.

The adverse comment of the officers was, as usual, submitted to the midshipmen most vitally interested for such rejoinder in the way of defense as they might care to make. The papers in the cases will be submitted to the navy department for final action.

MURDER IN AMOY LAID TO YANKEE

Consul Takes Hand in Case of Death of Wealthy Merchant.

Amoy, China, Sept. 7.—The body of a wealthy merchant of Amoy, who disappeared a fortnight ago, was found near this city yesterday. An examination showed that he had been murdered. The authorities have issued warrants for the arrest of several prominent residents of Amoy, including Eugenio Velasco, an American citizen, son of a Manila millionaire. Julean H. Arnold, the American consul, insists if Velasco be held in custody and prosecuted that it must be by the American authorities.

Why Druggists Recommend Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

Frank C. Hanrahan, a prominent druggist of Portsmouth, Va., says, "For the past six years I have sold and recommended Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. It is a great remedy and one of the best patent medicines on the market. I handle some others for the same purposes that pay me a larger profit, but this remedy is so sure to effect a cure, and my customer so certain to appreciate my recommending it to him, that I give it the preference." TWO GIRLS MAKE NINE-MILE SWIM

Equal Endurance Test of Volunteer Life Saving Corps of Men.

New York, Sept. 6.—Adelaide Trapp, 20 years old, Sunday swam nine miles through the waters of Hellgate from the foot of East Eighty-ninth street to Classon Point, L. I. Accompanied by Priscilla Higgins, a girl about her own age, Miss Trapp swam in the wake of forty sturdy swimmers of the United States Volunteer Life Saving corps, who were holding their annual endurance test.

Miss Trapp was in better condition than most of the men at the end of the long swim.

IOWA AT DAIRY SHOW.

Dairy Farmers Are Preparing to Go to National Exposition.

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 7.—The Iowa delegation of dairy farmers that will attend the fourth national dairy show at Milwaukee, Oct. 14 to 24, will be representative of the progressive element and one of the largest in point of numbers that has attended any of the national exposition.

W. B. Barney, of Hampton, Iowa, a director of the National Dairymen's association, will be a leader in this educational and instructive exposition. A better title for the dairy show, he says, would be, "dairy school," for any farmer with a dairy herd can learn more by meeting the government and other experts who will give daily demonstrations and lessons in the model working dairy than in any other method of investigation. The working herd of 600 head of dairy cattle will be quartered in the big auditorium, and economy in the cost of producing milk will be taught in practical lessons under the supervision of the foremost dairy experts of the county. The exhibit of machinery and modern dairy appliances will be of interest to every farmer and far in excess of the show made in Chicago last year. Among the prominent dairymen scheduled for an address is Hon. W. D. Hoard, the famous dairyman and publisher of Hoard's Dairyman, Fort Atkinson, Wis.

DEAD AND UNKNOWN HERO HAS ABOUT $2,000.

Toledo, Ohio, Sept. 7.—Coroner Hensler has begun efforts to locate relatives of Albion Newell, 50 years old, a machinist who was killed Saturday night while attempting to stop a runaway team on a downtown street. Letters found in the dead man's possession indicate that he was a member of an English family of some wealth, and was disinherited in his youth. The latest letter was from Worcestershire, dated December, 1875. It is said that Newell came here from Grand Rapids, Mich. He had about $2,000 deposited in local savings banks.

More Floods in Mexico.

City of Mexico, Sept. 1.—The town of Tula, in the state of Tamulipase was visited by another flood Sunday. A number of houses were carried away and rich plantations were destroyed. Abject misery prevails in the district. The destruction of the cart roads will make most difficult the sending in of relief from the outside.

Gen. Trevino places the deaths for the state of Nuevoleon officially at 1,500. A number of towns on the Rio de Grande have not yet been heard from.

The towns of Aldama da Cos and Aramberri are reported destroyed, making ten towns in all partially or wholly destroyed by the recent floods.

LABOR DAY ENJOYED.

The Holiday Proved Very Satisfactory in Every Way.

Labor day being over, the town settled back into the everyday routine today.

It was a splendid Labor day. The weather was fine and the program arranged by the joint committee was given without a single hitch.

Last evening, a dancing program was given at the Labor pavilion, and it was enjoyed by hundreds of men and women. It wound up a generally satisfactory day, and the unionists were well pleased.

STEAMER LOSES RUDDER.

The Newsboy Becomes Disabled in Making Trip Down River.

While coming down the river with a holiday crowd on board yesterday afternoon, the steamer Newsboy lost her rudder and it was necessary to secure the services of the tug Pacific to tow her in.

It was first reported that the steamer was towed in by a launch and that the launch collided with another launch, but this was denied. The Pacific brought the Newsboy in, a little late, but with all hands safe.

MAY RAISE THE GRADE.

Northern Pacific Contemplates Making Some Changes at Aitkin.

Aitkin, Minn., Sept. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—A special train, bearing G. T. Ross, division superintendent; R. E. McFarlane, superintendent of bridges and buildings, and T. J. Tyler, roadmaster, sidetracked here a few days ago and the officials looked over the company's structures here, as they were making their annual tour of inspection.

As a result of their visit it is probable that the grade through town will be raised two feet or more, and that the old bridge across Mud river will be replaced by a steel structure of one span, with the piers built of reinforced concrete. This will make a much more sightly structure than the old bridge now in use.

In Sawing Some Old Logs.

Stillwater, Minn., Sept. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Anderson A. Ewart has secured the George H. Atwood logs that were left in the St. Croix when the B mill burned down, and is sawing them at his South Stillwater mill. The logs have laid in the St. Croix, bunched up north of the city, so long, that grass and weeds have grown on top of them in spots, so that when they are being towed down stream they look like a floating garden.

FARGO'S GREAT DAY.

Celebration of Labor Day Record-Breaker in North Dakota City.

Fargo, N. D., Sept. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Fargo had the largest Labor day parade in its history yesterday, not only from the increased membership of the unions, but because more organizations than ever participated. The weather was ideal and the exercises were held in the park, where addresses were delivered by Congressman Hanna, president Worst of the Agricultural college, Prof. Lattimer of the University of Illinois and J. F. T. O'Connor, a brilliant North Dakota boy, who scored such big success at Yale last year.

KILLED "PLAYING INDIAN."

Little North Dakota Girl Accidentally Shoots Her Brother.

Mandan, N. D., Sept. 7.—The 6-year-old son of a farmer living near Fort Rice was accidentally killed while playing with his sister, who is 10 years old.

The children, it seems, were playing Indian, and the little girl got her father's rifle, which was not loaded, and they played with it for a while. Finally the little girl said to her brother, "wait till I get a shell and then we will play some more." She got a shell and loaded the rifle, and while playing she shot her little brother and killed him instantly.

There's No Other Milk Like Van Camp's

When we win you away from the milkman, we want you to have the finest milk in the world. Don't think that all evaporated milks are alike. A milk may be half as rich as Van Camp's and still be labeled "evaporated."

When we tell you Van Camp's Milk is rich and economical, don't think that refers to all milks.

And don't think an equal size of can holds equal butter fat.

The richness of milk depends, first, on the cows. All of our cows are Holsteins.

Next it depends on the amount of water evaporated. We take out two-thirds.

It was Van Camp's, remember, that made evaporated milk so popular. The old-time brands did not.

It is solely because Van Camp's Milk is better that we milk 20,000 cows.

Surprisingly Rich

You'll be surprised at the richness and flavor which Van Camp's gives to a milk dish.

You'll wonder what we have added to make it so good.

But we add nothing at all.

The difference is this: You were cooking before with half-milk. For milkman's milk separates, before and after you get it.

The butter fat rises and the solids fall. So you never get the whole, rich milk.

In Van Camp's you do. You'll never again be content with half-milk when you once cook with Van Camp's.

Not Altered

Van Camp's is simply rich Holstein milk, with two-thirds the water evaporated. Nothing whatever is added. Nothing is subtracted, save water.

It's not a peculiar milk.

It is taken fresh from the cow and evaporated, close to our numerous dairies.

It is sterilized after the can is sealed. So it comes to you as fresh as it leaves us.

The slight almond flavor—apparent only when one drinks the milk cold—is due to sterilization.

For cooking or coffee, Van Camp's tastes exactly the same as raw milk or cream, save for additional richness.

It's Economical

Van Camp's is as thick as thick cream—so thick that you add one part water for coffee. Yet it doesn't cost half what you pay your milkman for cream.

Add two parts water and you have rich milk. The cost of such milk, when you buy Van Camp's by the case, is about six cents per quart.

Then you have no waste—no milk left over. For Van Camp's means a cow in your kitchen.

One often spends for Van Camp's Milk about half what she paid the milkman.

Think of buying milk from hand to mouth—buying a half-milk laden with germs—and paying more than one pays for Van Camp's.

Free From Germs

Van Camp's is perfectly sterile.

We milk no tubercular cows. We employ no sickly milkmen.

Our dairies are sanitary. Our creameries, where the milk is evaporated, are built without wood. We make a business of cleanliness.

We employ every means known to science to guard our milk from infection.

Then the milk is pasteurized.

Every drop of raw milk contains a myriad of germs. And those germs are humanity's most terrible foes.

Van Camp's contains none at all. It is safe.

A Warning

Van Camp's is not like condensed milk, which is half sugar. Ours is nothing but milk.

Analysis of Van Camp's shows about 8 per cent of butter fat. That is because we use very rich milk and evaporate two-thirds of the water.

But one may take out much less of the water and still have "evaporated" milk.

So there is need to be careful. Don't think that all milks are alike. Van Camp's costs no more than many brands which cannot begin to compare with it.

You will get the utmost in milk if you insist on Van Camp's.

Van Camp's Milk comes in 5 and 10-cent cans, at your grocer's. It is put up at our dairies, in five states, where we milk 20,000 Holstein cows.

TORPEDO BOATS START ON RUN TO ST. LOUIS.

Washington, Sept. 7.—Four torpedo boats, comprising the second division of the Atlantic torpedo flotilla, have left Hampton Roads under orders from the navy department to proceed to St. Louis and escort President Taft down the Mississippi river to New Orleans, as a feature of his coming trans-continental tour. The vessels are the destroyer MacDonough and the torpedo boats Thornton, Tingey and Wilkes. On their way around to St. Louis they will make short stops at Charleston and Key West and at New Orleans and other cities on the Mississippi. The vessels are scheduled to arrive at St. Louis on Oct. 3.

Cannibal Feasts in Congo.

Antwerp, Sept. 7.—Advices received here from the French Congo say that cannibalism is rampant in the Mataba and Sanghare regions, where the blacks are in complete revolt. They have killed and eaten a number of factory employes. A telegraph operator was slain at his key and devoured.

Native detachments headed by four French officers have left for the scene to punish the cannibals.

CAPTAIN AND CREW OF THE NANTICOKE RETURN.

New York, Sept. 7.—Capt. Tidmarsh and twenty-six members of the crew of the steamer Nanticoke, which was delivered to the government of Venezuela, returned to New York on the steamer Caracas. The Nanticoke left Norfolk, Va., for Maracaibo, June 16, after having been under surveillance by government vessels on suspicion that the steamer was to be used as a filibusterer. Off the coast of Jamaica the Nanticoke encountered a hurricane which did some damage.

Remarkable Result of the New Tissue Builder Protone, In Many Cases of Run-Down Men and Women.

Prove It Yourself by Sending Coupon Below for a 50c Package, Free.

"By George, I never saw anything like the effects of that new treatment, Protone, for the building up of weight and lost nerve force. It acted more like a miracle than a medicine," said a well known gentleman yesterday in speaking of the revolution that had taken place in his condition. "I began to think that there was nothing on earth that could make me fat. I tried tonics, digestives, heavy eating, diets, milk, beer, and almost everything else you could think of, but without result.

Any Man Or Woman Who Is Thin Can Recover Normal Weight By the Remarkable New Treatment, Protone.

I had been thin for years, and began to think it was natural for me to be that way. Finally I read about the remarkable processes brought about by the use of Protone, so I decided to try it myself. Well, when I look at myself in the mirror now, I think it is somebody else. I have put on just 30 pounds during the last month and never felt stronger or more 'nervy' in my life."

Protone is a powerful inducer of nutrition, increases cell-growth, makes perfect the assimilation of food, increases the number of blood-corpuscles, and as a necessary result builds up muscles and solid, healthy flesh, and rounds out the figure.

For women who can never appear stylish in anything they wear because of their thinness, this remarkable treatment may prove a revelation. It is a beauty maker as well as a form builder and nerve strengthener.

It will cost you nothing to prove the remarkable effects of this treatment. It is absolutely non-injurious to the most delicate system. The Protone Company, 1919 Protone Bldg., Detroit, Mich., will send to anyone who sends name and address a free 50c package of Protone, with full instructions, to prove that it does the work. They will also send you their book on "Why You Are Thin," free of charge, giving facts which will probably astonish you. Send coupon below today with your name and address.

FREE PROTONE COUPON.

This coupon is good for a free 50c package, (all charges prepaid,) of Protone, the remarkable scientific discovery for building up thin people, together with our free book telling why you are thin. BOARD IN A DEADLOCK

Town Chairmen Unable to Agree on County Commissioner.

There is a deadlock on the election of a new county commissioner, which was taken up this afternoon by Mayor Haven of Duluth, and the chairmen of the towns in the Second district, which was represented by the late George Tischer.

There are six members on the board, which is choosing a new commissioner, as follows: Mayor Haven, John Tischer of Lakewood, C. N. Nelson of Rice Lake, J. B. Johnson of Normanna, Halvor Halvorsen of the town of Duluth and Peter Trader of Gnesen.

Eighteen ballots had been taken up to 3 o'clock this afternoon without any result. The principal candidates were John Tischer, Edward Totman and T. H. Little. Each one of the three men received three votes during the course of the balloting, but four are necessary to elect. Mr. Tischer received three votes on three different ballots; Mr. Totman on two, and Mr. Little on one.

Fireman Arrested.

George Chandler, fireman on the Pierpont Morgan, was arrested in a Bowery saloon today for carrying concealed weapons. George got into trouble with some strikers and a union and non-union discussion followed. Chandler drew a gun, and then went to the station with the officers.

CONCERNING WOMAN.

The fall session of the public schools of this city opened today and teachers and school children were up early with a common purpose in view for once—school.

The students of the high school returned in full force, brimming over with their usual enthusiasm—the lordly seniors, the good-natured juniors, and the scornful sophomores, all calmly taking stock of the freshmen, who shrank into the smallest possible spaces, some with tightly clutched grade diplomas, others dressed in all their graduation array.

A great many graduates were present at the chapel exercises "to get a look at the new principal," as one was heard to remark.

Miss Alice Sjosellus of the class of '07 sang Bach's "My Heart Be Faithful" very beautifully. Her solo was followed by the "Pilgrim's Chorus" by the choir.

Prof. Denfeld then introduced Principal George Buck, who was very cordially received.

Among the new high school teachers who have come to reinforce the faculty are Miss Crompton, who will fill Miss Burhoe's position in the English department; Mr. Bracket, English; Mr. Gibson, who will take Mr. Ulrich's place, and Prof. Romieux, who will teach French.

Principal Buck had already arranged the programs of study as far as possible so that the regular study periods will begin tomorrow morning.

FULL REHEARSAL.

"Up and Down Broadway" Center of Interest.

"Up and Down Broadway" is still all important in local interest, and the sale of seats goes merrily on. Already several of the boxes have been reserved for the opening night, and the few that remain are in demand.

Additions and changes are being constantly made in the program. Miss Mae Wylie will have a "speaking part" in the "Girl from Sherry's," and several new characters have been introduced in the "Matinee Girl." Miss Rachel St. Clair, Miss Mae Wylie and Miss Senia Erd.

Tonight a rehearsal of the full program will take place at the Spalding.

SEPTEMBER BRIDES

Will Be Guests of Honor at Lyceum.

Miss Beryl Hope, who is now appearing in the leading role in Elinor Glyn's stage story of "Three Weeks," which is appearing at the Lyceum the first half of this week, informed the management today that she wanted all Duluth and Superior brides to be her guests at Wednesday's matinee.

Miss Hope believes that all women should see this play, and especially those who are about to enter upon the duties of married life. She says that to a coarse and vulgar mind the story of "Three Weeks" might seem vulgar, but to those who can see the beautiful in life and worship their Creator in His greatest temple, nature, play contains a wealth of thought and study, a source of inspiration and a strong appeal from womankind.

All that a September bride will have to do to participate in Miss Hope's hospitality is to go to the Lyceum box office, state that she is a September bride, and the best seat in the house is at her disposal.

Griffin-Adams.

A wedding of interest to many Duluth people is that of Miss Hortense Griffin of Woodstock, Vt., to Culver Adams of Deerwood, Minn., which will take place Sept. 15. The invitations have been issued. Both young people are well known in Duluth. Miss Griffin was a guest of the Misses Hartley during the past winter, and has many friends in the city.

BALLOON PARTIES

Becoming the Fashionable Fad of the Moment.

As might be expected, woman has brought to ballooning, as to every other human endeavor shared by her, a softening and beautifying touch, says Vogue. At a recent fete given by the Stella at the park of the Aero club of France, flowers were made the keynote of the entertainment. Members of the club in six parties made ascensions in balloons of equal number, and all of these balloons were named for flowers and each was decorated with the living blossoms that corresponded.

There can be little doubt that with the wealthier French women ballooning is the fad of the hour. As a sport it has replaced motoring, which once held such complete sway over Parisian society and which now is considered slow and passe. A glance at any smart Parisian journal will reveal the prevalence and the popularity of balloon riding, for the papers are filled with accounts of the daily ascensions made by this, that and the other group of pleasure seekers, while the advertising pages display notices of where balloons may be bought or hired, tell of what parks offer facilities for ascensions, and even print the schedules of rates at which skilled pilots may be hired by the hour.

Week-end balloon parties are just as common as are week-end house parties in this country. The hostess need not ask her guests if they fly; it is taken for granted that they do, and that they will take a part in the fete as a matter of course. And as a matter of course they do. With the large, double envelope balloons which are used for these social air trips, danger is reduced to a minimum, ballooning being far safer, for instance, than motoring or boating. Women frequently make these short flights alone, and two or three women will make up a balloon party which scorns the services of a masculine pilot.

It is not to be wondered that the new sport should have laid such hold upon the pleasure loving Parisiennes. It has all the elements which appeal to their ever ready imagination, to their love of the beautiful, to their passion for novelty and for new sensations, to their appetite for the picturesque and the dramatic. Added to this it has just that touch of the spice of uncertainty, just that dash of potential danger which is needed to flavor the dish up to the true Parisian requirements.

The balloon makes a majestic picture as it rises above the heads of the crowds and sails away in the blue. Often its silk envelope is of some beautiful hue—rose or purple or golden, or of irridescent tints. As the great sphere mounts into the upper light and the sun's rays strike through its globular body it shines with a beautiful color and with an effect of being illuminated from within. Colored streamers usually hang from the corded mesh, and these catch the breeze and float out with a brave show, while the passengers in the car—which also is usually decorated—in accordance with a pretty custom toss overboard as they rise flowers and numerous airy trifles to float below and scatter as souvenirs among their friends.

A great deal has been said and written about the formation of a woman's aeronaut club in this country, but as yet no effort has been made to form such a club. Fame awaits the man or woman who shall make the first move in this direction. Necessarily, the founder of such an organization must be a person of wealth and leisure and an enthusiast on the subject of aviation.

And yet what the French women have accomplished in this respect can surely be done by American women and done with eclat. It is plainly evident that ballooning is the coming sport of the well-to-do.

WILL REPRESENT THE FLOWERY KINGDOM

PRINCESS KUNI.

Princess Kuni is the wife of the representative of Japan to the Hudson-Fulton celebration in New York this month. She was born in Chickaho in 1879 and is the daughter of Prince Shimazu. The prince and princess are expected to arrive in New York this week.

OBSERVE ARCHITECTURE

And Adapt Best Features to Your Need.

In our search for ideas and improvements that might profitably be introduced into America, we must bear in mind that the architecture of any particular European country is the expression of that particular people's history, government, materials, science, racial origin and character, needs and aspirations—all embodied in what we call national taste and national custom, writes William Nell Smith in an article in the September Delineator. What may be eminently suitable there may not be suitable in the United States. Climate, for example, is generally a factor not to be overlooked. Some features of a Spanish house might be suitable in New Mexico, but might not be suitable in Maine or Dakota. Naturally, it should make a difference in what climate you wish to build the house that you may take your ideas from.

It is interesting to notice how the architecture of Europe changes in accordance with its various latitudes as well as with its nationalities. In the north, the height of the ceilings, the number, size and exposure of the windows and their height from the floor, the door and heating arrangements, will generally be designed to save all the interior heat possible and to gain all they can from the sun. On the other hand, in the south, the ceilings are likely to be high to gain a freer circulation of air; generally there is no artificial heat or perhaps a charcoal stove, brazier or tiny fireplace, the windows are designed for coolness, and porches, balconies, pergolas, courts and patios are added so that much of the home life may be lived out of doors. In a dry country, such as Palestine and parts of Spain, the roofs are flat and are used just as if they were a regular floor of the home, while in a wet climate the roofs slant more and more in proportion as the rainfall becomes heavier, and the institution of the attic comes into existence. With the slanted roof, designed to shed water, eaves become a convenience, as in the Swiss chalets with their great overhanging roofs which shed the snow. And in Northern Germany, where, also, the great weight of snow as well as the rainfall becomes a factor, the roof-slant is so steep that often there is only one story below the eaves and three or even four under the roof.

In general, the American architect will be successful in his adaptations from Europe largely in proportion to his good judgment in selecting those features which good taste, a sense of fitness and an eye to practical values prove best adapted to the circumstances and location of the American house in which they are to be embodied.

ON EQUALITY.

Women of Hindustan Are Getting Rights.

From her role of half toy, half slave to man, penned up in the seclusion of the zenana (woman's departments), the woman of Hindustan is rising to equality with man, says St. Nihal Singh, in the American Review of Reviews, in an article on "India in Transition." India is daily getting anxious to accord its women a humane and a just treatment. Sex inequality had decreed that while the widower was allowed to marry, even permitted to indulge in polygamy, the widow was forced to remain a widow. This injunction is no longer being faithfully obeyed. Widows of the highest castes are being allowed to marry. Moreover, Hindus are making special efforts to establish homes where young and old widows are kindly treated and taught how to be nurses, doctors, teachers and missionaries. The aim of these institutions is to inspire the widows to help toward the uplift of East Indian society, and also to make them capable of supporting themselves instead of being charges on their relatives, as has been the case heretofore. Polygamy was never very common in India, but today it is doomed. Today the woman of India is leaving the privacy of her apartments, going to modern schools for education and entering the arena of public activity, to help along the evolution of Hindustan. Schools and colleges, especially designed for girls, and neighborhood centers meant for the advancement of matured women are coming to be pronounced features of East Indian cities.

Woman's Activities.

Mrs. R. Y. Fitzgerald, secretary of the Equal Suffrage League of Boston, is at the head of the suffragists who are making a tour of Massachusetts in a trolley car for the purpose of gaining recruits for their cause.

Short stops are planned at each town and village, and speeches are to be made and literature distributed.

An academic school for wives is the latest venture for which Chicago club women are standing sponsors. The lofty purpose of the enterprising promoters, defined as the education of home makers in all the delicate problems of the household, from scrubbing pans and cleaning the sink to baking cakes and contriving dainty meals for unexpected guests, is expected to attract the attention of delinquent householders throughout America.

The curriculum of the school may later be extended to cover the diplomatic relationship of the householders and the "better halves," with instruction in the art of cultivating the latent domestic instinct of fidgety husbands.

The school, which was launched at a meeting in the Union League club, will be known as the Associated Clubs of Domestic Science and will be affiliated with the general federation of women's clubs.

Miss Edna L. Foley has taken charge of the Chicago Tuberculosis institute. Since her graduation from Smith, in 1900, Miss Foley has been connected with the Boston Consumptive hospital.

HARRIMAN'S CONDITION IS REVEALED BY HIS FRIEND

Magnate in Need of Operation, But Too Weak to Bear It.

Speaker Says He Came Home Before Doctors Wished Him to.

New York, Sept. 7.—An intimate friend of E. H. Harriman, discussing today the relapse which occurred on Saturday, said:

"I think the time has come now when the public should understand the nature of Mr. Harriman's illness. As you know, he is not a strong man at best. He is a very slender and very nervous man, and of course has been loaded down with tremendous responsibilities, but he could not avoid the strain attendant upon his enormous business interests.

"Then when he returned to New York his physicians concluded it would be best for him to go abroad to Bad Gastien. This he did, accompanied by Dr. Lyle. At Bad Gastien things went very well, save that Mr. Harriman lost weight rapidly, and at the end of the treatment the man, who at best is very frail, weighed ten pounds less than he did at the beginning. He then went to Vienna, where he was examined by Dr. Kovak, the most eminent diagnostician in Europe. He was fed bismuth and rice, and an examination was made by X-ray, and sclagraphs were made.

Hurried Back By Enemies.

"About this time some people in Wall street took advantage of Mr. Harriman's absence and made a raid on his property, and assuming that his career was over, announced the name of his successor. Doctors Lyle and Kovak, after considering the matter thoroughly, felt that the best thing for Mr. Harriman to do was to let his business alone, but 4,000 miles away, with his enemies struggling to unhorse him, this was impossible. His physicians found it necessary to have an immediate operation, and they thought that if he came back to the United States and went to Arden he would be in immediate touch with his affairs, would be given food which would be much more to his liking, and at his isolated home could be free from interruption.

Saw Specialists Here.

"At the same time Dr. Kovak suggested that there were eminent surgeons and diagnosticians in this country who could be consulted.

"Acting upon this advice, Mr. Harriman returned. The voyage was not a good one, and he suffered from seasickness. The nausea was not a good thing for him, and he arrived in New York very weak, but with tremendous courage. He went out to Arden, and a little later Drs. Janeway of New York and Crile of Cleveland went there. After an investigation they confirmed Dr. Kovak's views that it was unwise to operate at once, and that the best results could be obtained by preserving quiet and avoiding business anxiety as much as possible.

Too Sick to Move.

"Later Mr. Harriman concluded to go back to the San Antonio hot wells, and last week he made arrangements with Dr. Graves to do so as soon as he was able. Later he had Dr. Frank Billings of Chicago to come on and diagnose the case. Dr. Billings confirmed the physicians that had preceded him. The rumor that epithetcoma had developed is not warranted."

BEST WHEAT FOR BREAD.

Baker's Weekly: It is a well recognized fact that the flour from the hard spring wheats of the Northwestern districts will produce a large, well plied loaf of bread of excellent quality, and because it absorbs a lot of water, it also gives a good yield of bread. These are desirable qualities and naturally explain why this class of flour is so popular for bread making.

The softer winter wheats do not contain so much gluten and do not make so large or so many people so desirable a loaf as the spring wheat flours. Yet a good, palatable loaf of bread can be made, and is being made every day, from this class of flour.

CLUB WOMEN

The food sanitation committee of the New York state federation has urged club women to make a vigorous campaign during the summer months against flies, and also against the practice of exposing fruit and vegetables for sale on the sidewalk, says an exchange.

Garbage receptacles supply an excellent breeding place for insects, the committee says, and therefore it urges housekeepers to take heed during the summer lest they add to the plague of flies. The use of a simple disinfectant is recommended, together with the careful covering of garbage.

As regards the exposure of food for sale, each woman is urged to let her grocer know that she will not purchase for her family to eat fruit and vegetables that have been exposed to the dust and filth of the streets. The committee is certain that if every woman would do this the objectionable and dangerous practice would soon be discontinued, as the grocers are doing only what the public demands and would be glad if they were not compelled to expose such perishable commodities as fruit and vegetables to the deteriorating influences of heat and dust.

Late Summer Styles.

Of materials there is a wonderful variety, soft clinging, silks, broadcloths, pongees, French serges, linen, satin, tussore silk—all the unfolding and unwinding dress goods that make the garments of this season fall in graceful fold and outline the figure.

The latest manifestation of the broad brimmed hat shows a shape turned up back and front in Napoleonic manner, always a piquant fashion.

All white seems as yet to be in the background. Even the lingerie gown, made of thin cotton or linen, is at its best this season over a color.

For coat and tailored suits white serge has no rival in woolen goods, for it may be worn at any hour, from breakfast to midnight.

Some of the newest and smartest of skirt and coat costumes are being made without sleeves.

White wash braid with a dash of color is an exceedingly pretty trimming for a young girl's wash dress.

Among the materials used for bathing suits are mohair, fine serge, taffeta and silk serge.

In buying wash materials in black, care must be taken that they are of good quality.

The square or round jet hatpins, of generous size, are worn much.

Quantities of maline and chiffon are used for chips and leghorns.

Black and green is a favorite color combination.

THE KING AND THE BOY.

London Globe: An amusing anecdote relating to King Edward's recent stay at Brighton was related last evening by Rev. Cecil Maunsell, vicar of Thorpe Malsor, to a gathering of his parishioners, who made a presentation to him in celebration of his return from Brighton, where he had been staying for the benefit of his health.

The reverend gentleman, who vouched for the authenticity of the story, said that a few days ago a boy walked up to his majesty as he was strolling along the esplanade at Hove and said to him:

"Mister, can you tell me the time?"

"Yes," replied the king, taking out his watch. "It is a quarter to 1."

The boy then informed his majesty that he had "been waiting two hours to see the blooming king," adding, "I am not going to wait any longer."

"Neither shall I," replied the king, as he resumed his walk. His majesty himself, said Mr. Maunsell, afterward related the incident with much gusto.

MOVED HER WHOLE FAMILY.

St. Nicholas: I was lying on the floor of an old country log house one summer day near a big open fireplace, when I heard a peculiar, frightened squeak. I got up to see what looked like a huge mouse moving at a very rapid walk across the room.

When I got a closer look I saw that it was a mother mouse moving her whole family. At least, I hope there was none left behind, for very soon a small snake, but large enough to put into a panic the mother of four less than half grown children, came through the empty fireplace and after the little fugitive.

The mother mouse had two in her mouth and fastened to either side of her, apparently holding on with their mouths for "dear life" were the other two. I killed the snake and watched the moving family disappear through a hole in the corner.

Look over the ads before you say, "Oh, well, I couldn't afford to get it this week, anyhow."

CURES ECZEMA QUICKLY

New Discovery Has Revolutionized the Treatment of Skin Diseases.

Nothing in the history of medicine has ever approached the success of the marvelous skin remedy known as poslam, which, it is safe to say, has cured more cases of eczema and skin diseases than any remedy ever offered for these ills.

The success of poslam is not at all surprising when it is considered that even a very small quantity applied to the skin stops itching immediately and cures chronic cases in two weeks. The very worst cases of eczema, as well as acne, herpes, tetter, piles, salt rheum, rash, crusted humors, scaly scalp and every form of itch, yield to it readily. Blemishes, such as pimples, red noses, muddy and inflamed skin disappear almost immediately when poslam is applied, the complexion being cleared overnight.

Every druggist keeps both the 50-cent size (for minor troubles) and the $2 jar, and either of these may be obtained at the Lyceum pharmacy and W. A. Abbett's in Duluth and the A. E. Holmberg Drug company in Superior, as well as other reliable drug stores.

But no one is even asked to purchase poslam without first obtaining an experimental package which will be sent by mail, free of charge, upon request, by the Emergency Laboratories, 32 West Twenty-fifth street, New York City.

GIRL'S HEAD AND ARMS ARE FOUND

Some Light Obtained in Murder Mystery in Detroit Suburb.

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 7.—The head and arms of a young woman were found today enclosed in a sack in Ecorse creek under the Jefferson avenue bridge. The face of the girl was in such a state of preservation that identification should be only a matter of a day or two at the most.

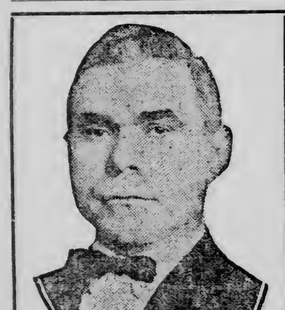

The sack found today lay hidden under the bridge, while that found yesterday containing the torso was found fifty feet down the stream. The authorities this afternoon began a search to find a farmer who is said to have seen an automobile from Detroit speeding toward the Ecorse creek bridge two weeks ago, carrying a well dressed man and a dirty and heavy looking sack.

The girl's body found yesterday in a sack in Ecorse creek was identified today as that of Miss Mabel Millman of Ann Arbor, the daughter of the widow of an Ann Arbor policeman.

BIG CLASS AT IRVING

Total Enrollment at Industrial High School Is 170.

Freshman Class Is Almost Double That of Last Year.

School opened today at West Duluth and, according to the statement given out by the principals of the various schools, the attendance was excellent for the first day. Many of the younger children have not entered yet, and it is expected that the number will be swelled by the last of the week.

Th most noticeable increase in attendance is at the Duluth Industrial High school, where 170 pupils enrolled this morning. The freshman class was almost twice as large as the one which entered last year. At the Irving school the attendance was very promising.

Work started this morning on the extension of the double track from Thirty-ninth avenue west on the West Third street line. It is expected that the tracks will be extended to Forty-ninth avenue west this fall.

The widening of the tracks on the West Third street line has been finished, and in a short time, it is expected that the double truck cars will be put on. Yesterday the street car company found considerable difficulty in handling the large crowds to Fairmont park with the small cars.

Laying Extra Track.

The kindergarten from the Irving school will be transferred to the Ely building this week and will be conducted at this school in the future. The rooms in the latter school for this department, are nearly ready and the latter part of the week the change will be made.

At the Ely school, the enrollment was given out as 420 since this morning. A number of others are expected to come in and this number will be increased. At the Oneota, Fairmont, Longfellow, New Duluth, Smithville and Fond du Lac schools, there was every indication of an increased attendance.

WEST DULUTHIANS ARE IN CHARGE OF EXHIBIT.

Died of Appendicitis.
An inquest over the remains of Carl A. Paulson, 19 years old, who died suddenly at Alborn, Minn., was held Saturday. Appendicitis was found to be the cause of death. The body was shipped to Alborn yesterday for interment.

C. M. Barker Dies.
C. M. Barker, 66 years old, whose home was at Lutsen, Minn., where he had lived for the past twelve years, died at St. Luke's hospital last night. Lutsen is a small town on the north shore, in Cook county. His only known relative is a daughter who lives in California.

Too Much Whisky.
Too much whisky put Emil Falk, 35 years old, out of his mind last evening, and when he was arrested by the police for being drunk he imagined some one was pursuing him, intending to murder him. Even after he arrived at the police station the impression clung to poor Emil, and his cries rang loudly through the jail.

The Drew Funeral.
Funeral services over the remains of the late John Drew will be held from the family residence, 113 Lake avenue rorth, at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, and the body will be shipped to Sheboygan, Wis., on the 5 o'clock train, for interment. Mrs. Drew and daughter, who were in Portland, Or., at the time of Mr. Drew's death, arrived home yesterday.

Joseph Roy Injured.
Joseph Roy sustained a fracture of the shoulder and his back was injured in a fall from the roof of a summer house which he was building at Woodland, yesterday. He is 50 years old. He was taken to St. Mary's hospital.

Excitement for Shannon.
Patrolman Shannon had to put up a fight in making three arrests on Superior street near Sixth avenue west, yesterday afternoon. He found A. Johnson drunk, with a gash in his head, lying near the corner. He took him into custody, and Gust Johnson, brother of the injured man, interfered. He was also arrested, and then Axel Streed, 18 years of age, tried to secure the release of the two men, and was himself arrested after a lively encounter. The injured man was taken to the hospital, and the other two to jail.

Sues On Note.
Albert M. Wickstrom filed suit in district court this morning against John Mattson, claiming $200 on a promissory note given Aug. 13, 1908, and $472 which he claims he lost on account of Mattson's failure to fulfil a contract for the sale of two lots in Cook county. He asks judgment for $672 and interest.

Has New Position.
Y. A. Dash, for about seven years deputy clerk of the district court, has resigned his position to become clerk of probate. His resignation took effect Saturday, and he will assume his new duties in Judge Middlecoff's office Thursday. Mr. Dash's bond as clerk of probate was confirmed by the county board this morning.

Attorney Wants Fee.
Affidavits were filed with the clerk of the district court this morning in the case of Peter Desaman against Butler Bros., in which Judge De La Motte has put in a claim for services. He asserts that he had a lien on the cause of action, and the defendants disregarded it in settling direct with the plaintiff, who departed without settling for attorney's services. Davis & Hollister, the attorneys for the defendants, and the defendants in affidavits, deny that they had any notice of Mr. De La Motte's lien, if he had one, on the cause of action.

Hunting Season Opens.
Today is the first day of the hunting season, but the opening day rush for licenses at the county auditor's office is already over. To date 104 licenses have been issued.

SCHOOLS IN FULL SWING

Lessons Assigned and the Regular Class Work Will Begin Wednesday.

Attendance Will Show Large Increase Over Former Years.

Duluth's schools were in full swing within half an hour after the "last bells" announced that 9 o'clock had arrived this morning. No estimate can be formed, and neither Supt. Denfeld nor anyone else in connection with the schools would hazard a guess as to the number of children enrolled, but it is expected that the total will be 200 or 300 more than have ever before been enrolled.

Supt. Denfeld is about the busiest man in Duluth today. Fathers and mothers and teachers with grievances of every imaginable nature lined up in the office of the superintendent today and Mr. Denfeld has the harassed look of a high tariff congressman trying to explain things to his constituents. The stream of complaining parents, students and teachers has been a continual one all day and bids fair to last until the office can be closed tonight and Mr. Denfeld can take refuge in the wilds of Hunter's Park.

Upstairs Principal Buck is having almost as hard a time. The students have filled his office and he has not left his desk since chapel time this morning. While the large number of visitors in chapel this morning made it impossible to guage the number of students registered at the high school very accurately, it is well above the 800 mark and may reach 900 when the totals come in. Reports from the high school teachers are due to be turned in to Mr. Buck this afternoon and the principals of the various grade schools will also report, so that by tomorrow noon a very definite idea as to the total population of Duluth's schools will be secured. Some of the buildings are crowded, but not seriously, and Mr. Denfeld said that to the best of his knowledge things were running fairly smoothly all over the city.

At the high school the regular class work routine will begin tomorrow, lessons having been assigned to every class by the express orders of Mr. Buck. The lunch room was in operation this noon as usual, though its patronage was not quite up to the mark because it had not been definitely announced that it would open.

Throughtout the city the teachers are busy getting their class rolls made up. The next two or three days will, probably see some considerable changes in the attendance lists as new students come in all through the first week. It is expected that some changes will be made in some of the school districts to relieve the pressure on crowded schools.

STOCK CASE BEING HEARD

Cleveland Men Suing Joseph Sellwood and Associates for $150,000.

Charges of Misappropriation of Money Made By Both Sides.

Judge Willard of Minneapolis is presiding at the special term of the federal court, before which the case of John H. Bartow against Joseph Sellwood, the Leetonia Mining company, the Bradford Mining company and the Cass Mining company is being tried.

John H. Bartow is a resident of the state of Ohio, and he charges Mr. Sellwood and his associates with having misappropriated 3,000 shares of stock which he held in the Leetonia Mining company. Their value was $150,000, and he asks that amount.

In his answer, Mr. Sellwood denies having taken what did not belong to him, and makes counter charges against the Cleveland man.

Along in 1903, claims Mr. Sellwood, Mr. Bartow was a member of the firm of Drake, Bartow & Co. This concern did an ore brokerage business in the city of Cleveland. Besides making sales of ore they collected money. The company represented a number of concerns that Mr. Sellwood was interested in.

The Duluth man claims that they misappropriated some of the money collected and that when asked for it admitted that they could not pay.

At this time, states the complaint, the Cleveland men asked Mr. Sellwood to sell the stock in the Leeonia Mining company and use the money to pay back to the several companies in part, what had not been returned.

The sale was made. The stock brought $24,000, which was the full value of it at the time of the sale. This money was applied so far as it went on the books of the several companies which had suffered the loss when the collections were not turned over promptly, it is said.

Mr. Sellwood says that the sale was made with the permission and knowledge of the Cleveland firm. He believed the incident closed until the suit was begun, some time ago.

A special jury was drawn to hear the case.

BLAME OLD ROW FOR THE CRIME

Later Developments Allege Kiethman Hit His Victim With Bolt.

Fargo, N. D., SEpt. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Later developments in the killing of Dr. Egge at Moorhead last night show the weapon used was the king bolt from a wagon belonging to John Lamb, a fuel man. It had been returned after the crime, and is covered with human hair and human blood.

It is reported that an old row had existed between Egge and Kiethman for a number of years.

SUPERIOR NEWS

TOOK ARSENIC TO END HIS LIFE

Superior police found the dead body of Swan Benson, 45 years old, at Billings Park, lying in the backyard district a few feet off from Winter street this morning and believe the man committed suicide.

His body was examined at the undertaking parlors of A. LeSage and it was thought that Benson suffered great agony when he died. Powder, which had spilled on his coat, resembled arsenic and it is thought that he might have taken it to end his life.

No motive for suicide has yet been discovered by the police. He leaves a wife and two children.

SWITCHMAN LOSES FOOT

M. Bennett, a switchman in the employ of the Great Northern road at Allouez, was the victim of a serious accident early yesterday morning while at his work at the Allouez ore docks. He was riding on an engine when he slipped and the locomotive passed over his foot, cutting it off. He was taken to a Superior hospital.

Petition Turned Down.

Foxboro people have lost out in their attempt to have the railroad rate commission force the Great Northern railway stop its fast mail train at that station. A petition with that request was filed with the commission some time ago, and it has been recently decided that the commission is powerless to compel the train to stop there, considering the present train service and the size and importance of the station.

Returns From Coast.

Congressman I. L. Lenroot, accompanied by Mrs. Lenroot and his two daughters, returned yesterday from San Diego, Cal., where they have been on a visit with relatives for the past few weeks. Mr. Lenroot left today for Minneapolis, where he will deliver a lecture.

New Pastors Named.

Rev. F. W. Court has been returned to the Cumming Avenue M. E. church by the West Wisconsin Methodist conference, which closed its session yesterday at Monroe, Wis. Rev. F. H. Harvey of the First M. E. church will go to Cumberland and he will be succeeded by Rev. F. L. Robert of Prairie du Sac. Rev. J. H. Welmuth of Shell Lake will be pastor of the Fifty-ninth Street M. E. church.

Want New City Park.

A movement is on foot at Superior to have the city council authorize the board of park commissioners to secure the land between Wilson avenue and the Nemadji river and between Second and Ninth streets for park purposes. If the plans are carried out the city will have a fine boulevard drive and park.

HOW TO MAKE THE CITY GROW

Subject Is Discussed at the Meeting of the Real Estate Exchange.

At the regular monthly meeting of the Duluth real estate exchange held at the noon hour today, ways and means to increase the growth of the Zenith City were discussed. The meeting was held at the Spalding hotel.

A committee consisting of C. P. Craif; chairman; O. H. Simons and N. J. Upham was appointed to study the matter and report a scheme at the next meeting.

It will be seen whether or not more manufacturers cannot be induced to build factories here, and a new plan of advertising the city is being worked out.

This will be the special work of the exchange for the coming winter. Meetings may be held more frequently than before and the exchange will work in connection with others who are anxious to boost the city.

The things that are for sale but that are not worth advertising are certain not worth the attention of serious people.

Hang Week's Wash in a Few Minutes on a

Hill Clothes Dryer

Clean Compact

Why continue to fuss with unsightly, ungainly clothes lines and poles when you can get this neat, compact, convenient Hill Dryer.

Instead of being spread all over the yard and supported by numerous poles, every inch of every line on the Hill Dryer is within easy reach—so you can hang the whole wash without moving a step, without having to drag the heavy basket up and down the yard through snow or damp grass.

Capacious Convenient

Set up a Hill Dryer in a convenient spot near the house and see how many steps, how much time, work and bother it saves. Once use it and no one could ever coax you back to the old-fashioned clothesline method.

Hill Dryers are made in several sizes and styles for lawn, balcony and roof. Hold 100 to 150 feet of line—revolve so line comes to you—taken apart, folded up and put away, keeping your lawn entirely clear of obstructions.

Put one up in your yard and try it for a week or so—or come in and see it.

AN ORDINANCE TO AMEND AN ORDINANCE ENTITLED, "AN ORDINANCE TO SECURE THE QUIET, ORDERLY AND PROPER USE AND ENJOYMENT OF THE PARKS AND PARKWAYS OF THE CITY OF DULUTH," PASSED AUGUST 26, 1892.

The Common Council of the City of Duluth do ordain as follows:

SECTION 1.

That the ordinance entitled "An ordinance to secure the quiet, orderly and proper use and enjoyment of the parks and parkways of the city of Duluth," passed Aug. 26, 1892, be amended as follows:

1. The numbering of sections 12 and 13 be changed to 15 and 16 respectively.

2. That a new section be inserted as follows: "Section 12—It shall be unlawful for any person to drive, propel or operate any vehicle upon the boulevard drive, from its intersection with Lincoln Park road, westerly to its intersection with Oneota Cemetery road —said portion being commonly known as the West Duluth extension of the boulevard drive—unless said vehicle is being driven, operated or propelled from east to west."

3. That a new section be inserted as follows: "Section 13—It shall be unlawful for any person to propel, operate or drive any vehicle upon that portion of the boulevard drive between the Lincoln Park roadway and Oneota Cemetery road at a rate of speed faster than twelve miles an hour at any place, or at a rate of speed faster than six miles an hour at any crossing, or at any approach at a short turn, or at any approach to a narrow space in the roadway, provided that at such crossing and approach to short turns and narrow spaces a sign shall be displayed directing that vehicles be slowed down to six miles per hour."

4. That a new section be inserted as follows: "Section 14—Any person who shall be convicted of the violation of any of the provisions of section 12 or 14 shall be punished as in section 15 hereof provided."

Section 2. This ordinance shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage and publication.

AN ORDINANCE GRANTING TO THE NORTHERN PACIFIC RAILWAY COMPANY, ITS SUCCESSORS AND ASSIGNS, THE RIGHT, PRIVILEGE AND AUTHORITY TO CONSTRUCT, LAY DOWN, MAINTAIN AND OPERATE A RAILWAY TRACK IN, OVER AND ALONG THAT PORTION OF ELEVENTH AVENUE WEST LYING SOUTHERLY OF RAILROAD STREET IN THE CITY OF DULUTH.

The Common Council of the City of Duluth do Ordain as follows:

Section 1. There is hereby granted to the Northern Pacific Railway company, its successors and assigns, for the period of five years from and after the first day of September, 1909, the right, privilege and authority to lay down, maintain and operate a railway spur track in, along, over and across that portion of Eleventh avenue west lying southerly of Railroad street; said track shall be of ordinary standard guage construction, and its center line shall be described as follows, to-wit:

Commencing at a point in Eleventh avenue west 22 feet and 6 inches from the easterly boundary line of said Eleventh avenue west and in front of Lot 4, Block 17, Bay Front Division, First rearrangement, according to the recorded plat thereof; thence northerly parallel with the easterly boundary line of said Eleventh avenue west to an intersection with the Curve Spur Track running across Railroad Street in front of the easterly half of Block 19 in said Division,—said point being in front of Lots 24 or 26 in said Block 17.

The work of construction of said track shall be done in a workmanlike manner and said street shall be obstructed thereby no more than is reasonably necessary; and by the acceptance of this ordinance as hereinafter provided, said Northern Pacific Railway Company expressly agrees upon the termination of the privilege herein granted to remove said track and restore the street to a condition satisfactory to the Board of Public Works of said City of Duluth.

Section 2. By the acceptance of this ordinance as hereinafter provided said Northern Pacific Railway Company expressly agrees to indemnify and save said City of Duluth entirely harmless from all claims, demands, damages, actions and causes of action arising either directly or indirectly from the construction, maintenance or operation of said track in, upon, over or across said street.

Section 3. Said Northern Pacific Railway Company by the acceptance of this ordinance expressly agrees to pay its proportionate share of the cost to the City of Duluth of any and all street and public improvements made in or on said Eleventh avenue west southerly of Railroad street upon any property now or hereafter owned by said company abutting on said avenue, whether used for railway purposes, or any other purpose, and expressly agrees to pay any and all assessments for any and all improvements for which an assessment for benefits may be levied against property on said Eleventh avenue west southerly of Railroad street under the provisions of the City Charter of the City of Duluth, as same now exists or may be hereafter amended. In determining the benefits for the purpose of assessment, said property shall be treated as if owned by a private individual and used for other than said company's railway purposes. Said company's proportionate share of such cost and the amount of such assessment shall be determined by the Board of Public Works of the City of Duluth, or such other body or commission as the city charter may provide for levying assessments.

Section 4. Before this ordinance shall become effective, said Northern Pacific Railway Company shall file with the City Clerk of said city its acceptance, in writing, agreeing to the terms of this ordinance.

Section 5. This ordinance shall take effect and be in force from and after its publication and acceptance by said railway company as hereinabove provided.

AN ORDINANCE PROVIDING FOR THE ISSUANCE, FORM AND SALE IN PAR VALUE IN AND OF OF $50,000 PAR VALUE IN AND OF THE BONDS OF THE CITY OF DULUTH FOR THE PURPOSE OF DEFRAYING IN PART THE COST OF PAVING GARFIELD AVENUE; THE SAME BEING A STREET WITHIN THE LIMITS OF THE CITY OF DULUTH, WHICH HAS FOR ONE OF ITS TERMINI NAVIGABLE WATERS FORMING A BOUNDARY OF THE STATE OF MINNESOTA.

The Common Council of the City of Duluth do ordain as follows:

Section 1. Pursuant to authority contained in Chapter 89 of the General Laws of the State of Minnesota, passed at the legislative session of 1909, the common council does hereby authorize and direct the issuance of bonds of the city of Duluth to the amount of $50,000, with interest coupons attached to the same drawing interest at the rate of 5 per cent per annum, payable semi-annually on the first day of July and January of each year. Said bonds shall be issued in five series, and the principal thereof shall be made payable as follows:

Series A, on the first day of January, 1911.

Series B, on the first day of January, 1912.

Series C, on the first day of January, 1913.

Series D, on the first day of January, 1914.

Series E, on the first day of January, 1915.

Both principal and interest shall be paid in gold coin of the United States of America, of the present standard weight and fineness, at the American Exchange National bank of the city of New York.

Sec. 2. The mayor of the city of Duluth is hereby instructed to cause said bonds to be signed by the mayor, sealed with the seal of the city, attested by the clerk, and countersigned by the comptroller thereof.

Sec. 3. Said bonds and coupons shall be of the following form, with the blanks in this form properly filled in:

"United States of America, State of Minnesota.

Bonds of the City of Duluth for Defraying in Part the Cost of Paving Garfield Avenue.

No. ——— Series ——— $———

Know all men by these presents, that the city of Duluth in the state of Minnesota, acknowledges itself to be indebted and hereby promises to pay to the bearer the sum of ——— dollars in gold coin of the United States of America, of the present weight and fineness, at the American Exchange National bank of the city of New York, on the first day of January, A. D. 19—, with interest thereon at the rate of 5 per cent per annum, payable semi-annually in like gold coin on the first days of July and January of each year, at said bank, on the presentation and surrender of the interest coupons hereto annexed as they severally become due.

This bond is one of an issue of bonds of the same date, in the aggregate sum of fifty thousand dollars ($50,000) issued in five series, by virtue of the authority contained in Chapter 89 of the general laws of the state of Minnesota, passed at the legislative session of 1909.

And it is hereby certified and recited that all acts, conditions and things required to be done precedent to and in issuance of this bond have been properly done, happened and performed in regular and due time, form and manner as required by law. The full faith and credit of the city of Duluth are hereby pledged for the punctual payment of the principal and interest of this bond.

In witness whereof the city of Duluth has caused this bond to be signed by its mayor, sealed with its seal, attested by its clerk, and countersigned by its comptroller, and the coupons to be signed by the engraved or lithographed signature of its mayor the first day of January, A. D. 1909.

———
Mayor.

Comptroller."

That coupons shall be issued, attached to each of said bonds, payable in like gold coin, to represent the semi-annual installments of interest as the same become due upon said bond, substantially in the following form, date of payment and the bond number of each coupon to be inserted so that one coupon shall become due upon each bond every six (6) months after the date and until the maturity of said bond:

"$———

City of Duluth, Minnesota, will pay to the bearer $——— in gold coin, at the American Exchange National Bank in the city of New York, on the first day of ——— 19—— being six months' interest then due on its bond, dated January 1, 1910, and numbered——of series———.

Section 4. The city clerk of the city of Duluth is hereby directed to cause notice to be published in the official paper of the city of Duluth, once in each week, for two consecutive weeks, giving notice of the time and place when the common council of the city of Duluth will receive and examine sealed proposals for the purchase of said bonds, the sale thereof to be at a sum not less than the par value thereof, with interest accrued to date of delivery, and the right to reject any and all bids to be reserved to the city of Duluth. Such sale shall be by popular subscription, and residents of the city of Duluth shall be preferred in case of bids otherwise equal, and any person, including any actual resident of the city of Duluth, may bid on one or more of said bonds in any of the following named denominations, namely: $50.00, $100.00, $500.00 and $1,000.00, and if said bids shall be accepted the bonds issued shall be of the denomination called for by such bids. Where not inconsistent with such bids, the bonds shall be of $1,000.00 each.

Section 5. All bids for said bonds shall be without condition or qualifications. They must be sealed and have the name and address of the bidder on the outside of the envelope. No bid for any of said bonds will be opened, received or considered by the common council unless the bidder making the same shall have deposited (as a guaranty of good faith) with the city clerk, before two o'clock p. m. on the day bids are to be received by the common council, a certified check on or certificate of deposit of a national bank, payable to the order of the city of Duluth without condition, for an amount equal to one (1) per cent of the full face value of the bonds proposed to be bid for, or a good and sufficient bond in the said sum, to be approved by the common council of said city, and conditioned that the party making said bid will, if awarded the said, take the bonds and pay for them, according to the terms of said bid and this ordinance, and in case of failure so to do the city of Duluth shall have the right to sue upon said bond and to recover the full face thereof, which shall be and in said bond shall be stated as being the sum agreed upon as liquidated damages in case of a breach thereof. And a condition of said bond shall be that the principal and sureties thereon expressly waive all questions of irregularity or illegality in any manner affecting the issue of said bonds, the intention of the bond being to provide for the payment of said sum of money absolutely without any condition or defense thereto.

Said checks and bonds shall immediately be submitted by the city clerk to the city attorney for an opinion as to whether said checks and bonds conform to the conditions of this ordinance, and the bids of any person whose check or bond the city attorney shall deem to not be in legal form according to the terms of this ordinance shall not be received unless such bidder shall have said check or bond corrected to meet the requirements of the city attorney or deposit a new bond or check duly approved by said city attorney, before 7:30 o'clock p. m. of said day.

In all cases of bids received and not accepted, the check, or certificates received therewith, shall be returned. In case said bonds are awarded to any bidder and said bidder refuses to accept and pay for said bonds or any part thereof within ten (10) days after notice of delivery, said delivery to be made at the First National Bank of Duluth, the said amount of the certificate of deposit furnished by the city of Duluth as its own, as and for liquidated damages for the breach of the contract on the part of the said bidder.

In case any bidder furnishing such certificate of deposit or check shall take the said bonds, said sum shall be credited to him on account of the payment thereof.

Section 6. Said bonds, when duly executed as aforesaid on behalf of the city of Duluth, shall, in accordance with the terms of the contract for their sale, made with the highest responsible bidder, be delivered by the city treasurer to the purchaser thereof upon payment to the purchase price thereof to the treasurer of the city of Duluth, whose receipt shall be a full acquittance of the said purchaser, and said purchaser shall not be obliged to see purchaser shall not be obliged to see to the application of the purchase money.

Section 7. The money derived from the sale of said bonds shall be placed in the treasury of the City of Duluth to the credit of a special fund for the purpose of defraying a portion of the cost of paving Garfield avenue, and shall be used for said purpose only.

Section 8. This ordinance shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage and publication.

MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE—

Default has been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by Benjamin F. Simpson (whose signature to said mortgage appears in the form "B. F. Simpson") and Alice N. Simpson, his wife, mortgagors, to Alice Mitchell, mortgagee, bearing date the 29th day of May, 1893, and with a power of sale therein contained, which mortgage was duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of St. Louis and State of Minnesota, on the 9th day of June, 1893, at 2 o'clock 20 minutes P. M. in Book 94 of Mortgages on page 348; which mortgage was duly assigned by the said Alice Mitchell, mortgagee, to Alice N. Simpson, assignee of mortgage, by written assignment bearing date the 24th day of December, 1895, and recorded in the office of the said Register of Deeds on the 2nd day of June, 1908, at 4 o'clock 45 minutes P. M., in Book 211 of Mortgages on page 452, and again assigned and said former assignment ratified by instrument in writing bearing date the 11th day of December, 1908, and recorded in the office of said Register of Deeds on the seventh day of September, 1909, at 9 o'clock thirty minutes A. M. in Book 203 of Mortgages on page 90 by the said Alice Mitchell, mortgagee, to the said Alice N. Simpson, assignee of mortgagee; and

There is claimed to be due and is actually due and payable upon said mortgage at the date of this notice the sum of $1,070.88 and no action or proceeding has been instituted at law or otherwise to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof;

NOW THEREFORE, NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, That by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, namely: Lot numbered "43" (forty-three) of Block numbered "86" (eighty-six) in Duluth Proper, Third Division, according to the recorded plat thereof on file and of record in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for said County and State, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said St. Louis County at the front door of the Court House in the City of Duluth, in said County and State, on the 22nd day of October, 1909, at 10 o'clock A. M. of that day at public auction to the highest bidder for cash to pay said mortgage debt and interest and Fifty Dollars ($50.00) attorney's fees as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one (1) year from the date of sale as provided by law.

Dated at Duluth, Minnesota, September 7, 1909.

ALICE N. SIMPSON,
Assignee of Mortgage.

WILSON G. CROSBY,
Attorney for Assignee of Mortgage.

MAKES HOLE IN ONE SHOT

S. A. McPhail Performs Unprecedented Feat on the Minikahda Links.

R. T. Goodell's Oldsmobile Made Record for Twin City Run.

Sidney A. McPhail of the Northland Country club broke a record on the links of the Minikahda club, in Minneapolis, yesterday, by making the last hole in one stroke. The play was made from the tee after the eighth hole, 125 yards, and the club used was a midiron. The ball sailed gracefully through the air and rolled into the hole. This is the first time that such a play has been made on the links, though the hole has been made in two by several players. Mr. McPhail's game was brilliant from start to finish, but he did not break the club record for the entire course.

E. P. Alexander and R. T. Goodell also broke a record, but not on the links. At present Mr. Goodell's 60-horse power, high-wheeled Oldsmobile holds the record for the run to the Twin Cities, covering the distance in seven hours flat, running time. The run was made last Friday, and Lon Farrell, the chauffeur, drove the car. A stop was made Friday noon for lunch, the time spent there being deducted from the total time on the road.

Following is the complete list of golfers who went down last week: W. W. Walker, Ward James, jr., Herbert Spencer, Ralph Hubbell, S. A. McPhail, Rufus Draper, R. T. Goodell and E. P. Alexander.

MAY SUTTON WINS ANOTHER TITLE

Takes Western New York Tennis Championship From Mary Clark.

Buffalo, N. Y., Sept. 7.—Miss May Sutton yesterday added to her many titles that of Western New York lawn tennis champion by defeating Miss Mary Clark of East Aurora in two straight love sets on the park club courts. Wallace F. Johnson of the University of Pennsylvania won men's championship, defeating the Canadian champion, Robert Baird, 6-3; 6-4; 3-6; 6-2.

In the mixed doubles championships Miss Sutton and Harry D. Kirkover of Buffalo defeated Miss Rotch of Boston, the Massachusetts state champion and Beals Wright, last year's internationalist, 6-2 and 6-3.

WIN AND LOSE AT EVELETH

Big Duluths In Double Bill at the Range Town.

Eveleth, Minn. Sept. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Big Duluth baseball team won and lost here Labor day in a double bill with the home team.

The locals won the first game by a score of 8 to 5 and lost the second, 2 to 1.

The first game was a pitchers' battle and Thorsen, the ex-Duluth player, did not have the best of support. Schaffer let six get by him and the fielders bobbled quite considerable.

In the sixth frame two hits and two errors counted for three runs for the locals. Three more came in the seventh inning.

The day was cold and a raw wind swept over the diamond. The second contest was given to the Duluth players at the end of the fifth inning. The score at that time was 7 and 1 favoring the Zenith City players.

The scores follow:

First game—	R.	H.	E.
Eveleth.....1 0 0 0 0 3 3 1 x—8	4	7
Big Duluths....0 0 0 0 0 3 2 0 0—5	3	10

Batteries—Cook and Agan; Thorsen and Schaeffer.

Second game —	R.	H.	E.
Eveleth.....0 0 0 1 0	1	2	4
Big Duluths.....0 0 0 1 1—2	3	0

Batteries—Cook and Agan; Thorsen and Schaeffer.

KUEHNOW CONGRATULATED.

Manager Al Kuehnow this morning received a telegram from John G. Elliott, president of the league, congratulating the team on winning the pennant.

"I congratulate the best team in the Minnesota-Wisconsin league," the telegram read.

WIRELESS FOR ORE CARRIERS

Boats in Local Harbor Are Being Thus Equipped.

The wireless telegraph company, which has established a station on top of the hill, above Duluth, is today equipping some of the Steel corporation ore boats with the wireless apparatus.

It is understood that all the boats of the Pittsburg fleet are to be thus equipped, so they will at all times be in touch with the wireless stations on shore, as well as being able to communicate with each other. Independent vessels will be similarly equipped.

The hilltop station is now entirely completed, and is all ready for the turning on of the electric current.

TWO ENTER PLEAS OF GUILTY

One Prisoner Admits Forgery and a Second Grand Larceny.

Two pleas of guilty and two of not guilty were entered before Judge Ensign in district court this morning. Robert Hull, who was indicted on a charge of forgery in the second degree, pleaded guilty, as did Ernest Peterson, charged with grand larceny in the second degree.

Hull was charged with the forgery of a check of $25, which he attempted to pass at a clothing store. It was drawn on the First National Bank of Duluth and was purported to have been signed by H. W. Gilbert, who denied its authenticity. Peterson was accused of having stolen $76 from a man at West Duluth. He admitted the theft, but declared there was a discrepancy in the amount, as he had secured but $60.

Lynn Loomis was arraigned this morning on a charge of indecent assault and he entered a plea of not guilty. He is accused of having taken indecent liberties with a 6-year-old girl at Lakeside July 25.

The petit jury for the September term reported this morning, but there were no jury cases ready for trial and the jurors were discharged until 9 o'clock tomorrow morning, when the first case will be taken up. Eleven cases were removed from the calendar this morning, eight being continued, one stricken and two transferred to the range court.

PATTI'S JOKE ON KING EDWARD.

In London one year, when the season was unusually long, says Adelina Patti in the Strand Magazine, I well remember an amusing incident connected with the then prince of Wales, now King Edward VII.

His royal highness having been persuaded that jealous feeling would be aroused in the breasts of rival primedonne if they sang the wrangling trio from "Il Matrimonio Segreto," thought of having a joke at their expense, and so caused Lucca, Nilsson, and myself to receive an invitation to sing that piece. I, however, believed I could guess the prince's intention, and arranged a counter-plot with my colleagues which succeeded perfectly.

At the matinee at Marlborough house we three conspirators, drawled out the trio with such mournful, stolid faces that the whole audience, with their humorous and royal host at their head, stared dumbfounded at the automatic trio.

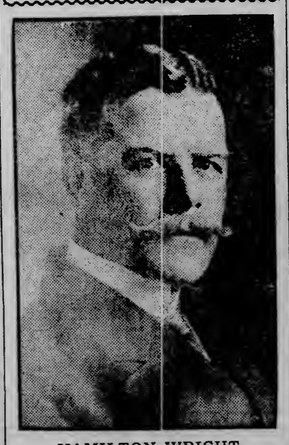

WILL DEFEND GOTHAM FROM MUCKRAKERS

WILLIAM H. BLACK.

William Harmon Black is the founder of a new movement which was incorporated at Albany recently to provide an antidote for muckraking involving the good name of New York city. While the organization is only now officially launched, the work to achieve its purpose has been in progress for some time. Mr. Black was commissioner of accounts during the first term of Mayor McClellan. Behind him is said to be a group of wealthy men who are giving freely of their means to insure results. The purpose of the association for New York were broadly outlined as "to contend for the principle of a government of New York, by New Yorkers, for New York; to challenge indiscriminate abuse and criticism of New York city and to set forth her superior advantages as a place of residence for the citizen, as a point of production and distribution for the manufacturer and as a mart for the merchant. From his experience as commissioner of accounts, Mr. Black is well qualified to direct the operations of this force.

MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE—

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of Eleven hundred fifty ($1,150) Dollars, which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice upon a certain Mortgage, duly executed and delivered by James A. Smeallie and Bell M. Smeallie, his wife, Mortgagors, to Jane A. Mead, Mortgagee, bearing date the first day of February, 1892, and with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Saint Louis, and State of Minnesota, on the 23rd day of February, 1893, at eight o'clock A. M., in Book 69 of Mortgages, on page 557.

Which said Mortgage, together with the debt secured thereby, was duly assigned by said Jane A. Mead, Mortgagee, to W. D. Bailey, by written assignment dated the 30th day of July, 1907, and recorded in the office of said Register of Deeds, on the 30th day of September, 1907, at 3:30 o'clock P. M., in Book 211 of Mortgages on page 106, and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said Mortgage or any part thereof,

NOW, THEREFORE, NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, That by virtue of the power of sale contained in said Mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said Mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said Mortgage, viz.:

An undivided one-sixteenth interest in the Southwest quarter (SW¼), the west half of the Southeast quarter (W½ of SE¼) and the Northeast quarter of the Southeast quarter (NE¼ of SE¼), and an undivided one-thirty-second interest in the Southeast quarter of the Southeast quarter (SE¼ of SE¼) of Section thirty-two (32), in Township forty-nine (49) north, of Range fifteen (15) west, according to government survey thereof, subject to the right of way of Duluth Short Line Railway Company in Saint Louis County and State of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale

WHEAT HAS WEAK TONE

Prices Are Lower Than Saturday's at End of Session.

Flax Is Weak and the Price Level Is Off at the Close.

Duluth Board of Trade, Sept. 7.—Wheat was somewhat uneasy during the session in the American markets today. Price levels were up and down during the session and at the close, were fractionally off from Saturday.

Liverpool closed unchanged to ½d lower.

The September option closed ⅜c lower in Duluth, ¼c lower in Chicago, a shade lower in Minneapolis, ¾c lower in New York, 1c lower in St. Louis and ⅜@½c lower in Kansas City. October wheat closed ⅛c lower in Winnipeg. THE MARKETS AT A GLANCE

Duluth September wheat closed ⅜c lower.
Chicago December wheat closed ¼c higher.
Minneapolis December wheat closed a shade lower.
Liverpool wheat cables, unchanged to ⅛d lower.
Duluth September flax closed 1c lower.
New York stocks, weak.
Boston copper stocks, easier.
Duluth copper stocks, dull.
Chicago live stock: Cattle, weak; hogs, higher.
Cotton is quiet.

Northwest markets induced more liberal offerings toward the end of the first hour and resulted in slight recessions, December declining from 94⅝c to 94¼@94⅜c.

A heavy tone prevailed the remainder of the day, owing mainly to the heavy movement in the Northwest and a consequent lowering of cash premiums there. For December the low point was reached, at 93⅞c. The close was steady, with December unchanged at 94¼c.

The Missouri crop report, which showed a deterioration of 22 points in the condition of corn during August, prompted considerable buying of that cereal early, and resulted in moderate firmness, despite additional rains throughout the corn belt since Saturday. Opening quotations were ⅛c higher to ¼c lower, December being at 57¼@57½c. Later December advanced to 57⅝c.

A weaker tone developed in the final half of the session because of talk of liberal receipts here tomorrow. The market closed easy, with December ⅛c lower at 57⅜c.

Oats were steady at the start owing to the firmness of corn. Trading was quiet at the start. Opening quotations were unchanged to ⅛c lower, with December at 38c. Moderate demand by commission houses forced the price up to 38⅛c.

Provisions were firm because of a 5c advance in live hogs. Prices at the opening were a shade to 10c higher.

THE MINNEAPOLIS MARKET.

Trade Is Conservative Pending Receipt of Government Report.

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 7.—The receipts were not as heavy as expected today. The total grain here being 1,184 cars against 1,576 a year ago. The state fair traffic is so heavy that considerable freight was put on the sidings. With the government report due tomorrow the trade was inclined to be very conservative. The market was in narrow range, September fluctuating only ½c from the high to low. September closed steady to ⅜c lower than Saturday and December ¼@⅜c lower. Minneapolis today received 749 cars of wheat as compared with 759 cars a year ago; Duluth, 936 cars against 1,097 and Winnipeg 701 against 303. September opened at 94⅜c; high, 94⅞c; low, 94⅜c; close, 94⅝@94¾c; December opened at 93⅛@93¼c; high, 93½c; low, 93@93⅛c; close, 93⅜@93½c; May, opened at 97¼c; high, 97⅜@97½c; low, 96⅞@97c; close, 97@97⅛c.

Cash wheat was inclined to be a little easier today on account of the heavier offerings. Demand, however, was strong at the prevailing prices. Premiums were ½@1c lower. No. 1 northern selling for 4c above the September option and No. 2 northern for 2c above. No. 1 northern, 98@98⅜c; to arrive, 97c; No. 2 northern, 96@96½c; to arrive, 95c; No. 3 wheat, 94@95c; No. 3 yellow corn, 64¾c; No. 3 white oats, 35¼@35⅝c; No. 2 rye, 62¾@64c.

Flax—Receipts, 41 cars; year ago, 97 cars; shipments, 8 cars. There was a strong demand for flax today. Spot prices were 4c above the Duluth September and to arrive the same as the near option. Closing price, $1.41¼.

Barley—Receipts, 224 cars; year ago, 485 cars; shipments, 105 cars. There was a good demand for all grades today. Early the bids were about 1c lower than Saturday, but the close was steady. Receipts were not as heavy as expected. Closing range, 41@55c.

Millstuff—Shipments, 2,224 tons. Demand was good; shipments light for over Sunday and Monday and prices held firm. Bran in 100-pound sacks, $18@20.

Flour was in good foreign and domestic demand. The local mills have enough orders booked now to assure a capacity business for two months or more. Shipments were only fair and prices unchanged. Shipments, 60,022 barrels. First patents, $5.10@5.35; second patents, $4.90@5.25; first clears, $4.15@4.35; second clears, $3.10@3.30.

The Cotton Market.

New York, Sept. 7.—The cotton market opened firm at an advance of 14@17 points, with business active and excited owing to the very strong showing of Liverpool over the holidays. Realizing was exceedingly at the advance and carried prices to the highest level since early last July. During the middle of the morning the market reacted only 2 to 3 points and showed the presence of an increasing outside demand.

Spot closed quiet, 15 points higher. Middling uplands, 13.00; middling gulf, 13.25. Sales, 400 bales. Futures closed steady. Closing bids: September, 12.58; October, 12.61; November, 12.62; December, 12.70; January, 12.66; February, 12.68; March, 12.74; April, 12.75; May, 12.78.

STOCKS TURN FEVERISH

Market Is Weak at the Close and Union Pacific Leads Slump.

Hesitation in Trading Is Shown Pending Word From Harriman.

New York, Sept. 7.—Reports of E. H. Harrimon's relapse caused great unsettlement in the opening stock market, which centered in the stocks most closely connected with his name. Sales were not notably heavy, but the fall in prices was violent. The first quotation in Union Pacific was of 6,000 shares at 197¼ and 198⅛, compared with 202¾ on Friday last, an extreme decline of 5½ points. Southern Pacific ran off ⅞ on sales of small amounts and New York Central lost 3⅛. In Reading the liquidation was heavy at a decline of 2⅜. In other active speculative stocks there were many declines running from 1 to 1¾. Supporting orders made themselves effective immediately and rallies of a fraction to 1¾, the latter in Union Pacific, were shown within a few minutes.

After a rally which reached 1¾ in Union Pacific and 1 to 1¾ in Southern Pacific, Reading and New York Central, the market weakened again, but did not react to the previous low prices. The general list did not show much sympathy with the rally and became quiet, with a few weak spots cropping out.

The second hour's business was in very small volume, and prices fluctuated within a compass of a fraction. The undertone was uncertain, and Mr. Harriman's health was almost the sole topic discussed. Bonds were irregular.

Prices sank back generally to the opening low level and some stocks made new prices in the selling movement that began after 12 o'clock. There was no decided increase in the volume of selling, but prices yielded early. Illinois Central declined 2⅜, Canadian Pacific 2¼, and St. Paul and Atchison 2. Support developed for Erie after it had lost a point and it made a full recovery.

The market closed weak and feverish. Union Pacific went off to 193⅝ late in the day and carried the list with it. Northern Pacific showed a loss of 2, Delaware & Hudson 2⅞ and Northwestern 2½. There were some rallies again in the final dealings, Union Pacific closed at 197.
